WOMEN AS JURORS.

Recently there was a new item to the effect that when a man charged with whipping his wife was called for trial, the defendant was confronted by a jury of twelve women. He is reported to have run away and hidden in the brush until he could make it up with his wife.

Now is reported a case wherein a woman defendant takes exception because a woman was not allowed to sit on the jury before which she was to be tried for the crime of murder.

In the latter case a nice point of law arises. This case is on it at the criminal district court, at Ft. Worth and the attorney general has ruled that "women are legally qualified voters" and the attorney for the defendant argued that since the law was made in regard to "men" jurors women would be included in a "jury of his peers."

Women sit on juries in California and it is generally understood that a woman defendant, if she happens to be good looking and stylishly dressed, insists that every woman on the panel be challenged for cause, one going so far as saying that one woman juror was jealous of her.

But it happens that in the case on trial in Ft. Worth the defendant is a negro and the woman called as a juror was white. But the negro was willing to risk her chance for life to a good woman, rather than to a man in her place in the jury box.

It is very difficult to imagine a woman having the training, the poise, the experience with all sides of life, the knowledge of the good and the bad, particularly the bad, to qualify her to sit as a juror in a criminal case. But basing it on a matter of inches, the average woman would surely rate far above a large percentage of what is termed "the average juror."

The time is coming, although it may not yet have arrived in Texas, when the sight of a woman, or a number of women, sitting on a jury will not be unusual. But just now it is somewhat of a novelty and the people are hardly ready to accept it as a fact.

CRIME WAVE.

With the robbery at Breckenridge Monday morning, when "hi-jackers" obtained $4,000 from the railroad depot, there was recorded the most recent act of this kind in the oil fields, but if present conditions continue, before this is read, others will probably be reported.

No city is immune. The largest cities in the country daily report such crimes. The larger the city the larger the amount secured by the robbers, appears to be the case. As the district attorney at Ft. Worth remarked in trying to explain the great wave of crime now going over the country, "hi-jackers" will go where the money is. To this is owing an unprecedented long list of robberies in the oil fields.

Kansas City, probably, according to population, has suffered more than any other city in the country from highway robberies committed. A jury in a Kansas City court a few days ago sentenced a man who robbed a messenger of payroll money amounting to several thousand dollars to serve thirty-eight years in the state prison and another jury, not to be outdone in punishing crime, sent his companion up for fifty years.

Immediately there was a great hue and cry that this kind of sentence was too severe. Public sentiment is funny. These same good people, crying out against a robber being sent up for fifty years, would never get on the other side and complain because a man who had committed a brutal murder got off with a two year sentence.

Foolish sentiment many times has much to do with crime waves. A man going forth armed with deadly weapons, to hold up a man and take from him his money, goes with murder in his heart. He goes prepared and ready to kill, if it be necessary to do so, either to get the money or to keep from being caught. There can be no penalty too severe in a case of that kind. The sooner the people universally demand the infliction of extreme penalties in all criminal cases, the sooner is crime going to be lessened.

In this county, where a man was convicted of "hi-jacking" in a case where the robbers went armed and ready to kill, where one officer was shot several times by some one or more of the "gang," a jury, in its mercy, sentenced one of the robbers to serve ten years in prison.

Men who rob in this manner are dangerous persons and should never be allowed at large. With men of that kind there is nothing in the theory of punishment being for the purpose of reform. They are unfit to be at large, they are even a menace to society and when a jury has an opportunity to put away one of this kind, for the remainder of his natural life, they should do so.

The idea of compromising with crime, or with giving such criminals a chance to reform, is all wrong.

The sheriff of Stephens county had the right idea when he published a notice to the people of Breckenridge, to get a gun and shoot as soon as they heard a robber or burglar coming and shoot to kill.

FEAR OF THE LAW.

Governor Hobby's proposed port bill would make interference with workers a felony. Representative Sontell offered an amendment in the house yesterday which would take the "teeth" out of the measure.

If the class of men who have hampered all lines of business by causing stagnation at the port of Galveston, are of the kind who will commit murder in order to enforce their demands on employers, fear of the law is not going to keep them from continuing in crime, no matter the severity of the penalty of the law.

It is more than probable that present laws are sufficient, were they rigidly enforced.

WHAT TEXAS NEEDS, BEYOND ALL ELSE, IS FEWER LAWS AND MORE LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Governor Hobby has enforced the law at Galveston, but it was necessary to impose a great expense upon the taxpayers in sending the militia there in order to do so. It was necessary, even, to declare martial law, so outrageous were the crimes being committed there by men who refused to work, or to allow others to work, while the whole state was suffering by reason of business being stopped at that port.

No punishment can be too severe for such men, but will increasing the degree of punishment for their crimes result in a betterment of conditions there?

The troops will be removed from Galveston Thursday night and it has been freely reported that when they leave, the strikers will drive out, or kill, all the men who are at work there in the places they, the strikers, deserted. Should these threats be carried out, should the strikers commit one overt act, they can only expect the most stringent laws to be enacted against them and public sentiment will bring about their enforcement.

The people of the state of Texas have been outraged by the strike conditions existing since the first of the year at Galveston. But what is the remedy? Will a threat to send them to the penitentiary change their rule of conduct? Hardly.

much in this tire business for us.

III

The less a man has to spend on motoring, the more important it is that his tires should be of first quality.

II

More people own automobiles today than ever thought of owning a horse and buggy in the old days.

Any tire is not good enough for the small car owner. He wants a tire that will give him just as much for his money in the small size as the big car man gets for his money in the large size.

That's because the cost of motoring has been brought within reach of the average citizen's pocketbook.

We look upon it as part of our job to keep it there. If it weren't for the trade of the man with the medium priced car there wouldn't be

IV

In thinking over what kind of tires we would represent in this community we tried to put ourselves in the place of the car owner. And we believe we hit it exactly when we selected U. S. Tires.

AMERICAN LEGION ADOPTS STRENUOUS RESOLUTION ON JAP

Would Even Cut Out the Picture Bride — Would Deny Any Right of Citizenship and Stop All Japanese Immigration — State Department at Tokio Refuses to Discuss Negotiations Pending With Washington Over California Law.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—The report of the committee on Americanism, of the American Legion, in its second annual convention here today, recommended the cancellation of the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan, the exclusion of "picture brides," the rigorous exclusion of Japanese immigration.

The report recommended that "we enter a vigorous protest against Japan's demand that naturalization rights be granted to its natives now in the United States, and earnestly requested the state department of the United States, in the settlement of this question not to consider any proposition granting rights of naturalization to this unassimilable people."

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—Authorities of the Japanese foreign office declined to discuss the negotiations with the United States, relative to anti-Japanese legislation in California. All they will say is that everything possible is being done to find an amicable and successful solution of the problem which, they admit, is difficult.

In well informed circles the impression prevails that the plan proposing a joint commission to study the subjects is considered a possible means of reaching an adjustment. Responsible circles voice the conviction that Washington seems really desirous of reaching a satisfactory settlement.

ENROLLMENT IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS IS SPLENDID SHOWING

The Cisco public schools opened last Monday with over three hundred more children in attendance than on the first day last fall a year ago. However, the school board and superintendent had planned for such an increase and were able to handle this increased enrollment.

The new addition to the West Ward building is practically completed and will be occupied this week. The board voted to add three additional teachers to the force, to relieve the congestion in some sections. Two of these have been selected, but one more primary teacher is needed for the East Ward building.

The enrollment by grades and departments for the first week is as follows: Kindergarten, 45; beginning unders, 44; first grade, 153; second grade, 148; third grade, 135; fourth grade, 116; fifth grade, 134; sixth grade, 117; seventh grade, 92; high school, 266; total, 1,276.

The work of the schools was well organized before the day of opening so that only a short time was required for classification and enrollment and the end of the week found the class work well along in progress. Ample requisitions were made for free text books and no shortage is anticipated for this session.

BRECKENRIDGE HAS MILES OF FREIGHT CARS HERE IN CISCO

What is in the Yards and Rolling Will Probably Total More Than Five Miles — Hundreds Being Taken From Here to Parks Camp, the Last Station — Trains Soon Be Running Through — Six Trains Daily Now.

Trains on the Cisco and Northwestern did not get through to Breckenridge today as expected, owing to a necessary delay in the completion of one small bridge which it was expected would be finished last Sunday. It will possibly be determined this evening just when the first train will get through.

The people of Breckenridge are even more anxious than are the people of Cisco for this through traffic to be established. There are now on the sidings in Cisco and rolling more than five miles of freight cars, consigned to Breckenridge. These are being moved as rapidly as possible. There are now six trains each day on the Cisco and Northwestern and many of the cars reaching here are being taken to Parks Camp, the last station before Breckenridge and the goods loaded from that point on trucks, so great is the demand for them.

The management of the Cisco and Northwestern are doing all in their power to get the work completed, that trains may run through and now it looks like it is only a matter of hours, rather than days, until this is done but, as in all new enterprises, there is something continually arising which could not have been foreseen and provided for.
