Electricity by controlled nuclear fusion is what we're after...

If and when we find it, we'll have a direct, "clean" method of producing electric power for you. This long-range research program at the University of Texas in Austin is being sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, a group composed of Community Public Service Company and nine other investor-owned Texas utility companies. During June 2-5, TAERF and the University are co-sponsors in Austin for the annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for high school science students and teachers. Community Public Service Company takes pride in sending several from its service area.

It seems that someone is protesting about something every day. These people continually criticize the efforts of others without offerng any workable solutions to the agricultural chemicals. I will readily admit that there controls are necessary. Some people think we should quit using these chemicals. It seems that most of the trend today is down with the

As I mentioned two weeks ago in this column, the American economy would collapse if American agriculture collapsed. This highly efficient agricultural machine we have that feeds much of the world was made possible through the deproblems. A case in point is pollu- velopment and use of these chemition. Anything that can't readily be cals. Most of the fertilizers we use explained can always be blamed on are chemical; the herbisides and insesticides are chemical. These materials have taken much of the are cases of misuse and I think gamble out of farming and livestock production and help us produce a dependable food supply.

There are at present some 600 acres I know of in Hamilton County and from what I have seen it ranges from good to excellent. It is not a wonder grass and takes good management starting with good seed bed preparation, good planting procedures, weed control and fertilization. J. R. Hayes had the first TAM I know of in the county and it has certainly lived up to his expectations. J. R. has some 30 acres Most of this is grass planted last

The beauty of this grass is that it doesn't have to be replanted, and is about as productive as oats. The quality is good and on a dry vear it will be much more producthan oats. Where livestock men in Hamilton County have alsuffered is on winter pastures. I look for this grass to fill

I will have to disagree with M. J. Norris, the developer of this grass, on one point. He says to plant in the spring in this area. Fall plantings have been a lot better because of less weed competi tion and better moisture.

Be sure you know the source of the topsoil you put on lawns, gardens or flower beds. If you are not careful you might bring in

Patriotic Rally at Sulphur Springs

Miss Barbara Baley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Baley, was in Sulphur Springs last week as principle speaker at a Youth Appreciation Dinner Monday evening, and a Patriotic Rally Tuesday evening.

The Youth Appreciation Dinner, sponsored by the Hopkins County Jaycees, recognized all of the juniors and seniors in the county. The youth were commended by the Jaycees for their efforts in promoting true Americanism in Hopkins County. The entire program was planned, arranged and hosted by the youth. Miss Baley's speech was entitled "America, Our Priceless Heritage."

The Patriotic Rally was a joint effort of all Hopkins County service and civic clubs. "Stand Up and Be Counted for America", the program title, was attended by some 2,000 youth and adults. Originally planned for the football stadium, the group met in the junior high gymnasium after rain moved them in doors. J. T. Adams, religious recording artist, was master of ceremonies.
