NEW KERRIGAN PICTURE
A DELIGHTFUL ROMANCE

The third of J. Warren Kerrigan's Robert Brunton productions, "The Lord Loves the Irish," a W. W. Hodgkinson release, is the attraction at the Judia theater, beginning today.

The picture, another of those produced with the star's own company, is from a story and screen adaptation by the noted screen author, Monte M. Katterjohn. The handsome hero has a pleasing role as an Irish lad, first in his native land and then on the police force in New York. A fine supporting cast headed by charming Fritz Brunette, as Mr. Kerrigan's leading woman, is seen in the other roles. Ernest C. Ward, noted director of the stage and screen, who has charge of the staging of the new Warren Kerrigan series, directed.

Thrills and suspense come from the novel plot theme, in which the author has used the greatest counterfeiting scheme ever attempted as the basis of his story action. Closely knit with the mechanical side of the story fabric is the romance between the hero and the heroine, starting on Irish soil when he first loved her and she thought him an ignorant yokel, to the time when, in the life struggle and intrigue of New York finance and politics, he proves himself worthy of the love of any woman.

Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, who is a candidate for governor of Texas, was in Eastland Friday. He went there on business, and incidentally made a little medicine in a political way.

"Still Joe Bailey's friend," said H. P. Winston Saturday, who was down to see the News force. "Joe called me up last night and complained about 'Bill' Huey, Postmaster St. John and me not coming over to see him."

"And while I was talking to Joe, an old man of 85 years, heard the conversation. Is that Senator Bailey you're talking to? Well, you tell him I'm 65 years old, but I walked 75 miles to get to vote for him."

"Joe heard him say it and you should have heard him chuckle," said Mr. Winston.

Few men have followed the fortune of the Gainsville candidate longer than Mr. Winston. During the years that Mr. Bailey has been out of the limelight, Mr. Winston has been known throughout west Texas as "Old Joe Bailey's friend."

It Pays to Move Around.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 21.—"It pays to move around" mused Slim Saltee. "Nine years I was at St. Louis and never got a look-in at any extra money, except in a series between the Cardinals and the Browns. Came to be regarded as one of the fixtures of the ball park; when the painters came along each spring they always gave me a coat and stood me against the fence to dry. Then I went to New York; got into a world series, but was one of the losers. Migrated to Cincinnati, and, in one season, I landed the best record of my career and the big money. Yet, it pays to move occasionally! Don't know how many years the old soup bone is good for, but I'm all fixed, anyhow—my new house is right back of the old men's home."

HOUSING THE WORKERS.

THE PLAN to build a monster hotel for workers in Cisco is certainly a wonderful inspiration. Such a program can only result in good. Housing the people who work is as essential as any project that now confronts the business men of the community, and the plan is entitled to serious consideration and prompt action.

Labor is the basis of all wealth and happiness. There's much to be done in Cisco during the next few years, and to meet the emergency, Cisco must either resort to tents or make some substantial provision. Handling the problem as outlined is, on its face, a sound business investment—even if it never returns any direct dividends to the investors.

The cost of production in Cisco is based upon the cost of labor, and labor costs in proportion to living conditions. The men at work and the employers know this. To bring order out of chaos is the first step towards a lower scale of wage, which is high enough even in normal places.

Too much cannot be said for the project. It is certainly worthy of the energy and thought of the business men of the community. The workers have already spoken.

SWAPPING HORSES.

IT ISN'T regarded as good business sense to swap horses in the middle of the stream. And while it is seldom done, occasionally in politics, men starting a job have never been permitted to finish it, owing to the fickleness of the ballot.

Eastland county is building a $3,000,000 road system. Much of the work has been done under the direction of Judge Starnes, who seems to have been a very faithful public official. The judge may, or may not be a candidate for re-election. His friends have been looking about to see which way the political wind blows, and have been wondering what the average voter thinks about Judge Starnes' stewardship. They feel that he should be a candidate only in the event his service has been satisfactory. If the people are not pleased, he feels that he should not seek re-nomination and reelection, but should retire for some one who the taxpayer wants to finish the big road job.

If they repudiate Mr. Starnes, it is the same as swapping horses in the middle of the stream. And if Mr. Starnes has done his work well, it would seem poor business to start some new man in to take up a half-finished piece of work; and in the long run, the county and the taxpayer would be the loser. For no matter how efficient a man might be, it would take weeks to pick up the work of handling the intricate inside of the office, which would be saved, if Judge Starnes was re-elected.

Here's a simple business proposition. There should be no politics enter into it. If Judge Starnes has made good, the voter and taxpayer should owe it to themselves to retain him in office.

We've heard no complaint of his work in the handling of the good road campaign.

"THIS IS A MAN."

THERE is a man in Cisco who lives right. We've watched him and heard of him and know him. He's a good man and engaged in a fine work. His business is the business of living right. He travels through life with a smile, a cheerful word, a warm heart, and understanding. What a wonderful life to live!

"What you are speaks so loud that I cannot hear what you say," said Emerson.

And that's the sort of man we've met in this gentleman. It is very doubtful if this is a perfect man. There are few of them in the world. But he's so far what a man should be that to know him and to understand him is helpful. By his example, the world is better, because those who come in contact with him day by day are inspired to bigger and better things. Not so much by what he says, but by his way of living and way of thinking.

He's a religious man. His life is given to religious work. His energy is daily directed to making men better. Yet one might talk with him for hours and never hear him mention religion. Such a man is worth his weight in gold to a community.

What he is speaks so loud you cannot hear what he says. The world needs more men like him. As he travels through the highways and byways, his smile, his right living and right thinking gets the results his work is founded for.

Once a family lived next door to this man, where the head of the house was almost an infidel. The wife and the children were members of a church. This neighborly relation between the families threw the two men together much. Never in all these years did the infidel hear a single word from a religious standpoint from his neighbor. But because of the character of the good man, the bad man was finally forced to say: "I'm wrong; I cannot go on this way. You have by your character and your way of living taught me that I'm wrong. I must get right."

It was what he is that spoke so loud that what he said wasn't heard.

"His life was gentle, and the elements So mixed in him, that Nature might stand up And say to all the world, 'This is a man!'"

OPEN OPINION From THE PEOPLE

Editor Cisco Morning News:

"Dear Sir: I notice in the morning's editorial that you quote a reader of The News as asking the following question: 'If it is unlawful for one to labor at an organ in a picture show on Sunday, isn't it unlawful for one to be paid for playing an organ in church on that day?' As all good citizens are in favor of enforcing our state laws, I suppose the gentleman quoted is in favor of stopping a paid organist from playing in a church on Sunday. I am inclined to believe that the same person could not see any difference between rolling a pair of dice and rolling a baby buggy as long as the former occupation suited his personal wishes in the matter."

"In the cases of Oliver vs. State, 144 S. W. 694, and Gould vs. State, 154 S. W. 695, it is held by our court of criminal appeals that it is an offense against our criminal statutes for an agent or an employee to assist, in any manner, the operation of a picture show on Sunday, for which an admission fee is charged. Also Article 1, Section 6 of the constitution of the State of Texas guarantees freedom in the exercise of religious worship. You admit that you do not know the law about this point."

"I had previously arrived at that conclusion by reading other articles in your paper. Would suggest that as long as you give this matter editorial notice that you either inform yourself or refrain from instructing the public as to the proper thing to do in enforcing the law."

"Since I occupy the same relation as the gentleman you so generously quoted does to your paper, I request that this be given the same prominence."

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS IN SOCIETY.

To make a hit in 1920 a year society, such as Luella and I affect, it is absolutely necessary to have ancestors. Ancestors will happen in the best of families—but nowhere else. For instance, the James Frothingham Binks have their traced away back to the food. The original Binks was on the Ark, although the history of the time fails to mention him. Luella, in her moments of confidence, in the privacy of our own apartment, has whispered that, if there is anything in heredity, the original Binks was one of the simians.

Soon after launching our trail bark upon the sea of society, Luella and I began looking for ancestors. A relative of Luella's tried to discourage her. This relative had tried to join the D. A. R. and had searched until she found that one of her Revolutionary ancestors had been shot for desertion and the other one was locked up for 12 years for snidging on a government bond contract.

After giving up Luella's line entirely, we concentrated on mine, and then our discoveries began. My ancestors seemed to be swift movers. We would no sooner get one of them traced to Salem, Mass., than we found he had moved to Westbury, L. I. Finally we cornered Great-great-great Uncle Phoenix and, while he had unfortunately been shot for selling rags to the Indians, he left a family record that reached away back to William the Silent and several miles beyond.

DINNER STORIES

McMackeral was defending a man in a murder case. The case looked hopeless; the prosecution was soon done. Then McMackeral rose, in a quiet, conversational tone McMackeral began to talk to the jury. He made no mention of the murder. He just described in vivid colors a pretty country cottage hung with honeysuckle, a young wife preparing supper and the rosy youngsters waiting at the gate to greet their father on his return home for the evening.

meal. Suddenly McMackeral stopped. He drew himself up to his full height. Then, striking the table with his fist, he cried, in a voice that thrilled every bosom: "Gentlemen, you must send him back to them!" A red-faced juror choked and blurted out: "By George, sir, we'll do it!" McMackeral, without another word, sat down, and ten minutes later the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. The prisoner wept as he shook his counsel's hand. "No other man on earth could have saved me as you have done, Mr. McMackeral," he sobbed. "I ain't got no wife or family, sir."

"So your husband went to church with you?"
"Yes, he did."

"And did your husband derive any benefit from the discourse?"

CONGRESS SAVED ITS ANNUAL GARDEN SEED

Fight by Congressman Blanton to Eliminate Appropriation Failed to Get Results.
Folks in West Texas—in fact, all over the United States—nearly met with disaster last week, when Congressman Blanton attempted to defeat an appropriation bill of $300,000 for garden seed in the annual and time-honored campaign gift from members.

For a time it appeared as though the seeds were doomed, but when the roll-call was taken enough votes were mustered to easily defeat an amendment offered by Representative Purnell of Indiana, 19 strike out the item to $300,000 for seeds, by 130 to 71 votes.

Blanton declared that farmers would rather have their taxes cut than receive a 15-cent package of garden seed. He further declared that congressmen were "humbuzzing" their constituents by sending them seed as a "gift," which the farmers and other citizens of the country were paying for themselves.

Pointing to the republican side, he addressing his remarks to them, he told them to vote this item down, if they were so concerned in economizing and to take $300,000 off the taxes this year.

He concluded by saying that if the seeds were to remain to "take politics out of them" and let the department of agriculture handle them.

SIDE-LIGHTS

THE HOOVER BOOM.
The serious proposal of Herbert Hoover for the presidency brings in a whole train of paradoxical situations. Hoover has always been a republican, but it seems absolutely certain that the republican organization will help Hoover to do with him if it can help itself. He may be called a progressive but such progressives as Johnson and Borah will have none of him because he is for the treaty and the league of nations. Democratic politicians look askance upon the former food administrator. Why should this republican be honored by the democratic nomination for president, in disregard of men who have fought for and with the party for years? Mr. Bryan, for example, has no patience with the New York World for its bold advocacy of Hoover. "Who asked the World" inquires Mr. Bryan "to select a nominee for the democratic party?" Two or three obvious facts stand out early with reference to the Hoover candidacy. One is that the republicans

ELGIN SIX BEATS FASTEST EXPRESS FROM CHICAGO TO INDIANAPOLIS

On August 27, 1919 an Elgin Scout model carrying four passengers in a test run beat the time of the fastest express train from Chicago to Indianapolis by exactly 30 minutes. The distance of 183 miles was covered in four hours and six minutes. William K. Gibbs, formerly of Motor Age, and Chester Poust of the Chicago American Automobile department, were official observers on this remarkable run.

No water was added to the radiator en route, and the car averaged 17 and one-half miles to the gallon of gasoline. Considering the speed at which the car traveled this is a most unusual record of fuel economy. This performance not only demonstrated the ability of the Elgin Six to maintain a high rate of speed for a long distance, but was a severe test of endurance, as the roads were full of holes and the car was compelled at times to plow through loose dirt and gravel where the roads were being repaired. An average speed of almost 45 miles per hour for such a distance under such conditions is a striking testimonial to the in-built quality of the Elgin Six. This car is handled for Cisco by Whitaker and Mahaffey, from their location at Main and Fifth. For the delivery of milk a specially built glass lined steel tank of 300 gallon capacity on a five-ton chassis is in operation in the vicinity of Lockwood, Ohio. The motor milk conveyor is in reality a giant thermos bottle which keeps the milk cool even in the hottest weather.

THIS "REO" SPEED-WAGON

With These Attachments Solves Every Hauling Problem

The prime requisite for this type of vehicle is a sturdily made, dependable, under body. Examine this Reo Low Express Body and note the extra heavy reinforcing everywhere. One notable feature is the pressed steel brackets that form, at the same time, the sockets into which fit the several attachments. These pressed steel members make a body many times stronger than the old method of extending the wood sills, mortising through them for the upright stakes and then bracing the sills from the base outward. In this Reo body all projections are done away with and at the same time greater strength and rigidity are secured. In a word, the body is Reo-developed, Reo-designed and Reo-made, which is to say its quality is in keeping with that wonderful Reo "speed-wagon" chassis on which it is mounted. Briefly, here is the principle on which this Reo convertible body is built. On a basic body of stoutly reinforced construction, and which of itself forms a type of body applicable to a multitude of hauling problems, may be mounted one or several interchangeable attachments. The attachments shown herewith are all standard and may be had from any Reo dealer. All attachments fit into the same sockets. In other words, this body is not only convertible into many widely different forms, but every form is absolutely interchangeable with every other. In the beginning you may, if you choose, buy only the basic low express body—without even a windshield or top. Then, at any time, your Reo distributor can furnish you any additional attachments. Or—you may have duplicates of these or special types, made by your local builder, to fit into the same sockets. Frankly, we do not care whether you buy these attachments from us or have them made elsewhere. To put a price on them that would be profitable to us and buyers, the Basic Body is Reo-made—that is the vital point. So at our prices there is no money in it—we make them for the accommodation of Reo dealers and

Built by the greatest corps of engineers in America. Every Reo must first meet the test of Reo himself. If it is offered to you, you have the assurance that it is mechanically perfect. Watch them pass you on the road.

FEDERAL TRUCK BUYERS FOR WEEK INDICATE POPULARITY

Following are the purchasers of Federal trucks and trailers sold during the past week by the B.M. Motor company: J. D. Moore, Abilene, one two-ton; W. F. Moore, Cisco, two two-ton trucks and two two-ton trailers; C. B. Schunoyer, Ranger, one two-ton truck and one two-ton trailer; Messrs. Harris and Russell, Moran, one one-ton truck each. Something of the character of the work of the federal is indicated in the following letter: "Dallas, Texas, July 8, 1919. Fiedick-Hawley Co., Dallas, Texas. Gentlemen: With reference to two-ton Federal truck purchased from you a year ago, want to say that this truck has given utmost satisfaction in every way possible, and our expense outside of regular maintenance expense for oil, gasoline, etc., has been 25 cents for one broken spring clip during the time of operation. "We at one time hauled 8000 feet of 3x12 lumber 20 miles, making 40 miles round trip. We hauled this entire lumber in four loads of 2000 feet to a load, in two days time. "This truck only bears out the reputation that has made Federal trucks world famous for 'another Federal.' "P. W. Keesee, county commissioner of Ellis county."

In addition to the standard equipment of some of the latest medium priced passenger automobiles, a folding koozie, compass, vanity case and smoking sets are included.

Production Drops in Mary Dunn Well. The W. E. Jones deep test on the Mary Dunn tract about midway between Gorman and the Desdemona field has dropped from a flush production of 400 barrels to approximately 20 barrels per day. The well is a new one, having created quite a bit of excitement in this section, being the first production of any consequence to be found in the eight-mile area between Gorman and the Desdemona pool. The well found the pay at 2636 feet. Upon being drilled through it proved to be only nine feet in depth. The well is now drilling at 2705 in an enterprising quest for a deeper and more productive pay.

GROWTH OF GENERAL MOTORS. Romance Back of Gigantic Business Organization. A simple announcement comes from Wilmington, Del., that the capitalization of the General Motors corporation has been increased to more than $1,000,000, making it the largest industrial concern in the world. There is a lot of romance back of the General Motors. Its guiding spirit is William C. Durant, a quiet, smooth-shaven little man, who is the "wizard of the automobile world," and who, by the same token, is one of the richest men in the world, although few persons have known it. Mr. Durant is a New Englander. The "C" in his name stands for Crapo. He traces back to one of the Pilgrim fathers. He went out to Michigan when he was a youngster. When he was 21 he had the management of a town that had fallen into bad financial condition, turned over to him, and he put the town on its feet in short order. While still a young man he was the largest maker of vehicles in the world. The Durant-Dort wagon or buggy, or whatever you might term it, was his creation. His first automobile was the Buick. Now he has the Buick, the Cadillac, the Oakland, the Chevrolet and various others. Florida now possesses more than 4,000 miles of surfaced roads.

STRUM MANAGER SELECTS NEW ELGIN AS HIS CAR. Carter Lewis, of the Sturm Oil company, bought an Elgin Silent Six motor car last week from the dealers, Whittiker & Mahaffey, local agents. Denmark has nearly 10,000 motor vehicles. An advance of from 15 to 20 per cent in tire prices will probably be announced by most of the large rubber companies in the very near future. Between Jan. 1, 1919, and Jan. 1, 1920, advertisements urging the purchase of small stills for purifying water used in automobile radiators have fallen into the hands of internal revenue agents in Pennsylvania.

In Performance as in Style Essex is Leader

ITS 50-HOURS AT TOP SPEED ENDURANCE MARK IS UNMATCHED. BUT THAT IS PROOF OF ONLY ONE FINE CAR QUALITY ESSEX BRINGS TO THE LIGHT CAR FIELD

Thousands at first bought the Essex, knowing nothing of its greatest quality. Perhaps no one expected such great endurance in a light car. Perhaps its dynamic performance appeal swept aside the natural caution buyers feel about the durability of any new car.

More speed they found. More power — quicker acceleration — finer hill-climbing ability, and such riding ease as they had never known in a light car. These things the Essex established quickly. A ride was sufficient. It left no vestige of comparison with former light car performance standards.

Such attractions were irresistible to those who knew former light car limitations. But only time or abnormally abusive tests can prove car endurance. It Won on Endurance Minus Useless Weight

Now Essex has met these requirements. Not only have more than 24,000 owners proved its dependable, punctual reliability and freedom from repair and replacement needs. Essex has set a new world endurance mark of 3037 miles in 50 hours. It is the only official test ever made of a stock car, driven at top speed for 50 hours. Counting other tests, the same Essex stock chassis traveled 5870 miles in 94 hours, 22 minutes, actual driving time, averaging more than a mile a minute.

And another Essex stock touring car set a world 24-hour road mark of 1061 miles, over snow-bound Iowa roads. Not a single adjustment or tire change was made.

Surely such endurance proofs must redouble the value of Essex in the eyes of all.

See Why Essex Made a World's Sales Record

Moreover, Essex power means acceleration. It gives Essex right of way everywhere. It means that every performance is met at half effort—thus accounting for its long life.

These are reasons why in its first year Essex set a new world's sales record with more than $35,000,000 paid for more than 22,000 cars in its first year.

This year it will be even more difficult to supply the Essex demand. Thousands waited last spring. Many were disappointed. Yet at that time Essex had not given the conclusive proofs of endurance it now holds. You will avoid having to wait by making your reservation now.

SHACKELFORD COUNTY HAS HEAVY PROGRAM

Shackelford county has never experienced such an abundance of cotton, grain and maize in its history, in the face of unsettled weather there has been sufficient feed crop harvested to supply the farmers for two years, in case of crop failure the coming two years.
Up to date there have been 1812 bales of cotton shipped, aside from some 1800 or 1850 bales not marketed, also 101 cars of grain shipped.
Albany, the county seat of Shackelford county, has an extensive trade territory, surrounded by prosperous ranchmen and substantial farmers, statistics show an increase of 1400 per cent gain in one year's business at the local K.

K. A. T. station, brought about by incoming supplies for Shackelford and Stephens counties. The local merchants have enjoyed an enormous trade during 1919.

At present there are four banks in Shackelford county, two at Albany and two at Moran, enjoying an extensive gain over 1918, the call from the banking commission December 21 shows a total on deposit at all banks near the $2,000,000 mark.

The first appearance of all development came to light in the southeastern part of the county near Moran some seven or eight years ago, the first well being brought in by the Texas company, then the Producers Oil company. Up to date there are five wells producing in that section, brought in at a depth of some 2000 feet, and best continued their output almost continuously since being drilled in.

At present there are some 28 wells being drilled at different points in Shackelford county, and these in close touch with development may that the outlook for Shackelford county for 1920 is very flattering.

The local chamber is hard at work trying to secure for Albany, a lighting system, hotel and side walks. Just now the hotels are unable to handle the traveling public, to any degree of success, and within the next six months or a year a hotel that will do credit to a city much larger than Albany is expected.

Hudson Also Supreme in Distinction

THE SUPER-SIX HAS ALWAYS BEEN THE PATTERNS CAR. ITS EXCLUSIVE MOTOR FOR FIVE YEARS HAS GIVEN IT MASTERY IN PERFORMANCE AND ENDURANCE

It was never sought to develop the Hudson Super-Six as the greatest speed and power car in the world. It is true that in speed—in hill-climbing—in quick acceleration—in stock car racing—official records show that, but they are incidental. They were made in tests to prove Hudson endurance. Surely these great performance qualities are enough to account for Hudson's five years of leadership as the largest selling fine car in the world. Any owner would take pride in a car that none has equaled in any worthwhile performance record.

Yet a large class of Hudson buyers selected it for an altogether different quality. A DISTINCTIVE DESIGN AN EXCLUSIVE MOTOR. Thousands chose it with an eye single to its beauty, charm and notable appearance. They hold none can surpass it in distinction. For the Hudson looks its supremacy in every line.

But it is idle to think that those who primarily seek fine appearance in a car, do not value the mechanical superiority of the Hudson Super-Six. Granted you will never require such great speed, yet Hudson's capacity means for that half load in ordinary driving. It insures absolute freedom from strain.

That extra reserve power means much on hills. It means much in flexibility and in quick response. It means much in changing of gears. It means utter smoothness—free of low vibration—that any other type ever achieved.

That, too, is a matter of record. The official proofs are open to all.

PERFECTED MECHANISM MAKES SUCH LUXURY POSSIBLE

In the exclusive Super-Six motor vibration is reduced almost to nil. Motor efficiency is increased 80 per cent. Motor power is increased 72 per cent, without added size or cylinders. Endurance is almost doubled. The Super-Six principle would add these advantages to any conventional type, six-cylinder motor. But no other can use it.

Its type gives Hudson every advantage. Why accept a lesser car? You will find in the Hudson all the beauty and luxury that imagination and skilled workmanship can create.

SEE HOW IT LEADS ALL FINE CARS

Note how it predominates wherever fine cars are seen. Outside of the clubs, the opera, the theater; in the fine residence streets and on fashionable boulevards observe how it outnumbers two, three and even four to one, any other make of fine car.

The supply of Hudsons have never been sufficient for the demand. Thousands have waited months for certain wanted models. You can insure yourself against disappointment in delivery only by placing your order well ahead of the time you will require it.

"Distinctly 'Elgin'"

People who have learned that there is no fitting substitute in the same price class, remark as they notice an Elgin Six climbing a difficult grade—

"Its marvelous hill-climbing ability is distinctly 'Elgin.'"

Others, who are familiar with the many triumphs of the "World's Champion Light Six" in most every conceivable kind of stock-car race and endurance test, exclaim whenever the subject of automobiles is being discussed—

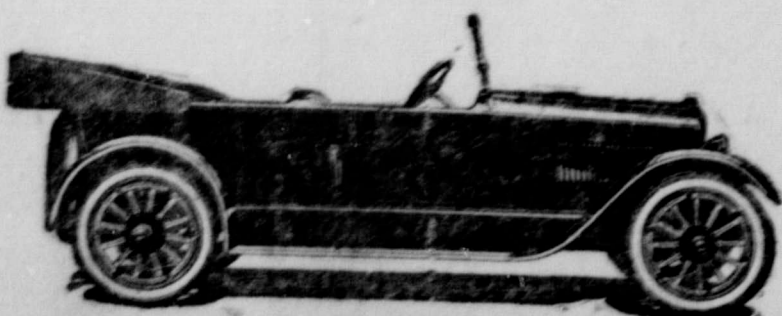

"Its unmatched performance and brute endurance are distinctly 'Elgin.'"

The opinions of those who cannot help being impressed by its dominating appearance as they meet an Elgin Six on the road for the first time are instantly confirmed—

"The inviting character of its design—its alluring beauty—is distinctly 'Elgin.'"

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 15 years old. Two years ago my step-mother left home and I was compelled to leave school and keep house.

I have not had any vacation for three years. I always had to stay home in the summer and help do the work. I asked my father if I could have a vacation this summer and the only answer he will give me is: "I never get a vacation," or "If I can get somebody to keep house you can."

He could get someone to keep house but he is afraid he will have to pay out a little money. He gives me very little money and with that I have to buy my clothes. I never go any place, as there are several small children and I have to take care of them.

I feel sometimes as if I would run away but he says the court would bring me back. Please tell me what to do, as I am unhappy and losing all interest in this world.

REGINA. If you run away from home at the age of 15, the courts would force you to return unless they found your father's home an unfit place to live in. Of course, if your father let you stay away without appealing to the courts they would not interfere.

Have you stopped to think of the thousands of people who have not had vacations in three years or in much longer time? It is the lot of some people to carry heavy responsibilities. Whether your burden is a fortune or a misfortune depends upon what your attitude makes it.

Do you have an exceptional opportunity to bring love and sunshine into the lives of other little children—your brothers and sisters. To be a true little mother in the home ought to bring you pleasure. I realize that you are a mere child, and burdened with responsibility.

Deep Question. "Daddy" asked a mite of eight summers, "God makes us do the good things, doesn't he?" "Yes" replied the father. "And Satan makes us do the naughty things?" Again, yes. "Well, who makes us do all the funny ones?"—London Post.

ties far beyond the strength of most children. Prove that you are a great soul and can meet the problems life brings you.

This period of unhappiness is only temporary. Life is full of sunshine and shadow for everyone. If you do your duty for two years longer, you will be free to let a younger sister assume your responsibility while you go out into the world and work, where you will earn more money and be given vacations.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think once a week too often to wash my hair? I work where it is dusty and dirty, and my hair gets so oily. Is it harmful to use cold water for the last wash? I always rinse my hair three times.

LITTLE SYLVIA. Yes, I think once a week too often. You will find that the hair will be less oily if you wash it once in two weeks or a month. Cold water is not harmful and it helps to keep away could result from the washing. The hair should be rinsed five or six times.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me why the young men, 21 or over, like my company better than the boys my own age? I will be 15 in March. I never make a date with them, or haven't so far, but don't you think it would be all right for me to go out riding?

SIS. Girls develop faster than boys. Boys of your age, as a rule, aren't interested in girls or are ashamed to admit that they are.

You are too young to go out riding with young men.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

BY ZOE BECKLEY

I have been happily playing house, sewing, cooking, entertaining a few of my Centerville neighbors. In short, enjoying the blissful novelty of being "just a wife." It's rather wonderful for a girl who has always been a slave to business hours to lie back against the luxury of leisure for a little. To go for walks. To potter over the marketing. All the things a business girl cannot do, and longs to do!

Today I accepted an invitation to Mrs. Wyeth's luncheon. The guest of honor was a woman from New York, who with a son of college boy age, is visiting the Wyeths.

I have never met a woman of her type before. I wonder if she is a true type, whether the "New York idea" is represented fittingly in her.

Her son, a strapping 19, was conspicuously attentive. It puzzled me. I supposed he thought me an unmarried girl, invited for his benefit. So I spoke of "my husband." He was not abashed. On the contrary, when we sat about in the drawing room after lunch he became almost embarrassing.

"You mustn't mind him," his mother laughed, when, later on, he was out of the room and the ladies twitted me. "Every boy of his age falls in love with a married woman older than himself. It really seems as necessary an experience as breaking their collarbones in football, you know."

The indecency of it all put me quite at a loss. I made some rejoinder about New York's code of ethics being more advanced than Centerville's.

"Oh, dear me, yes," agreed the boy's mother with sophisticated vivacity. "I hardly know a married woman of any attractiveness who hasn't a lad or two on her string."

I should like to be able to record in my journal that I took an early leave of Mrs. Wyeth's party and hurried home, feeling much disgusted.

But I didn't. They served some sort of orange punch that the butler passed and re-passed. It made us all sociable and friendly. I found myself chatting animatedly with the others, learning many things which I now very much doubt the truth of about New York—a city of dreams to me, as I dare say it is to any woman who has lived all her life in a middle western town.

Of a sudden I caught sight of the time. Quarter of six! I was amazed and annoyed. I had come away early, without half putting my house in order, or providing materials for dinner. I rushed home, only to find Jim already there, with a man he had brought to dine with us.

"I telephoned you twice today, dear," he said in that repressed tone of a person more than ordinarily put out. "Why on earth have you been? This is Mr. Belton, Ann—from our New York office."

The strangest feeling passed through me. It lasted only an instant, but it was just as if a voice somewhere inside my mind said, "New York! You have begun to learn about New York; well, you shall learn more."

I made my excuses somehow, though I was more than vexed with myself. I was ashamed. By dint of telephoning and some mighty quick thinking, I got together a dinner so good that it mollified Jim. Indeed, considering the circumstances, he was perfectly adorable.

I do not like this Mr. Belton. And the strange thing is that I cannot say why.

I do not know whether it is that unaccustomed sort of party today. Or my flurry over the dinner. Or just nerves. But I certainly have a strange, guilty sort of feeling. I'm glad to go to bed and feel that the day is over.

I thought it was mostly in comic papers that an angry husband jams on his hat and goes out to the club. If anyone had told me that after a month of marriage this very thing would happen to us, I would have laughed the suggestion to scorn.

After Jim went out last night I sat before the fire in our little sweet home and tried to think out the situation sensibly.

I wonder if every woman is a little disappointed with marriage? I wonder if every husband jumps to absurd conclusions regarding his wife's pre-marital love affairs.

And if so, what is a woman to do? Shall she take the high-handed course—remain proudly reticent and allow the thing to cause a rift between them? Or humble her dignity and beg for understanding of something so simple and obvious?

I say "simple and obvious" because I do not believe any woman, save perhaps the convent-bred girl, or the daughter of fanatically religious parents, goes to her marriage innocent of all romantic experience.

Like every normal girl, I have had transient loves. I have been in and out of love half a dozen times. And I consider that fact makes me all the more worthy and faithful a wife.

A girl who marries without normal experience of men, does so largely out of a huge and quite natural curiosity. Wee to be such a woman whose longing for adventure and excitement comes after her marriage!

"Oh, dear me, yes," agreed the boy's mother with sophisticated vivacity. "I hardly know a married woman of any attractiveness who hasn't a lad or two on her string."

He came in softly, not at first seeing me in the half dark room. As he started to go upstairs, I called out to him. "Why—" He paused in surprise.

"You still up?" "Yes, Jimmie!" I smiled. "Come sit here with me by the fire. It's lovely."

Jim looked greatly surprised—at most embarrassed, I should say. He took off his hat and overcoat in a sort of awkward silence. Then came and knelt beside me on the hearth rug, taking my hands.

"You aren't—aren't—mad at me, Kiddie?" he said, in his dearest tones. "Why, of course not, Jim."

"I was disagreeable at dinner." "Well—if you were, perhaps it was natural under the circumstances; you couldn't be expected to understand." I said this as if I really meant it.

There was a pause. "It's wonderful," said Jim at last. "To come back and find you sweet and friendly, dear." I said nothing. Jim drew a long breath and swept a circling glance about the room.

"You know," said he after a moment. "I believe the woman who makes a real home for a man, does the great thing a woman is capable of doing."

He kissed me. I felt wondrously happy. But somewhere deep in my heart, vague but insistent, was the feeling that I was, in a way, Jim's mother—not merely his wife—though Jim is 28 and I am only 23.

I wonder if other women have that odd feeling of maternalness toward their husbands! (To be continued.)

AS A WOMAN THINKS

DO YOU LIKE BRIGHT RED? By Edith E. Moriarty.

So many people are rising up in wrath to tell women how to dress and how not to dress that we are beginning to count that day lost whose low descending sun sees not one person, at least, who is strongly censuring "us women and our shocking clothes." One of the most recent lecturers on the horrors of the modern dress is Mrs. Owen Kildare of New York city. Mrs. Kildare calls her lecture "The Psychology of Dress."

After stating that our women give foreign countries a bad impression of America because of the clothes they wear, Mrs. Kildare says this of the psychology of color in dress: "Bright, strong color tones indicate a low mental development."

She might almost make people believe that, only she makes this statement next: "Follow nature to get both good color and good line. You never saw a plaid elephant in nature, nor a huge flower on a little stalk."

No, perhaps not, but neither did we ever see hosts of dark navy blue flowers or black grass or dark, dull sunssets, or dingy swans or colorless poppies. If bright, strong color tones indicate our mental development we certainly wish that more people had stopped school at the 6th grade. How much pleasanter it would be if women knew how to use bright, strong colors as they are used in nature. Just imagine the forest one would get on a walk down the avenue. What a pleasant tinge a dull, rainy, murky day would be if all the women would wear warm reds, gorgeous orange tones, vivid pinks and rich purples, instead of old brown and tan raincoats and navy blue or black hats.

And just how does Mrs. Kildare think that women can follow nature for good color effects unless they wear bright tones? Is not the green of the grass bright? Are not the reds and scarlets of the birds and flowers strong? Bright, strong color tones which do not harmonize may indicate poor taste or lack of artistic sense, but one can scarcely say that the summer girl in her brilliant sport costume is of low mental development.

WAYS TO COOK PORK. Accompaniments to pork—With pork should be served apples (sauce) or baked, spinach, the coarse and bulky vegetables, and the less delicate, such as cabbage, turnips, parsnips, kohlrabi, onions, tomatoes, sweet and white potatoes. For salads use apples, berry jelly, sour pickles, pickled beets and ripe olives.

A light dessert of fruit, a fruit pudding, or fruit molded in gelatin, is very gratifying with a pork meal.

Fat containing foods and substantial dishes of milk and eggs should be excluded from accompanying pork even more closely than in the case of mutton.

The following recipes are given for cooking pork as a whole, also when only small amounts for flavor are accompanied by other foods:

Roast Pork—To prepare roast pork, wipe pork, sprinkle with salt and pepper, place on rack in dripping pan or roaster, and dredge meat and bottom of pan with flour. Place in moderate oven and roast three or four hours, basting every 15 minutes with fat in pan. For roast pork, the usual rule is 25 minutes to the pound. Make gravy, using same proportions as white sauce.

Pork Steak with Sweet Potatoes—Use pork tenderloins and wipe first with a damp cloth. Place in a greased baking dish and brown in a hot oven quickly. Season with salt and pepper and baste with hot water frequently while cooking for about 40 minutes. Slice boiled sweet potatoes lengthwise. Place in the baking dish with the meat, and bake until nicely browned, basting frequently.

Pork Pie—Two pounds of pork, four large potatoes, one small carrot, two slices of lemon, peeled, one tablespoon chopped parsley, two tablespoons chopped celery, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon catsup, salt, pepper, pie crust.

Slice the pork in small strips, then cook in cold water with the lemon, parsley and celery to simmer for 30 minutes. Drain the potatoes, sliced with carrots for about 20 minutes. Place the meat and vegetables in a deep baking dish, add other seasonings and dredge with flour. Add water to cover and make slowly. When the meat is lightly browned.

Savory Fresh Pork—Two cups chopped meat, two tablespoons fat, one cup cooked tomatoes, salt, red pepper, small and chopped fine, two tablespoons flour, one small onion, one cup gravy or meat stock, one-half teaspoon celery salt.

Slice the onion and brown it delicately in the fat. Then add the flour and stir until well blended. Turn in the tomatoes, gravy and meat. Add the seasoning and heat well. Serve with baked potatoes.

Of Interest to Women

The North Carolina State college for women has added a course in journalism to its curriculum.

For the first twenty years of its existence, no woman was admitted to the library of the British Museum.

The Women's City Club of Washington, D. C., is planning to build a new home at a cost of about $350,000.

Women teachers in the public schools of Hamilton, Ont., have been granted a wage increase of $2.00 a year.

In his postoffice department Uncle Sam keeps no fewer than 250 women at work day and night mending mail sacks.

Miss Louise Helen Coburn, Colby college's first woman trustee, is one of the leaders of the Maine Woman Suffrage association.

The first woman dentist ever graduated in the United States was sent out by a Cincinnati dental college shortly before the commencement of the civil war.

Following years of agitation, the general faculty of the University of Virginia has finally decided to recommend that all departments of the university be opened to women students.

Mrs. Jean H. Norris, recently appointed a city magistrate in New York will receive a salary of eight thousand dollars a year, or one thousand dollars more than the salary paid a United States circuit court judge.

In Italy the higher education of women dates from years back. The University of Padua is proud of the names of Cornaro Piscopia and Novella d'Andrea, the latter's beauty being so marvelous that she had to have a curtain in front of her when she lectured, so lost in admiration were her hearers.

Mrs. Trollope, the novelist, never attempted to write a book till after she was fifty. After she had failed in her romantic project to rebuild the fallen fortunes of her husband in America, she wrote a book on the Americans. From this she realized a sum sufficient to lift her household from dire distress. She continued writing till past her seventy-fifth year, and had at that time produced 114 volumes.

The woman who recently piloted her husband's ship into Mobile was not the first of her sex to show herself a good sea-captain. Maritime records of the past half century tell of Mrs. Captain Patten, of Bath, Me., who, while her husband was lying ill in his berth, navigated his ship around Cape Horn and up to San Francisco; of Mrs. Captain Abbie Clifford, of the brig "Abbie Clifford," who, after her husband had been washed overboard, brought the vessel safe into New York harbor from below the equator; of Mrs. Captain Reed, of the "Oakland," of Brunswick, Me., who was a practical navigator of celebrity, and of Miss Janet Thomas, who taught a school of navigation in New York, and who was in part the author of "Thome's Navigator," a book of authority among mariners.

CISCO AND STRAWN SPLIT TWO GAMES

Male Quintet Wins by Margin of 58 Points; Cisco Girls Beaten by Score of 11 to 16.

Honors were about 9:50 Saturday afternoon when the boys team of the Cisco high school beat the boys team of the Strawn high school, and the girls team of the Strawn institution beat the Cisco girls by a narrow margin.

Here are the scores: Cisco boys, 71; Strawn, 25; Strawn girls, 11; Cisco, 16.

More than five hundred spectators lined the time line on all sides of the court. The aggregation from Strawn numbered about 100 people.

The girls took the field first and showed some spirit; the teams were matched by checking up a six to six score at the end of the first half.

The girls' second half was a hard-fought affair with the score constantly alternating in favor of one side then the other. The Strawn girls won by the two-point margin that was passed over before the final whistle sounded. The girls' game was the more exciting of the two played during the afternoon of the match.

The boys' contest was an even battle until the score reached 10-10, although Strawn fought with everything it had. While the teams averaged approximately the same total weight the boys' team weighed a little less than the visitors.

Walter Hubley of this city refereed both games. Miss Della Hoffman coached the local girls.

SOONERS WIN SECOND FROM KANSAS AGGIES

NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 21.—Oklahoma won the second game from the Kansas Aggies here this afternoon 28 to 26, in a fiercely contested basketball game.

The score was tied several times during the game. Both sides played a fighting defense that made short range shots rare. Ed Warr of the Oklahoma team, the heaviest scorer, played a hard game in spite of a dislocated shoulder that was jerked into place just as the second half began.

Pitchers Ready for Camp. CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 21.—Seven pitchers, the advance squad of the Cleveland American league team, will leave here next Wednesday night for the training camp at New Orleans.

Eight other pitchers and two catchers will go to camp direct from their homes, all reaching New Orleans Friday next.

The adoption of the ambush to promote one's argument is coarse work that should be suppressed.

T. U. BASEBALL SCHEDULE

University Team Will Play 24 Games 15 at Home and 9 Other Cities.

AUSTIN, Feb. 22.—Final definite announcement of the University of Texas 1920 baseball schedule as arranged by the athletic council includes 24 games, of which 15 are to be played in Austin and nine out of town. Two will be with professional teams—one with the St. Louis Browns and one with the Chicago White Sox. All of the rest will be with collegiate teams.

A total of four games will be played with the Farmers, two at College Station and two in Austin. The last five games of the season will be staged in Austin. All told the schedule is thought to be very favorable to the Longhorns.

The only difficult part is one of the trips when six games in as many days will be staged. Two trips will be made. The schedule is as follows:

March 2, St. Louis Browns, Taylor; March 22-25, Simmons College, Austin; March 26-27, Trinity Uni-

EXPECT SUGAR NORMAL WITHIN NEAR FUTURE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The local market for raw sugar is easier and while Cubas are still held at 9 1/4 cents cost and freight, equal to 10.25 for Centrifugal, interest is centered in Porto Rico which are available below this level. There were no sales of Cubas in the local market but 12,000 bags of Porto Rico were sold to a local refiner for shipment next week at 9.50 C. T. F. delivered while the royal commission was said to have purchased 15,000 tons of Cubas for March, April and May loading at 9 cents f. o. b. Cuba.

Prices for refined have not as yet reflected the lower raw sugar market and are still listed at 15 to 16 cents for fine granulated. Deliveries are said to be improving with refiners allocating more sugar, and it is expected that with increased arrivals of raws in the near future, business should soon become normal.

CORN FURTHER DOWN ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Corn slid down further in price today owing more or less to bearish forecasts of the government's coming report on farm reserves. The close was heavy, 1 to 1 3/4 net lower with May $1.30 3/4 to $1.30 7/8 and July $1.27 5/8 to $1.27 3/4. Oats net 5/8 to 1/2 to 3/4 and provisions 22 1/2 to 40c.

Except for a brief interval soon after the opening bears had the advantage in the corn market throughout the session. Announcements of possible renewal of flour buying on the part of the government tended temporarily to stimulate a little demand from shorts in the corn market and so too did the cancelling of freight restrictions east of Chicago. No other support developed, however, and the close was near the lowest level of the day.

Oats weakened with corn. Provisions were depressed by the grain decline and the poor outlook for export business.

RAIL INTEREST STIRRED BY PENNSYLVANIA ACTION

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—Railroad interests with southern port connections were considerably stirred today by announcement by the Pennsylvania railroad, the initial line to take the action, had ordered effective March 1st, cancellation of concurrence in export freight rates from the central west to southern ports.

The rates recently were established by the railroad administration. At that time it was explained central western shippers saw in existence of the rates the option of a diversity of routes for export shipments and no consequent freight congestion at tidewater while southern port interests hailed them as the forerunner of greatly increased maritime business.

Cottonseed Oil

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The cottonseed oil market was irregular, near positions being steady on covering, while later were easier owing to free offerings by western and southern interests and weakness in lard. Final prices were generally 14 to 25 points net lower. Sales 20,000 barrels. Prime crude $18; prime summer yellow spot $19.50; March $19.40; May $19.52; July $19.55. Prime winter yellow and summer white nominal.

WEST TEXAS CATTLE HAVE FINE WINTER.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21.—West Texas needs cattle on its ranges, the condition of which probably has never been better, according to W. O. Shultz, livestock raiser of Paint Rock, Concho county. Farmers and ranchers, he said, must have cattle to consume the abundant crop of grass and weeds.

"Cattle wintered well this winter and will be ready for spring pastures in good flesh," Mr. Shultz said. "The sheep industry is in fine shape and by May 1 sheep raisers will be marketing fat mutton. The wool clip this year promises to be normal."

It seems that the majority of the inhabitants of that Wisconsin city still pronounce its name "Mealvow-kee."—Albany Journal.

The New Gramm-Bernstein

The high reputation which Gramm-Bernstein trucks have enjoyed for twenty years is fully sustained in this husky new 2-ton.

The manufacturers are willing to go on record as stating that no other manufacturer has ever produced a truck of equal value in this capacity.

This statement, coming from a less experienced or less reputable maker might appear merely an idle boast; with us it becomes a challenge we are anxious to vindicate.

Gramm-Bernstein claims have always rung true, and such a statement is therefore accepted by the experienced truck buyer at its face value.

One fact alone sets the Gramm-Bernstein apart from other trucks and positively entitles it to more than ordinary consideration from business men.

That fact is that it is the product of the longest truck building experience in America. On that alone, and all it implies, business men could safely select the Gramm-Bernstein. But they are not asked to do so; for the Gramm-Bernstein record of successful service furnishes another reason for the growing preference given this truck.

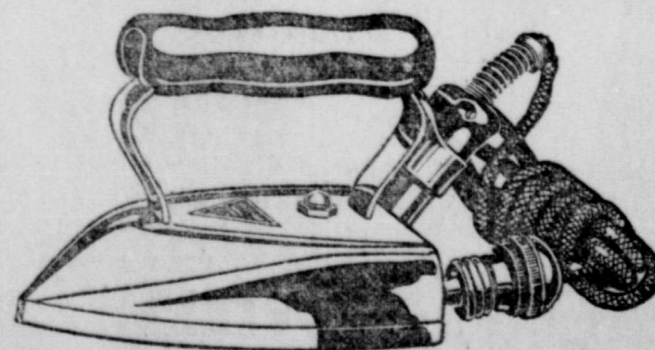

This clear, clean record is the foundation of the good name of the Gramm-Bernstein in every business and every industry using it.

The new 2-ton Gramm-Bernstein is a husky truck, built for hard work, and in every respect it will surely add to the already enviable Gramm-Bernstein reputation.

CISCO'S BUSINESS WANTS AN AD CLUB TO PROMOTE TRADE

W. T. TURNER, DIST. GOSST, POINTS OUT BENEFITS TO BE DERIVED BY ORGANIZATION OF CITY'S ADVERTISERS FOR COMMON GOOD.

WOULD ELIMINATE FAKES

Troubled Advertising the Means for Selling Cisco Goods to Vast Field. Club Would Bring Experts Here to Conduct Advertising Classes.

That Cisco business men should organize themselves into an advertising club for the study of the best publicity methods is the opinion of W. T. Turner of Turner & McClure, druggists. Mr. Turner says that there are so great mysteries about advertising, even the business men understand, and the path is straight and level, thoroughly marked and easy to follow.

"The future of Cisco depends much upon the way the business men here approach the subject of advertising," said Mr. Turner. "This city can be made the market center of a territory that extends 10 miles in every direction. The membership is here. All that is necessary is a united effort on the part of the business men to exploit the market possibilities of the city."

Advertising the Means. "Advertising is the force that will bring it. It is the one thing necessary for any business, and our city is not an outlier in a concentrated form. I feel confident that all of Cisco will benefit thereby."

Would Bring Experts. "It is worth suggesting that an advertising division be organized out of the chamber of commerce and the proposed junior chamber. Under the auspices of these two organizations, experts in the advertising game could be brought to Cisco, a study made of the subject, and the best results obtained from the time and money put into this branch of merchandising."

100,000 Prospects. Merchants have long sought some method of concentrating the buying of the 100,000 people in the city, and it was with this in view that the business men organized the Cisco Marketing News, having in mind the value of a daily newspaper that would reach into every section of the field. The Morning News is a going concern, and through its circulation, a greater portion of the buyers of the section will be reached as rapidly as the circulars that are sent out.

Endorsed by Business. Other business men when the advertising club was suggested, endorsed the plan to form such an organization. It is believed that the Associated Merchants and Manufacturers of the world would support the plan in a way that would result in the advertising of the city's products, which would be of great value to Cisco's retail trade. It is believed that the club would be the result of the plan and would be easily organized. Once the buying public learns that the business men here have organized themselves into an organization that works for public advertising and high business ethics, it is a clincher when the buyer goes out shopping.

Would Eliminate Fakes. These business ethics include not only truthful advertising, but through committees and organizations, the seeing out of all fake news, fake advertising and fake business practices.

The matter of an advertising division of the junior chamber of commerce will probably be discussed at the organization meeting Tuesday night when the organization is started.

It was by a bare majority, 15 to 12, that the senate rejected the change in the reservation framed by republican leaders and submitted by Senator Lodge as part of his compromise plan.

Under the amendment either the president or a majority of the senate's withdrawal, a modification which Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska denounced as making the reservation more objectionable than it had been before.

On the roll call the uncomprehendingly having announced that they would have nothing to do with the proposition, went over to the democratic seating in the negative. Similarly they had now their strength successfully a few moments before against a proposal by Senator Hitchcock to make a joint resolution of passage to effect a withdrawal and that change had been voted down, 15 to 12.

"Why Pending Antiquity?" "Let the treaty remain dead," said Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, "why pending the antiquity?" We might as well enter the dustbin now and get the ghostly thing out of the way."

"What is the talk about compromise?" "The whole act is compromise," said Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, "why pending the antiquity?" We might as well enter the dustbin now and get the ghostly thing out of the way."

"The country, I believed, desired action. The country, I believed, was all ready unanimously against ratification without reservations and an overwhelming majority was in favor of ratification with reservations."

The determination of the irreconcilables to stand against any effort to modify the republican reservations adopted in November, was announced by Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, who said the senate that it only was making a spectacle of itself by seeking to vacillate after it had approved its opinion and won its fight.

Explaining his course in offering modifications, Senator Lodge declared that most of them were "unimportant" and "vital" in relation to the amendments that neither the reservation to article 10 nor that relating to the Monroe Doctrine ever could be materially changed. If the democratic will were determined to block ratification unless there were material changes in these provisions, the majority leader said, then the senate's consideration of the treaty might as well be brought to an end.

In addition to the four democrats who swung over to reservation for the first time today, the members of the majority party voting to adopt the withdrawal qualifications were Senators Chamberlain, Oregon; Gore, Oklahoma; Myers, Montana; Hodge, Tennessee; Smith, Georgia; and Trammell, Florida. The result, 45 to 20, showed two-thirds.

DEARTH OF HOUSE MEMBERS CONFUSES NEWS NEWSPAPERS

"Where do you live?"

This question has been asked several hundred times during the past two weeks by Sam E. Clark, circulation manager of the Cisco Morning News, who has come to the office to subscribe.

And only a small per cent of the subscribers knew their street and number. "A careful check of the city directory that they have not only do not know where they live, but there are complications in the numbering of houses," Mr. Clark says. "In some instances, we found two houses with the same number on the same street. In many places, the houses had no number on at all."

The boys starting out at the week-end hours of the morning to make deliveries, have many troubles in reaching their customers. We will effect better delivery if we can get the houses all numbered by postal inspectors to check the number on their doors or porches."

Mr. Clark has been in every section of the city and is having a busy time organizing the carriers into a smooth machine. But out of all the trouble is with the boys. Some of them in the efficiency of the system of numbering.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Butler Brothers, a wholesale merchandise concern, today announced a profit sharing plan affecting 1,000 employees in Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Dallas. Each employee may deposit five per cent of his salary in a maximum of $10,000 a year, with the company agreeing to add to each deposit such amount as will equal the profit. At the end of five years, the company would pay employees in cash or in stock in the concern.

Merchandise Returns Required. EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 21.—A hand of 20 cases loaded by Nicholas Fernandez, recently were seized by a detachment of 11 Mexican federal soldiers commanded by Pascual Chavez, near Jimenez, Chihuahua, according to El Heraldo of Chihuahua City. The merchandise lost was said to be valued at $100,000 and was believed to be material and a number of important documents.

Business Returns Required. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—An attack which a Polish official communication issued today forms the opening of a long proposed legislative offensive was resisted by the House on the conference, on Feb. 21, according to the communication, after a one day debate. The legislative coming in a southerly direction between Poland and Bohemia, were "back everywhere with 'Turkey' cases."

Under present plans, the treaty will not be before the senate again for several days, the leaders having set aside the beginning of next week for consideration of the railroad bill and possible tariff legislation. The next reservation on the list the all-important article 10 provision but once the treaty does come up again, it is the intention to put this reservation over until orders have been disposed of. In some quarters, however, it was suggested that these plans might be rearranged when the leaders had weighed today's developments and show down be asked for next week on article 10.
