'Uncle Pete' Counted Three Times, but Kellers Still Lose

Despite counting "Uncle Pete" three times, Keller's Killers still lost the membership and attendance contest conducted by Hico Civic Club, the end to which came Wednesday noon of this week.

The un-heard-of total of 80 members and guests were present for the Wednesday meeting, by far the largest gathering ever assembled for a regular meeting.

Final totals showed Ross' Hosses edging the Killers 614 to 606 points. The contest was begun earlier this year to stimulate both membership and attendance. Members were divided into teams, with points scored for attendance, new member, and bringing guests. As a booby prize, a goat was used with some member who was not present at a meeting having the privilege of furnishing room and board for the goat for one week.

At the beginning of the contest, members decided that the losing side would furnish entertainment at a ladies' night banquet to be held at conclusion of the campaign.

ATOMIC FUSION RESEARCH

seeking the key that may unlock a new source of electric power for the future

Recognizing that the time will come when new fuels will be needed to generate a vastly greater supply of electric power, Community Public Service joined with nine other Texas investor-owned electric utility companies ten years ago in sponsoring an atomic fusion research program.

Although researchers are far from solving difficult basic problems in the fusion process and its application to the production of electric power, the long-range program is progressing, and is currently being conducted in laboratories at the University of Texas.

For the past seven years, the program has contributed to the education of several thousand high school science students — many from the area served by Community Public Service Company — by providing nuclear science symposiums. At these meetings, science-minded boys and girls not only are exposed to the knowledge being acquired by this research, but also have the opportunity to meet and talk with some of the world's foremost scientists.

The program's educational functions are an important by-product of the continuing long-range effort to develop direct generation of electric power through the controlled atomic fusion process.

Harvest is underway and the yield is reported to be fair. Those who have heard of Walter Abel has been laid up when he was driving his tractor near the barn and struck a which threw him against the machinery and cut a hole in his leg. We hope he will soon be fully recovered and able to continue his farm work, for sure a time now for a farmer to laid up.

We had quiet a rabie scare here Saturday week when a cat at home of Mrs. M. E. Parks scratched a granddaughter, Melody Leonard, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Leonard. Mrs. Parks' son, Audie, thought it a wise idea that the cat be sent off for a rabies test and it was, and the test showed rabies. Melody started taking the shots at once. About ten days to two weeks prior to the incident, something had come during the night and killed all of this mother cat's kittens. So the only wise thing to do was to destroy the rest of the cats on the place, which was done. As we stated back in early spring all pets should be vaccinated against rabies. With skunks so plentiful and appearing in yards in daytime and so many have had rabies this year, it is sure not wise to keep a pet and not have it vaccinated. Some 17 dogs were vaccinated last spring here.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Turner had the following children and families home during the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Botkin, Tammy and Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turner, Keith and Kimberly and Miss Bernice Turner, all of Killeen, and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Turner and family of Arlington.

Truett Turner and a friend from Fort Worth visited here during the weekend with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parks, and fished some. Mr. Turner drove Mrs. Parks' car back to Ft. Worth Sunday. She accompanied him to remain through Tuesday visiting in the Turner home and to attend Baccalaureate services Sunday evening for her grandson, Bobby Turner, and the commencement exercises Tuesday evening.

J. N. Pitts of Fort Worth and his father, H. S. Pitts of Stephenville visited in the home of their uncle and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abel one afternoon last week, and we understand stopped by our home and didn't find us. They wanted to leave a donation for the cemetery. Sorry we missed them. We may have just been out watering at the back or hanging out a wash.

Mrs. Ray Turner, Keith and Kimberly of Killeen came up Thursday and visited through Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Janice. Ray came up Saturday and spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bullard, Mark and Donna of Arlington spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bullard and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones and Donald Ray of Houston, who spent the weekend at their home at Latham.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Prater spent the weekend in Fort Worth visiting in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morin and family. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wiese and family of Fort Worth visited with her parents last Sunday weekend. We were unable to contact the Praters for their news last week.

Mrs. Prater reported Mrs. Charlie Wiese to be doing fairly well. She was recovering from a broken hip the first of the year when she had a light stroke and was in the Clifton Hospital. She wants to return home and they are trying to find someone to stay in the home but since she is a diabetic and has to have shots, they've been unable to find anyone who can give them.

Capt. and Mrs. Lynn King are announcing the arrival of a little daughter, born May 22. She has been christened Kimberly Ann. Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl King of Fairy, and is stationed at Vandenberg AFB in Calif. They have another daughter, 3 years old. He is a graduate of Fairy school, and our congratulations to he and his wife on the arrival of their second daughter. The baby weighed 6 pounds.

We were awakened by rain Monday morning, so the weatherman didn't miss his mark after all. Up to 9:15 a.m. we had received 1.1 inches which will be very beneficial to row crop and gardens. But will halt the combining of grain for the present.

We will get our cemetery mowed again as soon as the weather will permit. Our thanks to Bill Abel for $5 left at home last Tuesday. Bill is another of our faithful donors.

Thanks to all who have given us permission to set bermuda grass on lots to help prevent the ground from washing. Despite the dry weather, most all we have set out seems to be surviving. We will probably get one seed and sow this fall to help get the lots covered more quickly.

Tomorrow is Memorial Day, a time when we should feel we have a Memorial Day every day. Our men and boys in Vietnam should have our consideration and prayers every day. We feel sure all like ourself wish there was something we could do, but we are so helpless, but we can pray daily for them. May God bless our men serving our country.

We received quite a surprise Tuesday afternoon of last week when we answered the door bell and found Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tinsley. She was the former Cleone Fort, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fort. Mr. Fort owned one of the general merchandise stores at Fairy when our parents moved here in 1904. We don't remember the exact year he sold the store to Mr. N. A. Leeth now of Hico and the late Millree Parks of Fairy but was around 1910. The Fort family moved to Silverton where Mr. and Mrs. Fort passed away and are buried there. We had not seen any of the family since they left here. However the eldest daughter, Myrtle, had been through here once or twice and visited with a relative, the late Mrs. Emma Fort Ogle, who clerked in the store for several years before her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Tinsley reside in Fort Worth and she promised she was coming back soon and visit longer. Mr. Tinsley is a retired telephone man. Their address is 3409 Rogers. Cleone was born at Fairy in 1903. She stated that her sister, Myrtle, Mrs. Fred C. Goodman, resides in Columbus, Kentucky, and that her brother, Ercy, is deceased.

Lt. and Mrs. Harlon Wood of Fort Hood visited during the weekend with his aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl King.

The Hamilton County Home Demonstration Council will meet on June 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the Community Public Service Building in Hamilton.

Magic enters the menu when you use eggs. For it's almost as simple as putting these spheres of nutrition into a magician's tall black hat, and drawing out mealtime fare. The trick is merely in choosing the recipe, for egg uses are almost endless.

Always store eggs with the big end up, just as they come in the carton. This keeps the small air pockets in the large end and the yolk nicely centered. Egg whites and yolks separate easily when at refrigerator temperature. Also, the yolks are less apt to break.

Egg whites, yolks and whole eggs beat up faster and easier when first brought to room temperature, however. Add a pinch of salt, cream of tartar or lemon juice to beaten whites for more stability.

Store separated eggs in the refrigerator. Egg whites keep from 7 to 10 days in a tightly covered dish. Whole yolks should be put in covered dish, covered with water and used within 2 to 3 days.

It's best to stir constantly when pouring hot mixtures into beaten eggs. This avoids curdling and cooking the eggs. When using beaten egg whites in a recipe, fold the heavy ingredients into the beaten whites. Use a spoon, spatula, scraper or whisk with a light under and over motion. Don't overmix or you'll fold out some of the air you beat in.

To pack shoe polish for travel, wrap in plastic or enclose in a small plastic bag. Be sure the cap is tight. Heat and pressure can cause leaking of even the tightest packages.

Why are some hard-cooked eggs difficult to peel? Frequently, shells do not peel easily from hard-cooked eggs, and this condition is related to the freshness of eggs. As eggs are stored, they lose carbon dioxide and become easier to peel when hard-cooked. Eggs which will not peel easily are freshly laid and generally of high quality. Eggs that have been stored for several days will usually peel easily.

Durable-press fabrics reduce the work required to keep the family well groomed. Proper laundry methods help retain the easy-care features of these fabrics. Launder before fabrics are heavily soiled and as soon as possible after soiling. Turn garments inside out to help reduce "frosting" or wear creases. Launder in the coolest water that will remove soil. If warm hot water is used, then rinse in cool water before machine spinning or hand wringing.

For heavy, oily soil, perspiration and food stains, measure heavy-duty liquid detergent required for entire load and apply full strength to the most soiled area of garments. Soak in hot water, let warm to 90-110 degrees, then agitate for six to eight minutes.

Shorten the wash cycle to the minimum required for soil removal. Use slow agitation or a stop and soak, followed by a short time of normal agitation. Advance the control dial to shorten cycle.

Rinse well in cool water. If your water is hard, use a water softener in the first rinse or fabric softener in the final rinse. Fabric softeners reduce the static charge which attracts soil. Softeners also decrease clinging of man-made fibers.

For less wrinkling, dry in small loads, about half the dryer capacity. Dry at normal heat unless your dryer has a setting for wear, or permanent press. At the end of the dryer cycle, let the clothes continue to tumble for a cool-down period of five to ten minutes after the heat is off. As soon as the dryer stops, remove garments and hang or fold. If you have no dryer, shorten the spin in washing machine by advancing the dial, or remove garments while dripping wet and hang on rustproof hangers. Touch-up pressing is needed, and the iron at the low setting.

WASHINGTON—

As It Looks From Here

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C.
17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C.—While attending a luncheon at the White House for General Westmoreland, pickets out front of Pennsylvania Avenue could be observed through the window.

A young man without beard, and cleaner looking than the others, dropped his sign "Get Out of Viet Nam" between his knees and cheered General Westmoreland as he passed in his car. He was just a little overcome but quickly recovered and again raised his sign. It just might have been he was a hired marcher and "protector." There is now a business organized

CARD OF THANKS

Our gratitude is indeed great to those who sent the lovely flowers, the food, cards, and for every kind expression of thoughtfulness, and to Rev. Hubert Taylor for his assistance. May you be blessed with such wonderful friends in your hour of sorrow.

very well organized and the cause they represent is usually not as well known.

Thus far there has been no organized protest march against the inflammatory statements of Martin Luther King, Stokely Carmichael or Cassius Clay. Those which have occurred have been on the fringes of other protest demonstrations.

Legal and orderly protests can be made other than by street demonstrations.

Protests have been made to the Justice Department to enforce what laws we have against the desecration of our flag, the burning of draft cards and the incitement of crowds by inflammatory statements. A law is on the books against draft card burning, and legislation has been introduced to make the desecration of our flag a clearer offense and carrying a greater punishment.

The Justice Department replies to written inquiries with the opinion that "any individual who calls upon his fellow citizens to disobey our country's laws, who advocates violence or who seeks to set one race against another does his Nation and himself a grave disservice." But, they say that whether statements made by these men can be suppressed depends on whether they fall outside the protection accorded to freedom of speech by the First Amendment to the Constitution. It is pointed out by an Assistant Attorney General that "Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech." Decisions involving this issue are quoted under the doctrine of freedoms of speech and of the press, susceptible of restrictions only when necessary to prevent grave and immediate danger to interests which the Government may lawfully protect.

Justice Holmes stated it this way. "The question in every case is whether the words used are used in such circumstances and are of such a nature as to create a clear and present danger that they will bring about the substantive evils that Congress has a right to prevent. It is a question of proximity and degree."

The Department ends its response to a written inquiry that they are appreciative of the seriousness of the matter, and with judicial principles as a guide are reviewing actions by Carmichael and others to determine whether any applicable Federal Law is violated.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By BILL McCUTCHEON

Good soaking rains were received over the county last weekend. Measurements ranged from a trace up to 2 1/2 inches.

The Pottsville-Indian Gap area had missed most of the rains received in other parts of the county recently but they reported from 1-2 1/2 inches last weekend.

Pastures and crops were beginning to suffer in all parts of the county so the rains were very welcome. Planting moisture was also scarce for some who were late about planting cotton.

I had the opportunity of attending a training session on beef cattle at the McGregor Experiment Station last Monday. This was a real opportunity to catch up on the latest information on feeding and other production factors.

One of the most interesting points was the question raised by Henry Hill, Superintendent of the Station. He was wanting to find out from the agents what phase of beef business should receive most attention in the future. Each agreed that economy of production was the big problem and would magnify in the future. Agents were particularly concerned over high priced land and low priced cattle.

Iron chlorosis has been showing up in many lawns and ornamental plants in the county this spring.

Symptoms are generally a yellowing of the green foliage due to failure of chlorophyll to develop normally.

The chlorosis occurs in susceptible plants where and when iron is not available to them. This lack of iron may be due to a deficiency or to the iron being unavailable because of alkaline conditions. In either case, iron supplied by ferrous sulfate or iron chelates will be beneficial.

Ferrous sulfate can be applied as a foliar spray at the rate of two teaspoons per gallon of water, plus a spreader-sticker. A teaspoon of household detergent can be used as the spreader-sticker. The spray should be applied in the late afternoon to avoid leaf burn and should be repeated in about 10 days if the yellowing persists.

The iron sulfate can also be applied to the soil as a fertilizer. Apply to trees and shrubs in holes made in a circle just inside the spread of the branches. A five-foot tall shrub requires about a fourth of a pound. A tree should have three-fourths of a pound for each inch of trunk diameter. In the case of highly alkaline soil, the foliar spray is more effective than soil application.

It looks as if man's fight is a never-ending one, and it seems as though the insects usually have the upper hand. One that is causing quite a bit of trouble this year and usually every year is the spider mite. These small sucking insects are barely visible to the naked eye but are capable of defoliating a giant oak tree.

Bob Jones and Lagree West of Hamilton can testify to the damage that they are capable of doing. They have several large oaks in their yards with leaves rolled like cigarettes from the feeding of these insects.

There are relatively few plants that aren't sometimes affected by these insects. I have seen severe cases on roses, fruit trees, tomatoes and other vegetables, and about every kind of flower.

Control is not easy as this little fellow spends his entire life on the bottom of the leaf. Also, like many of the pierce-sucking insects, he is not controlled by our common insecticides. He belongs to a group of insects called mites and a miticide should be used for effective control. Kelthane is the miticide usually recommended for controlling the spider mite.

Ants are a nuisance in many homes in the county this year. Chlordane and dieldrin are among the most effective insecticides for ant control. They may be applied along window and door sills, foundation cracks, baseboards and other ant runways.

Effective control usually depends upon locating and destroying nests and thoroughly treating the area. Nests may be found behind walls, in closets, in furniture and other dark undisturbed places.

Inside the home, ants can be controlled by applying 2-3 percent chlordane or 0.5 percent dieldrin household sprays. These materials may also be applied with a brush. Repeat the application as needed for control.

Outside the home, apply a band of insecticidal dust or spray around the foundation wall and treat all nests in the yard. For outside control, 10 percent chlordane, 2 percent dieldrin or 5 percent heptachlor dusts are effective. Granular formulations and sprays of these materials are also available and are convenient to use.

Be sure to follow the directions given on the label of the insecticide container because pets and humans can be affected.

'Virtues of Greatness'

So many times we hear someone say "He (or she) is such a wonderful person." Most always when we hear such a statement, we are made to wonder just why this complimentary tribute is paid certain people, whereas others may be praised for their personality, behavior, or any other characteristic. If we know the person who is often praised, we are well aware of the qualities that make up such a lovely personality, but if this is someone whom we do not know, we may be sure the virtues are uniform everywhere that cause a person to gain the respect, admiration, and affection of those who know them, and the kind of person they really are. Certain qualities are present in anyone who rates a complimentary acceptance by those who know them. Any person of true greatness has cultivated a number of qualities that endear them to their fellowman. Among those virtues are humbleness, sincerity, compassion, conviction and above all else, love for those with whom we come in contact.

LATE FAIRY NEWS

Those having birthdays during the month of June that we know of are: T. L. Betts, Hico, June 2; Mrs. D. E. Allison of Stephenville, June 5; H. O. Richardson, June 10; Mrs. Ray Turner, Killeen, June 14; Karen Pittman, Dublin, June 16, her father, Wayne Pittman, June 23; and Mrs. Charles Price, Austin, June 21.

Humbleness is the virtue of not being proud, nor assertive in dealing with other people. If a person cultivates the quality of being humble, you will recognize this person as one who is meek, unassuming, and modest in all matters. A humble person never attempts to belittle, degrade, or cast any shadow of superiority over anyone, regardless of the low estate of the other fellow. I am reminded of the philosophy of one of my school teachers, who insisted "Remember everyone whom you meet, is your superior in something." This is very true; if we but look, the other fellow can do something better than we can.

Sincerity is a virtue to be much sought after. To be sincere is to be pure of intent and purpose, unmixed, being in reality what we appear to be, genuine in every endeavor, and true to any cause we feel worthy of our consideration.

Compassion in any person expresses a deep abiding sympathy toward anyone who is less fortunate than they; a true compassion is in reality suffering with another in time of tragedy, pain, misfortune, or any circumstances that brings about unpleasantness to our fellowman. Conviction is the quality or state of being convinced something is right, disregarding what others may feel or say about any given situation. A strong persuasion or belief on any subject makes a person, one who is not swayed to and fro with every whim of public opinion, or pressures brought to bear by those who hold the opposing point of view. Anyone who lacks conviction is a person who has no stability, determination, or stick-to-it-iveness. The lack of conviction renders one almost helpless, and often this kind of person is trampled underfoot in the millstream of wrongs, by those who could care less about individual rights and freedoms. Our whole system of democracy is founded upon the principles of conviction our forefathers knew to be right.

The Holy Scriptures record in Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, Chapter 13, the greatness of love. Today our use of the true meaning of love is often distorted until we may have come to accept the terminology of love as being something beside what it really is. To love is to have a feeling of strong personal attachment to any object of our love; to hold an ardent affection, and a compelling desire for our object of our affection. Love is the greatest virtue that can be possessed by the human race. Love is shown in many ways; mother's love toward her child, a deep, devoted love as shared by husband and wife, a love of strong compulsion between young lovers, before they have shared marriage, the compassionate love of concern toward others of our fellow-beings, and the great love of God toward His Creation. The Bible says "God is love." Too many times love is fused with infatuation, selfishness, and the involvement of emotions. True love is the willing for personal sacrifice, suffering, surrender of what we want for ourselves, in order that we serve the one whom we hold in love. Remember, "The gift of these is LOVE."

Star-Spangled nest egg

If you're like most Americans, you probably intend to use your Savings Bonds as a down payment on a house, to help send a child to college or otherwise upgrade your standard of living.

You don't need to feel one whit less patriotic because of this.

The fact that you and tens of millions of other Americans buy and hold U.S. Savings Bonds helps Uncle Sam manage his financial affairs better and puts him in a position to be a stronger voice and a stronger power in the free world.

And the fact that you and these other millions of Americans have accumulated the savings you have—47 billions in E and H Savings Bonds alone—is one of the reasons why Americans are financially strong and reliant. And their individual strength is the strength of the nation.

When the communists make one of their favorite statements—that they're going to "bury us" economically—your savings and your support of your country are mighty powerful answers. Keep building both with U.S. Savings Bonds.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
