

Positive Thinking

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There Always Will Be A Way

When difficulty hits you things tend to get dark, especially your thoughts.

For example, take the case of "Miss Lou" — as she was affectionately known down in Mississippi prior to her recent death.

But there seemed to be no type of work for which she had any aptitude.

"Oh, no, I'm too shy for that." "Can you cook, or sew, or paint?"

"No, unfortunately, I've never had to do any of those. I'm totally without ability or experience."

But unwilling to draw a blank, I continued exploring possibilities finally asking, "Can you make candy by a chance?"

"Why not?" I asked. "Your friends might feel freer to ask for more if you would let them pay for it."

So I persuaded her to start a little business with a small candy kitchen in her home and, against her natural inclinations, to install a modest sign on the lawn.

She placed signs on the highway attractively heralding Lou's Candy Kitchen as the sweetest spot on Highway 80!

The project became so successful that people came from far and wide for her candy, and later she added a mail-order service.

But she did more than establish a business. She grew into quite a dynamic and outgoing personality, so much so that she became successively Woman of the Year in Vicksburg and then Mississippi Woman of the Year.

And a few years later the United States Chamber of Commerce selected little "Miss Lou" as one of the seven outstanding Americans of that year.

Oil Exporters To Freeze Prices

Nixon Plays Piano At Grand Ole Opry

By GAYLORD SHAW NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Nixon carried his campaign to overcome Watergate onto the stage of the Grand Ole Opry where he plunked out "God Bless America" on the piano Saturday night and was hailed as "a real trooper as well as one of our finest Presidents."

As he strode onto the stage, Nixon produced a yo-yo, given to him by Acuff, who uses the toy as a trademark. He tried it without great success and returned it to Acuff before sitting at the piano.

Men, Makeup No-No, Will Says

LONDON (AP) — Amelia White faces five years without a date or a dab of lipstick if she wants to inherit more than $400,000 from the estate of her straight-laced dentist employer.

THE BAN ON MEN AND MAKEUP for Miss White, 46, was specified in the will of Philip Grundy, who died four months ago at the age of 69.

HIS WILL SAID Miss White must "never use any lipstick or makeup of any kind whatsoever—apart from clear nail varnish—and wear no jewelry such as rings, earrings, necklaces, and never go out with any man on her own, or with a party of men, during the next five years."

Friends said Miss White probably would find little hardship in the conditions of the will.

FTC Says Allocation Program Not Very Effective

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal petroleum allocation program has been of limited effectiveness and has fallen short of the objectives of the congressional act, which itself was flawed, the Federal Trade Commission staff said Saturday.

One finding was that the gasoline allocation program has not been solved, and FTC Executive Director R. T. McNamar told a news briefing that there very likely will be long lines at filling stations in late March as there were in February.

The report also questioned whether the driving public was getting its fair share of petroleum. The staff document, on which the full commission will comment somewhere in the future, says the Federal Energy Office made mistakes — in part because of the difficulty of building and maintaining a staff — but also performed some striking accomplishments in an extremely short time.

"In many ways is terribly soft and mushy because we just couldn't get good figures" from the petroleum industry, relying largely on published ones. The report specifically does not explore whether there is a real petroleum shortage, whether the act is the most effective approach, or whether true competition exists in the industry.

Portuguese Army Officer Revolt Shut Down Without Bloodshed

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The government announced it put down a rebellion by a group of Portuguese army officers Saturday without a shot after they tried to enter Lisbon with an armored column.

Gambling Case Charges Dismissed

By ROBERT C. BORDEN Federal bookmaking charges were dismissed against seven Midland area men Friday afternoon by Judge D. W. Suttle in U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas.

Hendrix, Madison and Harvey were additionally charged with conducting the poker games during the same time period.

former also provided information on the poker game, thus allowing Hendrix, Madison and Harvey the right to confront the informer through their attorneys.

Also dismissed were charges of conducting an illegal gambling business involving poker games against three of the defendants.

Count 2 Should Remain Speck contended, however, count 2, dealing with the poker games, should remain, as the wiretaps were legal and the information contained in the count came only from the tapes, not the informer.

Leon further questioned the reliability of the informer's testimony, which was given to a Department of Public Safety officer, who related it to a third person, who in turn told it to Speck.

Mrs. Redfern is a life member of the Human Relations Council. Currently she is a delegate to and secretary of the Lubbock Area Library System Council and president of the board of the Free Tape Lending Library.

The seven men are Charles Ray Hendrix, Harold Gene Madison, Harry Krist and Lonnie L. Jones, all of Midland; Clarence A. Johnson Jr. and Paul Hynes Harvey, both of Odessa; and Lyle Clifton Saunders of Monahans.

Defense spokesman Jack Leon of San Antonio contended all counts should be dropped because the informer was not named. He cited Sixth Amendment rights of confronting the accuser. He claimed the information on the poker game, thus allowing Hendrix, Madison and Harvey the right to confront the informer through their attorneys.

Only last week, Mrs. Redfern was elected president of the Midland Genealogical Society. (See REDFERN Page 4A)

Lawyer Reports Missing Nixon Deed Thrown Away

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An original deed donating President Nixon's vice presidential papers to the National Archives was thrown away, Nixon's tax lawyer says.

Attorney Frank DeMarco said Friday the 1969 deed was destroyed when a replacement deed was drafted and signed on April 10, 1970. He described it as routine legal practice.

The deed is considered by some Washington sources as the key document in President Nixon's biggest single tax problem — his controversial deduction involving the vice-presidential papers, which were valued for tax purposes at $578,000.

"It doesn't exist," DeMarco said in a telephone interview. "That was the whole purpose of retying and re-signing the deed."

DeMarco first spoke publicly about an original deed March 7. But a Washington source said Friday that the White House had been unable to locate the deed, which DeMarco says was signed in California on April 21, 1969.

California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has said the new deed was fraudulently backdated to April 1969 in an apparent effort to qualify the President for a full $578,000 income tax deduction for the papers.

The tax law was changed in July 1969 to abolish such massive tax deductions for donation of personal papers.

Brown said he doubted the original deed ever existed.

During a question-and-answer session with Chicago businessmen Friday, Nixon said, "There has been no evidence of fraud on the part of the President. There may be evidence that he may owe more taxes."

What about the aroma from the feed lot at Terminal? I thought I had heard or read some time ago they had come up with an idea or method for improving the situation. — W. P.

Midland County Agent Charles Green says owners of Baca Feed Lot west of the city are cooperating fully and are meeting all regulations. However, Green pointed out that it is not possible to keep some odor from wafting over the city if weather conditions and prevailing winds are right. Green said that these conditions are right only about 10 days a year.

Owners of the feed lot are working to keep this odor problem to a minimum by proper sanitation, drying practices, use of deodorizing chemicals and masking elements.

Agricultural engineers are constantly working on animal waste management problems with the promise of better solutions, but in the meantime, Green says, "If we are to enjoy that occasional steak and ever-present hamburger our budget allows, we will have to accept a minimum amount of odor."

Just a few years ago the city spent our tax dollars to put concrete lane dividers along Andrews Highway and they're spending our money again to take them out. Why? — B. G. C.

It is not the city, but the Texas Highway Department which is removing the esplanades along Andrews Highway. However, the city is doing the same thing on Illinois Street by Dellwood Plaza.

The dividers were once considered the best way to control traffic safely because they meant that left turns could be made only at intersections, Paul Coleman, resident engineer for the highway department said.

That was the department's theory more than 10 years ago when it put the esplanades in on Andrews Highway.

However, since that time, continuous left turn lanes have been devised and have proved successful for they eliminate, among other things, collisions with the esplanades and U-turns at intersections.

It is because of that the city is changing the block on Illinois Street and the highway department is changing Andrews Highway.

Although the highway department is making this type change over the state, both agencies also had requests from businessmen in the streets' areas.

The repaving and marking of the continuous left turn lanes are scheduled for completion on Andrews Highway for the end of this month and for Illinois by the end of this week.

Newspapers Now Exempt From Price, Not Wage, Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's vast communications industry has been freed from government price controls in a decision that may mean higher charges for newspapers, books, magazines and printed and broadcast advertising.

The sweeping exemption granted by the Cost of Living Council Friday also relieves communications employees from wage controls, with the lone exception of the newspaper industry.

Newspaper employees are still subject to wage controls because "some important collective bargaining agreements are in the process of negotiations," the council said.

The council said it hopes an exemption for newspaper employees can be granted soon.

The Nixon administration wants mandatory wage-price controls to expire over most of the economy by April 30, except in the health and petroleum industries.

The exemption applies to printing, publishing and allied industries; radio and television broadcasting; communication services; advertising; mailing, reproduction, commercial art, photography and stenographic services; news syndicates; photofinishing laboratories and public relations services.

Coal Miner Strike Costly To Country

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A 2½-week-long strike by coal miners in southern West Virginia cost the industry 3.7 million tons of production, according to the West Virginia Coal Association.

A coal association spokesman estimated direct economic losses at $21 million in salaries, worker benefits and state taxes. He said the strike resulted in a $70 million to $80 million revenue loss for coal companies.

Meanwhile, about 85 per cent of the some 27,000 miners who participated in the work stoppage were back in the pits by Saturday, the spokesman said.

Companies Start Selling Kidnap Insurance

BOSTON (AP) — American insurance companies have quietly begun selling kidnap insurance to corporations and individuals jittery over the abduction of Patricia Hearst and others.

The insurance got its first public promotion Thursday when the president of American Underwriters said his company would begin advertising it in newspapers in wealthy Detroit suburbs. Other companies have kept availability of the protection quiet since it became available in the United States a few months ago.

The insurance pays the ransom if people are kidnaped; insurance companies demand that their customers not tell anyone they have coverage. Although kidnap insurance is not usually advertised and although it is almost impossible to obtain a quotation or find a firm willing to admit it offers such policies, inquiries and the number of policies written are increasing, according to Business Insurance Magazine.

Many companies have devised elaborate code numbers and letters for referring to kidnap insurance in cables and memoranda to protect the confidentiality of policies.

Aetna Life & Casualty of Hartford, Conn., began offering what a spokesman called "commercial extortion insurance" two months ago. Insurance Co. of North America, based in Philadelphia, and American International Underwriters Corp. of New York are among other companies that carry similar policies.

Premiums for corporations range from $20,000 to $250,000 a year for coverage of ransom demands from $1 million to $20 million and up. Policies generally include a deductible provision, with the insured paying the first $5,000 to $50,000.

There are territorial limitations on most policies, with many firms declining to insure Latin American-based corporation executives.

Kidnap insurance is available primarily to industrial and corporate organizations, not to individuals. It is usually added on to the criminal loss policy of a business, which includes coverage for theft, forgery and employe dishonesty.

Lloyd's of London, famous for its high-risk insurance coverage, has offered kidnap insurance for years to individuals and corporations.

'Emil Rassman Day' Set Here Thursday

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. has proclaimed Thursday as "Emil Rassman Day" in Midland, in appreciation of his long, untiring and effective leadership at local, regional, state and professional levels.

He said that Rassman this year is serving as president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas State Chamber of Commerce; chairman of the board of executors of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame; a director of the Midland County Chapter of the American Red Cross; a member of the board of regents of Texas State Senior Colleges, and as a director of the Texas State Bar Association.

An all-civic luncheon scheduled at noon Thursday in the American Legion Hall will be a highlight of the Rassman Day observance.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Downtown Rotary and Lions clubs.

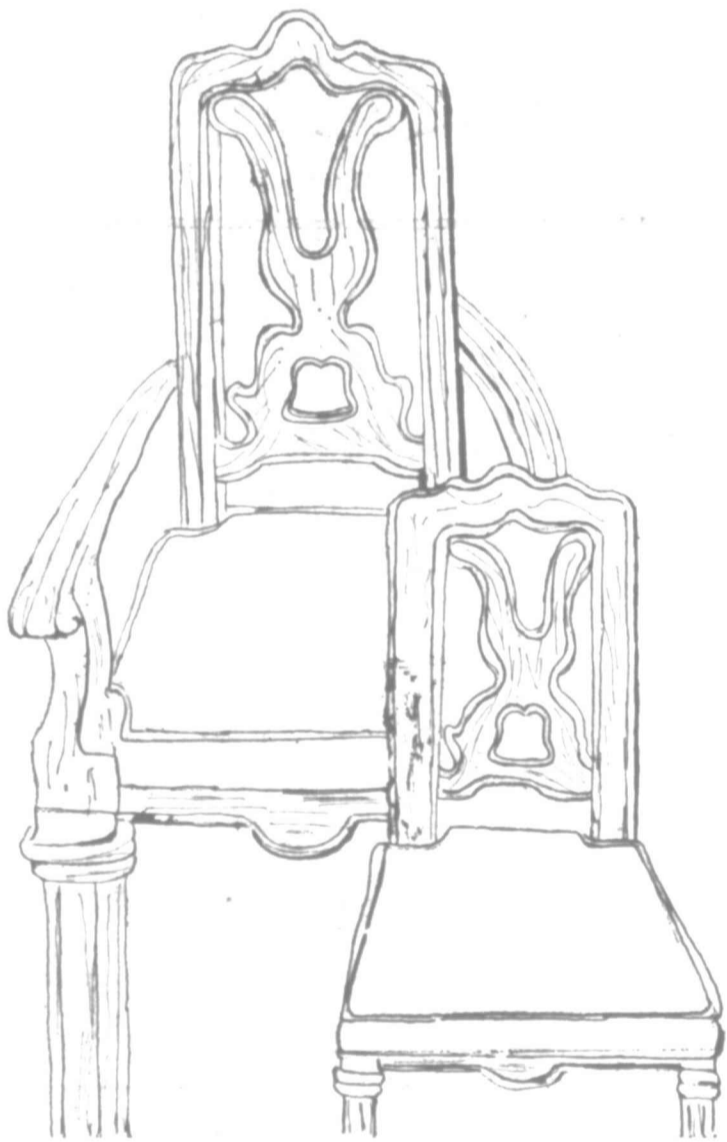

The two service clubs will meet jointly Thursday noon with the Rotary Club serving as the host organization. The regular Wednesday noon meeting of the Lions Club will not be held this week.

Non-members of the two clubs who would like to attend the luncheon are requested to make reservations not later than 5 p.m. Monday at the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

A large number of friends and associates of Rassman from across the state and the Southwest have indicated they will be present for the event honoring the distinguished West Texan, who, in 1961, was selected as Midland's "Outstanding Young Man of the Year." Later that same year, Texas Jaycees named him one of "Five Outstanding Young Texans."

Pilot Program Aims To Raise Top Students' Reading Level

Fannin Elementary School is conducting a pilot program to raise reading achievement levels of top students. The program is the first in Midland aimed at improving reading ability of elementary school students who read above grade level, Wilburn O. Buttery, Fannin principal, said. "This project, although helpful to any student, gives average and upper achievement level students an opportunity to improve their reading rate," he added. Students use controlled reading machines which flash lines of type on a screen at a varied rate. The reading rate is varied from student to student. After completing his reading assignment the student is quizzed to find his comprehension level. About 170 students from the fifth and sixth grades are involved in the project. Mrs. R. T. Mayberry, a reading teacher at Fannin, said some of her sixth grade students are reading at more than 260 words per minute with 90 per cent comprehension. Students try to read as fast as they can and maintain a 70 per cent comprehension level, she said. "They should be made to push themselves," Mrs. Mayberry explained. About one-third of the class use the reading machines daily, she said. At all times they work under the teacher's general supervision. There are special reading programs, and machines for poor readers, Mrs. Mayberry said. Until now, there was no special program for good readers.

Cheating On Taxes Declining

By BILL NEIKIRK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are refraining from cheating on their income-tax returns this year because of President Nixon's tax case, although many are grumbling about it, says the head of the Internal Revenue Service.

IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander said figures received on returns filed so far, as well as his reading of the situation, show that "taxpayers are reacting by meeting their tax obligations."

He took issue with former IRS chief Johnnie M. Walters, who said in a recent interview that many taxpayers are claiming questionable deductions this year because they're angered over Nixon's tax deductions. "I don't agree with my good friend Johnnie Walters," Alexander said in an interview. "I think the indicators are to the contrary. I think the facts should be substituted for speculation."

Alexander's evidence: The average refund this year is up by 4.6 per cent over a year ago. The IRS had predicted a growth rate of five per cent in refunds this year. In addition, the agency has received almost two million more returns than at this time last year. Although they are complying, the commissioner said that doesn't mean some people aren't complaining about the Nixon tax case, and the tax system in general. "I am getting some letters from taxpayers expressing their views," he said. "Some say that Internal Revenue isn't performing its job as it should. Some are upset about the tax system."

Alexander said it's healthy that taxpayers do complain and sign their names, but he said the "grumbings" should be separated from whether people are meeting their tax responsibilities. "I think they are," he said. "There is always a minority, a very small minority, of people who don't meet their tax obligations," he said. "And they have always had one reason or another, in addition to their lack of desire to pay taxes, for failing to meet their tax obligations. They've got a new reason this year."

Asked if one reason for taxpayer compliance might be public announcement of IRS investigations into Nixon's tax returns along with those of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the commissioner said, "That may be."

Alexander also said he has seen no increase, other than that expected, in the amount of legal deductions claimed by taxpayers. "Let me make one thing clear in that respect. We think people ought to claim every deduction that they're entitled to," Alexander said.

Exporters Offer Oil Price Freeze To Fight Inflation

Oil prices have tripled since last October. The economic commission of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) recommended the price increase, Amouzegar said Saturday. Saudi Arabia advocated reduced oil prices, sources at the meeting said, but Libya, Algeria and Iraq — three radical Arab states — rejected the Saudi effort. Iran, a non-Arab country which needs vast funds for ambitious development and armament projects, also rejected the Saudi proposal, sources said. Amouzegar, chairman of the meeting, said lifting the oil embargo against the United States was not discussed because OPEC is not a political organization.

But he said the issues of whether to raise oil prices and whether to lift the embargo were necessarily connected "because both deal with economic considerations." The oil boycott against the United States and The Netherlands was imposed in retaliation for Washington's pro-Israeli position during the October war. The price hikes were largely financially motivated, but in the case of Arab members of OPEC, the increases also included an element of punishment for Israel's alleged supporters.

President Richard Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger have said the boycott should end in recognition of U.S. diplomatic efforts to move Israel and the Arab belligerents closer to peace. Kissinger has said a reduction of world oil prices is also a U.S. demand.

Texas Teachers To Vote May 8 On Union Issue

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas school teachers will vote May 8 on whether membership in the nation's largest teacher group, the National Education Association, should be made mandatory for the state's educators. In a 922 to 559 vote Friday, delegates to the Texas State Teachers' Association convention here, chose to put the issue to the organization's 150,000 members. The issue, commonly referred to as "unification," threatens to divide the state's teachers, principals and administrators. If the referendum fails, TSTA, the state's largest education group which includes all but 7,500 of the state's educators on its membership roles, is faced with expulsion from NEA in September 1975. If the issue passes, some TSTA members are threatening to drop out of the organization because they don't want to be dictated to or have their dues increased.

President Richard Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger have said the boycott should end in recognition of U.S. diplomatic efforts to move Israel and the Arab belligerents closer to peace. Kissinger has said a reduction of world oil prices is also a U.S. demand.

Minnesota Bank President's Wife Thought Kidnaped

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The wife of a bank president apparently has been kidnaped and her husband said Saturday he would do what he could to get her back. Gunnar Kronholm, his voice taut with emotion, told reporters he had not heard from his wife, Eunice, since she disappeared Friday morning after he left their suburban Minneapolis home to go to work. "I only want her safe return," said Kronholm, president of the Drovers State Bank in South St. Paul. "I am awaiting instructions and will pay the ransom."

"We are working on the assumption that it was a kidnaping," an FBI spokesman said. Mrs. Kronholm, 46, failed to keep a morning appointment with her hair dresser Friday. Kronholm said, and did not meet him as planned at 2 p.m. in Minneapolis. He said he received a call about 3:40 p.m. Friday. "We have your wife. Gather all the money you can at the station," Kronholm quoted the caller as saying. He said he could not distinguish what the "station" was about, and the caller hung up before he could clarify it.

"There has been no further word from the abductors," Kronholm said. He added there were no instructions for her release, nor for delivery of a ransom. Elaine Jaworski, a neighbor, Kronholm said the FBI would not be actively involved in the case, at his request. But he said the agency would assist the family in whatever way possible.

City Employes End Frisco Strike; Teachers Still Out
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco is getting back to normal after the longest city employes' strike in its history, a nine-day walkout by 10,000 workers that shut down all public transportation. However, a strike by half the city's 5,000 public school teachers is still on and Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, who mediated Friday's agreement in the city strike, moved into the school negotiations as mediator. The Municipal Railway, which serves 350,000 daily riders, got its famous cable cars, buses and streetcars operating about 6 p.m. Friday — an hour after both sides approved a settlement that will add an estimated $9.5 million to $10.9 million to the city's annual budget.

Cuba Releases U.S. Shrimpers

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Four Americans held in Cuba since their shrimp boat was seized 10 months ago have quietly returned home. Coolidge Gasset and Doug Fullford, both 24 and of Gainesville, and Ashley Clemmons, 26, and Gordon Hess, 25, both of Jacksonville, Fla., returned to their homes late Friday via Mexico City and Tampa. "I wasn't sure I'd ever get out of Cuba," Gasset told WJTB-TV in Gainesville in an interview Saturday. "But now that I'm back, I never knew that Gainesville looked so good." The four men and their boat, the Golden Shores, had been held in Cuba since May 26, 1973. The Cuban government had said it seized the Jacksonville-based boat after finding it in Cuban waters near Nuevitas on the island's northeast coast.

Networks Reject Mobil's Ad Offer
NEW YORK (AP) — Mobil Oil Co. has told the three major television networks it is willing to buy air time for its critics if the networks televised Mobil's new line of commercials uncensored. However, CBS, NBC and ABC have reportedly rejected the idea as a dangerous precedent. Spokesmen for Mobil said the networks have been rejecting or radically editing the oil company's advertisements that incorporate its point of view on the energy crisis. They said the networks turn down commercials "of a controversial nature" and refuse to air commercials that contain the words "offshore" and "profits."

"I don't think the American people are aware of the constraints placed on us," said Herbert Schmetz, vice president of public affairs for Mobil. Schmetz said the offer to the networks was that Mobil would pay for the extra time if the Federal Communications Commission determines after Mobil's commercials are aired—that the networks must provide equal time to oil company critics under the FCC fairness doctrine.

'Impeach Regents' Rally Mounted By UT Students
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An "Impeach Nixon" rally at The University of Texas turned into an "Impeach the Regents" demonstration Friday. About 500 students were present for the anti-Nixon gathering on the campus when a student informed the crowd, on the microphone, that the UT system regents had just voted to make student funding of the Daily Texan voluntary instead of mandatory. A group of students, reportedly led by Daily Texan editor Michael Eakin, mounted the steps of the UT administration building chanting "Regents must go." An estimated 100 persons gathered outside the regents' meeting room on the second floor. Some yelled "Impeach the Regents" while still waving their "Impeach Nixon" signs. Several regents were booed as they left the room for the elevators.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY— Wisconsin Coeds Won't Be Wearing Much Green

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There won't be much wearing of the green—or anything else—when a group of coeds at the University of Wisconsin celebrates St. Patrick's Day.

The girls said they'd honor the day with a "streak dance." They said Saturday they hadn't decided exactly when during the weekend to hold the ceremony, adding that it depended on the weather.

Most people celebrated St. Patrick's Day, which actually falls on Sunday, in a more traditional vein—with parades, parties and Irish coffee. But streaking—the fad of dashing about nude—and other signs of the times were reported in some areas.

Two young men, wearing only shoes, green socks and green garters, ran through a Milwaukee bank on Friday, shouting: "Happy St. Patrick's Day."

Ramsey County, Minn., authorities said they were prepared for any streakers. "I'm telling you," said the sheriff, "anybody who runs naked is going to jail." He was commenting on reports that college

Intruders Loot, Damage Three Midland Churches

Three churches were broken into Friday night or Saturday morning, the intruders getting away from one with more than $1,300 in musical instruments and amplifying equipment.

Westside Free Will Baptist Church at 4031 W. Illinois St. took the biggest loss with $1,300 in musical instruments and amplifying equipment.

Intruders broke into the Nazarene church in four separate places, each time going through an outside window into a different room.

Several items had been tampered with, Patrolman Roy Harrison said, but nothing was taken and the only damages were to the four broken windows.

Patrolman Bill Roach said the burglars at Westside Baptist broke into two rooms to get the musical instruments and a public address system.

It appeared they entered through an unlocked window, he said.

Roach also investigated the Dellwood Baptist burglary,

Guerrillas Renew Wave Of North Irish Murders

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish guerrillas ambushed a four-man British army patrol Saturday, killing two soldiers and seriously wounding another, authorities said.

A military spokesman said the fourth soldier escaped after the attack at Crossmaglen near the border with the Irish Republic.

The gunmen, suspected members of the Irish Republican Army, fled to safety across the border, the spokesman said.

The IRA's Provisional wing said two of its guerrillas died Friday night in the premature explosion of a bomb they were planting at Dungannon.

The two guerrillas were among four men killed in one of Northern Ireland's worst nights of violence for many months.

The week's events begin today with visitation by the chapter members to Tall City Baptist Church's morning worship service.

On Monday, members will attend a meeting of the Lamesa DeMolay chapter.

Is COMPETITION A Four Letter Word?

It depends.

There are times when competition does get low and dirty. Then, it can, and should, fall into the four-letter category. This kind of dog-eat-dog thing turns most of us off. And, leaves a bad taste in our mouths for the whole system.

But, please, don't let a few ugly trees spoil your view of the whole forest.

Remember, that there are businesses, national manufacturers and local retailers, who have competed with each other for years and years in an ethical, positive way. Each works for his share of the market by improving his products, merchandising and services. (Most businessmen realize that the throat you cut may, eventually, be your own.)

And, look what they are competing for: the consumer's favor! Yours and mine! We are constantly being courted with more attractive products and services at competitive (there's that word again) prices. So, the end result is that we can get more, better and for less.

Now, with a benefit like that, competition can't be all bad.

Some of our best friends are businessmen

Municipal Officials Feel Energy Crunch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Municipal officials in some areas say they are having to scramble to get fuel for school buses, police cars and other city vehicles, despite federal promises of adequate supplies.

Under government allocation rules, municipalities which buy in bulk have been assured they will get as much fuel as they need for things like public transportation and emergency services. An Associated Press spot check showed that most cities were able to find the fuel they needed and had cut back on usage by instituting conservation measures.

Several cities, however, reported trouble, particularly in obtaining fuel for school buses. Officials of Visalia, Calif., said they would have to halt school bus service March 20 unless they could get more fuel. The Charlotte-Mecklenburg, N.C., school district says it may have to cut back on after-class activities involving school buses. The Miami fire department is sending fewer trucks out in response to a first alarm.

In some areas, the 1972 allocation isn't enough because the number of vehicles has increased since then.

Gus Campbell, assistant superintendent of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg district, said he has been getting about 90 per cent of the fuel he got last year. Since then, however, the district has added 38 new buses.

Dr. H. B. Lovik, superintendent of the Visalia district, said he had 10,000 gallons less fuel than he needed this month for the system's 55 school buses. Lovik said he has asked the federal government for an extra allotment. "Unless the application is approved," he said, "all school bus service will have to be terminated" until April, when the next allocation arrives.

City officials in Florida said they have been trying to conserve fuel. Dade County authorities said field trips for students had been curtailed.

Poll Sees Possible Voter Backlash On Impeachment Issue

Midland County Republican party chairman Robert L. Monaghan has released results of a Sindlinger and Co. poll taken earlier this year which shows that "two of every five Americans are so opposed to impeachment that they might seek retribution at the ballot box from congressmen who vote for impeachment."

Monaghan said the Sindlinger poll was taken over 21 days from Jan. 31 to Feb. 20 just after President Nixon's State of the Union message. The base of the poll consisted of 6,828 telephone interviews in all 48 contiguous states.

Monaghan said highlights of the poll were:

- 33 per cent of those polled said they were less inclined to vote for a legislator who backs impeachment, compared to 26.3 per cent who would.
- 70 per cent agree President Nixon should continue in office, 21.7 disagree.
- 66.9 per cent say President Nixon should resign.
- 64.4 per cent say President Nixon should not be impeached, 26.4 say the President should.
- 65.2 per cent reacted favorably to President Nixon's "fight like hell" words, 28 per cent did not.
- 68.5 per cent agreed that a year of Watergate is enough, 28.5 per cent did not.

WHITE ELEPHANT SYNDROME

In the real estate trade it's called a "White Elephant". An excellent house for sale which just sits and sits. Often, you can recognize it by the tall grass and weeds overrunning the front yard; an occasional broken window here and there. The cause of this blight is always the same — OVERPRICING!

This story always has a sad ending — for the seller. Eventually, he has to reduce the price to sell. By this time, it's too late. The good prospects have waved goodbye and bought elsewhere. The appearance and condition have deteriorated. The eventual selling price is far below what it could have realized had it been valued realistically from the outset.

You don't have to increase the "White Elephant" population. There is a safe way to establish the RIGHT price. When you're ready to sell, see a local Realtor. He'll know the true value and what it will bring in the market. Top price, yes! Over-price — No!

If you have any questions on this subject or any other aspect of real estate, feel free to phone or drop in at DON JOHNSON REALTORS, 2318 W. Ohio St. Phone: 683-5333. We're here to help! (Come in for your free copy of "Homes For Living" magazine.)

Dear Abby NIXON'S WORDS SAID CHOSEN DELIBERATELY—

She Loves Him - But Is He Playing Her For A Fool?

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I don't have any actual proof, but I think my husband is cheating on me. First he came home smelling of real strong perfume with lipstick on his collar. (He said his boss' wife came in and hugged him "hello," but that was all.) Another time when he took off his shirt, I noticed several long scratches on his back. He swore he didn't know how he got them, but Abby, they were too deep and long for him not to know. (I think some lady did it with her fingernails.) Also, he's come home with hickies (love bites) all over his neck, and when I asked him where he got them he said it must be "hives" from eating strawberries. (Where could he get strawberries now?) I've quit calling him at work because the guys down there always say: "He just stepped out for a minute," — then I hear them laugh. We've been married for two years and he would like a child, but I'm not sure he'd make a good father. He says he loves me. Should I believe him, or do you think he's playing me for a fool?

DUM DUM

DEAR DUM: If circumstantial evidence could hang a guy, yours has all the rope he needs. First let him prove he can be a good husband before you make him a father.

DEAR ABBY: Should a family alter their lifestyle each time the husband's parents come to visit?

We are in our early thirties, and my husband has been smoking and drinking (moderately) since his college days, but his parents still don't know it.

When they come, everything of which they disapprove is hidden. This includes coffee, soft drinks, candy, and, believe it or not, sugar, cough syrup and aspirin. We even keep our friends away if they are Catholic, Jewish or black.

My husband's parents live 250 miles from us and visit about three times a year, and when I know they're coming I feel like a hypocrite hiding things, and substituting honey for sugar, and ditching some of our good friends.

My husband says that life is too short to cause family disharmony when it can be easily avoided, but I think all this pretense is setting a bad ex-

Manus Murder Trial Testimony Begins Monday

Testimony is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Monday in the capital murder trial of Tommy Manus, accused in the robbery and shooting death of Henry Moyah, a Canadian Indian. Jury selection in 142nd District Court began Monday afternoon and lasted through Thursday afternoon. Seven women and five men were chosen as jurors.

Manus and two other men, Danny Johnson and James Allen Elred Jr., are accused of murder in the Sept. 20, 1973, slaying. Johnson and Elred will be tried later.

Car Knocks Down Light Post, Sgn

A car knocked down a traffic light post and a No Parking sign Friday, causing an estimated $460 damage to the city-owned property.

Lealand Dale Washburn, 18, of 1503 W. Griffin St. was driving the car, Patrolman Perfecto Flores reported.

Washburn was headed south on A Street near its intersection with Louisiana Street when it approached another vehicle from the rear.

Both vehicles moved to the right side of the road and Washburn swerved to avoid hitting the other vehicle, police reported.

When he did, his vehicle struck the curb, traveled 104 feet and knocked down the signal post, then traveled another 180 feet and knocked down the No Parking sign, Flores reported.

Patrolman Joe Kropp said there did not appear to be any forced entry.

U.S. European Relations Sink To Modern Low

(Related Story On Page 7B) WASHINGTON (AP) — The low point in U.S.-European relations signaled Friday by President Nixon is the result of a calculated American effort and "cheap political talk" on both sides, administration sources say. They include in this assessment Nixon's statement to a group of Chicago executives "that the day of the one-way street is gone" concerning U.S. dealings with the erstwhile Atlantic allies. However, they also suggest that the leaders in Europe have been playing their own political games for domestic consumption in a gamble that the United States would not seriously retaliate. But Nixon appeared Friday to have called their hand by stating clearly the U.S. commitment to European security in political and economic matters. "Don't make the mistake of thinking Nixon and (Secretary of State Henry A.) Kissinger hadn't worked out what was going to be said," one State Department source said. In other words, Nixon was not going off the cuff when he said Friday that "We are not going to be faced with a situation where the nine countries of Europe gang up against the United States—the United States which is their guarantee for their security." Underscoring that he was going beyond rhetoric, the President said he had called off plans for a trip to Europe to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to sign declarations marking new security, economic and political relations. The President seems to feel it is time to make the alliance members realize "he isn't fooling around," an official said. "We want cooperation with Europe, the West is still the cornerstone of our foreign policy, and Nixon acted to shock the Europeans into more realistic actions that will help us all," he explained. What is at stake is the level of American troop strength in Europe, a mechanism to handle such crises as the oil shortage and the high levels of trade involving the alliance.

Nixon said Friday he couldn't present levels on the security be expected to hold off the al-front." The officials also said there should be no confusion over remarks made by Kissinger earlier in the week concerning the relationship. "In the event that Congress gets the idea," he said, "that belief that no newsmen were we are going to be faced with present, were ill-advised, the economic confrontation and officials said Kissinger actually hostility from the Nine, you will meant it when he stated that find it almost impossible to get the "biggest problem" for U.S. congressional support for con-forenign policy is Europe, not tained American presence at the traditional adversaries.

Allied Press Reflects Alarm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS "They believe it makes a new period of American isolationism a real possibility," the Mail commented. "The immediate danger is of a trade war causing mass damage to Europe." Rome's largest newspaper, Il Messaggero, claimed that the Nixon speech "has officially and deliberately placed America's foreign policy on a route of collision with Europe." It accused the President of dramatizing the contrasts between the United States and Europe to cover up his difficulties at home. Some other European newspapers accused Nixon of putting "the heat on Europe" and of waving "the big stick." The London Times carried a story from a Washington correspondent describing the President's statement as "by far the strongest language Mr. Nixon has ever used about Europe and completely eclipsed the academic and reflective rapprochement which Dr. Kissinger has directed across the Atlantic." The number 4 is considered very unlucky in Japan and is avoided whenever possible.

Jamboree in the Dellwood Plaza Mall.

This was the 18th annual jamboree and proved to be the most successful of all.

The Lions hardly had time to set up before hungry Midlanders moved in for their light, delicious pancakes, sausage and piping hot coffee.

And before the day was over weary, hardworking Lions had served more than 8,500 persons, breaking all records.

The Jamboree fans not only were given a great meal for their $1 donations to the Lions' sight conservation and crippled children camp fund they were treated to top flight entertainment.

Jimmy Furman organ melodies greeted the early risers, and the "Rogue Show" musical group was around when the long lines came to a close.

"Miracle Cure"

5,000 Year Old Chinese Health Remedy Found

PEKING (Special) — Health researchers in China have uncovered an amazing rare old Chinese herb remedy that possesses spectacular healing qualities and reportedly has been used for 5,000 years to cure or give relief to a host of the most common illnesses suffered by mankind. Dramatic claims are being made that this "miracle herb" called ginseng, may actually hold the key to a longer healthier life. Indeed, there is one historical case of a user living to be 256 years old.

Helps Many Illnesses
Like acupuncture, the many healing properties of this remarkable herb were once considered "folklore and superstition", but modern researchers around the world are suggesting that it may actually regulate many of the body's processes to increase SEXUAL potency, help heal ULCERS, relieve ARTHRITIS, check graying or loss of HAIR, improve DIGESTION, slow down ARTERIOCLEROSIS, relieve ASTHMA, overcome FATIGUE, improve DIABETIC conditions, relieve inflammation of the URINARY TRACT, help chronic INFLUENZA, relieve BACKACHES and PAINS, and generally improve your health by increasing your body's potential to heal itself.

Safe, No Side Effects
Ginseng is not a drug, but an herb or vegetable that is extremely rich in vitamins and minerals. What's more, this amazing natural remedy is completely safe and non-toxic with no side effects. Unfortunately, high-grade ginseng is in short supply, and brokers and processors around the world are bracing themselves for a "run" on the market as the herb's purported "miraculous" healing properties become more widely known to the general public.

Now Available in U.S.
Now you can get a generous 30-day supply of this amazing natural remedy direct from a major supplier by sending only $10.00 in check, cash or money order to Health Laboratories, Dept. 79, Box 2143, Palm Springs, Calif. 92262. This wonder herb is said to have helped millions of other people and it may help your health problem too. Isn't it worth a try? Adv.

PLENTY OF BUSINESS AT THE JAMBOREE — Crowds such as this were on hand from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Dellwood Plaza Mall as members of the Downtown Lions Club served pancakes, sausage, coffee and soft drinks to thousands of pancake-hungry West Texans. Visitors to the jamboree not only got their fill of pancakes, but were treated to outstanding amateur musical entertainment.

SP Can't Explain Freight Derailment

HOUSTON (AP) — Southern Pacific Transportation Co. officials said Friday night they have no explanation for a Thursday night freight train derailment.

Four tank cars exploded in the derailment 25 miles north-east of Houston along U.S. Highway 90 near the Liberty-Tape Lending Library, Scouts, Harris County line.

No injuries were reported in the derailment on a bypass built after a passenger train derailment at the same spot Monday night.

Prosecution Resists In Parr Tax Trial

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Government prosecutors summarized their income tax evasion case against longtime Duval County political boss George B. Parr Saturday with a series of charts and testimony from an expert witness.

The prosecution rested its case following the summary. Defense testimony was to begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

Parr, 73, of San Diego, Tex., is being tried in federal court on charges of evading more than $129,000 income tax between 1966 and 1969. The eight-count indictment also accuses Parr of understating his taxable income for the four years by more than $287,000.

Patrolman W. D. Taylor said Lupe Lopez did not seek medical treatment and told him she did not wish to file a complaint.

Walt Spins A Good Yarn

As might be expected of someone with 34 years in pro baseball behind him, the Midland Cubs new manager Walt Dixon is a Yellowstone geyser of baseball yarns, offering the promise of an entertaining season for Tall City Texas League fans this summer.

When Walt was managing C. F. Montgomery's Carlsbad Potashers in the old Sophomore League, "We had a black outfielder named Gil Carter. He was one of the strongest men I've ever seen. He'd been a boxer and when a fight broke out on the field, he wouldn't budge out of the dugout."

Back in the days when the Shaughnessy playoffs drew packed houses, Walt was a player-manager in the Mountain States League.

"It had rained all day, the infield was all skin and drained the outfield, where big puddles had formed. They started the game anyway. So I took off my cap and put it over a puddle behind shortstop and rushed in to tell the umpire that the water was so deep out there that a player was drowning. He told me to go back to my position, so on the way I took a flying dive into the water and must have skidded 40 feet on my stomach. Naturally, I was asked to leave."

Dixon Impressed By Cubs Baseball Park

Walt Dixon began his 34th season in Organized Baseball Saturday with a news media conference at the Midland Chamber of Commerce before flying to Scottsdale, Ariz., this morning to take over as manager of the Midland Texas League Cubs.

"We did quite well at home," Dixon chipped in, "because the other Midwest League teams hated to come to Quincy. It was so bad."

The sole purpose of minor league clubs is not to develop ball players for the majors," Dixon said. "The No. 1 purpose is to put players in Wright Field, but winning ball games rates high on the agenda at all levels. Considering the investment the parent clubs have in players, sometimes it is amazing that they leave players here as long as they do."

Hayes Finished?

Cowboy Steps Sprightly 4.3 In 40

ODESSA — San Angelo, Odessa Ector, Denver City and Ranger Junior College captured division championships Saturday before a sun-baked crowd of more than 4,000 track fans in the 31st annual West Texas Relays in W. T. Barrett Stadium, but it was Bob Hayes, Dallas Cowboy star and sprinter, that stole the thunder.

Youngsters poured out of the stands to line the track and when the two speedsters hit the tape, they mobbed both of them, seeking autographs. Smith was timed in 4.4 to the delight of the crowd.

second in the 800-yard run with a time of 1:57.4. Larry Munson of MHS finished second in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 40.2 with Permian's Steve King, breaking the only record of the day in Division IV with a time of 38.5 and the amazing thing was that one of his hurdles was set up for the high hurdles, throwing the junior off stride.

Mike Hill of Lee, wound up second in the high jump with a height of 6-0 while Paul Mladenka had a second place finish in the pole vault for Lee with 13-3.

Lee had a time of 3:24.8 in the mile relay in its second place finish. Denver City had too much depth in the Class AA or Division II competition to rack up 129 points to Post's 100. Stanton wound up third with 96, but dropped the baton in the sprint relay, ruining the Buffs' chance of finishing higher.

Johnny Gonzales of Stanton won the high jump with a height of 5-5 while Crane, which finished fifth with 50 points, got second in the 800-yard run with a time of 1:57.4. (Continued on 4B)

Lee Sweep Boosts Its Record To 10-1

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
With the District 5-4A baseball race right around the corner, the Lee Rebels showed Saturday at the Lee diamond that they can get the key hits and pitching in the right spots with a twin bill sweep over the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs, 3-1 and 5-2.

The two victories brought the Rebel season mark to a hefty 10-1 reading at the end of pre-district play, and sends the Maroon into the loop fray Tuesday as a marked commodity. The Rebels will face Odessa High on foreign soil Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the district opener, and Coach Ernie Johnson is hoping that his high flying Rebel can keep the right combinations they got Saturday against the Mustangs. District opponents will be hoping they don't. Lee managed only three hits in the opener, but two of them were of the extra base variety with Blaine Murray connecting for a triple and Steve Hankinson a double, but the Rebs also got strong mound performances from Eddie McNeal and Phil Anderson to take up the hitting slack. The Rebels got one run in the first frame when Murray tripled to open the inning and scored on a grounder by Larry Tidwell. Murray again struck

John Thompson, executive director of the council, said the owners' counterproposal probably would not be made until early April. In introductory remarks, which were read by Garvey during the meeting and released to newsmen afterward, the association said: "Your attitude for the past four years has been to disregard the union, to avoid compromise at any cost, to refuse

CHIP SHOTS City Tourney Set At Hogan

Hogan Park Golf Pro Jimmie Gamewell has set August 9-10-11 as the dates for this year's Reporter-Telegram City Golf Tournament.

"That should give everybody plenty of time to make their plans," says Jimmie. Also booked on the HP schedule is the Nickel-Chrysler Partnership Golf Tournament April 20-21.

Warm weather has brought out the golfers in droves at Hogan and Gamewell had to hustle for a while to line up his fertilizer but is finally set for the year. "We scrounged around and got what we needed, but the farmers naturally are getting top priority these days and it doesn't leave much for the rest."

San Angelo's Riverside Golf Club will hold a Partnership Low-Ball Medal Play Tournament March 30-31. The first 18 holes will be qualifying for flight, but the score will count on the total.

Jimie Gamewell Sunday's play will be a shotgun start with an 8:30 a.m. tee-off for third, fourth and fifth flights while the first and championship flights will go off at 1:30 p.m. A seven-stroke rule will be used Sunday. Entry fee is $40 per team. Contact Mike Terrazas (653-6130) by March 29 for first day tee-off time.

Jack Nicklaus, Jerry Heard and Bobby Nichols, all PGA Tournament winners this year, will be at the Colonial National May 13-19 under the new PGA ruling which makes Fort Worth one of the designated tournaments.

In seven previous appearances, Nicklaus has finished Colonial a tough course. Jack has never finished above third in seven appearances. Also in the Colonial field will be Lee Elder, Bob Dickson and Rod Funseth.

HUNTING FISHING

Bob Mayberry brought down a mourning dove last November which had been banded at Stillwater, Okla., in April 1969.

Actually, that isn't a whole lot of distance to cover in four years, but conservationists have discovered some amazing facts as a result of its leg-banding operations.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has banded 20 million birds, adding a million more each year. So far 1 1/2 million have been recovered.

The recoveries, however, have provided some valuable information on the migration routes, mortality and other subjects of the 800 North American birds banded.

For example, a blue-winged teal has been traced all the way to South America while other birds have turned up in Siberia, Japan, Africa, Portugal, England, France and New Zealand.

One pintail made it from Canada to England in eight days. Most birds live less than two years, but there are exceptions. One Herring Gull was recovered 36 years after banding. Ring-billed gulls and Osprey have lived for 21 years and Purple Martin have been found to survive 14 years. Blue jays and chimney swifts have been found after 13 years and mallards and pintails have survived 24 years.

Oak Creek Lake temperatures have climbed to 85 degrees and the bass spawning season is in full bloom. Crappie are moving into shallow water and channel casts are gathering in the tributaries.

A foursome from Midland and Odessa, Woody McClurg, Frank Green, David Rhoads and Ronnie Ward, landed some 40 bass. Ward's six-pounder on a bucktail spinner was the biggest single fish taken.

The Permian Bass Club will hold a tournament at Lake Amistad Saturday and Sunday. The club lists some 230 members from Midland, Odessa, Slaton, Monahans, Lubbock, Lamesa, Pecos, Robert Lee, Gardendale, Sweetwater, Wickett, Fort Stockton, Austin and Del Rio. Headquarters for the tournament the Amistad Lodge and Hubert Scruggs and Lynn Riggs will be the hosts.

Crappie and white bass were giving anglers more than they could handle at Lake E. V. Spence with 700 crappie and 900 white bass reported. Robert Bailey and Charles Williams of Midland landed 22 crappie, Bob Nix and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Templeton of Crane reeled in 51 crappie to three pounds. G. B. McNealley, Big Spring, and David McNealley, Midland, took 277 white bass to three pounds and three striper to four pounds.

BOWLING

When Goodrich Service Center rolled that all-time high scratch game in a Midland Bowling Association sanctioned game at Super Bowl, the 1,152 total was compiled on scores of 258 (John Burns), 255 (Jim Campbell), 225 (Jerry Malone), 215 (Bill Baker) and 199 (D. D. Woodberry).

Thirty-three strikes were bowled and the Goodrich team's series was 954-1152-876-2986 scratch. Three of the bowlers posted better than 600 series with Bill Baker at 610, Jim Campbell 617 and John Burns 648.

The eye-catcher was bowled in the Oil Stars League where a week later Baker came up with a 257 game and Woodberry a 232. If they had been able to roll these scores a week earlier, it would have given Goodrich another 75 pins for a 1,227 game.

John Burns rolled 215-246-216-677 to top the Oil Stars scores Wednesday while Baker had a 638. Ray Morris also had a 254 single game.

In the Mobil Mixed League, Claude Roper's 205-201-231 gave him a 637 series, but Charles Lacy had a 210-243-638. Walt Schuyler came up with a 235 in the Civic Commercial.

Ross Graham rolled a 667 series in the Kegler Mixed

League on games of 234, 223, 210. Jack Francis showed a 257-212-668 for the same loop.

The Men's State Bowling Tournament began in Austin this weekend and the women begin rolling in state play on April 4 at Houston. Super Bowl, which is currently hosting the men's city tourney, will hold a City Junior Tournament sometime in April.

Cey's 2-Run Hit Nips Astros, 3-1

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Roy Cey hit a two-run double in the ninth inning Saturday to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-1 exhibition baseball victory over the Houston Astros.

The score was tied at 1-1 after Bob Gallagher singled across Houston's run off Al Downing in the eighth.

Rookie Oscar Zamora could not hold the Dodgers in the ninth. Billy Buckner singled ahead of a walk to Jim Wynn and Joe Ferguson rapped into a double play.

Buckner took third on the play and an intentional walk was issued to Willie Crawford before Cey's long double to right that scored both runners.

Tom Griffin hurried four perfect innings to open the game for Houston. He allowed just two balls to be hit out of the infield.

Rex Houston reliever Fred Scherman tacked on another perfect round and retired the first man in the sixth. Bill Russell broke the perfect spell with a single up the middle.

The next inning back to back doubles by Ferguson and Crawford broke the scoreless battle. Scherman was the victim of the two hits.

Andy Messersmith permitted just two hits in his four-inning starting stint for the Dodgers. He walked one and struck out five. Los Angeles picked up five hits, one less than Houston.

Rangers Whip Yank B's, 8-5

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Don Castle's sixth-inning sacrifice fly broke a 5-5 deadlock and Jim Bibby and Steve Hargan blanked New York on only one hit over the final six innings Saturday as the Texas Rangers whipped the Yankees' B team 8-5.

After trailing, 5-1, the Rangers tied the score with a four-run, fourth-inning outburst against Lowell Palmer. Ron Pruitt led off the sixth with a single and took third on Tommy Cruz' single before scoring on Castle's fly to right.

Loosing pitcher Ed Ricks walked home another run in the seventh and the Rangers added a run in the eighth on Castle's single, a force play and singles by Elliott Maddox and Leo Carenas.

Bibby allowed five runs on seven hits and two walks in the first three innings before retiring the last seven hitters to face him. Hargan, the winning pitcher, allowed only a two-out ninth-inning single to Terry Whitfield and three seventh-inning walks in his four innings.

Chicago Cub Farm Clubs Make Ready To Open Camp

By ED PRELL
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — There are 35 pitchers among the 74 youngsters who will start training Monday on the Chicago Cubs' minor league complex in beautiful Eldorado Park.

These players will form the bulk of personnel to stock the Wichita Aeros of the American Association, Midland of the Texas and Key West of the Florida State. Some of the less experienced ones may wind up with Bradenton, Fla., of the Gulf Coast Rookie League.

Vedie Himel, Cubs' director of scouting, is the camp coordinator. On his staff will be Lou Klein, Bobby Adams, Fred Martin, Pete Reiser, and Elvin Tappe.

Klein, who for several years supervised the action here, will be out of uniform for the first time in his long career, which included stardom as an infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals.

For health reasons he is backing off from the tiring field routine and will take an observer's role. Lou, supervisor of player development, will spend most of 1974 scouting rival National League clubs.

Reiser, former Dodgers' star and later coach for many years with the Cubs, will work with the outfielders. During the season he'll be a roving instructor for Cub affiliates.

Adams, who had a brilliant playing career with the Cubs, Reds, White Sox, and Orioles, will be transferring his savvy to the infielders. During the season he will rotate among the four minor league teams.

Hughston Seizes 5-4A Medal Lead

ABILENE — Midland High's Bulldogs shaved 12 strokes off their first week's score, but still lost a stroke to pace-setting San Angelo here Friday in the second round of the District 5-4A golf tournament.

Still, the Bulldogs did come up with the individual medalist in Doug Hughston, who shot a 75 to go with his first round 73 for a two-round total of 148.

The fourth-place Bulldogs have a two-round score of 317-362 which leaves the Purple Pack 21 back of San Angelo's 297-304-601. Abilene Cooper is second at 607, Odessa Permian third at 610 while Midland Lee is fifth at 639.

The 5-4A meet moves to Big Spring this week for the third of five rounds.

Randy Waterhouse and Grant Collins of San Angelo and David Gage of Abilene Cooper are tied for second place in the medal competition with 149's. Golfers are permitted to drop their worst round and submit their four best rounds in determining the medalist.

Midland Girls Win Tourney

Midland High's No. 1 team beat out Midland High's No. 2 unit in the Hogan Park Women's Golf Assn. tournament for high school girls Friday. Midland Lee took third place.

Ann Wheeler shot an 86 to take medalist honors and lead the Bulldog girls to a winning team total of 371.

Lee's Liz Norton had an 87 as the Rebel girls posted a 398, just one back of Midland's No. 2 team.

Ursula Stittig won the long driving contest with a 210-yard drive and Miss Wheeler won the putting contest, using only 30. Mary Owen chipped to within 21 inches of the cup to win that category.

The gasoline shortage and uncertainty of West Texas weather kept the girls from Amarillo and San Antonio from making the tournament while Brownfield, also entered, had a school holiday.

The defending champions dropped a full game and a half off the pace set by the Texas Aggies Friday afternoon with a 5-3 loss to Texas Tech. Ace Longhorn pitcher Richard Wortham suffered his first collegiate defeat in 17 starts.

Rice moved into a second place tie with Texas by whipping Texas Christian 4-0.

A&M, which doesn't play a SWC opponent this week, owns a 6-0 record while Texas and Rice are 5-2.

John "Big Foot" Davidson, a 6-foot-7 right-hander, struck out 10 Texas batters and allowed only three hits as Tech evened its SWC ledger at 2-2.

Red Raider shortstop Ronnie Mattson crashed a two-run double in the fourth to go-ahead and Tech sealed the victory in the sixth on a squeeze play that scored Bryan Cowan.

Texas' hitting star was Micky Riechenbach, who drilled a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

Senior righthander Mike Pettit scattered nine hits in Rice's victory over Texas Christian.

Lee Volleyballers Beat Cooper, Up Record To 6-1

ABILENE — Coach Linda Weikle's Midland Lee girls volleyball team polished off Abilene Cooper, 15-5 and 15-6, to move to a 6-1 District 5-4A record Friday night in the Cooper Gymnasium.

While Lee was whipping Cooper, Midland knocked off Big Spring to give the Bulldogs and Steers 5-2 loop records.

The Rebels displayed solid teamwork in chalking up their sixth loop victory, according to Miss Weikle.

Lee made it a clean sweep for the evening by taking the junior varsity contests, 15-11 and 12-4.

After a slow start Miss Weikle's JV team has moved into a tie with the Midland JV for first place in the district standings, both sporting 6-1 records.

Lee enters Big Spring Tuesday in the Lee Gym with the junior varsity tilt set for 6:30 p.m. and the varsity contest at 7:30 p.m.

Ex Net Rivals, Now Ag Teammates

Midland's John Kirwan and El Paso's Tom Courson, longtime rivals in high school, are finally tennis teammates at Texas A&M where John is No. 5 singles and No. 2 doubles with Courson. Aggie victories this year have come over LSU, Lamar State, Oklahoma U., St. Edwards, Pan American, Texas A&I, Brigham Young, New Mexico State, Sam Houston while the only loss came at the hands of Trinity.

The first annual North-South High School Baseball All-Star game will be held in the Astrodome at Houston on June 22, prior to the Astros-San Diego National League game. This will be the first time that the outstanding senior players in Texas prep baseball will be honored with an all-star game. The team will be selected by directors from the eight Texas UIL regions.

Ernie Johnson, Midland Lee Coach, and John Dudley, Lubbock Coronado, will represent the West Texas region.

Expenses for the game will be delayed by a three-game exhibition series between the Astros and Texas Rangers at the Astrodome March 29-30-31.

Dee Dygert, a freshman from Midland High, is swimming the butterfly leg on the medley relay and the freestyle events for the West Texas State women's swim team. Miss Dygert won All-American and All-State recognition on the MHS medley and freestyle relays teams in 1971.

Marvin Baker of Midland College 220-yard dash records with a 21.2 in a meet last weekend at Eastern New Mexico, but finished a 10th of a second behind Dave Gilbaugh, University of Wyoming.

Andrews' Ken Bales took a second in the pole vault, clearing 14 feet, in the same meet for SPC.

ACC's All-America freshman running back Wilbert Montgomery joined the Wildcats' track team last week and contributed to a 41.8 to the 440-yard relay and then long jumped 23.2 in a meet at Denton last week.

Gerry Modzelewski, 6-1, 190-pound fullback-defensive back from Benedictine High in Cleveland, has been signed for TCU by new Coach Jim Shofner. Modzelewski, who led his team to the state championship last fall, is the nephew of Ed (Big Mo) Modzelewski and Dick (Little Mo) Modzelewski, former All-Americans at Maryland who starred in pro ball.

Shofner, once a standout cornerback with the Cleveland Browns, says 40-year dash times are overrated. "I think people go overboard on them. They say you have to run a certain time to play a certain position. They say you have to be so fast to play cornerback. The best I ever ran was a 4.8, so I must have been stealing money up there for a few years."

Scheduled to be inducted into the Texas High School Coaches' Basketball Hall of Fame are Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk and Greenville's Marcus Freiberger, Austin's Jay Arnette, Houston's Placid Gomez and Beaumont's Raymond Alford.

Loudermilk played at Big Spring from 1954-1958, named all-state twice, scoring 75 points in one game. At SMU, Jan twice made all-SWC at SMU.

Indians Look The Same

Cleveland Places Hopes On New Coaching Staff

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians led the American League in home runs last season, but their initiative stopped right there.

The Tribe was the East Division's cellar-dweller when the final bell rang and finished the season with a baseball club that made one wonder how it even did that well.

In the later part of the season Manager Ken Aspromonte fired outfielder George Hendrick because he didn't charge a ground ball, there was an altercation between several coaches and a member of the press and a winning streak, last year, was three games.

Except for two new pitchers, the squad is the same as last year and it is doubtful that the youngsters on the team will improve enough to bring the club out of the basement.

The Indians are placing a lot of their hopes in an entirely new coaching staff and Aspromonte began the spring training season issuing severe warnings to everyone that they better be in shape and toe the line.

The new coaches are former San Antonio pilot Tony Pacheco and Clay Bryant, who are up from minor league posts, and Larry Doby, a former Indian star. Doby comes to the Tribe from a coaching job with the Montreal Expos.

Doby and Pacheco will handle the general coaching duties and Bryant will work with the pitching staff.

BEATS ECTOR, 3-0—Broncho Hurls No-Hitter

Don Hudnall of Odessa High threw a no-hitter Friday to pace the Bronchos to a 3-0 victory over Odessa Ector in a non-district baseball game at Fly Field.

Hudnall walked one and struck out 12 with sharp-breaking curve ball to register the gem. The victory gives OHS a 7-3 record going into Tuesday's District 5-4A opener against Midland Lee's Rebels in Odessa.

In other action, Abilene edged past W. T. White of Dallas, 2-1, to bring its season mark to 5-5. Monte Harris chalked up his third win of the year against one loss in setting the Longhorns down on three hits. Rusty McCleskey's broken bat single in the bottom of the sixth inning lifted the Eagles to their win.

Abilene Cooper dropped a 5-2 decision to the Ranger Junior College JV, with the Rangers breaking up a 1-1 game in the seventh inning with a four-run out burst off Larry Martindale.

Lamesa Drops 15-7 Decision

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tornados opened the 1974 baseball season on a sour note, dropping a 15-7 decision to Lubbock Coronado Friday.

Coronado pounded out 12 hits off three Tor hurlers in winning its fifth game of the year in eight outings.

Eddie Matthews of Coronado slammed a three-run homer off starter Lane Heald in the first inning for the Mustangs.

Arthur Garcia had a homer for the losers after Coronado had posted a 5-0 lead after two innings. Lamesa rallied to tie the score 5-5, but a big six-run sixth for the Mustangs iced the game.

Rangers Buy Gas Station For Fans

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The famous "Buy me some peanuts and crackerjacks" song could be changed to "Buy me some peanuts and gasoline" this summer if Texas Rangers owner Bob Short's plans become a reality.

Arlington City Manager Ross Calhoun said Friday that Short has purchased a service station near the Rangers' stadium.

Calhoun said Short plans to keep the gas station open on days, including Sundays, when his team plays baseball at home.

The station, pointed in Rangers colors of blue and white, also will serve as the new location of the Arlington Tourist and Convention Bureau's information center.

UT-A Council Views Fem Sports

AUSTIN, — The Athletics Council of Texas-Austin adopted a report which recommended an enlarged program for women's intercollegiate athletics.

It specifically recommended a Department of Women's Intercollegiate Athletics separate from a Department of Men.

Funding of the women's program be in a manner similar to that of the current men's program.

The AC suggested an appropriation from UTA funds of $50,000 and a voluntary student athletics fee for the support of athletics for women.

DECLARING CHARGES 'TOTALLY FALSE'

President Again Vows Not To Resign

CHICAGO (AP) — Launching a series of image-building forays around the country, President Nixon has declared that all Watergate-related accusations against him are "totally false."

Fielding an hour of questions Friday from members of the Executives Club of Chicago, Nixon said that the presidency itself would be gravely damaged if he resigned as an innocent man.

Nixon told the nationwide television-radio audience that if he were to quit, any future president could be removed simply by becoming the target of unproven charges.

In the wide-ranging Chicago appearance before what proved to be a friendly audience, Nixon also made other major points:

- European allies are balking at negotiating with the United States on economic and political issues, he said, and therefore his planned April trip to Europe to sign a new statement of principles for the Atlantic community has been derailed.
- While there has been no official word on ending the Arab oil embargo, suggestions that strings may be attached prompt him to say that "the United States is not going to be pressured by its friends in the Middle East and that pressure could upset American efforts to promote a peace settlement in that region."
- The administration will continue to pursue détente with the Soviet Union, believing the alternative might be a $100 billion escalation in arms outlays and more difficult prospects for Soviet Jews wishing to emigrate to Israel.
- The President will cooperate with the House Judiciary Committee in its impeachment inquiry "as fully as I possibly can to get a prompt and just resolution of this matter." However, he will insist on drawing the line against granting a "fishing license" for searches of his files because, in his view, that also would weaken the presidential office.
- Nixon was not asked directly in Chicago about differences between two of his past statements on a crucial Watergate issue — whether or when he was told hush money was being paid to original defendants in the burglary case.
- At a March 6 news conference, Nixon said ousted counsel John W. Dean III told him last March 21 "that payments had been made to defendants for the purpose of keeping them quiet, not simply for their defense."
- However, in an Aug. 15 television speech, Nixon said he was "only told that the money had been used for attorneys' fees and family support, not that it had been paid to procure silence from the recipients."
- The President raised the matter himself in the Chicago appearance, saying in effect that his March 6 statement was not meant to suggest hush money was paid as part of a cover-up because, he said, such questions still must be resolved in the courts.
- Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later told reporters he did not expect Nixon to discuss the issue further, saying "I think it covered it pretty well."
- Members of the Executives Club interrupted Nixon's statements with frequent applause in a ballroom at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. On the street outside the hotel, vocal and mostly youthful critics of the President drowned out a smaller group of Nixon supporters with such chants as "Jail to the Chief."
- One questioner asked Nixon if he would appear at criminal trials of present Watergate defendants if his testimony was needed to help his former aides and close associates. The President responded that he thought it would be inappropriate for the President to be jumping into the witness box in federal trials.

Ringling The Bell

with BOB TIEUEL

The Black Experience: (Many bellringers have requested that we define "racism" and its implications). La Mecha De Highlands University, Las Vegas, N.M. recently carried a report on "Racism" by the United States Commission on Civil Rights which we borrow here in part:

"Even though 'race' and 'color' refer to two different kinds of human characteristics, in America it is the visibility of skin color — and of other physical traits associated with particular colors or groups — that marks individuals as 'targets' for subordination by members of the white majority. This is true of Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican Americans, Japanese Americans, Chinese Americans and American Indians.

"Racism is not just a matter of attitudes, actions and institutional structures especially, can also be forms of racism. An 'institutional structure' is any well established, habitual, or widely accepted pattern of action or organizational arrangement, whether formal or informal. For example, the residential segregation of almost all Negroes in large cities is an 'institutional structure'.

"Being aware of someone's color or race, or even taking it into account when making decisions or in other behavior, is not necessarily racist. Racism occurs only when these reactions involve some kind of subordination. Thus, pride in one's black heritage, or Irish ancestry, is not necessarily racist."

"Racism can occur even if the people causing it have no intention of subordinating others because of color, or are totally unaware of doing so. Most Americans believe racism is bad, and . . . racism is the end result rather than the intention.

"Favoring voluntary separation of races is not necessarily a form of racism. However it would become racism if members of one group who wanted to cluster together tried to restrict the locational choices of members of some other group."

in order to achieve such clustering. . . . Nonetheless, separation of groups is one of the oldest and most widespread devices for subordination in all societies. . . . And it is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to provide different but truly equal opportunities and conditions for separated groups within an economically integrated society," concludes the report from the United States Commission on Civil Rights.

On some black bishops: "What the message says is that this church is sick and tired of paying a bishop over $20,000 a year, and granting him other fringe benefits, and then having to pay his light bill, his telephone bill, his water bill, sometimes his liquor bill, and sometimes his extra-curricular pleasure bill. This church is sick and tired of electing men who proclaim loud and clear that they are honest and good and before the ink is dried on their consecration they prove to be greedy, rotten crooks. . . . Yes we are sick and tired of extra, unauthorized assessments, large first day offerings are out. Banquets, tickets, contests, testimonials, and other unauthorized fund raising activities are all out." From the Rev. J. A. Holmes in The Dove (A.M.E.).

A bellringer writes: "Dear Bob: I have looked upon the precious secrets of both the Baptist and Methodist churches. Both are in jeopardy of crumbling in many of our black communities. . . . We have compromised ourselves out of business. Our economic fear, and superfluous spiritual parallelisms, have caused us to refrain from competing against satan and sin, and have set off a war between black denominational churches. . . . Our choir robes are more colorful, but we have no voice to sing. Church folks cars are bigger, but we carry no passengers. . . . Night clubs stay open every night. The black church door opens once a week. . . . Bob, old friend, as Timothy would possibly write such an Epistle to his Elder Paul, so now I confide in you. I have almost given up. . . . Keep ringing the bell. You are performing a great ministry." Signed C. F.

Judge Strikes Down Rules Governing Sterilization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning that there's a fine line between population control and race improvement, a federal judge has struck down new federal rules governing the sterilization of up to 150,000 poor Americans each year.

The impact of the decision was to prohibit the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare from paying for any more sterilization operations until it has written new regulations overcoming the court's objections.

"The dividing line between family planning and eugenics is murky," Gesell wrote in a 12-page opinion backed up with a three-page order. "Whatever might be the merits of limiting irresponsible reproduction, which each year places increasing numbers of unwanted or mentally defective children into tax-supported institutions, it is for Congress and not individual social workers and physicians to determine the manner in which federal funds should be used to support such a program," he said.

Gesell said that the government has been financing between 100,000 and 150,000 sterilizations of low-income persons annually, including 2,000 to 3,000 under 21 years of age and fewer than 300 under 18.

Since last summer, HEW has frozen the use of its funds to sterilize minors and the incompetent. The new federal regulations, which were to have gone into effect today after a voluntary 40-day delay during the court proceedings, grew out of disclosures last year that two young Alabama sisters had been sterilized without their parents' understanding of the procedure, and that welfare mothers in South Carolina allegedly had been refused obstetrical care unless they agreed to be sterilized.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

The scattered showers which dotted Midland County and the West Texas area the past week could not be termed a drought breaker, but did improve the hopes of farmers, ranchers and city dwellers that the weather pattern might be changing. Amounts of up to .7 inch were reported in isolated areas in Midland County, but the depleted moisture condition of the soil means that more will be necessary to re-establish field moisture capacity for ideal planting and to bring on spring growth on native pastures, according to Charles Green, Midland County agent.

Testing cotton seed for germination is probably the first step toward a good cotton crop. Green reminds cotton producers. Purchased blue tag certified planting seed will be germination tested, but any seed produced on the farm and saved for planting purposes should be tested. Green points out. An inexpensive incubator to test cotton seed quality and germination can be made from an old refrigerator. The refrigerator used to make the incubator must be able to maintain a constant temperature of 65 degrees F. An electric light bulb controlled by a thermostat can be used inside the box to raise the temperature to 65 degrees. Dishes or containers with loose fitting tops may be used to hold the seed and maintain a moisture level to allow germination. A wet blotter or untreated filter paper is a good way to hold the moisture inside the container.

The results must be interpreted carefully. After seven days at 65 degrees, high quality seed will germinate and have a straight root and 1 and 1/2 inches long. If one-third or more of the seed tested fails to meet this standard, the seed should be considered low quality and planted only if absolutely necessary. In the test, low quality seed will have poor germination, with roots that are coiled or matted. Mold growth on seed indicates deterioration. Plant cotton of high quality seed when morning soil temperatures at planting depth are above 60 degrees F. for three consecutive days. When lower quality seed are used, wait for higher temperatures, advises Green. One of the prime needs in improving the soil in West Texas is to increase its organic content, according to Green. An inexpensive way to do this is to put leaves, grass clippings, table scraps and other waste material to work for you by building a compost pile. A compost pile is an excellent source of plant nutrients and is relatively easy to keep weed-free and odorless.

It can provide valuable organic matter for use in vegetable gardens and flower beds and for topdressing lawns. Green suggests either a pit or above ground area with solid sides. Net wire enclosures usually dry out too rapidly in West Texas weather.

To start a compost pit or pile, lay down two inches of soil in an area receiving sunlight and sufficient air. Follow with two to six inches of waste material topped by one to two inches of manure or one to two cups of commercial fertilizer per square yard. Repeat this process to present a layered effect. Shape the top of the pile like a dish to facilitate wetting. Keep the material moist but not soggy. Turn the pile every five to six weeks to hasten decomposition of the material. Green suggests two compost piles, one for present use and the other to allow for decomposition, which requires four to eight months.

Thousands of 4-H Club members across Texas are busy once again preparing for county and district contest with the hope of winning a trip to 4-H Roundup at Texas A & M University June 4-5. In Midland County about 150 boys and girls have been studying and practicing for judging contests and team and individual demonstrations, reports Green. First and second place winners in the senior division (age 14 and over) in the district contests will qualify for the state competition.

Eddy County Gets Dual Completion

Skelly Oil Co., Midland, has announced dual completion of its No. 1-9-18 University and a current third Fusselman and fourth Ellenburger producer in the War-Wink, South field in Ward County, nine miles northwest of Pyote.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 960 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through Fusselman perforations at 17,326-17,642 feet, after the section had been acidized with 10,000 gallons.

Through Ellenburger perforations at 19,659-20,532 feet, which had been acidized with 46,000 gallons, it gauged a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 11.5 million cubic feet of dry gas daily.

Drilled to 20,831 feet, and plugged back to 20,691 feet, it has a 5½-inch and a 5-inch liner hung from 15,487-20,828 feet.

Production site is 1,900 feet from south and west lines of section 9, block 18, ULS. It is a one mile north extension to both pays in the field.

Opener Finaled, Tests Taken In Eddy County

A Morrow discovery was completed, and tests were taken at two other projects in Eddy County, N.M.

Coquina Oil Corp., Midland, has completed No. 1 Gulf Federal, a Morrow gas discovery, ¼ mile southeast of Morrow production in the McMillan field of Eddy County, N.M.

It had a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 3.125 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 9,618-9,630 feet. Treatment, if any, was not reported.

It has 5¼-inch casing set at 9,980 feet, total depth. The producer spools 660 feet from north and east lines of section 5-19a-27e, 20 miles north of Carlsbad.

Drillstem Test Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 Franklin, et al-Federal, scheduled 8,500-foot Strawn test, one location northeast of C&K Petroleum, Inc. No. 1 Lowe-State, recent Cisco-Canyon discovery, has indicated production in an unidentified zone with the flowing of gas at the rate of 500,000 cubic feet per day on a drillstem test.

Gas surfaced in 15 minutes, on the one-hour and 15-minute test taken at 9,840-10,200 feet, flowing at the above rate. Recovery was 676 feet of mud.

Flowing pressure was 505-551 pounds; one-hour initial and 135-minute final shut-in pressures were 4,451 pounds.

Test site is 660 feet from south and 2,235 feet from west lines of section 9-24e-24e, 10 miles northwest of White City.

The Cisco-Canyon opener was completed Oct. 4 for 47 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 8,306-8,406 feet.

A one-mile east extension and a fifth producer apparently has been assured in the Strawn zone of the Burton, North multipay field of Eddy County, with the flowing of gas at the rate of 320,000 cubic feet per day at Monsanto Co. No. 1 Wilderspin.

The flow test was taken through a 48-64-inch choke and perforations at 10,390-10,430, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons.

At last report, operator was preparing to perforate in the Morrow zone.

Wolfcamp production was assured through perforations at 9,660-9,710 feet, which flowed nine barrels of condensate, plus gas at the rate of 3.8 million (Continued On Page 3C)

Two Independents Believe Declining Productive Capacity Can Be Reversed

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Two independent oil operators say a drilling program they began in 1971 offers evidence the declining trend for the nation's crude oil productive capacity can be reversed.

Allan C. King and J. N. Warren of Houston say they started the program after realizing declining production and spiraling demand would lead to prices that would justify the high risks of exploratory drilling.

They say an oil wildcatter has about the same chance of success today as he had two decades ago even though only 7,500 exploratory wells were drilled last year compared with 16,400 in 1956.

During the same period, they add, the ranks of active independent oil and gas operators was reduced by one-third.

"This reduction in the number of active small producers is of critical importance since it is generally accepted that small producers have accounted for approximately 75 percent of the new oil and gas reserves located in this country," King said.

Morris To Discuss Pipeline Problems

Marathon Oil's No. 2 University, Big Lake Field

Big Lake Field's Second Rig To Be Permanent Exhibit Here

Plans for moving the Permian Basin's oldest surviving oil well structure to Midland are being developed. The Permian Basin Petroleum Museum would be the recipient.

Equipment at Marathon Oil Co.'s No. 2 University at Texon, which was drilled next to and shortly after the famed "Santa Rita" well, has been offered to the museum, it has been announced.

Russell J. Ramsland, museum president, said that Marathon Oil "took a very generous view of our request for the structure and agreed to give it." He expressed the museum's thanks for the offer and said Marathon is "deeply interested, as we are, in preserving this early sample of old drilling equipment." Marathon and the museum are jointly studying the cost of disassembling, moving and re-erecting the rig at the museum's building site on Interstate 29 between Cotton Flat Road and Rankin Highway.

Richard Donnelly, vice president of Eastland Oil Co. and a museum trustee, has been named project manager.

Moving of the structures is "probable but not quite sure," it was said. Cost to the museum isn't yet known. Also, the museum must obtain approval from the Midland Board of Adjustment for erecting a structure higher than is normally permitted in an "O" zone. A hearing is scheduled Tuesday.

The museum would reconstruct a wooden derrick to the original dimensions, replacing the metal derrick which was placed over the well in 1938. Its height would be about 84 feet plus grading and foundation.

Earl Brooks of San Angelo, pioneer production man for Marathon, has given the museum a list of the structure items that were part of the 1923-1924 original.

The derrick and the corrugated metal siding for the engine and bell houses are the main items that were replaced in 1938. Virtually all the remaining parts are original, though a few are missing.

The risks are great; the return has not been sufficient over the past few years to encourage a vigorous independent exploratory industry.

King and Warren outlined their recent experiences while cautioning the House Ways and Means Committee of a possible adverse impact from a proposed tax on so-called windfall profits from crude production.

They questioned the wisdom and equity of such a tax against any segment of the industry but suggested that should a tax be enacted an exception or a plow-back credit would be warranted for small producers. They defined a small operator as producing less than 10,000 barrels of crude a day, adding that their suggestion would affect less than 20 percent of domestic production.

"We think our experience over the past three years indicates in very clear terms that a vigorous and healthy exploratory industry could substantially abate, if not eliminate, our nation's energy crisis prior to 1990," King said.

King said he and Warren saw a few years ago that the nation's oil and natural gas producing capacity was continuing to diminish at an alarming rate while demand for energy was spiraling.

"It was evident to us that the price of the product would necessarily rise; in our judgment it would rise enough to make the significant capital investment and risk involved in a substantial commitment toward exploratory drilling worthwhile," King said. "Thus we committed our own capital to exploratory drilling operations in 1971."

Using their own capital as "seed money," King and Warren joined with a small number of investors who put up exploratory capital about six to eight times their own commitment.

"In 1971 we drilled eight wells which represent production today of 180 barrels of crude oil and 6 million cubic feet of natural gas a day," King said.

"In 1972, with the use of the revenue from our 1971 program, we were able to enlarge our exploratory program, again joining with investors who committed exploratory capital of six to eight times our commitment. The result was 21 wells drilled and today's productive capacity from the 1972 activity is 415 barrels of crude oil and 8.5 million cubic feet of gas a day."

A similar program followed in 1973.

"The use of our seed money combined with the exploratory capital committed by investors allowed us to drill 43 wells in 1973 which today produce 675 barrels of crude and 13.6 million cubic feet of gas per day," King said.

"Thus we today have production of 1,270 barrels of crude oil and 26.1 million cubic feet of natural gas per day as a result of an ambitious exploratory program undertaken merely three years ago."

'Leave Us Alone,' Say Oil Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the world's largest oil company says the industry does not need higher prices and profit margins to finance new energy development.

J. Kenneth Jamieson, chairman of Exxon Corp., said in an exclusive interview that "the industry should be able to operate, generating the capital it needs, with the current rates of return."

Jamieson also said Exxon might bring increased petroleum supplies quickly into the United States by diverting them from Europe after the end of the Arab oil embargo.

But he said U.S. refinery capacity could not meet unrestricted U.S. demand even if unlimited crude oil becomes available.

He said companies failed to expand refinery capacity in recent years because of the federal quota on oil imports, which President Nixon had retained until a year ago despite a Cabinet task force recommendation in 1970 that it be removed.

Oil industry profits increased some 47 per cent in 1973, and Exxon's worldwide profits soared to a record 59 per cent, enabling the company to increase its dividends 45 cents per share and still reinvest almost $1.5 billion — some 60 per cent of net earnings.

Jamieson said the oil companies do not really need new "incentives" to invest in efforts to increase energy production, but it would like the federal government to stop imposing new regulations and tampering with old ones.

"I think what the industry is saying is: Leave us alone," said Jamieson.

WASHINGTON OIL— Lifting Embargo Could Prove Mixed Blessing

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The news late last week that the Arabs are on the verge of ending the boycott of shipments of oil to the United States may turn out in the long run to be bad news.

The prospect that within about 60 days the U.S. will be getting about the same supply it had been receiving before the boycott, quite likely may put a damper on the beginning of a move in this country to make an all-out effort to boost its own energy resources so that this country would not be at the mercy of a foreign supplier.

Two Employees Honored By Gulf For Long Service

Employees in field operations for Gulf Oil Co.-US, in the firm's West Texas operations, have observed service anniversaries and have been recognized by the company with presentation of service awards.

M. O. Eubanks of Odessa, roustabout foreman in the Crane area, has worked for Gulf 40 years.

He joined the firm as a pipeliner near Borger, and transferred to production operations near Borger in 1934. After serving in a variety of assignments in that area, he transferred to the Odessa-headquartered Sand Hills area in 1957. He was promoted to his present classification in 1960 and transferred to the Crane area in February, 1973.

W. O. McDaniel of Monahans, lease operator near Monahans, has completed 30 years of service with the firm.

He began working for Gulf at Wickett and has spent his entire tenure in the Wickett-Monahans area, in various classifications.

Nadar voiced such views only last week in an energy seminar in Washington sponsored by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (AFL-CIO).

However, the union also provided a forum for a wide range of view during its energy conference. This included spokesmen for the industry and from government.

A. F. Gospiro, OCAW president, set the stage in opening the symposium. "Throughout our planning for this program we have emphasized variety — (Continued On Page 3C)

There still remains a great deal of skepticism that any energy crisis really exists and this is accompanied by doubt that the industry can solve the problem even if, in fact, there is such a crisis.

Such people as Ralph Nader, who apparently still commands a considerable listening audience, continue to say there is no shortage, either here or worldwide. It's all part of a plot to drive prices up and to scare the government away from any action that would reduce the bloated profits of the multinational oil companies.

These people also contend that if something needs to be done, the best approach would be for the government to apply a do-it-yourself solution. That is, there should be a government oil corporation to show the public that the oil companies have been taking advantage all these years and will continue to do so.

W & H Production-Drilling Inc., 5000 W. Industrial St., has announced two staff additions. James A. Warren joined the firm Jan. 1 as vice president. Bob W. Harden joined Dec. 30 as field supervisor.

Warren was an engineer for Robert D. Fitting & Associates Inc. of Midland before joining W & H. Previously he worked as production superintendent for Texas American Oil Corp., during which time he supervised the drilling of two 16,500-foot wells in the Delaware Basin in Eddy County, N.M.

From 1963-64 he was consulting petroleum engineer for areas of West Texas and the Panhandle, Southeast New Mexico, in the Denver-Julesburg Basin in Colorado and Nebraska, and Northwest North Dakota. Prior to 1960, Warren was division engineer for Lacos Land Co.

A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley with a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering, Warren served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy for four years. He spent three years in the Tulsa area and one year on small boat patrol duty.

Harden was employed with Delta Drilling Co. from 1964 to 1973. He supervised the drilling and completion of wells in Ozona Canyon Strawn field and deep wells in West Texas and New Mexico area.

Harden has had extensive experience in work as a field supervisor. While employed with Loffland Bros., he worked in offshore operations in the Gulf of Mexico, supervising moving, rigging up and drilling. He is experienced in directional drilling, handling high gas pressures, salt water flows and down hole problems encountered in deep offshore drilling.

In 1957 he supervised Loffland offshore operation in Lake Maracaibo, in Venezuela. Later, after returning to the States, he assisted management in planning an operation for Pan American International Oil Co. that subsequently went to Argentina. He was in charge of recruiting and processing and supervisory personnel, supervised construction and rig up of all equipment.

After graduating from Central High School in Tulsa, Harden attended the School of Drilling Technology at Odessa College. He served from 1942 to 1945 as a flight engineer in B-24s in the South Pacific in the U.S. Army Air Force.

CENTRAL BUILDING SOLD — The Central Building was recently sold to Gihls Properties Inc. Checking the building are Susan Kelly, vice president of Gihls Realty & Management Corp.; Scott Morris, market manager of Rollins Services; Jack Janson, accountant for GRM, and Gary Griffin, chief engineer for Gihls.

Central Building Bought By Gihls Properties Inc.

W. W. West and Lloyd Inerarity have sold the Central Building at the corner of Big Spring and Illinois streets to Gihls Properties Inc. Henry H. Blanton, president of Gihls, said a feasibility study will be made to determine the amount of remodeling needed. He said that quality office suites, in a prime location, at moderate rental rates will fill a real need for downtown Midland.

Gihls, owners of five other office buildings in Midland, has recently announced its plans to offer attendant parking, with some covered spaces, on the lot across Illinois street from the Central Building. It also owns another lot across Big Spring Street.

Susan H. Kelly, vice president of Gihls Realty & Management Corp. said her firm has taken over management of the 39,000-square-foot building. She said that she is delighted to have a property so ideally suited for independent oil operators as well as other small businesses operating on a limited budget.

Gasoline Shortage Cuts Traffic Toll

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Some good has come from the gasoline shortage, the Texas Department of Public Safety indicated Friday.

In its first report of 1974 on traffic fatalities, the DPS announced a dramatic 27 per cent decline in deaths, compared with the same period of last year.

The DPS said 395 persons have been killed in auto accidents, compared with 544 last year at this time. Fatal accidents on Texas streets and highways are down from 455 to 351.

A DPS spokesman attributed the sharp reductions to reduction of the top speed limit from 70 to 55 miles per hour and to a curtailment of driving because of the fuel shortage.

Deaths on U.S. and state-numbered highways were down 44 per cent, interstate highways 21 per cent and cities 25 per cent, the DPS said.

Ford Urges GOP In South To Prevent Democrat Landslide

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford has appealed to Republicans in the South to help prevent a Democratic landslide in this fall's congressional elections. Ford, in two appearances in South Carolina Friday, also lashed out at the "overzealous" conduct of the House Judiciary Committee's staff in its study of possible impeachment of President Nixon. In Columbia Friday night, Ford told delegates to the South Carolina Republican state convention they could prevent a Democratic landslide in the 1974 elections by uniting, by getting good candidates and "by making an even greater effort than in 1972." "If they pick up 50, if they pick up 75 seats, they will be able to run roughshod over the President," Ford said. Earlier Ford visited The Citadel in Charleston, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Allowable Up

AUSTIN (AP) — The average calendar day oil production allowable in Texas Friday was 4,068,421 barrels a day, an increase of 12,179 barrels a day over the March 1 figure, the Texas Railroad Commission reported.

Oil Service Industry Said Not Prepared For Expansion Sparked By Energy Crunch

By ELOY AGUILAR DALLAS (AP) — There's a scramble in the United States to drill for oil that seemed scarce until it became profitable to find it. Now the question is whether it can be pumped out fast enough.

This assessment comes from representatives of companies that provide services to the oil industry in the form of well maintenance, production stimulation and even drilling. The companies have been caught in a flurry of activity sparked by the upsurge in the new search for oil caused by the energy shortage and the higher oil prices.

The increased activity has been reflected in booming earnings reports for the last few months. In essence the new activity is the result of the higher oil prices caused from the energy crunch which in turn made it even more attractive to expand the search for additional sources of energy. In January of this year, according to the Texas Railroad Commission, 438 wells were completed compared to 317 in January 1972.

"Now I see a new aggressive program of development of new sources of fuel," said Frank Pool, president of Pool Co., a subsidiary of Lone Star Gas Co. and one of the largest service companies in the oil industry. However, Pool and other leaders of the industry warned that the "boom" currently experienced by the industry may be deflated or killed by a future rollback of oil prices such as the one recently vetoed by President Nixon.

"Everyone from the wildcatters to the big oil companies, is going after new oil," a spokesman for Halliburton, another large service company, said in an interview. "All our available rigs are working," said R. G. McArter, a vice president of Western Co. of North America, a firm that has seen its offshore drilling expand considerably in recent months.

The problem as outlined by the industry representatives is that the oil service industry is not prepared now to meet the expansion brought about by the energy crunch.

"We think we can provide the services needed," McArter said, "but we are going to need some additional equipment." Getting the equipment is the critical question. "We don't have enough (drilling) rigs to meet the needs under present conditions," Pool said.

He explained that for the last 20 years the companies producing machinery needed for the oil industry had aimed most of their efforts at exploration and exploitation abroad. "There was a shrinking of manufacturing capacity in the United States," he said.

Pool said that there is now a one-to-two-year delay in delivery by the manufacturers of machinery needed by the oil industry. A Halliburton spokesman agreed: "There is no way to do all the work that everybody wants all of a sudden," he said. "Given the right environment," he added, "there will be a rapid expansion although it might put a strain on the whole industry."

The right environment refers mostly to economics — oil prices. Industry spokesmen believe that the higher prices of oil being paid now would spur the search for old wells that in the past were unprofitable.

Even the small independents are benefiting. Mrs. Catherine Terrell Smith, president of Trumter Petroleum Corp. of Fort Worth, noted that the new prices have been a boost to her company which specializes in "stripper" wells — wells that have minimal production and can be exploited economically only if the price of crude is right. Oilmen believe there is a considerable reserve in stripper wells that can be brought to the surface profitably with the new prices.

Two Houston oil company officials, Tromer R. Smith of De-well Division of Dow Chemical Co. and Pete Scholl of Schlumberger Well Services, said most of the increase in their business has been in the "workovers of old wells."

"The amount of activity going on is almost frenzied," Scholl said. "Most companies report or expect 15 per cent increases in their activities. Pool said most companies can do "25 per cent more with what we have."

The search for oil, he said, will intensify when the cash start flowing into the industry but "there is going to be a lag until things get back to normal."

Oilmen believe most of the new field activity will be offshore and in Alaska.

"At the rate we are now producing the machinery needed by the oil industry," Pool said, "we estimate that we will reach the point of adequate supply by 1980 and we will see some turn-around by 1978." Pool and other oilmen said the industry will be able to provide the fuel needed by the country. "The anti-energy feelings of the environmentalists are decreasing, as our technology improves," Pool said.

Exxon Announces Manager Promotions

Two new managerial post appointments in the Mid-continent production division of Exxon Co.-USA, have been announced. R. William Bowdon has been named to division operations manager, replacing Karl F. Swenson, who recently was transferred to manager of the East Texas production division.

Bowdon is a member of Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME and American Petroleum Institute. Henderson was division reservoir engineer at Midland before his latest appointment.

He joined Exxon in the Gulf Coast area, later working in Houston before being transferred to Midland in 1964. He moved to Monahans as district engineer in 1966, later being promoted to district chief engineer. He returned to Midland in 1970 as senior supervising engineer. He is a member of SPE of AIME.

Washington Oil—

"We respect the oil industry's spokesmen. That is not to say we agree with all they say, but we examine their positions open-mindedly. We respect the critics of the industry. We don't agree with all the criticisms we hear, but we examine them and try to determine if they have merit."

He said the union has on occasion been critical of the oil industry, but he said that in recent months—when a frustrated public has voiced loud complaints about shortages and rapidly-rising prices, "OCAW has not been saying much."

He said the union has been examining facts before jumping to conclusions.

The union president then gave some of his views: There is a world problem regarding energy, not just a United States problem. "All over the world, people either are going to have to slow down on this use of energy fuels, or develop more sources of energy—or do both," he said.

He was critical of what he said was the failure of the industry to meet American needs, including the failure to build sufficient refinery capacity (a majority of OCAW members are refinery workers).

But to be even-handed about this, he said, "I think we must agree that other industries hold just about the same attitudes (Toward profits)." And he said the development of the energy crisis happened "in the absence of a clear and comprehensive national energy policy. In fact, there has been no national energy policy at all."

His assessment of the federal government's performance was that it has failed to look after the public interest. "It has monitored and regulated the oil industry only in ragged bits and pieces."

Basin Priority Users Assumes Adequate Fuel

DALLAS — Action has been taken to assure adequate fuel supplies to meet the requirements of farmers, ranchers and drilling operators in the Permian Basin, according to Delbert M. Fowler, regional administrator of the Federal Energy Office in Dallas.

All oil companies serving Midland, Odessa and the rest of the area have been requested to be sure adequate supplies of petroleum products are on hand to meet the month-end requirements of priority users, Fowler said.

The request was made by John Sawhill, deputy FEO administrator in Washington, after a meeting with Texas congressmen and state officials, Fowler said.

Sawhill also asked oil companies to adjust base period allocation volume for their customers in the area on a priority basis, suggesting the process could be speeded up by the use of recently authorized summary class action requests to the regional office in Dallas.

He added he knows of no way to avoid completely some inconvenience even for drilling crews driving to and from work, but believed there should be no problem in keeping all drilling activities operating at their peak.

The exceptional action was taken because of a recent boom of drilling activity in the area, according to Fowler, who said the requirements for both gasoline and diesel fuel are considerably above the usage of either 1972 or 1973.

The Texas delegation which met with Sawhill included Sen. John Tower, a representative of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Rep. George Hahn, Mayor Ernest Angelo, Mayor Jim Reese and other officials.

Fowler noted a "very sizable amount" of the state set-aside was moved into the West Texas area in February to meet month-end requirements.

The state allocation office has indicated it will act this month on hardship applications on a station-by-station basis as shortages develop, since by this month, some stations should have received increases in base period allocation volume.

Because of unusual growth in usage for drilling rigs, a more permanent solution is to be found with increases of 1972 base period allocation volume for wholesalers, distributors and service station owners and operators.

The Dallas FEO office recently sent a representative to the area to explain methods of submitting requests for these increases and has already processed some of the requests.

The regional office said all such request will be processed on a priority basis.

Pendleton Directs C Of C Committees

Robert L. "Bob" Pendleton, president of the Commercial Bank & Trust Co., is one of three vice presidents serving as division heads in the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Under appointments made by president K. M. Jastrow, Pendleton is directing nine committees within the operations division.

Committees and their functions include: Aviation Committee is headed by Doug Sutterlin, director and chairman. This group works with the City of Midland on aviation matters at both Midland Regional Air Terminal and Midland Air Park. It also maintains contact with commercial airlines serving the area, works with general aviation, and promotes aviation matters.

Bill Bachman is director of the Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers. He will begin to formulate plans for the 1975 biennial meeting of the PBPP, the organization of early day pioneers in the region's oil activities.

Public Relations Committee is directed by LaDoyce Lambert with Joe Dominey as chairman. The committee will work with news media regarding chamber activities, evaluate past public relations activities, and develop new programs to serve current needs. In past years, the committee has worked on the Midland film, "Land of the High Sky"; assisted with development of a national advertising program; and selected Midland's new slogan and bumper sticker, "The Sky's the Limit in Midland, Texas."

C. W. Barclay is director and chairman of the Past Presidents Committee which is assigned special research and planning tasks. The committee is comprised of former chamber presidents who reside in Midland.

Annual Banquet Committee is headed by K. M. Jastrow. The group will plan the 1975 Chamber membership dinner. "M Squad" is the blue-jacketed ambassadors organization of the chamber. Bob Hicks is director and Jack Shepherd is chairman. The members attend openings, ribbon-cuttings and ground-breaking. They represent the chamber at out-of-town functions and assist in welcoming distinguished visitors to Midland.

Bill Collyns is chairman of the Water Committee, which works locally with water conservation groups and assists regional organizations in efforts to import water to the High Plains area for agricultural and municipal use.

Dr. T. June Melton serves as director of the Health Committee. Members work closely with the medical facilities of Midland in recruiting new medical personnel, compile information for a medical services brochure, and anticipate changing needs in medical facilities or services.

Charles H. Priddy is chairman of the Community Development Committee, which is working on long-range improvements for Midland. Most of the committee's work is focused on the downtown area of the city.

Wendell Hoover Honored By Bank

Wendell Hoover, senior vice president and cashier of First National Bank a number of years, was honored Thursday and Friday for 25 years service to First National.

Friday was Hoover's last day with the bank. He will become senior vice president and cashier at First National Bank in Abilene.

SANCAP. BECAUSE YOU HAVE ENOUGH SOIL PROBLEMS ALREADY.

If the soil in West Texas was the same as the soil everywhere else maybe the herbicides they use would be good enough for you. But you've got different soil. Sandy soil. And different problems. You need an herbicide specifically made for sand, loamy sands and fine sandy loam soils. You need Sancap®. If you used it when we introduced it last season, you know what it can do. STOP CARELESSWEED. AND RUSSIAN THISTLE COLD. Without hurting your cotton. With just ordinary rainfall or irrigation. # Columnist Says Nixon Secretary Bares 'Hidden Stash' Of Recordings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, has told Senate investigators of a "hidden stash" of recording belts personally dictated by Nixon, columnist Jack Anderson says.

In a column syndicated to 500 newspapers for publication Saturday, Anderson said Rose Mary Woods made the disclosure to Senate Watergate Committee lawyers in secret testimony Feb. 20.

The President, "from time to time, for his own private, personal files, does some tapes, I have been in the Lincoln sitting room at times when he will remember something from a conversation and put on a dictabelt," Anderson quoted Miss Woods as saying.

The columnist said, "At that point, apparently realizing she had let a White House cat out of the bag, Miss Woods paused and hastily added, 'such as own personal, private things, Julie said this or that to me.'" Anderson wrote that Miss Woods testified the belts were sealed into envelopes, which were dated and placed in secure filing cabinets in the White House basement.

"We have no idea what is on them—they are his (Nixon's) own personal, private things, which are not transcribed," he quoted the secretary as saying.

Anderson said Miss Woods' staff employees, "thus leading indirectly to our obtaining it," was assured by Watergate committee counsel Samuel Dash that her testimony would be kept confidential and the sole transcript of it locked in a safe.

Rhyme, however, duplicated the testimony and sent copies to committee members and Woods' February statement was "the first mention of this hidden stash of tapes." Investigators reported that none has been forwarded to the special prosecutor, the Watergate committee or the House committee studying impeachment, he said.

It is known that Nixon often dictated his personal summary of a day's events into recording equipment separate from the voice-actuated White House taping system.

The President has turned over to the special prosecutor a dictation belt of recollections of a telephone conversation he had with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell three days after the Watergate break-in.

'Spring Matinee' Coming

BIG SPRING — "Spring Matinee," a three-part program of music and drama, is being readied by the fine arts department of Howard College at Big Spring for presentation in Midland late this month. The program is to be presented March 28 at the Midland Woman's Club, according to Mrs. Mary Skalicky, HC fine arts department chairman.

The first segment of the program will feature numbers by The Choraliers, a select vocal ensemble at Howard College. The ensemble will present spiritual and popular works, along with works by such baroque and classical masters as Palestrina, Bach and Mozart.

The second part of the program will be a two-piano recital by Mrs. Skalicky and Harlen Thornton. The pianists have presented several two-piano programs in Big Spring and the area, and Mrs. Skalicky has played in Midland in the past. Both have been adjudicators of music contests in Midland.

The pianists have programmed the "Allegro con spirito" movement of the Sonata in D by W. A. Mozart, the "Scaramouche" Suite of Darius Milhaud, and Maurice Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess."

Rounding out the "Spring Matinee" in Midland will be a presentation of selected scenes from "Celebration," a new stage work by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmitt, creators of "The Fantasticks."

Tracy Cave, drama and speech instructor at Howard College, says that "Celebration" is exactly what its name implies. "It is a celebration of life, death and rebirth." The semi-allegorical work had a recent production on the Howard College campus.

Two-Man Exhibit Opening At Roswell

ROSSELL, N.M. — Prints and drawings by Philip Jay Cook and sculpture by F. B. Archuleta make up a new exhibition at the Roswell Museum and Art Center.

The two-man show will open with a reception today between 3:30 and 5 p.m. MDT, hosted by the Roswell Assistance League. The public is invited.

Cook, a native of Omaha, Neb., now lives and works at Cherry Valley Ranch near Oracle, Ariz. He holds a bachelor's degree from Colorado State University and a master of fine arts degree from the University of Arizona, where he studied under Lynn Schroeder and Andrew Rusch. He taught art for a number of years at various universities before devoting his full time to his own creative processes.

The 30 pieces of sculpture by Archuleta in the new exhibition were selected for their common aesthetic qualities, not their historical associations. A certain power of concentration and vitality of form characterize the unusual collection on display here. The works might easily be categorized as "primitive sculpture" or even perhaps "naive art," possessing as they do an essential original simplicity. Although each work is created in a natural material without the apparent artificiality of a highly complicated or refined technique, they are not without subtlety or a certain worldly presence, however.

The dual exhibition will remain through April 22, open to public view daily.

AAA Says More Gasoline Available

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Automobile Association says gasoline availability in Texas has stabilized with only 13 per cent of the state's service stations out of fuel.

The AAA's weekly survey Friday found a big improvement since last month at this time when 27 per cent of the stations were out of gasoline.

The association predicted that 16 per cent of Texas stations would be selling gasoline today although the percentage in major cities will be more like 8 to 10 per cent.

Gasoline prices around the state ranged from 39.4 to 55.9 cents per gallon for regular brand and from 43.4 to 58.9 for premium.

UTPB Improvements Okayed By Regents

ODESSA — Approval for approximately $100,000 in facility improvements at UTPB was unanimously approved by The University of Texas System board of regents meeting Friday in Austin.

The funds will be used to provide partitions for faculty offices in the Phase I buildings, to improve the South Campus complex and to provide outdoor furniture for the swimming pool.

Pickwick Players Prepare Kipling's 'Just So Stories'

Midland's Pickwick Players, the young people's performing company at Midland Community Theatre, is readying its annual spring production. This year's production, the "Just So Stories," is a musical version of Rudyard Kipling's famous stories for children. The stories have been adapted for the stage by playwright Aurand Harris.

Included in the production are three of the best-known of the Kipling stories, including "The Cat Who Walks Alone," "How the Camel Got His Hump," and "How the First Letter Was Written." Members of the cast include Hal Coon as the Djinn, Barbara Buckley as the Woman, Biff Taylor as the Man, Bryce Jensen as the Cat and Cindy Crow as Taffy. Others in the cast are Ange Dickson, Jennifer Muir, Kelly Hewitt, Clay Guthrie, Mark Brown, Paul Philby and Jody Youngblood.

Tom Mikotowicz, MCT assistant director, is staging and directing the production, assisted by members of the theater committee of the Junior League of Midland Inc. The production will have public presentations on April 12 and 13, followed by a series of performances for all fourth grade students in the Midland public schools. The student performances are co-sponsored by the Junior League and MCT.

The Theatre Centre box office will open April 5 for sale of tickets to the two public performances, it was announced Saturday.

FOR 'A SHOT IN THE DARK'— Guest Actress, Fine Cast Happy Mixture At MCT

Every community theater should be so lucky. Friday night's opening of "A Shot in the Dark" at Midland Community Theatre obviously had the right combination of ingredients to make it a gala occasion.

First, there was a talented and beautiful young "name" actress able to draw a capacity crowd and at the same time capable of being the catalyst for bringing out the best in her talented and very able co-cast members. And, there was a play both witty and urbane, sufficiently funny to keep the crowd laughing happily but not heavy enough to turn them off by taxing them emotionally or intellectually.

Undoubtedly this magic and happy combination also prevailed at the second performance last night — and will prevail at today's matinee and at all the other scheduled performances of "A Shot in the Dark" through March 30.

Farce And Thriller
Let us examine this phenomenon a bit.

"A Shot in the Dark" is a mixture of French bedroom farce and mystery thriller and, really, is a pretty frothy piece of theater when you get right down to it. I don't think you could call it a fast-paced comedy, because that would presume a certain amount of action — and this play has little of that. What it does have is dialogue, lots of dialogue. Were it not witty, subtle, even occasionally mildly wicked dialogue, the piece just might collapse under its own wordiness.

Not for a minute do I believe that any of several attractive local actresses couldn't have done just fine in the starring role. But then I don't believe that the piece would have ever been selected for production here if MCT hadn't needed a play with an extremely strong, single starring role with which to showcase the talents of its guest performer. Economies of the matter fully considered, what's the point in engaging a guest with a lustrous name if you choose a play that simply mixes her in with a lot of other star-level characters? No, the guest star just has to be "it."

'Inherit The Wind' Closes This Week
ODESSA — A matinee at 2:30 p.m. today will launch the third and final week of performances of "Inherit the Wind" at Permian Playhouse here.

Odessa's community theater opened the Lawrence and Lee dramatization of the famed Scopes "monkey trial" of 1925 on March 5. Final performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights this week.

Tickets for today's matinee, and the Friday and Saturday evening performances at 8:30, are on sale daily at the Playhouse box office, 310 W. 42nd St.

Martin shines forth so well. She is variously winsome, shallow, tender, pathetic, hard-bitten, candid, petulant, intelligent and open-hearted. And she is appealing in all phases of her characterization.

Accused of Murder
Josefa has been accused of the murder of her lover, the chauffeur in the same aristocratic Parisian household where she is a parlor-maid. The circumstances leading to the accusation are definitely what are known as "compromising" but she steadfastly maintains that she is innocent of the shooting. The play, directed by MCT's Art Cole, takes place in the office of the examining magistrate, Paul Sevigne (Allen Beatty), an ambitious young official who also possesses a good deal of idealism and a firm belief in the implacable impartiality of justice.

In the course of the interrogation the magistrate becomes convinced of Josefa's innocence and sets out to uncover the real murderer, even at the risk of ruining his career. During his investigation, some amazing truths come to light. In the end, Josefa is cleared and the idealistic young official, not totally immune to Josefa's considerable charms, sends her out into the world to mend her ways and begin a new life for herself. It is a fitting and appropriate ending to a rather remarkable little drama of character-and-situation.

Characterization Just Right
Personally, I found little to cavil about in Friday's opening performance. It seemed to me that Miss Martin's characterization of the free-spirited Josefa was just right, and her projection was nearly always good, although I must add that her use of her hands sometimes bothered me. Beatty, who has the other lengthy role in the play, does very well with his characterization and will, I think, do even better as the production continues. As previously noted, Charles Dixon's relatively brief performance as the banker with some incriminating secrets is finely, splendidly drawn. Gloria Stephenson's portrayal of his aristocratic wife, also with some rather disturbing secrets, is a good one, and Martha Kent's portrayal of the young magistrate's wife is well-done — particularly her typically wife-like stratagem of getting a look at the infamous Josefa. Nicely Gallic is Bill Seward's subtle portrayal of the law clerk, and Jim Walker is convincing as the bombastic chief magistrate LaBlanche, a sager to solve the case at hand with the least political uproar.

There will be no holdovers of "A Shot in the Dark" past the announced closing on March 30. A number of performances already are sold out, and Midland Community Theatre is urging patrons who have not yet made seat reservations to book them for weeknight performances which offer the choicest remaining seats.

Arts, Humanities Unit Hopes To Help Financially-Troubled Dallas Symphony

DALLAS — The Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities hopes to help the financially-troubled Dallas Symphony Orchestra, it was revealed Friday.

In a telegram to J. L. Vandagriff, president of the Dallas Symphony Association Arts and Humanities Commission executive director Maurice Coats stated: "The gravity of this recent most severe financial crisis is of major concern to the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities. Accordingly we are taking the following action:

Art Festival's Second Segment Now On Exhibit

The second segment of the annual Student Art Festival now is on exhibition at the Museum of the Southwest.

Art works by junior high and senior high students in the city went on view this weekend in the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery, 1706 W. Missouri St., replacing the exhibition of art by elementary students in public and private schools here. The elementary students' exhibit went up on March 2.

The current exhibition will continue on view through March 31. The Turner Gallery will be open to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. today, at no admission charge.

The Student Art Festival is sponsored annually by the museum, the Midland City Council of the PTA, the Midland Independent School District and the Junior League of Midland Inc.

Critical Choices Meet Set April 1

AUSTIN (AP) — The Commission on Critical Choices for Americans, headed by New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, will hold its second meeting April 1 at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus.

The meeting will consider two main subjects: the growing shortage of food throughout the world and the future of energy supplies.

Ex-officio members of the commission include Vice President Gerald Ford, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Treasury Secretary George Schultz, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

The commission is sponsored by The Third Century Corp., a New York nonprofit organization.

Stockings Gave Name

The Detroit Tigers baseball team took their name from the black and yellow striped stockings they once wore. The Cincinnati Reds were also known as the Red Stockings and Redlegs.

"We have arranged a meeting between the Dallas Symphony Association, members of the commission, and Gov. Briscoe to seek his assistance.

"We are calling a special session of the executive committee of the commission to determine what immediate action can be taken to assist the symphony.

"We are seeking emergency assistance from the National Endowment for the Arts, and

"We are scheduling a full commission meeting in Dallas in May and inviting the symphony board or its representatives to meet with the commission to review the situation at that time and determine what additional current and continuing assistance may be required."

Meet with Governor
A meeting with the Governor and symphony officials is tentatively scheduled in Dallas this week, according to Vandagriff, and the subject of state funds to support the arts is to be discussed.

Manville, Vandagriff has stated that the most positive step individual citizens who are interested in saving the orchestra can take at this time to show their support is to join the Dallas Symphony Association.

"We know, because we've had a great number of phone calls during the past few days... ever since we announced the suspension of our season; there are a lot of people who want to do something to help the symphony but either don't know exactly what to do, or feel their small contribution would not be of any significance," Vandagriff said late last week.

Need Show of Support
"But we need a show of support in many ways, and one of the most positive and helpful ways anyone can help at this time would be to join the Dallas Symphony Association. Membership in the Association costs only $10 a year, or $15 for a couple, and in return the association will furnish each person with a membership card, a newsletter about symphony activities, ticket priority for concerts, an invitation to vote at our annual meeting — including the election of officers — and one free concert presented just for members each year," Vandagriff continued. "Not only would this be a method of financially helping the symphony, but more, it would get the individual citizen involved in our activities. They could feel a real part of the symphony, and help with present problems and with its future."

Persons wishing to join the Dallas Symphony Association may do so by sending checks to the association, at P.O. Box 28707, Dallas 75228.

Ballet Week Continuing
"Civic Ballet Week" continues here until Monday.

There's still time to "put a feather in your hat" by purchasing tickets to the Permian Civic Ballet's annual Spring Gala scheduled here March 30 — and by contributing to the ballet company's maintenance fund and operating budget.

Members of the Midland Ballet Guild, joined by dancers of the Permian Civic Ballet, are conducting the ticket sales drive and fund campaign, with "Put A Feather In Your Hat" as theme of the emphasis.

Requests for tickets for the March 30 dance program and contributions to the fund drive may be sent to Permian Civic Ballet at P.O. Box 5261, Midland 79701.

Utah Artist Sets Midland Workshop
Final planning is under way for an art workshop to be conducted here next month by Robert Marshall.

The Utah artist is well-known in the city, having had exhibitions of his paintings at Museum of the Southwest, as well as at Gallery I here.

There will be two sections of the workshop, one having daytime classes and the other offering evening classes. Each section will be limited to 20 students, and enrollment will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Additional information on the April 22-26 workshop is available from the Museum of the Southwest, 683-2882.

Quarterly Lauds Globe Theatre
ODESSA — The Permian festival shared billing in the quarterly publication with such well-known, large-budget festivals as the Stratford, Ontario, Festival and the American Shakespeare Theatre festival at Stratford, Conn., as well as festivals in San Diego, Oregon, New Jersey, Colorado, Maine and elsewhere.

The 1974 Summer Shakespeare Festival at the Globe will begin in June and go through late August. Globe producer-director Charles D. McCally has scheduled new productions of the Bard's "Macbeth" and "Twelfth Night," along with Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," for the festival.

"The promising academic relationship recently worked out between the Globe and the new University of Texas of the Permian Basin, the quality of the Shakespearean actors being trained in its own Academy, and the high degree of sophistication in the 1973 summer productions of "The Comedy of Errors" and "The Tempest" all suggest that the Odessa Globe is to be taken very seriously indeed... If future seasons at the Globe of the Great Southwest match the 1973 achievement, the distance to Odessa from elsewhere in the country may come to seem unimportant."

The Globe's 1973 summer

Suit Seeks Houston Fire Chief's Removal
HOUSTON (AP) — A suit has been filed in state district court by the Houston Fire Protection Association asking that city Fire Chief W. O. Hunter be removed on grounds that he does not meet tenure qualifications for the post.

'Inherit The Wind' Closes This Week
ODESSA — A matinee at 2:30 p.m. today will launch the third and final week of performances of "Inherit the Wind" at Permian Playhouse here.

Odessa's community theater opened the Lawrence and Lee dramatization of the famed Scopes "monkey trial" of 1925 on March 5. Final performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights this week.

Tickets for today's matinee, and the Friday and Saturday evening performances at 8:30, are on sale daily at the Playhouse box office, 310 W. 42nd St.

A NEW VOLKSWAGEN ALWAYS SEEMS TO COME ALONG WHEN YOU NEED IT.

Volkswagen has thrown away the book again. The result is Dasher, an amazing new car that's going to take them years to imitate. Dasher is both economical (about 25 miles per gallon) and powerful (0-50 in 8.5 seconds). It holds five comfortably. It has front-wheel drive that gives you more control and traction than any conventional car you've ever driven. It's equipped with Skid-breaker, which prevents most skidding under adverse conditions. It's designed for low maintenance and easy repair. And it's covered by the VW Owner's Security Blanket. The new Volkswagen Dasher. Throw away your old ideas about what to expect from a car.

After we put them together, we really tear them apart.

As hard as the people in our assembly plant try to build the perfect car, the people at the end of the line try to find something imperfect about them. At this final step 15 special inspectors, armed with sophisticated testing machines, gauges and meters, can run a Saab sedan flat out. Standing still. They can check the traction of our front-wheel drive, test the precision of our rack and pinion steering, and judge the effectiveness of our power-assisted four wheel disc brakes. Here they can read the heartbeat of our fuel injected 2 liter engine. And they can check exhaust emissions, gas consumption, and engine efficiency before our car ever rolls out the door. At Saab, we tear our cars apart after we build them, to make sure they'll stay together after we sell them. The Saab 99LE and EMS. From $4698 to $5198.

Religious Revival

Several of the nation's professional churchmen, in analyzing trends of the last 20 years, say that American religious life has gone through four phases - a time of growth, a time of action, a time of turmoil, a time of disenchantment.

They point out that it now may be entering a new stage - a time of reflection, of examining and clarifying its basic convictions.

The views of the churchmen were presented in a "roundup" published in the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century.

Many readers, looking back over the last two decades, will be able to pinpoint the trends, some of which were not popular with rank and file church members, particularly in the South and Southwest.

Marty Martin, church historian of the University of Chicago, classifies clear-cut cycles in recent religious history in five-year spans, as follows:

- 1953-58, a period when church-going and membership soared.

- 1958-63, a period of energetic and hopeful religious social action.

- 1963-68, a period of ideological confrontation, of leftist and rightist tumult.

- 1968-73, a period of conservative backlash, of disillusionment with institutions and leaders.

Some of the incidents which occurred in the earlier cycles seem to have happened a long time ago now.

The time now "is ripe for a theological renaissance," said Dr. William Hordern, president of Lutheran Theological Seminary of Saskatoon, Canada.

The Rev. Charles P. Henderson Jr., a Noroton, Conn., Presbyterian minister, foresees "the beginning of a theological awakening in America." Recent blows to the image of national "goodness" and unlimited power, along with sagging confidence in authorities and institutions are seen as turning people to issues of basic beliefs.

"The crisis strikes to the heart," Mr. Henderson continued. "Americans will find themselves more and more involved in agonizing discussions of fundamental questions. What is the chief end and purpose of life? Is it simply random and pointless? Is it nothingness of God?"

In addition to the focus on theological questions, prospects also are seen for a greater stress on doctrinally centered preaching and on personal dimensions of faith.

The Rev. Clair Randall, the new general secretary of the National Council of Churches, said, "The churches may take a more personal and possibly pietistic tack."

It goes without saying that now is a time for a religious revival in America.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Nixon raids Justice Department for more legal aid.

WASHINGTON - The White House is raiding the Justice Department for more lawyers to bail President Nixon out of his Watergate troubles.

Although platoons of attorneys are already working on the President's problems with taxes, impeachment, the Senate Watergate committee and the special prosecutor, our sources say the White House has asked for "at least a dozen" lawyers from Justice.

These lawyers, of course, are being pulled off important cases at Justice to assist the President at the expense of the taxpayers.

Some top Justice officials are giving the White House names of prospects, but there is also an undercurrent of resistance to the presidential dragooning.

For example, Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen, whose criminal division handled the early Watergate investigation, privately has been hinting to aides that they would be wise to turn down the White House.

From bitter experience, Petersen knows that getting too close to President Nixon can mean political burns. At Nixon's request, he postponed acting on crucial Watergate information, and took a public roasting for it.

Petersen also is worried, say insiders, about possible conflicts of interest Justice lawyers themselves have confided to us that they are leery of taking the jobs at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue not just out of personal distaste, but because of ethical conflicts.

One young antitrust lawyer sent for a job interview with Nixon attorney James St. Clair had worked on the milk fund case while at Justice.

Other lawyers fear they will be doing "clerk and jerk" jobs at the White House, reviewing other lawyers' work and "jerk-ing" files and books from law libraries.

The White House's difficulty in wooing young Justice lawyers was obviously conceded by St. Clair in a telephone interview with my associate Bob Owens.

St. Clair said he is "in the process" of hiring two or three attorneys from Justice. But the talent search has been going on for weeks, ample time to snare more than two or three attorneys if career lawyers were volunteering.

When Owens asked St. Clair who was going to pay the Justice attorneys, the shrewd Bostonian dodged. "I work at a disadvantage because I don't understand the bureaucracy," he said. The payroll, he added, was being left to "smarter people."

At Justice, a spokesman said when the loaned lawyers leave the department, they also will go off the department payroll. This would put them into the White House budget.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Japan: The Setback Was Temporary, Writer Finds

WASHINGTON (NEA) - By the time my economic travels in Japan are concluded, I may have a different verdict. But my opening view is that, notwithstanding oil shortages, higher fuel and other costs, heavy inflation and a host of added difficulties, the resilient Japanese are recovering much of their old optimism.

Japanese officials are talking of reaching a per capita income of $4,000, a level which would about equal that enjoyed by the United States in 1971.

They express this as a "six-year lag." In 1970, Japan's per capita income was $1,887, roughly half that of ours.

This is not the foolish pipe-dreaming of men who cannot accept the new reality of harder times, which suggest that the country's "economic miracle" - the long, astonishing years of growth ranging annually from 10 to 12 per cent - is over.

Growth rates indeed will be sharply down for a time, especially in troubled 1974. But there seems more than an even chance they will rebound to higher levels, through perhaps never again to the old miracle pace.

At a recent Stanford University business conference, James C. Abegglen, vice president of the Boston Consulting Group, which has done unique respected research into Japan's economic development, said that within a very few years Japan could well enjoy the world's highest standard of living.

A key point in Abegglen's argument is that for years Japan has been investing some 38 per cent of its annual Gross National Product in further economic expansion and "there's no sign of a slowdown."

He questions the popular impression that Japan is "singularly vulnerable" to the oil shortage, contending that the country's developing (but not yet concluded) direct dealings with oil-producing nations will tend to minimize its energy problems.

The Japanese authorities would agree with Abegglen that an exceptionally high rate of capital formation and investment is crucial to what Japan already has accomplished and may go on achieving in future years despite a changing world economic picture muddled by troubles.

In 1970, for instance, Japan's capital formation was at a rate of 34 per cent, against 21 per cent in bustling and successful West Germany and a mere 10 per cent in the United States.

It is by now a well-told story, but important to repeat in this context: At the root of this high capital formation is Japan's now traditionally high rate of personal savings - roughly 20 per cent throughout the 1960s, as against 12 per cent in West Germany and seven per cent in this country.

What is termed the windfall income of Japanese workers' semi-annual bonuses (virtually unheard of in most American industries) encourages this high savings rate, as does the relatively low rate of Japanese taxation.

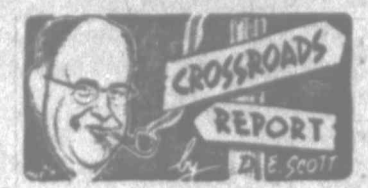

Present tight money policy in Japan, aimed at curbing domestic inflation (16 per cent in 1973) by suppressing consumer demand, could result in new savings pileups which could foster further expansion despite the drag of many problems.

The biggest of those already mentioned is, of course, inflation, which the government and business leaders hope to "hold" to a 10 to 12 per cent increase in 1974. America's was just under 10 per cent in 1973, and could be as bad or worse, if they hold the risk.

Now, what would you do if you were South? You would do just what this South did. You would lead a spade from dummy and finesse your ten. West would collect a surprise trick with his jack and East's three aces would complete your downfall.

What would have happened if Giorgio had played his ace? South would probably have laid his queen of trumps down; dropped the jack and made his contract.

Harder for Japan to take is the strong probability that 1974 pressures, which could limit growth in GNP this year to a maximum of three per cent, seem to doom for a while the

Dear Editor: I see where some otherwise moderately wise people are still harping on the subject of outlawing hand guns.

They argue that a national anti-gun law would stop people from killing each other, although our anti-killing laws haven't done so.

It is true that numerous people are killed with guns, but many are killed also by cars and over-eating. Maybe we should also outlaw autos, ham and eggs and pie.

DAVID POLING, D.D. Word From China's Underground Church

NEW YORK (NEA) - A new study on the contemporary picture in China has been released by the Lutheran World Federation Broadcast Service and reported in the newsletter "China Briefing." This Lutheran group interviewed some 16 former residents of the mainland in order to grasp a better understanding of its China audience - and the effect of its extensive programming.

Some of these people left China legally, a few swimming across Mirs Bay, a tricky outing indeed. Of the 16, 14 were male, all were under age 35. Religious preference was Buddhist, Christian, ancestor-worship or none. (Sounds like the rest of the world.)

Getting down to cases, this comment on religion after President Nixon's visit of 1973: "Things eased up a bit. Joss-sticks (incense) went on sale again. Some temples have reopened. People could once again practice their religious activities openly. I am informed that two Taoist monks have been released from laboring and have been permitted to serve in their temple again."

It also was reported by former Chinese residents that churches are open in Peking (but not for regular services) but this has not happened in Canton, Wuhan, Changsha and Swatow. Peking seems to be the exception, a courtesy to embassy staff and foreign visitors.

All the China watchers are quick to state that their material and information is most fragmentary and infrequent. Yet they are able to put pieces together that give us a fleeting glimpse of the underground Church scattered across the land mass of China.

Said one escapee: "For other Christian families, I think only those who had a strong faith in the Lord practiced family worship. Many believers no longer practice this because they are either tired from hard work or they are afraid of being discovered."

As China reaches for further participation in the parliament of nations, let us hope religious expression will gain as much as medicine and ping-pong.

Religious Music Program Subject At Club Meeting

Two hymns from the "Sacred Harp Book," a collection of hymns used extensively in the South, were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Poer and Mr. and Mrs. Stone. The book was brought to Texas from Alabama by Mrs. Williams' father in 1890.
