Weaver Baker Hired As Attorney For TSGR Association

Directors of Stockmen's Group Transact Great Deal of Business Saturday

Deploing in positive manner the numerous thefts of ranchmen's property recently, sixty-five members of the board of directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Saturday decided in Sonora that the organization should make diligent efforts to prosecute offenders of the law.

Weaver Baker, vice-president of the association and district attorney in this section, was retained as attorney for the organization and will assist in the prosecution of theft cases.

Many Indictments in Mason Mr. Baker described the conditions related to the recent live-

Ten new active members and four associate have been announced by G. W. Cunningham, secretary, TSGRA. All of these were received during the month of January, Mr. Cunningham stated. The new members of the association are:

Growers: Miss Clara Allison, L. W. Elliott, H. West Evans, Sonora; Mrs. Fred Baker, C. C. McBurnett, Guinn Williams, San Angelo; E. H. Chandler, Ozona; Jim Lindsay, Comstock; C. O. Ridley & Sons, Dryden; H. I. Sims & Son, Miles.

Associate: Hotel McDonald, Gilmore Hardware Co., The Devil's River News, Sonora; E. D. Wingfield, Freeport Sulphur Co., Houston.

stock theft cases in Mason county, where twenty-six cases have been developed, resulting in the returning of indictments against twenty-four.

"In my own district," Mr. Baker declared, "I believe there have been as many as thirty-five who have suffered livestock thefts during the last two years. There were probably 250 men who came to see the stock rounded up in Mason county. Those men didn't make the trip there for nothing. I estimate that approximately $125,000 worth of livestock has been lost in West Texas during the last six months."

Action Urged By Many Expressions of opinion, couched in very definite language, were made by a number of the directors. Mr. Baker was authorized to secure other attorneys to assist him if he felt that it were necessary at any time. Among those who spoke were: Roy E. Aldwell, Sonora; Ab Mayer, San Angelo; E. S. Mayer, San Angelo; Adolph Steiler, Comfort; T. J. Murphy, Barnhart; Price Madox, Marlyneal; H. W. Rieck, Roosevelt.

A vote of thanks was given oficers who have had a part in developing recent livestock theft cases. Three hundred dollars was voted to reimburse those who have paid necessary expenses, not otherwise provided for, in the recent work. The state legislature was petitioned to increase the expense account of the Ranger force to permit it to do more extensive work.

TEACHERS TALK OF THEIR WORK WHILE PUPILS PLAY

Jimmy and Mary and Bill and Servando, enrolled in Sonora schools, are playing today because their teachers are attending a convention of the Mid-West Texas Teachers' Association in San Angelo.

Announcement of the Friday holiday was made early in the week by F. T. Jones, superintendent. At a meeting of the teachers Wednesday it was found that all were planning to go to San Angelo for the meeting. More than 400 West Texas teachers are expected there for the convention.

NEPHEW OF SUTTON MAN NOW STATE LEGISLATOR

Polling a plurality of about 400 over his opponent, Calvin C. Huffman, Albert (Allie) Cauthorn, son of Bob Cauthorn, formerly a Sutton ranchman, Saturday was elected state representative in the 87th legislative district.

Mr. Cauthorn is a nephew of J. A. Cauthorn, Sutton county ranchman.

The district which Mr. Cauthorn will represent is made up of the following counties: Brewster, Terrell, Val Verde, Kinney, Maverick. The special election in which Mr. Cauthorn was chosen was made necessary by the resignation of Stanford Payne of Del Rio who was recently appointed to be in charge of public relations for the state department of health.

YOUNG SCHOOL PUPILS IN 1-ACT PLAY WEDNESDAY

Sixth grade pupils, directed by Miss Rena McQuary, amused their fellow students and a few of their parents Wednesday morning when they presented a one-act play, "Elmer," on the stage of the elementary school auditorium.

Nine pupils and Glenn Richardson's dog had parts in the play which was built around the home life of twin sisters, played by Louise Merriman and Peggy Gilmore, and their brother—a mischievous "all-boy" of a brother—played by Glenn Richardson.

Other children who were in the play were Willie Nell Hale, Jamie Trainer, Mary Gwendolyn Wyatt, Rex Merriman, Mabel Davis and Robert Hamer.

Although the play was given between eight and nine o'clock in the morning the pupils did full justice to chocolate pie and other "sure enough" food placed before them as a family dinner was served by the negro cook, a part played by Jamie Trainer.

SUTTON SHERIFF WHO HAS SERVED MANY YEARS

In a recent issue of the San Angelo Morning Times the above picture of B. W. Hutcherson, Sutton county officer, appeared with a short story, originating in the NEWS office, of his work.

A native of Coryell county, Mr. Hutcherson worked in gins and in railroad construction work as a young man until he lined up with S. E. McKnight, former Sutton county ranchman. He did ranch work for Mr. McKnight before becoming sheriff "nearly ten terms ago." His career in office has been continuous with the exception of one term.

The parents of Mr. Hutcherson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hutcherson, make their home with a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Eubanks, in the Camp Allison neighborhood. His parents have been married more than sixty years.

Known to law violators as well as to law abiding citizens in a wide area of West Texas, "Hutch," as he is familiarly known, has the unique record of almost 100 per cent recovery of automobiles stolen from Sutton citizens. One car was found burned near Rock-springs.

Less Than 4 Per Cent of County's '36 Taxes Unpaid

Voting Poll Taxes Sold Number 522; Car License Plates To Be Sold March 1

Although the Sutton county "voting strength" is much lower this year property owners continued their remarkable record of tax payments, records in the tax collector's office show.

More than 96 per cent of the 1936 tax levy has been collected or will be paid before the first of July, according to Mrs. L. E. Johnson, deputy collector.

Tax collections from October 1, 1936, to February 1, 1937, and including "split payment" money due before June 30, 1937, total $76,547.16. Mrs. Johnson stated that the June 30 payments are included as they are almost always collected in full.

Many Pay Delinquencies During January collections were $45,466.76, including $1,652.23 which was paid on delinquent tax accounts.

Last year the tax collections about this time showed that about 99 per cent of the previous year's levy had been collected.

Five hundred and twenty-two Sutton county residents have a legal right to cast a vote in Sutton county elections this year. In addition to these there are a number of exemptions that have been issued aged people. Last year poll tax payments, entitling holders to vote, numbered between 700 and 800. Although poll tax payments must be made by taxpayers who pay after February 1 they are not given the right to vote as a result of their payment of the poll tax.

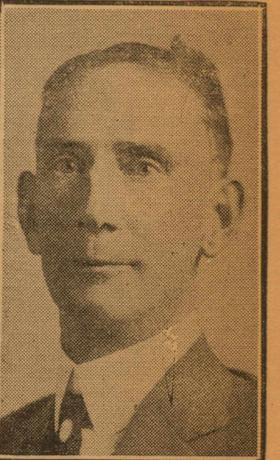

Highway Survey Being Made

License plates for motor vehicles are to be sold March 1 and thereafter, Mrs. Johnson said. During this month she will have an opportunity to get caught up with her collection work and to make preparations for the rush which license-paying time always brings.

When licenses are bought this year each applicant will be asked to answer questions on a stamped card to be returned to the Austin office of the United States Bureau of Public Roads. The information gleaned from the cards is to be used in planning highway facilities in Texas. No signature is required on the card.

Taxpayers paying during the month of February must pay only a one per cent penalty, Mrs. Johnson is emphasizing. The penalty increases each month that the property owner delays his payment.

DALLAS, OREGON, GOATMAN WHO VISITED HERE

When U. S. Grant, nationally known breeder of Angora goats, visited B. M. Halbert and other friends here in this section a few weeks ago he found many changes in Sonora and the "Stockman's Paradise." He had not visited here for about thirty years.

FINISH TWO-YEAR QUEST FOR FIGURE

When Statisticians Find It It Is Just 2.5.

Washington. — Fifty statisticians in search of a figure have finished a two-year quest which carried them through swamps and forests, down into pits and mines, through the din of steel foundries and planing mills, and through more than a million dry-as-dust documents.

And now triumphantly they flaunt their quarry—the figure 2.5. It represents the ratio between indirect and direct employment set forth in the long awaited report of the Department of Labor bureau of labor statistics on the Public Works administration's non-federal program, which is now being studied by Administrator Harold L. Ickes and his aids.

When men are given employment on public works they use materials. To prepare these materials, other men must be put to work. This has always been evident. What baffled economists, government officials, and industrialists was the relationship between these two classes of labor. What they wanted to know was this: for each hour of employment in building operations, how many hours of employment are created in the preparation of materials?

Pursue Long Search.

Two and one-half hours is the answer. This figure was the object of the long search by Department of Labor statisticians marshaled by Herman B. Byer, chief of the bureau's division of employment and public construction.

To obtain this figure—this simple 2.5—Byer's corps of half a hundred statisticians and statistical clerks carried the search into every part of the country, while 40,000 contractors and sub-contractors handling PWA jobs swamped Washington headquarters with monthly reports. More than half a billion dollars worth of material orders were studied. Planning the campaign, Byer and his statistical strategists decided to penetrate the unknowns of the three principal factors in materials preparation—production, fabrication, and transportation.

For raw materials field workers invaded West Virginia mines and Indiana quarries. They interviewed employers of swamp labor in Mississippi and legend famed rough-and-ready lumberjacks of the West coast. Open to them were time sheets and other records, for industry was as much interested in the study as was government.

Checking the second process the statisticians found the co-operation of great steel corporations assisting them in their search. They learned what raw ingredients were required for the finishing of great quantities of materials. They already knew what labor was required to produce these materials. With cost-accounting methods they ascertained employment needed for fabricating finished materials.

Study Transportation.

Then came transportation. Every type of transport — from mules to fast freight — was studied and the findings tabulated. Surveyed were the working hours of engineers, firemen, and brakemen; of truck drivers, muleteers and stevedores.

Searching through records of these three essential processes in materials preparation the researchers found that the expenditure of $539,000,000 for materials needed in the first three years of PWA's non-federal program had created 741,000,000 man-hours of employment in private industry. Compilation of site employment records of contractor and sub-contractors showed total direct employment for the same period amounted to 299,000,000 man-hours. These two figures—741,000,000 and 299,000,000—obtained after diligent search were the basic figures in determining the ratio of 2.5 to 1.

He got as far as the part where the words say, "Yankee Doodle, keep it up," and then sort of lost himself, but it was a good show.

Sammy Baugh's Fame Widespread in United States

Fort Worth, Feb. 10.—"My name is Sylvia So-and so. I live in City-burg, Pa., and I can toss bricks like you flip footballs. Please send me a autographed picture."

This is typical of hundreds of letters and cards received by Slingin' Sam Baugh, T. C. U.'s all-American quarterback.

Not one in a hundred of the requests is accompanied by money to pay for the picture (they cost 50 cents each), or even return postage.

Some of the epistles are from enthusiastic admirers who simply say that they wish to be able to show their friends a letter from Sammy Baugh.

One man, early in December, sent the university a check in payment for ten pictures of Sam.

"If it isn't asking too much, I'd like to have them autographed," he wrote. "I want to give them as Christmas presents to my own youngsters and several of my nephews, all of whom are ardent football fans."

The autographed pictures were furnished.

By far the most widely published picture of Baugh shows him not passing or kicking a football, but strumming a guitar. Or at least he appears to be strumming one.

The picture was posed with Miss Helen Moody, Horned Frog "Band Sweetheart," on the trip to San Francisco for the Santa Clara game. Although the guitar business is obviously a "plant," the picture caught on and has appeared in newspaper rotogravure sections and magazine from coast to coast.

Pupils Given Money For Writing Work in High School

Jimmie Gwynne Langford, Rena Glen Shurley, Joe Nell Miers First, Second, Third

In the essay contest Friday afternoon at the high school assembly program, a committee of teachers made a final decision, declaring Jimmie Gwynne Langford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley McDaniel, winner of the contest.

Honorable mention was given these other students:

Second, Rena Glen Shurley; third, Joe Nell Miers; fourth, Patsy Gilmore; fifth, Myron Morris. As a surprise to the students, F. T. Jones, superintendent, awarded one dollar to Jimmie Gwynne, seventy-five cents and fifty cents to Rena Glen and Joe Nell, respectively. The assembly program was planned by Preston C. Lightfoot, principal.

Roy E. Aldwell spoke on "Thrift," to the high school group. Mr. Aldwell pointed out that the students should keep an expense account and should learn to save money.

The winning essay is printed below: HE KNEW THE MEANING

An old man, nearing the end of life, sat on the curb of a street corner, waiting for a kindly motorist to give him a ride. Tired and footsore from days of tramping, and the scant food he had had to eat, he had sought the curb for rest.

Presently he heard the voices of small boys, and raising his head, he saw three sturdy lads coming from school. As they came nearer, he overheard their conversation.

"Miss Jones said we had to write a theme on 'Thrift'. What does that mean?" asked one of the boys.

"Oh, it means to save money," said an older boy.

"Shucks, I can't write about saving money. I can't write themes anyway," remarked the third.

"Good evening, boys," hailed the old man.

"Howdy," replied the boys, a little startled at the stranger's greeting.

"How is school?" asked the old man.

"Oh, I guess it's all right," replied the largest boy, slowly.

"I overheard you boys talking about 'thrift,' did I not?" asked the old man.

"Yes sir," replied one of the boys. "Our teacher is making us write a theme on it."

"Let an old man, who has learned the meaning of 'thrift' too late in life, give you a little advice," begged the old man.

"Yes sir," replied the boys, a little hesitant, for they would much rather go play ball, than listen to this old man. Rather than be rude, the boys sat down on the curb beside the old fellow.

"My lads, thrift does not mean just the saving of money alone. It means the saving of your time, and the saving of your character by always doing right.

"Once I was a schoolboy like you. I did not like school and idled my time away. Finally, I decided to quit school and run away from home. When I was fourteen years old, I started out in the world.

"I made my way to a city, where I found work as a bootblack in a very poor section of the city. I was associated with the wrong class of people. Men gave me the wrong advice; some even gave me liquor to drink. Pretty soon I was learning to gamble.

"I did not save my money. "As time went on, I became one of the luckiest gamblers in that section of the city. I decided I was too shrewd to work for a living. I could manage better. Sometimes I would have good clothes and money, but most of the time I was broke. At such times I would be despondent, and drink heavily.

"Finally, I met a fellow who wanted me to be his partner in hold-up jobs. At first I hesitated, but later decided I could soon make a fortune—then go away and live comfortably as a respectable citizen. For a time things ran smoothly and I was putting away large sums of money, secretly, which I had stolen. Then came my arrest for bank robbery, and my conviction.

"It took the greater part of my money for my trial. I was sentenced to the penitentiary, where I served forty of my fifty-year sentence.

"Now, I am trying to find shelter, food and clothing, by depending on yard work and the few odd jobs I can do. People are kind to me most of the time, but I know they wonder why I am out in the world alone, tramping at my age. Had I made good use of my time in school, I should never have had the idle desire to roam. I would have saved my good name and character by avoiding bad company.

"Today, I would have had a comfortable home and fireside, had I gone the right road. 'Thrift,' my boys, isn't just saving money. It means saving everything—your life and your happiness. Roosevelt, our president, said, 'If you would be sure to begin right, begin to save!'

The boys bade the old fellow goodbye, thanking him for what he had told them. Filled with pity for this unfortunate old man, they trudged homeward.

"Thrift' is a pretty big word after all," remarked one of the boys.

"Yeah," the others agreed.

HAS JUST BEEN BUILT

It HAS never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1903 . . . more than one-third of all the cars ever built . . . enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value. Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. That is the only reason it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year—more each year than the year before. They have every right to. The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price—with the Beauty, Comfort, Safety and Performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines—the most modern type of power-plant on land, sea, or in the air.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car—and wears the lowest Ford price tag in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford—and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably the quality car in the low-price field.

SUCCESSFUL PROSECUTION OF LAW VIOLATORS A DETERRENT

No one will deny that the thing for which a man has honestly toiled and the fruits of which he expects to enjoy certainly should be his.

The recent "epidemic" of thefts of livestock and other property from Sutton county and other West Texas ranches has brought to public attention forcefully the need of strict enforcement of law and diligent prosecution of offenders of laws which have been violated. The number of indictments which have been executed in a neighboring county of West Texas shows vividly the extent to which law violators have gone in the pursuance of their efforts to acquire that for which someone else has honestly toiled.

It is to be hoped that prosecution of offenders of theft laws be dealt with in a positive, certain manner that will aid greatly in discouraging others from entering into similar practices to secure their means of living.

Whether a man be a ranchman, a storekeeper, a professional man, or one who has earned enough of this world's goods to retire, he is entitled to protection of that which is rightfully his. The hazards of ownership will be directly affected by the success or lack of success which officers and courts have in punishing those who have flagrantly violated the rights of ownership.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and similar organizations are to be commended for any steps that they take in an effort to curb losses of their members and other Texans who are honestly entitled to that which they have acquired.

Sonora Boy Scouts in Stunt Pre-View

Boys and Committee Members
 Guests Tuesday Noon

A pre-view of first aid work which Sonora Boy Scouts will present, in perfected form, March 5 in San Angelo was given Tuesday noon as the program at the noon luncheon of the Lions Club.

Eight Sonora boys will take part in the San Angelo demonstration as the local troop's contribution to the Boy Scout Circus in the municipal auditorium. Troops of the entire Concho Valley Council are to take part, according to Dr. Joel Shelton, Lions Club member who is directing the boys in their preparation of the demonstration.

The boys were directed Tuesday noon by Reggie Trainer, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster. A. W. Awalt, one of the seventeen Boy Scouts who were guests of the club, directed the singing of "Down By the Old Mill Stream" with actions suited to the words.

O. G. Babeock, committee member who is in charge of the boys' work for merit badges, explained their efforts of this sort and their work for advancement in Scouting. "Lion" Web Elliott, honor roll leader in the high school, was presented a club pin to wear six weeks. The presentation was made by John Eaton, immediate past president.

Members of the troop committee, Scoutmaster Awalt, and Assistant Scoutmaster Gilley were introduced by F. T. Jones, chairman of the program committee. A tribute to the work of the committee men was paid by the club president, W. R. Cusenbary.

DRAFT PROGRAM TO BOLSTER SHIPPING

Maritime Group Will Submit Plan to Congress.

Washington.—A broad legislative program, aimed to reinforce the government's program to re-build and stabilize the American merchant marine, is being drafted by the maritime commission.

It contemplates:
 1. Six months' extension of the time limit for termination of ocean mail contracts which is now set for next June 30.
 2. Authority to act as a board of mediation in ship labor disputes.
 3. Amendment of present act to give commission jurisdiction over contracts affecting shore labor.
 4. Transfer of the bureau of marine inspection and navigation from the Department of Commerce to the commission.
 5. Clarification of present act regarding construction of differential subsidies.

In addition the commission will report to congress on the advisability of providing a federal subsidy for construction and operation of dirigibles for transatlantic service. Though the Commerce department has recommended this, the commission has yet to reach a decision on the matter.

Inability to compromise existing ocean mail contracts, within the limited period provided under the law is advanced as the reason for the commission's desire for a six months' extension of the present time limit.

Though steamship owners have signified a desire to participate under the new subsidy plan, they are reported to have served notice on the commission they will resist cancellation of their mail contracts unless they are fully satisfied with the subsidy amounts.

Plan Permanent Memorial for Late Joyce Kilmer

Prairie du Chien, Wis. — Black-robed Jesuits at Campion academy, the adopted alma mater of Joyce Kilmer, quietly pushed toward completion plans for a permanent memorial to the man who penned, "Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree."
 Workers will soon begin remodeling a gymnasium into a library dedicated "to the memory of Alfred Joyce Kilmer," whose short but remarkable literary career was stimulated by visits to Campion and Prairie du Chien.

In 1922, the movement for the memorial was begun by the Rev. Claude Pernin, S. J., who died last year. He donated a $25,000 legacy he had received, and the fund later was increased by the Kilmer family.

When completed, the library will be the largest of any private secondary school in the United States.

The thirty-one-year-old Kilmer, a member of the 165th infantry, was killed in action near Ourcq, France, on August 1, 1918, not long after he had written:

"Lord, Thou didst suffer more for me,
 Than all the hosts of land and sea,
 So let me render back again,
 This millionth of Thy gift.
 Amen."

13 Years of Overtime Put In by Postal Man

Utica.—Thirteen years of overtime for Uncle Sam is the record of Edward S. O'Connor, superintendent of mails at the Utica postoffice.

Hard at work amid the Christmas rush, Mr. O'Connor said that he did not intend to try to collect pay for it, and that he was glad to put in the extra time to get the mail through.

Mr. O'Connor quit a law practice April 2, 1892, to enter the post-office.

"Since then I have worked 34,000 hours overtime," he said. "That makes 4,250 extra days or, with 306 days to the postal year, a total of more than 13 years."

Savages Go Victorian, According to Explorer

London, England.—Explorer Rex Hardinge arrived from darkest Africa and reported that he found, hundreds of miles from civilization, a tribe whose women attired themselves in the fashion of the Victorian era.

Bustles, high waists, high necks and leg-of-mutton sleeves graced the voluminous gowns of the Hot-tentot women, Hardinge said, while women of other tribes in the country wore nothing at all.

It was believed that missionaries introduced the fashions more than a generation ago.

Nagging Is Called Ground for Divorce

Berlin.—Constant and unjustified criticism or "nagging" about one's wife's work in the National-Socialist party organization is enough grounds on which to sue for divorce, a court at Halberstadt ruled in granting a divorce to a wife. The wedded life of the couple was considered "seriously shattered and disorganized" through the attitude of the husband who was charged with constantly nagging about his wife's activities in the party.

RIGHT TO THE RIGHT DOOR

Right to the door with the freight on board. Crushing business for the undertaker. Convenient too. For whom else.

The finale of a Beethoven symphony never bespoke its motif of despair and tragedy any more forcibly than this picture of human and mechanical ruin.

This was the end of a perfect curve, taken too fast, the beginning of eternity for a car and, many thought, for the driver, too. But, fortunately—yes, miraculously—he crawled out from beneath the wreckage unhurt. He did succeed, however, in turning a thing of beauty and pleasure into a mass of motorized junk in the fraction of a second. The penalty again, of thoughtless driving.

Try to remember this picture the next time you are to take a fast turn. It visualizes perfectly the end of the trail for many a motorist.

ers' dues by a ten-cent-a-bag method rather than by the old method of collecting one-tenth of a cent a pound. Warehouses, buyers and banks are to be enlisted in the effort to set up the new system. Collections are to be made from all whose wool or mohair is handled and refund made to those who cannot see their way clear to paying membership in that manner.

A number of resolutions were offered by E. S. Mayer at the afternoon session and approved by the directors. These concerned national legislation which is proposed. The Livestock Sanitary Commission was asked to have Texans in congress oppose the Argentine Sanitary Convention proposal. Opposition was voice to a proposal to extend the period of the Reciprocal Trade Tax agreement.

State Bills Explained
 Mr. Baker outlined the content of four bills which the association and similar organizations have submitted to the legislature. These concerned a more severe penalty for livestock theft, permitting of counties of certain livestock "population" to employ a man for livestock work, and another curbing the "indiscriminate butcher." The latter would require that a permit be secured from the sheriff's office for the transporting of stock under certain conditions.

The president of the organization, Roy Hudspeth, Sutton county ranchman, was ill in San Angelo and could not be in Sonora for the meeting. Mr. Baker presided over the meeting with the exception of the time when the employment of an association attorney was considered, when G. W. Cunningham, secretary, was in charge.

The president was authorized to employ an inspector for association work. A matter of magazine policy was assigned for study by a committee made up of Tom Bond, Sonora, J. T. Johnson, Water Valley, and E. S. Mayer, San Angelo, with instructions given to make a report at the Del Rio meeting.

Diet Essentials, Carefully Chosen, Help in Taking Correct Care of One's Teeth

Denton, Feb. 3.—The condition of one's mouth is a good indication as to whether the diet of that person is what it should be. Studies have shown that a mild inflammation of the gums is a very common condition and it is surely a sign of ill health. A liberal diet which contains all the essentials for health is an important factor in overcoming a tendency toward dental cares.

Candies, sugar, crackers, pastries, bread and cake all decay the teeth if allowed to remain on their surfaces, therefore, the teeth must be clean and free from food before going to bed, as most of the decay takes place while sleeping.

Food that calls for proper mastication is an advantage in that it uses the muscles which are necessary for the proper development of the jaw and face. The American diet today is often times too concentrated and refined.

King Salad

Raw cabbage (which has been made crisp in the refrigerator), shredded fine. Raw carrots, scraped, washed and shredded fine. Take equal parts of the cabbage and carrots and add any other uncooked vegetables that you wish; shredded or chopped. (Green peppers, onions, celery or cucumbers. If you wish, you can vary this with a choice of cooked vegetables as peas, beets, string beans, etc.)

Dressing: Salt, 1/2 t lemon juice instead of vinegar—1 to 2 T. Mix in the order given and beat vigorously. Rub a kernel of garlic on the inside of the mixing bowl, or mix a very small part of the kernel, chopped and crushed, in the salad itself. If you feel that you must have pepper and mustard in dressing, use them moderately. Serve on lettuce, escarolle, dandelion or the like with or without sliced raw tomatoes.

Salmon Loaf

One cup minced cooked celery, 1 c Red Salmon, 3 c soft bread crumbs, 3 T water, 1/2 t salt, 1 t poultry seasoning, 1 t onion juice, 2 t melted fat, 1 c hot milk, 2 T butter, 1/2 c hot water, 1 c hot thin sauce, dash of cayenne. Mash the celery. Moisten crumbs with hot water, mix all ingredients except butter, water and sauce. Shape into loaf, using crumbs enough for the purpose. (A softer mixture is good scalloped). Grease baking pan. Moderate oven 1 hour. Baste several times with butter melted in the water. Pour hot white sauce around. This may be garnished with parsley.

Scalloped Corn With Bacon

Cut corn off cob or use canned corn. Make white sauce allowing 1 c for every c of vegetables. Arrange in greased baking dish layer of corn, layer of broiled bacon and chopped green peppers, layer of white sauce. Repeat until all is used. Cover with buttered crumbs or cornflakes. Moderate oven until brown. Always watch a scalloped dish to see that it does not get too dry. Hot water, hot milk, or melted fat may be added, when necessary, to prevent this.

Egg and Olive Sandwiches

Cut 4 hard-cooked eggs through sieve or ricer and mix with 1-3 c finely chopped stuffed olives and 5 T French dressing or mayonnaise.

New Refrigerator Seen in Fort Worth

Leslie Nance, Sonora Utility's Salesman, at Meeting

Housewives no longer will struggle with ice trays to release cubes of frozen water, electric refrigerator salesmen were telling prospective customers today following introduction in Fort Worth last week of the new 1937 model Frigidaire.

Nearly 1,200 representatives of refrigerator dealers in the Southwest, including Leslie Nance, salesman for the West Texas Utilities Company in Sonora, viewed the year's current models which feature a quick ice cube release operated by a lever loosening the cubes in an all-metal tray.

"It marks a forward step in refrigeration," T. E. Kuykendall, West Texas Utilities Company sales manager who headed the company's Abilene delegation, said. "Only metal trays are used in the new model. The lever serves to loosen ice cubes so that they drop from the tray quickly and easily, eliminating the loss in ice which occurs when the tray is held under a hot water faucet in the kitchen sink."

As a result of floods in the Mississippi valley, delegates from Memphis, Tenn., attended the Fort Worth meeting. The Memphis conference has been postponed.

Las Amigas Entertained By Miss Nann Karnes

Miss Nann Karnes added a pretty party to the Valentine week of socials Saturday afternoon when Las Amigas Club and one additional table of players were entertained.

Chief of Liquor Law Enforcement Speaks His Mind

Juries Usually Do Part But Often Not Given Opportunity, Bert Ford Says

Austin, Feb. 10.—Despite a widespread belief to the contrary, juries are not responsible for the failure to convict violators of the liquor law, Ford said an investigation had apparently proved.

"Not only public officials but newspapers as well often make the statement that the law cannot be enforced because juries won't convict," Mr. Ford asserted. "This statement has been given such wide circulation that it is being generally believed, but the facts prove it is not true."

Check-up on the records of the Liquor Control Board, Mr. Ford brought out, has shown that juries almost invariably refuse leniency toward liquor law violators. But few cases, he said ever reach juries.

"Settlement" Common Now

"In the larger cities when the first cases went to juries the result was almost a foregone conclusion, with large fines and jail sentences a common occurrence," Mr. Ford declared. "This was so often repeated that violators shortly began making overtures for settlement without having their cases taken before juries. Jury trials, in fact, became exceedingly rare because of the costly experience violators were having with them."

Citing a particular instance, Mr. Ford said that in a major Texas city, where "the public view has always been considered extremely liberal," a jury assessed a liquor law breaker a fine of $1000, the maximum. But the case did not end there. An agreement, Mr. Ford charged, was reached between the defense counsel and prosecuting officials, resulting in a great reduction of the fine.

West Texas Juries "Severe"

More recently, a fine of $500—the largest in the locality since the Liquor Control act went into effect—was imposed by a jury in another major Texas city. But again an agreement was made, according to Mr. Ford, and not only was the fine reduced to $100, but four other liquor cases against the same person were dismissed.

In West Texas, the check-up showed, juries have been particularly severe in their treatment of liquor law violators. Jail sentences up to a year have not been unusual, Mr. Ford said.

"Our only possible conclusion," he declared, "is that the juries are not at fault. Once let a case reach a jury and we will be reasonably satisfied with the percentage of convictions, for we have reason to believe it will be high. Our concern is that so few cases are brought to jury trial."

The Liquor Administrator said he was convinced that the public generally favors strict law enforcement and if given full opportunity to prove it through jury service would do so.

"There is absolutely no ground for the contention that in so-called 'liberal' communities juries are not interested in the prosecution of liquor law violators," Mr. Ford said. "Let local officials insist on jury trials, and the public, I'm sure, will amply prove their attitude to the satisfaction of everybody."

INCREASED ENROLLMENT AT DENTON STATE SCHOOL

Denton, Feb. 10.—One hundred and twenty-one new students have enrolled for work second semester of this year at Texas State College for Women. This brings the total registration figure for the year to 2,411, as compared with 2,381 for the same period last year.

The second semester of the 1936-37 session began Monday, Feb. 1, and late registrations will be accepted throughout this week.

Miss Wilma Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hutchinson, is a student at the institution.

Pulp Material Plentiful

The Texas Planning Board has been informed by the Texas Forest Service that the East Texas timber belt is today capable of yielding 100,000,000 cords of wood suitable for pulp manufacture. The total pulpwood requirements for the entire United States for 1930 was only 13,000,000 cords.

A Slight Profit

"BUT hones", somebody feisted my airloom watch about ten minutes ago."

Sergeant O'Leary of the precinct station grinned down at the slight bony frame of Soapy O'Shay.

"That's a laugh. New York's slickest pickpocket losing his own watch." He paused. "Soapy, we know all about you. You're Municipal Enemy Number Sixty-three. And the whole force will start working on you when we get the other sixty-two. Now, you're a smart boy, aren't you?"

"Even a copper has to admit it."

"Well, if you're really smart, you'll get out of New York City in a hurry like Johnnie Easter did." "Cold water," Soapy scoffed at the mention of his old rival in the professional clock-lifting business. "Why, Johnnie's jes' an amateur compared to me. Besides, he ain't got no caste. He was a bootlegger an' popgun man durin' the dark ages. He ain't a real feistman. He runs wid a mob becouse he's afraid to walk alone like me."

"That's true."

Soapy smiled. "Now, Sarge, I'll tell you something. You guys think Johnnie Easter's elsewhere. But he ain't. It was Johnnie Easter who done the feist job on my airloom watch. How's them for apples?"

"Nuts," O'Leary grunted.

Three days later Soapy was ambling along Eighth avenue in the upper forties near Madison Square Garden. His eyes ached from wind-blown dust, and his watch pocket was yawningly empty. For it was indeed a rare occasion when he didn't have somebody's ticker or bill-fold secreted in his ill-fitting clothes.

Just a block away from the Garden, Soapy sighted him. Johnnie Easter's hard seamy face was almost totally hidden by a dirty pulled down hat and a turned up collar.

Soapy leaped into a doorway as Johnnie strode past scarcely an arm's length away.

Soapy slipped out of the doorway and fell in line behind his quarry.

At Forty-fourth, Johnnie stopped and stood on the corner. Not being willing to tempt fate, Soapy also dropped anchor a short distance away.

A scrawny, pallid creature pulled up to Johnnie Easter, and Soapy moved a few feet closer.

"Got the time Buddy?" the newcomer asked.

Soapy watched. After a cautious glance around, during which Soapy did a split second about face, Johnnie deftly reached into his pocket, and drew out—

Soapy's heirloom watch!

In a daring disregard for his own safety Soapy leaped forward.

"That's mine," he screamed. Trained fingers snatched, held on, and in the same instant Soapy whirled around and was off!

"Get 'im, Joe," Johnnie screamed. "Stop thief..."

Sergeant O'Leary looked down at the slight form of Soapy O'Shay, his head bruised, but unbowed.

"We got you, Soapy." O'Leary pointed to the insipid looking man who had encountered Johnnie Easter on Eighth avenue and Forty-fourth. "He's told us enough to send you up for ten years."

"At's my watch," Soapy protested.

"Eet ees my property."

"Sure it's yours," O'Leary agreed. "We want to thank you for chasing this pickpocket right into our arms. You know, I've never seen one of these old fashioned watches that are wound by a key. Mind if I look at it?"

"Eef you don't mind, I am een a hurry."

Something snapped in Soapy's brain. His hand jerked out and grabbed the heirloom watch. Two policemen grabbed him, but Soapy O'Shay when enraged was not to be denied. His fist shot out again and cracked pleasantly against his accuser's chin. Both fell in a heap as the weight of the law descended upon them.

Sergeant O'Leary stared at the ruins of Soapy's watch on the floor.

"Just a minute, boys, just a minute!"

All eyes looked at the floor. There, bent beyond repair was the case of the watch. Scattered around it were a half dozen little lead-foiled pellets.

"Dope!" O'Leary cried. "Dope, carried in old watch cases. We've got the Eighth avenue dope ring."

"Yeah," Soapy growled. "You might ask this 'dope' if he's seen Johnnie Easter lately, too."

O'Leary whistled. "So that's how it is, hey?"

"Do I get my airloom watch back?" Soapy demanded hopefully.

O'Leary looked around. "Scram, Mug. I could still coop you up for stealing a watch on Eighth avenue, couldn't I?"

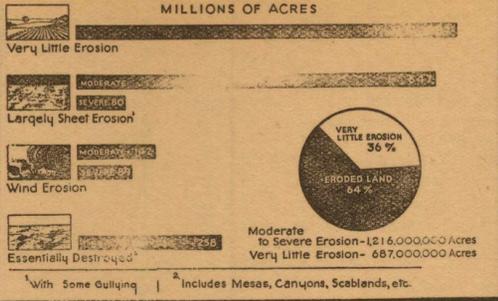

Soapy shrugged his shoulders. "It makes no dif," he said to no one in particular. Then, to himself: "I heisted this guy's ticker durin' the ruckus, so I guess I make a little profit, at that."

EROSION CONDITIONS IN THE UNITED STATES

College Station, Feb. 10.—County agricultural agents in 220 counties reached 16,324 farms and ranches in their fight to save soil and water, 2,338,418 acres were terraced or contoured under their supervision during 1936, according to the annual report on agricultural engineering compiled by M. R. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer.

A total of 3,976,244 acres was terraced or contoured in Texas by various agencies during the year. County agricultural agents supervised the work on almost two-thirds of this total and the remaining 1,639,826 acres were handled by individuals and organizations working independently of the extension agents.

A recent set-up in which NYA labor is used to run terrace lines under the supervision of county agricultural agents accounted for 71,110 acres in 33 counties. Bentley pointed out that the NYA labor, due to winter weather conditions, had been utilized only during a small part of 1936 and that this total had been achieved in a relatively few working days.

Members of 4-H clubs in 68 counties carried on terracing demonstrations in which they learned to run lines and construct terraces. These boys ran terrace lines on 22,849 acres.

More than a hundred thousand acres of permanent pasture were terraced or contoured during the year, according to Bentley, and 742,514 acres were chiselled to store additional subsoil moisture.

The largest previous number of acres so protected against erosion in any one year previous to 1936 was 1,031,888 acres in 1931.

Approximately 50 million acres of farm land in the United States are already so badly eroded as to be essentially unfit for cultivation; another 50 million acres are in a condition almost as bad. An additional 100 million acres are severely impaired by erosion and misuse; and erosion and poor management have begun to take toll on yet another 100 million.

These figures are part of a report recently passed to the president of the National Resources Board, which estimated that moderate to severe erosion has taken place on 64 per cent of the land in the United States.

The Agricultural Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act is designed to combat the conditions outlined above. Texas farmers and ranchmen, in cooperation with county agricultural agents, have long been taking steps to fight loss of soil and water. Between 1916 and 1933, more than seven million acres were protected. Now the total has risen to almost 11½ million acres.

D. 1937, the same being the 15th day of March, A. D. 1937, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of February, A. D. 1937, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 840, wherein Effie Kring is plaintiff, and Jess Kring is defendant, the nature of plaintiff's demand being suit for divorce and custody of children, the said petition alleging that plaintiff and defendant were married in Erath County on April 6, 1914, and lived together until July 28, 1936, since which time they have not lived together; that she conducted herself with propriety and treated her husband with kindness, but defendant, disregarding his marriage obligations, within about six years prior to their separation, commenced a course of harsh and cruel conduct toward her and their children and for 3 years prior to their separation defendant was drinking and while drunk struck plaintiff on many occasions and applied vile and indecent epithets to plaintiff and knocked her down; that all such cruel and harsh treatment has been of such nature as to render their living further together insupportable; and that since said separation defendant has failed to contribute any money to the support of plaintiff and their children; and that defendant is improperly associated with another woman, constituting cruel treatment. Industrial System of Prisons Varied

Texas License Plates Made in $38,000 Huntsville Plant

Denton, Feb. 10.—The appearance of 1937 license plates in Texas this month focuses attention on the state prison at Huntsville where these plates are manufactured. The factory, representing an expenditure of over $38,000, provides work for a large number of the 5,300 prisoners, and makes all the plates used in registering the 1,500,000 Texas motor vehicles annually.

The prison system includes a central plant and headquarters at Huntsville, and twelve farms which are in active operation. Farming is the principal industry of the system, and in 1935 there were 12,318 acres in cotton which produced 4,401 bales. Total revenues from lint, seed, and governmental rental and benefit payments amounted to $330,814.78.

The system also has large vegetable and livestock industries. Its canning and packing plant furnishes food not only for the prison system, but also ships surpluses to other charity institutions of the state.

The food manufacturing industry is located on Central Farm near Sugarland, and the other manufacturing industries, mechanical and construction departments, printing shop, shoe shop, mattress factory and license plate factory, are centered in Huntsville.

University Bureau Outlines Methods of Preventing School Pupils' Accidents

Austin, Feb. 10.—Recommendations for the prevention of accidents among Texas school children are given in "An Accident Study of Texas School Children," a bulletin published by the Bureau of Nutrition and Health Education of the University of Texas.

In a study of 50,375 pupils in some thirty school systems it was found that there were 3,751 pupils who had accidents resulting in an impairment of the body and causing an absence from school of one-half day or more, or necessitating the care of a doctor.

The survey revealed that of all accidents 47.16 per cent occurred in the home, 25.92 per cent at school and 26.94 per cent elsewhere.

Survey Recommended

Accidents happening at school were most frequently incurred in football, baseball and in organized games.

The following recommendations were made by the University Bureau as useful means for reducing accidents:

"Have an accident hazard survey and eliminate from school building and grounds dangerous hazards that lead to accidents. Introduce a system of student accident recording in a central office which will reveal how many accidents occur, where they occur and what injuries result. This record should be sufficiently complete so that it will provide needed information in case of liability.

"Use summary findings by grade relating particularly to highest frequencies from the accident recording in health education courses of study and in daily health instructions, with the object of giving emphasis in each grade to accident needs.

Safety Councils Help

"Redouble efforts to reduce accidents among boys through instruction, including safety tests, safety patrols and safety councils; continue to keep the accidents among girls reduced.

"Employ trained health and physical education teachers who not only can reduce accidents in play and school ground areas, but can guide the school safety program in such manner as to help both the teachers and pupils.

"Check especially for suitability all games and play activities at school for the third, fourth and fifth grades; provide adequate supervision of football and baseball in the appropriate grades.

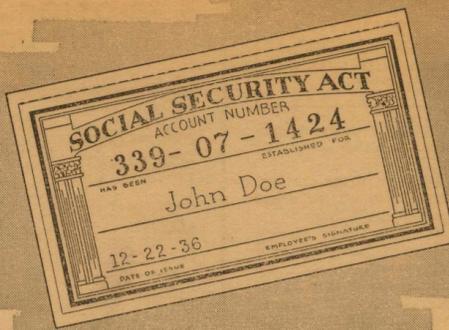

"Increase safety education experience at school so that there may be a greater opportunity for carry-over of practice into the home and community life, especially in regard to the yard, neighboring lot, kitchen, streets, parks and public swimming places.

"Spot" Accident-Prone Pupils

"Include in instruction the techniques of walking, running, jumping and falling. Provide adequate material in first aid chests for treatment of wounds, burns and fractures. Appoint in each school responsible persons who have had first aid instruction to handle accidents skillfully.

"Spot accident-prone children and analyze as far as possible the probable causes with the idea of helping the individual child.

"Provide conspicuous bulletin boards to be used for safety education purposes only, especially in regard to seasonal hazards and to the immediate problems of the Safety Council."

Students Do Well With Class Comedy

Six Girls and Five Boys Players in Three-Act Drama

The amusing situations created in a family where there were four daughters, all "eligible" for marriage, created entertainment Monday night when members of the junior class of the high school presented "Bety's Last Bet," as a means of increasing their fund for the junior-senior banquet, a traditional event of each spring.

Miss Johnnie Allison, high school instructor and class sponsor, directed the eleven who had parts in the play. Those in the cast were:

Wynona Hutherson, Kathryn Brown, Cathryn Trainer, Rena Glen Shurley, Serena Trainer, Mattie Mae Friess, Vernon Morris, Robert Simmons, Jim Taylor, Harrel Turney Espy, Web Elliott.

Three kisses were the stakes when the daughter, Bety, expelled from college, bet a pseudo cousin that he could not get all three of her sisters engaged within a short time. He won the bet, collected his winnings and also won for himself the fair daughter with whom he had bet.

The class earned about $26 by its efforts. Class committees which worked in the producing of the play were:

Stage Managers: Willie Ray Wilman, Jr., Alfred Schweining, Jr., Garland Slaughter; advertising: Jack Shurley, S. H. Stokes, Sam Chadwick; ushers: Fleurette Carmichael, Joyce Bogard, Francis Archer, Elwad Glasscock; candy sale: Vincenta Sanchez, Lois Merck, Alma Louise Glasscock.

Numbers between the acts were arranged by A. W. Awalt, Jr. In formal attire, Awalt sang "I'm In A Dancing Mood." He was joined by Emma Sessions, Joyce McGilvray, Elizabeth Elliott and Emmalou Logan, all of whom were in evening dresses. Emmalou Logan and Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot sang "Pennies From Heaven," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Robert W. Jacobs.

Elizabeth Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Taylor, sang and tap danced to the music of "Underneath A Harlem Moon." She was in blackface make-up.

Dannie Friess won a prize for selling the most tickets of admission to the play.

Miss Muriel Simmons came Thursday from San Antonio to be with her father, Authur Simmons, who is ill of pneumonia.
