

Sonora-Del Rio Mail Service Will Be More Direct

Postoffice Receipts Here For Last Three Months Show Substantial Gain

The business done at the Sonora postoffice during July, August and September exceeded by $167.05 the business done during the same months last year. The month of September showed a decrease of $31.38 from September, 1934, but business of the other two served to offset that and bring the quarter's business to a total of $1,473.48.

The gain for the quarter was between twelve and thirteen per cent of the 1934 quarter's "sales volume."

More direct mail service between Sonora and Del Rio will be a reality after November 1, according to an order received by T. C. Murray, postmaster, this week.

The new route, a 97-mile one, will be by way of Rocksprings, Carta Valley, Vinegarona and the Fred Earwood Ranch.

Mail will be dispatched out of the Sonora office each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1:30 each afternoon. The trip to the border city will be made by Rocksprings. On the same days the mail will leave Del Rio for Sonora at 8 o'clock in the morning.

John A. Johnson who has been carrying the mail from here to Rocksprings will be out of the service as a result of the new arrangement. C. E. Hocker who has been carrying the mail between Rocksprings and Del Rio will have the new "circuit" which is expected to be a real improvement on the old route.

Heretofore first-class mail between here and Del Rio has been transported by way of San Antonio. Papers and parcel post matter have been going and coming by way of San Angelo. Under the new service arrangement package mail (parcel post), papers and first-class will all be transported directly between here and Del Rio.

Funeral at Baptist Church Wednesday For Mrs. Turney

Death of Mother of Three Sonora People Comes Only Short Time After Husband's

The Rev. Frank Nixon and members of the Order of the Eastern Star Wednesday afternoon conducted the funeral of Mrs. Lucenda Mahala Turney, 62, who died at 11:30 Tuesday night at her home in Del Rio.

Mrs. Turney's husband, Valrus J., pioneer ranchman and cattleman of this and the Juno sections, died March 8, just six months ago. Mrs. Turney has been ill at the home of her son, Paul, in Sutton county and in Del Rio quite a bit of the time since her husband's death.

Born in Bandera county March 31, 1873, Mrs. Turney, the daughter of the late Judge Gobble of Val Verde county, came to Val Verde county with her parents when she was only twelve. Eight years later she was married to Mr. Turney who had come to this section from Coryell county. They were married at Comstock where she joined the Baptist Church. Her church membership at the time of her death was with the Baptist denomination in Del Rio.

About 1904 the Turneys moved to ranch property on Dry Devil's River, in the Juno section, where Mr. Turney operated a number of ranches in association with his brother, C. T. Turney. About twelve years ago Mr. Turney retired and he and Mrs. Turney moved to Del Rio where they have lived since that time.

Three children, all of Sutton county, survive her as do four sisters, four brothers and six grandchildren. They are:

Paul Turney, Mrs. Thomas Espey, Mrs. J. S. Glasscock;

Mrs. Carrie Brown, Scotland, Texas; Mrs. Amon Billings, Globe, Ariz.; Mrs. Bertha Westfall, Ozark

Ranchmen Want U.S. Blowfly Work Done in S. W. Section

Recent Resolution of Association Suggests Experiment Station For Laboratory

Ways and means of establishing a laboratory in this section to combat the blowfly evil, estimated to have caused as much as fifteen per cent loss in sheep flocks this last summer, were discussed at the Ranch Experiment Station Saturday.

The nucleus of the group in the conference at the Station was the committee appointed by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association to consider the problem and means of solving it. Meeting with the association's group were Dr. I. B. Boughton, veterinarian at the Station, O. G. Babcock of Sonora, entomologist, W. H. Dameron, Station superintendent, and J. B. Kidd of Uvalde, county agent and representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The association's committee is made up of J. A. Whitten of Eldorado, Roy Hudspeth of Sonora, Charles C. Canon of the Sheffield section.

Confer With Congressman
It is hoped that the Bureau of Entomology of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will establish headquarters for its battle against the blowfly somewhere in the southwestern United States. In San Angelo Wednesday G. W. Cunningham, secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, Mr. Whitten and Mr. Hudspeth conferred with Charles L. South, representative in Congress, regarding the matter.

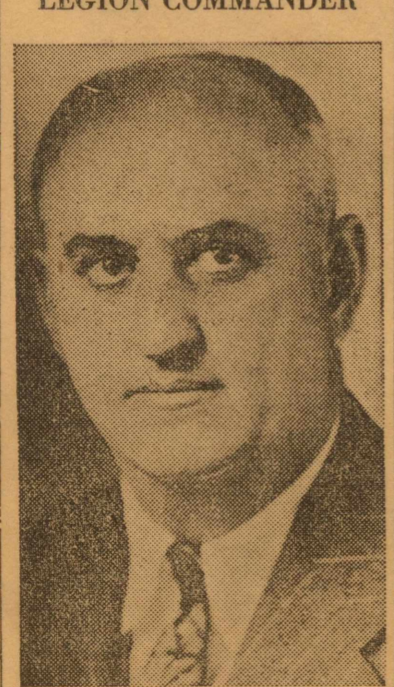

At the recent quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the association in Ozona a resolution was adopted requesting the Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Dr. F. C. Bishopp of the U. S. D. A. in this manner:

".....to assign forthwith entomologists to the Experiment Station of the state of Texas, in Sutton county, Texas, or any other place in Texas which may be deemed advisable, for the purpose of studying the habits and life cycle of the blowfly, to the end that some plan for the control and eradication, so far as is practicable, be submitted to the ranchmen of Texas as soon as possible."

Work Would Begin in 1936
Southern California, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas have been suggested as states making up a territory which might better be

Quoting the "Kingfish": "Yo' sho' nuff got malice in yo' heart, honey"

The picture above and the following story is printed by special permission of NEWS-DOM. It relates of the gruff, yet human, side of the late national character Huey Long, Senator from Louisiana.

To 22-year-old Cleanthe Carr, Huey Pierce Long was just a big, overgrown boy who loved to "give 'em hell," whose greatest ambition in life was to write successful books.

"Honey, I'd rather write this book than really be President," he solemnly assured her one day. "I got a heap more fun out of it, and it ain't near as much bother!"

He was referring to his latest book, "My First Days in the White House," an imaginary biography which he never lived to realize. Cleanthe, pretty, petite, was the illustrator.

She met the Kingfish on his last visit to New York, in a night club, where he was sitting with Phil Baker and a number of other friends. He was interested in a caricature she had done for him and insisted on going to her studio at 52 W. 58th street to see it.

"Yo' sho' nuff got malice in yo' heart, honey," said the big wolf to a very trembly little Red Riding Hood.

It was a typical caricature of the Kingfish—cavernous mouth agape.

Father of Mrs. O. L. Richardson Buried

Charles Simon, Ranchman, Lived in Roosevelt Section

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon for Charles Simon, 73, father of Mrs. O. L. Richardson, who died Tuesday at his ranch home twenty-two miles northwest of Junction.

Mr. Simon had lived in the Roosevelt section for the thirty-one years since he came from Mason county where he was born and reared. He had been in poor health for more than a year but had been ledfast only thirteen days.

In addition to Mrs. Simon and the daughter living here, he is survived by four children—Mrs. E. A. Eode, former Sonora teacher, now of Junction, Ben Simon of Roosevelt, Herbert Simon and Emmett Simon, both of Junction. Two brothers, Frank and Henry, both of Mason, also survive.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Emmett B. Hill, pastor of the Methodist Church at Junction, to which Mr. Simon belonged, and the Rev. Mr. Dickey, Presbyterian pastor at Junction.

Burial was in the cemetery in the Copperas community.

HEAD INJURY SUSTAINED BY R. L. ALLENS' BABY

When the door of the family car, a coach type, came open Wednesday morning as the family group was coming to Sonora, Howard Ray Allen, 2½-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Allen of Station A, fell from the car and suffered a compound fracture of the right side of the skull.

It was reported in Sonora Thursday noon that the child was doing nicely in a San Angelo hospital where he was taken.

The accident happened while Mr. and Mrs. Allen and their children were driving from the Station to the highway to Sonora. The Allen have two other children, one slightly older than the injured one and the other a baby only a few weeks old.

Mr. Allen is a telegraph operator for the Humble Pipeline Co. at the Station.

and "outs" of correct driving of Graphic presentation of the "ins" automobiles "for safety's sake" was given Tuesday noon as Sonora Lions club members studied a chart of traffic problems and the correct way of approaching them.

W. J. Fields of the program committee introduced the subject of safety as a continuation of the subject discussed at the luncheon last week. C. H. Carson explained a chart which was produced by the Automotive Business Magazine of New York City.

Jay walking and the crossing of the street diagonally from the Corner Drug Store to the Magnolia Service Station were cited as the two outstanding evils committed by Sonora pedestrians.

Loading Pens Constructed
W. R. Cusenbary, vice-president of the club, commented that a recognition of the other fellow's rights was after all the basis of real safety practice. As he expressed it: "the best safety measure lies within each one of us."

Badly needed loading chutes at the Sonora stock yards have been built this week under the supervision of J. M. Puckett. Mr. Puckett, when called upon, told of the construction. Material was donated by the Sonora Wool and Mohair Co. and the following truckmen did the work: A. B. Shoemaker, Bert Swails, A. F. Kasper, W. W. Green, Claude Frater.

Mr. Puckett also told of plans of his boys' and girls' committee to cooperate with other organizations in furnishing hot lunches for school children when the weather demands such nourishment for the children.

Letters of Appreciation Ordered
A proposal was made that the Lions Club join with the Parent-Teacher Association in an entertainment program to secure funds for the school lunch work. Each organization, it has been suggested, would be responsible for one

Eagles of Eldorado and Sonora Eleven To Play Saturday

Defense of Bronchos in Game at Rocksprings Saturday Was Improved

When the Mertzon Eagles swoop into Sonora Saturday afternoon to battle the Sonora Bronchos in the first 1935 conference tilt for each team they will find a Sonora eleven smarting from a 31 to 0 Rocksprings victory and determined that victory shall be theirs.

Sonora players will be equipped for the first time with blocking pads which will protect them from injury in playing. The pads were bought this week by Coach O. P. Adams with money secured from the sale of spaces in a program for the Eldorado and Rocksprings games here. Rocksprings plays here November 2.

Defense Showing Better

expected to perform capably against their Eldorado foes. Eldorado lost recently to the San Angelo Kittens, 10 to 12, but beat Miles by a top-heavy 45 to 0 score Saturday.

Pass defense of the Sonora team is stronger, too, according to Coach Adams who said this week that Rocksprings completed only one pass Saturday while the Sonora boys completed a number with Archer on the throwing end.

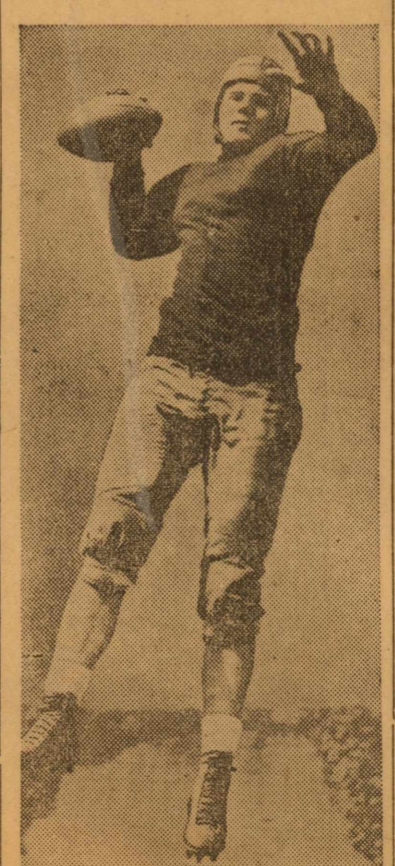

Rocksprings' first two touchdowns came in the first half of the game Saturday as a result of a punt fumbled by Sonora on their own 26-yard line and the interception of a pass by Rocksprings on the 30-yard line which paved the way for a sprint across the goal line.

Sonora opened the second half with a running and passing attack which took them 70 yards down the field before a Rocksprings player got the ball from Roueche who had received it on a pass. By this time in the game Sonora was without the services of Brantley, fullback, and F. Archer, halfback, who were out on account of injuries.

Highlights of the game were the

Ranchmen Expect To Hire Officer For Work in Sutton

Meeting Saturday Afternoon Will Result in Completion of Plans For Employment

At four tomorrow afternoon at the First National Bank Sutton county ranchmen will in all likelihood complete plans for the hiring of a special ranger to protect Sutton county ranch property.

The man who will be hired for the work will be selected at the meeting and will begin work at once. It will be his duty to keep watch in Sutton county for thieves and stolen property, particularly dead wool, livestock and wood. Violators of game laws will also be sought by the officer.

W. J. Fields, Jr., said Wednesday morning that thirty ranchmen and ranch firms had agreed to pay a total of $173 a month for at least twelve months for the hiring of the special officer who would hold a ranger's commission as authority for his action. It is believed, Mr. Fields said, that additional signers to the cooperative agreement will be secured before the meeting tomorrow.

Two hundred dollars a month is necessary for the work, Mr. Fields stated.

The agreement which contributors to the fund are signing refers to the officer as a "livestock inspector." At one time previously, Mr. Fields said, plans were made for the employing of a man in the county for such work but the proposition was never carried through to completion. A number of other counties, including Reagan of which Big Lake is the county seat, have such employees to aid in stopping thefts of various sorts from ranch property.

Other land owners or ranch operators who have not been seen by Mr. Fields are urged to see him before the meeting Saturday. Those who had signed by Wednesday morning were:

W. A. Miers and Son, L. W. Elliott, Bryan Hunt, J. N. Ross, Joe M. Vander Stucken, John Fields, W. J. Fields, W. J. Wilkinson, Ciara Allison, L. R. Barker, Mrs. J. A. Ward and Son, Espy and Vander Stucken, Fred Simmons, Frank Bond, J. M. Puckett, Virgil Powell, Tom Bond, B. M. Halbert and Son, C. O. Ridley, Jim Chadwick, Cauthorn Bros., Sam Allison, B. H. Cusenbary, Alfred Schwiening, Mrs. W. D. Wallace and Sons, W. R. Cusenbary, David Locklin, Ben Meckel.

Two Lions, Editors of Club's Bulletin

Two-page Publication Tells of Work of Local Civic Organization

Two legal size pages of material regarding the activities of the Sonora Lions Club were distributed to members of the club at a recent meeting of the organization.

Under the heading "What Sonora Lions Are Up To"—They Did—They're Doing—They'll Do," the editors, Hillman Brown and Preston C. Lightfoot, were able to secure a varied type of material for the issue, the first of a monthly series. Among the articles are:

"Be Committee Conscious," by John Eaton, club president, who declares that the slogan of his administration is "Be Committee Conscious"; "Report From Our District Governor," by H. V. Stokes; "History of the Sonora Lions Club," by W. C. Gilmore.

An "editorial," from the Athens Daily Times, Athens, Ga., "What Is a Lions Club," points out that it is not a chamber of commerce, is not a charitable institution and is not a social service organization. The editorial is concluded with a statement of the objects of the Lions Club movement.

At the bottom of the first page is a space paid for by the business house of a member of the club.

U. S. LEADS EUROPE WITH FLYING BOATS

Foreign Manufacturers Use Subsidies to Catch Up.

Washington.—Backed by large government subsidies aircraft factories in Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy are busily at work on huge flying boats aimed at catching up in the race for over-ocean trade routes of the air which the American system, Pan American Airways, now dominates. There is rivalry between the European countries themselves, but all are bent upon a race with American aviation in the field of over-seas flying in which the big Clipper ships constructed in this country are now far in the van.

Few details of specifications on foreign boats have been allowed to leak through the cordon of military secrecy. Those craft that have reached the flying stage, however, have fallen far below the performance of the American ships. Great Britain, for example, started the testing of the first of her four-engined flying boats of new construction on a flight by easy stages from Plymouth to Singapore. Preliminary test flights of the Short Brothers craft showed that in efficiency it did not compare with the Sikorsky and Martin Clippers built here.

New Boats for England.

Construction has therefore been begun by the air ministry for Imperial Airways of two six-engined, 35-ton flying boats for the domination of the transatlantic route to America. One of these ships is being built by Short Brothers and the other by Blackburn Ltd.

The French have had preliminary hard luck with the first of their ocean-going giants to be flown, the 37-ton Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris. Powered with six 980-horsepower engines, this boat was constructed inland and then hauled to the sea in order to better preserve the secrets of its construction details and spring a surprise when it went into service for Air France.

The Pan American Clipper has twice crossed the Pacific, 2,410 miles between California and Hawaii at an average speed of 136 miles an hour and had sufficient gasoline in the tanks at either end for an additional 800 miles.

While the first of the three big Martin boats being built at Baltimore for the American airline weighs 26 tons as against the 37 of the Vaisseau Paris, it can carry as great a passenger, mail and express load over ranges of 2,000 miles and transport them nearly 50 miles an hour faster and at one-third of the estimated cost per mile. The Martin, which will have speed trials in the next week or so, has already made 180 miles an hour in tests over Chesapeake bay.

Italy Holds Speed Records.

Details of Germany's Dornier Wal boats for the South Atlantic service, except those comparatively small types which have been using the steamer Westfalen as a mid-ocean base, are unavailable here. Little more about Italy's big boats is available. It is known, however, that within the past year Premier Mussolini welded into one operating unit, government owned, all operating airlines under the Italian flag for the acknowledged purpose of a unified drive for a dominant place in the 300,000 miles of organized airways which now link the outposts of the world.

Under the impetus of this move Italy has already achieved world's records for aircraft speed and distance. The lessons learned from the smaller aircraft making these records are said to be incorporated in long-range flying boats now under construction. Two of them are four-engined of 3,000 horsepower each.

Old Lifeguard of Seine Rescues More Than 100

Paris.—Paris nearly lost one of its remaining picturesque characters recently when Father Chartier, as every one calls him, caught a cramp and nearly drowned in the Seine.

Father Chartier is Paris' unofficial lifeguard. All passers who have occasion to cross the Pont St. Michel regularly know his little boat, moored to its quays. It carries a blue pennant on the one small mast, with the white lettering, "Volunteer Lifeguard."

Life saving is Father Chartier's hobby. He has actually rescued from the treacherous and swiftly flowing waters of the Seine more than 100 persons. He has 40 life saving medals. He made his first rescue when he was thirteen. That makes 49 years he has been a life saver. He is sixty-two now.

Great Britain Plans to Give Sultan Gold Sword

Singapore.—A golden sword is to be presented to the Sultan of Johore by the British government as a birthday present in September. Johore is celebrating the sultan's sixty-second birthday and also the fortieth year of his reign. The sultan's gift of $2,500,000 on the occasion of his majesty's silver jubilee for accelerating the defense of Singapore created interest throughout the British empire.

Some of the subjects that will be discussed during the meeting are: Mental hygiene, nursing service to schools and communities, immunization of children, control of communicable diseases, laboratory tests for disease as well as testing of water and milk, sanitation and sewage supplies.

The meeting this year is of great importance as many health features enter into the Social Security Bill; these will affect the entire state when money with which to carry it out is appropriated. The state-wide malaria and sanitation program will be described and other subjects of timely interest will be given.

In addition to the attorney-general, other speakers on the program include Dr. W. K. Sharp, Jr., U. S. Public Health Service; Dr. C. P. Coogle, malariologist, U. S. Public Health Service; Dr. H. R. Farm Income in 34 States Shows Gain

In Western States Crop Revenue Loss Offset By Livestock

Washington, Oct. 9.—Farmers in thirty-four states had larger cash receipts from sales of principal farm products plus rental and benefit payments in the first seven months of this year than in the same period in 1934, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

States showing decreases are Maine, North Dakota, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona.

The total for the seven months period was $3,313,304,000 against $2,906,341,000 in 1934, and $2,353,265,000 in 1933.

The figures cover thirty-three leading farm products. The total for July, 1935 was $461,361,000 against $508,972,000 in July, 1934, and $457,876,000 in July, 1933. Only the North Atlantic States, as a group, showed gains this July as compared with last.

In the South Central States, it is reported that despite large shipments of cattle, there was a sharp reduction in income from wheat, cotton and potatoes, and total receipts were 21 per cent less than in July last year. Receipts in the first seven months of 1935 were 3 per cent above a year ago.

In the Western States, a decline of 13 per cent in receipts from farm crops was offset by a 15 per cent increase in receipts from livestock items. For seven months, receipts were 12 per cent more than 1934 and 54 per cent above the low point in 1933.

SKETCHES OF PILGRIMS OF CHAUCER'S TIME SHOWN

Twelve pencil sketches of a student's interpretation of characters in Chaucer's writings, on display at the Corner Drug Store, are the work of Curt Schwiening, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schwiening.

Young Schwiening is a high school English pupil, a senior.

Caption material under each sketch of a pilgrim mentioned in "The Canterbury Tales" is in the peculiar English of the time of Geoffrey Chaucer, English poet, who lived from 1340 to 1400. Chaucer is known as "the father of English poetry."

The Teacher's Ethics

There came to hand recently a code with the title "Ethics of the Teaching Profession." It is a product of the National Education Association, and deserving of careful study, not only by teachers but parents and school board members.

I note that the teacher is expected to be "impartial, just and professional." And I am happy to say that most of them are. Many of the others would be, if they were not cornered by favor-seeking parents of influence.

"Partisan politics, personal gain, and selfish propaganda" are taboo, and rightly so. Instead, the code emphasizes qualifications, worthiness and professional growth as standards by which to measure a teacher's right to promotion. It's the familiar battle cry over again. "It's what you DO that counts, not what you or your political friends say."

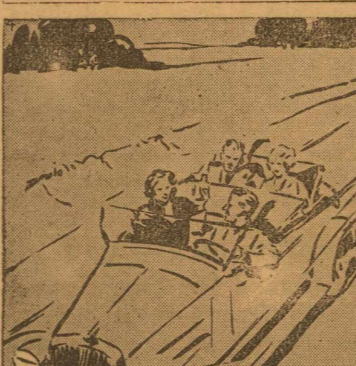

With special pleasure, I read that "intelligent cooperation between the home and school" is urged. When we realize that aim, we will have the great school we like to talk about. Teamwork between parent and teacher is the missing link in education, missing but not unknown.

One provision of the code I wish to quote in full, for my words would not do it justice. It is this, "A teacher's own life should show that education does ennoble."

The success which the American public school enjoys is a tribute to the teachers who live by that rule.

TRAFFIC
TIPS

by the NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

BOOZE TAKES THE WHEEL

The American people have okeh'd liquor, saying in effect: "Drink if you want to." But the trouble is many drivers take it as a command instead of an optional privilege.

Police reports show that in American cities during the first year following repeal, drunken driving accidents increased quite generally throughout the country, and that liquor is involved in from seven to 10 per cent of all traffic accidents today.

Now that's an indictment which can't be laughed off as just another quaint outlet for the exuberance of the drinking gent.

Alcohol inspires a false sense of confidence and security. After a few shots the drinking driver becomes, in his befuddled estimation, the perfect pilot. So away he goes, hell-bent on wheels!

Unbiased medical authorities tell us that a man is not sober just because he can walk and talk. Alcohol starts at the top of the mind and hits judgment first. And certainly if ever a man needs judgment it is when he is driving a motor car.

Poland's New Liner at New York

A new transatlantic liner, the Pilsudski, built especially for the moderate-income group and designed for complete ship-board democracy, made its maiden voyage to New York from Gdynia, Poland, recently. It is the first liner to be built by Poland since it regained its independence and built its own port at Gdynia. The photograph shows the Pilsudski arriving in New York harbor five hours ahead of her schedule.

Lights of New York
By L. L. STEVENSON

Around Flushing, L. I., which is a part of the city of New York, there are about 35 miles of bridle trails. So that section is exceedingly popular with those who are in favor of horseback riding. Recently two rather well known, and somewhat stout, women went out for an afternoon canter. After some time one of them became convinced that they had been given broncos and that to continue farther might be dangerous. She expressed her fears to her companion who promptly agreed. The two horses were tied to a tree and the two women walked back to the riding academy. There they explained what they had done, but were unable to tell where they had left their mounts. A search was started at once, but it was a day and a half before the horses were found. If they hadn't been tied they would have made their own way home before the riders got there.

The recent Broadway visit of Mrs. Vernon Castle McLaughlin caused old timers to hark back to the days when she and her first husband, Vernon Castle, caused New York to become really dance conscious, though tea dansants did not take society by storm until they were sponsored by Mrs. S. Stanwood Menken. But at any rate, once started, the tea dansants at the fashionable hotels attracted the fashionables in great numbers. Those were the days when youth did not have its present freedom, so at the hotel dances there were as many chaperons as dancers, the walls being lined with stiff dowagers keeping sharp eyes on the young folks as they did the bunny hug, the turkey trot and other popular numbers of the period.

Despite the vigilance of the chaperons—as a matter of fact because of the chaperons—many of the debs and sub-debs danced with those not in the social register. In those days, there were no stag lines, so frequently there was a lack of men. When that happened, the dowagers went shopping—but not for ordinary department store wares. Their quest was always successful since when the craze got under way, the big department stores issued orders that floor walkers and men clerks had to learn to dance—a form of customer service that resulted in many employees spending afternoons on dance floors instead of behind counters.

A youngster, fresh from the wide open spaces, found himself in a cafeteria for the first time in his life. He was lost until informed that he had to get a tray, napkin, silverware, etc., then go to the counters, select the food he desired, carry it to a table and pay his check on the way out. When he had finished eating, he hurried to the cashier's cage, laid the check and exact amount on the counter and ran. A short distance away, he met a friend and told him what had happened. "But I am lucky," he said, "I got away without having to wash the dishes."

Ruth Weston, who plays the part of the hare-lipped girl in "Tobacco Road," has an extensive library dealing with that congenital affliction. She began acquiring books on hare-lip as soon as she was given the part, supplementing her reading with visits to hospitals and clinics. Then in order to speak correctly, she listened to phonograph records made by physicians who treat such cases. But in all her investigations she never questioned a hare-lipped person, her fear being that she would cause embarrassment.

City Buys St. Bernard as Guard for Dog Pound

Oakland, Calif.—The city of Oakland claims to be the only municipality that officially owns a dog. She is "Babe," 100-pound St. Bernard, who wandered to the pound, and although sold four times, always returned. The last time she was purchased by the pound as a watch dog.

Magpies Slaughtered
Boise, Idaho.—The state game department ended a 30-day drive to exterminate magpies, with an estimated death roll of 150,000 birds.

Captain Hates Sea; Colonel Loves It

Honolulu.—The "captain hates the sea" perhaps but the colonel loves it. Referring, of course, to Col. George C. Patton of the United States army who, when he was ordered to Hawaii for duty, purchased the 51-foot yacht Arcturus and sailed it to the islands from California.

Colonel Patton navigated the two-masted schooner-rigged craft from San Pedro to Hilo, island of Hawaii, in 15 days. The 200 mile voyage from there to Honolulu took almost as long, as the officer stopped on the island of Maui to buy a string of polo ponies. On a previous tour of duty here the colonel was stationed at Schofield barracks, largest army post in the United States.

ROBY MEN'S CAR BADLY DAMAGED HERE SATURDAY

Failure to take the corner at the R. A. Halbert residence on the Del Rio highway resulted in serious damage to the car of Carl Fowler, young man of Roby, Texas, at 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

Fowler and his companion told Beal Freeman, night watchman who investigated the accident, that they were on their way to Del Rio. The fenders of the sedan in which they were riding were badly damaged and the top of the car caved in. They told Mr. Freeman that it had been necessary for them to kick the glass out of one of the doors in order to get out.

After their accident the men decided to return to Roby rather than continue their trip to Del Rio in the damaged automobile.

GIZZARD SERVES CHICKEN AS GOOD FOOD GRINDER

Washington, Oct. 9.—A chicken's gizzard functions primarily as a food grinder. It does little work when fine seed is fed and apparently does practically none of the work of digestion. That is left for the intestines.

Several chickens, whose gizzards were removed in technical studies by the United States Department of Agriculture, thrived almost as well on ground corn as a flock of normal chickens. Whole corn was digested better by chickens with gizzards.

One gizzardless rooster used in experiments started 2½ years ago is alive and healthy.

Quick Testing of Cattle in Wyoming

Work in Large County Done in Forty Days

Washington, Oct. 9.—The testing of more than 36,000 cattle in 1,776 herds of Goshen county, Wyo., in forty days is the recent accomplishment of state and federal veterinarians engaged in tuberculosis-eradication work in Wyoming.

This county was the only one left to be freed of the disease, so that this forty-day clean-up made the entire state a modified accredited area. In testing cattle by the customary method it is necessary for a veterinarian to make an injection of tuberculin into each animal. Three days later he makes an examination to note whether any reaction, which indicates the presence of tuberculosis, has occurred.

Goshen county, which is more than seventy miles long and has an area nearly as large as the entire state of Delaware, is an important cattle-raising county, most of the cattle being raised under semi-range conditions.

Both beef and dairy-cattle owners gave excellent cooperation in the effort to complete the tuberculin testing. The percentage of reactors found was only 0.0028 per cent, which is far below the minimum of 0.5 per cent for modified accreditation.

ETHIOPIA CORRECT NAME, NOT ABYSSINIA

Term Officially Adopted and Used by Powers.

Washington.—One thing Mussolini's pending invasion of the land of Emperor Haile Selassie, promises to accomplish is the use of the correct name of the country. It is Ethiopia, not Abyssinia, although the two have been used synonymously for centuries.

The country and people prefer and use Ethiopia and it is almost identically that in Amharic, their language. Translated it is "Ity-opya."

The reason for the preference is clear. Ethiopia is from the Greek, meaning land of the burnt-face people, and as such was used by earlier classical Greek writers to refer to all lands inhabited by dark-faced or black people. The Ethiopians are dark-skinned, their complexions ranging from olive to brown, chocolate and black.

Abyssinia is derived from the Arabic word "Habesha," which means confusion and has come to connote, as the Arabs use it with reference to Abyssinia, mongrel.

Historically, however, apart from the differences in meanings, there are reasons for the use of Ethiopia. The people of that country settled there some thousands of years before Christ, racially being Cushites, that is, members of the Ethiopian branch of the Hamitic race. Their country was known in Biblical times as the Land of Kush. Among the earliest of Christians, they belong to the Monophysite branch of the Christian church.

When the early scholars translated the Bible from the Greek into Ethiopic, the name Ethiopian was definitely given the people and the Hebrew word Kush was translated Ethiopia.

In 1926, on the recommendation of the Department of State, the United States geographic board formally adopted the term Ethiopia and it is now invariably used by the United States government. The name is true of Great Britain and it is the usage employed in the French texts of treaties between Great Britain and Ethiopia. The same usage is employed in the Universal Postal convention signed in 1920.

Survey Reveals Divorce Is Unpopular in Spain

Barcelona.—Divorce in Spain is not accepted by the masses of the people, according to a survey by the newspaper La Vanguardia, despite the fact that laws making it legal became effective three years ago.

"It is apparent," says the newspaper, "that the social body has rejected divorce and refused to incorporate it into the social customs of the country, which remain untainted by it."

"The rejection has been clear and decisive. Although thousands of divorces have been granted in Spain during these years, the majority of them have been mere legalizations of separations already in effect, or of other de facto situations which exist upon the promulgation of the law. Soon after the statute became effective there was a veritable deluge of divorce petitions, but since then the number of suits brought to the attention of the courts has diminished considerably.

"Ordinarily it is custom which generates the law, and the law-maker merely gives legal force to such customs. But in Spain an attempt has been made to proceed inversely by establishing divorce, which was never desired by the social body or sanctioned by custom."

Get Cheap Electricity by Capturing Sun Rays

French Lick Springs, Ind.—Dirt cheap electrical power, derived from the sun, will make the utility holding company issue obsolete within the next few years, Albert G. Burns, president of the Congress of National Inventors, said here.

This power will become so cheap that utility holding companies will die of uselessness, according to Burns.

Experiments now being made by the New York Society of Electrical Engineers to harness the sun's power soon will place 200,000,000 volts of electrical energy at man's disposal daily, Burns asserted.

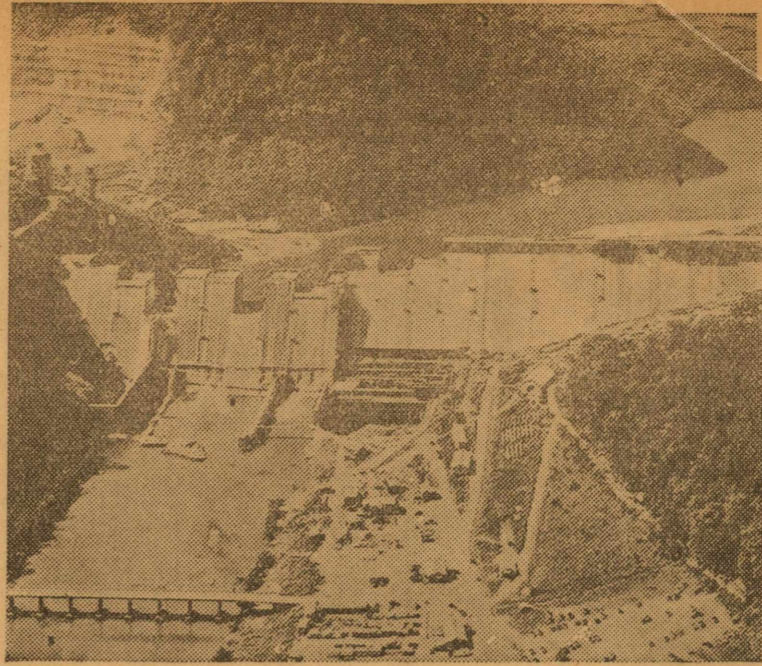

Outlining an alluring future, Burns continued:

"Transmission of these huge volumes of power without the use of transmission lines is being perfected and will be in common use within a few years. Already great electrical charges have been thrown for 26 miles."

Will A. Miers, the Edwards county sheepman, was in Sonora this week. Will says he found out that it pays to water sheep at a tank—not from troughs with cold water running into them as has been done formerly. His observation has taught him that all sheep want to drink at the place where fresh water runs in.

In speaking recently of the blowfly problem Judge Whitten said:

"The problem is one of the most serious ever to confront the stockmen of this state. Several years ago the association had the stomach worm problem to deal with and it and the soremouth problem have been solved to a large extent. "If this association can do something to aid the sheepmen in controlling the blowfly, if it can solve this problem, then it need never do anything else. It would certainly have achieved a praiseworthy position in the eyes of the stockmen."

ANCIENT SKULL IS FOUND IN NEBRASKA

Said to Prove Antiquity of Man in America.

Washington—The "second cousins" of the famous Neanderthal men—those half-ape, half-human beings that preceded mankind in Europe—once may have roamed the Nebraska plains.

After an exhaustive study of an Indian skull fragment found in the midwest state, Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian institution, said it had decided Neanderthal characteristics, although obviously of fairly recent origin.

The fragment was discovered by Earl H. Bell of the University of Nebraska while excavating in a large mound of undetermined age near the site of a prehistoric Indian village.

The skull fragment coupled with the recently found Folsom arrowhead points proves conclusively that the America before Columbus extended back for thousands if not tens of thousands of years. The Folsom points are distinctly American in character and date from the early glacier periods approximately the same time as that of the skull fragment.

Doctor Hrdlicka found that the skull fragment had belonged to a middle-aged male Indian and was normal except in one abnormality. It had large bony ridges over the eyes, one of the prominent characteristics of the true Neanderthal skull and those of great apes. These ridges have virtually degenerated in modern mankind.

In the Nebraska Indian skull the ridges were pronounced and about half as prominent as those of the Neanderthal as compared with modern man, the anthropologist said.

Doctor Hrdlicka stressed that the skull did not indicate that Neanderthal men actually lived in America, but rather that there was some sort of ancestral connection between prehistoric Americans and Neanderthals somewhat outside America.

"We are justified in regarding such occurrences as reminiscences, more or less, or early stages in the evolution of the human skull, but not as uninterrupted connections and especially not as a safe index of the antiquity of the specimens that show such characters," Doctor Hrdlicka wrote in a report on the skull for the American Journal of Physical Anthropology.

Finds Fingerprints of Ape Like Man's

Melbourne. — When monkeys and an ape in the Melbourne zoo had their fingerprints taken by Detective L. H. Thomas, fingerprint expert, he found at first glance not even an expert could tell the difference between prints made by an ape or a large monkey and the fingerprints of a man. All the human loops, whorls and bifurcations were there and each print could be classified in exactly the same way as a set of human fingerprints.
