King Draws Two Probes

James H. Helland, San Antonio, has scheduled two 6,200-foot Pennsylvanian explorers in King County.

No. 1-A Masterson Ranch spots 1,960 feet from south and west lines of section 2, W. H. Fisher survey, abstract 353, 12 1/2 miles northeast of Guthrie and 1 1/2 mile southeast of the depleted one-eighth Masterson Ranch (Bunger sand) field.

No. 1-B Masterson Ranch, is located 10 1/2 miles northeast of Guthrie, 2,640 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 30, block A, R. M. Thomson survey, abstract 490, 2 1/2 miles southeast of the Tom B (Bunger sand) field.

Martin Oil Pool Pay Is Extended

The Lacaft multipay field of Martin County gained its third Ellenburger producer and a location north extension to that pay with completion of Texaco Inc. No. 1-B-3 J. E. Maboe, 12 miles west of Tazain.

It finished to flow 240 barrels of 46-gravity oil and 20 barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio of 44:1, through perforations at 13,267-13,273 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

It was staked as a wildcat.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block HA, H. A. Moore survey.

Schleicher Penn Probes Are Planned

I. W. Loyelady of Midland has filed applications to drill two Pennsylvanian ventures in Schleicher County.

No. 1 Jack A. Reichert is a scheduled 6,100-foot test, 12 miles northwest of Eldorado and 1/2 mile northeast of the depleted Strawn opener in the R.E.G. South field.

It spots 1,980 feet from south and 600 feet from west lines of section 36, block M, GH&SA survey.

No. 1 Byars, a 6,000-foot probe, is 1/2 mile northwest of the Huldade (Pennsylvanian) field, but separated by depleted producers.

Drill site is 560 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of T. J. Allcorn survey 79 1/2.

Upton Gets Deep Exploratory Site

Mobil Oil Corp. has scheduled a 12,700-foot Ellenburger prospect in Upton County, eight miles northwest of Ramlin, as No. 1 Huff Interests-Lynch.

It spots 798 feet from north and 1,966 feet from east lines of section 58, block Y, TCR survey, 3 1/2 miles north of the Amacker-Tippett, Southeast (Bend) field.

Strawn Explorer Slated In Irion

Fortune Drilling Corp. of San Angelo has announced location for a 7,900-foot Strawn wildcat, the No. 1 Baker, nine miles (Continued On Page 5B)

Nixon Raps Isolationism Threat

List Of Subversive Organizations In U.S. Now Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's list of subversive organizations, born of the post World War II Red scare, has been killed as serving no useful purpose.

President Nixon issued an executive order Tuesday declaring that the list "is hereby abolished and shall not be used for any purpose."

The action prevents government officials from routinely asking job applicants whether they have ever belonged to any of the 300 groups designated subversive.

Though most government agencies gradually have dropped such questions, the Defense Department has continued to use the list in screening job applicants, said Kevin Maroney, head of the Justice Department's internal security section.

Nixon's order does allow government officials to ask job applicants whether they have ever belonged to the Communist party and to inquire in general terms about membership in "any foreign or domestic organization ... which unlawfully advocates violence to overthrow the government or deprive others of their constitutional rights."

Maroney said the new standard heightens the burden of proof for rejecting a job applicant as a potential security risk.

But he noted that the order does little more than formalize standards laid down by the Supreme Court from 1951 on.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said Nixon's order allows government personnel security programs to continue with "adequate safeguards for the rights of all individuals."

Saxbe said he recommended doing away with the list created by the Justice Department at President Harry S. Truman's order in 1947. He said Truman was wrong to allow the department "to assemble the list without the considerations for due process..." But he said Truman had some justification for his action because of "a bewildering series of problems in the upheavals of the post-war period."

Saxbe said the designated groups, ranging from the Communist party USA and the Ku Klux Klan to such obscure organizations as the National Blue Star Mothers of America, "were of substantial concern to the government before, during and after the war years."

The Supreme Court in 1951 said no organization could be designated subversive without a hearing. It subsequently held that applicants cannot be denied jobs solely because they once belonged to a so-called subversive group.

Detente Policy Defended

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — President Nixon told graduating Naval Academy midshipmen today that "a new wave of isolationism" poses one of the greatest dangers facing America.

Defending his policy of detente, the President said: "In our era, American isolation could easily lead to global destruction."

Nixon said that the United States cannot retreat into isolation from world responsibilities because, he said, the alternative to detente is a runaway arms race, a return to constant confrontation and a "shattering setback to our hopes for building a new structure of peace in the world."

But he cautioned that detente does not mean the United States should become involved in the domestic affairs of other countries.

Nixon is seeking most-favored-nation trade treatment for the Soviet Union, but Congress is balky in a dispute over Soviet emigration policies toward Jews.

His latest round in Soviet summit talks are due to open in less than a month.

Nixon spoke at the commencement and commissioning ceremony for 920 Naval Academy graduates.

Rains, Hail Pound State

Thunderstorms dumping rain at rates up to four inches per hour and giant hailstones staged another of their almost nightly assaults on much of Texas but apparently inflicted surprisingly little damage.

As usual there were a few tornadoes but no word of harm from them. Sightings were reported in Fisher County near Roby, where hail up to the size of baseballs pounded the countryside, about 15 miles northwest of Abilene, and in the Panhandle close to Turkey. There also was baseball-size hail at Merkel, just west of Abilene.

National Weather Service forecasters at Midland Air Terminal predicted a slight chance of rain for this afternoon and Thursday.

There is a 20 per cent chance of precipitation for this afternoon, tonight and Thursday.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected through Thursday with no important change in temperatures. The high this afternoon was expected to be in the upper 90s while tonight's low was expected to dip into the upper 60s. The high Thursday should be in the mid-90s. Tuesday's high was 98 while the overnight low was 67.

Southerly to southwesterly winds from 8-18 miles per hour are expected this afternoon and tonight.

The latest round of thunderstorms surged from the east part of the South Plains into North Central and Northeast Texas, dying down last from near Wichita Falls eastward. They prompted a nightlong succession of severe weather warnings.

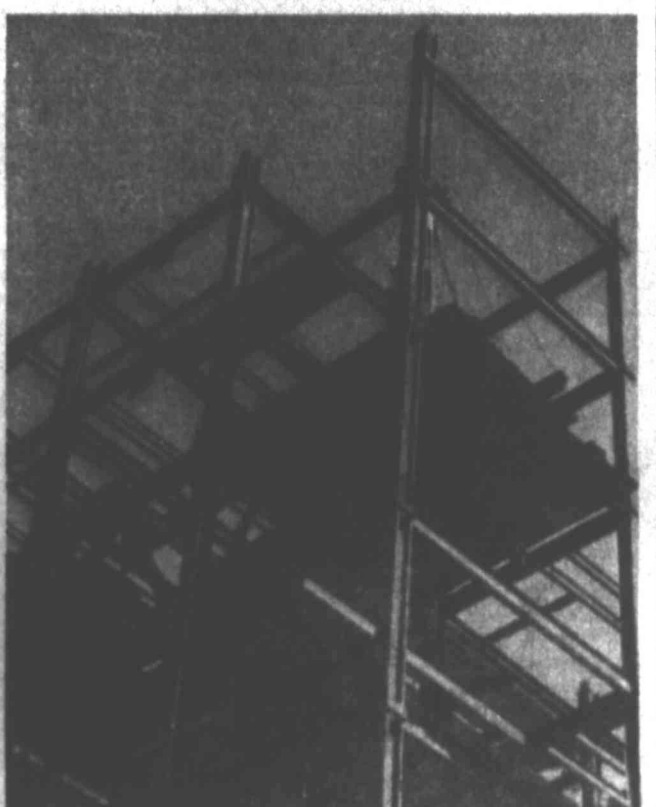

Renewed rainfall caused a flash flood watch until early morning in and near Plainview, where Running Water Draw threatened to rise again into some homes and business places. Near dawn, however, police reported the water level was dropping.

Hail the size of golf balls pelted Girard, near Lubbock on the South Plains, and an area on the opposite side of the state around Karnack, which is close to Marshall. Winds gusting to 50 miles per hour drove hail like marbles through Paris.

Outside the storm belt skies were mostly clear over West Texas and cloudy to partly cloudy in the central and east parts of the state, according to The Associated Press.

AUTOGRAPH, PLEASE—Debbie Woodard, top, and Phyllis Laird autograph a huge steel beam which will be used to "top out" the new Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building under construction in Downtown Midland. Bell officials invite Midlanders to autograph the beam at the corner of Missouri and Marienfeld Streets prior to a "topping out" ceremony at 10 a.m. June 14. When the beam is attached, the building, although containing only seven stories, will be as tall as a normal 12-story structure.

Panel Turns To Milk Price Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is turning to President Nixon's 1971 decision to raise milk prices to see if it was linked to a $2 million campaign pledge from dairy co-ops.

The investigation, to start today, involves bribery, which the Constitution lists as an impeachable offense.

Moving more swiftly now that it has passed the tangled Watergate scandal, the committee completed on Tuesday the presentation of evidence on the settlement of antitrust litigation against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

It also decided to have its staff question Charles W. Colson but postponed a decision on whether the former White House counsel would be called as a witness before the committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who overrode strong objections from members who want Colson called now, said he would wait for his report on what Colson says before deciding whether to have him as a witness.

Colson played a major role in the White House's dealings with the dairy industry, outlined in a summary prepared by the Judiciary Committee's staff of the case it will present.

The staff memorandum identifies Colson as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., and says in the spring of summer of 1970 AMPI promised him $2 million for Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

On March 12, 1971, former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin set milk price supports lower than the dairy industry wanted. Industry representatives called on Colson and other administration officials to set Hardin's order aside and fix a higher support level, the memorandum says.

The crucial part of the staff's presentation centers on March 23, 1971, when Nixon, who had previously been informed of the $2 million pledge, met at the White House with industry representatives.

Newsprint Costs Increasing Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Abitibi Paper Co., Ltd., one of Canada's biggest newsprint producers, and Anglo-Canadian Paper Co. added their names Tuesday to the list of Canadian companies which plan to raise newsprint prices $20 per ton this summer.

The new $20 increase, coming on the heels of increases of $25 per ton and more since last fall, will mean millions of dollars in increased costs to American newspaper publishers, Canada's major market.

Several major Canadian producers including Price Paper Co. and Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd., both million-ton-a-year newsprint manufacturers, already had posted the new increase. It will bring the price for a ton of 22-pound newsprint (See NEWSPRINT Page 11A)

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department reported today that American business has trimmed its capital spending plans by $750 million since last month's survey of intentions.

NEWARK (AP)—An ammonia pipe has ruptured near a parochial grade school in Newark, and at least 80 children suffered the effects of inhalation. All were rushed to several hospitals for treatment.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A federal appeals court ruled today that federally owned facilities are not required to obtain air pollution permits from the states in which they are located.

Agreement Signed By Israel, Syria

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syria and Israel today signed the documents outlining the procedure for disengagement of their forces on the Golan Heights.

The signing by Gen. Herzl Shafir of Israel and Gen. Adnan Tayara of Syria cleared the way for their forces to begin pulling back within 24 hours.

The signing also gave the go-ahead for the return of all prisoners of war still held by each side from the October war. The International Committee of the Red Cross said 367 Syrians, 10 Iraqis and five Moroccans were to be flown to Damascus Thursday morning in exchange for 56 Israelis.

Syria exchanged 12 wounded Israelis on Saturday for 25 wounded Syrians and one Moroccan.

Shafir and Tayara negotiated the "operational protocol" they signed today in eight hours of talks last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. It establishes the procedures and timetables to the (See AGREEMENT Page 11A)

Proposals To Limit Holding Companies Defeated

AUSTIN (AP) — Bank holding company supporters gained ground overnight and defeated two more attempts today to limit the size of these new financial giants.

Rep. John Wilson, D-La-Grange, who lost by seven votes Tuesday in an effort to restrict any one holding company to 8 per cent of the state's total deposits, found sentiment even stronger against two other amendments today.

One would make the ceiling 9 per cent. Delegates killed it, 94-57.

The other contained no specific figure but would have made it illegal to acquire smaller banks through mergers if the result would create a monopoly, restrain trade or lessen competition. It lost, 96-56.

Wilson's eight per cent amendment also prohibits only the acquisition of smaller banks, but since that is the method Texas holding companies have used to nearly double their size in four years, the effect would be to stop their growth at that size.

The convention voted 81-74 to kill that proposal.

Eight of the state's top 10 holding companies are in Houston or Dallas. The only delegates from those cities who voted with Wilson are liberal, black or (3 of the 15 from those cities) Republican.

Rep. Lindon Williams, a moderate-to-conservative Democrat from Houston was the only possible exception.

Wilson said the five largest holding companies controlled $5.8 billion in deposits in 1970, but now control $19.5 billion, or almost 31 per cent of the state's total.

After current acquisitions are completed, the percentage will jump to 80, he said.

"The velocity of growth exhibited by these holding companies in the last three years is staggering. At this rate, no independent banks will survive in this state for long, and the average citizen will be strictly at the mercy of the few controlling financial giants of this state," Wilson said.

Brown, Flounoy Win In California Primary

By LEE GOULD
 Associated Press Writer

California voters will choose between the liberal son of a past governor and a Princeton-educated former college government professor when they elect a governor in November.

Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., the 36-year-old son and namesake of the man defeated by Ronald Reagan in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flounoy won party nominations in California's primary election Tuesday.

Voters in the nation's most populous state also approved a tough and far-reaching political reform law.

There were these other election day highlights:

—Liberal Republican Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, who has called for the impeachment of President Nixon, won in a tight primary fight with conservative Gordon Knapp.

—South Dakota Republicans nominated former prisoner of war Leo Thorsness to challenge Sen. George McGovern's bid for a third term.

—James H. Meredith, who broke down racial barriers at the University of Mississippi a decade ago, was a surprise leader in a five-way Democratic congressional primary in Mississippi. He faces a run-off election June 25.

—Congressmen seeking re-election in the eight states holding primaries Tuesday had little difficulty securing renomination by their parties. Many faced no-or token-primary opposition.

Flounoy, 44, now state controller and a former state legislator, won the GOP gubernatorial nomination in a landslide victory over Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. Flounoy, who holds a Ph.D. from Princeton, is considered a moderate Republican.

Reinecke, once considered a favorite, suffered a blow April 3 when a Watergate grand jury indicted him on a perjury charge in the ITT case.

Brown, 36, was one of 18 Democrats, including San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and State Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who sought the Democratic nomination.

He had based his campaign on support for Proposition 9, a Watergate-inspired initiative that would reform campaign practices. The proposition was approved.

In South Dakota, Thorsness, 42, who spent six years in a North Vietnam prison camp and who holds the Medal of Honor, said he did not see the war as a major election issue.

Thorsness, who had announced his intentions to seek McGovern's seat shortly after returning to the United States last year, said, "The war is over. I hope we've learned our lesson. I hope we don't have to re-fight that war in this campaign."

Election highlights in other states:

Darden Named Optimist Boy Of Month

Roy Lane Darden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Darden of 1701 Cimmaron St., has been named the Boy of the Month for June by the Midland Optimist Club.

Darden, a recent graduate of Midland High, made his mark in the music field while in school here.

He received two music scholarships from West Texas State University and was in the MHS honors band for three years. Darden was also in the stage band and was both a band captain and a section leader.

In junior high, he was a member of the All-City band for two years.

Darden, member of the MHS boys choir for two years, was in 23 performances of "Oliver" at Midland Theatre Centre. He performed "Mame" and "South Pacific" while playing for the stage band.

The latest Optimist honoree, also was chosen to accompany Dr. Carlton Young at a youth concert and the Midland High A Cappella Choir at the Corpus Christi Baccanner Festival. He has just returned from the Six-Flags Over Mid-America Band Festival in St. Louis, Mo.

He received the St. Mark's United Methodist Church's scholarship for 1974, which is presented to an outstanding senior in the church.

At St. Mark's he served as president and vice president of the Youth Fellowship and has played on the church's basketball team.

The last three summers, Darden attended the West Texas State University music camp on scholarship. He will work for Texaco Inc. this summer.

Surgery Scheduled For UT President

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Texas graduate and internationally known cardiovascular surgeon, was to perform the operation.

UT announced Monday in Austin that a blocked artery necessitated the surgery.

Spurr entered St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital last December for tests and additional tests were performed last week in Austin.

The procedure for correcting a blocked artery of the heart involves bypassing the blocked area with a dacron graft or a vein from another part of the body.

'VETO-PROOF' CONGRESS STATEMENT CITED— Demo Governors Hit GOP 'Scare Tactics'

SEATTLE (AP) — The chairman of the nation's Democratic governors has accused Republicans of scare tactics in warning that Democrats could gain a "veto-proof Congress" in the November elections.

"The term 'veto-proof Congress' is merely a cynical ploy to detract from the most important issues of 1974," Gov. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky., said Tuesday as sharp partisanship broke out at the 66th National Governors' Conference.

The conference ends today with the annual business session at which the governors are expected to adopt a broad resolution urging campaign reform and other measures to deal with Watergate-type abuses, steps already taken by many states.

The conference also is expected to elect Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, D-Utah, as next year's chairman, succeeding Gov. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash.

The partisan verbal battle began when Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's top domestic policy aide, said during a panel discussion Tuesday morning that election of a "veto-proof Congress" might doom the revenue-sharing program.

"Then Gov. Winfield Dunn, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said in an interview he was frightened by the thought of a Congress so heavily Democratic it would give George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey the opportunity to run our country which they didn't get in the 1968 and 1972 presidential races."

"I take strong exception to a threat of political propaganda which has run through this conference from invited members of the present national administration," Ford told a news conference.

He said he considered it "no less than a rude assault against the integrity of all Democratic members of Congress" by implying they will always vote a certain way.

He said he hopes the Democrats attain a two-thirds control of the House and Senate that would give them the numerical strength to override presidential vetoes, but he said he objected to GOP efforts "to use the term to scare people."

Short of the three-fourths control needed to pass resolutions, Democratic governors at the meeting decided against trying to put the conference on record in favor of a tax cut to fight inflation or to raise any Watergate-related matters other than a bipartisan ethics resolution sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lacey, D-Wis.

Instead, they authorized Ford to report they believe the nation needs "tax reform and relief for middle and lower income individuals coupled with selective budget cuts."

In other developments: —The Democrats elected Gov. Wendell R. Anderson, D-Minn., to succeed Ford as conference chairman, Gov. Philip W. Noel of Rhode Island was elected vice chairman.

—The Republican governors decided tentatively to hold their next meeting in St. Louis after the November elections.

—Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss and GOP Chairman George Bush advised the governors at separate party breakfasts of efforts to work with the General Accounting Office to ease strict enforcement of income campaign contribution limits now being referred to the Justice Department for prosecution.

Texas Bar Tries To Suspend Parr's License To Practice

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — Longtime Duval County political leader George B. Parr declined comment Tuesday on the Texas Bar Association's attempt to take away his license to practice law.

For Parr, 73, a salty-talking South Texan, the motion to suspend his license and later disbar him was the latest legal hurdle thrown his way after decades of control in county politics.

The motion was lodged against both Parr and a nephew, Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

The elder Parr was convicted in federal court at Corpus Christi earlier this year on charges of federal income tax evasion. He was sentenced to five years in prison, given five years' probation and fined $14,000.

Judge Parr was convicted last month in federal court at San Antonio on perjury charges. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined $60,000 to pay the cost of his prosecution.

Both convictions are being appealed.

The bar association complaint asks District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo to suspend law licenses of the two pending the appeals and to disbar them if the appeals fail.

"I don't know a thing on earth about it, and if I did I wouldn't comment," the elder Parr told reporters Tuesday.

Parr, wearing a straw hat over his glistening, sun-burned bald head, talked to newsmen just prior to a meeting of directors of the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, a controversial water district prominently mentioned in both trials. George B. Parr is paid $1,000 a month as legal adviser to the district.

In their attempt to prove that the elder Parr evaded income taxes, government lawyers presented evidence that the water district paid for services and supplies used on Parr's ranch.

The perjury charges against Judge Parr centered around his claim that he received $121,500 from the water district in legal fees. Prosecutors claimed Parr did not perform the legal services.

"SEARCHING FOR TRUTH"

It would appear that the normal procedure in learning about those things that please the Creator would be to turn to His Book — the Holy Bible. However, men have always been bent on doing what pleases them instead. I know of no way to circumvent that, but I am persuaded that as long as men are averse to searching the Scriptures they will never come into a knowledge of the truth. (Jn. 5:39)

It is tragic, to say the least, that so many turn to the works of men to find out the mind of God. Such works are based on sensationalism, or sentimentalism; and while they may formulate a religious system that satisfies the longings of men, they cannot and will not bring longing man into Divine fellowship with God. In the first place, man is unable to devise a plan to save himself. (Je. 10:23) It has to be nothing more than a hypothesis when it comes from human wisdom (1 Co. 1:18-31), and such works of men cannot bring true felicity to our lives, and certainly cannot bring salvation to the soul.

Reader, truth (the Word of God, Jn. 17:17) is invincible! Truth can make us free from sin and nothing else can! (Jn. 8:32) Hence when we hear the pragmatic individual declare that "Every man should be able to do HIS own thing," we must declare that he is standing on precarious ground. No man has a right to "do HIS own thing," but must rather do the "will of God." (Mt. 7:21)

If I might be somewhat reverberant in this matter, let me urge our readers to turn to the Word of God. Do not turn to the sacred volumes to try to JUSTIFY a practice which you are already involved in, but rather look into the Holy Book to find out the mind of the Almighty — to learn His ways — then plumb your life with that. Now, if you are willing to do that, you will in the end close the chasm that now exists between a sinful soul and the God who loved him so much that He gave His only "begotten Son." (Jn. 3:16)

We would encourage you to attend the services of the Cuthbert Street Church of Christ, even tonight, and let us assist you in obeying the gospel of Christ.

MAN GIVEN SHEEP CELL INJECTIONS—

Gas Gangrene Is Ruled In Death

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A millionaire who received sheep cell injections at Dr. Robert A. Peterson's clinic died of gas gangrene and not of a coronary occlusion as Peterson stated on a death certificate, a medical examiner says.

Dr. Charles Petty, chief medical examiner for Dallas County, Tex., said he performed an autopsy on the body of Arthur Reed of Dallas six weeks after Reed died at Peterson's New Life Clinic in Fort Myers on Florida's lower Gulf Coast last Jan. 21.

George Sacco, 39, a Tampa fireman who received a sheep cell injection the same day as Reed, died of gas gangrene Jan. 22 in the Miami Hearsh Institute, medical authorities have said.

Peterson, an osteopath, has said that he used an extract made from the cells of unborn sheep to retard the aging process in humans.

Patients paid an average of $1,000 for series of seven to 10 injections that he said helped medical ailments ranging from arthritis to sexual impotence.

The Florida Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners has accused Peterson of blame in both deaths and is holding a hearing in Tampa to determine if his license should be suspended.

Petty said the autopsy revealed that heart disease was a contributing factor in the death of Reed, 58, but death was caused by gas gangrene.

Over objections from Peterson's lawyers, Petty displayed a series of colored slides from the autopsy and said they showed that gangrene set in before death and not after, as Peterson's lawyers claim.

He said he thought the gangrene bacteria could have entered Peterson's body in three ways—if the area of the body where the injection was given was dirty, if the syringe used in the injection was dirty or if the material in the syringe was contaminated.

He said it was possible, but highly improbable, that the bacteria entered Reed's body when he scratched the needle puncture with his fingers.

Petty also said it was possible that the gangrene bacteria entered Reed's body when Reed, a diabetic, gave himself an insulin injection, but added, "That is not my medical opinion."

Sheriff Due To Testify In Bond Hearing

DALLAS (AP) — Sheriff Clarence Jones was due to be the leadoff witness today as a court of inquiry into bail bond operations resumes—if two other witnesses fail to appear.

The inquiry recessed last Friday after four days of testimony.

Lawyer John Coll and former bondsman Martin Tuenbow have been summoned to testify. No subpoena had been served on Tuenbow late Tuesday.

Coll appeared in court and was sworn, but refused to testify because his lawyer was not present.

Coll holds the charter in the Methodist Religious and Educational Foundation. Testimony last week indicated Tuenbow purchased a 30-acre tract of land in Hunt County from the foundation and then had it certified by Hunt County Sheriff Wayne Green as surety for the writing of bonds in Dallas County.

Green testified he certified the land at $180,000. The deed to the land indicates Tuenbow purchased it from the foundation for "$10 and other good and valuable considerations."

Although Coll was sworn Friday, special prosecutor Whitley Sessions said attempts to reach him since had been unsuccessful. His lawyer said Coll would not appear today because he had not been notified the court was reconvened.

Sessions said he wants to query Jones about his knowledge of an arrangement between former bondsmen Wayne Parsons and Bobby Woods, in which Parsons transferred land he had used as bond collateral to Woods in exchange for which Woods was to assume Parsons' forfeiture liabilities.

Parsons testified Friday that the arrangement was made with Sheriff Jones' "blessing."

He also testified he transferred land he had up as collateral into a holding company he incorporated, called the J Bar W Corp., to keep Jones from levying on the property for bond forfeitures, and that Jones had advance knowledge of that move.

Argument Continues On Huge Debt

NEW YORK (AP) — There exists that ancient argument over just when and at what figure debt becomes excessive.

At the extremes, proponents of one point of view insist that credit is a right to be used freely in quest of a better life, while advocates of the other view maintain it is a sin that leads to financial hell and damnation.

The extremes would agree on one thing—public and private debt in the United States amounts to an almost incomprehensible figure. At the end of 1973 it totaled $2,525 trillion.

On a per capita basis that amounts to roughly $12,000.

The net public debt, made up of the obligations of the federal government and its agencies, plus those of state and local governments, rose 6.4 per cent last year to a total of $683 billion, but was far exceeded by private debt.

In that latter category, corporations alone accounted for $1.1 billion of the $1.93 billion total, with the remainder divided among individuals and corporate enterprises. Corporate debt rose 13.6 per cent, individual debt by 11.6.

Consumer debt, mainly of the kind that is paid back in installments, now exceeds $180 billion, compared with $157 billion in 1972 and $138 billion in 1971. But don't forget that inflation alone makes figures look larger.

The biggest load of any individual debt category is accounted for by home mortgages, which amounted to $374 billion at the close of 1973, up $35 billion in a year. But don't forget that the population keeps rising too.

Is all this too much? Those who most enthusiastically defend the present debt position maintain it is still within bounds, that much of it is backed by collateral and earning power, and that borrowers are more sophisticated in using credit.

COM Swim Team Discussed At Meet

The history, progress, spectacular achievements and future plans of the City of Midland Swim Team were reviewed Tuesday for members of the Midland Evening Lions Club at their meeting at Bonanza Restaurant.

The speaker was Charles Koch, president of the swim team, which owns and operates its own swimming facilities here.

Koch said this upcoming annual invitational swimming meet will be one of the largest if not the largest events of its kind ever held in the Southwest.

He also told of the outstanding swimmers who have been or are now members of the COM team.

President Jack Cross presided at the meeting.

Nixon's Trips Won't Paper Over Scandal Issues, Bentsen Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Democratic Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says President Nixon's trips to the Middle East and Russia will not paper over the presidential problems created by the Watergate scandal.

"Watergate will not be settled in Moscow or in the Middle East. It will be settled in Washington," said the Texas senator during a news conference Tuesday.

He urged Nixon not to attempt to gain popular support with a dramatic diplomatic effort.

"The military and ideological differences between the United States and Moscow are so deep they won't be papered over in summits," the Texas Democrat said.

Bentsen said that Nixon's trip should be an opportunity to improve and extend the detente situation between the United States and the Soviet Union. "He should know we don't expect him to come back with a signed document. There are too many differences."

Bentsen referred to the statements made by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in 1938 after meeting with Adolf Hitler in Munich and said that

Nixon shouldn't return from Moscow, "in some kind of pagentry stating he's brought us 'Peace in our time'."

Bentsen also criticized Nixon's refusal to turn over any evidence regarding Watergate in addition to the transcripts of tape recordings already sent to the House Judiciary Committee.

He said the nation's founding fathers did not design the impeachment to decide what evidence could be used. "It would make a mockery of the impeachment process to let the President dictate which evidence will be used and which will not."

The Texas senator also stated he did not plan to return any of the $5,000 contributed to his 1970 Senate campaign by the Associated Milk Producers Inc. He said he had already spent the money and noted that his opponents also received AMPI contributions.

Bentsen defended the votes he cast in support of AMPI positions saying they were in favor of increases of prices for dairy farmers to meet higher costs.

Party Honors Mrs. Reaves

A surprise birthday party Saturday complimented Mrs. J. M. Reaves. Hostess for the courtesy was Mrs. P. E. Neely, 3106 Douglas St.

An arrangement of summer flowers centered the refreshment table, which was laid with pink satin. Mrs. Charles Neely poured. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. E. A. Nichols, Mrs. H. S. Collings, Mrs. Albert Clement and Mrs. Helen Curran. There were 22 guests.

Becki Barnett Honored Here

A recent kitchen shower honored Becki Barnett of Dallas, formerly of Midland, bride-elect of Lt. Greg Morse, who is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

The party was held in the home of Mrs. Duke Jimerson, 2006 Shell St. Other hostesses were Susan Jimerson, Mrs. E. R. Frazier and Susie Frazier. Also assisting were Marsha Jimerson and Carol Frazier.

The honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Charlie Miller of Balinger, and her mother, Mrs. Frank Barnett of Dallas, were among the approximately 50 guests attending.

The serving table was laid with yellow burlap and was centered with an avocado-colored basket of fresh daisies and baby's breath. Brass appointments were used.

Daisy corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother.

The wedding is to be held June 15 in the First Community Church in Dallas.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Doggy's Breath Puts Her Off

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Editorials Association

DEAR POLLY — My two-year-old Pomeranian dog is beautiful and so loving but he has VERY bad breath. I followed my vet's advice and had the tartar removed from his teeth and even had some extracted but the bad-breath persists. I have tried those "doggy breaths" but nothing helps. I am a Senior Citizen and my dog is company for me but often I cannot let him come near me because of this problem. Does anyone have any advice? — EUGENIA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns embroidery floss. I do wish it would come on spools like other thread. This would save a lot of tempers, a lot of tangled thread that is ruined and make for neater sewing baskets. — SUE.

DEAR POLLY — I am a professional dressmaker. Like Liz I have many fabric scraps that I cannot bear to throw away and have found many uses for them. Squares and strips sewn together, after carefully sorting colors and textures, can make hostess skirts, vests and shoulder bags and such patchwork garments are very fashionable. Do be careful not to mix washable and dry cleanable fabrics.

A larger remnant often will make a full garment for a toddler. Smaller ones make stuffed toys, bean bags, pencil cases and beanie caps. Colorful throw pillows, hot pads and mitts and small appliance covers are also possibilities.

An old garment can be given new life by using such scraps for contrasting collars, pockets or appliques. My son's favorite idea is using wild colors and patterns for patches and cuffs of blue jeans. Welcome gifts would be glass cases, cosmetic bags, shoe bags, jewelry cases and other things to use in a suitcase. The list is almost endless. Anything left over will be welcomed by a charitable institution or children's organization. — SHARON.

DEAR POLLY — I am chairman of a Red Cross sewing department and we never waste a thread, much less fabrics. Do tell Liz that similar fabrics can be sewn together and then children's clothes cut from them. We make puppets out of all sorts of materials and piece hard-to-get flannel scraps to make baby clothes, bibs and booties. Aprons are made for use in mental hospitals — the band of one material, strings another, pocket another and so on. Even hats can be made. Of course, all our things are for the needy. — ROSEMARY.

DEAR POLLY — I put a thin but strong piece of leftover material over the opening on my glue bottle and then screw the lid on so the bottle is not impossible to open the next time I need glue. — ELAINE, age 11.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Retirees Plan Palo Duro Trip

A supper and business meeting were held Monday at the First Christian Church by the Midland Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons. Buster Steger, president, presided.

Mrs. Guy Elliott, chaplain, gave the invocation, followed by the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Katie Harkrider was a guest. Mrs. Ernestine Hayes and R. E. West became new members. There were 25 members in attendance. Games concluded the meeting.

The group is planning a chartered bus trip to Palo Duro Canyon for the annual summer presentation of the play, "Texas." More complete details of the overnight trip will be announced in the near future.

The double ring ceremony was held in the First United Methodist Church here at 7 p.m., with the Rev. Gale Moericke of the Puritan Baptist Church officiating. He is a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. T. C. Baldree of Wichita Falls was the matron of honor for her sister, Teresa Moericke was the maid of honor for her cousin. Cousins of the bride, Jill and Tina Moericke, lighted the candles.

Jerry Wayne Crowder of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, was the best man. Frank Dunn of College Station, and Tom Baldree, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, ushered. Gale Edward Moericke Jr., cousin of the bride, was the groomsmen.

Mrs. Henry Clark, organist, provided the music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Victorian styled gown of daisy stitched eyelet. The gown had an Empire bodice with cape collar. Eyelet lace edged a ruffle at the hemline of the long skirt. An eyelet headpiece held the applied train and veil. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath with yellow streamers.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Included in the house party were Mrs. Darrel Hocker and Mrs. Richard Ellison of Midland.

The couple will live in Mansfield after a wedding trip. The bridegroom holds a doctorate of divinity from Northgate Institute of Theology. He is employed here by SAR Industries. The bride is a 1966 graduate of Lee High School, Midland.

Dear Abby

Apologize To Son And Free Your Anxieties

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a son and there are only two things wrong with him. One: When we go out to dine, he cuts all his meat into little bite-sized pieces as though he were preparing it for a 4-year-old child, or a dog!

The other thing: When a lady comes into a room and he is seated, he never stands up. How can I get him to correct these two faults without hurting his feelings? He would be perfect otherwise.

SERIOUS ABOUT HIM DEAR SERIOUS: Tell him lovingly that if it weren't for two minor flaws in etiquette, he would be perfect! Then gently explain. Now what man would resent a little constructive criticism in order to attain perfection? If yours does, he has more than only two faults.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PROVED MY LOVE IN COL-UMBUS": If he comes near you again, call the police. Or do you want to try for two?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: When we do the right thing, we feel good about it. When we do the wrong thing, we feel bad. Call him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been considering beginning a family, but we aren't completely certain that we want to, for various reasons. However, here is one reason in particular which bothers me. I have always been a rather possessive person, and it is important to me to be the most important person in my husband's life.

I'm afraid if I had a child, the child might become more important to my husband than I am and I would then become jealous of my own child. I've seen it happen in some families. I have caught myself feeling jealous when my husband shows affection for our dog. Now, wouldn't it be terrible to feel that way about your own child? Does this sound far out to you, or have you come across this problem before? And what should I do about it?

JEALOUS DEAR JEALOUS: If you're jealous of a dog, forget about a family. It shouldn't happen to a child.

DEAR ABBY: I finally met a man I can be serious about,

Miss Lenert Feted At Rice Bag Party

Lois Lenert, bride-elect of Terry McGinnis, was honored Saturday with a rice bag party in the home of Mrs. LeJeune Horton, 9601 W. Shandon St. Fruits and miniature pastries were served from a table covered with a yellow organdy cloth, trimmed in antique French lace over a pale orange cloth. A white lotus bowl on a teakwood stand held an arrangement of white daisies, orange trumpet flowers and bamboo.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Lenert, were presented white daisy corsages. Guests made rice bags in the honoree's chosen colors of beige and rose.

A Freedom Is Threatened

A measure which in effect challenges freedom of the press in Texas certainly has no place in the proposed new Texas Constitution. The proposal threatens the right of the people to know.

Yet, Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas has proposed just such an amendment providing for "Right of Privacy." It is objectionable for obvious reasons and should be rejected by the Constitutional Convention.

The matter of privacy could and should be handled in the legislative process as a proposed statute.

Mauzy's one-paragraph amendment as approved by the Committee on General Provisions, reads:

"Sec. 21. RIGHT OF PRIVACY. The absolute necessity of a right of privacy to the free exercise of rights and liberties is recognized. The state and its political subdivisions shall not pass any law, make any policy, issue any regulations, or spend any public funds in a manner which infringes on a person's right to privacy, except that the state and its political subdivisions may collect, maintain and disseminate information for legitimate governmental purposes to the extent necessary to achieve those purposes. No private citizen may infringe on a person's right to privacy, except as provided by law."

This pretty well would prevent anyone outside of government from saying or reporting anything about anyone. It constitutes a serious threat to a basic freedom.

Just what this would prevent anyone outside of government from saying or reporting anything about anyone. It constitutes a serious threat to a basic freedom.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, who for years has studied the right of privacy and who is considered an authority on the subject, believes that the problem should not pertain to the news media and that it should be handled by statute.

There are certain matters on which the constitution should keep silent, and this is one of them. Such matters are more statutory in nature and the legislature is capable of handling them as the occasion arises.

Should deletion of the amendment from the constitution fail, the wording of the last phrase of the final sentence should be changed from "... except as provided by law" to "except to the extent authorized by exercise of freedom of speech and press or as otherwise provided by law."

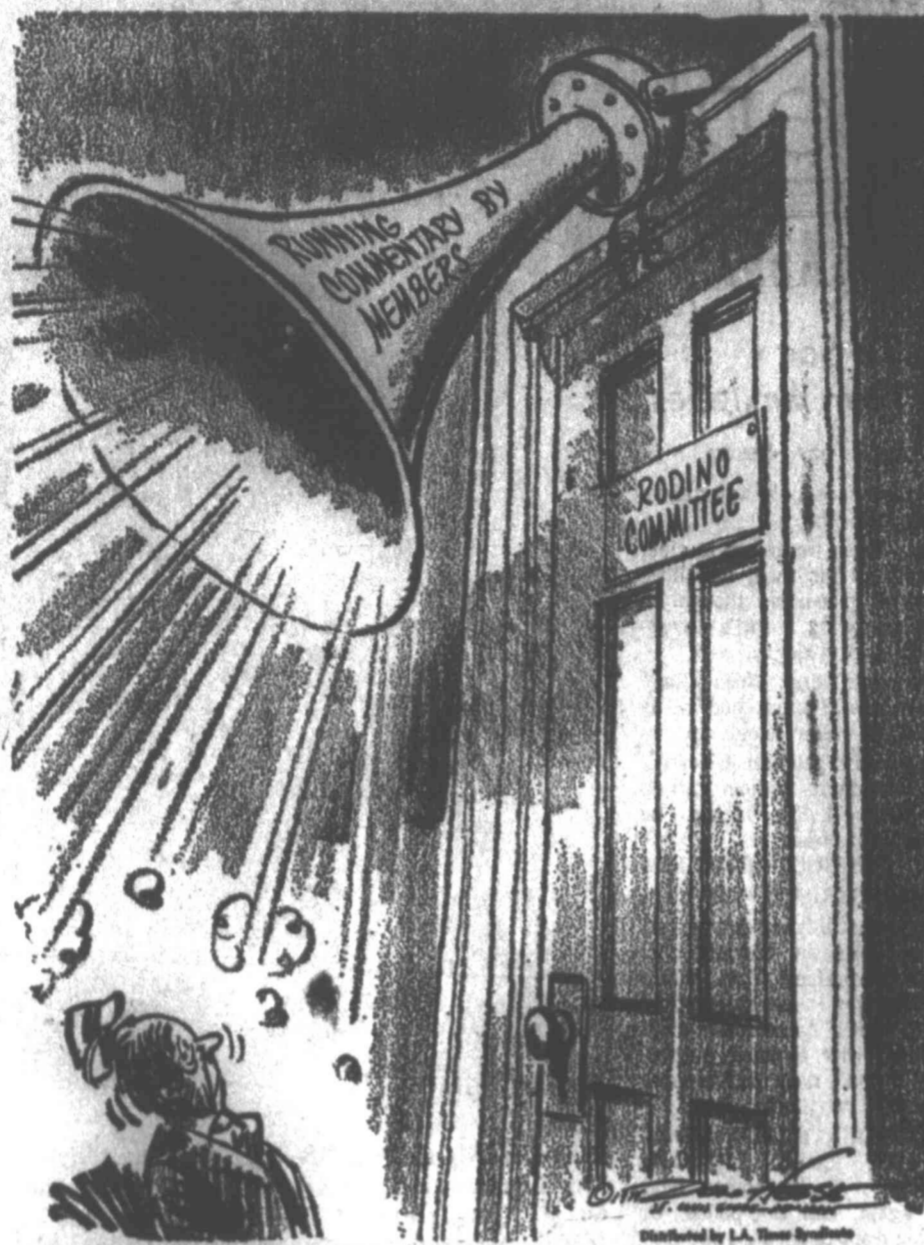

The real need, however, is for complete deletion of the proposed amendment from the constitution. The public should speak out in defense of this freedom.

Closed Hearings

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Gerald Ford would be one of most decent President's ever.

WASHINGTON—What kind of President would Gerald Ford make? This is a question we often are asked.

Ford would not be the brightest President to occupy the oval office, but he would be one of the most decent. There is nothing suave or subtle about him. He would bring an openness and a guilelessness to the White House. He could be trusted.

He would not have as keen a grasp of the paperwork of the presidency as Richard Nixon has. But probably more important, Ford would have a better feel for the human undercurrents.

There is also an all-American quality about him. He has the common touch of Harry Truman, the easy manner and engaging sincerity of Dwight Eisenhower.

Under Gerald Ford, the oval office no longer would be a storm cellar where the President constantly is engaged in plotting strategy to strike back at innumerable "enemies."

When an aide brought Ford the first news from a news service ticker that the White House kept an "enemies list," Ford shook his head in disbelief. "If you have so many enemies you have to keep a list," he remarked, "you are in trouble."

He would bring integrity to the White House. He always has refused to accept cash campaign contributions. He has insisted upon checks, which can be recorded properly.

He would be a partisan President, who would attend to his political chores. But he would be able to work in harness with Democratic leaders. As House Republican leader, he had a close working relationship with the Democrats, particularly Speakers John McCormack and Carl Albert.

Incidentally, the vice president took the time in Boston the other day to place a quiet, kindly telephone call to the ancient and lonely McCormack.

Watergate politics have put Ford in a squeeze. He gave President Nixon a pledge of loyalty before accepting the vice presidency. But he also promised party leaders that he would spearhead the campaign for Republican candidates this year. They needed a leader whom Republicans could rally around.

Ford, true to his pledge of loyalty, has tried to defend the President. Yet, at the same time, he has sought to divorce the party from Watergate.

The President, according to our White House sources, has suggested to Ford that he tone down his criticism of the way the White House has handled Watergate. The vice president, in response, has tried to support the President, without completely swallowing the White House line.

Gerald Ford would not be a spectacular President. His style would be Grand Rapids, not Camelot. But he has the warm attributes, which would allow him to sit comfortably on the cold pedestal of power.

FORGOTTEN SERGEANT: The Army's slick new advertising campaign promising enlistees they'll be treated "with respect and dignity," doesn't attempt suicide if her husband were forced to leave.

The board wouldn't listen and Mrs. Anthony attempted to take an overdose of sleeping pills just as the doctor had feared. Fortunately, she was stopped in time.

But the sergeant, alone and despondent 600 miles from the family who needed him, suffered an emotional breakdown. As we write this, he is hospitalized at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Footnote: When we made inquiries at the Compassionate Review Board, we heard a loud voice in the background shout: "Don't answer that!" But later the board explained that Anthony was assigned to Ft. Belvoir because of job openings and the nearness of Walter Reed.

In some cases, the technical problems of production and the accompanying engineering problems associated with making the energy useful in the form in which it's needed are not the primary difficulty. The application of solar heat to homes, office buildings and factories is more a problem of transforming concepts and preconceptions in the building industry, a feat which may be more difficult to achieve than breakthroughs in solar energy production.

A major problem we face is that these longer-range research and development projects will compete with the $60 billion a year investment and production program required to meet 1985 needs. Both will vie for the scarce supply of scientists and engineers specializing in the skills required. Both will compete for money.

The probability is that the $60 billions of Americans further removed from the Vietnam tragedy than we, will render the ultimate verdict in the case of Daniel Ellsberg and the "Pentagon Papers" — whether he was a hero for revealing the story of how the country got into that war, or whether he flirted with treason; whether the end justified the means he used, or whether his disclosure of classified documents was a betrayal of his trust as a government employee.

One thing we can say is that is where it all began: The White House "Plumbers", the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist and of the Democratic party headquarters, the bugging and surveillance of reporters and administration underlings, the Ervin Committee, John Dean, Archibald Cox, the "Saturday Night Massacre," the White House tapes, the subpoenas, the transcripts — in short, the whole "Watergate" drama.

It all began with the outrage of a President over the Pentagon Papers, and it may end with the downfall of a President.

"I considered the problem of such disclosures as critical to the national security of the United States," wrote President Nixon the other day in a letter to U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, "and it was my intent, which I believe I conveyed, that the fullest authority of the President under the Constitution and the law, should be used if necessary to bring a halt to these disclosures."

Judge Gesell was conducting hearings on pretrial motions by lawyers for the defendants in the Ellsberg break-in. This blanket Presidential authorization is their main defense against charges of burglary and violation of civil rights.

Two perplexing questions remain: 1) Did the President knowingly or unknowingly, before or after the act, encourage or countenance his aides to operate outside the Constitution and the law, not only in tracing and plugging national security leaks but engaging in political espionage? And 2), why was there such Presidential concern over the Pentagon Papers in the first place?

The first question is one of the matters now before the House Judiciary Committee considering the President's impeachment. The second we can only continue to wonder about.

The Nixon administration played no part in the high-level thinking and decision-making which initially involved the United States in Vietnam. If the Pentagon Papers embarrassed or discredited anyone, it was the previous two administrations.

As for the baneful effects of the Papers on the security of the United States, it has been three years since their publication. It was not evident then, nor is it evident now, just how their disclosure harmed this country.

This is wholly apart from the question of to what extent the government must be able to operate in secrecy or confidentiality, and at what point the right of the people to be informed about grave decisions being made in their name, becomes overriding.

As it turned out, the President's obsession with plugging leaks, real or fancied, and the use of illegal means under the cloak of "national security" resulted in the dismissal of the charges against Ellsberg. Had his trial proceeded, the nation might possibly have learned some useful answers to the questions immediately above.

It also may have cost Richard Nixon his office and the outstanding place he was on the way to attaining in the Pantheon of American Presidents.

It seems a foolish gamble that he took a tremendous sacrifice for something of such questionable and transitory import in the long pull of history.

RAY CROMLEY Energy Crisis Reveals New Shortage: Time

WASHINGTON (NEA)—By 1985, if we invest $60 billion a year effectively, we should be virtually out of the current petroleum/energy crisis, barring unexpected disasters.

But then, we shall almost certainly be faced with a new energy crisis worse than today's—brought on by a skyrocketing worldwide demand, including persistent growth of American requirements. We can also expect a gradual decline in production rates at some of the world's leading oil-producing areas. In short, 10 years and $60 billion will merely buy time.

Doubling coal output, doubling our total investment in oil and gas, speeding nuclear power plant building, pushing oil from shale and synthetic liquids from coal with vigor — and expanding refining, transportation and auxiliary industries to boost domestic output and delivery by a third conceivably could put us in rough balance a decade from now, assuming rigorous steps to conserve fuel use. From then on, we'll begin to lose ground, slowly at first and then rapidly unless there are major scientific breakthroughs someplace along the line.

This means new technical and engineering discoveries in breeder reactors, fusion power, solar energy, the liquefaction of coal and extraction of oil from shale and geothermal energy to make these processes sufficiently practical and economically competitive on a large scale.

It will not be necessary, of course, to succeed simultaneously in all these fields. But there must be breakthroughs in a variety of areas to provide the huge amounts of energy which will be required in the last 15 years of this century and beyond.

The research problems are formidable. We have a great deal of shale oil. Deposits are estimated at 1,800 billion barrels of oil. But only 6 per cent is accessible in sufficiently thick strata and high oil content to be commercially practical today.

Liquefaction of coal at present is technically possible. But the processes are too costly to be competitive on a large scale.

A great deal more work is required on fusion and breeder power and on geothermal energy in large quantities and on the practical application of solar power to buildings.

In some cases, the technical problems of production and the accompanying engineering problems associated with making the energy useful in the form in which it's needed are not the primary difficulty. The application of solar heat to homes, office buildings and factories is more a problem of transforming concepts and preconceptions in the building industry, a feat which may be more difficult to achieve than breakthroughs in solar energy production.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The word "fan," referring to a sports enthusiast or a worshipper of an entertainment personality, is believed to be a contraction of the word fanatic, according to The World Almanac. Before 1900, the owner of the former St. Louis Browns referred to a man as a baseball fanatic. Newspaper headline writers shortened the term to fan.

TO FIGHT INFLATION—

Buying Restraint Urged

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Americans will have to be restrained from buying everything they want to combat inflation, says Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

Unemployment also may be higher than desirable in months ahead, but that too is necessary for the anti-inflation drive, Simon said Tuesday night.

"A very high rate of inflation is now built into our system. To reduce that inflation to tolerable levels will take time, and it will not be achieved without pain," Simon said.

The Treasury secretary spoke at a meeting of the International Monetary Conference being attended by government and private financial leaders from 21 nations.

Simon said inflation in the economy will last for some time but said he was confident the country could survive it "without crippling effects."

But he said it would be necessary to maintain the economy at less than full capacity, with demand at a level below total potential output.

Simon said that if demand and productive capacity were to continue in balance, inflation also might continue at near the present 12 per cent rate.

"Demand will have to be low total potential output—very close to it, but below," he added.

Simon indicated it will be necessary to have an unemployment rate higher than might otherwise be desired. He said "our labor markets must not be too tight" to help promote a gradual slowdown of the upward trend of pay scales.

A key to restraining demand will be a holddown in government spending, Simon said. He added that he thought Americans would support tough anti-inflation policies because they are tired of inflation.

Specialists Leave Undetermined Who Is Responsible For Erasure Of Tape

WASHINGTON (AP) — After seven months of work, a court-appointed panel of sound specialists has left undetermined who is responsible for an 18 1/2-minute erasure in an important White House tape recording.

"Questions of who made the buzz or when, or why, did not come within the scope of our investigation," the group said in releasing its inch-thick report Tuesday.

Instead, the panel focused largely on the tape itself. The report reported the panel's earlier conclusion that the erasure was the result of manual operation of the record and stop buttons on the machine.

That conclusion was contested by the White House and its own tape report.

White House lawyer James D. St. Clair charged that the panel's report "creates the false impression that all portions of the erasure were done manually and deliberately."

The White House-sponsored report says the gap could have resulted from mechanical malfunction.

Nonetheless, the White House-sponsored report prepared by the Stanford Research Institute said it was in "general agreement" with the court-appointed group.

President Nixon's secretary,

Rose Mary Woods has testified that she accidentally caused four to five minutes of the erasure by keeping the recorder on the use of a foot pedal.

Miss Woods was transcribing the tape, which included a conversation between the President and his former chief of staff H. R. Haldeman on June 30, 1972, three days after the Watergate break-in.

The panel's seven major conclusions, the same as those delivered in a Jan. 15 preliminary report, were backed up this time with more than 80 pages of technical documentation.

The six members selected jointly by the White House and the special Watergate prosecutor said they had considered several challenges to the original conclusions, but had not changed their minds.

Miss Woods' attorney, Charles S. Rhyne, declared the six members of the court-appointed panel to be unqualified.

MC Continuing To Set Records For Enrollment

Midland College continues to set enrollment records. At the end of the first day classes Tuesday, 504 students had enrolled for the first summer session. This is an increase of 28 per cent over the 394 who enrolled for the same session last year.

According to Dee Windsor, registrar, the figure is expected to be even higher when the registration period ends Monday. Today is the last day to register for two classes, but students may enroll for one class through Monday.

Both day and night courses are available. Day classes meet at Lee High School and night classes are held at the college, 4907 Andrews Highway. Classes meet Monday through Thursday.

Windsor urged veterans to take advantage of their educational benefits during the summer session. Those who eligibility period was to have expired Saturday will receive benefits for attendance under an emergency extension measure passed by Congress.

For registration information, telephone the college at 694-1686.

Nixon Dines Again Aboard His Yacht

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has spent another evening on the Potomac aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia.

Nixon dined aboard the vessel Tuesday with White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and a Kissinger aide, Brig. Gen. Brent Scowcroft. A spokesman said the group discussed the Midwest situation and Nixon's upcoming trip to Moscow.

The President has dined aboard the yacht several times in recent weeks.

Becky Bass Belly Dancing Classes Slated

The Parks and Recreation Department of Midland is offering a beginning Belly Dancing class for six weeks from next Tuesday through July 18. The class meets at 300 Baldwin on Tuesday and Thursday. The time will be from 7:30 to 8 p.m. The class will be limited to 15. Registrations are being taken at the Parks and Recreation Office.

Becky Bass will be the instructor. She taught in Midland for one year and also in Denton, while attending North Texas State University.

Reagan Leaves Impression Of '76 Presidential Race At Conference

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF (An AP News Analysis)

SEATTLE (AP) — Taking full advantage of the presence of hundreds of reporters, California Gov. Ronald Reagan managed two news conferences, a speech to a Seattle group and an attack on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in two days at his last National Governors' Conference.

Then, he left for California before the conference closed today with adoption of the governors' policy positions for the next year.

Before he left, he made clear his opposition to the views of a heavy majority of governors favoring national health insurance, a strong federal land use bill and broad action in the field of campaign reform and governmental ethics.

He also left an obvious impression of a 1976 presidential candidacy, though he said at Tuesday's news conference "it is far too early" for talk about his making the race to have much meaning.

Reagan added that if it continues a year from now, he will have to "see how widespread it, how deep it is and does it warrant my making such a decision."

Reagan, however, carefully avoided testing any of his ideas among his fellow governors. In recent years, he has found himself in a distinct minority on major policy questions, mainly those of a broader federal role on health or welfare, or for increased federal financial help.

Too many of the governors want to take "a tin cup" to Washington, he told the news conference. "They talk states rights but they want it both ways."

He indicated he would take his "states rights" views to the country in the stepped-up national speaking schedule he plans after his term as governor ends in January. Although he wouldn't say so, the theme also seems certain to be a prime one in any future presidential bid.

It indicates he is banking on a belief there is more support in the country for his ideas than among his fellow elected officials. None of the governors supported his attack on Kennedy's health care legislation, and none backed his criticism of fellow Republican Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon on land use.

That may explain Reagan's eagerness to face the press. His Monday session repeated the attack on Kennedy, while the Tuesday meeting began with a statement on land use.

Troubles Increasing For Man Charged In Woman's Abduction

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Gerald Allen Martin, 26, arraigned Tuesday afternoon before U.S. Magistrate Bailey F. Rankin on charges he kidnaped a California woman and forced her to drive him to Fort Worth, learned in court his legal problems may be multiplied.

He was arraigned on a complaint charging him with abducting Miss Lora Joan Hinkel, 20, in Stockton, Calif., last Sunday and making her drive him to suburban Euless, where he was arrested Monday evening. Rankin set Martin's bond at $75,000 on that charge.

During the proceedings in Rankin's magistrate court, it also became known that Martin is sought by California authorities on an assault charge, and, additionally, he was placed on three years probation in Colorado Springs, Colo., for an assault with a deadly weapon.

Then, Asst. U.S. Atty. Conrad Florence said Martin may also be wanted in California on a burglary warrant.

Rankin asked Martin if he was aware of the warrants. "The only one I know about is the assault case," responded Martin. "I didn't know about the burglary."

Martin is accused of forcing Miss Hinkel and another Oakland woman outside a restaurant in Stockton, and then releasing the other woman before making Miss Hinkel begin what authorities say was a 38-hour involuntary drive to Fort Worth.

The suspect, appearing calm but wearing the rumpled clothes he had been wearing since last weekend, told Rankin he has spent some nine years in the Army—serving much of that time in Vietnam—has not had a job since April 1, has no money or property, home address or plans for the future.

Martin faces a second hearing before Rankin at 9:30 a.m. Monday and is expected to be extradited to California soon.

Ex-Legislator, 79, Dies At Fort Worth

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Henry Grady Perry, 79, of Stephenville, an author, retired hardware dealer and former state legislator, died Tuesday in a Fort Worth hospital.

A native of Erath County who moved here from West in 1930, Perry had served three terms in the state legislature in the early 1920s and late 1940s and two terms on the city council here.

Before moving here, he published newspapers in Junction, Carrizo Springs and West.

Elderly Irish Peer, Wife Kidnaped

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, WED., JUNE 8, 1974-11A

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Police spokesmen speculated today that the kidnapers of an elderly Irish peer and his wife were holding them hostage for five members of the Irish Republican Army on hunger strikes in British jails.

Three gunmen seized the 71-year-old Earl of Donoughmore and his wife early today when they returned to their 600-acre estate in County Tipperary after a visit to friends. The kidnapers bundled the couple into a car and drove off in the direction of Dublin, 120 miles to the northeast.

A senior police officer said Lord Donoughmore may have been wounded. A fresh bloodstain was found on the driveway, and the son of the earl's chauffeur said he heard a shot fired.

The police launched a search and set up roadblocks for a 30-mile radius.

Police speculated that the kidnapers were spurred by the death Monday night in a British jail of IRA member Michael Gaughan, who had been on a hunger strike since March 31 demanding that he be classified a political prisoner and transferred to a jail in Northern Ireland.

Gaughan was serving a seven-year term for bank robbery. Five other IRA members serving life terms in British jails for bombings in London also are fasting to press the same demands Gaughan made.

If the kidnaping of the Donoughmores was politically motivated, it was not apparent why they were the targets. The earl was a Conservative member of the British House of Commons from 1943 to 1945 but has not been active politically since then. He is grand master of the Free Masonic Grand Lodge of Ireland and a prominent owner and breeder of race horses.

The IRA's Official wing was reported preparing to retaliate for Gaughan's death by ending its two-year cease-fire in Northern Ireland and returning to the battle alongside the guerrillas of the IRA's Provisional branch.

Despite the growing threat on the Catholic side, Mervyn Rees, the British administrator for Northern Ireland, was returning to Belfast today to try to set up another coalition government of Protestants and Catholics. Protestant extremists brought down the province's first last month with a general strike.

Superdog Survives Third Peril

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sidney the mutt has turned up alive and well in Boston more than six weeks after he escaped from the baggage compartment of an airliner.

But Sidney's owner, Harry Demontmolin Jr. of Jacksonville, says that really isn't surprising. "Sidney's sort of an interesting creature. He's been bitten by a rattlesnake and given up for dead and hit by a car and given up for dead."

The dog escaped April 19 at Boston's Logan International Airport while Demontmolin, operations director of a private prep school here, and his wife were flying from Maine, where they have a farm, to Jacksonville.

After searching in vain for Sidney, the Demontmolin continued the flight.

Spotted On Runway

"That night Delta Airlines called and said the dog was spotted on the runway," Demontmolin said. "They stopped landings for an hour to try to catch the dog, but he was too frightened."

On Monday an animal hospital here called Demontmolin to say the Boston Animal Rescue League had picked up the pooch about 10 miles from the airport.

"My wife is going to Maine next week and the airline will bring Sidney to the airport in Boston," Demontmolin said Tuesday. "He's going to stay on the farm all summer and we'll bring him back by car."

Demontmolin described Sidney as "just a mixed brown male dog that we got from the humane society six years ago." He added: "I figure he's now been resurrected three times."

Young Couple Writes Letter Of Thanks To Midland For Help

By D'EVA LUTHRINGER

A young couple, in financial difficulty when traveling through Midland last month, has written a note of thanks to Midlanders who helped them.

They are Charles and Elizabeth Harvey, to whom Midlanders donated about $400 and made it possible for the couple to get to South Carolina to make their new home.

The Harveys lived in California and went to Las Vegas, Nev., on their vacation.

Trio in London Makes Off With $120,000 in Gems

LONDON (AP) — Three armed men blasted a display window in a jewelry shop in New Bond Street with a shotgun today, grabbed $120,000 in gems and fled through central London as police pursued them.

The police said they believed they had the gunmen cornered in an underground parking lot near Hyde Park.

One raider hit a doorman over the head with a shotgun barrel as the trio burst into the firm of S. J. Phillips. Employees said the gunmen fired a shot into the ceiling and three more into a display window, snatched three trays of jewels and fled by car.

The men tried to shake the police by switching cars, but a police helicopter hovering above the traffic kept up with them. Streets were cordoned off and police, in a rare move for London, were issued arms.

Medal Of Honor Winner Committed

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A Medal of Honor winner who said he couldn't adjust to being a hero and was growing marijuana as part of his fight for personal freedom has been admitted to a mental institution for observation.

Kenneth Kays, 24, entered the state mental health center at Chester on Tuesday for observation on an emergency hospitalization petition granted by State's Atty. Robert Hawkins of Wayne County at the request of Kays' father, John.

Hawkins said the elder Kays asked him for help when he found his son in an incoherent state at his trailer home.

"The grounds were that the boy was yelling and screaming and was irrational," Hawkins said.

Young Kays was arrested twice and convicted once this spring on charges of cultivation and possession of marijuana. He was placed on probation. Kays openly grew about 100 marijuana plants in a small plot at his father's farm east of this Southern Illinois town of 6,000.

In a recent news interview, he said what he did in Vietnam and what he was doing in Fairfield were parts of his quest for personal freedom to discover himself.

He said marijuana is a tool in discovering the self and he didn't believe the law had the right to take it away from him.

At one point, Kays said, "I can't handle being a hero."

On May 10, 1970, in Vietnam, Kays, a draft resister turned medic, repeatedly crawled behind his lines under fire, even after his left leg was shot away, to treat and rescue wounded soldiers. After his discharge in December 1970, he returned to live in a trailer home behind his mother's house.

Book Quotes Ike As Saying Monty 'Can't Tell Truth'

LONDON (AP) — An upcoming book quotes the late Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as saying Britain's World War II commander, Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, was a man who "just can't tell the truth."

American author Cornelius Ryan said the late president and World War II supreme allied commander in Europe gave him an interview with the promise it wouldn't be used until after his death. In "A Bridge Too Far," to be published in September, Ryan quotes Eisenhower as saying of Montgomery:

"He got so damn personal to make sure that the Americans, and me, in particular, had no credit, and nothing to do with the war, that I eventually just stopped communications with him. I was not interested in communications with a man that just can't tell the truth."

Montgomery, now 86, has been in poor health. His brother, Lt. Col. Brian Montgomery, said the two men had a bitter quarrel over strategies and both had been partly right.

The increase reportedly added hundreds of millions of dollars to dairy industry profits.

Most of the evidence bearing on the dairy industry phase of the inquiry came from the Senate Watergate Committee, but the Judiciary Committee also has tapes of some of the key White House conversations around March 23, 1971.

The committee has asked the White House for 66 taped conversations dealing with the ITT and dairy cases, and may issue subpoenas for them later in the week. It has a subpoena outstanding ordering delivery on Monday of 45 Watergate tapes.

NEW JERSEY — All incumbent congressmen seeking another term were renominated without serious challenge.

MONTANA — Democrat Max Baucus and Jack McDonald, a Republican who recently bolted the Democratic party, won congressional nominations to face incumbents who were unopposed in the primary. In November, Baucus will challenge Republican Rep. Dick Shoup while McDonald will face Democratic Rep. John Melcher.

NEW MEXICO — State Sen. Jerry Apodaca of Las Cruces, at 39 the youngest candidate in a six-man field, won New Mexico's Democratic gubernatorial primary election. He will oppose Republican Joseph Skeen, a 47-year-old rancher and former state senator, in the November general election. The current governor, Democrat Bruce King, is unable to succeed himself.

MISSISSIPPI — Meredith's opponent in the June 25 runoff will be Jackson television executive Kenneth Dean. In other primary highlights, the state's five congressmen won party endorsements for new terms.

Visiting Governor Speaks To Lions

The possibilities for service offered by the multiple-widowed benefits to mankind provided through Lionism were talked by a visiting Lions district governor at the meeting of the Midland Downtown Lions Club today noon in the American Legion Hall.

The speaker was Ben Taylor of Holbrook, Ariz., governor of District 21-C, Lions International.

Gov. Taylor's address concerned the service strength of Lionism around the world, pointing out that what one man can do may seem insignificant, but a million men working together can accomplish more anything they desire.

"Such is the strength and spirit of Lionism and its more than one million members," he said.

The speaker cited specific instances, occasions and projects relating to service benefiting individuals, communities and regions. He urged his listeners to find and tackle projects overlooked by others.

Gov. and Mrs. Taylor are in Midland visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Lion and Mrs. Norman C. Henry, 3204 Stanollin St.

David Holster is the Lions program chairman for June.

The conference is expected to resume during the summer or fall.

After he spoke, the Finnish general shook hands with the members of the Syrian and Israeli delegations. The two delegations reportedly talked only through Silasvuo during their negotiations, and there was no conversation between them today.

New Mexico, Texas Fires Under Control

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Western fire fighters began the monotonous task of mopping up today after controlling two fires that charred some 750 acres of federal recreation land in southwest New Mexico and far West Texas.

Both fires were controlled late Tuesday, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. They were started by lightning Monday afternoon, he said.

The spokesman said, "Only very slight amounts of Ponderosa pines were destroyed."

No damage estimates were available.

The larger fire, dubbed the PX Fire, blackened about 500 acres on the southwest fringes of Guadalupe National Park just south of the Texas-New Mexico state line, officials said.

The New Mexico fire blazed through about 250 acres of a roadless section of the Lincoln National Forest some 15 miles southwest of Carlsbad, the spokesman said. The area, about 10 miles north of the PX Fire, is being considered by Congress for federal wilderness area designation.

Remote, steep-walled canyons, coupled with stiff breezes and tinder-dry vegetation, hampered the 140 fire fighters battling the Black Canyon Fire in the national forest. They were unable to get motorized equipment to the site and had to walk more than a mile to fight the blaze.

Fire fighters, supported by six bomber aircraft dropping fire-retardant chemicals, had to cut fire lines with handtools, the spokesman said.

The PX fire was fought initially by 17 National Park Service fire fighters, who received help Tuesday from two slurry-dropping aircraft and four 20-man Forest Service crews.

Antacids Have To Be Relabeled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says virtually all antacids will have to be relabeled and some reformulated to comply with the first federal standards for nonprescription drugs.

Under the FDA regulations, announced Tuesday, antacids can be promoted in the future only for treatment of heartburn, sour stomach and acid indigestion.

New Mexico, Texas Fires Under Control

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Western fire fighters began the monotonous task of mopping up today after controlling two fires that charred some 750 acres of federal recreation land in southwest New Mexico and far West Texas.

Both fires were controlled late Tuesday, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. They were started by lightning Monday afternoon, he said.

The spokesman said, "Only very slight amounts of Ponderosa pines were destroyed."

No damage estimates were available.

The larger fire, dubbed the PX Fire, blackened about 500 acres on the southwest fringes of Guadalupe National Park just south of the Texas-New Mexico state line, officials said.

The New Mexico fire blazed through about 250 acres of a roadless section of the Lincoln National Forest some 15 miles southwest of Carlsbad, the spokesman said. The area, about 10 miles north of the PX Fire, is being considered by Congress for federal wilderness area designation.

Remote, steep-walled canyons, coupled with stiff breezes and tinder-dry vegetation, hampered the 140 fire fighters battling the Black Canyon Fire in the national forest. They were unable to get motorized equipment to the site and had to walk more than a mile to fight the blaze.

Fire fighters, supported by six bomber aircraft dropping fire-retardant chemicals, had to cut fire lines with handtools, the spokesman said.

The PX fire was fought initially by 17 National Park Service fire fighters, who received help Tuesday from two slurry-dropping aircraft and four 20-man Forest Service crews.

Gas To Be Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says federal regulations will insure that lead-free gasoline is available across the nation in time for the 1975-model cars which must use it.

U.S. Vietnam Pullout Reduces Need For Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam has helped reduce the amount of cotton needed to make clothing for the armed forces, says the Agriculture Department.

Textile mills delivered less than 1.35 million pounds of cotton or cotton-blend fabric to military buyers during the first three months of this year, compared with more than 5.8 million pounds in January-March 1973.

CB Radio Club Members Want To Help Community

The Tall City Citizens Band Radio Club members are more than just a couple of "hams," said newly elected President Jesse Morris.

"Anything that can be a help to the community we want to be a part of," Morris said. "We're willing to help the community in any way we can."

Morris said the club works primarily with door-to-door fund raising drives such as the March of Dimes, the Cancer Fund and the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation.

On the fund raising nights the club operates a base station at a designated location. The block captain, after finishing rounds, would then call the base station which in turn contacts a mobile unit operating in an assigned area.

The mobile unit would then pickup the money and deliver it to the bank.

A rest stop for Memorial Day travelers was also set up by the club with local merchants supplying the refreshments.

Morris said his organization works closely with police in locating lost children.

"Anytime there's a lost child, the police call us for assistance," Morris said. "We figure we're able to set up the mobile unit and start looking for the child in less than 10 minutes after the call."

"And we have found a lot of lost ones, too," he added. Morris said his group "wants to get into Civil Defense" but has yet to receive approval from the proper authorities. He added it will take at least three to four months for the club to join forces with Civil Defense crews "if we can at all."

"The club hasn't been large enough to help with disasters before," Morris said. "But it is now."

Under the leadership of outgoing President J. M. Campbell, the club's membership increased by 30 over the last year.

The local radio operators "are in the process" of getting their Red Cross licenses up to date, Morris said. He added that Red Cross courses will be taught at the club's upcoming meetings.

The group meets every first Monday of the month in the club's clubhouse on 1211 S. Fairgrounds Road. Morris said visitors are welcome.

Communications with other similar organizations are allowed by FCC regulations up to 150 miles. The club operates both a two-way and short wave radio. Morris calls his group "a fun and service" club. He said there are no qualifications for membership except "just having an interest." The club holds a 42 party at its clubhouse once a week.

Other new officers elected Monday night with Morris include Cecil Smyth, vice president; Martha Taylor, secretary; Eunice Duff, assistant secretary; Harm Brasseal, treasurer; Joana King, communications and Wayne Bowman, activities director.

Mailing Tips Offered To Help Vacationers

Postmaster David E. Holster today offered these tips to help vacationers enjoy trouble-free mailing of letters and post cards while on their holidays:

Mail as early as possible in the day, preferably in the morning. Avoid mailing on weekends when many post offices are closed. Try depositing cards in mailboxes located in densely populated areas.

Buy enough stamps before leaving home to prevent running out far away from the nearest post office. Keep in mind that stamps are more expensive when purchased from commercial vending machines.

Always use sufficient postage. For first-class cards, use an 8-cent stamp if the card is not larger than the standard 4 1/2 x 6 size. For "jumbo" cards, 10-cent stamps are required. For airmail, use an 11-cent stamp on standard cards 13-cents for jumbo cards. As a general rule, use airmail stamps only when the mailing distance is 600 miles or more.

Remember to use ZIP Codes. Many times cards are addressed hurriedly while riding in cars, trains or planes. Legible ZIP codes will help speed mail to its proper destination.

Keep this trick in mind: Type the addresses of friends and relatives on self-adhesive labels before you leave home. It is surprising how much time this saves on the road and how much neater those cards will look.

Another note: Don't forget about your personal mail back home.

Ask a friend or neighbor to empty your mailbox daily and to hold the mail until you return. An overstuffed mailbox in your absence is an open invitation for thieves to enter your temporarily unoccupied home.

However, if you prefer, you can fill out a form available from any post office and request that your mail be held for any period up to 30 days. If you choose this method, be sure to pick up your mail at the post office from which your carrier works, and ask that your mail again start being delivered.

"The best way to insure a relaxing vacation comes from taking the necessary steps to make certain that everything — including the mail — is in good order back home," Postmaster Holster said.

Canada's Smallest Province — Prince Edward Island, 10-25 miles wide, is Canada's smallest province.

RANGERS GIVEN 9-0 VICTORY—

Near Riot Causes Forfeit

By RICHARD BILOTTI

AP Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — "It's the closest I've ever seen anybody come to getting killed in my more than 25 years in baseball," Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin said.

The Cleveland Indians and the Rangers tried to play baseball Tuesday night, but the fans ran on the field, threw beer bottles, firecrackers, chairs, wadded knives and started an uncontrollable melee in the ninth inning.

The Indians forfeited the game to the Rangers. The second game of the three-game series is scheduled for tonight.

It was 10-cent beer night at Municipal Stadium. The Rangers came to town with the memories of a player brawl that took place in Texas last Wednesday. Some 25,194 fans turned out on a warm lakefront night.

Early in the game young fans started running on the field in between innings and were cheered by the crowd. Occasionally a firecracker went off.

1B—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1974

In the sixth inning a streaker was applauded.

The number of people running on the field increased each inning, and the Indians kept narrowing the Rangers 5-1 lead.

In the sixth inning the Tribe made it 5-3, and Martin removed his bullpen crew from the right field area because of the number of missiles being thrown.

Firecrackers were thrown into the Rangers' dugout and Martin paced back and forth with rage on his face.

In the ninth inning the Indians tied the score at 5-5 and had bases loaded, when fans again poured out of the right field stands and started harassing Ranger outfielder Jeff Burroughs.

"You have to realize that the only thing I had to defend myself with was my fists," Burroughs said. "I was happy to take my hat," Burroughs said. "I tried to call time, but nobody heard me. I was getting scared because I felt the riot psychology."

The Rangers came off the bench brandishing baseball bats and headed for right field, led by Martin.

"I know it was silly for us to do that," Martin said. "But Jeff was out there all by himself. I saw knives and chairs and other things. We just couldn't let our teammate get beat up."

After the Rangers left the bench, the Indians came out of the dugout to help their baseball opponents.

"You have to realize that the only thing I had to defend myself with was my fists," Burroughs said. "I was happy to get some help. And I thank the Indians for coming out to help me."

There were skirmishes all over the field between ballplayers and fans.

"I'll say one thing," Martin added. "That fan we got a hold of out there got the hell kicked out of him."

Nestor Chylak, the chief umpire on the field, was hit on the head with a chair and had his hand cut.

"We were so scared out there we had made plans for our escape," Chylak said.

"It was 500-to-one odds, and we could have gotten killed out there very easily," Chylak continued. "I saw weapons out there, and I'm sure the only other place you would see something like this happen would be in a zoo."

Chylak said he waited until all the ballplayers were off the field before calling it a forfeit so none of them would be jeopardized. The forfeit gave the Rangers a 9-0 victory, but all the records count.

Jerry Barber Qualifies For PGA Open

By The Associated Press
Former PGA champion Jerry Barber qualified Tuesday for the U.S. Open Golf championship and he had to beat his assistant to do it.

The 58-year-old Barber won the last spot in the San Francisco sectional qualifying as the final 53 spots in the Open were filled at seven sites across the nation.

Barber was one of seven pros who qualified at the par-71, 6,367-yard San Francisco Golf Club. He defeated Charles Montalbano, his assistant at Los Angeles' Griffith Park Golf Club.

Barber had a par five on the first playoff hole. Montalbano took a six when he three-putted.

Tom Storey, a former singer and dancer who now serves as head pro at Las Vegas' Fairway to the Stars Golf Club, shot a 36-hole total of 141 to lead the qualifying at San Francisco.

The U.S. Open will be played June 13-16 at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. Twenty players in the 150-man field, including defending Open champion Johnny Miller, were exempt from qualifying.

DeWitt Weaver, 34, a four veteran whose biggest victory was in the 1971 U.S. Match Play championship, coasted to a seven-under-par 137 to pace qualifiers at Atlanta. He fired rounds of 68 and 69.

Denny Lyons turned in a second-round 70 and was the only golfer to break par as he led six qualifiers at Pittsburgh.

Lyons, who finished 20th in last year's Open, fired a 143 over the 7,006-yard, par-72 course.

Also qualifying at Pittsburgh was 51-year-old former U.S. Amateur Champion William Campbell of Huntington, W.Va.

Andy Nusbaum, a former tour regular who now is club pro at Siwanoy in Bronxville, N.Y., shot a three-under-par 140 to pace sectional qualifying at Deal, N.J.

Kansas City pro Bob Stone, 43, shot a one-over par 145 to lead the sectional qualifying at St. Louis.

George Knudson, a tour player from Toronto, Canada, shot a three-under-par 138 to lead qualifiers at Wayne, Pa., near Philadelphia. Tour pro Bert Yancey of Tallahassee, Fla., finished second with 72-70-142.

Mike Reaser, of Seattle; Chris Pigott, Chevy Chase, Md.; and Nale Starks, of St. Petersburg, Fla., won the last three spots in a five-man playoff.

Three Michigan golfers, led by pro Larry Mancour of Flint, qualified for Open spots in sectionals held at Birmingham, Mich. Lynn Janson, of Lansing, and veteran amateur Pete Green of Franklin, won the other two qualifying spots in play at the Franklin Hills Country Club.

Mancour shot an even-par 72 in the morning and finished his afternoon round with a four-under 68 for a 140 total, one stroke ahead of Janson, and three ahead of Green.

LADIES MAY PROTEST—'Unfair' Treatment Cited By Golfers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The ladies pro golf tour has one of its richer events here this week, the $100,000 Desert Inn Classic, but a lot of attention will be focused on a tournament with a lot less prize money.

Some younger members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association are talking about boycotting the USGA's Women's Open scheduled July 18-21 at La Grange, Ill., attacking the size of the purse and the attitude of the organizing group.

Others, including former winners Kathy Cornelius, Donna Young and Sue Berning, call any boycott "dumb" and say they will play in the event regardless of opposition.

The LPGA says it will discuss the matter this week during the tournament, which opens Thursday and continues through Sunday.

One of those favoring the boycott is Sandra Palmer.

"The USGA is very unfair to us, and if you look at it, trying to give us $40,000 for the top tournament in the country is really ridiculous," she said.

"They have been very unfair with the women and it's time we quit being at their mercy. If it's going to come to a boycott I will walk out for the good of golf," she added.

Jane Blalock, involved in a controversy with the LPGA over cheating allegations, said she feels the USGA has taken little interest in what is supposed to be the most prestigious women's event.

LPGA President Carol Mann stayed clear of any argument.

Last year's Open winner Sue Berning was the most outspoken.

"I'm so dead set against this whole thing that I get sick of talking about it," she said.

George Knudson, a tour player from Toronto, Canada, shot a three-under-par 138 to lead qualifiers at Wayne, Pa., near Philadelphia. Tour pro Bert Yancey of Tallahassee, Fla., finished second with 72-70-142.

Mike Reaser, of Seattle; Chris Pigott, Chevy Chase, Md.; and Nale Starks, of St. Petersburg, Fla., won the last three spots in a five-man playoff.

Decathlon Deadlock After Five Events

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Brigham Young's Rinald Backman just about called the turn but Southern California's Bob Coffman was surprised at their deadlock after the first five decathlon events in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet.

Each amassed 4,120 points Tuesday through the first half of competition. The others were on tap today. Qualifying trials for other events start Thursday.

"I was expecting to score 4,100 points," said Backman. "My high jump was better than what I expected to do. But really, I hardly ever work on the high jump in practice. I work mostly on the throwing events. . . . There are five more events and I should score 7,700 to 7,800 points.

"I have had trouble with my right heel all year. I hurt it the first time I jumped in practice outdoors this year. I hurt it again today (Tuesday) on my first jump. But I jump off my left foot in the high jump, so it didn't bother me in the high jump."

Coffman surprised himself. "Hell no, I never thought I would be in first after the first day," confessed the Southern

Sam Houston St. Falls To LaVerne

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — LaVerne of California, behind the six-hit pitching of John Verhoeven, stopped Sam Houston State of Texas 4-2 Tuesday night in the semifinals of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics baseball tournament.

The two clubs will tangle again Wednesday night, and the winner will play Lewis University of Illinois Thursday night for the championship.

Lewis eliminated Point Park of Pennsylvania 6-3 earlier Tuesday.

LaVerne's victory snapped a 17-game Sam Houston winning streak. Verhoeven struck out eight and LaVerne won with a three-run rally in the fourth inning against loser Joe Roche.

Lewis drew a bye into the finals by winning a coin flip.

Tom Brennan gave up three runs in the first inning in Lewis' game with Point Park but settled down and blanked the Pennsylvanians the remainder of the way.

Brennan struck out nine and picked up his second triumph in the tournament. He has an 11-1 record for the season. Lewis is 38-13.

Point Park finished fourth in the tourney and its season with a 19-5 mark.

Other firsts went to Mike Hill of Colorado in the 400-meters at 48.4, Bill Hancock of Southern Illinois in the long jump at 240 1/4 plus a tie with Backman in the high jump at 6-8 1/2, Craig Brigham of Oregon in the shot put with a toss of 48-3.

UCLA is the meet's defending champion. Its Sam Albanese withdrew.

Point totals for the first five decathlon events: Coffman and Backman, 4,120; Roger George, Fresno State, 3,979; Brigham, 3,928; Hill, 3,914; Christer Lythall, Brigham Young, 3,913; Hancock, 3,912; Greg Hackney, Texas-Austin, 3,808; Bo Sterner, Southern California, 3,783; Allen Hamlin, Maryland, 3,778; Ken Kring, Stanford, 3,732; Joe Gant, Mississippi State, 3,624; Ron Weber, Bowling Green, 2,716; Albanese, 2,214.

Bill Almon Considered Best In Baseball Player Draft

By HAL BOCK
NEW YORK (AP) — The San Diego Padres opened pro baseball's free agent draft today by selecting shortstop Bill Almon of Brown University.

Texas followed by choosing right-handed pitcher Tom Boggs of Austin, Tex., High School.

Then the Philadelphia Phillies took right-handed hitter Lonnie Smith, an outfielder, of Compton, Calif.

Atlanta selected catcher Dale Murphy of Portland, Ore.

The Milwaukee Brewers tabbed right-handed pitcher Claude Edge of Sacramento, Calif., and the Chicago Cubs chose outfielder Vernon Thompson of Renefrew, Pa.

Then the Chicago White Sox named right-handed pitcher Larry Monroe of Mount Prospect, Ill.

Montreal took third baseman Ronald Sorey of Dayton, Ohio.

The California Angels selected shortstop Michael Miley, a switch-hitter from Louisiana.

Pittsburgh chose left-handed pitcher Rod Scurry of Sparks, Nev., and the New York Yankees picked shortstop Dennis Sherrill of Miami.

St. Louis and Minnesota went for shortstops. St. Louis picked Gary Templeton of Santa Ana, Calif., and Minnesota selected Ted Shiple of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Houston's choice was outfielder Kevin Drake of Lampar, Calif.

Detroit followed with infielder Lance Parrish of Diamond Bar, Calif., and the New York Mets took right-handed pitcher Robert Speck of Beaverton, Ore.

Kansas City named outfielder Willie Wilson of Summit, N.J.

Second baseman Terry Lee of San Luis Obispo, Calif. was taken by the San Francisco Giants and Boston chose shortstop Edward Ford, son of Hall of Famer Whitey Ford, of Great Neck, N.Y. Right-handed pitcher Richard Sutcliffe Jr. of Kansas City was chosen by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Try Winning In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese newspapers today praised Oscar Alvarado, the American challenger, who wrestled the world junior middleweight crown from Japan's Koichi Wajima with a 15-round knockout but criticized the Japanese referee and judge for their biased scorecards.

The newspaper Asahi said, "If the fight went the distance and a decision was necessary, a controversial problem would have arisen over the scorecards."

Another major daily, the Yomiuri, said the scorecards were an emphatic example why "foreign boxers visiting Japan say the only way to win a match in Japan is to score a knockout."

Alvarado, a 24-year-old Texan and preflight underdog, floored the champion three times in the final 15th round for a knockout victory, to eliminate Wajima's chances of defending his world championship for the seventh time.

At the end of 14 rounds, referee Yasaku Yoshida and judge Takeaki Kanaya both had Wajima leading 67-65. However, judge Seiji Ebina, also a Japanese, had Alvarado, of Houston, ahead by one point, 67-66.

Sports observers noted that Tuesday night's scoring would have elicited fresh charges of the Japanese favoring hometown decisions.

Red Sox Nip Twins A's, Tigers Split Twinbill

By The Associated Press
In the American League, the Boston Red Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 4-3 in 11 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the California Angels 4-3, the Kansas City Royals trounced the Baltimore Orioles 8-0, the Chicago White Sox crushed the New York Yankees 9-2 and Oakland and Detroit split a twin bill, the A's taking the opener 4-0 and the Tigers winning the nightcap 4-1.

A crowd of 25,134, turned out in Cleveland. The melee erupted when fans started harassing Texas right fielder Jeff Burroughs and the Rangers left the dugout to go to his aid.

Soon, members of both teams were on the field battling hundreds of fans who poured out of the stands throwing beer bottles and chairs and setting off firecrackers.

Martin said the crowd was a mixture of youngsters and older persons and the main reason the fighting seemed to break out was the beer.

The game had been halted in the sixth and again in the seventh, and was 5-5 when umpires declared a forfeit.

Tom Grieve's two home runs helped the Rangers to a 5-1 lead. Ed Crosby delivered a run-scoring pinch single in the ninth and scored the tying run on John Lowenstein's sacrifice fly just before they got out of hand.

Red Sox 4, Twins 3
Danny Cater singled home pinch runner Tommy Harper in the 11th inning after Dick McAuliffe led off with a single.

Brewers 4, Angels 3
Dave May's run-scoring single capped a three-run seventh-inning Milwaukee rally. Bill Singer had checked the Brewers on three hits until Mike Hegan doubled to lead off the seventh.

Royals 8, Orioles 0
Al Fitzmorris checked Baltimore on three hits while Amos

Otis and John Mayberry homered for Kansas City.

White Sox 9, Yankees 2
Dick Allen blasted his first grand slam homer in the American League and Bucky Dent added a two-run shot in support of Wilbur Wood's seven-hit pitching.

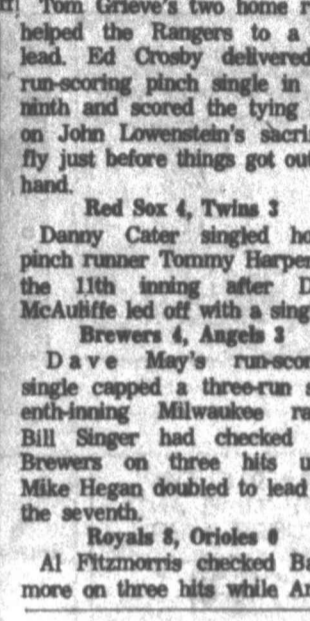

A's 4-1, Tigers 0-4
A two-run double by Aurelio Rodriguez climaxed a four-run first inning that carried Detroit to victory in the nightcap behind Lerrin LaGrew's six-hit pitching. Joe Rudi homered as Oakland took the opener behind Ken Holtzman's three-hit pitching.

Pistons Beat Lario By 4-3

Eubanks Pistons used the three-hit pitching of Craig Van Horn and a run-scoring squeeze bunt by Jeff Lutke in the sixth inning to beat Lario Oilers, 4-3, in a Western Sophomore League baseball game Tuesday.

Lutke's bunt came behind singles by Van Horn and David Reddell. Van Horn pitched a three-hitter, fanned 13 and issued only one walk as the defending champions squared their record at 1-1.

Woman Describes Kidnap Ordeal

FORT WORTH (AP) — Lora Jean Hinkel, a 20-year-old secretary from Oakland, Calif., who raises and grows horses for a hobby, found herself in a strange set of circumstances Tuesday.

She was 1,800 miles from home and seated in U.S. Magistrate Bailey F. Rankin's courtroom. The occasion was the arraignment of a 25-year-old man accused of kidnaping her last Sunday.

"I've never even been out of California before, except to go across the Nevada line to Tahoe," she lamented. "And this is the first time I've ever been in a courtroom before, either. No, I've never been kidnaped before."

Holding her throat and saying it hurt because she had her tonsils out only a week ago, she said she felt miserable.

"I've lost about 20 pounds since Sunday and my clothes don't fit. I haven't really been able to eat because my throat hurts, and I haven't been able to sleep since Sunday," she said.

"I haven't had a bath for three days, and now I'm in Fort Worth, Tex., and I need to get my car tuned before I drive home. I don't even know where the Datsun dealerships here are."

But, everything considered, she said she felt fortunate because when the kidnaping started last Sunday she "didn't think I'd come out of it alive."

Decided On Drive
It started, she said, when she and one of her friends, Mona Kay Ellingson, 19, also from Oakland, decided to take a 100-mile drive from Stockton to Lake Tahoe, Nev., to visit friends. Miss Hinkel at the time was on sick leave from the corporation where she works because of her tonsilectomy.

The two women were leaving a restaurant on the highway to Lake Tahoe Sunday when Miss Hinkel said they encountered Gerald Allen Martin, the man authorities have accused of kidnaping her.

"He hung on to the car so we couldn't close it, and he asked us if we could give him a ride south to Los Angeles," Miss Hinkel said.

The women said they were going to Lake Tahoe, not Los Angeles, and consequently were sorry they couldn't give him a ride south.

"I'm sorry, too," FBI agents say Martin replied, and then forced his way into the women's car at knifepoint.

"He said he was going to stick us with that knife he had and kill us," Miss Hinkel said. Because of this Miss Ellingson became hysterical.

Martin, she said, was irritated that Miss Ellingson reacted that way, and about 15 miles south of Stockton forced Miss Ellingson out of the car.

Then, she said, they began a 38-hour drive to Fort Worth. Miss Hinkel said she drove the whole way and "did my best to stay calm so he wouldn't get me with the knife."

About 10 times, she said, they stopped for gasoline, and each time, "He kept the knife under Mona's jacket so (the station attendants) couldn't see he had it."

At only one point in the drive, she said, did he apply force to her—choking her once and menacing her with what authorities say was a knife with a three-inch blade—and that time the man "never really hurt me enough to make me bleed."

She said he never allowed her an opportunity to escape.

She said Martin had not kept their destination secret from her, and when they arrived he directed her to a Haltom City address. There, police said, Martin went to the house and asked about a 27-year-old woman he had come to Texas to see. But he was told the woman had gone to an apartment in Euleus. So, police said, Martin decided to go to Euleus and find her.

Said She Could Leave
Martin then returned to where she sat waiting in her car, Miss Hinkel said.

"He said I could leave, so I did," Miss Hinkel said. "I left in a hurry."

She went to a service station, made a few telephone calls to California, and within 20 minutes found herself surrounded by Haltom City policemen.

She spent Monday night sleeping on a couch in the telephone operators' room at City Hall, and Tuesday night, she said, she was planning on sleeping in a motel bed—the first bed she had seen since Saturday night.

Charges Filed
Against Escapee
ANDREWS — An Alabama man, who was caught here shortly after stabbing a jailer and escaping Sunday night, has been charged with assault on a police officer and escape.

James Harold Berry, 32, was in jail on charges of aggravated rape and sexual abuse when the incident occurred.

Shortly after the escape, Deputy Alton Montgomery found Berry hiding in a cedar tree on the courthouse grounds.

Diamond Rings Reported Missing

Two diamond rings worth a total of $425 have been reported missing from a dresser drawer at the home of Fannie Davis, 1615 E. Magnolia St.

The woman told Patrolmen Shirley Young and Charles Cupp the last time she remembered seeing the rings was on May 26.

She discovered them missing Tuesday.

Officers said they could find no evidence of forced entry into the house.

Czech Texans Very Much Part Of State's Business, Professional Life

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

An absolute stranger who turned out to be A. W. Kartous of Dallas got up from his chair in a doctor's office the other day and handed us a piece of poetry.

It was made of apple surrounded by a crisp bit of pie crust.

He proudly announced it was Czech something-or-other. Don't believe we ever could have repeated the word, certainly not correctly.

Which brings up some interesting facts about that nationality. Most are published in "The Czech Texans," a booklet issued by the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio.

The Czechs are great ones for forming organizations. Two of them meet casually on the street and you have an instant club with some unpronounceable title.

One reason for all this fraternity probably is because only in their own organizations can they hear names spoken properly.

Try to pronounce this one: Slovanska Podporujici Jednota Status Texas. It is a big organization, understandably reduced to SPJST in most references.

This does not mean that the Czechs are clammy. Quite the opposite.

From their beginning in this state in 1862, their leaders have urged them to assimilate with the remainder of Texans.

They were urged to learn English and speak only it in public. And although there was some grouping by area, they settled all over the state.

Had some personal knowledge of a group of Czechs who settled near Seymour in North Texas.

Their story is typical of Czech settlements throughout the state.

They were farmers and did not mix much in town. For one thing, they were outside the usual socializing centering in the churches. They were Roman Catholic while the town at that time was solidly Protestant.

But now the second and third generation Czechs are very much a part of the town's life in business and professions, a trend throughout Texas as farming patterns changed.

"The Czech Texans" points out that the unity of the Czechs is cultural rather than nationalistic.

There is a good reason, probably, for their avoidance of the nationalistic tinge.

Somewhere back in ancient history, the Czechs moved in and took over large portions of what now is Czechoslovakia in the center of Europe.

It was a terrible selection of geography. Any neighbor who had a few swords or a few guns tried to take over.

So the Czechs and Slovaks were overrun, split up, proselytized until they got fed up and some of them headed for America. A good many had taken part in revolts and their homeland was less than healthy for them.

Did you know that Gen. Sam Houston at the great battle of San Jacinto had a band?

And guess who was one of its more noted players? It was Frederick Lemsky, a Czech.

He played the fife in the four-piece organization which sounded off with "Won't You Come to the Bower" as the Texans charged Santa Anna's forces.

Lemsky later taught music at Houston and then became a contractor.

Not until 1852 did the first sizeable group of Czechs reach Texas. This was composed of 16 families landing at Galveston.

There were 16,000 Czechs in Texas by 1900.

There is no way to count them now, so well assimilated are they. But 30,000 persons, mostly Czechs, show up in Ennis the first weekend in May each year for the National Polka Festival.

When Czechs became prevalent in some town, they often changed the name. For instance there was a place in Fayette County called Hottentot, named after a gang. This was changed to Mulberry. The Czechs changed that to Praha.

The same thing happened to Hootyn, which had been in succession Bluff and Moravan.

The Czechs can be pretty stubborn. SPJST originally was a national insurance fraternity with headquarters in the Midwest.

Texas Czechs got quite upset when they found they were paying more for insurance than their brethren elsewhere.

The Midwest Czechs explained that this was because of the deadly dangers of Indians, malaria and yellow fever. Nothing would change the Midwesterners. So the Texans broke away and formed their own insurance fraternity.

There are all sorts of organizations. For instance, 15 separate groups take part in Czech Day at the State Fair in Texas in Dallas.

One of the big things is Sokol, a Czech word for "falcon."

Sokol is an organization devoted to dancing, singing, Czech culture in general, and especially physical fitness. There is a big, two-story hall in Dallas devoted particularly to gymnastics and it is a busy place.

Sokol is responsible for some of the mass gymnastic spectacles often seen in stadiums.

There must be something to all this muscle and agility. A Sokol pamphlet claims that less than one per cent of Sokol members have been rejected by the military.

UTPB's Mammoths 'Mere Youngsters'

ODESSA — Bones of Pleistocene age mammals excavated by University of Texas of the Permian Basin students and faculty in Reeves County are "mere geological youngsters," according to information received here this week.

Results of the carbon-14 dating of mammoth bones excavated March 15-17 near Ota indicate the remains are approximately 5,500 years old — or 1,500 years more recent than the limits accepted for the Pleistocene epoch.

Geochron Laboratories of Cambridge, Mass., reports their testing indicates an age of 5435, plus or minus 165 carbon-14 years before the present.

This means, says Dr. Don Toomey, chairman of the earth science faculty at UTPB, that the mammoth whose rib bone was submitted for testing was roaming the Permian Basin much later in history than the $9,000 to 100,000 years Before Present usually assigned to the Pleistocene age.

"It's a little difficult to think of mammoths roaming the Texas landscape at about 3,500 B.C., contemporaneous with the great Egyptian dynasties," he said.

"Hopefully in the future, we will be able to obtain other dates from different sites and attempt to document and build up an accurate Holocene-Pleistocene chronology," Toomey explained. "Also, we plan to go back to the Maverick Creek site as soon as possible to recover other specimens for more conclusive dating tests."

Dr. Toomey sees in the excavations and subsequent research a unique opportunity for students along the authentic

Leslie C. Green Dies; Services Slated Thursday

Leslie C. Green, 80, died Tuesday night at his home, 3009 Community Lane, following a short illness.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel with Bert Mercer, pastor of the Golf Course Road Church of Christ, officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Green was born Nov. 21, 1893, in Georgetown and lived in Brownfield from 1910 to 1946.

A cattle rancher, he moved to Mora County, N.M., in 1946 where he lived for 10 years before he retired to live in Las Vegas, N.M. He had resided in Midland since 1968.

He was a member of the Golf Course Road Church of Christ.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. F. H. McGaughan and Mrs. Earle Unger, both of Midland; a brother, G. M. Green of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Ivy G. Savage of Lubbock and Mrs. Jesse A. May of Clovis, N.M.; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The family requests memorials be directed to the Midland County Public Library or to a favorite charity.

Palbearers will be Jack Walcher, Darrell W. Smith, Bill W. Hill, all of Midland, Clyde W. Green of Odessa, C. Paul Mills of Lubbock and Charles G. May of Elida, N.M.

Honorary palbearers will be Morgan Gist, Bill Setzer, V. G. Feather, all of Midland, Alvin Mayor of Las Vegas, N.M., and Warren Shoemaker of Watrous, N.M.

H. H. Phillips, 93, Dies; Rites Slated

H. H. Phillips, 93, died at his home, 3007 N. Bryant St., Tuesday afternoon following an apparent heart seizure.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel, with the Rev. Elbert Smith, pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Phillips was born Oct. 24, 1880, in Clay County, Ala., where he spent his early years. He moved with his family to Midland in 1933 where he farmed in the old Germania Community. During World War II he was employed by the U.S. government at the Midland Air Base. He retired in 1946.

Survivors include two sons, Wilburn Phillips of Grand Saline and James Phillips of Fort Worth; five daughters, Mrs. Mamie Herron and Mrs. Maggie Herron, both of Fruitvale, Mrs. Gladys Wimberly and Mrs. Frances White, both of Midland and Mrs. Effie White of Lorraine; 17 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and 19 great-great-grandchildren.

Palbearers will be his grandsons, Ralph White, Frank Curtis Jr., C. W. Herron, Troy D. Herron, W. D. Wimberly, Lloyd Wimberly, Leroy Herron and Donald Ray Herron.

Midlander's Sister Dies At Kerrville

KERRVILLE — Mrs. Sallie T. Palmer, 87, sister of John L. Patterson of Midland, died Monday in a Kerrville hospital.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. today in Kerrville Funeral Home. Additional services were to be at 2 p.m. today in Fairmount Cemetery in San Antonio.

Survivors include three sisters and another brother.

This Holdup Anything But Typical

ODESSA — The robbery which occurred here at EAL Drive-In Grocery about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday was anything but typical.

The culprit got away with some of the money but was chased by citizens and police, left his shoes when they became embedded in wet asphalt and almost got shot by the clerk at the store.

Police gave this account:

The man entered the store on the pretense of buying some ice but then pulled a pistol and told the clerk he wanted money, which he took from the cash register.

As he ran out of the store, the man took a gun from under the counter and was going to shoot the robber, but said later she just couldn't do it.

About that time, a man she knew came up and she told him to get the robber.

He chased him and others joined in but they were unable to catch him.

The robber dropped some of the money when he lost his shoes, but he kept going.

When police arrived, they and the citizens scoured the area for the robber and once caught sight of him as he was leaving a large garbage unit.

But no one could catch him and police were still searching for him today.

Ballard's Appeal Being Heard Today

AUSTIN—Attorneys are arguing the appeal of one of the defendants in the 1970 murder-robbery of Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie and a change of venue hearing for another of the defendants has been postponed.

The appeal hearing before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin is for Wiltner, Jean Ballard, who was convicted of murder by an Alpine jury and sentenced to death. That sentence later was commuted to life in prison after the Texas death penalty law was declared unconstitutional.

The change of venue hearing was to have been held this week in Garden City for Tommy Tisdale, who was in a federal penitentiary in connection with a separate case until he was released last month and brought to Midland to be held in custody until his trial in the Currie case.

Ballard and Tisdale were among five persons indicted for murder and robbery in the case.

Ballard and Orville "Pete" Davis have been tried on the murder charges and Davis was given a life sentence by a Midland jury.

Tisdale has not been tried on either of the charges, but a change of venue motion for the murder trial was approved by the 118th Dist. Judge Ralph Osborn of Big Spring, who ordered it moved to San Angelo.

The pending relocation hearing is for the robbery case against him.

Another defendant, Mrs. Judy Dunham, will not be tried in the case. She was given immunity from prosecution in exchange for her testimony and she has testified in the Ballard and Davis trials.

The fifth defendant was Floyd Palmer, who was never arrested in the case. He died in 1972 when he fell from a Nebraska jail window during an attempted jailbreak.

Andrews Boy, 11, Drowns In Lake

ROBERT LEE — Orville Glenn Bostell, 11, of Andrews, drowned in Lake Spence Tuesday afternoon.

He was announced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Roy P. Ross.

He and a younger sister were wading in the water when they stepped into a hole. The boy's stepfather, William Kuykendall, said he rescued the girl but by the time he could get to his stepson, it was too late to save him.

Funeral services are pending with the Singleton Funeral Home in Andrews.

Bostell, who moved to Andrews from Fort Stockton four years ago, had just completed the fifth grade at Gloria Elementary School. He was born Jan. 10, 1963, in Seminole.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. William Kuykendall of the home; his stepfather; a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Speck of Odessa; a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Maud Slates of Big Lake; and two sisters, Janet Lorraine Kuykendall and Teressa Fay Kuykendall, both of the home.

Ford AF Academy Graduation Speaker

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford told the Air Force Academy's 1974 graduation class today "you should understand the attitude of the world toward the United States and take pride in being an American."

In a commencement address, Ford said the Egyptians, Syrians and Israelis looked after the October Mideast war not to Russia, France or Britain for negotiations, but to President Nixon, "because they knew he could get the job done."

And Ford said that for the delicate negotiations they asked for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"The truce agreement just signed by Israel and Syria is a tribute to American diplomacy and the judicious exercise of American power in support of United States policy," Ford said.

Ford said U.S. military strength has been vital in maintaining a "fragile world peace" but said "neither air power nor other military strength is sufficient. It is essential to the effectiveness of our armed forces that we have well-trained and highly motivated leaders."

Quake Apparently Shakes Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Police said an earthquake apparently shook a widespread area in eastern Missouri early today.

Officers said the first rattlings were felt at 3:05 a.m. CDT, and it lasted for about 30 seconds.

There were no known injuries and no major damage was reported.

Police said they were inundated with telephone calls.

Milk Co-op's Alleged Scheme To Hike Prices Detailed

By JOHN LUMPKIN

SILVIA SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The brightly colored milk carton beckons from the supermarket shelf.

Milk is a prime source of nutrition for Americans and most shoppers are not in a position to pass it up like a steak when the price isn't right.

And that price depends on what the dairy farmer is paid for his raw milk.

The federal government and others, who have filed antitrust suits against Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) the nation's largest milk cooperative, are seeking evidence about its alleged attempts to manipulate prices. In this small agriculture center hard by the Oklahoma border, lawyers took testimony from former co-op secretary Dwight L. Morris.

Morris, 55, testified under subpoena last week, and explained subsequently in an interview in the presence of his lawyer, that AMPI "overpaid" dairy farmers for manufacturing grade milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The co-op, which controls about 12 per cent of the nation's milk supply, also "bidded up" the price of cheese on a key exchange in Green Bay hopefully to influence federal milk price supports, Morris said.

AMPI's moves were made in 1970, he said.

In the interview, Morris said AMPI's maneuvering to increase milk prices was in his opinion within the bounds of federal laws governing cooperatives and federal antitrust statutes. AMPI's court opponents, charging monopolistic practices, are certain to contest this.

Dr. George Mehren, who became AMPI's general manager in 1972, has testified he has no direct knowledge of manipulation of milk prices in Minnesota and Wisconsin in 1970 and based on his career in and out of government as an agricultural economist, has said it is silly to conclude a co-op could assert such influence.

Besides the antitrust suit, AMPI is the target in Watergate milk fund investigations and, as a heavy contributor, is involved in allegations that the 1971 milk price support increase by President Nixon was a political payoff. The White House has denied the allegations, which now are being investigated by the House Judiciary Committee studying an impeachment resolution.

It may be complicated to the grocery shopper but here is how Morris described the co-op's alleged campaign to increase prices:

AMPI was getting a premium of 50 cents per hundredweight

DeWitt County Audit Turns Up Fund Shortage

CUERO, Tex. (AP) — An accounting firm from Sinton, Tex., has found only one discrepancy—a shortage of $17,324—in the first independent audit in the history of DeWitt County.

The discrepancy was found in the account of a former district clerk who died in a shotgun blast last April while the audit was under way.

The Harris, Robertson and Co. audit report said Tuesday the discrepancy was in the account of Pershing Hiller, whose death was ruled accidental.

The audit said there should have been $23,454 in the clerk's account at a Cuero bank. The account showed only $6,130.

Most of the shortages were in trust funds and costs deposits, the report said. The audit said also that when Hiller took office in 1951, his books balanced to within one cent.

"We can only ask the good people of DeWitt County to be patient," said a statement for the commissioners read by County Atty. Robert Post. He said any possible action to recover county losses would be determined following an in-depth study of the auditing report.

in its southern region. The premium, paid by processors to insure a supply, could be obtained because of the heavy proportion of farmers in the southern region who used AMPI to market their milk.

In some areas in the southern region, AMPI had a complete monopoly, the Justice Department charges.

In the nation's dairy belt in Minnesota and Wisconsin, AMPI was not so proportionately persuasive.

It is there, however, that the U.S. Department of Agriculture computes monthly a factor called the M-W (Minnesota-Wisconsin) series, a floor price for milk from the farm which sets the trend for milk prices in the rest of the nation.

The Agriculture Department, using a sample of 110 secretly selected milk processors, calculates the average farm milk price.

"We were taking money from the South and paying money to the North to make our shippers (producers) in a better competitive situation," said Morris.

In other words, Morris said AMPI was shifting revenues from its southern region (revenues that included the premium of 50 cents per hundredweight) to its northern region so it could pay farmers there more than the market price. In the antitrust suit, that procedure has been termed "plugging the price" in the north.

"If we raised the M-W series price ... a nickel (per hundredweight) by sending 15 cents into this area, not only we (AMPI) but the whole nation (dairy farmers) would make a nickel," Morris testified.

Asked if the result could be "hundreds of millions of dollars" annually in such increases nationwide, Morris answered, "Yes."

Referring to amounts sent by AMPI from the south to the north to overpay farmers, Morris said: "If we spent a million, we stood to gain a hundred times that much."

"Morris said one of the purposes of influencing the M-W price series upward was political.

"The higher the M-W price series was, the easier it would be for the government to set a higher support ... If we got the market price up above what the support level was, the less money the government would have to pay out in supports," he said.

The controversial support order by President Nixon in 1971 was $4.93 per hundredweight, or 27 cents above the prior year's $4.66 support level. Two months prior to Nixon's announcement, the M-W price series figure had risen to $4.83, passing the 1970 government support level by 17 cents.

The staff of the Senate Watergate Committee said in a special report that the Nixon decision "was apparently worth anywhere from $300 million to $700 million in extra income to dairy farmers" and added, "The cost was shared by government and American consumers." This apparently would have been in addition to any direct benefits dairymen received from alleged influencing of the M-W series.

In a document in evidence in the antitrust cases, an AMPI economist lists under the heading of accomplishments of the co-op: "Increased the level of the M-W manufacturing milk price series through January, February and March 1970."

Man Is Struck, Killed By Train

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A man identified as Victor Edward Hill, 31, of Crowley, Tex., was killed here Tuesday night when he was struck by a west-bound Texas & Pacific freight train.

Engineer R. J. Williams of Longview told investigators his 25-car train was traveling about 15 miles per hour when he saw a man crouched between the rails with arms crossed over his face.

Hill was dragged 250 feet. Twenty-three cars passed over the body.

IN PRIMARY ELECTIONS— People Staying Away From Polls

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

Watergate, lack of competition and general apathy apparently are keeping people away from the polls this year.

An Associated Press spot check showed low voter turnout in most areas that have held primaries or special elections so far this year.

'Midland Story' Publication Arrives

"The Midland Story," a 68-page magazine-format publication about Midland, has been received from the publishers. The book was commissioned by the Midland Chamber of Commerce and has been a year in conception design and execution.

A limited number of copies was received by the chamber. Distribution will be limited to new residents, prospective residents, and industrial business prospects. The Midland Area Sales Team will utilize the brochure in its industrial recruiting efforts.

"This is primarily a livability publication," a Chamber spokesman noted. "It stresses the casual life-style that combines with urban advantages to make Midland a unique type of city."

The publication was handled through the Public Relations Committee of the Chamber. Chairman in 1973 was Parker Humes and the current chairman is Joe Dominey.

Windsor Publications of Woodland Hills, Calif., published the brochure. It includes 64 pages, plus the cover pages, and was supported by 60 advertisers.

Eight primaries were held Tuesday, but only one—in California—generated any real excitement.

Politicians attribute the lack of interest to a variety of causes. Some say the Watergate scandal has caused a distrust of all elected officials; others claim there simply were no major issues to bring out the voters.

In Michigan, only about 30 per cent of the registered voters turned out for a special election to fill the seat formerly held by Vice President Gerald R. Ford. The race was won by a Democrat, Richard VanderVeen.

"Watergate killed us," said William McLaughlin, state Republican chairman, and Robert Eleveid, the county GOP leader, agreed. Eleveid said Republican voters stayed home, while Democrats went to the polls.

President Nixon helped boost the turnout in another Michigan district, the 8th, where 54 per cent of the registered voters balloted. Democrat Bob Traxler defeated Republican James Sparling.

The President visited the district at the invitation of the GOP candidate. "Nixon increased the voter turnout, but helped change few minds," said Sparling.

The North Carolina board of elections said voter turnout in the state's May 7 primary was 35.1 per cent, compared to a normal off-year turnout of 40 to 42 per cent. The main contest was for nominations for U.S. senator.

State Republican Chairman Thomas Bennett said the low number of voters "was due to the fact that there was no general or widespread enthusiasm for any of the U.S. Senate candidates."

In Indiana, state officials estimated only 25 per cent of the three million or so registered voters balloted in May 7 primaries. They said that the previous low turnout was 28.32 per cent in the 1970 off-year primaries.

"The turnout indicates apathy that I think is caused by Watergate, President Nixon's tax troubles, and the state of the economy," said William Trisler, the state Democratic chairman.

More than half the estimated voters in Alabama turned out for the May 7 primary in Alabama, compared to 62 per cent who voted in the 1970 primary. Political leaders, including Gov. George C. Wallace who was easily renominated, predicted in advance that the turnout would be low because of a lack of major competition. There was a runoff Tuesday in Alabama for the lieutenant governor's spot.

Convicted Slayer Given 99 Years

HOUSTON (AP) — Richard Ridyolph, whose 50-year sentence for the sniper slaying of a Corpus Christi policeman was overturned, has received a 99-year sentence after conviction in a second trial on the same charge.

A jury in the court of State Dist. Judge Lee Duggan convicted the 19-year-old earlier of shooting patrolman John W. Sartain, 22, in the head as the officer walked from the back door of the Corpus Christi police station in 1971.

Ridyolph's previous conviction was overturned by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. The appellate court said information possibly favorable to the defense was withheld by the prosecution. Defense lawyer Doug Tinker said Ridyolph was guilty only of voluntary manslaughter. Tinker said Ridyolph was merely firing at the building and did not intend to hit anyone.

Fishery Supplies May Be Near Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Far from having a limitless resource in the sea, the world is nearing the limit of its fishery possibilities, says Dr. Robert M. White, chief of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. To provide enough fish now and to insure conservation for the future, he asserts, there must be cooperation on the state, federal and international levels.
