Five Killed In SLA Shootout

STONEHENGE WEST — These structural supports for the huge science and faculty office building under construction on the new Midland College campus appear to create a modern-day version of Stonehenge, that ancient and mysterious assemblage of upright stones in England.

Hearst Heiress Definitely Not Among Victims

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was not among the five victims of a shootout between Symbionese Liberation Army members and police, the coroner said Saturday. But Donald D. DeFreeze, self-styled field marshal of the terrorist group, was identified as one of the dead.

A spokesman for the Hearsts said at their home in Hillsborough, Calif., that the family was "certainly relieved" to hear the news but was still "extremely apprehensive about the whereabouts" of their 20-year-old daughter, who was kidnaped by the SLA Feb. 4.

One Body Still Unidentified

Los Angeles Coroner Thomas Noguchi said four of the five victims had been identified as suspected members of the SLA. He said the fifth victim, a woman, had not been identified but definitely was not Miss Hearst.

"Extensive comparative studies have excluded Miss Patricia Hearst as the one white female victim who remains unidentified," he said.

He said that, in addition to DeFreeze, other victims were Nancy Ling Perry, Patricia "Mizmoon" Soltysik and William Wolfe.

Police said an identification card belonging to Miss Hearst had been found in the burned-out remains of the house but said they didn't believe that she had ever been in the house.

The house caught fire in the course of the shootout Friday night, collapsing in flames. The bodies were so badly charred that the process of identifying the victims was delayed.

DeFreeze, a 30-year-old black also known as "General Field Marshal Cinque," was the recognized leader-spokesman of the terrorist group. He has been described by law enforcement officials as a lonely outcast who was obsessed with guns and had been in and out of prison since his first arrest at the age of 14.

Theoretician Of Group

Mrs. Perry, 26, white, was a former Barry Goldwater-for-President campaign worker turned English literature major at Berkeley, topless blackjack dealer and, finally, revolutionary. She was considered the theoretician of the SLA and was believed to have written many of its manifestos.

Miss Soltysik, 29, was believed to be a co-leader of the group. Wolfe, 23, the son of a Pennsylvania anesthesiologist, became a political activist while studying at Berkeley. Both were white.

Authorities have said that the SLA was a multiracial group of about 25 hard-core militant men and women. The death of DeFreeze, Mrs. Perry and the others cuts deeply into their membership and top ranks.

Triggered By Shoplifting

Ironically, their deaths were not triggered by overt rebellion against the government which they said they wanted to overthrow by armed revolution but by a simple case of common thievery — the shoplifting of a pair of 49-cent socks.

The petty theft at a sporting goods store in nearby Inglewood Thursday touched off one of California's largest-ever manhunts, ending 24 hours later with policemen and FBI agents laying siege to a yellow stucco house in south Los Angeles.

Asked whether the Friday night shootout that led to the deaths of the five would put the SLA out of operation, a police spokesman replied, "I hope."

Declines Speculation

The spokesman declined to speculate whether Miss Hearst, who had renounced her family and pledged allegiance to the SLA, could be with other suspected SLA members still at large.

William Taylor Harris, 29; his wife, Emily, 27, and an unidentified woman had been sought after the incident at the sporting goods store Thursday.

The coroner said that when he called the Hearst family to tell them the news that their daughter had been killed, they were not among the five persons killed in a shootout between officers and members of the Symbionese Liberation Army. (AP Wirephoto.)

Failure Can Become Success

I once knew a remarkable man who taught me a lot. His name was Dr. Albert L. Cliffe, a food chemist in Montreal. But he was also a scientist in other matters like running a business, for example. Like turning failure into success, as another example.

Al Cliffe had a unique way of thinking about human problems. And he was a genius at helping people find answers to different situations.

One day in downtown Montreal he stopped in a haberdashery shop run by friends of his named Bill and Mary. In the empty shop he found both of them sitting disconsolately, chins sunk in their hands, the picture of despair. "What's the matter with you?" he asked. "You act as though you'd lost your last friend."

"Oh," they told him, "things are so bad that unless there's a turn for the better, we're going to lose our business. We just don't seem to get enough new customers and the few who do come in don't buy anything, and besides, we have trouble collecting from our charge accounts."

Just then a customer walked in and looked in various showcases. Bill and Mary continued to maintain a dejected attitude, giving him no friendly interest. They made no effort to welcome him nor did they try to sell. Finally the customer became self-conscious in the gloomy atmosphere and walked out. "There goes another guy who bought nothing," Bill said. "So you see why we're so down."

"I'm surprised he stayed as long as he did!" Al Cliffe exploded. "You actually made it hard for him to buy."

"But we've got to raise $600 this month from customers who owe us," Mary complained. "Otherwise we can't pay our own bills. Why won't people pay their accounts? Look at this pile of bills we're sending out. But little good it will do us. We'll never get out of the red."

So they moaned.

Al Cliffe looked at the statements stamped and ready to be mailed.

"Bill, you place your hand on these letters. Now, Mary, put your hand on Bill's. And I'll rest my hand on top. Now let's say a prayer for these people who owe you money. And let's try loving them too. If a person doesn't pay his bills, it shows that something is wrong with him, some disorganization. He needs help with his problems."

Well, those bills went out along with prayers and loving thoughts. Sounds fantastic, doesn't it, and stupidly impractical. But what happened? Only this: Before the month was over, Bill and Mary had received eighty-five per cent of the outstanding accounts on their books, funds they needed so desperately. They began to know their customers as people. Many became good friends.

"Love is the key law of all laws," wrote Al Cliffe. "We must love God, and we must love our fellow-man." How right he is. That is the practical and workable formula of successful living.

Kissinger Reports Disengagement Gains

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger scored an apparent breakthrough Saturday in his bid to separate Israeli and Syrian armies by getting an American proposal tentatively accepted by both sides.

The turnaround from an impending impasse developed at a 3½-hour meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus. Kissinger then flew to Jerusalem to report to the Israeli negotiating team.

Following a two-hour session, Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres said: "We have already accepted the American proposals, and so have the Syrians."

He said the Israeli government expected that "in two or three days" an agreement separating the opposing forces in the Golan Heights "will be decided finally."

Informed Israeli sources said the main thrust of the latest developments was the introduction of an American proposal that was more acceptable to Syria than a plan offered by its enemy, Israel.

The sources said the American proposal differed little from the Israeli plan but involved handing back "a few more villages and a bit more territory."

They said Israel apparently now was willing to give Syria civil administration for the whole of Quneitra, the war-ravaged provincial capital in the Golan Heights, instead of only the eastern third of the town.

All the relinquished territory would be part of a United Nations buffer zone, the informants said.

These officials confirmed, meanwhile, that President Nixon sent Kissinger a message last Wednesday instructing him to remain in the region until he could arrange a disengagement.

Kissinger will remain in Israel until tonight or early Monday, when he will return again to Damascus. Once the disengagement line is settled, U.S. officials expect that by the end of the weekend—the other pieces should fall into place in some three days.

Combs Convicted Again, Sentenced To 15 Years

By TOM MORAN

A 142nd District Court jury Friday took five hours and 25 minutes to convict Stephen Max Combs of murder with malice for the July 16, 1970, stabbing death of Vickie Berneathy.

The nine-man, five-woman jury Friday night assessed his punishment at 15 years in prison.

The trial was Combs' second for the murder. In June 1972 he was convicted and received a 25-year sentence. In July 1973, Dist. Judge Perry Pickett ordered a new trial.

Thunderstorms Rumble Across All West Texas

Massive thunderstorms rumbled over Southwest Texas late Saturday and unleashed egg-size hail in the Big Bend area.

Severe thunderstorm warnings were posted near dusk in Jeff Davis and Brewster counties, including the Big Bend National Park.

Late in the evening scattered thunderstorms and light rains stretched from near Fort Davis to the southern tip of the Big Bend park.

Skies elsewhere over the state were mostly clear with warm temperatures. The Associated Press reported.

Moderately heavy rains drenched Midland early Saturday, but most weather activity was concentrated late Friday in the Pecos-Monahans-Kermit area.

A tornado reportedly touched down shortly after 6 p.m. Friday at Barstow, west of Monahans in Ward County. Slight damage was reported in the tiny community, although all communications with the outside (See WEATHER Page 10A)

District 2-A1 Lions Select Midland For 1975 Convention

BIG SPRING — Midland was selected as the site of the 1975 convention of District 2-A1 Lions International, at its annual meeting here Saturday.

The invitation was extended on behalf of Midland's nine Lions clubs — Downtown, Southside, Westside, Terminal, Eastside, Morning, Evening, Tall City and Greenwood.

Jim Lemons of Big Spring was elected district governor for 1974-75. He will succeed Tom Nipp of Midland in the office. Lemons presently is serving as deputy district governor.

C. E. McCain of the Midland Southside Lions Club was elected to a two-year term as a director of the Texas Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville.

Lorelei Beck, representing the Sundown Lions Club of San Angelo, was the winner of the district Queen Contest held Friday night. She was crowned Queen of District 2-A1 by Linda Long of Midland, the 1973-74 queen.

Runners-up in the contest were Nancy Dianne Morgan, San Angelo Downtown Lions Club, and Laurie Proctor, Big Spring Downtown Lions Club.

Miss Beck will represent the district in the state contest scheduled June 1-2 at Waco.

The Midland Lions clubs were the official hosts at a model luncheon held Saturday, with 309 persons attending. The famed International Convention "Big Name" Band of the Midland See LIONS Page 10A

NEWEST MEMBER OF 'CLUB'— India Sets Off Nuclear Blast

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India set off its first nuclear explosion in an underground test early Saturday, the official Indian radio said. The blast brought the world's largest democracy into the so-called nuclear club up to now reserved for major military powers.

Both Indian national news agencies said the explosion was conducted in the Rajasthan area west of New Delhi, site of the Great Indian Desert.

The Indian Atomic Energy Commission said the bomb was designed for such peaceful purposes as mining and earth-moving, and that India has no intention of producing nuclear weapons. But the test indicated India may be able to build such weapons in the future if it chooses to do so.

In Switzerland, Pakistan's chief delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference said the Indian nuclear test will have far-reaching consequences for the entire situation on the subcontinent, where India and Pakistan have fought three wars in the last quarter century.

Ambassador Niaz A. Naim said the test meant a qualitative change in the political and military situation and contested the Indian claim that it was exclusively designed to serve peaceful purposes.

"We have always maintained there is no difference between tests for peaceful purposes and those for military purposes," Naim said. "The technology is the same. We have kept warning the international community against the dangers of this backyard entry into the nuclear club."

There was no immediate reaction from Washington, D.C. In Russia, India's ally, the official Soviet news agency Tass said the test was a peaceful explosion. It said the test stemmed from India's "striving to keep at the level of world technology in the peaceful uses of nuclear explosions."

But in Tokyo, Japan's two major antinuclear organizations charged the test was "a step leading to further nuclear arms race and another environmental degradation."

The Socialist-backed Japan Congress Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs and the Communist-supported Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs made almost identical statements on India's first nuclear explosion.

"The Indian experiment undoubtedly will stimulate other nations to race for further nuclear weapons developments," the Congress said. "Especially it will give an ideal excuse to China and France."

The only nations now known to have nuclear weapons are the United States, Russia, China, Britain and France.

The Indian announcement said the test was conducted at a depth of about 328 feet. The size of the bomb was not given. Experts had long suspected that India was on the verge of a nuclear bomb capacity. The consultative committee of the Indian Parliament charged with atomic energy matters was advised last year that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government was conducting experiments in the field.

But today's announcement was the first public indication that India had the ability to build and explode a bomb. Mrs. Gandhi's government has strongly criticized atmospheric nuclear tests, particularly those conducted by China since it joined the nuclear powers in 1964. But India, like France, has refused to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty of July 1, 1968.

USDA Consolidation Plan Proceeding

WASHINGTON (AP) — A state level, he told a reporter. As a result, Wright said, state administrative committees have been asked to submit consolidation plans for counties that already have been agreed upon, meaning that "the more difficult cases" will be worked out later.

The plan was announced Nov. 21 and drew immediate protests from many members of Congress and local officials that it would result in USDA offices being closed in many counties. Although department officials concede some counties will not have full service centers representing all agencies, they say the plan will not mean widespread abandonment of existing offices.

Joseph R. Wright Jr., assistant secretary of agriculture for administration, said "rumors that the consolidation plan had been abandoned were not true. But there have been problems about a surgery interplay at the consolidation plans approved at the state level, he told a reporter. As a result, Wright said, state administrative committees have been asked to submit consolidation plans for counties that already have been agreed upon, meaning that "the more difficult cases" will be worked out later.

Consolidation of county field offices in the USDA network has been going on for many years. But the service center concept announced last fall served notice that consolidation would be undertaken on a broad scale, with no county immune to the possibility of having some of its facilities combined with those in others.

Wright said no new service center has yet begun operation as result of the new plan, but he estimated that about 100 would be functioning by June 30 and that by the end of this year about 500 would be in operation. The plan involves these USDA agencies: The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the Farmers Home Administration and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

As announced, the four agencies have upward of 34,000 fulltime employees. In all, USDA has about 80,000 employees, with 80 per cent of them working in approximately 15,000 field offices.

IN DOWNTOWN DUBLIN— Bombings Toll Hits 23

By ED BLANCHE
DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — "There were limbs, pieces of clothing and bodies everywhere," sobbed an eyewitness after three powerful car bombs ripped through the heart of Dublin.

According to the latest police count, 23 men, women and children were killed and 150 wounded in the rush hour bombings Friday night, the worst bombing incident in almost five years of the sectarian war that has hit the Irish Republic as well as Northern Ireland.

Five more persons died in a bomb blast in the border town of Monaghan and at least 20 were injured.

"There were bodies and blood everywhere," said American attorney Francis P. McQuade of Maplewood, N.J., who arrived in Dublin only half an hour before the blasts. "A little girl who had been looking in a store window when the bomb went off was blown right through it."

More Bombs On Way
Police warned that more bombs may be on the way. Police sources suspected the bombers were Protestant fanatics from the north. The bombs were planted in cars hijacked earlier in the day from a Protestant stronghold in Belfast, the Northern Ireland capital.

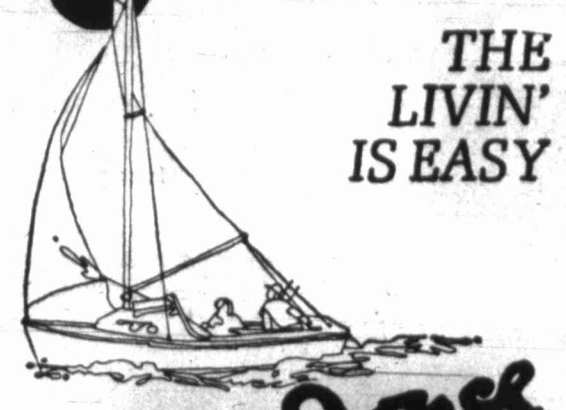

The Ulster Defense Association, a militant Protestant group, and the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army denied any involvement with the bombings. A man, calling himself "Capt. Craig of the Red Hand Brigade," telephoned a Dublin newspaper late Friday to warn that more bombs will be planted in the city in the next few days.

The "Red Hand of Ulster" is a traditional Protestant symbol. The caller said the bombings will continue "until something is done about Sunningdale" — the pact signed last December by Britain, the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland.

The agreement, providing for a Council of Ireland with representatives from the north and south, is viewed by many northern Protestants as a sell-out that will end in a unification of Ulster with the Catholic republic.

Irish Prime Minister Liam Cosgrave, his voice shaking with emotion, told a stunned nation in a radio and television broadcast that the slaughter "was Ireland's moment of greatest tragedy."

Folk Festival To Be Added To Fink Week

FINK, Tex. (AP) — A Fink Folk Festival will be added to the annual National Fink Week here starting June 17.

Patricia Albright, mayor of the tiny Grayson County town near Lake Texoma, said the Fink Folk Festival will feature everything from an old-fashioned quilting bee to exhibits of buttons and barbed wire.

Most of the action of Fink Week will take place on Thursday, June 20, the official National Fink Day as declared by Mrs. Albright. Anyone can attend, but the special guests are named Fink, Fincks, Finkes, Finques, Funks or Phinques.

Thursday will be highlighted by "our usual free barbecue blast," said Mrs. Albright.

"If the crowd gets much bigger than last year," said Willard Albright, the mayor's husband, "I may have to go steal a cow to feed all the folks."

Fink poet laureate Oscar L. Fink, 87, reportedly has been ill in recent weeks, but his wife says he has still been polishing up his verbiage for his annual Fink poem.

Oscar's getting pretty deaf," said Mrs. Fink, "but that won't keep him away from Fink on National Fink Day. He's been busy making Fink fiddles, Fink wagons and Fink walking canes."

Mayor Albright said, "Fink Week has almost doubled over a really is growing. We have two years ago and should be a baker's dozen now."

Despite High Interest Rates, Record Borrowing Continuing

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite interest rates so high they haven't been exceeded in this century, corporations seem undeterred in their plans to borrow record amounts of money.

The confrontation of tall spending plans and a short money supply is being blamed for:

- Raising business costs, at least temporarily, which then are passed on as higher prices.
- Drawing funds from the savings or thrift institutions, which reduces the amount of money available for mortgage loans.
- Threatening the economy with a money crunch that could bring some corporations to the brink of disaster and badly impact the expected upturn in the second half of the year.

The latest survey by economists at McGraw-Hill, Inc., indicates that industry intends to spend 19 per cent more than a year ago on improvements to plant and equipment. That would mean a record increase of $19.4 billion to $119.1 billion.

Explained one corporate treasurer, "Any business that has to borrow is convinced it must do so without regard to cost. When you borrow later on, inevitably the dollar is worth less than you have to borrow more for the same results."

Donald Miller, executive vice president of Continental Illinois National Bank, offered this explanation, "Businessmen feel inflation isn't licked. They don't see a recession; orders are good." And so they borrow to expand.

"We're having a veritable explosion of business loans," commented Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, which has been restraining the money supply in an effort to discourage borrowing. In his view, it must be slowed.

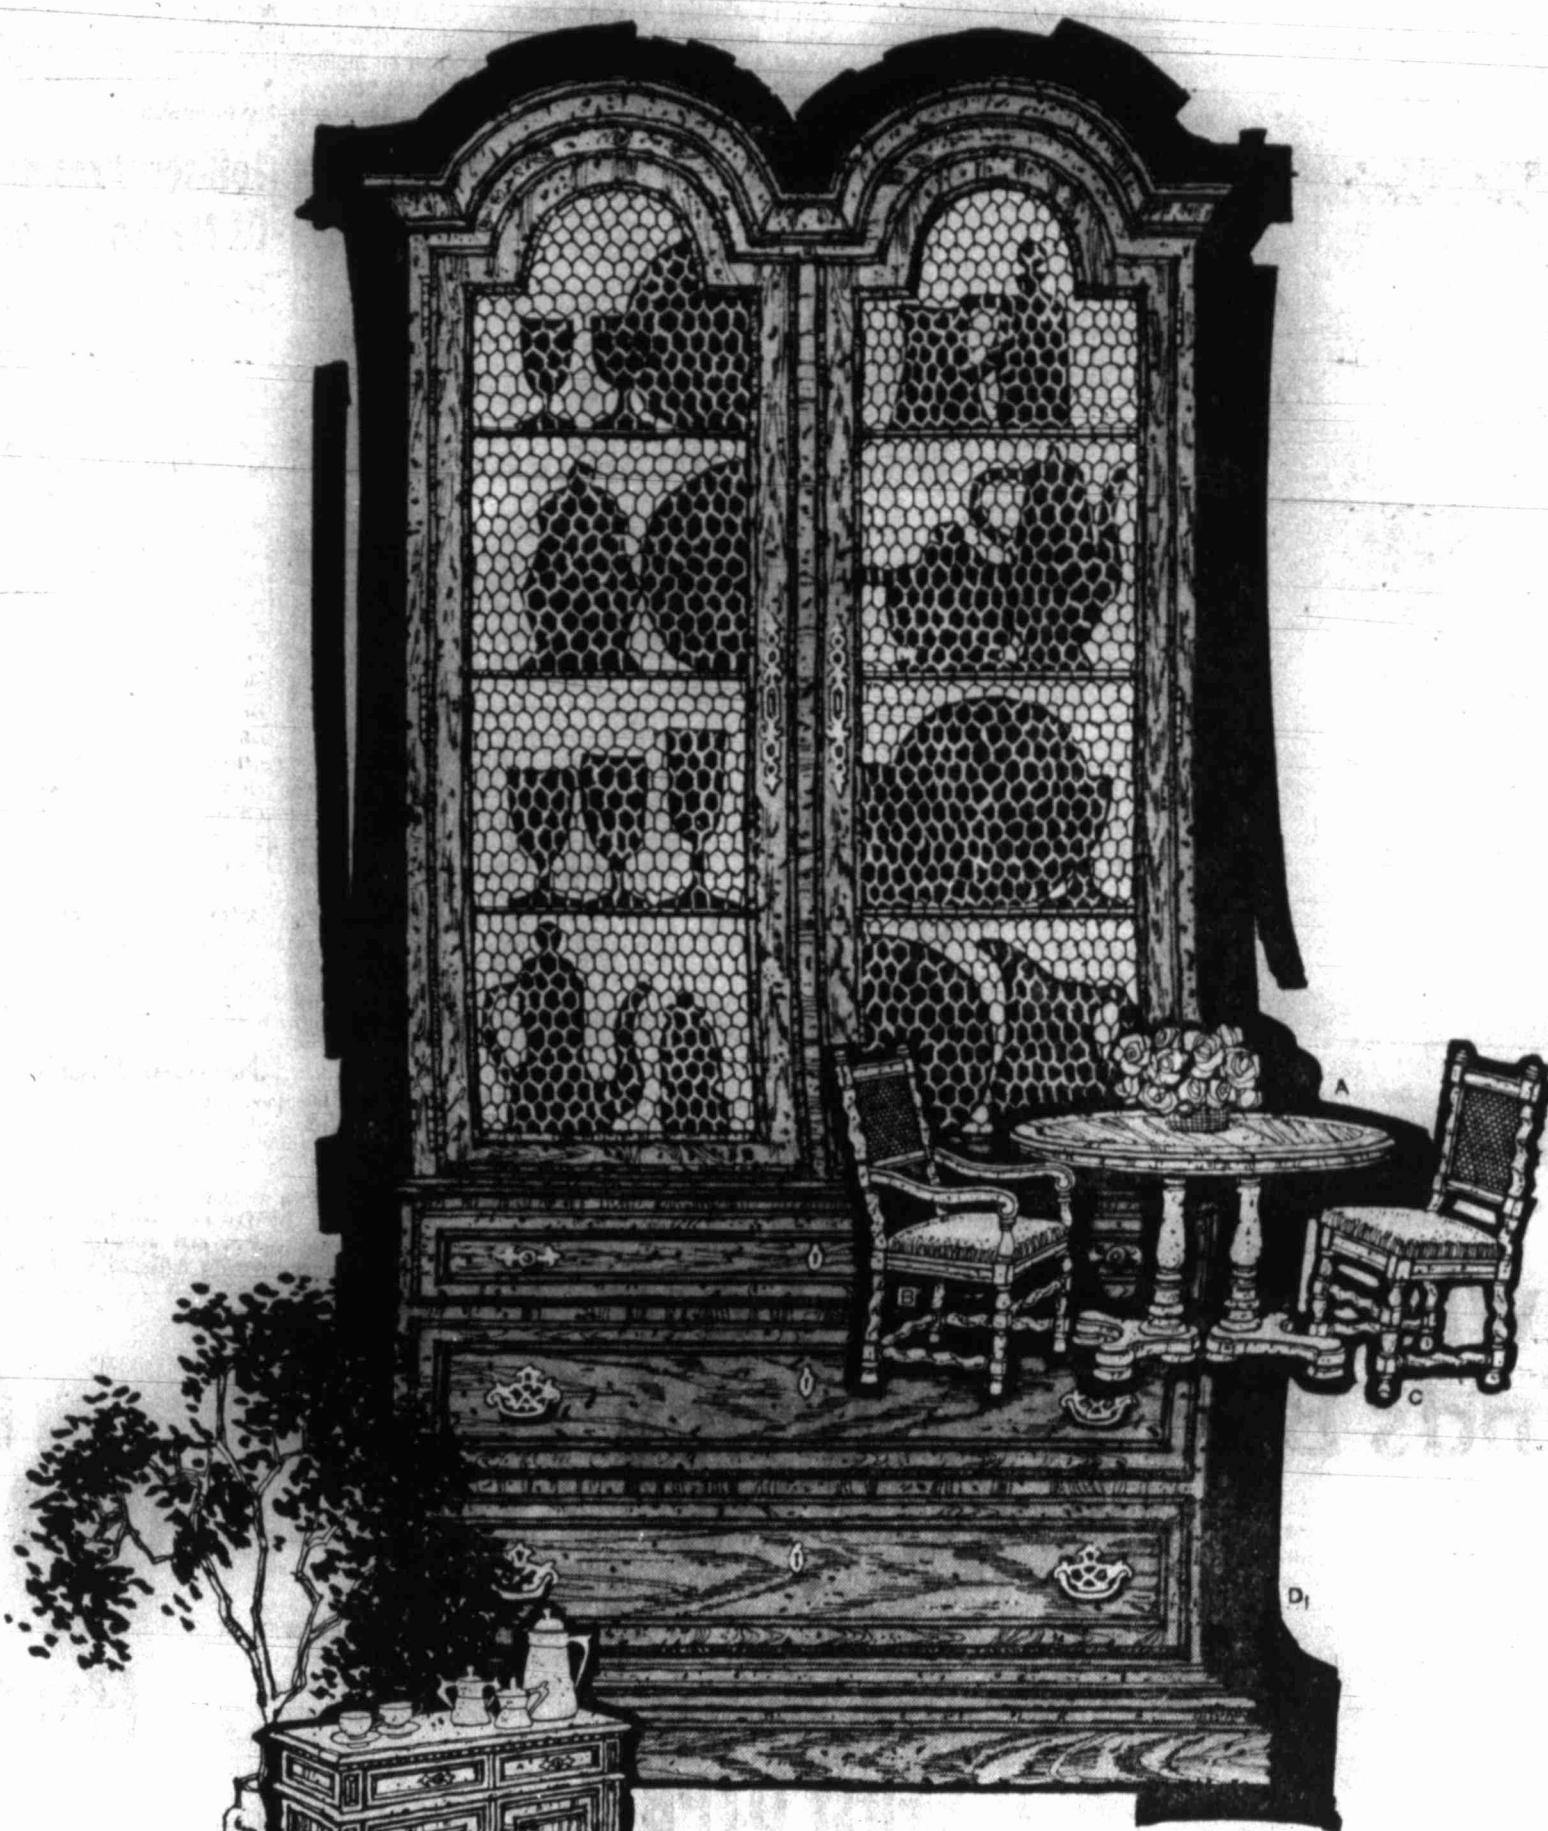

Speaking at a news conference in late April, Burns said: "We aren't going to sit back and prepare a monetary path to continuation of rapid inflation. On the contrary, we hope to do our part in subduing it. Let there be no mistaking our determination in doing this."

While industry seemingly does mistake that determination, Burns and the Federal Reserve have done little to suggest any change of mind. As they see it, the remarkably high rate of business spending is forcing the economy beyond its ability. It is inflationary; it must be restrained by making spending more difficult.

As business plans for expansion and the Fed's restraint plans appear more and more to be like two express trains racing toward each other, some bankers, economists and businessmen are becoming uneasy. They see a crunch ahead.

Ford Doubts House Would Vote Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he thinks there is an even chance the House Judiciary Committee will vote to impeach President Nixon. But Ford says he does not think an impeachment resolution would pass the House.

"I suspect the odds are 50-50 on the committee," Ford said in an interview with The Associated Press. "I don't think the odds are 50-50 in the House."

"I think, at the moment, the President could probably win in the House, a 4 to 3 ratio, something like that."

If the impeachment move is defeated, Ford said, it then would take successes in foreign and domestic policy for the President to recover the public support he has lost during the past year.

"I think if the President and Henry Kissinger are successful in the Middle East ... and I think the prospects are fairly encouraging, I think that would be most helpful ...

"If the economy stays strong, if unemployment doesn't go up, if people are feeling happier about their economic prospects, I think that would help, but not as dramatically as something involving peace," Ford said.

The following are excerpts from the interview:

Q. In view of what you've said about an impeachable offense coming down to what the majority of the House determines, how do you assess the likelihood the House Judiciary Committee will approve an impeachment resolution and what the House then will do?

A. I suspect the odds are 50-50 on the committee. I don't think the odds are 50-50 in the House. I think, at the moment, the President could probably win in the House, a 4 to 3 ratio, something like that.

Q. Even in view of the statements by House Republican leaders John Rhodes of Arizona and John Anderson of Illinois suggesting the President consider resignation?

A. Those are not statements on how they're going to vote. Those are statements on resignation. I don't think you could use one to prove the other.

Q. How would you evaluate those statements? Are they trying to warn the President that he is in trouble in Congress?

A. I think that you can only get an evaluation from them. Each may have a different reason for asking for resignation. I think that Congressman Charles Mosher (R-Ohio) had one of the best statements on that ... He opposes the use of the 25th Amendment, which I strongly oppose. He opposes the President voluntarily resigning, which I do. He says he opposes the President's resignation to make things easier for Republican candidates. I don't know what impact his resignation would have on the party, so I wouldn't pass judgment on that. He agrees, as I do, that there ought to be the judicial process carried through to the conclusion ... The point I'm trying to make is everybody has their own reason for suggesting resignation, so I don't think you can generalize.

Q. What role are you playing now? Your background is in the House, you know the House members, are you playing a mediator's role?

A. My role is to speak my piece at numerous press conferences, which I do. And, if the opportunity presents itself ... to point out why I think resignation is the wrong approach, why I think the constitutional process ought to continue, and I strongly urge that members at this stage not say whether they're for or against. After all, they're in effect jurors and until they've had all the evidence, it's premature now for members either to suggest resignation or indicate how they're going to vote.

Q. Are you trying to influence votes in direct contact with members of Congress?

A. Well, I don't hesitate to express my own view. Whether that has an impact or not, you'd have to ask them. They know my views and if they ask me, I speak out very strongly, which is simply that ... the evidence I've seen, and I don't think there'll be much more, the weight of the evidence overwhelmingly indicates to me the President neither knew of the Watergate break-in, I don't think anyone alleges he knew that, and ... he had no knowledge of the cover-up until (then White House counsel John) Dean told him March 21. Now, you can take certain excerpts, you can take certain sentences and I guess a skillful lawyer could build a case. But if you take all of the evidence, in my judgment, the overwhelming weight of the evidence is in favor of the President.

Q. Have you also done any lobbying with the President and within the White House for release of additional information?

A. I have persistently urged release of the tapes earlier and as completely as possible. And I strongly believed in Operation Candor. There's a disagreement on whether that helped or not. I think the broader the cooperation, the better it is for the President ...

Q. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said recently that he believed if the President were impeached, he would resign rather than undergo a Senate impeachment trial.

A. I know of no evidence ... that the President would resign under any circumstances.

Q. If the President survives the impeachment crisis, do you think he can recover public support and govern effectively?

A. I think it depends upon a number of domestic and foreign policy issues. I think if the President and Henry Kissinger are successful in the Middle East, which I certainly hope, and I think the prospects are fairly encouraging, I think that would be most helpful ... The public ... their views move back and forth very quickly and there still is no better issue for any President than peace, particularly if they have the impression that he is the principal architect of it. So, if any major development in this area takes place, I think that would substantially help the President vis a vis public opinion.

In anything involving domestic problems, I concede those are going to be less dramatic because you don't turn a spigot and end inflation. That's probably a difficulty we're going to have with us for some time. If the economy stays strong, if unemployment doesn't go up, if people are feeling happier about their economic prospects, I think that would help, but not as dramatically as something involving peace ...

Tollison President Of Martin County Industrial Group

STANTON — Don Tollison, manager of Texas Electric Service Co. here, is the new president of the Martin County Industrial Foundation.

Tollison succeeds Paige Eiland in the post.

Other new officers are Ed Lawson, vice president; Bob Devenport, treasurer, and Jimmy Stallings, secretary.

Directors appointed to two-year terms are Eiland, Cecil Bridges, Chuck Elmore and Lawson. Three-year directors are Terry Neill, Jimmy Mathis, Herb Sorley and Bill Coggin. Charles Blocker will fill an unexpired term.

An advisory board includes Carrol Yater, Bud Jones, Glenn Brown, Russell McMeans, Jimmy Wheeler, Bruce Key, Terry Franklin, R. C. Vest, B. F. White and F. O. Rhodes. Rhodes is the chairman.

Georgia Scientist Becomes Prophet Of Doom About Nuclear Power Plants

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A University of Georgia scientist who helped develop the first atomic bomb says too much emphasis is being put on nuclear power as the best energy source for the future.

Dr. George E. Boyd, who recently left the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee, stressed the need for environmental impact studies on all alternative energy sources.

"We shouldn't go all out for one energy source without exploring consequences," he said. "The most important thing that all of us can do is conserve energy sources we already have."

Boyd said the heavy use of atomic fuel could have serious environmental consequences.

"Many people don't realize that the accidental 'meltdown' or malfunction of a large breeder reactor would mean writing off 1,000 square miles of territory surrounding such a power plant," he said.

"Lethal doses of radioactive plutonium would make the area unusable for 250,000 years or more. You might as well build a fence around the land and forget it," he said.

"A single accident, a single large radioactive leak into the water supply, would contaminate the countryside and make it unfit for agriculture," he said. "And the smallest windblown particles of plutonium, if inhaled, could induce cancer."

Breeder reactors produce nuclear fuel by converting uranium into plutonium and at the same time operate to produce electric power by vaporizing water, the scientist said.

Unlike conventional atomic power plants, they produce more nuclear fuel than they consume, which is why they are called "breeder" reactors.

The first large breeder reactor in the United States is now being planned for construction by the Tennessee Valley Authority and a consortium of private electric companies near Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Boyd said he believed atomic energy would have to play some role in the country's overall energy policy, but he said the government has provided easy answers to hard questions raised by environmentalists. He suggested more emphasis on developing coal resources.

"We ought to work much harder to remove the sulphur and make coal a cleaner, less polluting fuel," he said.

He also recommended a much larger research and development campaign on the possibility of harnessing solar energy.

Boyd for almost 20 years served as assistant laboratory director for chemical and materials sciences at the Oak Ridge facility. He also worked on the Manhattan Project at the University of Chicago in World War II.

The former Fulbright and Guggenheim scholar currently is working on an energy process for purification and recycling of water through the use of chemicals called "ion exchangers."

Swiss Team Of Four Event Ends Bridge Tournery Today

The three-day Tall City Sectional Duplicate Bridge Tournament ends today in the Rodeway Inn with the main event of the tournament, the Swiss Team of Four, which gets under way with the first session at noon today.

The final round of the two-session event will begin at 6 p.m.

The Master's Pairs Friday night was won by Bob Black of El Paso and Gary Terk of Odessa who scored 213 points.

In second place were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Georges of El Paso, with 186½.

John T. Yount of San Angelo and J. Tabor Browder of Fort Payne, Ala., came in third in the Master's Pairs with 185½, and Mrs. D. B. Tredwell and Mrs. D. C. McIver, both of Hobbs, N.M., came in fourth with 184.

Phil Terk and Mark Stark, both of Odessa, scored 181½.

points to tie Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Fred Kash, both of Big Spring, for fifth.

Friday afternoon, an Odessa pair, Jim Crowmover and Mark Stark, outdistanced the field in the Men's Pairs with 414½.

Dan Tredwell of Hobbs and Butch Adams of Midland were next with 384. They were followed by Black and Terk with 380½, and behind them in fourth were Steve Lawrence and Bruce E. Martin, both of El Paso, with 376½.

In the Women's Pairs, Mrs. W. W. Roye and Mrs. L. S. Mitchell, both of Midland, were the winners with 408. In second were Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Kash with 402.

A Midlander, Mrs. Lydia Wilkinson, teamed with Mrs. Ima Jo Ellis of Levelland to take third with 399½. In fourth place with 397 were Mrs. S. N. Stripling and Mrs. E. O. Ellington of Big Spring.

Mrs. James N. Allison and Mrs. William B. Smith, both of Midland, took fifth in the Women's Pairs with 385, and another Midland duo, Mrs. Alton Brown and Mrs. R. L. Spencer, scored 380 points for sixth.

In the Saturday morning side game, Oscar Borkon and Bill Isbell of Midland were first. Mrs. Harvey A. Miller Jr. and Mrs. J. C. Hostetler, also of Midland, came in second.

The first session of the Open Pairs was played Saturday afternoon, and the final round still was under way late Saturday night.

First UTPB Graduation Confers Degrees On 36

ODESSA — Thirty-six students received diplomas Saturday afternoon in the first graduation ceremonies at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Among the first graduates of the upper-level university, which opened for classes Sept. 4, 1973, were eight Midland residents.

The unusually brief ceremonies, held in the new Phase I buildings, included conferring of degrees by Edward Clark of Austin, University of Texas System regent, and awarding of diplomas by Dr. B. H. Amstead, UT-Permian president.

John Ben Sheppard of Odessa, honorary chairman of the UT-Permian Ex-Students' Association, inducted the graduates as first members into the new alumni group.

After the graduation exercises, Clark presided at the dedication of two recently-installed 98-foot flagpoles on the southeast side of the new campus buildings. The flagpoles were dedicated in honor of the first graduates and the Bicentennial of American Freedom.

A concert by the Odessa High School Band began the commencement ceremonies and a President's Reception followed the flagpole dedication.

Midland students receiving degrees from the College of Arts and Education were Aida H. Carrasco of 121 N. Eisenhower St., B.A. in history; Myrtle L. Cruce of 4313 Parkdale St., B.A. in history; Helen M. Fox of 2100 Western Dr., B.A. in Spanish; Patricia Metts of 2819 Maxwell St., B.A. in art; Mary E. Parke of 1204 W. Kansas St., B.A. in American literature, and Gertrude M. Thomason of 3109 W. Michigan St., B.A. in literature.

Receiving degrees from the College of Management were Paul A. Herrera of 310 Sunset St., B.A. in economics, and Larry R. Turpen of 2811 W. Shandon St., master of business administration.

Election Fight Will Continue

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Court sessions resume Monday in an election fight between the Raza Unida and Democratic parties over a 1972 Zavala County election.

Democrats brought the suit which claims as many as 1,800 persons voted illegally.

Court recessed Friday, ending a week of activity devoted largely to introduction of exhibits in the case.

Democrats claim the results of the elections for sheriff, and other county officials should be voided. Raza Unida candidates won the post in question.

The case was transferred here from Crystal City because of what visiting Judge Ernest Belcher of Austin said were "tensions" at Crystal City.

LOSE A POUND A DAY AND MORE

Vitamin 'E' Discovery Offers Fast Weight Loss

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wonderful benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Oscar G. Bernard, 15, Killed In Traffic Mishap

Oscar G. Bernard, 15, was killed in a traffic accident on FM 307, east of Midland on Friday night following a truck-motorcycle accident 3.7 miles east of Midland on FM 307.

Bernard, a ninth grader at Greenwood School, was killed when his motorcycle collided with a welding truck driven by George Ladra Umfrees, 25, of Rt. 2, Midland.

Highway Patrolman Bob Ross reported both vehicles were eastbound between 9 and 9:30 p.m. when Umfrees attempted to pass Bernard. The boy apparently cut in front of the truck.

Umfrees swerved to avoid the accident and went into the north barrow ditch, but hit Bernard broadside. Bernard was carried 93 feet underneath the truck, Ross said.

A rosary will be said at 8 p.m. today in the Thomas Funeral Home Chapel. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Monday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

He was born Sept. 18, 1958, in Mexico and lived in Midland most of his life. His mother is the owner of Bernard Tortilla Factory here.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Rutilla Bernard; a brother, Homer Bernard of Midland; and his grandparents, Mrs. J. M. Bernard of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. T. Garcia of Del Rio.

Circus Sets Up On School Yard

WINCHESTER, Ind. (AP) — Winchester High School Principal Robert Jones was understandably upset when he arrived at school and found a herd of elephants wandering around the school yard.

The Hoxey Brothers Circus, in town for a weekend performance, had mistaken the school yard for the circus site and set up their tents and stakes in a driving rain storm Thursday night.

After some fast consultation Friday, Hoxey Brothers took its elephants across the street to a local park, the original circus site.

40 Delegates Attend Heart Group's Meet

More than 40 delegates attended the American Heart Association's regional annual meeting held at the Inn of The Golden West, Odessa, Wednesday night. Representing Midland at the meeting were: Harry W. Clark, Mrs. Reid Caskey, Vann Culp, Camal C. Dakil, Sue Eakin, Joe Ellis, Mrs. Walter O. Ford, Mrs. Sue Hallman, Sister Aniceta Redmond, Hastings Pannill and Lou Lindsey.

Chief speaker for the event was Dr. John B. Lombardini, Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry, Texas Tech University, whose slide-illustrated research talk was devoted to the subject of the possible significance of taurine in cardiac involvement. The speaker explained that his attention had been focused on the possible relationship and effects of taurine in heart disease when it was discovered that taurine levels in heart attack victims often were approximately double those in patients free of heart disease.

Dr. Lombardini expressed his earnest appreciation to the Heart Association for grant funds which help make his research on taurine possible.

The meeting was further highlighted by basic orientation sessions for all newly elected officers and standing committee chairpersons.

Harry W. Clark, president of the Midland County Division, said: "Training sessions of this kind make it possible to have a large group of well informed Heart Association leaders at the local level.

"People working with people in the local community is the only way to make the program of controlling heart disease effective and save thousands of lives each year."

Representative members to the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate Board of Directors, were elected at the meeting. They are Dr. David Logan of Big Spring, Vicki Gomez of Odessa, and Vann Culp of Midland.

Economic Planning Agency Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — With more bad economic news in the background, the administration and Congress have begun bipartisan discussions that could lead to the creation of an economic planning agency.

Representatives of top administration economic advisers conferred Friday with aides to the Republican and Democratic leaders of the House and Senate on a joint approach to coping with the nation's troubled economy. They may meet again next week.

As they met, the government announced that prices rose at an 11.5 per cent annual rate during the first three months of 1974, the highest rate of inflation since 1951, while the gross national product declined by 6.3 per cent.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told reporters he met earlier on the planning-agency proposal with Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

"I think we see pretty much eye to eye on some sort of a monitoring agency to flash storm signals and the like," Mansfield said.

He said his proposal differed entirely from an unsuccessful administration proposal to establish the Cost of Living Council as an inflation-monitoring agency.

A source close to Simon said the secretary has not made any decisions about a planning agency but does endorse a joint administration - Congress approach to economic problem-solving.

The Commerce Department said corporate profits in the first quarter rose by 12 per cent to $80.2 billion, but it said the earnings ballooned partly because of the effects of inflation.

Chicago's Mayor Leaves Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley left the hospital Saturday after 12 days of treatment for what doctors said was a minor stroke. It was Daley's first hospital confinement since he took office in 1955, and it spurred reports that he might not seek re-election in 1975.

PROBLEMS STILL REMAIN— Specialist Cites Dramatic Gains In Fight On Children's Leukemia

By FRANK CAREY

DALLAS (AP) — A Seattle cancer specialist said Saturday dramatic gains have been made in the last 25 years against acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL) in children but that "serious problems" remain to be conquered for appreciable numbers of patients.

ALL is the most common of all childhood malignancies, although childhood cancers as a whole are relatively rare, striking only one out of every 7,000 children.

However, childhood cancers as a whole constitute the leading disease cause of death among school-age children, primarily because of comparatively high deaths rates for certain cancers like ALL.

Dr. John R. Hartman of Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center, Seattle, addressed the closing session of a conference on childhood cancer sponsored by the American Cancer Society, said:

"One of the most striking improvements in childhood cancer during the past decade has been in the treatment of ALL... the most common form of childhood malignancy.

"With present treatment methods, one may expect an estimated 50 per cent five-year survival in contrast to an average life span of only three months before the onset of modern chemotherapy as pioneered by Farmer (the late Dr. Sidney Farber of Boston) in 1948."

"Five-Year Survival"

In the parlance of cancer specialists, a "five-year-survival" means that there is a chance for ultimate cure.

Dr. Hartman added that, thanks to such "chemotherapy"—the use of certain combination of drugs — plus highly specialized supportive care, the child with ALL "has a greater than 95 per cent chance of attaining a complete remission in four to six weeks" after starting treatment.

A "remission" means at least a temporary period of complete freedom from any apparent symptoms of a disease.

He also said relapses may occur in about 50 per cent of the children during the first year of treatment, and that there are indications that even after three years of present-day therapy, the relapse rate is still about 10 to 20 per cent.

Relapses Unexplained

Referring to the 50 per cent who relapse in the first year, he said:

"But why do yet half of these children relapse and eventually die from this disease? Although we have witnessed dramatic changes, acceptance of the fatal prognosis in half of these children presents serious problems."

He said intensive investigations are under way to try to solve these problems and to try to develop even better methods of treatment. He said some researchers are making encouraging, though still tentative, progress towards developing techniques to enhance a child's natural immunity against disease—an enhancement that might be valuable against ALL.

In this latter regard, Dr. Bridg Leventhal of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., said some scientists have recently identified so-called "immunologic markers," or "antigenic markers" in at least some ALL patients.

The researcher added: "These antigenic markers, by allowing us to detect smaller amounts of tumor than can be detected by... (other means) alone, may help us to predict relapse and define cure."

Statewide Political Activity Near Halt

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Statewide political activity has practically disappeared while a small band of state and national legislators settle their runoff disputes.

Absentee voting for the Une 1 second Democratic and Republican primaries begins this next Tuesday.

There are no statewide runoff battles after Gov. Dolph Briscoe got 66 per cent of the Democratic vote on May 4 in a four-candidate race to erase the only chance of a June 1 statewide runoff.

Only one congressional nomination remains to be settled. It is between State Sen. Nelson Wolff of San Antonio and New Braunfels business executive Robert Krueger for sprawling Dist. 21 to succeed Rep. O.C. Fisher, D-Tex., who retired.

The winner faces Republican Doug Harlan of San Antonio in November.

San Antonio also has the only runoff race for state Senate, between Democrats Joe Bernal and Frank Lombardino. The winner will meet Republican Earl Wentworth of San Antonio.

21 House Runoffs

There are 21 state representative runoff races with interest centering in the big cities. There are two Democratic runoffs in the Fort Worth area, two in Dallas and four in the San Antonio area. Most have Republican opponents in November.

The sole GOP legislative runoff race is in Houston where Frank Hartung meets Sonny Jones, with the winner facing Democrat Frank Walden in the general election.

The expected big campaigns of the general election, for governor and for comptroller, mostly marked time the past two weeks and likely will stay that way until after the runoffs.

The general election drive actually will not get underway until after the Sept. 17 state party conventions when platforms will be written to support the top candidates.

Woman Arrested For Shoplifting Kills Herself

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — "If you don't tear up that report, I'm going to kill myself," Nadine Guillory, 18, told an officer outside the police station.

Mrs. Guillory was there Friday to be booked for shoplifting.

The arresting officer, Bobby Gillard, saw she had a gun on the seat of her car, which she had driven herself to the station — a normal procedure in shoplifting cases.

Police Sgt. Russell Hoffpauer said Gillard told her he would let her go and destroy the arrest record. But when he turned to motion another officer to stay away, she put the gun to her head and pulled the trigger, Hoffpauer said.

Mrs. Guillory died an hour later at a hospital.

Charles Guillory told police his wife apparently took the .22 caliber pistol from their home that afternoon after the two had argued.

Gillard had arrested Mrs. Guillory at a grocery store where the manager told him she had tried to walk out without paying for a five-pound bag of rice.

Growing Concern Voiced About Increase In Cycle-Mishap Deaths

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN (AP) — Thousands of Texans are mounting gasoline stinky two-wheeled steeds with drastically greater odds that any driving error will be fatal.

"There is a greater possibility of death or injury from the use of motorcycles," says George Gustafson, acting general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

At least partly because of their tremendous gasoline mileage, the number of licensed motorcycles rose 22 per cent in Texas last year—from 210,000 to 257,000.

The buyers weren't all kids looking for speed thrills or a "motorcycle" image.

"Many are middle-aged men who haven't even been on a bicycle in 20 years," said Jim Arnold, administrator of the governor's traffic safety office.

Safety officials, from Gov. Dolph Briscoe on down, are concerned about the increase in dead riders and passengers from 165 in 1972 to 178 last year, and all signs point to a big jump this year.

The motorcycle safety picture is not entirely gloomy. Deaths rose more slowly than motorcycle sales last year. And motorcycle accidents, taken as a percentage of licensed two-wheelers, are about half as likely to occur as auto and truck mishaps.

But a motorcycle accident is almost three times as likely to be fatal as one involving only four-wheeled vehicles, according to Department of Public Safety (DPS) statistics.

Seventeen out of every 1,000 motorcycle accidents last year killed somebody, compared with six out of every 1,000 car, truck and bus mishaps.

While motorcycles were involved in two per cent of all traffic accidents, they accounted for six per cent of the fatalities last year.

While three out of every 10,000 registered cars, trucks and buses were involved in fatal accidents last year, six of every 10,000 motorcycles were involved in a traffic death.

Thirty-eight out of every 1,000 motorcycles were involved in accidents last year, compared with 89 out of 1,000 four-wheeled vehicles.

Collisions with other motor vehicles caused the most motorcycle deaths: 99 drivers and 16 passengers died that way in 1973. Twenty-one drivers and two passengers were killed when motorcycles ran off the road and hit objects such as trees.

A motorcycle out of control is like a battering ram," said an official of the governor's traffic safety program.

Dying on a motorcycle is a young man's way out of this life, although nine persons between 35 and 65 were killed that way last year. All but 28 of the 162 males who died in motorcycle accidents were drivers between the ages of 15 and 34.

To the cyclists' credit, when an accident resulted from a traffic violation, it usually was the driver of the other vehicle who got the ticket.

Safety programs have singled out two major causes of motorcycle accidents: 1. automobile drivers often fail to watch for cyclists, and 2. many cyclists roar out into traffic before they can handle their machines properly.

More than 3,000 accidents last year involved the failure of a driver to yield right-of-way to a motorcycle.

Capt. W. R. Swinney of the Austin Police Department's traffic division rides a motorcycle, "but I leave myself a lot of leeway."

Lack of training seems to be a big part of the problem.

"Our primary concern is that most of these motorcyclists are novice riders," Arnold said, and statistics appear to confirm that observation. The National Motorcycle Foundation made a study showing that cyclists with less than four months' experience have 52.7 per cent of all the motorcycle accidents.

"There are reports of people being killed on motorcycles right after leaving the motorcycle dealer," Arnold said.

He said Texas A&M's Transportation Institute and the National Motorcycle Safety Council are developing a motorcycle safety education program. It involves high school training programs, defensive motorcycle driving courses, a publicity campaign to encourage people to learn how to ride motorcycles before entering traffic and an effort to make automobile drivers more conscious that they share the road with two-wheelers.

1974 Constitutional Convention Is Calm Compared To Others

By ROBERT HEARD
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Compared with Texas' stormy constitutional conventions and elections in the 19th century, the 1974 convention looks like a pillow fight in a nursing home.

The first Constitution, written in 1836, wasn't even finished when the convention approved it around midnight April 16 and fled before Santa Anna's army. Five days later, Sam Houston whipped the Mexicans at San Jacinto.

Shouting From Horses
As the convention ended, more than half the delegates were on their horses shouting their votes through the convention hall windows at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

Clerks later sorted out the convention notes and drafted the document.

A new text-and-pictures exhibit on all six of Texas' Constitutions is on display at the Capitol. Thirty-six panels are opened out like an accordion fan across the rotunda floor.

The exhibit was prepared under direction of R. Henderson Shuffler, executive director of the Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.

People made mistakes and did dumb things in 1836, too. That first Constitution reversed the Mexican law on slavery and said no free black could reside permanently in the republic without the consent of the Texas Congress.

This Constitution also contained a tiny clause that was to cost the state billions of dollars in the years ahead. It said, "Texas hereby releases to the owner of the soil all mines and mineral substances that may be on the same..." That made millionaires of generations of oilmen.

The Constitution of 1869 greatly strengthened the executive branch and state government in general. "This paved the way for Edmund J. Davis, as the next governor, to become the most hated tyrant in the history of the state," Shuffler says.

People made mistakes and did dumb things in 1836, too. That first Constitution reversed the Mexican law on slavery and said no free black could reside permanently in the republic without the consent of the Texas Congress.

But, as Shuffler points out, this "did not reflect the general public attitude. Too many freedmen, like William Goeyers, had become widely respected men of wealth."

Made Judiciary Appointive
Among other things, his Constitution made the judiciary appointive, and Davis got "his" Supreme Court to declare void the 1873 election in which he was defeated.

The court based its decision on the placement of a semi-colon in the election law, and that court came to be known as "The Semi-Colon Court."

Others, like Hendrick Arnold, Samuel McCullough and Greenbury Logan, already were genuine heroes of the Texas Revolution. Congress would be forced to make exceptions, allowing these and other black freedmen to stay in Texas.

"They would find social acceptance and economic opportunity for many years, but the tide had turned and their eventual oppression was inevitable."

He controlled the courts by appointment of the judges and even named county and city officials. Local government and local law enforcement completely broke down, to be replaced by mob violence, while the power in Austin grew like a cancer," Shuffler says.

"In each district, the governor named one newspaper, favorable to him, to carry all paid official state notices and do all government printing. Any politicians who opposed him were arrested or driven out of office."

The Constitution of 1845 continued a bar against citizenship for blacks but allowed Indians who paid taxes to become citizens.

The Constitution of 1861 made few changes except to substitute "Confederal States of America" for "United States of America." Many Texans opposed this, including Sam Houston.

Became Folk Heroes
"The people were at war with their government, and cold-blooded killers, like John Wesley Hardin, became folk heroes because they defied government forces."

Shuffler says the legislature was corrupt—paid for and controlled by the railroad lobby.

In 1874, Davis and his officials occupied one floor of the Capitol, heavily guarded by armed state police. Newly elected Gov. Richard Coke and his Democratic legislature were organizing on another floor, also guarded by armed men.

The 1866 Constitution guaranteed railroad bonds up to $15-million.

Flea Market Set To Raise Funds For Swim Team

A giant flea market to raise funds for the City of Midland Swim Team will be Friday and Saturday at the swim team pool, North A and Wadley streets.

Restricted Government
The writers of the 1876 Constitution severely restricted state government, and especially the power of the governor, to avoid a recurrence of the Davis tyranny.

They reduced the governor's term from four to two years. They made the attorney general and all judges elected officials.

Special features of the market include a greenhouse sale, food sale, arts and crafts sale and charcoal portraits by Stan Jacobs of Midland.

Homemade ice cream will be for sale along with other refreshments.

Mrs. Jack Goodwin is general chairman of the market. Funds will be used to purchase a videotape machine for the team.

But that Constitution was controversial, too. "In several towns there were riots at the polls," Shuffler says.

Lawyers opposed appointive judges. The railroads were bitter because it banned cash or bond grants to them and because it contained a threat of rate regulation.

A&M Graduate
COLLEGE STATION — Mrs. Peter J. (Celia Jo) Kelleher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Richardson of Midland, was graduated last week from Texas A&M University with a B.S. degree in biochemistry. She is a graduate of Odessa High School.

Republicans hated it because Democrats wrote it. Blacks fought it because it required separate schools.

"Right-to-work" probably is the most controversial topic before the 1974 convention. As hot as this is, it is hard to imagine voters rioting over it.

Puma's Other Names
The puma of North America is also known as the silver lion, the mountain lion, the cougar and the panther.

Portugal Now Faces Fate Of All Empires

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese empire, the last and oldest of any held by a West European nation, now faces the fate of all empires. Gen. Antonio de Spínola's new military junta is ready to accept a political solution to the 13-year-old rebellion against Portugal in Africa.

It may not get it. Leftist parties free to speak for the first time in almost half a century, insist on African independence. Guerrilla action shows no sign of a let-up.

Developments are likely to create a new and less stable situation in South Africa and Rhodesia, the other white-ruled territories in the area, especially if Portuguese troops are pulled out of their old strongholds.

The Portuguese empire could crumble into small, more or less independent states, with some pieces being swallowed up by stronger neighbors. After more than 500 years West European colonialism would be at an end.

The fate of more than 16 million people is at stake, most of them very poor. They live in an area almost one-third the size of the United States.

Portugal's territories spread east from the Azores Islands in mid-Atlantic down the west coast of Africa, up the east coast, across the Indian Ocean and up the China shore to Macao.

Angola, on the southwest coast of Africa, is the chief jewel in Portugal's colonial crown. As big as France, Germany and Italy combined, Angola has fewer than six million people — about 400,000 of them from mainland Portugal. With the huge jump in the price of oil, rich wells have become more important than the coffee, diamonds and iron ore that used to be considered its chief wealth.

Fighting has been going on in Angola since 1961 when armed Africans attacked the police station and prison in Luanda, the capital. Three major guerrilla organizations are now in the fight, but commanders of the 55,000 Portuguese troops say they have the situation in hand.

Further north, on Africa's western bulge, fighting has also been considerable in Portuguese Guinea. In the old sailing days Bissau, the capital, was an important staging point on the way to Portugal's considerable holdings in India, since lost. Now it is hardly an asset to Portugal; its half a million people must import about five times more than they export. The main products are rice, peanuts and palm oil.

Mozambique, on Africa's southeast coast, is not as big as Angola, but it's still twice the size of California. Its larger and even poorer population has little to sell the rest of the world: cashew nuts mostly, plus some cotton and sugar.

UT Graduates Hear Spaceman Alan Bean

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts confined in close quarters for days cannot afford the luxury of irritability, Alan Bean, an Apollo 12 and Skylab 2 crewman, told the university of Texas commencement audience Saturday.

Bean said many psychologists predicted the astronauts would get on each other's nerves, and that three was the worst choice for the size of the crew because two would unite against the third.

Former Midlander John R. Scott Dies At Lamesa

LAMESA — John R. Scott of Lamesa, a former resident of Midland, died here early Friday. He was 66 years old.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church of Lamesa, with the Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in Midland's Resthaven Memorial Park at 10 a.m. Monday, with Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor of Midland's First Baptist Church, officiating.

Scott was born July 5, 1907, at Rotan. He married Margaret Rouse March 7, 1927, at Electra. They moved to Midland in 1947 where Scott was district superintendent for Texas Pipe Line Co. They moved to Lamesa in 1964 where he was chief inspector for the company. He retired in 1972.

Black Muslims Convicted In Deaths Of Seven

WASHINGTON (AP) — A District of Columbia Superior Court jury has convicted four Black Muslims in the mass murders of seven members of the orthodox Hanafi Moslem sect.

Mrs. Hammit, 31, Dies; Rites Monday

Mrs. James H. (Donna Kay) Hammit, 31, a Midland resident since 1971, died here Saturday.

Funeral services are scheduled for 3 p.m. Monday at Resthaven Memorial Park with Elder Virgil Lawrence of the Primitive Baptist Church at Andrews officiating. Newnie W. Ellis Chapel will be in charge.

Mrs. Hammit, born Jan. 1, 1943, at Los Angeles, Calif., was reared in Lynwood, Calif. She and Hammit were married in 1964 while he was in the U.S. Navy. They later lived at Wolf-orth and Muleshoe before moving to Midland.

Survivors include the husband; two sons, Lewis Don Hammit and John Franklin Hammit, both of Midland; her parents, Donald Hill of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. E. Thomas of San Leandro, Calif.; a sister and two brothers.

Mrs. Moore, 54, Dies; Services Set

Mrs. William H. (Pauline Clark) Moore, 54, of Route 1, Midland, died Saturday after a long illness.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Monday in the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel. Interment will be in a Midland cemetery.

Born Oct. 6, 1919, in Stamford, she was reared in Corsicana. She married Moore May 2, 1936, at Corsicana. They moved to Midland in 1963 from Texon. She was a Baptist.

Survivors include her husband; a son, William D. Moore of Fort Worth; three daughters, Mrs. Jerry Curry and Mrs. Barbara Weist, both of Odessa, and Mrs. Carrell Warren of Dallas; her mother, Mrs. Emma McCullough of Andrews; a sister, Mrs. Irene Luttrell of Anchorage, Alaska, and 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. Wilson Black Dies; Rites Slated

Mrs. Wilson Black, 49, of Midland died Friday after an illness of several months.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in Newnie W. Ellis Chapel, with the Rev. Curtis Pace officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

She was born July 18, 1924, at Poteau, Okla., and was reared at Seminole, Okla. She moved to Midland in 1940 and married Black in November 1945 at Yuma, Ariz. She was a member of the First Alliance Church.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Connie Elaine Patton of Honolulu, Hawaii, and Mrs. Carle Ann Bryant of Midland; a brother, Charley R. Flannery of Midland; a sister, Mrs. Margie McGuire of Washington state, and two grandchildren.

Reports Of 'Payola' In House Speaker Race Prompt Inquiries

By The Associated Press

District attorneys and their aides explored Saturday reports of money offered in return for support of an unnamed candidate or candidates for speaker of the Texas House.

The speaker, one of the two most powerful persons, along with the lieutenant governor, in state government, is elected by fellow House members. Next election will be at the start of the 1975 Legislature.

Four candidates have announced and others could be awaiting an opportune time to make their candidacies public.

'Oil Patch Art Show' Continuing

CRANE — The first "Oil Patch Art Show" here this weekend lived up to its name and drew entries from a large area of the Permian Basin "oil patch."

The show opened Saturday at the Crane Museum and will again be open to the public between 1 and 6 p.m. today. Awards to winning artists will be presented at 2:20 p.m. Mike Thornton, a member of the art faculty of Western Texas College at Snyder, was juror for the show.

Schools In Waco Told To Mix More Blacks, Whites

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Waco schools were under federal orders Saturday to do more to mix Negroes and whites in the city's school system. Further hearings at the federal court level were ordered, also.

In its Friday action, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered a lower federal court to look into complaints that closing of four predominantly Negro schools "deprived minority students of neighborhood schools and heightened the need for busing of minority students."

The appeal heard by the New Orleans court centered on a claim that the Waco integration plan failed to set up standards for integration of faculty and staff, and failed to integrate the 11th and 12th grades at Jefferson-Moore and Richfield high schools.

Hermit Says His Home Too Public

OCHOPEE, Fla. (AP) — The hermit of the Everglades says he no longer feels free to skin dip in his canal so he's put his home up for sale and plans to move deeper into the swamp.

"It's getting too public here," says Leon Whilden. "The people are beginning to drive me crazy."

Whilden, a native Floridian with an engineering degree, moved into the swamp 22 years ago, built a clapboard shack and filled in much of his 12-acre grove of cypress trees to form a garden of rare plants and flowers.

Defense To Start In Murder Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Defense lawyers were expected to begin presenting witnesses Monday in the trial of Robert Lacy Campbell, accused of slaying a Houston used car salesman.

Campbell, 35, of Milton, Fla., is being tried in State District Judge I.D. McMaster's court on a charge of murder in the Oct. 18, 1973, beating death of Robert Ray Campbell, 50. The victim and defendant were not related.

Impeachment Probe Evidence Raises Significant Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — The evidence presented to the House Judiciary Committee in its impeachment proceedings so far raises the question: "Is a president responsible for the conduct of his subordinates?"

The answer, at least in the minds of the 38 members of the committee, could be an important factor in deciding whether they recommend the impeachment of President Nixon.

For four days now they have been given a detailed presentation of evidence centering more on former White House aides than on Nixon.

Activities Traced

The activities of more than a score of the people around Nixon have been traced through the Watergate break-in, the cover-up, the collecting of money and its payment to Watergate defendants, the Senate Watergate Committee and grand jury investigations, and the trials resulting from it all.

The failure of the evidence to involve Nixon directly has heartened his supporters and led to comments that the committee is finding nothing that could lead to his impeachment.

The committee resumes its inquiry Tuesday, still behind closed doors.

Ford Optimistic

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said in an interview this past week that he thinks there is an even chance the committee will vote to impeach Nixon. But as for the impeachment resolution passing the full House, Ford said: "I think, at the moment, the President could probably win in the House, a 4 to 3 ratio, something like that."

In another interview, Republican party chairman George Bush said he is confident Nixon will finish his full term in office.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alvin Khoury said Friday that "I want to emphasize we are not passing on the truth of the allegation at this point because we have just begun a thorough investigation."

Khoury said, "The allegations were of a very serious nature."

Noon, Dist. 13 candidate, went to the district attorney's office at the request of Khoury. Noon indicated he was contacted about a campaign contribution in exchange for support of a House speaker candidate whom he has not identified.

The Longview Journal said a man identifying himself as a "representative" called Noon a week ago and said he thought the speaker candidate could allocate $600 from his campaign fund to Noon's fund if Noon would pledge to support the speaker candidate.

The word "representative" later was determined as a representative of the speaker candidate and not a House member.

Through Check

Khoury told the Kilgore News Herald, "I do not know at this point if the investigation by this office will reveal a provable offense but we are going to investigate thoroughly and talk to several persons. We are interested any time anyone charges that a felony offense has been committed. It is a serious matter to be dealt with."

Noon has refused to name the speaker candidate but said, "It was not Fred Head. I can say this clearly."

Head is one of four announced candidates for speaker.

Noon's opponent in the Democratic primary is Jimmy Mankins who said his support for speaker had been solicited but no campaign contributions were mentioned.

Services Today For Mrs. Hall, 63

Services for Mrs. Ernest (Georgia Helen) Hall, 63, of 4204 Tanner St., who died Friday will be at 2 p.m. today in the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel with the Rev. E. M. Jones officiating.

Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Mrs. Hall was the mother of Rex Hall and Larry Hall, both employed by The Reporter-Telegram.

Born Nov. 4, 1910, at Hughes Springs, she moved to Midland in 1928. She was a cafe employee for many years and worked for the public school cafeteria for a number of years. She was a member of Bethel Assembly of God.

Survivors include her husband; three other sons, David Hall of Midland, Ronald Hall of Gilroy, Calif., and Dennis Hall of Odessa; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Loretta Oldaker of Weatherford and Mrs. Carolyn Holcombe of Idalou; a brother, Dennis Buffington of Eugene, Ore.; three sisters, Mrs. Edna McCarthy, Mrs. Leora Lynn and Mrs. Arvilla Hiney, all of Roseburg, Ore.; 13 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be David Hall, LeRoy Stewart, Chester Adams, Richard L. Oldaker Jr., Jim Stephens and George Head.

Services Held For Mrs. Prine

Services for Mrs. Judy B. Prine, 79, who died Thursday afternoon in a Midland hospital, were at 11 a.m. Saturday in Newnie W. Ellis Chapel.

Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Orval Moore, Lawrence Carr, C. L. Stephenson, Curtis Baker, Buddy Mauldin and Wayne Merriam.

Dominican Chief Wins Re-Election

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer has easily won re-election, but his political opposition says it might ask the Dominican courts to nullify his victory.

When the government Electoral Commission suspended its vote counting Friday afternoon, it showed Balaguer, 66, had won a third four-year term with about 500,000 votes. His weak opponent, Luis Romero Lajara Burgos of the tiny, rightist Popular Democratic party, had 92,000 votes.

Two million Dominicans were registered to vote, but many reportedly boycotted the election after the withdrawal earlier in the week of Balaguer's main opponent, Silvestre Antonio Guzman, 63. He accused the government of "colossal fraud" in preparations for the voting and urged his supporters to stay away from the polls.

5,000 Year Old Chinese Health Remedy Found

PEKING (Special) — Health researchers in China have uncovered an amazing rare old Chinese herb remedy that possesses spectacular healing qualities and reportedly has been used for 5,000 years to cure or give relief to a host of the most common illnesses suffered by mankind. Dramatic claims are being made that this "miracle herb" called ginseng, may actually hold the key to a longer healthy life. Indeed, there is one historical case of a user living to be 256 years old.

Helps Many Illnesses

Like acupuncture, the many healing properties of this remarkable herb were once considered "folklore and superstition", but modern researchers around the world are suggesting that it may actually regulate many of the body's processes to increase SEXUAL potency, help heal ULCERS, relieve ARTHRITIS, check graying or loss of HAIR, improve DIGESTION, slow down ARTERIOSCLEROSIS, relieve ASTHMA overcome FATIGUE, improve DIABETIC conditions, relieve inflammation of the URINARY TRACT, help chronic INSOMNIA, relieve BACKACHES and PAINS, and generally improve your health by increasing your body's potential to heal itself.

Safe, No Side Effects

Ginseng is not a drug, but an herb or vegetable that is extremely rich in vitamins and minerals. What's more, this amazing natural remedy is completely safe and non-toxic with no side effects. Unfortunately, high-grade ginseng is in short supply, and brokers and processors around the world are bracing themselves for a "run" on the market as the herb's purported "near miraculous" healing properties become more widely known to the general public.

Now Available in U.S.

Now you can get a generous 30-day supply of this amazing natural remedy direct from a major supplier by sending only $10.00 in check, cash or money order to Health Laboratories, Dept. 79, Box 2142, Palm Springs, Calif. 92262. This wonder herb is said to have helped millions of other people and it may help your health problem too. Isn't it worth a try? Adv.

Texas Manufacturers Association Supports Oil Depletion Allowance

HOUSTON — The board of directors of the Texas Manufacturers Association (TMA) recently adopted a resolution urging Congress to retain the mineral depletion allowance.

The action was taken April 26 during the board's second quarterly meeting. TMA's membership is comprised of business executives throughout Texas.

TMA president L. W. "Bill" Gray pointed out that the board

Research Fuels Reports High Quarterly Earnings

Research Fuels Inc. reports third quarter net earnings of 22 cents per share and nine month net earnings of 45 cents per share.

This compares to a one-cent per share profit for the third quarter of last year and a seven-cent loss for the same nine-month period a year ago.

Frank K. Cahoon of Midland, chairman of the board of Research Fuels, said the unusual growth in third quarter earnings was due to several factors, including an increasing amount of available gasoline, an opportunity to reduce station labor costs under unusual market conditions and favorable margins "generated by our cost

Doug Wilmut New MNB Assistant VP

The board of directors of The Midland National Bank elected Doug Wilmut assistant vice president and manager of the BankAmericard Division at their meeting last Wednesday. The announcement was made jointly by Murray Fasken, chairman of the board, and Tony A. Martin, president and vice chairman.

Wilmut's responsibilities will involve supervising Midland National's BankAmericard operations and relations with merchants and customers in Midland, as well as nine other West Texas communities.

Wilmut, 35, joined Midland National in September 1969, after four years with a finance company.

He is active in the Midland Jaycees and has served as secretary and board member of the organization.

Last year, Wilmut was active in the United Way campaign, serving as the bank's loaned executive for the 1974 fund drive.

He attended North Texas State University and has participated in the continuing education program of the American Institute of Banking through its local course program.

New Banks Okayed

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Commerce Bancshares chairman, Ben F. Love, said Saturday the $3 billion bank holding company has received approval from the Federal Reserve Board to open two new suburban Houston banks.

believes that the depletion allowance is in the best interest of the economy and national security of the United States.

Presently, tax reform proposals which are being considered by the Congress include phasing out the depletion allowance on oil and natural gas over a three-year period.

Gray, commenting on the purpose of the depletion allowance, said that Congress incorporated the principle of percentage depletion into the tax law of 1926. "It was included to encourage owners of capital to accept the high risk which is involved in the search for and the development of mineral resources," he said. "It also recognizes that such resources constitute a capital asset that is depleted in its value as the resource is produced for consumptive purposes."

He added, "The depletion allowance, as an incentive, has encouraged the investment of risk capital in the highly uncertain venture of finding and producing minerals, especially oil and gas, which has become basic to our economy."

Three Parkview Employees Receive 10-Year Awards

In observance of their 10th anniversary with Parkview Hospital, three employees were honored at a party in the hospital's cafeteria Friday. They have been with Parkview since its opening March 1, 1964.

Presenting the awards was James Pilgreen, hospital administrator. Accepting the awards of electric clocks were Joel Smith, M.T. (A.S.C.P.), chief laboratory technologist; Betty Haines, A.R.T., director of medical records; and Georgia Natividad, operating room technician.

The employee appreciation party was scheduled so it corresponded with National Hospital Week, May 12-18.

National Hospital Week, sponsored by the American Hospital Association, was begun in 1920 when leaders in the health field established a National Hospital Day to mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the woman credited with establishing the modern profession of nursing. In 1953, National Hospital Day was extended to the week-long event now observed.

Bush Supports Nixon's Decision To Stay In Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — George Bush, national Republican chairman, said Saturday he supports President Nixon's decision not to resign without proof of guilt in Watergate.

A "resignation without proof of guilt would cause resentment" in many quarters, Bush said, and he concluded following a one-hour meeting with Nixon Thursday that the President will fight to remain in office.

Bush addressed several hundred at a state Assembly of Republican Clubs here.

Bush said he has almost completed reading the 1,300 pages of tape transcripts released by the White House. He said he was "shook up" about some portions when he first read them, but said other portions appeared to support the President's case.

He declined to discuss specific portions of the transcripts and he also declined to speculate about the outcome of the impeachment process.

Probe Of Nixon Threat Sought

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Howard H. Baker says he will ask a Senate subcommittee to investigate a reported threat by President Nixon to retaliate against the Washington Post for its Watergate investigations.

The Tennessee Republican, ranking minority member of the Senate Commerce subcommittee on communications, said Friday the investigation should determine whether there were any White House attempts to carry out the threat.

Boy Faces Hard Choice

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
THOMPSONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Angus Gaither, 18, is torn between family responsibility and a thirst for learning.

The valedictorian of Thompsonville High School in Southern Illinois says he has until Monday to inform Harvard University officials if he can accept a scholarship providing $5,250 a year.

He also has been nominated for the service academies at West Point and Annapolis.

"It's Harvard I want because of academic opportunities there in the field of law and politics," says Gaither. "The university gave me a 30-day extension for accepting the scholarship and the deadline is Monday."

"Here I am faced with probably the biggest decision of my life and having a hard time finding the time just to think about it."

Gaither's father is dead. His brother, J. C., 32, suffered a stroke two years ago and is partially paralyzed. A month ago his mother, Cieta, 60, had a stroke and is bedfast.

Angus is the family breadwinner. He managed to maintain a straight A average in school and work the family's 400-acre farm by himself.

"I can't get help because it's the height of the planting season and everyone is busy with their own farms," he says.

"I've been getting up at 5 a.m. to feed our 20 head of cattle and 50 hogs. Then I cook breakfast and get my mother and brother taken care of. A neighbor usually drops in while I am at school."

Gaither, a husky six-footer, drives the family's 1967 car two miles to school. He is back home in midafternoon.

"Then I start plowing and discing until 10 p.m. The neighbors usually have supper for me."

Allan Patton, superintendent of Thompsonville High, says: "Angus is a great boy with a great academic future. He has a hard decision to make. I'm glad he has to do it and not me."

Hearst Family Relieved But Still Apprehensive

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hearst's parents were "greatly relieved" but still "apprehensive" Saturday after learning she was not among five persons who died in a furious gun battle and fire Friday.

"Oh, God, thank God," Randolph A. Hearst was quoted through a spokesman as saying after he learned his 20-year-old daughter was not a victim.

Family spokesman John Lester said the Hearsts would not make a statement. "They realize that those who died had loved ones," he said.

"They hope there is no further bloodshed," Lester said. "They remain apprehensive about the whereabouts of their daughter."

"They continue to hope and pray that she will be returned home safely soon."

Lester said that Patricia's mother, Catherine, was speechless at the news but "obviously much relieved and had tears in her eyes."

Lester said that, after "104 days, emotions get rather numb." Miss Hearst was dragged from her apartment near the University of California campus at Berkeley on Feb. 4. The SLA claimed responsibility for the abduction.

"It is hard watching a burning inferno, knowing that your child may be in there," Lester said. "In view of the tragedy in Los Angeles, they would rather not make a statement at this time."

some of the bodies were further disfigured because ammunition belts they wore around their waists exploded during the fire.

The coroner said X-rays and dental charts were used to make sure Miss Hearst was not one of the dead. He said the unidentified female was too badly burned to determine height and weight and that medical examiners were trying to identify her by bone structure.

A police spokesman with Noguchi at the news conference said all five of the victims apparently were wearing gas masks at the time of their deaths.

Almost 500 heavily armed policemen and federal agents participated in the shootout — the second raid of the day on a suspected SLA hideout. No one was found in the first raid, but authorities confiscated wigs and other items left behind by the terrorists when they fled.

A small bomb blew out the front windows of an empty storefront campaign office for San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto early Saturday and police said they were investigating whether there was any connection between the SLA raid and the blast.

No one outside the house was reported injured by gunfire, Saturday morning, 50 investigators sifted through debris about four feet deep in the destroyed house.

Police and the FBI still have not identified a woman who fled the house after it caught fire.

"They held me, they held me," the woman was heard to say as she was taken to an ambulance, apparently suffering from gunshot wounds.

The residence was sprayed with thousands of rounds of ammunition and caught fire during the battle.

Acting on a tip, flak-jacketed officers took position around the house about 5:30 p.m. PDT and then called out to the occupants over a bullhorn: "Come out with your hands up. The house is surrounded."

Two minutes later, a policeman fired a tear-gas shell into the house and immediately drew a volley of fire from semi-automatic weapons inside the building.

"It was a war, no other way to describe it," said Hagen, summing up the action that followed.

The siege was televised live in the Los Angeles area.

About an hour after the first shots were fired, thin tongues of flame suddenly shot from windows and the eaves of the roof. The shooting stopped 15 minutes later. Billows of black smoke cast a pall around the house, obscuring the view of police sharpshooters and hundreds of excited spectators.

Patty Hearst Not Among Dead

Ass't. Police Chief Darrell Gates said that an article with Miss Hearst's name on it was found in the house but added: "We don't think she had been in the house. Our judgment is that she was not there, but again, there's some speculation."

Noguchi said examinations had also ruled out the possibility that the unidentified woman was another suspected SLA member, Camilla Hall.

Mrs. Perry had multiple gunshot wounds, including one in the chest and one that hit her spine, Noguchi said.

Noguchi said Mrs. Perry and the unidentified woman were found at the back of the house, near the kitchen. The other three were found near the bathroom on the opposite side of the house.

Police Cmdr. Peter Hagan said earlier Saturday that Ireland Asks Return Of 300 Soldiers Serving In Mideast

(Related Story Page 2A)

DUBLIN (AP) — The government asked the United Nations Saturday to release more than 300 Irish soldiers from the Middle East peacekeeping force to man border posts following the most bombings in almost five years of Irish sectarian feuding.

It said the troops will be needed to man new checkpoints along the border with Northern Ireland to stop and search all cars driving into the Republic from the North.

The checkpoints were part of an intensification of security along the 260-mile border with Northern Ireland, the main scene of the violence that spilled over into the Republic Friday, killing 23 persons and wounding 150.

At the United Nations, Irish Ambassador Eamonn Kennedy telephoned his government's request to Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and confirmed it in a letter.

The latest U.N. report shows that last Monday there were 323 Irishmen in the U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

As Ireland counted the cost of the bombings, informed sources said the government was expected to press for tougher laws against Irish Republican Army guerrillas.

21 Americans Freed By Turkish Amnesty Measure

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — President Fahri Koruturk signed an amnesty bill into law Saturday, releasing 21 Americans from prison and reducing the sentences of four others.

The bill, a campaign promise of Premier Bulent Ecevit, will mean release or reduced sentences for 50,000 of Turkey's 65,000 prisoners. Rapists, antique smugglers and political prisoners are not eligible for sentence reductions.

The terms for three Americans jailed on drug charges were reduced from life to 24 years. They are Katherine Zenz, 28, of Lancaster, Wis.; Joann McDaniel, 29, of Salem, Ore.; and Robert E. Hubbard, 23, of San Diego, Calif.

A fourth American, William Hayes of North Babylon, N.Y., had his 30-year term on a drug smuggling charge pared to 25 years.

Texoma Employees Report 3 Thefts

Three thefts totaling more than $1,000 were reported early Saturday by employees of Texoma Air Drilling Co., 2400 S. Midkiff Rd.

O. E. Elmore reported to Midland police the theft of gauges and tools valued at $811 during the night. Entry was apparently gained through an unlocked bathroom window.

While police were investigating the first theft, two more thefts from parked pickup trucks in the Texoma yard were reported.

Two eight-track tape players and several tapes, valued at more than $250, were reported taken during the night.

Bentsen: Impeachment Committee Should Move With 'All Due Speed'

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen D-Tex., said Saturday night he was not among those calling for the resignation of the President.

However, he said he believes the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry should move ahead "with all due speed."

Bentsen addressed the Annual Awards Banquet of the Texas Southern University Alumni and Ex-students' Association.

"The way to get Watergate behind us is not by dribbling out the relevant information, bit by bit—but by providing all the facts so that Congress and the American people can arrive at a proper judgment."

He said edited transcripts of taped conversations released by the President do not provide all the facts.

"It is my impression, from examining the transcripts that the President chose to release to the public and Judiciary Committee, that they raised almost as many questions as they answer. And this has been the trouble all along."

"The President is a lawyer. Surely he must realize that a man who is under investigation should not have the option of selecting or editing the information he gives to the investigators."

"I will not join those calling for the President to resign. It would be a serious mistake, I think, for the President to quit—while maintaining his innocence—without a final, constitutional determination of the issue."

"Nor do I prejudice him, for the President—like any other citizen under concept of law—is entitled to a presumption of innocence."

"But I do say the Republican and Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee should push ahead with all due speed on this inquiry. And to do this, they must have the best available evidence—all of it."

Bentsen said the edited transcripts "paint an unflattering, unsettled portrait of this administration, and the American people are disturbed—deeply disturbed—by its revelations."

"I must say I was deeply disturbed by the conversation between the President and (former white House counsel) John Dean on Sept. 15, 1972 in which they discuss the 'enemies list' Dean was compiling and coldly planned to use the FBI and the Justice Department to harass and embarrass 'enemies' of the administration," Bentsen said.

"It is chilling to contemplate the words of the President when he talks of using law enforcement agencies to 'get' political opponents. This subverts the rule of law."

Vandals Damage Church, Car Glass

Two incidents of vandalism were reported to Midland police early Saturday.

An undetermined amount of damage was done to Travis Baptist Church, 1000 E. Gist St. Several windows and a commode were broken, and holes were knocked in the walls.

Jerry Cockrell of 4802 W. Illinois St. told police someone threw a soft drink bottle through a side window of his car during the night Friday, causing $200 damage.

Clearinghouse For Consumer Gripes Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Government Operations Committee has approved a bill to create an agency that would serve as a clearinghouse for consumer complaints and represent consumer interests before regulatory bodies and the courts.

The committee's approval Friday followed an earlier okay by the Senate Commerce Committee, which also had jurisdiction over portions of the bill. Similar legislation has passed the full House. Senate action is expected within a few weeks.

The proposed agency's administrator would be empowered to pursue consumer complaints through courts and regulatory bodies, but would be unable to set rates, grant licenses or impose fines on violators.

By STRAT DOUTHAT
LORADO, W.Va. (AP) — Buffalo Creek is a shallow, fast-flowing stream that is born of the wedding of two runoff rivulets far up in the hills of Logan County.

It spills northward out of a narrow hollow, makes a hard turn to the west and then, like a long, twisted wire, zigzags more than 17 miles down through a winding valley before plunging into the Guyandotte River at Man.

At its origin, Buffalo Creek is a narrow ditch of clear water. By the time it loses its identity in the murky Guyandotte, it has grown into a stream 20 feet across and six feet deep.

SPE To Install Officers Tuesday At Dinner Meeting

The dinner at 7:30 p.m. will be preceded by a social hour at 6:30.

Guest speaker for the dinner meeting will be Don McSparran, director of Community Development of the Colony Development Corp., a subsidiary of Atlantic Richfield Co. His subject will be "The Development of Oil Shale Reservoirs."

McSparran has worked for ARCO 20 years as production foreman, production engineer and district production supervisor in West Texas and New Mexico. He has been senior planning engineer in the industrial planning section associated with ARCO's shale oil development program in Denver, for the past year.

The new officers for 1974-1975 for the Permian Basin Chapter of SPE will be installed at the meeting.

This long, silver zipper has a level bottom not much wider than a football field. It is dotted with hundreds of homes, most of them congregated in 16 coal camps strung out along the length of the creek.

Many of the dwellings are shiny-new mobile homes and prefabricated metal houses. Driving up the valley, one gets the impression of having stumbled on the world's longest trailer court.

Nowhere is the aura of mobility more prevalent than at Lorado. It consists of a pocked, narrow asphalt road bordered on one side by a grassy field, on the other by a line of closely placed mobile homes.

Lorado is just two miles downstream from giant slag dams that collapsed in 1972, causing a tragic flood that killed 125 people, swept away 500 homes and destroyed $50 million worth of property.

On a warm, sunny afternoon the sky is a deep, friendly blue. Aliene Peters is out in front of her trailer home with her 3-year-old daughter, Kimberly. The child is attempting to ride a bicycle through the rough rock patch of a yard while her mother, her blonde hair in rollers, watches with a bemused expression.

"We can't finish putting dirt on the yard until they put in the sewer," she said. "They said it won't be long now."

Mrs. Peters and her husband, Larry, were the second couple to return to Lorado after the Flood — a word residents in the valley use with a definite Biblical flavor. Everything around here is either "before the Flood" or "after the Flood."

"At first, we thought we'd never come back," Mrs. Peters was saying, "but after we talked around for a while we decided to. We were so dissatisfied down there in that HUD trailer camp. We didn't know anyone..." HUD is the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has overseen much of the recovery work.

"We came back that first May," she said. "Now, I guess, there's 300 families that have come back up here. The coal company has paid off practically everybody around here for their homes. We used the money we got for a downpayment on the trailer."

Larry Peters works for Buffalo Mining Co., a subsidiary of the Pittston Co., a New York-headquartered conglomerate. Warns Dam Burst

On that rainy morning of Feb. 26, 1972, Peters and the other miners he rode with came tearing down the valley, honking and screaming and blinking their lights.

"They were hollering that the dam had busted," Mrs. Peters recalled. "I grabbed the baby and we drove off in our car. You could look back and see the water."

Two months after the flood, Larry went back to work in the mines, glad to have his job back. But even though the coal company provides money for her family's daily bread, Mrs. Peters "ain't afraid to say what I think."

What she thinks is that some of her neighbors are afraid. "The biggest part of the people that has come back has put it behind them, but some of them, that's all they ever talk about, yet," she said.

The ones who can't forget often do their talking to Dr. June S. Church, a friendly man with rosy cheeks and slicked-down black hair. He runs the Mingo Logan Area Mental Health of Logan.

"People figure he knew all about it all the time, and that'd be my opinion; and they figure, 'Why, some of those boys were guilty, and why didn't he get it out and over with a long time ago?' Friedman leaned on his hog-sorting pole.

"Impeached? I'm not sure about that, but a hell of a lot of them think he should resign, and that's my feeling myself. Now, some people think he didn't have anything to do with it. And some want to shoot him. But, in general, a lot of them want him to resign."

Friedman allowed he hadn't read all of the President's transcripts of the Watergate tapes. But he said he was 77 and had been a livestock broker at the Peoria stockyards for 50 years, and he figured he knew how to read farmers.

"Before them transcripts came out, there were more farmers that was Republicans than Democrats. But now it's down to about 50-50."

"Will it play in Peoria?" John D. Ehrlichman used to ask when he was the President's top domestic adviser and had Middle America in mind. Originally, the line was a vaudeville joke. Peoria, along with Kokomo, Kalamazoo and Cucamonga, was synonymous with Squaresville.

To Peorians, their reputation is hardly a joke. Those who grope for the Middle American pulse have fingered Peoria's wrists periodically for years and ribbed Peorians in the bargain. So it was with tired patience that Bill Friedman and other Peorians in representative jobs and informed positions made it clear last week that, thanks to his Watergate transcripts, Richard Nixon isn't playing as well in Peoria as he once did.

Not that very many persons agree with Goldie Brown, who long before the transcripts were published had established an "Impeach Nixon Committee" headquarters in her small white house on Peoria's older southwest side. In an interview in February, a month after she had opened up, Mrs. Brown counted 12,000 impeachment signatures on her petitions.

Undaunted by the small fraction that number represented of the more than 339,000 persons in Peoria and its environs, Mrs. Brown declared the President "a crook." She added: "He ought to be impeached."

SYNONYMOUS WITH MIDDLE AMERICA—

President 'Not Playing Well In Peoria'

EDITOR'S NOTE — When he was the President's top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman was fond of asking, "Will it play in Peoria?" That was his way of inquiring how Middle America was reacting to what the President was doing. Just how well is the President playing these days in Peoria?

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — It was early morning and raining and the man standing under the roof of the stockyards was Bill Friedman, weathered and old. He was talking about Richard Nixon.

"People figure he knew all about it all the time, and that'd be my opinion; and they figure, 'Why, some of those boys were guilty, and why didn't he get it out and over with a long time ago?' Friedman leaned on his hog-sorting pole.

nearly three weeks after the transcripts, Mrs. Brown has gone to Washington. "She's staying at the Watergate Hotel," her husband said. He added that he doesn't involve himself very much in his wife's impeachment efforts. The signature count was unavailable.

Mayor Dick Carver, however, has sensed no impeachment groundswell. Settling back in the black leather chair behind his desk at the Carver Lumber Co., he reported: "Among the people I talk to, I find the desire to see the provisions of the Constitution utilized."

Carver said there was nothing to show that any overwhelming number of Peorians necessarily want to see Nixon resign or the House of Representatives actually vote for impeachment. They simply want, he said, to see proceedings stay within the due process of law.

"But the transcripts are disturbing as the daylight to me," Carver said. One of the nation's younger mayors at 36, he has a neatly trimmed blond thatch, wears light blue suits and button-down shirts. He fixed his blue-gray eyes on a corner of the ceiling.

He is a Republican. "I find a desire among the people I talk to to support the President — but a sense of regret that Watergate was not handled in a more forthright manner. Support has wavered substantially. Mine has."

He's proud of being mayor of Peoria.

There are many things here to be proud of. Peoria is an urban skyline on the heights above the Illinois River in the heart of central Illinois farming country. Peoria is the home of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., which employs nearly 30,000 area residents in its plants and offices. Peoria is the home of Hiram Walker & Sons, makers of whisky and employers of 1,600. And Peoria is the home of a Pabst brewery, which employs 1,000.

Peorians like to say they haven't felt any recession since 1958. And they like to say they're not afraid of a depression. Government make-work projects would increase the market for Caterpillars. And everybody would drink more.

Not that Peoria doesn't have its troubles. A former mayor is under an indictment charging bribery and official misconduct in liquor licensing. And its

Two Undergraduate Courses Scheduled

The Permian Basin Graduate Center is including two undergraduate courses in its summer schedule, June 3 - July 12, from 5:30-9 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday. The instructor will be Capt. James Riddles. The criminalistics course is required for a B.S. in Police Administration.

B. A. 4309 - Human Relations, a Business Administration course, will be offered in the second summer session. The class will meet July 15 - August 23, 5:30-9 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday. The instructor will be Wayne Holcomb. These courses carry three hours residence credit from Sul Ross State University.

For a schedule of graduate courses offered through Sul Ross, contact the Graduate Center office at 104 Gulf Bldg. or call 563-2311.

Young Woman Picks Up Pieces Of Life After Being Struck By MS

EDITOR'S NOTE — The house to house drive to raise funds for the Multiple Sclerosis Society will be held in Midland Monday night. To emphasize the need for funds for research and patient care, the following is the story of how MS struck and affected a young El Paso woman.

I stagger and reel when I walk and I have fallen flat on my face at the most embarrassing moments. The knowing glances cast my way by passersby don't go unnoticed and neither do the messages they carry — "Look at her, drunk on the streets."

Little do they know. I am not drunk! In fact, I seldom ever take a drink for my own safety. I am not flying high on drugs either, nor am I mentally incompetent.

I am a victim of multiple sclerosis, thecrippler of young adults, with no known cause or cure.

I had never heard of MS before. Now I know that it is a neurological disease — a disease of the central nervous system, the brain and the spinal cord. It is not a mental disease, nor is it contagious.

The brain and the spinal cord control such important body functions as walking, talking, seeing, hearing, eating, tying a shoe lace, opening a door, and lifting a fork or spoon to eat.

The nerves of the central nervous system are covered by a material called myelin. When MS hits, patches of myelin disintegrate, and are replaced by scar tissue. Why or how this happens is a medical mystery. But when it does happen, the nerve impulses have trouble penetrating the scarred tissue. The interference brings malfunctions — the danger signals of multiple sclerosis.

How or when I contracted MS, I know not. The symptoms came on very slowly.

I remember my first indication that something was wrong was in the fall of 1968 when I was 23 years old, a bride of only six weeks. I started having blurred sight, double vision and headaches. Two different optometrists said I did not need glasses, but suggested I consult a neurologist. The neurologist confirmed there was definitely something wrong, but said it was too early to pinpoint the trouble.

By wearing an eye patch or closing one eye my vision was normal enough to drive a car and do most of my routine, including continuing to teach school. My next attack came on very suddenly: I was preparing supper for my husband when I reached into a kitchen cupboard to get some pans. As I bent over, I completely lost my balance and fell into the cupboard, the first of my many falls. Each day my condition worsened until I was unable to walk or stand. I went into hospitals for tests and X-rays. At first doctors thought I had a brain tumor, but finally decided it was a neurological problem.

I was unable to walk or see normally. Whenever I looked at someone or tried to watch television I had rolling vision, much like a tv picture rolls when the vertical control is not adjusted. It was two months before I was able to go back to teaching. During this time I had to learn how to walk again, which was a slow process.

During that summer, I started to get better and begin to feel I would finally get back to normal — but the doctors still had not told me what was wrong.

I taught school another year then decided teaching was too hard, so I applied for work on the El Paso Times where my husband worked. I found that my original typing speed of 70 words per minute had dropped to 30 to 40 words per minute.

When I received the final diagnosis that I had multiple sclerosis I knew I would have to fight mentally and physically to be able to continue. I knew if I ever stopped I could become a hopeless cripple.

MS makes you feel tired all the time and if you let the tiredness get you down, you find that you don't want any exertion. I knew I wanted to keep active no matter what. I exercised regularly and did all that I could to keep working. I did fine for a while but then my equilibrium started to get worse and I found that I was having trouble walking again.

It was back to the hospital for two weeks — this time to take a form of ACTH intravenously for 10 days. The transfusions lasted from five to seven hours each.

When I came out of the hospital, I still had trouble walking but my sight had not been affected this time. I had to use a special safety walker to keep me from falling. My hardest blow to bear was when the doctor told me that my MS was affecting my right side more than my left. This meant that I must relearn to feed myself — this time left-handed, as I am naturally righthanded. Putting on makeup, especially eye-makeup, must now be done with my left hand.

I used to love to cook and keep house but now it is virtually impossible, but my husband is great and has learned to do so many things that I can no longer handle because of the trembling and weakness.

A big help to me has been the El Paso Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. They have supplied me with equipment, information and a wonderful friendship when I have needed it. My husband has taken a deep and sincere interest in MS and is a very active member of the local board of directors, in charge of publicity.

We know that there is no longer any doubt that significant leads from promising research have been uncovered and that many of the techniques needed to exploit these leads are available. Until they find a deterrent or cure, I will continue to keep my faith in God. I have a prayer that I have used these past years, it is my day-to-day strength. "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; the courage to change the things I can; and the wisdom to know the difference."

Blood Pressure Clinics Slated

The Midland chapter of the American Heart Association will sponsor a series of blood pressure clinics in observance of Hypertension Month.

During the clinics, any interested person may have his blood pressure checked at no charge.

The clinics will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday at McKinzie's Grocery, 100 N. Lee St.

10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 25, at Walgreen's Super Center, 215 Andrews Highway.

9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 29, at Carter's Food Store, 1311 N. Lamesa Road.

Chapter officials said hypertension, or high blood pressure, affects an estimated 23 million persons a year in the United States — and probably half of them don't know it.

In noting that hypertension can lead to heart seizures and strokes, the chapter spokesmen said the condition is easily detected through blood pressure checks and usually controllable.

Candidates Find Speaker's Race Costly

AUSTIN (AP) — Former House Speaker Rayford Price once remarked on a television show that a winning speaker's race costs about $50,000.

That self-destructive moment of candor might be what caused his defeat for re-election to the House — and the speaker-ship — in 1972.

Now, the man who made the most of that issue and defeated Price wants to be speaker, and public relations men. As if the race can be costly indeed.

Rep. Fred Head, then of Texas, now of Athens, has reported spending $26,493 in the room with news releases the first four months of 1974 in his past two weeks.

In one of the paradoxes of the winning majority of the 150 campaign, Head is paying $2,000 a month to Danny Parrish House members who elect the speaker would be 76 votes. Head's expenditures thus break hand in election race against Head in 1972. Parrish does public relations work and polling. Head in one of the widest speaker's races in 20 years are spending money, too.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, has spent $8,446 this year. and Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, has reported expenditures of $2,650. Rep. Dave Finney, D-Fort Worth, says he has spent $3,863, counting $967 in unpaid credit card bills.

By comparison, Speaker Price Daniel Jr., who was virtually unopposed once Head beat Price in June 1972 — reported spending about $20,000 in his race.

Where does the money go? Oddly, in a political contest for 76 votes, some of it goes for public relations men. As if the speaker were elected by Texas ans at large, the candidates have flooded the Capitol press room with news releases the first four months of 1974 in his past two weeks.

In one of the paradoxes of the winning majority of the 150 campaign, Head is paying $2,000 a month to Danny Parrish House members who elect the speaker would be 76 votes. Head in one of the widest speaker's races in 20 years are spending money, too.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, has spent $8,446 this year. and Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, has reported exand has hired Kresge Polan away from Daniel's staff. Polan's salary hasn't showed up in the reports yet.

Speaker candidates spend money on lots of other things — airplane travel, parties, telephone calls, printing, meals.

Local watering holes are big beneficiaries of any speaker's race. Clayton, for instance, reported spending $27 at The Gallery — an Austin nightspot that features topless dancers. He explained the item with a code number that means expenses for "holding political and other meetings designed to promote his candidacy." Clayton also spent $192 at the Quorum Club, a favorite bar with politicians and $10.65 and the Red Baron, another topless club.

Parker also said he used the Quorum Club for a political meeting, costing $194.20 and bought $245.70 worth of liquor from Reuben's Bottle Shop for another political meeting.

Head and Finney both had $500 items for parties at the Scholzgarten, a popular tavern operated by Rep. Larry Bales, D-Austin.

Travel is a big item, because the winning vote might be some political unknown running for a House seat from some rural area, and personal visits with candidates are essential. All speaker candidates were anxiously watching the May 4 Democratic primary returns and also will be paying close attention to the 21 June runoff. The House will elect a speaker in January.

If Head has been the big spender, he also has done the best job of getting big contributions of $1,000 or more.

His big donations include: W. C. Parish, Houston industrialist, $1,000; J. D. Dannenbaum, president of Dannenbaum Engineering, Houston, $1,000; T. S. Thomas, Houston, $1,000; Wesley West, Houston oil man, $2,500; O. H. Crosswell, Houston, $1,000; Tolle Evans, Houston, $1,000; Jim Shelton, president of Cashway Building Materials, El Paso, $2,500; James W. McIver, President of Mobile Communications, Inc., Dallas, $5,000; Robert B. Baldwin III and Robert B. Baldwin, Houston investors, $1,000 each.

Committee Leaks Violate Basic Sense Of Fairness And Justice, Ziegler Says

DEBT-FREE HOUSE

Mr. Homeowner, does it make sense to strive for a paid-up mortgage as soon as possible? The so-called experts are divided down the middle on this question. So we'll cover the paid-up mortgage advocates today.

One of the prime motivations for buying homes is the view toward retirement. During that period, Social Security can, at best, act only as a supplement to living expenses. It will not pay for mortgage payments also. A paid-up mortgage in the latter, less affluent years of life can give a family a great sense of security and well being.

On the strictly financial side, the larger the down payment, the more you will save on interest costs and the lower your monthly mortgage payments will be, leaving more cash for savings and other living expenses. Also, the more you have invested in your house, the more you can take out when you eventually sell.

If you have any questions on this subject or any other aspect of real estate, feel free to phone or drop in at DON JOHNSON REALTORS, 2318 W. Ohio St. Phone: 683-5333. We're here to help! (Come in for your free copy of "Homes For Living" magazine).

Free Introduction To Swimming Set For Youths 4-12

Free introduction to swimming and stroke improvement classes will be held for youngsters between four and 12 years of age by the City of Midland Parks and Recreation Department in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

Classes are scheduled May 29, 30 and 31 at the Lee High School pool.

Red Cross water safety instructor trainer Mrs. Glen Carnett will instruct the class.

"This is an excellent opportunity for children to start their swimming lessons early with a chance to have individual attention and help since there will be an instructor for every one or two participants," Mrs. Carnett said.

"Also, this class will be especially helpful for those who will be taking regular lessons this summer as it will give them additional time to adjust to the water," she said.

Interested parents may register youngsters for the class by calling the Red Cross at 684-6161. The only requirement is that the child attend all three lessons, Mrs. Carnett explained.

Station Register Emptied Of Cash

More than $200 in cash was taken Friday afternoon from the Kent Service Station at 406 N. Terrell St.

Woodrow Paul, the attendant, told investigators a car with two men and a woman drove into the station about 2 p.m. One of the men went into the restroom, while the other man and the woman kept Paul busy.

Paul said he added some fluid to the car's power steering unit, collected 50 cents from the trio and went inside to put the money in the cash register. When he opened the cash register he saw the money was missing and looked up to see the car speed away.

Casa De Amigos Offers Variety Of Programs

EMERGENCY TRANSPORTATION — Mrs. John Ingram, right, director of Casa de Amigos, a Christian service center, is pictured in front of the center at 921 N. Dallas St. with Mr. and Mrs. Modesto Munoz. One of the activities of the center is providing emergency transportation for families in need. Transportation also is available to families participating in programs of the center, persons needing to obtain food stamps and rehabilitation. The automobile used by the center is furnished by Avis-Rent-A-Car. Funds for the center are derived from donations from churches, civic and social organizations and interested individuals.

CASA CRAFTS GUILD — Mrs. John Long, left, member of the center's board of directors and a volunteer instructor for the Casa Crafts Guild, assists Mrs. Chona Ramos, center, and Mrs. Simon Reyes with a jewelry-making project. Approximately 23 women are engaged in making Mexican paper flowers, tin ornaments, hand-embroidered gowns, Mexican 'Ojo de Dios' and silver jewelry. All profit from the sale of the jewelry goes directly to the participating women. New programs started by the center in 1974 include classes in knitting and crocheting and English. Self-help education is the primary criterion for determining the center's programs.

CENTER DIRECTOR — Don Jones, chairman of the board of directors of the center, is pictured with two of the board members, Mrs. Richard Stump, left, and Mrs. Estella Carrasco. There are 15 members on the board, one-third of them elected annually at the center's annual membership meeting. Five of the 15 are representatives of the Mexican American and negro community and the center's neighborhood. Youth enrichment and voter registration-education programs have been conducted by the center, and counseling and placement services are provided for persons from economically disadvantaged groups in Midland.

SENIOR CITIZENS — The center conducts special game parties for senior citizens. There also are luncheons and Spanish film showings each week. Food for the luncheons is provided by the Midland Senior Citizens Center. Pictured at a game party are, from the left, Ramon Gavia, Mrs. Margaret Hernandez, a member of the center's board of directors, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Valles. The center maintains a lending library and solicits donations of quality used clothing, which is sold to families in the neighborhood.

Meador, Miss Hall Wed In Morning Nuptial Rite

Mrs. Dean Allen Porter

A double ring ceremony performed Saturday morning in Golf Course Road Church of Christ united in marriage Sarah Lois Hall and Lee Mark Meador. Steve McKinzie of Albuquerque, N.M. officiated.

A rainbow candelabrum adorned with jade foliage flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra also traced in the greenery formed the background for the ceremony.

White satin bows marked the family pews where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Hall of 3624 W. Shandon St., and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Meador of Albuquerque, N.M., were seated. Gary Williams of Albuquerque and Cheryl Pollard of Midland were honor attendants for the bride. Seating guests for the ceremony were Bill Grasham of Abilene; Craig Meador of Albuquerque, brother of the bridegroom, and Mark Wayne and Ted Hall of Midland, all brothers of the bride.

The bride, carrying a cascade of Minuet roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible belonging to the bridegroom's mother, was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white bridal satin featured an Empire bodice of imported lace inlay enhanced by scalloped lace and beaded pearl trim which also accented the long unlined sleeves. The flowing organza overlay of the A-line skirt repeated the beaded pearl applique motif.

Lace appliques also appeared on the bride's veil of illusion which swept back over the long satin and organza train from behind the Minuet rose, stephanotis and gypsophila she wore in her hair.

Miss Pollard, carrying a nosegay of mixed pink and white flowers and wearing a cluster of the same flowers in her hair, wore a floor-length gown of white flocked fabric over pink satin. The gown had an Empire waist and white lace trim banding the bell sleeves and rounded neckline.

The church's Fellowship Hall was the site of the reception which followed the ceremony. House party members were Mrs. Bryan Pollard, Mrs. Dan Cipriani, Mrs. J. C. Newland, Mrs. Jack Moss, Elaine Ward, Mrs. Max Moreland, Sue Cowdrey and Mrs. Gordon Walters. Registering guests were Shelley Hall, sister of the bride, and Jan Meador, sister of the bridegroom.

Following a honeymoon in the mountains near Las Vegas, N.M., the newlyweds will reside at 695 College Drive, Apartment 2, in Abilene where both are students at Abilene Christian College. Mrs. Meador is a junior elementary education major, and her husband, who attended West Point in 1971, will graduate in August with a math degree. He is a member of Alpha Chi honor society at ACC.

Vicki A. Manns Becomes Mrs. Dean Allen Porter

Vicki Annette Manns became Mrs. Dean Allen Porter Saturday in St. Paul United Methodist Church before a background of an anniversary candle in an arrangement of mixed spring flowers on the altar, flanked by a pair of seven-branch candelabra traced with jade foliage.

The Rev. Samuel Ausiam performed the double ring ceremony, and Luanne Orrell provided organ music for the occasion.

Parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Manns of 4619 Leisure Drive and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Porter of Dallas, sat in pews marked with white satin bows.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown of heavy satin overlaid with taffeta in Empire styling. The skirt was A-line and banded at the hem with three rows of lace. Cluny lace emphasized the shoulders and wrists of the leg-of-mutton sleeves and formwas bridesmaid and Dawn Porter of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Serving as bridesmatron was Mrs. Ford Davis of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Their gowns and headpieces, in hues of green, blue and pink, were identical in styling to that of the maid of honor. Each attendant carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers accented with streamers to match her dress.

Eddie Turner of Dallas served the bridegroom as best man, with David Peitsch and Mike Chenoweth, both of Dallas, as groomsmen. Mike May of Dallas ushered.

Acolytes for the ceremony were Valerie Brandley and Mary Francis Witt.

Terry Ann Ingram of Dallas, niece of the bridegroom, distributed rice bags at the wedding reception which followed in the church's Fellowship Hall. House party members were Sylvia Chitwood of Houston; Debbie May, Dallas; Kim Manns, Peoria, Ill., cousin of the bride; Melinda Timmen, Westminster, Calif., cousin of the bride, and Bett Witt of Midland.

The newlyweds will be at home at 221 Indiana St., No. 217, in Lubbock following a honeymoon in San Antonio. The bride has received her degree in home economics education from Texas Tech University where her husband is a senior architecture major.

Mr., Mrs. Spoede Depart On Arizona Honeymoon

Kathy Sue Decker

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henry Spoede III are honeymooning in Sedona, Ariz., following their wedding Saturday in First Baptist Church, with Dr. L. L. Morris officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The bride, the former Janis Gaye Nelson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Nelson, who reside at 3408 W. Louisiana St. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart L. Spoede of Waco are the bridegroom's parents.

For the ceremony, the church was decorated with a double rainbow candelabrum flanked by a pair of cathedral candelabra, all traced with jade foliage. A pair of urns filled with jade foliage completed the altar decor.

Music for the rite was provided by Doris Bruce as organist, Judy Barber as pianist and Betsy Brown as guitarist. The bride's brothers, Britt and Terry Nelson, were soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal organza and Chantilly lace princess gown fashioned with a lace bodice accented by a bib front. The long fitted sleeves were enhanced with crochet beading and a deep lace flounce hemline swept into a full cathedral train.

The bride's jeweled lace Juliet cap held a tiered lace-edged English illusion veil and she carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis accented with a touch of purple statice.

Maid of honor Jan Johnston was attired in an old-fashioned gown of lavender organza floored with pastel flowers over deep-purple taffeta. It featured a high bib neckline, long sheer sleeves and purple velvet ribbon accenting each panel of the long skirt. She wore a lavender picture hat and carried a white wicker basket filled with mixed spring flowers and trailing greenery.

Stuart L. Spoede II of College Station was his brother's best man. Ushers included Hiram

Mrs. Herman Henry Spoede III

Spoede of Waco, brother of the bridegroom; Kip Averitt, Austin, cousin of the bride; Tim Watson, Houston; David Fleisher, Houston, and Bill Ramer, Waco.

A reception in the church parlor followed the exchange of vows. House party members were Mrs. Doug Day of Houston, bride's cousin; Mrs. Randy Bruno of Rising Star; Mrs. Randy Moore of Fort Worth; Katrina Neuhardt of Arlington; Louise Spoede of Houston, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Nic Thams of Bakersfield, Calif.; Susan Viverette of Dallas; Gaye Moye of Waco; and Rebecca Bufington of Birmingham, Ala.

The couple will be at their home at 2006 Austin St., Apartment A, in Waco after May 27.

A rehearsal dinner at Ranchland Hill Country Club was held prior to the wedding, hosted by the parents of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's luncheon in the Midland Woman's Club was hosted by Mrs. William B. Johnston and Jan Johnston, and Mrs. Charles Neuhardt and Katrina Neuhardt. A kitchen shower was given for the bride by Mrs. Russell Cotton, Mrs. Percy Tate, Mrs. Richard Hembree, Mrs. James Kerr and Mrs. Earl Gaertner.

Mrs. Lee Dolberry and Lisa Dolberry entertained with a bed and bath shower, with lingerie shower being given by Mrs. Bill Whitely, Mrs. Randy Bruno and Mrs. David Moore.

Mrs. Richard Klemm and Mrs. James Rogers were hostesses to a luncheon in the Rogers' home.

Garden Ceremony Unites Karen Holtkamp, Gibson

Karen Sue Holtkamp became the bride of Airman I.C. James Bradley Gibson in a garden wedding Saturday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Holtkamp, 2814 Midland Drive.

The bridegroom, currently stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gibson of 4603 Pasadena St.

Performing the double ring nuptial rite was Dr. Timothy Guthrie, minister at First United Methodist Church.

Given in marriage by her father before a brass archway and kneeling bench in the garden, the bride carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies with blue baby's breath. Streamers and backing for the bouquet repeated the lace of her mantilla which was held in place by seed pearls.

The bride's gown of candlelight eyelet and lace featured a fitted Empire bodice with a square neckline. The gown's puffed sleeves were gathered to a band from which they flowed, bell-shaped, to the wrists. A seed pearl necklace, a gift from the bride's grandmother, completed her ensemble.

Susan Holtkamp was her sister's maid of honor, with Karen Mills of New Orleans, La., and Nancy Ralph of Norman, Okla., as bridesmaids.

Each was dressed in an Empire gown of blue rose print on candlelight background, with blue tating down the front. The sleeves were similar in styling to those of the bride's gown.

Attendants carried nosegays of white daisies tied with blue ribbon and wore turquoise drops around their necks.

Serving at the reception which followed the ceremony in the Holtkamp home were Carol Gibson, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Weldon Brumblow of Odessa; Mrs. Don Hall of Odessa, and Mrs. John Horsley.

The bride and bridegroom figurines which topped the cake at the reception had adorned her paternal grandparents' wedding cake 50 years ago.

Mrs. Gibson has completed two years at West Texas State University and will complete her education at The University of Texas-Austin, where the newlyweds will reside. Her husband has attended Midland College and Southwest Texas State university.

Choir's Program Highlights Meet Of Midland Newcomers Club

Crockett Elementary School's "Motivation IV," a choir of fourth, fifth and sixth grade students, entertained the Midland Newcomers Club at the group's Thursday meeting in the Midland Country Club.

Directed by Mrs. Robert West, the choir began with "Midland, That's My Hometown" and closed with "Everybody Try to Love One Another." Guitar and drum accompaniment, baton twirling, dancing and solos were included in the presentation.

The program followed brunch and a business session attended by 30 guests and 55 members. Special prizes went to Mrs. Dwain Nesbitt, Mrs. Jim Ward, Mrs. Norman Stafford, Mrs. Jerry Speck, Mrs. Calvin Allen, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. Gerald Henderson, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Clarence Burash, Mrs. Joe Wilson and Mrs. Sandra Guinn.

Geneva Dell Metcalf Wed To Thomas K. Chambers

Geneva Dell Metcalf, daughter of the late Mrs. Opal G. Metcalf and niece of Mrs. Lovel Devoe Maddox, 3301 W. Shandon St., was married to Thomas Kent Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Chambers, 1708 Cloverdale Road, at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Bishop Larry James officiated for the double ring ceremony in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Presented in marriage by Jimmy Dock Maddox, the bride wore a formal gown of white taffeta. The bodice was trimmed with wide Cluny lace from the shoulders to the waist, forming a V-shaped effect. The high neckline was edged with two rows of Cluny lace. Enhancing the full bishop sleeves was wide lace. The skirt fell from an Empire waistline and was slightly gathered in front. The back flowed to a chapel train. She carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies around a yellow orchid.

Laura Lange was the maid of honor, and Sheila Maddox, cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Mrs. Jimmy Dean Sparks, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmatron.

Mike Hale attended as best man. The groomsmen were Ronnie Hindman and Jimmy Dean Sparks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. The ushers were James Hindman of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Paul Conelle, Clay D. Jones, nephew of the bride, and Tommy Blanscett of Lubbock, nephew of the bridegroom, were the ring bearers.

Brass baskets held daisy arrangements to decorate the altar. Mrs. Larry R. Turpen was the organist. Attendants to the bride wore formal gowns of sheer yellow dotted Swiss with miniature daisies bordering the midriffs and edging the short butterfly sleeves. They also had white picture hats and carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies.

The reception was held in the church's Cultural Hall. House party members were Marilyn Holiday, Teresa Rust, Marguerite Lee, Mrs. Tommy Tubbs, Mrs. Jimmy Maddox, Mrs. Earl D. Jones, Mrs. Jimmie Rust, Mrs. Wade Ingham, Mrs. James Hindman, Mrs. Gary E. Wojtek and Mrs. Albert Horne. After the reception, the couple left on a trip to the Big Bend National Park. They will reside in Odessa. The bride attended Ricks College in Rexburg, Idaho. The bridegroom, an employe of Texas Tank Manufacturers, attended West Texas State University.

Darla Sawyer, Saunders Wed In Stanton Church

STANTON — Darla Day Sawyer of Lenorah and David C. Saunders of Odessa were married at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Sawyer of Lenorah and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Saunders of Stanton.

The Rev. John Rankin of Lorenzo officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Katherine Pickett, organist, and Marc Traweek, soloist, provided the music.

Joanna Sawyer of Lenorah, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Melanie Hesson of San Angelo was the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Jerry Welch of Tarzan was the bridesmatron.

The father of the bridegroom was the best man. The groomsmen were Tony Sawyer of Lenorah, brother of the bride, and Danny "Sid" Saunders, brother of the bridegroom.

Marvin L. Standefer Jr. of Lenorah and Dan Yates of Littlefield, cousin of the bridegroom, ushered the guests. Jo Ellyson and Carla Ellyson of Lenorah were the flower girls, and Kyle Bruner of Midland was ring bearer.

Mr. Sawyer presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown of silk organza enhanced with re-embroidered Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The fitted bodice had sheer yoke and sleeves and a portrait neckline. The A-line skirt gathered into fullness in the back and extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell to elbow length from a matching lace headpiece.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall before the couple left on a trip to San Antonio. They will reside at the Crestview Apartments in Odessa.

The bride studied nursing at Angelo State University, where she was a member and officer of Lambda Tau sorority. She plans to continue her education at Odessa College. The bridegroom was graduated from the Permian Law Enforcement Academy and attends Odessa College. He is a deputy sheriff in Ector County.

Brown Weds Miss Avery In Double Ring Ceremony

STANTON — Cynthia Marie Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Avery, became the bride of Gary Michael Brown of Fort Worth Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony performed in the Stanton Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Brown of Fort Worth are parents of the bridegroom.

Officiating in the rite was A. E. Johnson of Northside Church of Christ in San Angelo. The bride's father presented her in marriage.

Her fitted Victorian gown of peau de soie featured full sheer sleeves and a long butterfly train. The veil was fashioned of elbow-length tulle and held by a tiara of rosettes and seed pearls.

The table was centered with an arrangement of large white Shasta daisies and yellow daisies.

Guests were Sherry Poe, Rita Hightower, Wendy White, Jan Presnall, Debbie Bearden, Bitsy Metcalfe, Julie Roberts and Ann Griffith.

maid of honor was Rae Avery, also a sister of the bride, and bridesmaid was Susan Vest. Attending as groomsmen were Albert Leजार of Fort Worth and Robert Hindman of Dallas.

Guests were seated by Mark Brown of Fort Worth, brother of the bridegroom, and Kendall Blocker, Sonja Kelly and Kyle Blocker were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively, with Roy Blocker and Julie Brown as candlelighters.

Following a reception in Cap Rock Auditorium, the couple departed on a wedding trip to Brownsville. They will be at their new residence in Houston after May 27.

The bride is a student at Texas Tech University where she was a member of the Biology Club. She will complete her internship with Herman Hospital in Houston. Her husband, a Texas Tech University graduate and member of Saddle Tramps and Sigma Gamma Epsilon, is a geophysicist for Amoco Production Co.

Mrs. Gilmore Tucker Williams

Gilmore T. Williamses Travel To New Orleans

New Orleans, La., is the honeymoon destination for Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Tucker Williams, who were wed Saturday afternoon in First Presbyterian Church in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert Boynton Smith.

The bride is the former Paula Kaye McCain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. McCain, who reside at 602 W. Cuthbert St. Mrs. Jewel Tucker Williams of Amarillo is the bridegroom's mother.

A massive arrangement of yellow and white daisies, purple carnations and white daffodils centered the church altar. Candle lighters Jimmy and Phillip McCain, the bride's cousins, lit white tapers in a pair of spiral candelabra entwined with jade greenery.

Christy Stapleton and Ted Hansen, both of Amarillo, were the bridal couple's honor attendants. Diane DePrang and Bill Gunkel, the bridegroom's cousin from Denver, Colo., were bridesmaid and groomsmen, respectively.

Bob Poer provided organ music for the occasion, with Ralph

Beasley of Anoch, cousin of the bridegroom, and Carmon McCain, cousin of the bride, seating wedding guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of ivory silk organza over bridal taffeta, enhanced with ivory ribbon threaded through Venise lace to create an Empire bodice.

Ruffles fashioned the sweetheart neckline, cuffed the long fitted sleeves and encircled the hemline of the A-line skirt, which flowed into a chapel-length train.

The bride's full-length veil fell from a Juliet headdress and she carried a bouquet of yellow and white roses accented with stephanotis.

Miss Stapleton, as maid of honor, wore a gown of yellow dotted Swiss accented with ruffles at the neck, sleeves and hemline. Miss DePrang's dress, fashioned of orchid dotted Swiss, was identical in styling. Each carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Sherri and Kay Collins distributed rice bags at the reception which followed in the church parlor.

House party members were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dobbe of Amarillo, Mrs. Bill Gunkel of Denver, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. DePrang, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Adams, Mrs. Harry Denton, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Roberts, Candi Tull and Mr. and Mrs. Dub Hagler.

Preceding the wedding was a rehearsal dinner given by the bridegroom's mother in the Gold Room of the Downtowner Motor Inn.

The newlyweds will reside in Lexington, Ky., after Aug. 31. Both are graduates of West Texas State University.

Stone and Metal New Jewelry Look

Jewelry is looking more and more natural these days. Designers are mixing stone and metal together for a different roughing-it look. Also, combinations of fake turquoise, bone and jet, set in gold electroplate give a feeling of cool, sand-swept coral beaches. They are bright accents to be worn with simple, solid colored clothing.

Mrs. Scott Douglas Bourland

Christian Ceremony Unites Bourland, Miss Wright

Memorial Christian Church was the site of the Saturday afternoon ceremony which united in marriage Dana Lynn Wright and Scott Douglas Bourland.

William F. Walker of North A and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ performed the double ring rite.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Wright, 3513 Cunningham St., and Mr. and Mrs. Norvan E. Bourland, 2612 Camarie St.

Midland Secretaries Win Professional Certification

Mrs. Larry Hock and Betty Lewis have earned the title of Professional Legal Secretary by completing a two-day examination given recently at Midland College under sponsorship of the National Association of Legal Secretaries (International).

Mrs. Hock is a secretary with the law firm of Legg, Saxe and Baskin. Miss Lewis is a secretary with Stubbeman, McRae, Sealy, Laughlin and Browder.

PROFESSIONAL SECRETARIES — Mrs. Larry Hock, left, and Betty Lewis, members of the Midland Legal Secretaries Association, have successfully completed a two-day exam and have earned the title of Professional Legal Secretary. They will receive their PLS certificates at the National Association of Legal Secretaries convention to be held in Houston in July.

The PLS examination currently is given twice each year by the NALS through the cooperation of colleges and universities. The examination was prepared by two educators, two practicing attorneys and two experienced legal secretaries. The exam covers written communication, skill and knowledge, human relations, secretarial procedures and office management, secretarial accounting, legal terminology, techniques and procedures and legal secretarial skills.

The exam first was given in 1960, and since then, 532 secretaries have achieved PLS rating. Mrs. Hock and Miss Lewis are the first Midland legal secretaries to achieve the rating.

Mrs. Hock and Miss Lewis will receive their PLS certificates at the annual convention of the NALS to be held July 21-25 in Houston.

Midland Rose Society Has Tour Of Memorial Garden

The Midland Rose Society met recently in Lancaster Garden, Center-Museum of the Southwest for a business session and tour of the Memorial Rose Garden. Dr. T. E. Spires presided.

Introduced as a new member was Mrs. Michael Wisenbaker. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Street of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris were guests.

Dr. Spires conducted the tour. A progress report was given on different varieties planted in the beds, which currently accommodate 165 rosebushes.

Following refreshments, Mrs. J. A. VanAuken presented the program, a review of the spring rose show held recently. Mrs. Richard Jons, records chairman, reported 314 entries in the horticulture division, with 62 blue, 59 red, 39 yellow and 26 white ribbons awarded.

It also was reported by Mrs. Jons, there were 41 entries in the artistic division, with 12 blue, 7 red and 6 yellow ribbons awarded. A recommendation was made that a new class specifically for miniature arrangements be added to the artistic division of the show.

Chairman of the 1974 show, Richard Jons, gave a report in which he stated 57 different varieties of roses were exhibited.

Dr. Spires announced the June meeting will be a covered dish supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Bond, 1600 Gulf St. The continuous rose show will begin in June. Members will compete for ribbons which will accumulate for a grand winner in October. Roses will be judged by American Rose Society rules and guides from the rose show may be followed for entering. Entry tags must accompany each rose. The winner will receive a rosebush of his or her choice.

The program for June will be a lecture and slides by Mrs. G. G. Orr, president of the Houston Rose Society. Guests will be welcome to the program. Information about the society may be obtained from Mrs. John Butts, membership chairman.

Dear Abby

Widower Is Being Pestered To Death

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widower for only ten months, and all I want is to be left alone. I am constantly pestered by widows, divorcees and wives whose husbands don't pay any attention to them. Also, people with the "have-I-got-a-girl-for-you!" routine. You wouldn't believe the propositions I get.

When I try to bow out politely, they say: "What's the matter, are you some kind of queer?" Last week a young neighbor from across the street came over with a pie and a story about how lonely she was with her kids in school all day and her husband on the road. Then came the proposition: I finally had to ask her to leave.

This morning while taking a shower I heard someone breaking through my front door. It was the lady next door. She said she just happened to see me through my bathroom window, and I looked like maybe I wasn't feeling well so she came over to see if there was anything she could do for me. I had a terrible time getting rid of her. After that, I pulled down my shades and bolted my door. I'm a prisoner in my own house!

I even put a sign on my front door "Were you invited?" but everyone thinks I mean somebody else. I am not particularly good-looking. I try not to hurt anyone's feelings, but I don't want anyone pestering me. What should I do?

Cydney Hill, Earl Shepard In Austin Rite

AUSTIN — The Westminster Presbyterian Church was the setting for the marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday of Cydney Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Hill of Austin, formerly of Midland, and Earl Robert Shepard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robert Shepard of Dallas.

The Rev. Richard Flaten of Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Thornton Hardie III was the matron of honor. The father of the bridegroom served as best man.

Martha Lou Stephenson of Baytown was the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer III of Midland, Mrs. O. B. Jackson of Dallas, sister of bridegroom, and Mrs. Alan M. Hill, sister-in-law of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

The groomsmen were Robert Pittinger of Dallas, Kyle Fullick of Baytown, Bob Kaminski and Cappy McGarr, Tom Stark and Dr. O. B. Jackson of Dallas, Alan M. Hill and Brian Hill, brothers of the bride, ushered the guests.

Mr. Hill presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of imported white silk organza over silk taffeta. The Empire bodice was veiled with appliques of Swiss lace in a floral design and had an oval neckline and butterfly sleeves. Swiss lace appliques enhanced the skirt, which ended in a chapel train. Her veil of imported white silk illusion was held by a coil accented with appliques of Swiss lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, white roses, gypsophila and ivy leaves.

The reception was held poolside at the home of the bride's parents.

After a trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside at 2025 Moser St. in Dallas.

The bride has a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from The University of Texas-Austin, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority and Southern Belles. She is a receptionist and secretary in the Real Estate Division of the Republic National Bank in Dallas. The bridegroom received a bachelor of business administration degree in marketing from UT-Austin and is associated with Henry S. Miller Real Estate Co. in Dallas. He was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom in the Headliners Club.

Mrs. Hardie, Mrs. Scharbauer, Mrs. Charles Wallace and Mrs. James T. Smith of Midland were hostesses to the bridesmaids' luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. John Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Duke of Midland were host couples to a pre-nuptial cocktail party for the couple in Dallas.

Seniors Honored

A brunch held recently in the home of Carolyn Brown, 4521 Leddy Drive, honored Lisa Troy and Juliann Doris, seniors at Lee High School.

Spring flowers were used in the decorations.

Assisting Miss Brown were her mother, Mrs. Warren Brown, and sister, Melanie Brown.

Daisy corsages were presented to the honorees and their mothers, Mrs. Donald Troy and Mrs. Carl Doris.

Miss Troy plans to attend Texas Woman's University, and Miss Doris will attend Texas Tech University.

Fruity Skin Conditioner

Mix two to four fresh apricots, or four to six dried apricots that have been soaked until plump, mix in a blender. Apply mixture to face and leave on for 15 to 20 minutes. Rinse your face well. This is a step to glowing healthy skin.

Cindy Kay Parks, Hal M. Gill Wed

AUSTIN — Cindy Kay Parks and Hal Michael Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Lee Gill of 3512 W. Michigan St. Midland, were married at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the University Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. William Joshua Parks of Comanche are the parents of the bride. The bride is a junior student at The University of Texas-Austin. The bridegroom has a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from UT-Austin and is employed as a field engineer with Halliburton Services.

The couple will reside at 3907 N. Windsor St., Victoria.

Dr. John W. Davenport performed the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. William G. Morgan of Dallas was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Kimberly Brazier of San Angelo and Linda Gill of Midland, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Don M. Parks of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, was the bridesmatron. Serving as best man was David Becker of Corpus Christi. Maurey Thornton of Alpine, Terry Graham of Austin and Lt. Don M. Parks of Lubbock, the bride's brother, were the groomsmen. The ushers were Robert L. Gill of Corona, N.M., brother of the bridegroom, and Terry T. Angevine of Houston.

Mrs. Sara Holman was the organist.

Mr. Parks presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a dress of white jersey accented by a cluster of seed pearls on a sculptured bodice. A short train descended from the bodice, which had a flowing collar and sleeves of jersey. The same material was used for her headpiece. She carried a nosegay of Cymbidium orchids.

The reception was held in Green Pastures.

Reynolds, Miss O'Brien Marry In Christian Rite

Greenery and candelabra holding white tapers and greenery secured with white satin bows were altar decorations in First Christian Church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Bethanie Ann O'Brien and David Matthew Reynolds.

The Rev. Steve Edwards officiated in the double ring ceremony, with Mrs. Ed Blair supplying organ music.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James R. O'Brien of 4417 W. Storey Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Reynolds of Westcliff, Colo.

The bride, carrying a cascade of Rubrum lilies, stephanotis and baby's breath with trailing springerli greenery, was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white luteal gown featuring a surplice bodice with an open neckline and long fitted sleeves. The dress' gently flared skirt ended in a hemline flounce. On her head was a white picture hat with a veil of illusion.

Carbi Watts of Houston, bridesmaid, wore a gown of shadon chiffon in pink and other springtime hues featuring an A-line halter bodice fitted to the waist and topped with a short jacket accented by three-tiered butterfly sleeves. The gown's skirt was flared.

She wore a picture hat with a pink organza veil accented by pink shadon ribbon and carried a white wicker basket filled with dusty rose and hot pink carnations, baby's breath and orchid heather.

Craig Crim was best man for the ceremony, and ushers were Craig Robertson and William Brunson.

House party members for the reception which followed in the church parlor were Cygne Hahn and Kathi Lambert at the serving table and Jan Schiemenz attending the guest register.

The couple will reside at 2902 3rd Place, A-20, in Lubbock, where both are Texas Tech University students. Mrs. Reynolds, formerly a student at The University of Texas-Austin, is majoring in dental hygiene and her husband is a visual communications major.

WON'T TURN TO FIREARMS— Gas Station Operator Hopes To File Appeal After Defeat In Court

HOUSTON (AP) — Art Ballard, the shotgun toting service station dealer, will turn to another court and not his firearms after being defeated Friday, he says.

A six-man jury in Justice of the Peace Hugo Touchy's court Friday ruled that Ballard must vacate the Mobil Oil station he has leased since 1972.

Ballard barricaded himself in the station for a week last month to defeat an eviction order.

Price Increases Are Announced For Aluminum

NEW YORK (AP) — Aluminum price increases that are expected ultimately to raise the prices of a wide variety of consumer goods have been announced by three of the nation's largest aluminum companies.

The price increases for ingots range from 6.3 per cent to 9.1 per cent, and were described as the result of agreements reached last March with the Cost of Living Council to raise prices in stages.

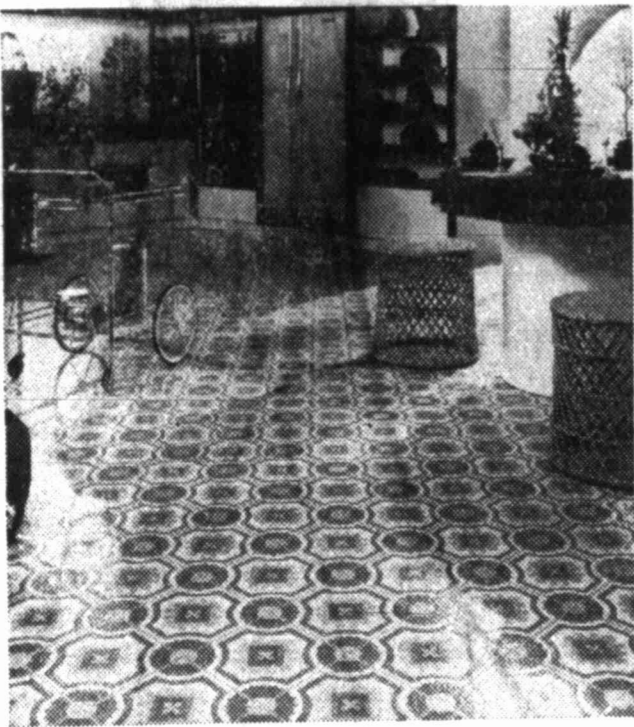

Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa) said it will raise its ingot price from 31½ cents to 33½ cents Monday, and on June 3 will add an average 3.2 per cent increase in the price of milled products.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical said its ingot price will go up for foreign customers from 33 cents a pound to 36 cents Monday. Prices of milled products to domestic customers will go up four cents a pound effective June 1. The company said domestic ingot prices may also be raised soon.

And Anaconda Aluminum Co., announced it was increasing the price of unalloyed aluminum ingot two cents to 33½ cents per pound as of June 1.

COUNTRY HOME FOR PRINCE CHARLES — Prince Charles, the 25-year-old heir to the British throne, is getting this 17th century mansion with 115 rooms and 3,000 acres of grounds, for his bachelor pad. The mansion is Chevening House near Sevenoaks, 25 miles southeast of London, willed to the nation by the Earl of Stanhope who died without an heir in 1967. He asked in his will that Charles be invited to live there. (AP Wirephoto.)

'Cousin' Of Rocket Fuel Is Being Used By Canadian In Hodgkins' Disease Fight

DALLAS (AP) — A Canadian cancer fighter is using a chemical cousin of rocket fuel to battle with "remarkable" success advanced Hodgkins' Disease, a mysterious affliction of children.

It strikes some 15,000 new victims each year, has its highest incidence among those in their 20s and is about twice as common in males as females for reasons still unknown.

In the past 10 years or so, steady progress has been made in prolonging the lives of victims by employing super voltage X rays and/or combinations of drugs previously found effective against childhood leukemia.

But, until now, most of the reported experience with such treatments has concerned Hodgkins' Disease in adults. For one thing, the disease is deemed trickier to assess and treat in children than in grown-ups.

On Friday, however, Dr. Richard D. T. Jenkin of Toronto described perhaps the most extensive experience reported to date in applying such methods to childhood patients.

Reporting to the First National Conference on Childhood Cancer, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, he gave this account:

A review of 109 children with early to advanced Hodgkin's treated at his hospital during the 15-year period 1958-1973 has revealed "a marked progressive increase" in the so-called five-year survival rate for all stages of the disease.

A five-year survival is regarded by cancer specialists as offering a good chance for ultimate cure.

Jenkin said these prolonged survival rates increased from 38 per cent for the 1958-1964 to 56 per cent for the 1969-1973 span.

He also said rates of relapses—always a problem with this disease—also dropped off sharply, with 57 per cent of the most recently treated group going five years without any relapses compared to only 19 per cent in the 1958-1964 cohorts.

Jenkin attributed the gains to use of progressively more extended radiation treatment for patients in the earlier stages of the disease and radiation plus a combination of several drugs for children in advanced and highly recurrent stages.

The drug treatment was based largely on combinations originally employed by researchers of the U.S. National Cancer Institute (NCI) in treating adult Hodgkin's patients.

And one of the drugs is procarbazine hydrochloride—a synthetic chemical derived in part from hydrazine, one of the rocket fuels used in America's space program.

Jenkin said the drug treatment was started relatively recently and employed only about 30 patients so far, but it produced "remarkable" results.

$180 Million Spent To Improve Courts May Not Help Much, Auditors Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auditors say $180 million spent by the Justice Department to improve the overcrowded courts was poured out in a blind and haphazard way and may accomplish little.

Those are the conclusions of a new General Accounting Office study of the court programs conducted by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, an agency of the Justice Department.

The GAO, a congressional watchdog agency, based its findings on a study of LEAA records, interviews, and field evaluations of the federally funded court programs in California, Colorado, Illinois, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania.

The projects in those states account for almost one-third of LEAA funds spent on the courts in the five years of the agency's existence.

"Nationwide studies of the courts emphasize one overriding problem — an increasing backlog of untried criminal cases and inordinate delays in bringing those accused to trial," the GAO report said.

Through block grants to states, LEAA has attempted to attack the problem, but it "has not made sure that its grants for state court improvement programs are directed to causes of the most serious problems in state and local courts," the report continued.

The GAO blamed state crime-fighting agencies for failing to collect data identifying causes of court backlogs.

Officials in all the states except Colorado cited case backlogs as their most serious court problem, but allocated only 17 per cent of their federal funds to a direct attack on the problem.

The report noted that LEAA intended to hire court specialists at each of its 10 regional offices to evaluate the effectiveness of court programs.

But half the jobs were vacant at one time or another during 1973.

The GAO recommended that the LEAA exert tighter control over the court improvement projects it funds and that it increase efforts to gather data about the court system.

Mack Wallace Says Country Is Facing Leadership Crisis

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mack Wallace said Saturday that the nation has more of a leadership crisis than it has an energy crisis or an economic crisis.

"This country has the resources to be energy self-sufficient," the Railroad Commission member told the Patrick Henry Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. "We have the capability within the free enterprise system to control inflation and assure maximum employment. Our people are basically decent and moral. What we have lacked is enough leadership to bring it all together."

Wallace, seeking re-election to his first full elected six-year term, said the nation should have learned during the Suez crisis of 1956-57 "that it was facing disaster if it depended too heavily on Middle East oil."

Other leadership failures were the delays in the Alaskan pipeline and refusal of states on the Eastern Coast to explore the continental shelf for additional oil supplies.

"On the other hand," he said, "Texas should remember that oil from this state provided 80 per cent of the fuel for the victory of our country and its allies in World War II. In France, it was German tanks which ran out of gas, not General Patton."

Wallace said the nation should go all out for energy self-sufficiency during the next 15 years "but with the exception of the Alaskan pipeline bill I still don't see any signs that our policy makers in Washington are ready to move."

Teen-Agers Hurt In Two-Car Crash

John Thomas Midkiff II, 17, and Elaine Evans, 15, were treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospital following a Friday night traffic accident at Midland Drive and Neely Street.

Both suffered cuts and bruises in the accident.

Miss Evans of Rt. 2, Box 948 was a passenger in a car driven by Midkiff of Rt. 1, Box 68. Shortly after 10:30 p.m. their car collided with a car driven by Anita Shirlene Floyd, 16, of 1811 McDonald St.

Product Safety Panel Votes It Cannot Ban High-Tar Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has voted 3 to 2 that it cannot ban high-tar cigarettes under the 1960 Hazardous Substances Act.

The ban had been sought in a petition filed Feb. 1 by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, and the American Public Health Association.

The possibility of the ban had been raised last August by Richard O. Simpson, commission chairman. Simpson had said it was an open question whether the commission could act against cigarettes under the hazardous substances act, despite the specific exclusion of tobacco products by the Consumer Product Safety Act, which set up the commission a year ago.

Action on Smoking and Health, a Washington-based anti-smoking group, termed the commission decision "incorrect and premature."

"Taking such precipitous action on a vital matter affecting the public health without benefit of a public hearing was contrary to established administrative procedure and a very bad omen for consumers relying on the commission," said John Banzhaf, director of the group.

He said his group probably will ask the commission to reconsider its decision and hold a public hearing.

Simpson's statement last year had brought down a stream of criticism from tobacco state legislators including Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who sought an opinion on a possible ban from the General Accounting Office.

It responded that "an outright ban on high-tar cigarettes involves a major policy decision which the Congress has not delegated to any regulatory agency."

The petition had requested that all cigarettes containing 22 milligrams or more of tar be banned as hazardous substances. This would have included 27 brands accounting for 15 per cent of the cigarettes sold annually.

Small Home Centers For Children Also Need State License

Almost everyone knows that large commercial centers which care for children are licensed by the state, but many persons do not know that the same law requires the small home center to have a license.

Mrs. Charles M. Linehan Resigns Post At Arthritis Unit

Mrs. Charles M. Linehan has resigned her position as executive director of the West Texas Chapter, The Arthritis Foundation, effective Friday.

Mrs. Linehan had been director of the West Texas Chapter, which includes 80 counties, since 1969.

Before that she helped organize the Permian Basin chapter in 1966.

In announcing her resignation, chapter president Mabry Peel said Mrs. Linehan "is chiefly responsible for the phenomenal growth of the West Texas chapter, culminating in our receiving the 'Tinker Award' in New Orleans at the 1974 regional meeting for the highest overall growth of any chapter in the region with a 56.4 per cent increase in giving during 1973."

Peel continued that Mrs. Linehan was instrumental in the Texas Tech University School of Medicine obtaining a rheumatologist in August of 1973. "Through her efforts we have a large Fellowship Fund available to this School of Medicine to encourage more students to study rheumatology and hopefully stay in West Texas area."

Under her direction, the chapter last year raised $99,351 with campaigns and programs conducted in 29 counties.

"It is a little known fact that to keep unrelated children in your home, you do need a license from the State Department of Public Welfare," states Kathy Eddins of the Social Services Division of the welfare department in Midland.

Miss Eddins points out that basically there are two types of child care licenses: The Commercial Day Care Center license for seven or more children and the Commercial Boarding Home license for six or fewer children. Both require inspections by the Fire and Health Departments, a health card for the operator and other adults in the home, and medical statements for the children of the family. Other requirements include a fenced play area and 35 square feet of floor space per child.

There is no charge for the license itself, Miss Eddins points out, but if a license is for more than three children a special use permit must be obtained from the Planning and Zoning Commission at a cost of $75.

Miss Eddins points out that the philosophy behind the licensing law is the protection of children who must receive care away from their homes. "It is not meant to be restrictive or punitive," Miss Eddins said. "The license is an attempt to insure that certain minimum health and safety standards will be maintained."

Midland has six licensed non-profit day care centers, seven commercial day care centers and 18 commercial boarding homes.

Information concerning licensing as well as lists of the licensed child care facilities in the city may be obtained by contacting Miss Eddins at 683-6396.

Textbook Panel Officers Named

AUSTIN (AP) — Mary Ann Roberts, a mathematics teacher at Spring Independent School District near Houston, will be chairman of the 1974 State Textbook Committee, the Texas Education Agency said Saturday.

Mrs. Roberts will be assisted by Mrs. Eloisa T. Cantu, of McAllen, vice chairman, and Dr. John F. Townley of Irving, secretary.

The 15-member committee, named by the State Board of Education to select textbooks for adoption by state public schools, will meet Oct. 2 to make the formal selection and prepare its final report.

Speakers Hit Women's Lack Of Participation In Organized Judaism

NEW YORK (AP) — A panel of speakers agreed Saturday that organized Judaism is having a hard time accepting women into full participation along with men.

The view was aired by two women and two men at the annual meeting of the American Jewish Committee.

Dr. Nancy Wyner, assistant principal of Larchmont, N.Y., schools said that only token steps have been taken—by some synagogues and seminars—to equalize the status of women in Jewish life.

"The progress that has been made has been almost covert," she said.

Rep. Wilson Seeks Draft Reinstatement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas congressman, contending that the concept of an all-volunteer armed force is harmful both to democracy and fighting effectiveness, has introduced legislation to reinstate the military draft.

"The absence of Selective Service has critically impaired the fighting effectiveness of all of our armed services, and particularly the Army and Marine Corps," Democratic Rep. Charles Wilson told a news conference Friday.

"The quality of recruits for these two services has steadily declined from a mental and educational standpoint, and the combat units contain a great disproportion of culturally deprived young men," said Wilson, a Naval Academy graduate.

She said that the Jewish community has made no provisions for including the independent woman in its religious-communal activities.

Karen DeCrow, a Syracuse, N.Y., attorney and a women's rights advocate, said the Jewish community regards women as "lesser human beings" and only as support-figures for men.

She said Jewish communal activities are male-oriented and male-dominated.

Rabbi A. James Rudin, assistant director of the committee's interreligious affairs department, proposed "active recruitment of Jewish women for the rabbinate" and other responsible positions.

He also urged disbanding of the temple sisterhoods, saying they deterred women from synagogue leadership by channeling them into "traditionally feminine or supportive roles."

Actor Running For President

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — Actor Gary Merrill, who has played politicians on the screen, says he's a candidate for president.

Merrill said Friday he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976 because the American people are tired of politicians and want a real person in the White House.

"I would like to be the Democrats' answer to Ronald Reagan, and I'm a better actor," he said.

Merrill, 58, lives on the Maine coast at Falmouth. He ran unsuccessfully for Congress in 1968 as a Republican.

Reeves Test Flowing Gas

The Superior Oil Co. No. 1 Brennan-State, one-mile south outpost to the three-well Chapman Deep (Fusselman) gas field of Reeves County, flowed gas at the estimated rate of five million cubic feet per day, on a 12-hour test.

The test was taken through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 15,840-15,849 feet, after the section had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid, and 300 cubic feet of nitrogen per gallon of acid.

Earlier, it flowed at the estimated rate of 3.75 million cubic feet of gas daily, through a 1/2-inch choke for two hours, and through a 1/4-inch choke, the estimated gas rate was 1.3 million cubic feet, for one hour and 50 minutes. Both tests were taken through the above perforations.

Still earlier it indicated Fusselman production, with the flowing of gas at the estimated daily rate of six to eight million cubic feet, on a drillstem test taken from 15,725-15,875 feet.

Total depth is 15,875 feet, with a five-inch liner hung from

Edwards County Wildcat Staked

Mitchell Energy Corp. operating out of Houston, has filed an application to drill 14-1 McCall-Wittenburg, as a 5,600-foot wildcat in Edwards County.

Located 1 1/4 mile west of the opener and lone producer in the Nueces (Pennsylvanian) gas field, it spots 2,760 feet from south and 1,275 feet from east lines of section 14, block P-1/2, GC&SF survey, seven miles southeast of Rocksprings.

Location Staked In Scurry County

Texaco Inc. has made plans to drill No. 348-1 P. L. Fuller, one location northeast of Canyon production in the Fuller, East field of Scurry County. Contract depth is 6,885 feet.

Drill site is 1,220 feet from north and 900 feet from west lines of section 617, block 97, H&TC survey, 17 miles northeast of Snyder.

Barnes Sets Borden Site

A 1/2 mile south outpost to Ellenburger production in the Fluvanna, Southwest field of Borden County has been staked by J. C. Barnes, operating out of Midland. It is No. 1-J Miller.

Drill site is 1,900 feet from south and east lines of section 521, block 97, H&TC survey, four miles northwest of Fluvanna.

Well Completed In King County

The Big-N (Tannehill) field of King County gained a new producer, with the completion of Taubert, Steed, Gunn & Meders, Wichita Falls, No. 4-N S. B. Burnett Estate, 17 miles southeast of Guthrie.

On a 24-hour potential test, it pumped 110 barrels of 37-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio measuring 100-1.

Completion was through perforations at 2,754-2,758 feet. Treatment, if any, was not reported.

Well site is 330 feet from south

OLD "POD AUGER" — The Permian Basin Petroleum Museum is seeking help in restoring its old water well drilling machine. The "pod auger" drilled to depths of 400 feet in rare cases.

Petroleum Museum Needs Help In Restoring Drilling Machine

Wanted: a carpenter-mechanic willing and able to tackle restoring a 50-year-old machine, mostly for free.

Homer T. Fort, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum in Midland, is looking for a person or firm to fix up the museum's "pod auger," a device used for drilling water wells on ranches and which used a dizzy horse for motive power.

The machine, now in a Midland warehouse, was found on a remote ranch in southwestern New Mexico last year. A horse or mule was hitched to the portable driller and made to walk around in circles. This rotated a derrick, the derrick's platform, and a drill string to the bottom of which was fastened a steel cylinder or "pod" that did the digging.

Presently, it has a bent axle and some timbers which need replacing and needs a general fix-up. The museum thinks it has all the necessary parts, but a few might have to be fabricated.

Attempts to pin down the ancestry of the machine have been frustrating. The Smithsonian Institution, the Patent Office, and the Bureau of Mines have no information on the manufacturer or dates. However, a letter to the editor of "Water Well Journal" brought replies which indicate the machine may have been made by one of three Iowa firms back in the period 1900-1920.

They also brought some nostalgia. John C. Lisle, engineering manager for the Lisle Corp. of Clarinda, Iowa, sent pictures from an early catalog and wrote:

"Quite a few of these machines were financed by the Lisle Corp., taking a mortgage on the purchaser's team of horses. . . . You can bet that the machine is at least 50 years old."

Dick Marcus of Raymond, Minn., wrote: "We had this well machine exactly as you state some 40 or 50 years ago. We hauled it from place to place with a team of horses or mules, and one horse would go round and round. Our horse seemed to get dizzy and would just lie down."

The machine's use of a derrick and the rotary drilling principle make it "a nice marriage of ranching and oil history," Fort said.

The new petroleum museum, opening in 1975, will either display the machine inside the building or reserve it for actual demonstrations outside. Probably with a powered lawn tractor, and a dizzy driver.

BIG SPRING — The Permian Basin Section of American Chemical Society will hold its final meeting of the 1973-1974 year Thursday at La Posada restaurant in Big Spring.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. of Big Spring will host a social hour at 6:30 p.m. The dinner and program are slated for 7:15 p.m.

Dr. Bennett Hutchinson, professor of chemistry at Abilene Christian College, will speak on "Far Infra-Red Spectra of Metal Complexes."

Dr. Hutchinson has been a member of the faculty at ACC since his graduation from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1969, where he earned his Ph.D. degree.

Midland Is Spotlit In Union Oil Magazine

Midland is spotlighted in a six-page color spread on West Texas in Seventy Six, the magazine of Union Oil Co. of California, published in Los Angeles.

The article is entitled "Midland, U.S.A." and calls the Tall City "a modern oasis made of steel and cement."

"Approaching Midland from either the east or west, the driver is exposed to a mirage-like experience. He sees modern office buildings stretching upward; around him is nothing but the open West Texas landscape," the article says. The magazine points out that more than 21 per cent of Midland's citizens are either directly or indirectly affiliated with oil industry operations.

Graduate Center Announces Classes

The Permian Basin Graduate Center has announced classes to be held this week as part of its continuing education program.

The Oil and Gas Fundamentals presentation on "Oil and Gas Accounting and Office Procedures" will be team-taught by Donald S. Johnson, C.P.A., and Patricia M. Beck, C.P.S., Wednesday evening, May 22, from 7-10.

John Lauderdale, gas contracts representative, Texas Oil and Gas Corp., will present a lecture on "Contracts and Economics" from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday. The fee is $20 for the individual session.

Registration may be made at the Graduate Center office, 104 Gulf Building, Midland or by telephoning 563-2311.

Study Group To Meet Monday

The Midland Operations Study Group of the Permian Basin Section of the SPE of AIME will hold its regular monthly luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. Monday in the American Legion Hall.

Jerry Nash, production engineer for Mobil Oil Corp., will present "Conventional Beam Pumping Production Charts." Nash will discuss the utilization of existing sucker rod pumping systems to their fullest capacity before changing to larger pumping equipment.

Beam pumping production charts will be presented that will aid in optimizing the producing capacity of beam pumped wells.

Facts For Use On Congressmen

Ed Thompson, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, has put together some facts that will help the reader give others, including business associates, friends and congressmen, a realistic picture of the independent's role in the oil industry.

The facts show that although 80 per cent of all domestic oil and gas reserves have been found by the independent, he controls only about 30 per cent. Another fact — 20 years ago, there were more than 20,000 independent oil operators. Today there are less than 10,000.

Thompson points out that what are known as tax "loop holes" to the oil industry are referred to as "tax incentives" when applied to wood, coal, iron, gold, gravel, silver and other minerals. Thompson also points out that a wildcat oil exploration only

WASHINGTON OIL—

Politics To Rule Oil-Related Tax Measures Now

By CLYDE LA MOTTE

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent WASHINGTON — It looks like politics will be the ruling force in oil-related tax legislation in the years ahead.

Political involvement isn't exactly a new development, especially in Washington, but it's apparently heading to new heights now.

This was signaled last week when the House Democratic caucus got directly involved in oil and gas percentage depletion by voting for requiring a House floor vote on an amendment which would put a retroactive end to this long-standing tax policy.

Over the decades the House Ways and Means Committee has been the dominant force in tax legislation. When it drafted a tax bill, that bill was sent to the House floor under a rule which prohibited amendments. That is, the House either voted yes or no on the over-all bill.

The theory behind this practice was that tax legislation is highly technical and complicated and should not be subjected to the whims and fancies of individual congressmen.

This image that the committee was the authority on taxes was strengthened by the fact that the committee's chairman, Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) was a man who knew his subject. Further, members of the committee did not serve on other committees. That is, their committee activities were focused on tax matters. They were to be the congressional experts on this subject.

In the present setting, the committee drafted a tax bill which included a proposal for a five-year phase-out of percentage depletion, with certain exemptions and exceptions. Normally, that would have been the version the House would have voted on. But not so this time. This Democratic caucus got into the act by directing the House Rules Committee to send the bill to the floor for vote with provisions for a vote for an amendment by Rep. William J. Green (D-Pa.) and others to end percentage depletion retroactively to Jan. 1 of this year.

In other words, the Democratic caucus took the play away from the House Ways and Means Committee. There's more to this than just a tug of war over procedures. What it means in general is that the grip the House Ways and Means Committee has had on tax matters is being broken and that tax policies will be shaped (Continued On Page 3C)

Conoco Promotes Jackson B. Brown

Jackson B. Brown has been promoted from senior geologist to division geologist in Continental Oil Co.'s Midland exploration division.

A native of Amarillo, Brown joined Conoco's exploration department here in 1949 and later served at Fort Worth and Abilene. He returned to Midland as supervising geologist in 1965 and was promoted to senior geologist in 1969.

He is a graduate of The University of Texas at El Paso.

Basin Drilling Activity Increases

The Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico had 253 rotary rigs making hole last week, which was an increase of 11 units over the 242 rigs reported in the two-state area two weeks ago.

It is also an increase of 59 rotary rigs over the 194 reported in a comparable week last year.

Although Eddy County, N.M., is still leading, with 32 active rigs, the count for that area decreased three units.

The count for Pecos County was up two, with the report of 27 active rotaries and Lea County, N.M., reported 28, which was an increase of four.

R. Ralph Scroggins Joins Apexco Inc.

TULSA — R. Ralph Scroggins, formerly of Midland, Tex., has joined Apexco Inc., Tulsa-based oil and gas exploration company, as manager of drilling and producing operations.

Scroggins previously was affiliated with Union Texas Petroleum Corp. at Midland as assistant district production manager.

He began working for Gulf Oil Corp. in 1952 at Tulsa and in 1957, he joined Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp., which later became Union Texas Petroleum. He spent 10 years in various field and staff engineering assignments, was named district production superintendent in 1968 and assistant district production manager in 1969.

Scroggins is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME and Permian Basin Chapter of American Petroleum Institute and of the Oklahoma and American bar associations.

Clee Barnett Retires From Mobil After 37 Years

Clee Barnett, buyer in the material supervisor and production accounting supervisor. He was assigned to his present position in 1968.

Barnett and his wife Fern plan to spend their retirement in Midland.

He was honored by fellow employees at a coffee. Fred S. Wright Jr., area producing manager, on behalf of the company, presented him with a pen and pencil set bearing a Mobil emblem. He was also presented with gifts from fellow employees. He and his wife were further honored at a dinner recently held at the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Barnett began working for the company in 1936 at Kermit. He was transferred to Brownfield in 1940. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1942 through 1945 and returned to the Brownfield area until 1947, when he was transferred to Alice as an assistant material foreman.

He returned to Brownfield in 1948 and in 1950 was promoted to material foreman. Prior to coming to Midland in 1966, he worked in Lubbock as a

ARCO Announces Venezuela Discovery

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Co. has announced the discovery of oil in an exploratory well in Venezuela, some 250 miles southwest of Caracas.

The well is operated by Sinclair Venezuelan Oil Co., a 97 per cent-owned subsidiary of Atlantic Richfield. It produced 15.8-gravity oil on test at the rate of 874 barrels per day through perforations over a depth interval between 8,846 and 8,906 feet.

A spokesman said that a development drilling program is being planned as a result of the discovery, which is located on Sinclair Venezuela's Sincro 16 concession near the Barinas Field where the company has been producing oil for a number of years.

GIC Library Has Big File Of Oil Data

The Geological Information Center, 211 Oil and Gas Building, 165 W. Wall St., has a complete array of information and equipment available to all those who subscribe to their services.

In the GIC library, the operator will find a complete file of all available electrical, radio activity and hydro-carbon logs, well history tickets covering the period from the very earliest days of exploration to the present time, oil and gas production reports, maps, current activity data on location, drilling progress, scouting reports, completions, change of operators, geophysical and plugging reports.

The accessibility of this information is made possible by a cross-reference method of filing by county, block and survey with selections falling in numerical order. This card file information, when put together with the log, provides an invaluable service in research time eliminated. The volume of material is constantly being enlarged.

Also provided for their subscribers are private workrooms, copy machines, microfilm reader-printer and light table. Membership, at a reasonable monthly or daily rate, provides immediate local access to this exceptionally fine collection of information that covers primarily the Eastern shelf and Permian Basin areas of West Texas and New Mexico counties.

Those desiring more information may dial 682-7773.

Washington Oil—

It could well mean that future tax actions likely will be based to a greater extent than ever on the political climate.

Realistically, politics has always played a role, but it was restricted primarily to participants — members of the powerful tax committee — who at least had been exposed to a given issue through committee hearings, staff proposals and a final hashing out of details by the committee members themselves.

The prospect now is that this approach will be replaced, at least on occasion, by proposals being made from the floor which have not been subjected to public hearings or committee consideration.

The case in point at the moment is Green's proposal for an instant ending of percentage depletion. This was not on the agenda when the committee held hearings to permit all sides to air their views.

Green, himself a member of the Ways and Means Committee, had suggested such an approach to the committee but was out-voted by those in favor of a gradual phase-out.

Not satisfied with that, and well aware there was an opportunity to utilize the public's suspicion of big profits by major-oil companies, Green went to other House members, especially on the Democratic side, and was successful in lining up solid support for an immediate end to the depletion tax provision.

The Democratic caucus expressed its view by voice vote, so that no member would go on record as to how he had cast his vote.

It remains to be seen how the issue will be settled when a floor vote is taken. But in view of the present mood of Congress, the prospect is that the House

The Senate will have to act on any tax measure, of course, and then the President will have to decide to sign or veto.

But the major point here is that a long tradition regarding congressional handling of tax measures is being weakened, perhaps eventually ended entirely.

Frank Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute and a former member of the House Ways and Means Committee himself, is shaking his head over the turn of events, even though he was not too surprised because he has been on the Washington scene a long time.

He termed the action by the caucus a "lynch mob" approach, aimed at punishing the major oil companies. A Texan, Ikard considers the move by the caucus akin to hanging a man before he's even tried.

In this instance, the industry seemingly is being hanged because it made a profit.

Just to make sure that it did the "hanging" right, the caucus also voted to require international oil companies to consider foreign taxes as business expense deductions when figuring their U.S. tax, rather than being allowed to credit foreign taxes directly against their U.S. taxes.

One thing the caucus didn't get around to considering, apparently, is how the nation is going to meet its energy needs in the years ahead.

Miller Completes Dawson Extension

Miller Exploration Co., Midland, has completed No. 2 Krezser in the Ackerly (Dean) field of Dawson County.

It pumped 22 barrels of 40-gravity oil and 102 barrels of water, daily, with gas-oil ratio measuring 982-1.

Production was through perforations at 8,135-8,815 feet, which had been fractured with 100,000 gallons and 200,000 pounds.

Originally staked as an 11,650-foot wildcat, it was drilled to 11,260 feet, then plugged back to 9,010 feet in 5½-inch casing set at 10,020 feet.

Location is 1,900 feet from south and west lines of section 40, block 35, T-4-N, T&P survey, abstract 611, three miles southwest of Sparenburg.

Drilco Announces Personnel Changes

Drilco Division of Smith International, Inc., based in Midland, has made several major changes in shop management personnel in its Midland Industrial Operations plant.

Manufacturing Manager Chuck Warrick and Plant Manager Lee Glover have announced the promotions of seven Midland foremen to managerial positions with more realignments coming over the next two weeks.

Purpose of the realignment is so manufacturing operations can be decentralized and restructured along product lines. The intent is to create departments with management fully responsible for production, personnel, safety and housekeeping for greater efficiency and better employee management relationships.

George Hargrave, a former general foreman, has been promoted to production manager, while promotions to department manager went to Bill Fisher, John Bowen, Wiley Ballard, Max Wright, Cecil Edwards and Robert Simpson, all of Midland.

Hargrave joined Drilco in March, 1964, as a Midland shop inspector. He served Drilco as a mill operator for several years, then in January 1967, Fisher was promoted to shop foreman. In October 1972, he was promoted to general foreman.

Fisher a 16-year veteran of Drilco, joined the firm in September 1958. A thread mill operator for three years, Fisher was responsible for assembling all machinery and putting the rubber mold plant into operation in May 1961. In July 1966 he was promoted to rubber mold plant foreman, a position he has held since. Fisher will continue to direct activities of the rubber mold plant and outside machine work by Drilco, as well.

Bowen came to Drilco just six days after Fisher in 1958. His assignment as department manager will be in the trepanner, welding and repair areas. He joined Drilco as a machinist and in March 1964, was promoted to shop foreman. In June 1973, he was promoted to shop foreman. In June 1973, he was promoted to lead foreman.

Ballard has been a member of the earth boring manufacturing firm since December 1961. A hob operator for several years, Ballard was promoted to Midland shop foreman in September 1966. His area of concern will be industrial tools, the Ezy-Torg and Shock Subs.

Edwards joined Drilco as a quality assurance inspector in February 1968. He was promoted to machine parts inspector in 1969 and to lead QA inspector in 1971. He became Midland shop foreman in 1972. Edwards' area of activity is in the Midland pipe shop.

Wright came to Drilco in 1961 as a machine operator at the Midland shop. In 1963, he was transferred to Libya, North Africa, as a spindle operator in the Libya plant. He returned to Midland in 1966. During 1968, Wright was transferred for six weeks to Singapore to train new employees at Drilco's Singapore plant. Then in May 1968, he was promoted to Midland shop foreman, a position he has held since.

Wright's area of work is in the new reamer parts fabrication shop just constructed on the plant's southwest corner.

Simpson joined Drilco in July 1969, as a journeyman machinist in Manufacturing Services. He was promoted to Manufacturing Services foreman in 1973, a position he has held since.

Arctic Pipeline—

(Continued From Page 1C) other development is expected to find at least another 300 trillion cubic feet.

In what has been described as a conservative Canadian estimate, proved and potential reserves from early Mackenzie area explorations are believed to exceed 100 trillion cubic feet.

United States marketers have contracted to buy more than 20 trillion cubic feet of this Canadian gas.

The 27-member consortium for the Arctic Gas project reports already having spent more than $50 million on engineering, economic, and environmental studies. The Northern Border group says it has spent $1.2 million on environmental studies alone.

Two other studies for possible transportation routes for moving Arctic gas to consumers also are under way.

An $11 - million feasibility study is being conducted by El Paso Natural Gas Co. on the possibility of a natural gas pipeline paralleling the $6-billion Trans-Alaska crude oil line from Prudhoe Bay to Alaska's south coast, where the gas would be liquefied and moved to U.S. markets by tanker.

Several impressive gas discoveries also have been made in the Arctic Islands to the east and northeast of the Mackenzie area.

The Polar Gas Project is studying alternate pipeline routes on either side of Hudson Bay to transport the Arctic Islands gas to southeastern Canada and to U.S. markets.

Canadian estimates of the proved and potential Arctic Islands natural gas reserves exceed 240 trillion cubic feet.

Former Midlander Green Is Speaker For Geology Meet

Willard R. Green of Houston, geologist with Shell Oil Co. International Ventures, will be the speaker for the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the West Texas Geological Society in the American Legion Hall.

Green's topic will be "Pennsylvanian Sandstones in The Kerr Basin of Central Texas."

A former Midlander, he joined Shell in 1955 in the Rocky Mountains Area. He has had 17 years experience in West Texas and New Mexico, including eight years in Midland.

Green is past president of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

Green, himself a member of the Ways and Means Committee, had suggested such an approach to the committee but was out-voted by those in favor of a gradual phase-out.

Not satisfied with that, and well aware there was an opportunity to utilize the public's suspicion of big profits by major-oil companies, Green went to other House members, especially on the Democratic side, and was successful in lining up solid support for an immediate end to the depletion tax provision.

ASME To Meet Tuesday In Odessa

The Permian Basin Group of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its next regular monthly meeting on Tuesday at the Bonanza Sirloin Pit Steak House in Odessa. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner meeting will begin at 7:30.

Paul Cooper, equipment chief for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Midland, will talk on "Your Phones of Tomorrow." The program will cover such subjects as the Telesat Communications Satellite, cordless telephones, picture phones, electronic switching and Bell Telephone construction projects in the Permian Basin area.

Dunigan Completes Borden Field Well

James P. Dunigan, Inc., Abilene, completed No. 1-J Miller (originally filed No. 1-521 Miller) as a ¾-mile south extension to Ellenburger production in the Fluvanna, Southwest field of Borden County.

It potentialized flowing 118 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day, through a 5-64-inch choke and from open hole section at 8,313-8,315 feet. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

Well site is 1,100 feet from north and 2,400 feet from east lines of section 521, block 97, H&T survey, four miles northwest of Fluvanna.

Crockett County Gets Extensions

Two extensions to Canyon sand production in the Adams-Baggett Ranch field of Crockett County have been completed by Amarex, Inc. of Oklahoma City.

No. 7-1 J. M. Baggett, a 1½-mile northeast extension, was finished for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.8 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was natural through perforations at 4,757-4,979 feet.

It is 1,320 feet from south and 1,920 feet from west lines of J. W. Ray survey 1, abstract 4478, 28 miles southeast of Ozona.

Second Extension

The No. 11-159 J. M. Baggett Jr., a 1½-mile southeast extension, was completed for a calculated, absolute open flow of 650,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

The producing section was at 4,836-4,972 feet, which had been fractured with 42,000 gallons and 42,000 pounds.

Well site is 1,420 feet from north and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 159, block O, GH&SA survey, 28 miles southeast of Ozona.

Little Current Races To 99th Preakness Victory

Neopolitan Way Finishes Second With Derby Winner Cannonade 3rd

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
BALTIMORE (AP) — Miguel Rivera gunned Little Current through a hole along the rail approaching the eighth pole and he charged to a runaway victory in the $209,000 Preakness Stakes Saturday at Pimlico.

Outsider Neopolitan Way was second and Kentucky Derby winner Cannonade was third ahead of Jolly Johu, who was another longshot.

For a time in the upper stretch it appeared Cannonade might keep alive his chances for the Triple Crown, but those chances evaporated in the final eighth of a mile as Little Current simply ran away.

Buck's Bid's hopes for the Preakness vanished when he stumbled coming out of the gate and threw rider Don MacBeth. MacBeth apparently was unhurt.

Little Current, who had finished fifth in the Kentucky Derby after making a big stretch run, beat Neopolitan Way to the finish by a widening seven lengths. Neopolitan Way finished a length in front of Cannonade, who was three quarters of a length better than Jolly Johu.

The time of 1:54 3/5 for the 1 3/16 miles tied the clocking of Nashua in 1955 and made the 99th Preakness the third fastest.

Canonero II won in 1:54 flat in 1971 and Secretariat was timed in 1:54 2/5 last year.

Little Current, owned by John Galbreath, returned $28.20, $15.40 and $7.80 to his backers in a crowd of $4,911 on a sunny day. Neopolitan Way, owned by Elizabeth F. Thomas, paid $22 and $10, and John M. Olin's Cannonade paid $4 to show.

Little Current's win was worth $156,500. Both the gross purse and the winner's share were Preakness records.

In spoiling Cannonade's shot at the Triple Crown, Little Current, who had been ridden by Bobby Ussery in the Derby, won his second race in the eight starts as a 3-year-old and third in 12 outings in his career.

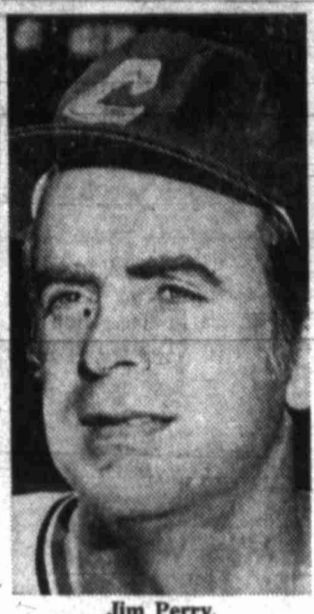

Completing the order of finish after Jolly Johu were Kin Run, J.R.'s Pet, Derby runner-up Hudson County, Rubie The Great, Silver Florin, Destroyer, All Game, and Buck's Bid.

Each starter carried 126 pounds.

Turning for home, Cannonade was in the middle of the track and got his head in front briefly. But then at the eighth pole, Little Current shot through on the rail that left the crowd gasping as he simply ran away from his rivals.

Rivera said after the race, "I had a great horse and I never was worried about the inside. I him only once. I want to thank the track," said Cordero of Cannonade's performance. "I moved him up in the stretch 'He just couldn't get ahold of but he didn't run his race."

Tigers Edge Tribe, 3-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eddie Brinkman tripled home the tying run in the seventh inning and scored on a single by John Knox to give the Detroit Tigers and Mickey Lolich a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

Loicher finished with a five-hit performance.

Lolich finished with a five-hit performance.

Sox Top Oakland

CHICAGO (AP) — Bucky Dent's two-run triple climaxed a three-run rally in the fourth inning, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 3-2 decision over the Oakland A's Saturday night.

Singles by Bill Melton, Ron Santo and Ken Henderson scored the first run of the Chicago fourth and set the stage for Dent's game-winning hit off Vida Blue.

Rivera said after the race, "I had a great horse and I never was worried about the inside. I

Courtney Stretches Lead

Diminutive Rod Curl Trails By 2 Strokes

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Longshot Chuck Courtney scrambled to a par 70 and stretched his lead to two shots, but the awesome figure of Jack Nicklaus wheeled into position for a shot at the title in the third round of the $250,000 Colonial National Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

Courtney, a nonwinner for five years, put together a three-round total of 206, four under par on the windswept 7,142-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Ron Curl, a 5-foot-5 Wintu Indian, had a 71 for a 206 total, two under par and two behind Courtney.

And Nicklaus, who said earlier in the week he would not be playing here if he was not required to, closed to within three shots with 69-209.

"I like the position at being two or three shots off," Nicklaus said. "I'm in position to get off to a good start tomorrow and shoot right by everybody."

Those three—Courtney, Curl and Nicklaus—were the only ones in the select field of designated players able to break par for three rounds of play in a swirling wind that Saturday gusting to 30 miles an hour.

But 10 others remained among those still eligible to challenge in the final round.

All tried and failed as a 33-car lineup was finally completed.

It remained for another Texan, likeable, unlucky Johnny Rutherford, to post the second fastest speed of time trials in Saturday's rain-interrupted session.

Bomb Threat After Third Round Brings Evacuation

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A bomb threat forced evacuation of the Colonial Country Club Saturday shortly after the end of the third round of the Colonial National Open Golf Tournament.

Fire Department personnel and security officers combed the multilevel facility within minutes but found no trace at once of any explosive device.

Club manager Vergal Bourland said the telephone threat came through the switchboard around 4:30 p.m. just minutes after the final threesome had left the 18th green.

Bourland quoted the operator as saying she was told in a "very firm foreign voice" that "there is a bomb on lower floor that is set to go off in 30 minutes."

The 30-minute point passed without incident.

"I'll bet you 10,000 to 1 it is a hoax but what can you do?" said Pete Davis, a tournament official. "You can't take a chance with this many people."

The clubhouse was jammed at the time and the bar facilities were overflowing. But most of the revelers took the evacuation in stride, joking and nursing their drinks while the

M-Cubs Fall To Amarillo By 4-3

AMARILLO — Scott Wolfe's single with two out in the bottom in the ninth inning handed the Amarillo Giants their second Texas League win of the season in 10 games with Wayne Tyrone had led off the top of the eighth with a booming triple and scored on Joel Green's sacrifice fly to tie the game, but the Giants came back to hand Budd Schultz his fifth loss against three wins.

Midland took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bill Husman led off with a double and scored on a single by first baseman Jerry Tabb.

Seniors Capture 20-6 Victory

By BOB DILLON

The graduating seniors took out their frustrations on the Midland Lee Rebel varsity Saturday morning by taking a 20-6 victory on the Lee practice field.

Led by the likes of Mark Cappadonna, David Perry, Brian Williams and Jimmy O'Neal, the seniors played well considering the fact that they only had one day of workouts.

Their experience and savvy paid great dividends as they moved the ball well at times against the younger Rebels.

The 1974 Rebel edition was given first possession and promptly drove 70 yards to score on the seniors. Tailback Milton Jones ripped off 17 yards on his second carry after being swarmed under by John Stark and Bill Winget for a two-yard loss. Wingback Blain Murray picked up nine more on an inside reverse and five plays later, Jones circled his left end and tipped down the western sidelines from 14 yards out for the score. His attempt for the extra point sailed wide to the right, however.

The seniors got the ball with Perry gaining three yards, but O'Neal gained 16 and Cappadonna 11 more to get the three moving down field. Cappadonna ended the drive by knifing over from the four. He also tried to roll out and race over for the two-point conversion, but was stopped short of the goal by a host of tacklers, making it 6-6.

The Rebel varsity then lost the ball on a fumble with Steve Carrier recovering the pigskin and Cappadonna cranked up the offense, hitting Williams on a 29-yard pass to the three where in two plays, Perry banged over for the score. Cappadonna hit Williams

Cranes Capture Regional Crown

CRANE — Crane's Golden Cranes won the second game of a doubleheader here Saturday with a narrow 7-6 victory over Alpine in eight innings to win their fifth AA regional baseball championship in a row.

Alpine rolled to a 12-2 victory in the first game to knot the three game series at 1-1, but Crane fought back in the second game to take the win.

With the score knotted at 6-6 after regulation play in the second game, Crane put together three singles with two outs to win the crown. Brett Evans and David Thurman both singled to set up the winning hit by Mike Roseberry which scored Evans from second base. Roseberry, a sophomore, was also the winning pitcher.

Roseberry's heroics in the second contest, however, allowed the Cranes to keep their regional win streak.

Longhorns Storm To Easy Victory

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
HOUSTON (AP) — Miler Paul Craig, three miler Tim Patton and long jumper John Berry set Southwest Conference records Saturday and led the heavily favored Texas Longhorns to their third straight SWC track championship and their 34th title in the meet's 59-year history.

Craig, the defending mile champion, lowered the SWC record to 4:03.2, breaking the 4:04.0 standard set by Texas' Richard Romo in 1966.

Berry, who finished sixth in the 1973 meet, set the long jump standard of 26-0 on his final leap of the day.

Patton lowered the three mile record to 13:56.8 in a race where the first five finishers broke the record of 14:07.4 set by UT's Ricky Yarbrough in 1973.

The Longhorns, who ran up 164 points in winning last year's meet, did even better this year with 182 points, well ahead of runner-up Texas A&M's 73.

Rice's Ken Stadel and Southern Methodist's Joe Pouncy also were individual stars in the meet, each winning his specialty for the fourth straight year.

Stadel won the discus with a toss of 182-6 and Pouncy hit the tape a winner in the 220-yard dash at 20.8, only one-tenth second off the SWC record held by three sprinters. Stadel holds the SWC discus record of 202-11 set in 1973.

The Aggies' Doug Brodhead finished as the individual scoring leader with 20 points. His point total was bolstered when he upset defending 440-yard dash champion Don Sturgal of Texas with a 47.2 clocking.

Texas Christian's Bill Collins, the 100-yard dash champion, was runner-up to Brodhead with 18 points.

SMU finished third with 54 points, followed by Baylor with 50, Rice 46, TCU 42, Arkansas 24, Houston 18 and Texas Tech 6.

The title gave the Longhorns six of eight SWC sports championships this year.

Berry, who finished sixth in the SWC meet a year ago, broke the old mark of 25-8 set last year by Baylor's Danny Brabham on his final leap.

Baylor's Ricky Thompson, who had the SWC's best jump of 27-7 going into the meet, finished second in 24-8.

Stadel, hampered by a back ailment this year, scored his winner on his second toss of the morning finals, but it was far short of Stadel's SWC record of 202-11 SWC record set last year.

"I had only one good throw and I wish I could have been more consistent," said Stadel, who has a personal best of 209-11.

NCAA The NCAA qualifying standard is 175-0.

Bill Newton of Texas A&M won the javelin with a toss of 237-5, a personal best. Glenn Derwin, SMU, was second in 229-4.

Jim McGoldrick of Texas, who had the best discus toss going into the meet, finished second to Stadel at 184-4. McGoldrick threw 191-9 earlier this year.

"There was a lot of pressure on me (going for four straight), and I'm glad it's over," said Stadel, who joined A&M's George Kadera (1947-50) as the only other discus thrower to win four in a row.

MVC Track Meet Today In Denton

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Host North Texas State was a slight favorite in the 64th annual Missouri Valley Conference track and field championships which get underway on an unusual Sunday date. Wichita State and Drake present the strongest threat to the Eagles in the 19-event program. Field event finals open today at 1 p.m. followed by two track finals and all the preliminaries at 5:30 p.m. Field events begin at 3 p.m. Monday with the track finals at 6:30 p.m. North Texas State, the defending champion, was hurt this week when Pat Curry, the 800-yard champion last spring, quit the team this week. "He turned in his gear without giving a reason so it's a closed matter," said Eagle Coach John McKenzie. Wichita State and Drake are strong in the 800 with Drake's Larry Mendenhall boasting the best time at 1:50.8 pressed by Wichita State's Brad Smisor at 1:51.1. Lee Boosters Meet Monday The Midland Lee Rebel Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Lee Cafeteria to meet the 1974 varsity football team. Pictures of varsity players in basketball, baseball, swimming, tennis and golf will be given out and there will be an election of officers for the coming 1974-75 school year, according to Elmer Patton, Booster Club President. Miss Bruce jumped 6-0 feet to crack the year-old high jump record of TWU's Audrey Reid by four inches. Miss Bruce also ran the 100 meter hurdles in 13.9 seconds, three seconds better than the existing standard.

Prairie View Wins National

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Andrea Bruce, a Jamaican Olympian in 1972, had three first and one second place, including a national college record in the high jump to lead Prairie View A&M University to the team championship at the Women's National Collegiate Track and Field Meet here Saturday. Miss Bruce won the high jump, 100 meter hurdles and the long jump, and finished second behind Prairie View teammate Mary Ayers in the 400 meter hurdles. The Jamaican had to share individual honors in the meet, however, with distance star Francis Larrieu of UCLA, who also had three first places and ran the anchor leg on the Bruins' second-place mile relay team. Miss Larrieu's triumphs were in the mile, two mile and 800. Prairie View's first-place team total was 84, followed by UCLA with 68, host Texas Woman's University with 47, Cal State-Los Angeles with 36, Iowa State with 29, Chicago State with 26 and Colorado State with 25. A total of 83 teams competed in the two-day meet. Miss Bruce jumped 6-0 feet to crack the year-old high jump record of TWU's Audrey Reid by four inches. Miss Bruce also ran the 100 meter hurdles in 13.9 seconds, three seconds better than the existing standard. TWU's strong sprinters broke but wind gusts up to 20 miles per hour kept the record from being broken. Five other records were set in the meet, including three relay marks. Debra Sapenter shattered her own record of 55.0 seconds in the 440 with a 53.4 performance. Her earlier record was set in the prelims Friday, breaking the 1973 mark of 55.2 by Maeoper West of Illinois. Miss Larrieu ran a 2:10.5 in the 800 to set a record ahead of the 1973 mark of 2:11.0 by Nancy Mullen of Sacramento State. Iowa State easily broke TWU's mile relay record of 4:00.1 with a 3:55.5 showing. The Larrieu-led UCLA team was two and a half seconds behind. Prairie View broke the 800 relay mark of Brown, second in the 100 with a 46.7 by two-tenths of a second. The relay team was led by Rochelle Davis, who was first in the 100 with a 10.4. Janet medley relay record on Friday. Prairie View broke the 800 relay mark of Brown, second in the 100 with a 46.7 by two-tenths of a second. Wichita State Tops MVC Golf DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Steve Monette, firing a 2-under-par 138, gave surprising Wichita State a seven-stroke lead after 36 holes of the Missouri Valley Conference golf championships here Saturday. Host North Texas, the title favorite, is the only team with a chance to catch the Shockers in the final 18 holes Sunday. Wichita State set a record pace with a 561 total, one stroke above par for four players in two rounds. North Texas is at 568 with defending champion New Mexico State third at 583. Monette is the only golfer under par after wiring together rounds of 68 and 71 over the par 70 North Texas Golf Course. Four players are bunched at 1-over — Doug Higgins Jr. and Mike Craven of North Texas, Ron Streeck of Tulsa and Bob Hall of New Mexico State. Three others are grouped at 142 with two-time champion John Granter of North Texas tied for 12th at 144. Wichita State played under par as a team at 279 after 18 holes and came back with a second round 282. North Texas put together 285-283 rounds. The Eagles, winners of 11 of the last 13 MVC tournaments, had a chance to gain ground the second round when Craven tied the course record with a 4-under 31 on the front nine.

Soutar Captures Bowling Title

HOUSTON (AP) — Judy Cook Soutar of Grandview, Mo., won the all events crown of the 55th Women's International Bowling Congress Saturday as new champions were declared in four events. More than 29,000 women competed in the 45-day event which had a prize fund of $417,779, the second largest in the tournament's history. Kalcak International Construction of St. Louis, Mo., won the team championship worth $1,900. Mrs. Soutar was its anchor bowler and shared in that purse as well as winning $500 for her all events victory. The doubles crown went to Carol Miller and Jane Leszczynski of Milwaukee, Wis. who posted a near record 1,313 to collect $1,000. Shirley Garms of Island Lake, Ill., won the singles

Odessa Card Ace Wins Poker Series In Vegas Tourney

LAS VEGAS (AP) — John Moss received a silver cup filled with $160,000 worth of $100-dollar bills Saturday after defeating Brian "Sailor" Roberts and Crandall Addington in the 5th annual world series of poker at a downtown casino. Moss, 68, of Odessa, Tex., beat Addington, 36, a San Antonio, Tex., real estate developer, on a hand that saw Addington bet $45,000 on a bluff. Moss had three treys — enough to beat an ace and deuce of clubs — all Addington had. Roberts, 44, dropped out after losing $37,500 on one hand when he called Addington's heart flush. Moss has now won the poker world series three times, in 1970; 1971 and 1974.

Johncock's Eagle Racing Car Impounded By Indy Officials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U.S. Auto Club officials have impounded Gordon Johncock's Eagle racing car to test the legality of the car's turbocharger after he had qualified the car for the May 26th Indianapolis 500-mile race. Johncock was the day's first qualifier and the 16th qualifier for the 33-car starting field. He placed the car on the inside of the fourth row with a qualifying average of 186.287 miles an hour, the fourth fastest four-lap qualification run of the first round of time trials. Saturday. Tom Binford, the first-year chief steward of the Indianapolis race, said the Offenhauser-powered car was impounded by veteran U.S.A.C. technical committee chairman Frankie Delroy. Binford said the car was impounded because a gauge which indicated the pressure maximum of 80 pounds may have been exceeded. No decision is expected until tomorrow. Johncock, winner of last year's race, could be disqualified and fined if there is a violation.

Jones Denies Drug Charge

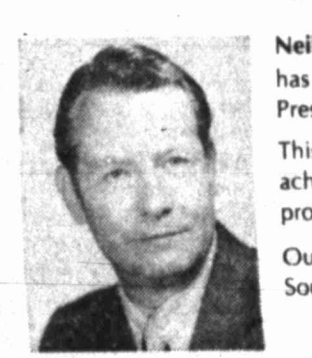

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Veteran defensive end David "Deacon" Jones denied accusations of drug use Friday and said he didn't expect to play for the San Diego Chargers next season. "I don't think that I'll play another down of pro football in San Diego," the 13-year National Football League veteran said on a radio talk show. "But I will play another year of football, because I want to prove to the people that Deacon is a football player and not a drug addict." He said he thought he would be traded. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle fined Jones, seven other Chargers, General Manager Harland Svare and owner Eugene Klein a total of $40,000 last month for alleged violations of the league's drug policy.

Fined $7,000

IMOLA, Italy (AP) — The International Motorcycling Federation Saturday fined West Germany nearly $7,000 for not supplying proper safety precautions last month at the German Grand Prix in Nuerburgring.

WHA Playoff Series

Houston Seeking Clincher Today

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
HOUSTON (AP) — Midnight may catch the Cinderella Chicago Cougars when they try to hold back the charging Houston Aeros today in the fourth game of their World Hockey Association World Cup playoffs.

The Cougars, poor sisters of the WHA playoffs who narrowly received a berth as a fourth place team, twice have held back the clock with playoff victories over favored New England and Toronto.

Despite the Cougars' reputation for surviving great odds, they may have run out of time against the Aeros.

Houston leads the best of seven series 3-0 and needs only a victory in "unfriendly" (to the Cougars) Sam Houston Coliseum to sweep the series and claim the WHA championship.

After Friday night's convincing 7-4 victory, the Aeros still were wary of the Cougars, capitalizing on it," Stapleton said. "It's that experience of theirs, I guess. We've been in a hole all three games. We just can't seem to get the jump."

"I won't be drinking any champagne until we get that final victory," said winger Andre Hinse, who scored two goals in the Friday victory. "You can never knock that team down. We know that they can still come back."

Aeros Coach Bill Dineen hopes the celebration will come today — somewhat of a milestone for the Aeros. It will be their 100th game this season.

"I don't think we're overconfident just because we have such a commanding lead," Dineen said. "I think we just want to get it over with as soon as possible. Today would be a good time to celebrate."

Chicago player-coach Pat Stapleton says it's the little things that are hurting the Cougars against the Aeros.

"That was a real physical, hard-hitting series," Dineen said. "We were as together as we could get in that series. It is showing up in this series."

Houston could set a playoff record for consecutive victories with seven if they win today. Winnipeg won six straight last season.

And after a long, grueling season, the Aeros figure it's time to get the record and end

"Every little mistake they the Cougars' fairy tale."

STANLEY CUP— Flyers, Bruins In NHL Battle

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Tuesday at Boston Gardens
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A where the Flyers have won Philadelphia Flyers' official twice in seven years.

said on radio after Tuesday. Philadelphia officials are night's victory over the Boston making sure they leave no Bruins in their Stanley Cup stone unturned for today's playoff: "Let me be the first to say that the Bruins are dead."

Well, that was a mighty live corpse that thumped the Flyers 5-1 Thursday night.

The best-of-seven National Hockey League series is now 3-2 Philadelphia with Game 6 on the Flyers' Spectrum ice today at 1:05 p.m. CDT. Should the battling Bruins tie the set, the seventh and deciding game is crucial game. The Flyers aren't exactly anxious to again test that Boston Gardens' hex. So, not only will the pre-game National Anthem be replaced with the team's good luck song, Kate Smith's rendition of Irving Berlin's "God Bless America," but Miss Smith will be there in person to sing it.

In games where "God Bless America" preempted The Star Spangled Banner, the Flyers are 36-3-1, including their victory here Tuesday night over the Bruins.

"We're going to need more than Kate Smith," said Flyers coach Fred Shero. "If we play like Thursday night, or maybe a little better, we can beat them there today," said Bruins coach Bep Guidolin. "They'll never beat us in the seventh game, and that's TRUE—in big black letters. We'll be drinking the champagne and they won't."

Fishing Regulations Choosing New Rules

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Saltwater sports fishermen will find little change in regulations but commercial operators will have some new rules, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has decided.

The changes or lack of them were determined after a 7½-hour hearing here Friday at which more than 50 witnesses were heard.

Commercial fishermen using trot lines no longer will be allowed to use artificial baits such as strips of plastic, plastic worms, hard plastic or metal lures.

A proposal to open parts of Corpus Christi Bay, Laguna Madre, Baffin Bay and others to net fishing drew discussion although the matter was settled Thursday by a ruling from Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Hill ruled legislation authorizing the commission to regulate fishing did not modify or repeal earlier statutes and, therefore, the commission could from the general law. That is, no presently closed-to-netting waters can be opened. The ruling closed the matter for commercial fishermen who had hoped to use additional areas. New regulations adopted, besides the ban on lures for trot lines, are: —Sport fishermen must identify their nets with an attached tag showing their name and address. Commercial fishermen must purchase net tags from the commission. —Trot lines and sail lines must be no more than 600 feet in length and spaced at least 50 feet apart. End stakes must be flagged with burlap or other material and streamers must mark the lines between stakes. —The size limit on red fish was reset at 14 inches. —Swan Lake in Jackson County was closed to net fishing. —Those using drag seines on public beaches must return to the water everything they do not utilize.

Britton Cops MCC Crown

Susan Britton became the Midland Country Club Golf champion for the sixth straight year. Friday by winning the Women's Golf Association annual Championship Tourney.

Mrs. Britton downed Georgia Bray, 4-2, in the match play finals to win top honors. Marion Spears won consolation honors in the championship flight with a 5-3 victory over Sylvia Roberts.

Mattie Chenoweth defeated Kitty Ashby, 5-4, to win the second flight and Marilyn Hover defeated Dot Cotner 1-up after 20 holes in the closest finals match. Mrs. Hover won the consolation prize.

The third flight honor went to Sue Aulick, who defeated Wanda Wieland, 9-7, and Lindy Toge won a close 2-up match over Estelene Nelson for the consolation prize.

Peggy Adams captured the special Cry Baby prize with a net 34.

Mrs. Britton, who seems to be a permanent fixture in the Midland ladies golf scene, started her six year string in 1969, and no one has been able to oust her from the throne room yet. Ironically, Mrs. Bray, who lost to Mrs. Britton Friday, was the last winner of the MCC tourney in 1968.

MCC WINNER AND RUNNERUP — Susan Britton, left, won the Midland Country Club's annual Ladies Championship golf title for the sixth straight year Friday at the Club course by defeating Georgia Bray, right, in the finals. Mrs. Bray won the championship in 1968.

FRIDAY'S BASEBALL ROUNDUP—

Twins Edge Tanana, 2-1

By The Associated Press

The plan, Frank Tanana figured, was for Larry Hise to put the ball a few feet in front of the plate. He figured about 400 feet too short.

Hise was batting in the bottom of the eighth inning for Minnesota. Ahead of him, Joe Lis had singled. And behind him was the meat of the Twins' batting order.

Tanana and the rest of the California Angels owned a 1-0 lead. It figured Hise would be bunting, which is what he did on the first pitch, pushing it foul.

"I thought he was going to bunt again," Tanana said. "I threw him an up-and-away fastball that didn't have much on it."

But Hise put everything he had into it, driving the ball 421 feet into the right field stands for a two-run homer that carried the Twins to a 2-1 victory over the Angels.

Orlones 6, Red Sox 0
Mike Cuellar checked Boston on six hits and Tommy Davis clubbed two homers, driving in four runs in a game trimmed to six innings by rain and enlivened by the appearance of the first streaker at a Baltimore ball game.

A's 10, White Sox 4
"We haven't had too many like that this season," said Alvin Dark after his A's rolled over Chicago on the strength of a four-run first inning and a six-run second.

Ray Fosse's three-run triple—on which the White Sox' Buddy Bradford broke his collarbone trying for the catch—highlighted the first-inning burst. Joe Rudi's two-run single and Bill Melton's two-run error were the big plays in the second inning.

Royals 6, Rangers 4
Fred Patek's two-run triple capped a four-run second-inning that sent the Royals past Jim Bibby and the Rangers, overcoming Texas' 3-0 lead. George Brett drove in the other Kansas City runs with doubles in the fourth and sixth innings.

When Texas scored its fourth run and had the tying runs on base with one out in the seventh inning, Doug Bird took over on the mound for winner Bruce Dal Canton.

Tigers 4, Indians 3
Al Kaline's run-scoring single triggered a three-run sixth inning that led Detroit over the Indians, who hit into four double plays. Lerrin LaGrow picked up the victory with late relief help.

"I really didn't throw well tonight and was lucky," said LaGrow. Sometimes it takes a few breaks to win a game and we got them tonight." Yankees 3, Yankees 3, Brewers 2

Bill Sudakis' run-scoring single capped a two-run first inning and Jim Mason hit a decisive sacrifice fly in the seventh in the Yankees' victory over Milwaukee which snapped New York's five-game losing streak.

Reds 4, Astros 2
Fred Norman pitched 8 1/3 innings of eight-hit baseball.

Pinch-hitter Mike Lum given life when Ron Cey dropped his foul fly in the 11th inning, drove a two-run double to center field to score the winning runs for Atlanta.

Hinse Paces Aeros To 7-4 Playoff Win

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Andre Hinse says he would have played for nothing this year for the opportunity to associate with Gordie Howe, but the stocky left winger earned his salary Friday night.

Hinse scored a pair of goals, one on an assist by Gordie, as the Aeros defeated Chicago 7-4

Permian Ends Spring Drills

ODESSA — The Odessa Permian Panthers wound up spring football drills Friday night with the Mojo varsity beating the graduating seniors, 17-10, in W. T. Barrett Stadium.

Permian, playing without starting tailback Travis Howard and fullback Oreg Fife, came from behind to post the win on a 50-yard TD scamper by junior-to-be Steve Powders.

The senior had to borrow 17 players from the Panther varsity and all 10 points scored by the seniors were made by players who will be back this fall at Permian.

Quarterback Gary Pearce, on loan to the seniors, scored on a four-yard run and another player — Russell Wheatley, booted the PAT and added a 20-yard field goal on the final play of the game.

Jerry Burger booted a 22-yard field goal for the varsity on the last play of the first half and booted two PATs while Johnny Houser and Powders, who will both be juniors this fall, scored the two TDs for the Panthers.

Coach John Wilkins held out Howard and Fife while Donnie Ericson, Scott Vencil, Ned Furst, Walter Fults, Tony Ford and Mark Fluitt, were also held out with injuries.

and moved within one game of ahead 5-1," Hinse said. "They just kept chipping away at the Association World Cup lead. If they were going to sleep I guess we were going to sleep with them."

The series continues here today. "I'd have played this year for nothing just to be on a team with Gordie," Hinse said. "On my first goal tonight he could have shot, but he is always looking for the open man."

The elder Howe contributed to the Aeros' sixth straight playoff victory with three assists in the game. Frank Hughes also scored two goals for the Aeros.

The Aeros got the jump on the Cougars once again with a 3-1 first period lead on goals by Murray Hall, Hughes and Mark Howe. Center Ralph Backstrom scored for Chicago on a power play.

The Aeros scored two quick goals by Hinse and Larry Hale in the second period for a 5-1 lead before Chicago made its only challenge of the night with three goals in the next 10 minutes.

Diablos Nip Cubs, 13-9

By TED BATTLES

El Paso struck for four runs in the sixth and five more in the eighth to hand the Midland Cubs a 13-9 Texas League defeat before 1,212 fans at Cubs Stadium Friday night.

The Diablos took the series 2-1, but the Cubs were 4-2 for the homestand.

Two of the Cubs' new pitching additions saw action in relief and showed the rust of inactivity. Dan Corder, reporting to Midland from Wichita, was wild while Don Schroeder, idle for several weeks, was simply belted freely by the Diablos.

Schroeder pitched here on loan from the Yankees two years ago and had been with New York and Syracuse in spring training, but was released when he refused to report to West Haven of the Eastern League.

Corder, a 13-game winner for Midland in half a season last year, has been plagued by arm trouble since spring training and hasn't seen too much action.

Most of the damage was inflicted against this duo as the Diablos pounced on 15 hits.

The Cubs rallied for six final-inning runs and had the bases loaded when left-hander Juanquin Quintana finally struck out Ken Szotkiewicz for the final out.

Bill Huisman opened the game with double and Bill Drooge dropped a homer over the corner in left-center, some 390-feet for his second homer of the season and the second in three nights.

That lasted until Ron Jackson caught hold of one of Mike Krukow's fast balls in the third as a walk to Orlando Ramirez came back to haunt Mike.

Ken Szotkiewicz broke up the 2-2 tie in the third, a one-out homer, his fourth, to his favorite spot in left, just over the First Savings And Loan sign.

El Paso tied it in the fifth as Ramirez beat out a slow to Green at third and took second when Joel's off balance throw went awry. John Balaz double plated the run.

A four-run sixth gave El Paso a 7-4 lead as Corder, the Texas League's leading pitcher last year, reported earlier in the day and was put right to work.

Dan relieved starter Mike Krukow with the bases loaded and one out and what happened must have been disillusioning. Dan walked the first batter to force in a run, but then the Cubs booted a double play ball and threw away a force at home. The result was that the Diablos scored four runs on one hit, four walks and two errors.

Schroeder, getting his first action since reporting to the Cubs on Sunday, was raked for five runs on five hits in the eighth, as El Paso took it out of reach.

RESIN DUST — Drooge continued to show indications that he had shed his slump, going 3-for-4 and hitting another liner that was caught.

El Paso's lefties were rough on Tabb and Szotkiewicz, but Huisman had a good series with three more hits Friday.

CRUNCH TACTICS — Dusty Hicks (10) keeps halfback Mike Hudspeth (20) from breaking into the clear Friday night in Memorial Stadium's annual Bill Mims Benefit Game. Ron Hill (40) and Sam Zachery (31) give chase. The Whites won the game by a 13-12 margin.

Whites Take Win

Bad Snap Sinks Purple In Mims Game, 13-12

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

The Midland High Bulldogs brought the 1974 spring football training grind to a halt Friday night at Memorial Stadium with the annual Bill Mims scrimmage game with Coach John Reddell's wishbone-oriented offense coming out on top as the Whites slipped by the Purples by a narrow 13-12 margin.

With a few exceptions, Reddell has his number one offense running against his top defense in an evenly-matched scrimmage session, and the final outcome provided the 300 fans on hand for the annual affair with some heavy hitting action.

"I think you can see that we are not very big," Reddell said from his press box vantage point as he watched his charges go through the motions. "But they really give a good effort and they know how to hit. I've been pleased with the progress made this spring. All of them really came to work."

The Purples, owning the number two offense, struck first in the scrimmage with a 52-yard drive that ended the first quarter action. Ron Hill and Neil Hill, a brother combination, along with halfback Mitch Irvin, ramed the ball at the White defense for the score. Neil Hill had a run of 11 yards while Ron set up the TD with a 13-yard scamper from the 15. Ron then drove the ball over the next play, but Sam Zachery's boot after was blocked as the Whites held a 6-0 lead at the first quarter break.

The White squad, however, came right back on the next series of plays to take the lead. Halfbacks Mike Hudspeth and Kim Madden did most of the dirty work during the drive. Hudspeth carried five times during the drive with one play netting 15 yards and quarterback John Webb added a 16-yard run on his only carry of the drive. Mike Gaddy plunged in from the one to score and Terry Copeland added the point after for a 7-6 lead.

After that, Irvin of the Purples exchanged 40-yard punts which left the Purple crew with the ball on their 27-yard line.

That exchange set up the most spectacular play of the night as Purple quarterback Dusty Hicks uncorked a 73-yard TD bomb to the fleet Sam Jordan.

Jordan made some great moves in the White secondary to get loose and Hicks was right on the money with his long range bomb. Hicks completed two of six passes on the night for 95 yards. His other pass was a 22-yard strike to end Bill Sutton in the second half.

Hicks' run or two failed, but the Purples held a 12-7 lead, and that's the way it ended.

The Purples showed more of offensive punch against the second team defense than the Whites did against the first team defense, but the bad snap from center in the third period spelled the doom.

Ron Hill led the Purples with 106 yards rushing while Neil Hill managed 53. Mike Gaddy and Mike Hudspeth led the Whites with 50 and 60 yards, respectively.

Neither squad could come up with another tally even though both had scoring threats. The Purples once drove to the White 36-yard line before quarterback Harold King was thrown for a six-yard loss to stop the drive.

The Whites put the game away in the fourth period with a time consuming 15-play drive which moved from their own 23 to the Purple 28 before a fourth down pass try by Webb failed. Webb did not complete a pass in four tries.

Purples Win JV Contest

The Purples pulled out an 18-16 win over the Whites Friday at Memorial Stadium as the Midland High Junior Varsity spring training season ended.

Chris Gaddy put the Purples into a 6-0 lead in the second period with a one-yard plunge, but the Whites came back with scoring march in the same period to take an 8-6 lead.

Quarterback Tom Ready hit and Kerry Laminack with passes of 40 and 25 yards to set up Ready's three-yard touchdown. Ready also ran for two to give the Whites the lead.

Just before the half the Purples again marched to paydirt with quarterback Kevin Winder racing three yards for a 12-8 lead.

Russell Maroney gave the Purples an 18-8 lead with 3:57 left in the game with a four-yard burst.

The Whites then had a race with the clock for their final score. Ready hit Chester Tyra for a 25-yard pass and Shane Fletcher scored from two yards out. Ready added two on the points after with no time left on the clock, giving the Purples a narrow 18-16 win.

COYOTES WIN, 3-2

By BOB DILLON

Permian eliminated against Carrollton Turner. Permian, meanwhile, ends its season with a 19-6 mark.

Permian took a 2-0 lead off the bat in the first inning, but only managed two hits the rest of the game as the Coyote pitching staff silenced the Black Cat bats in giving up only seven hits in the two games.

Bobby Inzer walked one out in the bottom of the first inning and Mark Chelette singled. Rusty Breazale then singled in both Inzer and Chelette for a 2-0 lead, but that was all the damage that Permian was going to do off Welborn and Brackeen.

The Coyotes came up with double plays in the first and second innings and kept the Panthers at bay the rest of the way with the exception of the eighth inning.

Raza Unida Offered As Alternative To Democrats, GOP

By The Associated Press
The Raza Unida has begun its campaign for the Texas governorship with its leaders offering the organization to the voters not as a Mexican-American party but as an alternative to the established Democratic and Republican parties.

Raza Unida, founded in 1970, ran Corpus Christi attorney Ramsey Muriz for governor in 1972 and obtained six per cent of the vote, thus establishing itself as an official statewide political organization.

"We have not changed the philosophy of the party and we have not changed our principles as a political party," said Muriz, making his second bid for the governorship. "What we are doing is broadening our scope because we know we cannot win the election even if every Mexican American in Texas voted for us."

800,000 Voters
There are nearly 800,000 eligible Mexican-American voters in the state, Muriz says.

Muriz admits one of the "pitfalls" of the party's 1972 campaign was that it was considered a party of Mexican Americans and chicano activists.

Yet, he explained, the emphasis on "Mexican American and chicano" was needed to gather enough signatures to get the party on the ballots.

The party won some political battles at local levels. During the 1972 campaign the party appealed to the younger groups, but had little success with the middle class Mexican Americans who considered the "chicano emphasis" a divisive element among the Mexican-American population.

"When we talk about Raza Unida (united people) we are talking about people together," Muriz said. "We are not and have never been a party that practices racism in reverse as some people, even Mexican Americans, thought."

Muriz said those who accuse Raza Unida of "racism" are ignoring that the "Democrats and the Republicans were practicing their own type of racism. No Mexican American could ever get elected by Democrats or Republicans. It was the Mexican-American vote that elected those who made it in the Democratic party or the Republican party," he said.

"We are appealing to all Texans, just like any other political organization," Muriz said. "There is no reason why we cannot form a party for all the people."

Muriz said the campaign this time around is off to a much better start than the one in 1972. His campaign manager, Carlos Guerra of San Antonio, said the party's funds already are twice the total spent in 1972.

"We are growing," Guerra said. "Since 1972 we have picked up 18 positions in city governments and school boards."

Muriz said the party is stressing local organization. Briscoe did not keep his promise. We are going to campaign asking for the elimination of the sales tax to replace it with a tax on corporate profits. We are going to ask for quality education for every child based on the child's needs, and for re-vamping for the education financing system."

"We want a new Texas," Muriz said. "We believe that Briscoe did not keep his promise. We are going to campaign political influence peddling.

"We must have a ceiling on what a candidate spends," he said. "There is no reason why a candidate for the state legislature should spend $40,000 to get a job that pays him about $4,000. Obviously, by the time he gets elected he is in debt to special interests groups."

"Another thing we are going to point out during the campaign," he said, "is the need to bring more industry to the state. We feel the state government can coordinate its efforts with private business, right here in the state, to provide new sources of employment."

Muriz said the party has gained in political knowledge after going through the primary process and more than one year of local-level organization. "We are going to talk about issues that affect all of the people of the state of Texas," he said.

Chrysler Prices Are Raised Again

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says increased steel costs forced it to raise prices for the second time in a month and the fifth time since September.

The firm promised Friday's announcement of an average $46 hike in sticker prices will be the last increase for the model year. But it conceded there will be more hikes when 1975 models are introduced in September to cover the cost of government-mandated equipment.

The firm's 1974 vehicles now have gone up an average $462 since September.

Spring Opera Festival Set At Houston

HOUSTON — The annual Spring Opera Festival of the Houston Grand Opera will begin late this week and continue through June 8.

Performances of Bizet's "Carmen," Mozart's "The Abduction From the Seraglio" and the Bertolt Brecht-Kurt Weill "Threepenny Opera" will be presented in rotation nightly in the Miller Outdoor Theater in Hermann Park. All performances will be sung in English and fully staged.

The festival is presented free to the public through grants from Armaco Steel, the Humphreys Foundation, Jasper Galleries, the Shell Companies Foundation, the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities, the National Endowment for the Arts and the City of Houston.

The annual event will begin Thursday night with a performance of "Carmen." The Friday night performance will be "Abduction From the Seraglio," and "Carmen" will have a second presentation Saturday night. The two operas will alternate until May 31, when "The Threepenny Opera" enters the repertory, and performances of all three operatic works will then alternate through June 8.

WISHFUL THINKING — Seymour Penzner as Tevye, the poor dairyman, indulges in some wishful thinking in his song, "If I Were A Rich Man," in the hit musical, "Fiddler On The Roof." The musical begins a two-week run Monday night at Casa Manana, Fort Worth's theater-in-the-round, to inaugurate the theater's 17th summer season. Penzner also played Tevye in a 1971 production of "Fiddler" at Casa Manana.

Midland Schools Sweep Junior High Competition

Midland Schools won all four sweepstakes awards at the annual Junior High School Festival, held at Lee High School Saturday. The event was hosted by Lee and Midland high schools, and 60 high school students ran the tournament and acted as judges.

Thirteen schools and approximately 300 students from schools in Midland, Odessa, Greenwood, Big Spring and San Angelo participated.

The festival consisted of debate and interpretative events and was divided into two divisions: 7th and 8th grade in one and 9th grade in the other. Trophies were awarded to sweepstakes winners.

Sweepstakes winners in the 7th and 8th grade division included: Interpretative events—1. Goddard, coached by Freida Kinney, and San Jacinto, coached by Mrs. Diane Frazier, runnerup. Debate—1. Goddard and Alamo, coached by Martin Mogford, runnerup.

Ninth grade sweepstakes winners included: Interpretative events—Edison, coached by Joanna Hightower, and Austin, coached by Mike Bustillo, runnerup. Debate—Edison won and Austin was runnerup. Medals were awarded to individuals in the interpretative events who had superior ratings in each of three rounds. Interpretative events included duet acting and boys and girls prose and poetry reading.

Medalists included: Duet acting, 9th: Lesna Becknell and Deanna Street, Edison; Carla Dabose and Clay Guthrie, Edison; Paul Reaser and Elaine Jones, Austin; and Kim Weaver and Lichen Kreuz, Austin.

Duet acting, 7th and 8th: Goddard team of Allison Sifken and Julie Gaston, Tracy Roberts and Craig Standford, Debbie Korthauer and Kelly Westerman.

Girls prose, 9th: Jackie Hollums, Betty Morrison and Leta Stovall, all of Edison.

Girls prose, 7th and 8th: Elizabeth Motter of San Jacinto and Teresa Probst of Suzanne Levy, Teresa Wright and Cindy Besta, all of Goddard.

Girls poetry, 9th: Linda Stille, Pam Pittshouse, Nalike Wilson and Tammy Potter all of Edison.

Girls poetry, 7th and 8th: Theresa Polzer of Greenwood and Gracie Rodriguez of Goddard.

Boys poetry, 9th: Mike Jobe and Troy Harrington, both of Edison.

Boys poetry, 7th and 8th: Richard Dragage and Hal Coon, both of San Jacinto; Herbie Ware, Dan Keels and Paul Seisicht, all of Goddard.

Boys prose, 9th: John Magnus and Marshall White, both of Edison.

Boys prose, 7th and 8th: Chris Moore and Brent McClure, both of Goddard.

Debate medalists were those who didn't lose any of four rounds. They included: Barbara Thompson of Edison, 9th grade division.

David Laimore and Cathy Bass of Goddard and Laura Seel and John Vincent of Alamo, 7th and 8th grade division.

Etching Is Returned HOUSTON (AP) — An etching by Pablo Picasso stolen from an exhibition at Rice University April 21 has been returned with "regrets," Harris Rosenstein, executive administrator of the Institute for the Arts at Rice said Saturday.

BELLY DANCING TEACHER — Diann Patteson models the costume she will wear when she teaches two belly dancing classes at the Central YMCA beginning Monday. Sorry, fellas, but registration closed Saturday. Forty-six women and 10 men signed up for the six-week session. Mrs. Patteson says belly dancing provides enjoyable exercise and is an excellent way to get into shape in a short time.

'Fiddler' Opens Monday At Casa Manana

FORT WORTH — Casa Manana, Fort Worth's widely-known theater in the round, opens a new production of the popular and acclaimed "Fiddler on the Roof" Monday night to inaugurate its 17th summer season — a season that almost wasn't.

Last year, Casa's 16th season came to an abrupt end in late June in the wake of bitter wage disputes between management and Actors Equity. The fate of a 17th season hung in the balance for weeks as contract negotiations wore on.

"Tradition," the opening musical number in "Fiddler," will be the first song heard from the stage Monday night, and it will be entirely appropriate because Casa's traditions, tempered in the fires of strife, are once again intact. And when the orchestra launches into the strains of yet another of the show's tuneful songs, "Miracle of Miracles," all those who were so recently divided, both on and off stage, will almost certainly feel that THIS new season production is the happiest of all miracles!

Casa Manana has scheduled an ambitious season of summer entertainment for the coming months.

Following "Fiddler," which will run through June 1, the theater will open a production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," to run through June 15. Other productions on the schedule are "Sugar," the new musical based on the movie comedy "Some Like It Hot," to play June 17-29; "How Now, Dow Jones," July 1-13; "Bells Are Ringing," July 15-27; "This Was Burlesque," July 29-Aug. 10; "Godspell," Aug. 12-24, and "Gypsy," Aug. 26-Sept. 7.

"Fiddler on the Roof" remains then, it edged past "Life with the most successful production Father" to become the longest-running show of any kind on Broadway.

The musical by Joseph Stein is based on the endearing Tevye stories by Sholom Aleichem. Tevye is an overworked but indomitable dairyman in a little Russian village in 1905, lovable for his cheerful courage in the face of his troubles — which include his poverty, his sharp-tongued wife, and his three daughters of marriageable age and become the longest running musical on Broadway. Since no dowries.

"Fiddler" made a habit of breaking records during its eight-year run on Broadway. Before it was presented at Casa in August of 1971, it had passed the record of "Hello, Dolly!" for whom, alas, he can provide musical on Broadway. Since no dowries.

Heading the cast in the role of Tevye will be Seymour Penzner, who was overwhelm- ingly popular in the part here in 1971. In all, six members of the 71 cast will recreate their roles. In addition to Penzner, they include Rosemary Rumbley as Yente, the busy matchmaker and meddler; Lana Lou Boyd as Chava, one of Tevye's daughters, and Bob Heath as her suitor, Fyedka; Ralph Clift as the rabbi; Jim Neal as the Russian constable, and Stanley Hague as a priest.

Other important roles are played by Penny Robbins, Arthur Schoep, Harry Schwartz, Art Yelton, Pat Gideon and Shelley Hamrick. Also the same as for the 1971 production is the team of Buff Shurr, director, and Joseph Stecko, musical director. Other members of Casa's production staff are Mimi Emory, scenic designer, and Cheryl Kepp, lighting designer. Costumes will be by Brooks Van Horn of New York.

In response to numerous requests, starting times for Casa performances this year will be

8 p.m. rather than 8:15, in order that patrons may get out of the theater earlier.

Reserved seat tickets for productions this year are priced at $4.50 for Monday and Tuesday performances, $5 for Wednesday and Thursday nights, and $5.50 for Friday and Saturday nights. Saturday matinees will have $3.75 reserved seats. Children under age 12 may attend the matinees for $1.90.

Tickets for all performances may be reserved through the Casa Manana box office, 332-6221, and the Preston Ticket Agency in Dallas.

Anese Jewelers To Open

Fine jewels will share honors with fine paintings during an open house this afternoon at the House of Anese galleries in the Midland Savings Building, Wall and Colorado streets.

The 1 to 7 p.m. event will mark the opening of Anese Jewelers, a rare jewelry salon offering fine diamonds, pearls, exclusive watches and original gold work. Frank P. Hawk, gemologist, will join owners Anese and James Stone in greeting guests at the event.

Featured artists in the House of Anese art gallery will be Jim Tidmore of San Antonio, along with Opal Black of Stephenville and Grace Weaver of Midland.

Tidmore, who has been called the "artist of light," will be showing a number of his uniquely luminous canvases at the open house. Tidmore will be a Midland visitor for several days, during which time he will be available to conduct private art lessons. Arrangements for lessons may be made through Anese Stone.

Florals and landscapes by Mrs. Black also will be on display in today's special exhibition, along with hill country landscapes and bluebonnet scenes by Grace Weaver.

BY PERMIAN PLAYHOUSE— 'Sparkling New Season' Planned

ODESSA — "A Sparkling New Season" is the theme — and the promise — of Permian Playhouse's 1974-75 season.

Odessa's community theater has scheduled not one but two musicals for the 1974-75 season, along with two family dramas, two highly-entertaining adult comedies and a summer festival featuring three plays by the inimitable Neil Simon.

The theater's official season traditionally begins in September and continues through the following May, but this year the season-opening musical, "I Do! I Do!," will be preceded by a summer repertory "mini-season" in July and August consisting of Neil Simon comedies, "Come Blow Your Horn," "Plaza Suite" and "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." "Plaza Suite" and "Red Hot Lovers" will be revivals of productions done at PPH in the past. "Come Blow Your Horn," which opens May 31 to conclude the current season at the theater, will have additional performances in the summer mini-season in addition to its regularly-scheduled run.

During the coming fall-winter-spring season, other productions scheduled besides "I Do! I Do!" include Arthur Kopit's acclaimed play, "Indians," in October; a saucy adult comedy, "Forty Carats," in December; Alan Ayckbourn's breezy comedy smash, "How the Other Half Loves," in January-February; and Thornton Wilder's classic and ever-popular "Our Town," next May.

A special feature of the new season will be the second musical production, "No, No, Nanette," the nostalgia-filled musical hit which has music by Vincent Youmans and with book by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandell and lyrics by Harbach and Irving Caesar.

"No, No, Nanette" will be presented in April-May.

Slide Program To Be Presented

A color slide program on Russia will be presented by Erna Underwood at the Monday night meeting of the Midland Camera Club in the planetarium of the Museum of the Southwest. The 7:30 p.m. event will be open to the public.

Mrs. Underwood will show from the American Association photographs she made during a 1972 trip to Russia which member of the First Christian Church, she has been active in than a dozen cities. The program will be presented in double projection.

Next September's season-opening "I Do! I Do!" is based on the Jan de Hartog play, "The Fourposter," which chronicles the life of a husband and wife from their marriage day to old age. There are only two cast members in the musical, which provides such well-remembered songs as "My Cup Runneth Over," "What Is A Woman?" and "Flaming Agnes."

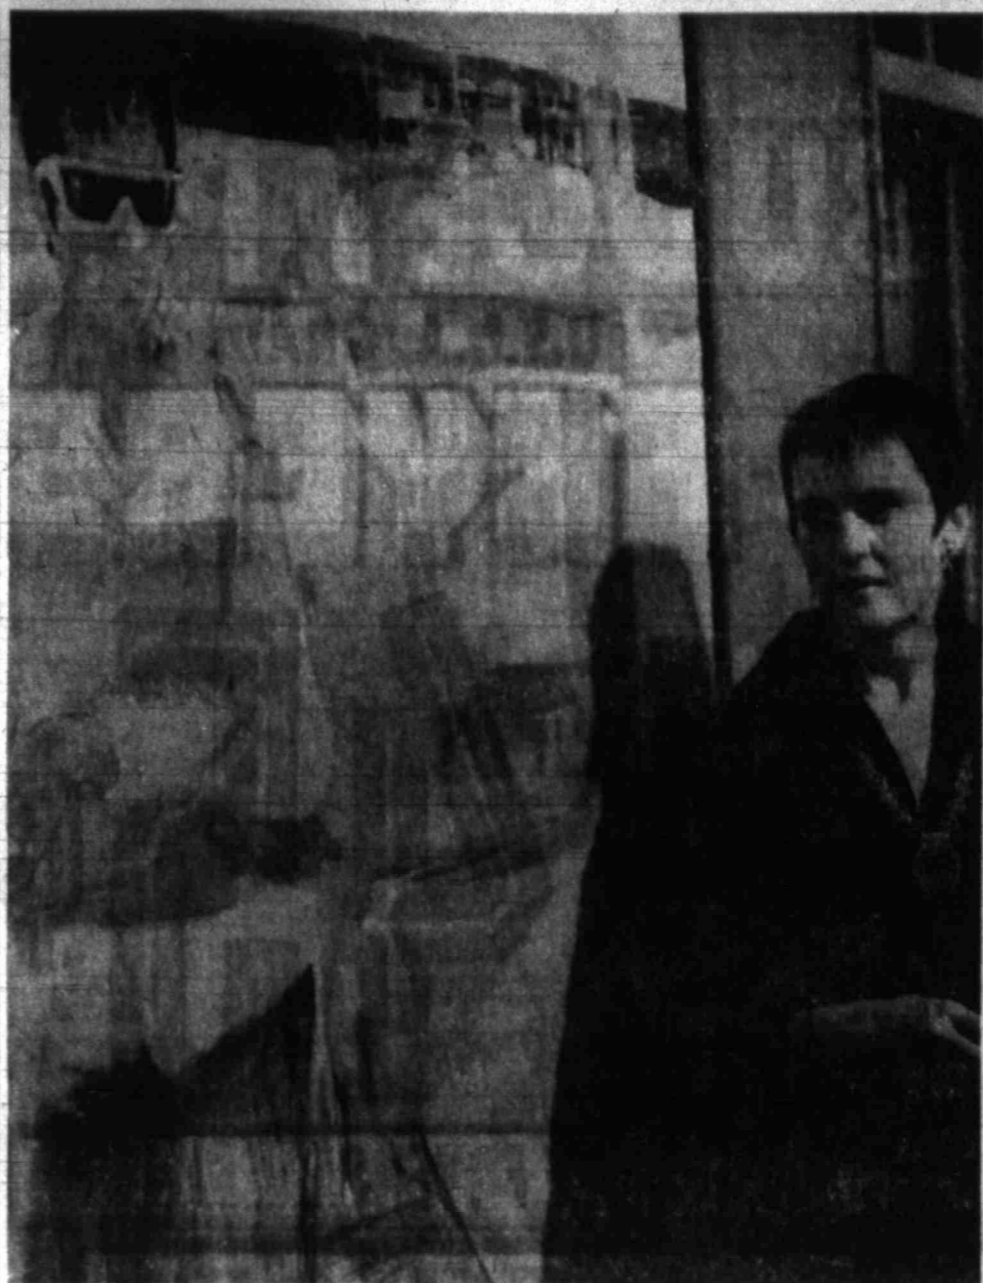

Season tickets for the 1974-75 season of Permian Playhouse are on sale daily at the theater box office, 310 W. 42nd St. Information on the various types of season memberships available may be obtained by telephoning the theater at 362-2329.

Museum 'Shop Talk' Series Begins Today

The first in a series of monthly "Shop Talk" programs planned at the Museum of the Southwest will be held at 3:30 p.m. today.

The informal events, open to the public, are sponsored by Las Manos, museum volunteer service organization. Today's program, presented by Joe McAdams, will deal with backpacking, family camping and nature.

Today's program, and others to be offered in the following months, will be in the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery, 1705 W. Missouri St.

Organ Recital Scheduled Today

The first public recital on the new Moller organ in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church will be presented this afternoon.

Robert E. Poer, organist and choirmaster at the church, will be the recitalist, to continue a series of "mini-concerts" being presented at intervals in the newly-renovated chapel, which was heavily damaged by fire in late 1972. The new Moller organ, which has 11 ranks and nine stops, was installed recently to replace the organ destroyed in that fire.

Poer has programmed works by Francois Couperin, J. S. Bach, Dietrich Buxtehude, Cesar Franck, Jean Langlais, Louis Vierne, Jehan Alain and Alec Rowley.

Today's 6 p.m. "mini-concert" will be the final one until fall. It will be open to the public without charge.

Summer Ballet Workshop Accepting Reservations

Advance reservations are being accepted for the third annual summer ballet workshop to be conducted June 17-28 under auspices of Permian Civic Ballet Association of Midland.

The workshop will have Ron Sequoia of San Antonio as its director. Sequoia, who has studied with many of the nation's leading dancer-teachers, has danced with the American Ballet Theater, the Metropolitan Opera Ballet and the New York City Opera ballet company. He has choreographed works for numerous ballet companies as well.

The upcoming workshop will offer classes in classical ballet techniques for both junior

Philanthropic Giving

Americans have to be one of the most if not the most benevolent people ever.

They give willingly and generously to a wide variety of philanthropic causes . . . and thank goodness that they do.

Private giving in the United States in 1972, for instance, rose to a new, all-time high of $22.68 billion — an increase of $1.4 billion or 6.5 per cent over the comparable figure for 1971.

This reveals the individual initiative of Americans to champion the cause of the nation's philanthropic institutions.

The above figures are reported in the 1973 edition of "GIVING USA," the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, Inc., and reprinted in "Philanthropic Hindsight 1973 — Foresight 1974" published by Community Service Bureau, Inc.

Referring to the 1972 giving, J. O. Newberry, board chairman and president of CBS, said such an increase indicates an awareness on the part of the American public that the nation's philanthropic organizations must have, and desperately need, increasing amounts of funds if they are to continue to serve effectively a rapidly-growing population.

He went on to say that as inflation continued on the upward spiral during 1973, the impact of this increase in 1972 was lessened somewhat, "though without it, many organizations and institutions would have been faced with the necessity of reducing, or even discontinuing, many of their vitally-needed services."

It is noteworthy that individuals, as always, led all sources of private giving during 1972, with $16.91 billion. Bequests accounted for $2.73 billion; foundations, $2.2 billion, and $840 million from corporations.

Religion rightly received the greatest share of private giving — 43 per cent of total giving.

Health care got 16.2 per cent; education, 15.7 per cent; social welfare, 7.1 per cent; public and cultural, 6.8 per cent, and other areas, 11.2 per cent.

Midlanders undoubtedly rank with the most generous contributors, and their giving likely follows the national pattern, percentage-wise, to recipients.

Funds given annually by Tall City residents to religion, museums, hospitals, education, youth organizations, health care, social welfare and other causes in Midland and vicinity add up to a tremendous figure . . . and it all goes for making a better and more complete community.

This is the American way.

RAY CROMLEY Heading Off Future Horrors At The Pass

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The question, of course, is what we should do to prevent future Watergates.

Or at least what we can do to reduce their likelihood.

From discussions these last few months with those on the fringes of Watergate and those in government and Congress who face similar problems daily, one point stands out.

Publicity does work. More publicity works better — publicity for campaign contributions, publicity concerning the personal economic interests and holdings of major office holders and legislators, publicity on contacts with high officials by those being investigated for wrongdoing or those seeking illegal or questionable favors.

As a result of the interviews mentioned above, this reporter believes:

- (1) That all campaign contributions should be by check. Those making campaign contributions greater than $250 per family, should be required to report annually each contribution made and to whom, with records open to public inspection. . . .

(2) That a simple listing should be made of all meetings with and telephone calls to the attorney general, deputy attorney general and White House upper-echelon staff by individuals or members of companies being investigated or under indictment by the federal government and that these records be open to the public.

(3) That a detailed report to the public should be required on the expenditure, after election, by candidates or their representatives of funds raised for an election campaign but not spent for the campaign.

(4) That all high-level officials, senators and representatives should be required to put their personal finances and sources of income on the record.

That federal legislators should be required to report when they vote for a financial measure directly benefitting in an important way major campaign contributors or a law firm or other business in which the legislators have an important financial interest.

The investigative and research arms of Congress should be increased — the General Accounting Office, the Library of Congress Reference Service and the staffs of the congressional committees charged with studying or investigating the operations of the executive branch and its programs.

Today, the work of necessity is so spotty only the surface is skimmed, and that inadequately. There isn't the manpower to do the checking our political and civil service officialdom require.

The President's staff at the White House, including most specially the head of the Office of Management and the Budget, the chief of the domestic council, the foreign affairs adviser and all other assistants with equivalent influence and power should be required to report

Dear Editor:

I see where the Nixon hater, who run a big news magazine, at least love and try to help us poor people.

Like giving hints on how the disadvantaged who are forced to make do on $13,000 or so per year can scrimp out a sort of living at today's high prices.

They recommend riding bicycles to work, planting a vegetable garden in the backyard, and quantity-price buying, like flour and sugar in 25-lb. bags, beer by the carton, and wine and hard liquor by the half gallon.

DAVID POLING, D.D. Beyond Wounded Knee: Education At 5:30 A.M.

(Second of Three Related Columns) NEW YORK (NEA) — Last spring a group of militants demanded a hearing at a high school on the Navajo Reservation in Arizona.

Several car loads of Wounded Knee participants had been campaigning across the West, seeking support for the seizure of the Oglala Sioux in South Dakota. The Indian student body gathered to hear the complaints and gun-fire vocabulary of the demonstrators, complete with an appeal to leave school and get with the action at Wounded Knee.

The assembled students heard the group out (more than half were non-Indian camp followers) and then one tall high school student demanded to know why he should spend any more time on this theme. Here were unemployed drop-outs telling him to live! Here were outsiders taking up vocabulary class time, their main achievement for the day having been flying the U. S. flag upside down.

This young man had had enough. He did not get up at 5:30 in the morning, travel an hour to school to endure this sort of scene. End of meeting, back to education.

The pursuit of education is perhaps the highest priority for native Americans. Dr. Roe Lewis, Pima church man and Indian statesman, put it this way in Phoenix recently: "You have to live in two worlds — the world of your fathers and the world of white culture. It is hard, it requires the mastery of English and the understanding of urban life. You cannot live in isolation, retreating to another century or nostalgic setting."

Over the years, the respected leaders of the Indian community have pointed to this road. In 1879 Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce said: "Let me be a free man . . . free to work, free to trade, free to choose my teachers, free to follow the religion of my fathers, free to think and talk and act for myself — and I will obey every law or submit to the penalty."

Right now two colleges are flourishing on the Navajo lands. Navajo Community College, near Ft. Defiance, Ariz. has an enrollment approaching 500. In a lovely, almost enthralling western setting, the arts, skills and trades of the Indian culture are pursued and cherished. Many students look enough to your own populace, give them a real stake in the future and there is no need to fear insurgency."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The United States produces about one-third of the world's automobiles, trucks and buses. The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association reports that some 800,000 businesses center around motor vehicle use and about 50,000 firms supply vehicle materials, parts, and services. The World Almanac says an estimated 16 jobs are created in affiliated industries by each job in the motor vehicle building industry.

Shortages Bring Commodities Into American Spotlight

By LOUISE COOK
CHICAGO (AP) — Two years ago, Leo Melamed was worrying about the fate of anchovies off the coast of Peru.

Melamed, a commodities broker, knew that the anchovies provided the basis for fish meal used as animal feed in many parts of the world.

He also knew that if there wasn't enough fish meal, people would turn to soybean meal. And that would mean higher prices for soybeans.

When Melamed first started studying the anchovy situation, most Americans couldn't have cared less what happened to soybeans, wheat or corn. That was something for the farmers to worry about.

Since then, however, there has indeed been a shortage of anchovies and Americans have learned that the price of soybeans and other commodities is directly responsible for the price of hamburger, bread, eggs and all the other foods that wind up on the dinner table.

The commodities markets, which most people used to think of as the sole concern of stock brokers, farmers and food producers, have come into the spotlight.

Legislation is pending in Congress that would set up a new agency to oversee the $500-billion-a-year commodity business. Some traders say the new agency is not needed; they claim that the Commodities Exchange Authority of the Department of Agriculture can police the business. Other traders admit that there are abuses and say there is a need for more regulation.

Commodities traders deal in something called futures. Futures are contracts that call for delivery at a later date of a particular product. A May future, for example, calls for delivery of a specified amount of a commodity in May. Actually, the traders are buying and selling promises.

Here's how it works. Suppose the price of wheat is now $5 a bushel. I think the price is going to go up; you think it's going down.

I want to buy wheat now to sell at a profit later; you want to sell wheat now and buy it back at a lower price in the future.

Neither of us owns any wheat. Neither of us wants to own any wheat. We're not farmers or millers. We're insurance men or doctors or lawyers or stock brokers. We simply want to make money.

Let's assume it's April. I buy 5,000 bushels of September wheat futures at $5.50 a bushel for a total of $27,500. This means that I will get delivery of those 5,000 bushels in September.

Meanwhile, you sell 5,000 bushels of September wheat futures and receive $27,250. You haven't actually sold the wheat — you didn't have it to sell. What you have sold is the promise to deliver the wheat. Now you have to go out and get it.

The price of futures is not the same as the price on the so-called cash market. It varies according to what the traders think the price will be in the future. If the majority of traders think the price will go up, futures prices will be higher than the prices on the cash market. If the majority of people think the price will go down, futures prices will be lower.

By July, the price of September wheat futures is $8.50 a bushel. I was right. The price did go up. Crop production was lower than anticipated. A large export sale into the supply market. If the majority of people think the price will go up, I don't think the price will go much higher.

I sell my futures and get $32,250, making a profit of $5,000 less the commission that I pay to my broker.

You were out of luck, and although you still have several months before you have to deliver on your contract, you decided to buy the wheat you need now, before the price goes up any more. You buy September futures at $6.50. You have lost $5,000, plus the commissions you paid to your broker.

Both of our contracts are closed out or "offset." Any standing contract is offset when a seller purchases the amount of his contract or when a buyer sells the amount he has bought. Most contracts are offset before the date of delivery and less than 3 per cent are consummated by making or taking delivery.

Texas AFL-CIO No. 2 Man To Speak In Odessa

ODESSA — Sherman Fricks, secretary-treasurer of the Texas AFL-CIO, is to be guest speaker at the open-house reception of the Odessa Central Labor Union at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 202 of the O'Michael Building.

Active in the labor movement for 30 years, Fricks was elected to the No. 2 post of the 250,000-member organization last July. He is also a member of the Texas Offshore Terminal (Superport) Commission.

Fricks' appearance in Odessa is among many stops he has made statewide to speak on the benefits a Superport would provide in the energy crisis and also in the AFL-CIO's goal to elect a "veto-proof" Congress. In his talks to labor groups, Fricks also gives a report on issues on concern to working people in the Constitutional Convention now in session.

Fricks, 47, first entered the labor movement in 1942 and was serving as business agent of Pipefitters Local 211 of Houston when he was elected to the secretary-treasurer position.

A native of Muskogee, Okla., Fricks received his education from Deer Park, Tex., schools, Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, and the University of Houston.

D. L. Willis, president of the Odessa Central Labor Union, said, "We are most pleased to have Fricks as our guest and express an invitation to all persons in this area to join us for this occasion."

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Planting of crops is almost complete in Midland County, except for acreage in southern portions where moisture is still deficient on dryland acreage. The extreme temperatures being experienced and drying winds are causing concern that drying and parching will make it difficult for young seedlings to become established. Native pastures, especially in areas of heavier rainfall and sandier soils have improved considerably in condition and furnishing grazing for livestock.

The shortage and cost of fertilizer has caused some producers to consider the use of foliar feeding on crops. Foliar feeding is the process of applying a dilute solution of fertilizer on the leaves of plants, explains Charles Green, Midland County extension agent.

Studies have shown that plants can absorb small amounts of fertilizer nutrients through the leaves. However, since high concentrations of salts or nutrients in the solution will damage leaves, only small amounts of nutrients can be applied per application. This usually amounts to one to four pounds per acre. Thus, crops such as grain sorghum or cotton that may use 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre during the growing season would require many applications if foliar feeding was substituted for regular soil applications of fertilizer.

Foliar feeding has been used as a method of applying trace elements which are needed in very small amounts. However, to meet the nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium requirements of field and forage crops through the foliar feeding technique is generally uneconomical. Foliar feeding is most often used as a temporary or emergency treatment to correct a specific problem or nutrient deficiency, such as iron chlorosis.

With foliar feeding, nutrients are absorbed through the leaf surface. Therefore, only those leaves on the plant at the time of application can absorb the nutrient. As new tissue forms, the small amount applied to older leaves may have been used, so another application is required.

Fertilizers prepared for foliar feeding are often marketed as liquids. The label must show the analysis similar to solid fertilizers. The percentages of nutrients are also on a weight basis. For example, a liquid fertilizer containing 10 per cent nitrogen and weighing 12 pounds per gallon would contain 1.2 pounds of nitrogen per gallon. To supply 60 pounds of actual nitrogen would require 50 gallons of the fertilizer or 600 pounds, the same as any other fertilizer containing 10 per cent nitrogen.

Many plants exhibit "iron hunger" in the alkaline soils of West Texas. Beans, peas and okra are vegetables that often need extra iron. A good way to supply this is to band two cups per 33 linear feet of row of iron sulfate (copperas) in a trench four inches deep. Two to three inches to the side of the seed. Okra, which should be planted in hills 19 to 24 inches apart, can receive a level tablespoon of iron sulfate per hill at the bottom of a hole at one side of the hill. Cover the hole and copperas with two inches of ground peat and add a cup of water. Waxleaf ligustrum, eleagnus, pyracantha and other shrubs with yellowish leaves can be foliar fed iron by mixing three level tablespoons of iron sulfate plus one half teaspoon detergent per gallon of water and spray on leaves early in the morning or in late afternoon.

Soil application can be also made. On peach trees, follow the same procedure as for the shrubs except use one level tablespoon of iron sulfate and one half teaspoon detergent per gallon of water. On lawns, to correct iron chlorosis, broadcast iron sulfate at the rate of five pounds (five pints) per 1,000 square feet and water in. Be sure and apply to dry grass to avoid burning and keep the iron sulfate off walks and patios to avoid staining.

The Black Experience: According to press releases, emergency drought relief operations in the famine zone of sub-Saharan West Africa are plagued by everything from armed bandits to bungling bureaucrats. Nonetheless, relief officials stress that the bulk of hundreds of thousands of tons of food and other supplies being rushed to the region from abroad is reaching the millions of famished Africans who are almost totally dependent on it for survival.

Many diplomats and relief workers interviewed across the Sahara say they fear critical reports on drought relief operations might adversely affect efforts to raise urgently needed funds and food in the United States and Europe. They repeatedly emphasized that the six-year drought in West Africa is a major disaster in which millions face possible starvation. No matter what the problems, they said, massive inputs of food, medicines and other aid desperately are needed.

The countries worst hit by the savage dry spell range in a sub-Saharan arc, through Mauritania, Senegal, Upper Volta, Mali, Niger and Chad. But the drought has crept south striking crops and livestock in other countries including Gambia, Ghana and Nigeria. These countries are among the poorest and most backward in the world, said one official. "We are not only fighting mass starvation but the whole syndrome of underdevelopment," he added.

With just three months to go before the rains, which every year wash out West Africa's primitive network of dirt roads, the government had not yet planned food distribution in remote areas likely to be cut off.

orders, civic and political organizations, and especially bellringers and just plain John Does, are urged to do what they can to help prevent mass hunger and starvation by sending dollars to CARE, Care of Postmaster, New York City, N.Y. Mark contribution: "African Relief."

The head of the American Library Association, Robert Wedgeworth of Kansas City, Mo., told a Texas audience recently that there are some states in this country where a librarian can be arrested for checking out books other members of the community consider inappropriate. He noted that this had come about due to the Supreme Court's ruling last year that what is obscene and pornographic is up to individual communities.

Which reminds me of some of the books we have checked out of area libraries in the Permian Basin and NOT censored are: "Superpower" by Robert Hargreaves, a portrait of America in the 70s; "The Power to Inform" or "Media, The Business of Information" by Jean-Louis Servan — Schreiber; "Black Monday's Children" by Gloria J. Powell, a study of the effects of school desegregation on self-concepts of Southern children; "What Women Should Know About the Breast Cancer Controversy" by Dr. George Crile Jr.

Until later, remember that neighbors come in all colors. Be a good one. Peace!
