Cisco Prepares to Welcome Hundreds of Visitors Sat.

ONE STAR AND WTU TO FROLIC HERE

Cisco today is preparing to welcome hundreds of employees of the Lone Star Gas company for their annual picnic tomorrow at Lake Cisco as well as about 75 employees of the West Texas Utilities company who will have an old-fashioned "chuck-wagon dinner" at the lake at the same time.

Mal Hunter, of Ranger, general chairman of arrangements for the picnic, said today that he expects 750 to be here for the event. The picnic is for employees not only of the Lone Star company but for those of affiliated companies, among which is the Chestnut-Smith company, of Ranger.

The program for the festivities will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning with swimming and boating at the lake and a golf tournament on the Cisco Country club's course. Facilities of the Country club as well as those at the lake have been thrown open to the picnic. J. F. Brimberry will be in charge of the golf tournament.

From 1 to 1:30 p. m. there will be a Shetland pony race for boys in charge of P. E. Byrne, and a monkey race, contestants to be selected in charge of H. S. Taggart.

From 2 to 2:30 p. m. there will be a watermelon eating contest in charge of L. E. Dewey. This contest is open to all.

Between 2 and 3 p. m. there will be a greased pig capture, likewise open to all, in charge of R. O. King. Between 2 and 3 p. m. also a tennis tournament will take place directed by Harry Henry.

From 3 to 5:30 there will be a tennis tournament for women at the Country club, with Mrs. F. L. McHenry in charge.

From 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. water polo will be played in the Lake Cisco swimming pool, in charge of Scotty Collins. Swimming and diving meets will take place between 4:30 and 5:30 in charge of J. A. Bales.

A band concert by the Lone Star band, directed by H. A. Campbell, will be presented at the lake from 6 to 6:30.

From 6:30 to 7:30 will be the barbeque and lunch hour and beginning at 9 o'clock and lasting until midnight the festivities will consist with a dance at the country club of which Harry Henry, Sydney Smith and W. C. Dreinhoffer will be in charge.

The West Texas Utilities chuck wagon dinner will be held in the picnic grounds and will be served from special ranch chuck wagon secured in Albany. A program of contests and fun provide amusement for the picnic more expected to attend. This program will begin at 2:30 in the evening and conclude in the evening. H. H. Lamb is in charge.

The Lone Star Gas company has planned a holiday Saturday for all Dallas employees who wish to attend the Cisco picnic. Many officials of the company are expected, also.

There Wasn't Even Room to Drown!

FLIERS WILL TRY PACIFIC HOP AGAIN

Nome, Alaska, July 10. — "Sure, we hope to try it again". These words expressed the only plans Reg Robison and Harold Jencks have for the future as far as flying is concerned.

When they climbed out of their yellow and white Lockheed-Vega monoplane, the Fort Worth, star being forced by wind, rain and fog to abandon their proposed Seattle-Tokio non-stop routing flight, the two fliers were weary and disappointed but still had vague plans already forming for another try sometime in the future.

The fliers are expected to remain here for the next few days before starting south.

BANKER DIES IN OKLAHOMA DEATH CHAIR

McALESTER, Okla., July 10. — Paul D. Cole, banker and real estate man, died in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here early today, insisting he did not kill Ernest Irbly, manager of a drug store Cole owned in Wevoka.

Cole and Irbly had been charged with selling liquor at the drug store. Irbly promised he would turn state's evidence and shortly later he disappeared. His body was found April 7, 1929 in a lake near Wevoka.

Frank Hunt, an oil man, was arrested with Cole and accused Cole of the actual murder. Hunt received a life sentence on a guilty plea. Before going to the chair Cole sang hymns with the Rev. Fred Tucker, of Oklahoma City, with whom he had attended the University of Oklahoma.

Police Recover Car Stolen Here

A Ford coach, stolen from Mrs. Frances Crothers, at her home in the 400 block on Seventh street last night, was recovered this morning by Cisco police in the mesquite flats on G avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets.

The vehicle had been stripped of the thieves and five of its wheels, including the spare, taken.

DOHERTY FILES SUIT. KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI, July 10.—Henry L. Doherty, head of the billion-dollar Cities Service organization, struck back today at the Kansas City Star with a $12,000,000 libel suit.

The suit was filed in the Jackson county circuit court naming the Kansas City Star company; George B. Longan, publisher; Roy A. Roberts, managing editor and Fred C. Trigg, Kansas state editor as defendants.

BAND TO GIVE CONCERT AT STAR TONIGHT

The Cisco Lobo band will present the first of its series of summer concerts in neighboring communities this evening with an open air concert at Rising Star.

These concerts, undertaken for the purpose of establishing a firmer feeling of goodwill between Cisco and its neighbors, offer fine opportunities for family outings and visits with the people of nearby communities. Merchants are urged to accompany the band and to carry their families and a pleasurable evening is promised them.

Those who plan to make the trip are requested to notify the chamber of commerce at 395 and to be on hand at the chamber of commerce in time for the trip to begin at 7. The concert is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Transportation for the band will be furnished by the A. G. Motor company and the Bleasie Motor company.

Youth Killed by Temple Officers

TEMPLE, July 10. — Billie Bryan, 23, under arrest, was shot five times and killed at 2 a. m. today in front of the city jail where he was being taken for the filing and drunk and disorderly charges.

Policeman France Bouldin waived examining trial and was released on $300 bond. Boudin and Policeman J. A. Andrus were taking Bryan to jail.

The officers said he objected to arrest and made a thrust at them with a knife.

WILDCATS PUZZLES SHERIFF. TEXARKANA, Ark., July 10. — Sheriff Walter Harris had a present given to him recently — and he does not know just what to do with it. The present was a ferocious wildcat that was captured by a friend.

Nebraska Bank Robbed of $2,000

MAX, Neb., July 10. — Three unmasked bandits entered the Max State bank here today, help up three persons and looted the bank of approximately $2,000.

D. E. Gallatin, cashier; Morris Clements, a customer, and J. H. Ball, out of town agent, visiting the bank, were made to lie on the floor while the bandits were looting the tills and the vault.

Police Recover Car Stolen Here

A Ford coach, stolen from Mrs. Frances Crothers, at her home in the 400 block on Seventh street last night, was recovered this morning by Cisco police in the mesquite flats on G avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets.

The vehicle had been stripped of the thieves and five of its wheels, including the spare, taken.

DOHERTY FILES SUIT. KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI, July 10.—Henry L. Doherty, head of the billion-dollar Cities Service organization, struck back today at the Kansas City Star with a $12,000,000 libel suit.

The suit was filed in the Jackson county circuit court naming the Kansas City Star company; George B. Longan, publisher; Roy A. Roberts, managing editor and Fred C. Trigg, Kansas state editor as defendants.

GAS RATES ARE DEFENDED AT HEARING

Neither the West Texas Utilities company, the distributing agency, nor the Lone Star Gas company, which supplies the gas, can profitably reduce the gas rates in Cisco, representatives of these companies plainly told city officials at a hearing of two hours duration at the city hall last night. Frank M. Chase, vice-president and operations manager of the Lone Star, asserted in support of the present rates, that a reduction in the cost of gas to Cisco would mean a general reduction all down the line, including wages, expenditures for development and maintenance and so forth, which, he declared would prove disastrous to a section already involved in economic difficulties. He added, also, that it would be impossible for his company to reduce the gas rates in Cisco without corresponding reductions in other towns.

"The best proof of the fairness of present rates," he said, "is that we are not making any money."

He invited the city or any interested group of citizens to send an auditor to Dallas and make a complete audit of the books of the Lone Star if they wished to find out for themselves the truth of the statements made by himself and other representatives of his company.

F. D. Wright, city attorney, supported the city's contentions in the discussion. Revealing that the meeting had been called at his suggestion, Mr. Wright responded to Mr. Chase's query of "What is the occasion for agitating this matter at this time?" with a statement that expressed what appeared to be the plea of Cisco's grievance in the rate question.

Cisco's Contentions

"We feel," said Mr. Wright, "that we have a natural advantage in the enormous quantities of gas that exist at our very doors for much of which there is no market. We do not feel that we are under obligations to help furnish other communities, hundreds of miles distant, with gas."

Mr. Wright reviewed the gas history of Cisco briefly as a preface for his remarks. He said he understood that first gas was brought to Cisco from Callahan at 50 cents per thousand cubic feet and that later, when it was necessary to go into the Wichita Falls field for a supply the increased cost of supply brought about an increase in the present rates.

Since that time, he said, a big gas field has been developed adjacent to Cisco, some of its wells within the corporate limits. Enormous quantities of gas are being produced, he declared, much of it without a market and such as does have a market selling for six cents to the Lone Star. This development has reversed the condition that existed when the rates were raised, he said. "Now why hold the rate up?"

Want to Be Fair

He said that Cisco people want to be fair that they want the Lone Star and other companies to have a fair return and make a fair profit but that they also want an answer to this question: He expressed his conviction that the West Texas Utilities company is not receiving too much for its services, intimating that the crux of the alleged unfairness of the rates at this time lies in the allocation of receipts, under which Lone Star receives two-thirds of the gross revenues for delivery of the gas at the city limits and the West Texas Utilities company one-third for local distribution.

He quoted figures from a newspaper advertisement to show that the Lone Star received approximately $61,000 for gas delivered to Cisco in one year for which, at six cents per 1,000 cubic feet, he estimated that the Lone Star paid approximately $7,000.

Mr. Wright blamed high gas rates for the lack of industrial development referring to the example of a Cisco tailor who, he declared, located in the very heart of a great gas field, was compelled to put in a wood burner in order to escape exorbitant charges.

Mr. Chase followed Mr. Wright and challenged some of the statements of the Cisco attorney. In one such instance he denied that the supply of gas in this territory was more than adequate to the potential demand. "The supply of gas in this territory," he declared, "is not in

Real Wedding Unites Them Now

"Some day when we get big we'll get married — really married!" said Thomas McCroskey, 5, to Mary Elizabeth Chubb, same age, when they were principals in a "Tom Thumb wedding" given at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Webb City Mo., back in 1913. Well, truth being stranger than action the other day they were really married at Webb City and now she is Mrs. Thomas McCroskey of Greenville, S. C., where her husband has resided for several years. The bride is shown above, with an old picture of the two as they appeared at their "Tom Thumb wedding."

ONLY RELIEF IS SEEN IN LEGISLATION

AUSTIN, July 10.—The inevitable having occurred and oil men today turned toward Austin and wondered if they dared hope the Texas legislature might find a way of restoring the industry from its sorry position.

Complained on all sides by unprecedented low prices — in east Texas no prices at all — the oil men were hopeful that the lawmakers meeting at the behest of Gov. Sterling, would enact conservation laws to effectively check the rampaging east Texas field, cause of the industry's grief.

Today was probably the gloomiest in the industry's history which has been none too bright in recent months.

It was dimmed when the Shell Petroleum corporation announced six cents a barrel from ericks from the Yates pool of west Texas. If producers sell their crude at this price it will be the lowest paid for Texas oil since 1904 when crude from the spinidrop field was sold at three cents a barrel. This, however, was when the scarcity of automobiles made gasoline rather an unneeded and unwanted commodity.

Cut in west Texas water was literally more expensive than oil.

Water hoarded from Pecos to remote points sold for 50 cents a barrel. The high gravity oil produced in that section could be bought for 25 cents a barrel at the well.

Many oil men, particularly those connected with major companies, were telling each other "I told you so." They had foreseen just such a debacle as has occurred because east Texans insisted upon making hay while the sun shined after years of coaxing cotton crops from grudging acres.

Others cursed the luck of O. M. "Dud" Jenner, who back in December, 1930, discovered a lake of oil under east Texas after major company geologists had insisted for years none was there.

The industry leaders were unanimous in blaming east Texas for the collapse of the price structure. R. R. Penn, Dallas, vice-president of the American Petroleum Institute, estimated the collapse was costing the industry about $2,000,000 a day.

REVIVAL WILL BE CONCLUDED SUNDAY NIGHT

The Tabernacle revival in progress at Twelfth Street Methodist church for the past two weeks, will close Sunday night when the Rev. H. D. Tucker, pastor of the First Methodist church who is conducting the revival, will preach upon the subject "Going Home."

Unusual success has attended this series of services with a spiritual upsurge that has resembled old-time religious revivals.

There will be no day services tomorrow but there will be services this evening and tomorrow evening. The Rev. O. A. Morton will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

More Excellent Text Is Theme

"A Text More Excellent Than John 3:16" will be the subject of the Rev. B. C. Boney at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock period. Mr. Boney says, "Like the air we breathe, the most precious things in life we often pass with no recognition of their merit. Far too many thousands repeat every Sunday the text 'I shall trust Sunday morning, but few ever trouble themselves to analyze it, or do more than use it as a kind of fetch or beautiful group of words with which ceremonially to close a worship period. The choir and Mr. S. E. Steward will furnish music for the hour."

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Lois Richardson underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Graham sanatorium Tuesday. She was reported to be doing nicely this morning.

IN OKLAHOMA. OKLAHOMA CITY, July 10. — Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed their globe circling plane, the Winnie Mae, at Curtis-Wright airport today.

NEGRO HANGS FOR SLAYING TWO OTHERS

SHREVEPORT, La., July 10. — Felix Duhart, 44-year-old negro paid with his life today for the double murder of his common law wife and a negro youth here today.

Duhart fell through the trap at 12:18 p. m. but was not pronounced dead until 12:36.

Duhart was the first negro to be put to death in Bossier parish for the murder of another negro. He also was the first person to be hanged in the new parish court house completed two years ago.

The negro was reconciled to his fate and ate a hearty chicken dinner with coonout pie.

Duhart died for a double slaying in December, 1925. He was convicted of fatally shooting Alice Calhoun, a negro with whom he had been living, and a negro youth. Another negro was wounded seriously.

Captured four years after the shooting, Duhart contended that he fired while in a drunken rage. Prosecutors described the killing as the most brutal in the annals of Caddo parish.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR IS POSTPONED

The Boy Scout Court of honor scheduled for tonight will be held tomorrow night instead. Since so many of the scouts are members of the band and that organization is to be in Rising Star tonight the court of honor officials set the time for Saturday night, 8 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church.

Cisco will have three more Eagle scouts to add to its list, making a total of eight Eagles for the two troops in Cisco, when the court of honor convenes. Lucian Campbell, J. B. King and George Irvine are the scouts that have met the requirements. The public is invited to attend and the parents are especially wanted to witness the ceremony. Each scout will bring a pie and live up to the thirteenth scout law "A Scout is Hungry."

Brother of B. W. Patterson Dies

John Patterson, about 45, son of John F. Patterson and a brother of B. W. Patterson of this city, died in the soldiers' home at Prescott, Arizona, last week, information to the Daily News said.

B. W. Patterson went to Prescott to attend the funeral services.

John F. Patterson, father of the deceased, left Cisco several weeks ago for an extended visit with his children and relatives in Arizona and California.

Sunday School to Have Picnic

The Senior department of the First Methodist church Sunday school will have an outdoor program Sunday morning at the Electric park at 9:30. Members are requested to meet at the church at 9:15 to go from there in a body.

A MURDER A DAY IN TEXAS FOR JULY.

There has been a record of a murder a day in Texas since July 1. If the average is kept up for the month an all time record for Texas killing may be made. Texas had 164 homicides in the six months period ending July 1. San Antonio led the state with a total of 18; Houston was second with 16; Dallas, third, with 15; Fort Worth, fourth, with 5; Kilgore, the oil town had 4; Galveston, Port Arthur, Austin, Laredo and El Paso showed with three each on the list. Dallas had six bloody murders in two weeks. Judge Charles A. Pippin impaneled a new grand jury. He urged city and county police "to put a stop to the crimes from which our streets are running red with blood. Thieves, bandits, and killers are running amuck in our city." Judge Pippin let it be known what he would do if he were a law enforcement officer. He shot his message straight from the shoulder:

"If I were a sheriff or chief of police, I would let no man working for me sleep until the guilty person had been found. I am criticizing no one. I am just speaking frankly to you. Someone is murdering our people night after night and day after day and something must be done. It will help some if you men can conduct your investigations thoroughly and do everything possible to help solve these crimes."

There are many good men and women in Texas who are opposed to capital punishment. They have a holy horror of taking human life on the gallows or by the electricity route. What of the victims of the rehandened slayers? What of the widows and the children who are left behind? Capital punishment will cease in Texas when rehandened murderers and hijackers are broken on the rack of the law.

NEWTON D. BAKER A MODEST MAN.

National Committeeman Scott Farris of Oklahoma made an interesting announcement to the democrats of the Southwest and the entire nation for that matter, when he said that he had received word from Newton D. Baker of Ohio that the distinguished Buckeye democrat would not be a candidate for president in the next campaign unless Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed that he would not run.

Newton D. Baker was as close to Woodrow Wilson as any member of the cabinet of Wilson for eight years. He is one of the ablest lawyers of the nation as well as one of the ablest of the democratic chieftains. New York and Ohio may furnish the national standard bearers of the party next year but as Senator Tom Connally has said: "The national convention will nominate the ticket." Scott Farris is a Wilson democrat, he was a member of the Wilson congresses and hasn't retired from politics. He never misses a national convention, he is a regular, and it is said that he will play an active hand in the game in presidential election year.

CICERO MURRAY AS A PROPHET.

Cicero Murray of Oklahoma, a kinsman of the governor, is the chairman of the petroleum committee of ten oil producing states. Cicero held a session of this committee at Amarillo. He said prorotation of East Texas fields is still a big problem. He predicted that the price of crude would go up in 10 days, if Governor Sterling would call a special session of the legislature to curtail production in the field, and that the present price of crude would be $1.00 a barrel if the East Texas field had been properly handled.

It is pathetic, isn't it? If Cicero was a Mussolini of the petroleum industry he would work miracles almost in the twinkling of an eye. As he isn't a Mussolini, why the oil industry may go to the damnation bow-wows. Thomas Cranfill, widely known in the Texas oil fields, has repudiated the Texas rail commission plan. He disclaims all responsibility for the commission method. His plan was thrown in the wastebasket. Now rank failures faces all concerned. If Producer Cranfill knows whereof he speaks—or guesses.

Rail Commissioner Neff is not shooting all concerned with his trusted blunderbus, and East Texas crude is selling at the very low level of 10 cents. Man is a fantastic creature at best.

A KANSAS TOWN IN THE PICTURE.

Chanute is a very progressive and prosperous Kansas town. Chanute must be alone in its class when it comes to the payment of city taxes. For the second successive year its city commissioners have announced that there are no city taxes to pay. They adopted a budget calling for expenditures of $122,610.50, which is $3000 more than last year. They said the gas and water and electric plants owned and operated by the city, will yield $102,560.50 profit. Additional income from other sources than taxes will permit them to balance the budget. Chanute retired $90,000 of bonds of last year and has $220,000 cash in its treasury. Last year also the municipality purchased a $10,000 fire truck and began construction of an underground conduit system for electric power. The water system is the only municipal utility with bonded indebtedness.

There appears to be something new under the municipal taxation sun. Chanute made the discovery. Municipal taxes in Texas cities and towns are increasing at a rapid rate. Property values in many Texas cities and towns are decreasing at a rapid rate. Chanute must have an extraordinary citizenship and very wise municipal directors.

Gas Rates---

...of the requirements to be made upon it." He admitted that the present summer demand is light but asserted that the expected winter demand will absorb the available output.

The Lone Star came into the territory six years ago by taking over the gas operations of the Texas company which were disappointing to that concern. Chase said in a review of conditions under which Chase has been receiving its gas supply. "Since we took it over there has not been one hour that Cisco has not had a continuous, abundant supply of gas."

He asserted that fields in this vicinity cannot be operated profitably under present conditions except that they are operated jointly for oil and gas. He supported this argument with the claim that most of the wells are short-lived and the gas production exhausts quickly. This statement was subsequently challenged by Mr. Wright who mentioned gas wells which have been producing continuously for many years with only a normal decrease in output.

An interposition by County George Fee to the effect that gas bills in Cisco are getting higher and higher drew Mr. Chase's prompt denial. "Most people imagine their bills are getting higher," he declared. He said that his company had investigated this charge in numerous individual cases and found it baseless.

"Labor prices have not declined with us," said Chase. "We are paying the same prices for labor as business and we have not reduced a single salary. The Lone Star is extending the same trying situation that other concerns are experiencing. A reduction of rates now would require reduction of wages and of prices in the field and this country is in an unfavorable condition for special reductions. Such a policy would prove, I believe, almost as disastrous as the present slump in the oil industry."

"It would be an interesting experience to see you go through with such a plan as Judge Wright suggested," he referred to Mr. Wright's opinion that there are plenty of producers who would, if assured of a market here, willingly enter into a contract, fortified by an adequate bond, to supply gas to Cisco's city limits at 20 or even 15 cents a 1,000 cubic feet. He contended the loss of some one or two of these wells. Declaring that the consumers in Cisco have a larger investment in gas appliances and equipment than the West Texas Utilities, he estimated this investment at $300,000; he asserted that it would be one of the most harmful things that a city commission could do to jeopardize this investment by tying it to a gas supply of only one or two wells.

"How large is the area upon which you depend for gas?" he asked. "Cisco has access to practically every gas field in the state. Is that worth anything to you? I don't think that you can ever depend upon this immediate area, large as it is."

Mr. Chase quoted figures he had compiled upon the Lone Star's average expenditure in this section over a period of three years. According to his figures the Lone Star during that period paid an average per year of $600,453 per year; $2,116,680 for gas purchased from wells other than Lone Star operations; $123,243 for pumps and royalties; $306,006 for materials, supplies and miscellaneous; $113,000 in ad valorem taxes alone, representing a total of $3,459,470. A big part of this, he said, went into the "real trade."

"Practically everything in the nature of developing natural resources in this section is going to depend upon the Lone Star Gas company," he declared. "The oil industry is in a deplorable condition and it is going to depend upon some one company to keep conditions alive because if they ever get completely dead it may be years before they are revived. The Lone Star is trying to develop this country and it is giving this section the most serious attention of any that we are interested in. The only way that we can relieve the situation here is by cutting all along the line and making conditions worse than they are now. I believe that conditions are going to get better within a few months, however."

"It is ridiculous to think of getting a gas supply from two or three wells. People have the mistaken idea that all we have to do is punch a hole in the ground and there is the gas. But somebody has to keep drilling and producing these wells. Exclusive of the drilling and operations cost our statistics show that it costs us 4 and one-half cents a thousand feet simply to maintain connections with our wells."

"Rate Is Low"
"You gentlemen do not know what a fair rate is. You couldn't know. You don't know anything about the business. On the basis of a fair return our rate is low. The Texas Railroad commission, I understand, will within the next few months begin an appraisal of our properties. We shall be glad to have them do that. It will show that we are not making what is considered a fair return. The best proof of the fairness of our rates is that we are not making any money. We want you people satisfied and we are willing for you to send an auditor to our offices and see if we are not telling you the truth."

F. W. Campbell, traffic manager of the West Texas Utilities company speaking first, declared that "the net return on his company's gas distribution investment in Cisco, before depreciation charges, bond interest or dividends were paid" was about $5,140 on the average over a 10 year period. He presented the commission with a statement setting forth the investment, gross revenue, expenses and so forth year by year for a 10-year period, and invited the commission to pursue the figures into the W. T. U. offices by an audit of the company's records. On the basis of the net return from the gas business here, he and Judge J. M. Wagstaff, general counsel of the company, declared that the W. T. U. had gone into the red in Cisco for the past nine years.

"Unfair Tactics"
Judge Wagstaff warned against turning from a certain supply of gas as was available through the Lone Star, to "wildcat" supplies. He declared that while Cisco could give franchises to competing gas companies to enter the field that competition of the character supplied by these companies would be unfair both to Cisco and to the W. T. U. and Lone Star in that the competing concerns could locate in the most thickly settled portions of the city with an uncertain supply of gas from a few wells, forcing the company already in the field to serve outlying portions of the city.

"If you permit another company to enter," he said, "you ought in fairness to yourself and to us to make them conform to the same conditions you impose upon us."

Judge Eugene Lanford asked Mr. Chase point blank as the hearing neared an end, if that since the purpose of the hearing was to determine whether or not the rate could or would be lowered, the Lone Star's attitude is it will not reduce the rate.

"You are correct," said Mr. Chase. Judge Lanford then mentioned examples of economic suffering in Cisco and declared that he is willing to join other citizens in burning wood rather than back down his fight for lower rates.

Mayer J. T. Berry presided at the hearing. Representatives of the Lone Star present were Mr. Chase; Roy C. Cefley, of the legal department, and W. C. Grant, advertising manager.

West Texas Utilities company representatives were Price Campbell, president; P. W. Campbell, traffic manager; Judge J. M. Wagstaff, general counsel; A. W. Brehan, Abilene district manager, and P. P. Shepard, Cisco district manager.

GOLFERS FACE STIFF COURSE AT PORTLAND

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
United Press Staff Correspondent
PORTLAND, Ore., July 10. —
Eastern Amateur Golf champion Lehman, along with about other entrants, will face a stiff when the annual Western amate-is played this year over the Portland Golf club course July 13-

The course is 6,425 yards long, about 56 traps, and water hazards may be encountered in 19 different places. Par is 35-37 — 72.
A hole by hole description follows:
No. 1. Par 4 (397 yards) — A up on the right of the fairway men about 165 yards will catch short tee shot, but a well-placed shot will carry well down a slope with an iron to the green.
No. 2. Par 4 (425 yards) — The tee is from an elevation and must carry an irrigation ditch out 125 yards out. The green is large.

Long Straight Drive
No. 3. Par 4 (333 yards) — A straight drive will open the way to the green, which is a dog to the left, well trapped.
No. 4. Par 3 (135 yards) — A tee shot will carry on a bank surrounded by deep traps.
No. 5. Par 5 (495 yards) — The tee is on a hill. A hooked or pulled drive will go out of bounds over a fence.
The green calls for a shot up a bank.
No. 6. Par 4 (352 yards) — A tee shot is required on a rising fairway. The tee must be firm, as the green
well up on a side hill.

No. 7. Par 4 (335 yards) —
The hole is on a steep hill. The tee must be at least 230 yards in good position to pitch over a formidable looking lake in front of the green.

Trapped and Ditched
No. 8. Par 3 (205 yards) — A tee shot, long iron or a spoon will be required here. A trap, trees and ditch await near the green.
No. 9. Par 4 (322 yards) —
The hole is on a slight uphill with rough on the right. A 220 yard tee shot leaves a fairly stiff approach to a trapped, rolling green.
No. 10. Par 5 (512 yards) — Let the ball fly here. The green is severely trapped.

No. 11. Par 4 (376 yards) — Here
the companion water hole of No.
10 is a factor. The tee shot is ever about 100 yards of water on an uphill
tee. The green is on an elevation.

No. 12. Par 3 (210 yards) — The hole is off a high tee to a green at a distance below, guarded by ditch, traps, rough and trees.

No. 13. Par 4 (398 yards) —
The hole is on a right and left will catch tee shots. Not a hard par 4.
No. 14. Par 4 (396 yards) — The hole is through a narrow fairway. A sloping, rolling green makes this a very difficult par 4.

Long Shots
No. 15. Par 5 (590 yards) — The tee slopes abruptly to the right. It takes two tremendous shots to reach this par 5 in two.
No. 16. Par (357 yards) — A tee shot down a fairly steep fairway. A ditch and traps guard the green.

No. 17. Par 3 (125 yards) — An easy par 3, provided the pitch is a small canyon in front of the green.

No. 18. Par 5 (522 yards) —
The hole will be very few greens to reach this hole — the longest on the course — in two shots. It takes a tee approach after two woods when the wind is against the player. The hole is tricky.

Chance to Give Back Warships

PARIS, July 10.—The French government has announced that the Ministry of Marine was prepared to go back to the Soviet Russian government the twelve former Russian warships which have been sitting up rust in the blue waters of Bizerta harbor, Tunisia.

The Moscow government was reported to be preparing to ask France to return the warships, which would be more than pleased, as Bizerta Harbor is none too big in the presence of the old warships congesting the harbor.

The fleet includes one first-line battleship, one cruiser, one auxiliary cruiser, five destroyers and four minesweepers.

These vessels were used to evacuate the Wrangel army, carrying them from Crimea to Tunis, where they were split up, the soldiers and officers scattering over the world as the warships were interned.

Since that time the ships have been unattended and it is doubtful they could ever be made seaworthy again. The wooden decks are rotted under the African sun and rains, the bottoms are covered with barnacles and the sides are red with rust. The boilers and engines are rusted and fallen apart.

The French government will reply to Moscow that there is no objection to Soviet sailors taking the vessels over, but Russia must bear all expense of returning them to a home port.

PLANS FOR BOY SLAYER'S TRIAL CAUSE ALARM

CHICAGO, July 10.—The indictment and assignment to trial in the criminal court of Varney Cory, 15, on a charge of murdering Police Edward Smith, who ordered him from a high school swimming pool, has created alarm among sociologists and criminologists over what they term "the slowly descending age of criminal offenders."

At the same time they are sponsoring a movement for a study and re-statement of the purpose and function of the juvenile court of Cook county, the oldest juvenile court in existence.

Workers Interested
Among social workers who believe the Cory boy should not be tried in the criminal court are Jane Addams of Hull House, Joel Hunter of the United Charities, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president, and Miss Jessie Binford, director of the juvenile protective association; Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, chief of the behavior clinic of the criminal court; Prof. Edward H. Southard of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago; Prof. Clifford R. Shaw, research sociologist and head of the department of research sociology of the Institute for Juvenile Research.

Attorneys said that because the boy was indicted by the grand jury, the chief justice of the criminal court had no choice but to assign the case for trial to a criminal court judge.

Nelle Prosser Necessary
In order to have the case transferred to the juvenile court, legal authorities said, it would be necessary first to have it nullified by the state's attorney and then to file a petition in the juvenile court to the effect that the Cory boy is a delinquent.

Miss Addams declared the procedure wrong.

"I would not minimize the gravity of his killing," she said, "but the very fact that he did so and carried a gun, showed that there was something 'supernatural' in it, and points the way to the court in which the case should be handled."

China Favoring Love Matches
PEIPING, July 10.—Three of the highest officials in China, General Chiang Kai-shek, Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, and H. H. Kung, minister of industry, have given great impetus to the movement for "love matches" in China.

The Chinese press recently reported that General Chiang had "arranged" a marriage between the eldest daughter of Marshal Chang, who is 14, and the eldest son of King Chu Kwang-my, Marshal Chang's chief secretary, explaining that the press report is not true. He said that Marshal Chang and King both believed in "love matches," and did not arrange a marriage between the young people.

It is true, however, Chu declared, that General Chiang suggested that such a marriage would be a happy one, and that Marshal Chang's daughter was introduced to King's son during the marshal's recent trip to Nanking.

This official version of the incident has encouraged youthful reformers, who are fighting the old system of arranging marriages "sight unseen" in China.

WHY SHOULD BOY ATTEND SUMMER CAMP?

REV. B. C. BONEY

Rev. B. C. Boney First Presbyterian church, Cisco, Chairman of Court of Honor of Belt Council.

One of the most important reasons is — that it is the boy's desire to go. Whenever a boy is desirous of doing something worth while there should always be extended an opportunity to shower and realize that desire.

When a boy sees his companion going away to Camp and in his return hear reports concerning a profitable and enjoyable time in his own heart there springs up a yearning, which should be realized, and the boy be given an opportunity to have his heart's desire.

In the second place, the boy should have an opportunity to go to Camp because there he is under competent, devoted and efficient leaders, whose personality, guidance, inspiration will tell greatly in the making of the character of the boy. In deed, it is far better for him to spend his time under conditions of discipline, and proper leadership, than to roam the streets aimlessly when he is not definitely occupied. One has said: "What you do when you haven't anything else to do, will determine what you are going to be." During the vacation time especially, when the boys do not go to school, when they have no definite tasks to perform, time often is uselessly wasted, and what is more often is employed to their own detriment.

In the third place, I believe that a boy should go to Camp, because there they associate with the gang. A boy is a social individual. He needs comradeship. He wants to do things in groups. In the Camp he finds essential beliefs of good purpose with which it is both a pleasure and a benefit for him to associate.

In the fourth place, the boy should go to Camp, because there he has an opportunity to commune with the beautiful out-of-doors. The Scout Camp is situated in one of the choice spots of Texas. There's a spring fed stream with cool sparkling water—wild flowers in profusion with fish and birds in abundance. A study of nature, and living with nature cannot help but bring to the boy a better appreciation of the beautiful things that God has made.

In the fifth place, the boy should go to camp because there he learns regularity in habits. He eats when his companions eat; he awakes when he is summoned to arise; he goes to bed when he is bid to do so; he goes hiking at a stated time, swimming and fishing and boating at regular intervals. In all of these things there is discipline for the making of splendid habits, that will be a great asset to the boy, a source of joy to the parents.

In the sixth place, I believe that a boy should go to Camp, because the experience will give an appreciation of home. In Camp the boy is made to look out for himself. He must assert his initiative; he must eat what is put before him; he is very largely his own servant. When he returns home, he will the more appreciate his mother's attention and devotion and service. He will relish the food that is put before him; life will bear a new aspect to him.

Mangum
Rev. Blair our missionary preached a splendid sermon Sunday morning. There was a nice crowd out to hear him.

P. G. Tucker returned home Saturday afternoon from Tye where he has been working for a few days.

Henry Murphy and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fisher visited Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Tucker Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Noble visited their daughter, Mrs. Odell Tucker Tuesday afternoon.

Several from this community attended the singing league at Flatwoods Sunday night.

Mrs. A. P. Hartwick and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Drake and children visited L. C. Byrd and family Saturday.

Mrs. A. P. Hartwick's cousin from Missouri is visiting her this week. There will be a cemetery working at Pleasant Valley Saturday. All that have interest in the working are invited to come.

Mrs. Allene Matthews and baby who has been visiting her folks in Big Spring has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady Davis and children left Monday morning for California.

Mrs. M. A. Byrd visited Mrs. Hartwick Tuesday night.

All of the victims were men. Two other slayings occurred this year but the "Nevada code" of non-interference in private feuds and the "law of the range" brought freedom to both victors in the quarrels.

A jury freed Frank Blondin, miner, for shooting and killing George Indiana, sheepherder, in the lonely Pyramid Lake section during an argument over grazing rights, and a coroner's jury exonerated Bill Graham, Reno "big shot" in sporting circles, for slaying F. R. McCracken during a gun duel in a Douglas Alley speakeasy.

The two women charged with murder are in the Elko county jail awaiting trial. Although one slaying occurred in Wendover and the other in Midas, Nev., there is a strange parallel between the cases—both of the men victims were shot in the back, both women were alone with the victims when the shootings occurred, both claim the dead men committed suicide and in each instance the officers claim suicide would have been impossible.

Beautiful Rita Thurman is charged with shooting Ray Monsee, at Wendover, Nev., after their return from a country dance.

The second woman, Mrs. Mary Young, was bound over for trial on first degree murder charges in the slaying of her husband, Del H. Young, miner, who was found dead in the doorway of his cabin with a bullet in his head.

In Las Vegas, Nevada's southern metropolis, two men face death if convicted. Louis Potter has been accused of killing J. A. Lewis, placing the body in a truck and overturning the truck to make it appear an accidental death.

J. H. Hall, 52, is charged with shooting and killing Jack O'Brien, prospector. He was killed during an argument.

L. Cejas, Mexican, is held in the death house at Carson City pending an appeal in his case.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Liane Barrett, 18 and beautiful, goes to dinner with some acquaintances she blunders a speakeasy young man who goes through the kindness of McDermid, a young policeman. Cass Barrett, her actress mother, takes her to Willow Stream for the summer. Before she goes, Liane has a romantic encounter with a handsome stranger. McDermid comes to tell Liane that the man in the speakeasy is a man in the law. At a party given by Liane's mother, she meets a man who shares office duties with her, Liane is the handsome stranger's name is Van Robard. Cass insists alarm on hearing his name and asks Liane not to see him again.

Cleopatra, the theater's patroness, invites Liane to go with her in the fall while her mother goes on tour. The girl can't forget Robard, even after she has a gossipy coupling with Adele Ladd, Muriel's mother. Liane goes about with a reporter, and her mother institutes a search for the couple, believing they have eloped. The affair is a false alarm. Liane goes to the good-looking son of the house, Clive, considerate and sensible. When Van Robard is unexpectedly one night she hears he is to marry Adele Ladd.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV
Liane was in a blank and white. She had left the morning paper on the breakfast tray. She saw Mr. and Mrs. John Fenton of this city and Willow Stream, L. L. announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel, to Mr. James Dusen Robard, son of the late Mr. Edward Craighead and of New York and Newport. The ceremony will take place in the morning. Blindly she saw no more. Blinded by the paper from her, she mechanically poured her coffee. In the morning the luxury of the breakfast failed to please her. Robard and Muriel! She just couldn't believe it. It was absurd. There was no meaning in it. Elsie said Van Robard was in love with Muriel's mother. Oh, it was so strange, and so topsy turvy.

She never knew later how she had got through that dreadful day. She had a confused impression of the big, busy station, of a porter who took her things, of Clive saying "Goodbye, competently. I'll park this and find you at the gate. I'll get your ticket. Don't bother about anything."

She remembered waiting at the steps. Busy people, casual and happy people, milled around her. A family party, a pretty mother and a coal black nurse guarding the pink-coated baby. How safe and sure they all were! Liane did not seem to touch any of them. "I'll come along if you want me," Clive offered shyly as she established her in her chair.

Liane was shaken out of her apathy at this. "Oh, no, no, thanks. You're awfully kind," she told him. She didn't need anyone. She saw his kind, troubled face in that last moment before the train began slowly to move. She even raised her hand to salute him.

Liane's eyes filled with tears. People were good, she thought dully. It was only when you were in trouble that you found that out. The short journey seemed interminable. Clive had wired Elsie the time of her arrival but there was no one waiting in the dismal station. She gave the cabman the address of the hospital and then sat staring through the window at the unfamiliar streets.

At the information desk a starched young woman with a detached air told her Mrs. Barrett was in 402. No change, she added. The words chilled Liane. Her heart was full to bursting as she rode up in the creaky, antiseptic smelling elevator. The man looked at her with a faint curiosity. He was accustomed to pallid visitors with terror in their eyes but this one was so young—so alone.

A strange Elsie waited outside the door of Cass' room, an Elsie pale and serious. "Glad you've come, kid," she whispered. "Can't go in right now. The doctor's there."

The throbbing of Liane's heart was thunderous. She reached for something to steady herself. "Tell me—" she began, "just how bad—" She couldn't go on. Elsie shook her head. "They don't know just when the crisis will come," she said. "Tonight, they think. We thought it was just a cold. She'd been struggling along with it. Didn't want to mention it to you. Yesterday morning the doctor said it was pneumonia. He hurried her over here so she'd get the best care. Hope it was the right thing to do." Her bright eyes sought Liane's anxiously.

ingless, more terrifying than gloom. The girl felt he had spoken thus to a dozen anxious watchers. "May I go into see her now?" His look probed her. "If you'll promise not to disturb her—" She stanchly promised. She would not allow one tear to flow.

The still figure on the bed moved over so slightly. There was a low moan and the nurse moved swiftly to her patient's side. Alert she stood there, then turned, finger on lip, to sign the watcher with her to silence.

"Just the same," she murmured. Liane looked up quickly, hopefully, at the movement. But at the nurse's words the girl's pallor deepened. She settled again in her chair, her eyes never leaving the quiet figure under the coverlet. Cass was quiet now. Before she had been delirious and that had had been awful.

"She mustn't die—she won't die—she can't!" This Liane repeated over and over to herself as if it were a magic litany to chain Cass' spirit.

"She mustn't! She won't!" Thus the girl had proved, had hoped, all the long day. She had been at the hospital for three days, now, and the awaited crisis failed to arrive. At night she dreaded going with Elsie back to the hotel. She lay, long hours, in the darkness, every nerve straining for the telephone message she felt sure would come. In the dawn she would rise, with shaking fingers dash the icy water into her reddrimmed eyes. Exhausted, she would dress, wait for the hour when she might creep to her mother's side.

It was all terrible, terrible! She had not known before what anguish could be.

Police Radio Causes New Thrill Racket

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Joining that vast army of fire truck chasers is a new clan of thrill seekers which has come into existence since police have instituted the "radio patrol" detail.
Police so far have failed to discourage this new racket, which employs domestic radios to obtain hot tips on where the most thrilling crime is being perpetrated.

Radio fans, it has been discovered, tune in on the police department's low wave station and listen to the broadcast of holdups, traffic accidents and slayings.
After they find out where the "radio patrol car" has been ordered, they get into their own automobile and go to the scene.
Discovery of the "radio racket" was made when police learned that a certain couple was beating them to the scene of crimes and major automobile accidents.

It appears that by buying a simple device at small cost, radio fans can listen in on the "crime wave." One couple would park and choose the holdups or traffic accidents they wanted to see, police said.
In some instances the "police radio broadcast," designed to expedite the capture of law violators, has proven a means of escape for the violators.

Particularly is this the case in connection with parties where reports have been received of hilarious evenings.
Before police could arrive, the guests, forewarned by their radio, have taken a temporary recess.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 9.—United States automobile tourists contributed $202,409,000 of Canada's $279,238,000 revenue from tourist trade in 1928, according to the British Columbia Government Information Bureau. Canada's tourist revenue for last year is down $73,000,000.

U. S. automobile tourists spent $130,000,000 less in Canada last year. While the number was greater, their expenditures were less.

There were 1,419,428 United States tourists that came to Canada by rail and water to spend $63,874,000, a decrease of nearly 300,000 in numbers and $16,134,000 in the amount spent.

It is estimated Canada automobile tourists to the United States showed an increase of 127,352 over 1928. The estimated expenditure of 749,924 who went from Canada to U. S. for a holiday is placed at $63,489,000, a decline of $1,566,000 compared with 1928. That is based on expenditure of $105 per car in 1928 and $85 per car in 1930.
