Eight Will Graduate Here; Neal Conducts Baccalau'ate

Minister Urges Class to Build on Rock Foundation

Commencement activities will be brought to a close with graduation exercises for the eight members of this year's Sonora High School class being held tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium, with Dr. J. C. Hardy, president of Baylor College for Women, at Belton, as principal speaker.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday night at 8:30 in the school auditorium, with the Rev. E. P. Neal delivering the sermon. Previous plans had been made for the sermon to be delivered by Dr. Claud Jones, Ballinger pastor. A throat infection prevented his coming, and Mr. Neal's assistance was asked by Supt. R. S. Covey. Mr. Neal secured the services of Dr. Charles Nixon, Del Rio pastor. Dr. Nixon misunderstood the date, however, and failed to arrive. Mr. Neal generously consented to deliver the sermon after Dr. Nixon failed to appear as scheduled.

Taking as his theme the biblical comparison of two men who built houses, one with a foundation of rock, the other of sand, Mr. Neal forcefully brought out the importance of building for a permanent future after leaving school by erecting a foundation of rock, as carried out in a strong character.

750,000 Pounds of Wool for Sale Here

Warehouse Ships 10 Cars to Co-op Within Week

With 750,000 pounds of wool now on hand for sale, the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company has shipped 10 cars, or about 250,000 pounds of wool within the last week to the National Wool Marketing Corporation in Boston.

Car shipments are lighter this year than last, because of lighter and cleaner fleeces.

Mohair remains untouched here, with reports of pending deals for the entire 5,200,000 pounds held by Texas warehouses, being heard here following visits of A. W. Hilliard of Boston in Del Rio this week.

Advances on this season's wools by the national co-op will in no instance be used to satisfy over-advances on former clips, has been announced by L. W. Elliott, Sonora attorney who is executive vice-president of the corporation.

Firemen Plan Second Big Athletic Show Saturday

Pierce to Face 'Tuffy' Jones in Feature Mat Struggle

A second big wrestling and boxing show will be staged Saturday night by the Sonora Fire Department, with the feature a mat struggle between "Tuffy" Jones, 200-pound San Angelo grappler, and Chesley Pierce, 175-pound professional who staged an interesting show here a month ago with the "Masked Marvel," from San Angelo. Pierce is a former Menard boy, now living in Ozona.

Great interest is being shown in two other boxing matches, both of which will feature local boys. Bobby Allison, who fought a draw with Aggie Trainer at the first show, mixes it for six rounds with Casey Jones, a clean-fighting young man employed on the Wil-

Ag Boys Entertain with Big Barbecue

Dameron Tells of Need for Vocational Work at Gathering

Honoring their dads and mothers, with a number of friends of the school and of the class, members of the vocational agriculture classes of the Sonora high school, assisted by their teacher, Turner D. White, entertained with a barbecue and short program on the golf course just south of town in the Alvis Johnson ranch.

In a brief program preceding the meal Mr. White told of plans for next year, stating that the class would feed sheep as well as cattle for show entry. The nucleus of the class has been formed around 12 or 14 boys, who will feed 22 calves and probably 50 sheep. It is planned to interest other boys in the work during the summer, and increase the number of animals used.

Mr. Dameron stressed the importance of the work being done, and told of the necessity for learning three types of feeding—for reproduction, growing and fattening stock. Since Sutton county is best suited for production, feeding for production, rather than for shows, should come first, said Mr. Dameron.

R. S. Covey, superintendent, spoke briefly.

A delicious barbecue, prepared by J. T. Penick, was supplemented by pickles, beans, tea and coffee.

With contracts due to be let today for the grading of 21 miles of Highway 27 in western Sutton county, and with bids asked by the commissioners' court of Sutton county on fence construction along the right-of-way, considerable activity looms for Sutton county and Sonora.

Contractors have been coming through Sonora in considerable number for the last two weeks looking over the course of the new road, and seeking information preparatory to bidding on the project. County Judge Alvis Johnson went to Austin Thursday to meet with the state highway commission Friday.

The county is this week advertising for bids on 7.23 miles of fence construction, to be let in two contracts, one of which will include tearing down of 3.07 miles of old fence. Bids are likewise asked on 5 miles of four-foot woven wire fence, and on 600 cedar line posts, 20 corner posts and 1800 staves.

Sonora Lions to Discuss Support of Gas Tax Plan

To Vote on Resolution Approving Plan to Let State Take Over County Road Bond Issues

The Sonora Lions Club discussed briefly Monday and will vote at its next week's luncheon on a resolution proposed by Lion H. V. ("Buzzy") Stokes endorsing the plans of many Texas legislators, including Governor Ross Sterling, providing for the state to take over bonded indebtedness of Texas counties which voted the bonds for highway improvement. The state would finance the payments through its gasoline tax.

This plan has been proposed a number of times, without result as yet, but at present a sentiment decidedly favorable to the plan is held by the majority of legislators, observers believe. The plan, if passed, would shift the burden of taxes to retire bond issues from the shoulders of the land and property owners within the counties to the state.

Statistics show that the state collects an average of $32,000,000 annually from the gasoline tax, and that $7,000,000 of that amount would take care of the bond payments, interest and sinking fund.

Thomason Flays War Department's Abandoned Plan

Texan Says Proposal to Abandon Million Dollar Plant Would Necessitate Another

(By Bob Jackson)

Special to The Devil's River News. Washington, May 26.—The War Department's attitude in proposing to abandon a million dollar military establishment in order to create a similar one elsewhere was sharply criticized in the House of Representatives by Congressman R. E. Thomason of the 16th Texas district in a recent speech. Congressman Thomason offered an amendment to the War Department appropriation bill which would have prevented the removal of Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa before the end of another fiscal year but the amendment was ruled not germane to the bill.

"This amendment seeks to prevent the abandonment of this post at a cost of more than a million dollars during this fiscal year," Congressman Thomason said. "It is a matter of both economy and protection. All through this bill are items for the transportation of soldiers, and I hold in my hand a letter from General Moseley, the deputy chief of staff, written last week to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in which he said that on the first day of next January they are going to move the soldiers from Fort Russell to Camp Knox, Ky.

"It strikes me that Congress ought to have something to say about that when the taxpayers are the ones paying for it. For the time being I will lay aside the question of protection of my people along that far-flung Mexican border, but I will say that the War Department is not dealing in good faith with those people. Fort Russell is a permanent post, and the record so shows. They spent more than a million dollars there, and now, without consulting Congress, and without good reason, the Department, through General Moseley, writes to the Speaker of this House and says, 'On the first day of January we are going to abandon Fort Russell and ship those soldiers to Camp Knox, Ky.,' which is nothing more than an old cantonment with a lot of temporary buildings.

"That is where your money goes. When that is done you will be asked to appropriate a million dollars to improve Camp Knox.

"This amendment looks to the saving of untold thousands of dollars in the transportation of 600 soldiers, their horses and equipment, as well as the abandonment of more than a million dollars worth of property along the Mexican border; and if soldiers are needed anywhere it is there.

"The War Department arbitrarily orders the abandonment although the Legislature of Texas, the entire Texas delegation in Congress, and many civic organizations throughout the state have petitioned the department not to do so for two reasons—first, because it is needed protection to the people along the border and, second, because the abandonment means the expenditure of thousands of dollars. I am for economy, and I am for national defense, but say this is neither."

A number of congressmen, including members from Alabama,

Admit Slaying Husband and Father

Mrs. Joe Meichinger, left, and her 17 year-old daughter, who admitted killing last week near Brownwood, Texas, Joe Meichinger, who was the woman's husband, and the girl's father. According to their account, the husband came home drunk, struck and abused them, and Eva Nelle, the daughter, fired five shots from a pistol into his body, after which she shot him three times with a 410 gauge shotgun which her mother obtained for her while the girl was using the pistol. Both have been released on $10,000 bonds each. The Meichingers are well-to-do Brown county pioneers.

Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, expressed themselves on the floor of the House as being in accord with Congressman Thomason's views.

He has announced his intention of continuing his fight to save Fort Russell which he started more than a year ago when the abandonment plan was first announced. The date of the abandonment has twice been delayed.

Mohair a Mattress Material? Maybe!

Journal Editor Suggest Mixture with Wool

(Angora Journal)

To the Editor—As there are no markets here in Douglas county for mohair, I am thinking of having some mattresses made of mohair. Wool is said to make a good mattress. Will mohair make one as good? Is mohair liable to get hard and matted made into mattress? I would like to get any information I could get on this subject. I can have the mattress made in Roseburg. If a success, this would consume a lot of mohair.—Chas. Voytilla.

Reply—Mohair singly would we are told, matt down. Mixed with other fibres, such as wool, it is my belief that a good mattress would result. Would like to see it tried—our 50-50 wool and mohair robes are light, warm and fluffy. I cannot see why the setcious quality of washed mohair, uncombed, would not supply a resilient element that would be suitable also for upholstery filling—far better than bast fibres or the scutching tow from linen so much employed. I have also wanted to try mohair batts for comforts. Any experiments you may undertake will be of interest to us. Will assist in any manner possible to forward the idea.—Ed.

HEALTH NOTES

Shirley W. Wynne, M. D., Dr. P. H., Commissioner of Health for the City of New York, has prepared the following "Tips for Wives on Husbands' Health":

You can make your husband's dinner and evening at home more healthful and happy by following these rules:

Have dinner at a regular hour and see that it is well balanced.

It should include both raw and cooked vegetables, milk and fruit.

Make the dinner hour the family hour and a happy and jolly event. Encourage discussion of interesting subjects, and see that everyone eats slowly.

Relax after dinner and make the evening entertainment a pleasure. Strained or forced fun does more harm than good.

Ozona Lions Club Seeks Mark O. S. T.

State Historical Commission May Result from Move

The Ozona Lions Club, seeking to mark points of historical interest along the Old Spanish Trail through Crockett county, may cause the establishment of a state historical commission whose duties, among others, will include the proper marking of all points of historical interest in the state and the marking of such points along all the principal highways.

The Rev. J. H. Meredith, chairman of the highway marking committee from the club, pointed out such a possibility in a report of progress of the movement at a recent meeting, according to the Ozona Stockman.

Efforts have been made to enlist interest of various organizations in the state in a state-wide movement for marking all points of historical interest especially along the principal highways.

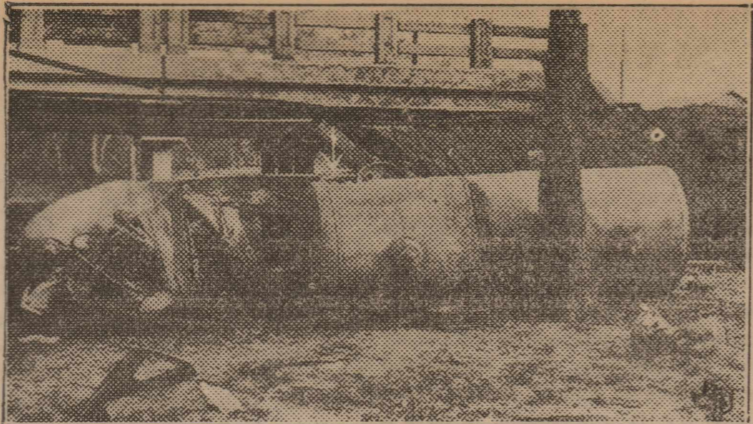

Attention of the Sons of the American Revolution, the D. A. R. and similar organizations has been called to the movement, it was stated. It is hoped that through the co-operation of these agencies a definite state-wide movement will be gotten under way to mark and preserve spots of historical interest throughout the state.

Young Turkey Flock Raided by Bull Frog

Kerr County Ranchman Catches Hungry Thief in the Act

Move over, Baron. By gosh, it's tough to have to break this yarn right here at the start of the fishing season with so many tall ones going the rounds.

Once upon a time—In fact, in the year 1932 A. D., John Henderson, Kerr county ranchman, owned a turkey hen and a flock of potential Thanksgiving dinners. The young turks began checking in A. W. O. L. After missing one day, John Henderson began condemning the o'possums, calumniating the foxes and cussing the raccoons.

When the flock had been systematically diminished for some time, John Henderson last week resorted to stern measures. Shouldering his trusty shot gun, he shadowed his birds. As the mother turkey led her brood along the banks of Honey Creek, John Henderson was startled when a giant frog leaped out of the water, snapped one of the little turkeys into its yawning mouth and dived, kerplunk, back into the water.

Now, by this time, John Henderson was downright mad. He hid behind a tree and waited. After a short time, the frog, about two feet in length, sneaked out on a rock in shallow water. The gun roared and the frog went where all turkey-eating frogs go. To make sure that his eyes hadn't been playing tricks, John Henderson dissected the dead frog and inside its stomach he found his late young turkey.

The frog, of course, was a bull frog. But this is a true story.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

AN ADDED RESPONSIBILITY

As graduation time rolls around each year much is said regarding the fact that young men and women ending their school careers are not getting through, but are in reality merely completing preparation to begin.

To the average high school senior graduation is the pinnacle of success, the acme of all that is desirable in life—the crest has been reached, the world has been challenged, fought, and conquered. Just about two weeks is usually all that is required to convince the graduate that such is not the case, for all too soon, it becomes apparent that education, instead of enabling one to live without work, has increased the educated one's capacity for hard work, and made possible a service not easier, but much greater.

There will always be a place for the educated man or woman, for the trained mind and the carefully-tutored intellect which he or she may bring into use of working for the advancement of civilization and human progress.

It should be within the graduate's vision to realize that an education means the assumption of an added responsibility, carrying with it the ability for greater achievement, rather than serving as a mere subterfuge by which something can be gained for nothing. When this truth is realized the signs point to the fact that education has been achieved in reality.

Texas Democrats are strong for Garner, and it looked for a time as though he would have to swim, in order to support a plank in a wet platform.

35 YEARS AGO

Christmas plans were well under way in Sonora Saturday, November 13, 1897, according to the following story in the issue of The Devil's River News for that date:

"At a meeting of the citizens at the court house Thursday night, called for the purpose of arranging for the holidays, John Hagerlund was chairman and D. H. Burroughs secretary. It was decided to have a Union Christmas tree at the Court House, on the Eve of Christmas.

"The Sonora Gun club to hold their shoot at 3 o'clock Christmas day. A grand ball to be held at the Court House Monday night.

"It was also decided to have four days racing, beginning Monday, December 27th and G. W. Morris, G. S. Allison and Carter Johnson were appointed an executive committee on racing.

"Executive committee on Christmas tree—W. A. Stewart, T. D. Newell and L. N. Halbert.

"The Gun Club shoot to be under the auspices of the Sonora Gun Club.

"The grand ball to be managed by Felix Vander Stucken, B. H. Burroughs and G. B. Black.

"The committee on general amusements was appointed as follows: Steve Murphy, Geo. H. McDonald and Alex Goldberg.

"Each of the above named committees are empowered to solicit subscriptions for the various amusements and conduct same generally."

A large advertisement appeared on the same page with this story, proclaiming, "Lots of Sport at Sonora for the Holidays. Four Days Racing. $500.00 in purses for Blood. Circular Track. American Ass'n Rules. Dec. 27, 28, 29, 30, 1897." A day-by-day program followed. Pertaining to races, it was announced: "Four horses to enter and three to start in all races. Entrance fees ten per cent of purse. Purses divided: 70 per cent to first, 15 to second 10 to third. Weight 100 pounds each."

President McKinley's Thanksgiving proclamation from Washington was reproduced in the issue, and the following announcement appeared: "The ladies of the Methodist church will give a cream and oyster supper at the church on the night of Thanksgiving day, Nov. 25th. All are invited to attend."

Other local items ran as follows: John Rice, contractor has started work on McDonald's new store.

kinson & Mears ranch. Jones has not been seen in a regular match, but has created much enthusiasm by his tactics in practice bouts.

Another Sonora boy, Pat Carroll, who has had lots of ring in Houston, has been matched for five rounds with Louis Sapp, another local fighter. Carroll has shown excellent form and much speed in practice fights.

A battle royal, bouts between local Mexican boys, and other special features, have been planned. Henri Rogers, director of the Sonora high school orchestra, has given his services again, and will furnish musical entertainment between fights.

The show will be held in La Vista theatre, as before, through the courtesy of Carl Gunzer.

and outstanding actors of the evening.

"Taxi," presented by the Rocksprings cast, directed by Mrs. Forrest J. Weldon, was an amusing sketch with the scene laid in a taxi. Mrs. R. A. Tippit and Alton Miller took the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimberly, the only two characters.

"A Midnight Fantasy," presented by the Misses June Hooker and Jetta Grace De Long, of Eldorado, and directed by Miss Estelle Cocke, of San Angelo, was an appealing act contrasting colonial and modern ways by bringing two pictures to life. The young ladies, representing respectively, Girl of 1850 and Girl of 1932, stepped out of large picture frames to carry on dialogue, which was made colorful by the dancing of a minuet and the Charleston, by way of further contrast.

"The Undercurrent," presented by the Sonora cast, directed by Mrs. George Baker, was composed of six characters: Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Marshall Huling, Mrs. Gladys Kothmann, Mrs. Tom White and Joseph Trainer. With the scene laid in the basement of a New York apartment house, the play dealt with a harsh father's mistreatment of his family, governing it through fear, to the consequent downfall of his daughter, (Mrs. Huling), with Miss Page, special investigator for the morals court (Mrs. White) bringing things to a hopeful conclusion. Mrs. Kothmann amused the spectators in her garb of a meddlesome neighbor, and Joseph Trainer was pathetic and appealing as the simple-minded son.

The response of the audience to this serious play was decidedly gratifying, with several persons who attended pronouncing the efforts as highly successful.

The "BBB" band of kindergarten children, taught by Mrs. M. O. Britt and directed by Professor Henri Rogers, proved a delightful feature of the program. The children entertained with a rhythm band selection and song, and made a brilliant exit after their curtain call, with red-white-and-blue shoulder bands covering their "BBB" insignia and American glags waving at the applauding audience.

Children of the band are Peggy Reming, Marjorie Reba Nisbet, Patsy Nisbet, Edith Mae Babcock, Elizabeth Taylor, George S. Schwiening, Glen Richardson, Clyde Henderson, Sanford Trainer, and R. W. Wallace.

The Sonora High School orchestra added greatly to the affair by providing music between the plays.

Gate receipts amounted to over $50, from which came the prize for first place, royalty fee for "The Undercurrent," and expenses of the judges.

Commendation, both of the group work and of individual characters, by the visiting judges, and enthusiastic plans for next year on the part of participants in the tournament, seem to assure a repetition of the event with increased dramatic efforts and a larger number of entrants next year.

Attending the tournament from other towns were Mrs. Alton Miller and R. A. Tippit, Rocksprings; Miss Pairalee Linn and Conde Hardeman, Junction; Mesdames Robena Nussbaumer and Bertha Teague, San Angelo; and Mrs. W. J. Grimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Evert White, Miss Bunker, and Jake Young, of Ozona.

WOOL-MOHAIR NOTES

Statistics on Current Production and Consumption

The belief that a good tropical worsted suit should prove to be the most important summer clothing item in the New York retail market despite all the "noise" that has been made in recent months over the prospects of linens, seersuckers and other wash suits, was expressed by a clothing merchandiser of a leading department store, who expressed confidence that if the city were to experience a summer anything like that which made New Yorkers swelter for several months last year, tropical worsted would account for far greater volume than any other type of summer suit. An examination of some models disclose that fabrics have been selected with an eye to conservation and practicality. Their styling stimulates to a great extent that of the heavier worsteds with the intent of satisfying the average man who dislikes being made conspicuous by the usual "loud" summer styling. The mills have at least awakened to the fact that tropical worsteds must be styled as conservatively as regular weight worsteds without the odd stripings and loud twist motifs of former years.

Cool weather thus far and a desire to move spring stocks has retarded early sponsorship of summer lines; but it appears that plans are being worked out for launching line promotions in connection with the Memorial Day holiday. Thereafter, it is suggested, June is likely to uncover the main summer apparel drive of the season to stimulate consumer interest in comfortable attire for the Independence Day exodus and the vacation periods to follow.

Price Quotations

After having shown their fall lines for about three weeks, the leading wool manufacturers finally announced the prices of these goods toward the end of the month. Quoted prices were about 10 per cent below last year. There is still too much price sharp-shooting in this industry and its troubles will continue until this practice is abated or eliminated.

Wool Carryover Lower

Stocks of raw wool in the United States at the beginning of the new wool season on April 1, 1932 apparently were much smaller than at that time last year. The increase of 22 million pounds in domestic production in 1931 was offset by a decline in imports of combing and clothing wool. The increase of 20 per cent in reported consumption thus served to reduce the heavy stocks of wool available at the beginning of the 1931 season.—Summary of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Color Changes in Cloth

One of the favorable trends to help wool cloth consumption is the start to put more color in fabrics. To some extent, this is being helped by to determine public acceptance quarters. Mills are watching eagerly to determine public acceptance of new designs. Light to medium shades have so far been given precedence in initial tropical worsted and summer fabric orders.

Men's Wear

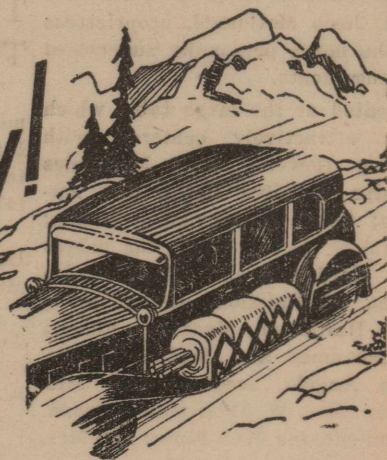

The men's wear market continues stagnant, but with a slightly better feeling existing in general business conditions the future seems a little brighter. A restoration of something that resembles confidence in the future, and a fairly good assurance that Mr. Prospective Customer is likely to hold his job for the coming year, would be just the needed stimulant to set the wheels of activity in this line into motion. The past month has seen the outlook the darkest yet, with every line painting the picture as dark as possible.

Goods Market Likely to Open Soon

While up to now little returns have been forthcoming from the goods market where fall openings have been given a cold welcome, reports from those best in a position to size up the situation state that sooner or later manufacturers will have to buy yarns in spite of conditions in New York. April has always been a month of uncertain-

GRADUATION marks the termination of the first great campaign in the lives of young people. It seemingly culminates the efforts of years, and marks a high goal. Yet graduation and commencement within themselves do not constitute half of the achievement which will later come to the young people of Sonora, and other American towns; it is what they do after graduation, after they are thrown into the world of real affairs that counts. It is the sincere hope of all that the members of the graduating class this year will be blessed with success and happiness in their future careers, no matter what may be their course.

leaving $25,000,000 for new highway construction.

Proponents of the plan state that would not stop new construction, but would afford much needed aid to over-burdened counties. Its opponents come from counties which had not voted bonds, and have yet to make plans for permanent highway improvement.

Sutton county, with all roads either improved or definitely planned, would stand to gain an enormous annual saving, local observers say. It is estimated that such a plan would cut county taxes virtually in half.

The Lions Club was entertained Monday by several selections played by the Sonora High School orchestra, directed by Henri Rogers. At the conclusion of the music the club voted its thanks to the orchestra for its co-operation in playing for special events during the year.

The program committee for next week was named as follows: George Baker, chairman, J. C. Baker and Raymond Barker.

Mrs. E. F. Vander Stucken reported that some 79 books have been added to the library.

Mrs. Fields, outgoing club treasurer, made a good financial report.

Mrs. J. H. Brasher, librarian, reported that about 811 books were read by frequenters of the library during the year, according to records. On January 26, she said, 60 books were taken out, and on another day, 62, demonstrating the popularity of the library.

Mrs. Britt was commended by Mrs. Caldwell for her meritorious work with kindergarten children.

Mrs. George Baker, chairman of the program committee, presented three optional program outlines to be voted upon by the club for next year. A program of contemporary events was chosen by acclamation. A sum of money was set aside for the purchase of year books.

SAVE FOR A PURPOSE

There are so many things for which you can save, if you feel that you must save for a purpose other than independence in the future; a home, an automobile, travel, education, new furniture, clothes, in fact saving will get you all the things that make life worth living. When you have a goal to save for it makes it worth saving. Select your pet ambition and save now for its realization.
