

Appreciation Day Is Set Aside By Merchants Of City

Spur merchants are cooperating in offering their customers of this area an "Appreciation Day," first of which has been announced for Wednesday, Oct. 2.

On Appreciation day, a substantial sum of money which will vary from week to week will be awarded to some person. In addition, merchants will offer special values on certain items in their stores.

The special day will be held each Wednesday, and money will be given away each time.

The event is entirely different from the trades day held in the past, merchants said. Details of the plan will be supplied by any of the participating merchants.

The plan has been used by many West Texas towns with a great deal of success, it was said. Development of new trade territory and more successful soliciting of present trade territory is expected as a result of the plan.

More than 45 merchants are participating, it was announced.

Fair Boosters To Be In City This Afternoon

Lubbock goodwill trippers, on a tour of the area to advertise the annual South Plains Fair, will arrive in Spur this afternoon at 2:25 o'clock, according to an announcement received from Joe H. Bryant, chairman of the booster trips.

As in the past, the Lubbock trippers will bring plenty of souvenirs for the children, free tickets to the fair for Kid's Day and plenty of entertainment. Gene and Willey, known by many radio listeners in this area, will accompany the boosters here.

School children in Spur have been asked to turn out for the Lubbock program and to receive their souvenirs and hear about the fair.

On these good will trips special chartered buses are used. The trippers travel more than a thousand miles covering the entire area.

"Every citizen of Spur is invited to meet our booster party," Bryant said, "and hear our program and meet the bunch of fine fellows."

The trippers will be in Dickens at 1:55, and at Roaring Springs at 1:15 o'clock.

Smith left Monday night to join the air corps service.

Smith has lived in Spur 14 years, having completed grade and high school work here.

The local youth received a great deal of publicity for joining the army at the time. A story and picture showing Smith receiving his transportation ticket from Lieut. George Coleman, recruiting officer, appeared in Tuesday's Lubbock Avalanche.

Hyatt's Market Opens Campaign With Big Sale

There are numerous cases where "local boys make good," but it is seldom when a local boy makes good in his home town. Horace Hyatt, owner and manager of Hyatt's Food Market on South Burlington, may be included in the latter classification.

Hyatt, son of a pioneer ranchman of this area, has developed his store into one of the most popular grocery shopping centers in the city. Hyatt keeps his store packed with a complete stock of well-known brands, with emphasis placed on a continuous supply of fresh vegetables and fruits. The vegetable and fruit display is arranged at the spacious entrance to the store and enables the customer to inspect and select the various items with ease.

B. F. Hawley, well-known among the store's customers for his courtesy and efficiency, assists Hyatt in the management of the store.

Another service will be available to the public soon, Hyatt has announced. Hot barbecue and beans and fresh cornbread sticks will be sold daily. "We can offer our customers a complete meal ready to serve," Hyatt said.

In this issue of the Texas Spur Hyatt lists special prices on a wide variety of items which will be in effect beginning Friday and through Saturday of next week. The sale is being held to open the store's fall food sales campaign and the prices are typical, Hyatt said, of those which may be found in the store the remainder of the year.

Hyatt's Market is surrounded by ample parking space. Its location from the business center of town makes it easily accessible for the shopper in an automobile.

The store offers free delivery service, in addition.

O'Daniel Visits County On Tour Through West Tex.

Gov. O'Daniel paid a visit to Dickens county Friday afternoon as another stop on his goodwill tour of the state. More than a 1,000 enthusiastic followers greeted the chief executive and his party when he stopped briefly at Dickens.

Mrs. O'Daniel and son, Mike were in the party, and proved a social success along with the governor as they chatted amiably with the crowd.

The visit to Dickens was made as a courtesy to Marshall Formby, senator-elect, although Formby was in Amarillo as the presiding officer of the West Texas county judges and commissioners' meeting. Formby, however, conferred with the governor in Amarillo Thursday night.

An element of political significance was injected into the visit when the subject of a third term for O'Daniel was inadvertently brought up. The crowd let it be known by shouts and applause that the governor would have their support should he seek another term. The incident was regarded by state political observers and large newspapers as indicative of a state-wide frame of mind.

District Judge Alton Chapman of Floydada introduced Gov. O'Daniel. In his introductory talk, Chapman said that O'Daniel had the greatest appeal to the common people of the state than any governor in the history of Texas.

Dickens schools turned out to enable students to have a look at the governor.

Gov. O'Daniel spoke very briefly, using most of his visiting period in shaking hands and in person to persons talks.

A large group from Spur was present.

Bulldogs Licking Chops For Fight With Haskell 11

Spur's Bulldogs will take a foreign field Friday night to meet the Haskell Indians on their own tepee grounds.

The Haskell engagement originally was scheduled for the local grid, but school officials announced today that the game will be played at Haskell.

The Bulldogs will go into the game as favorites, if weight and experience mean anything. The Indians are light, averaging only 140 pounds in the line and backfield, and only five lettermen returned from last year's squad. Three of the lettermen are backs, which will be experience against experience, since Coach Woodrow Duckworth's crew is featured by veteran backfield men. Other Haskell lettermen are at end and guard.

"A speedy team short on weight and experience but a team with a fighting spirit," is the way Coach Mason and Deon describe their eleven.

October 16 Set As Registration Day For Draftees

President Roosevelt Monday signed the draft act and set Wednesday, October 16, as registration day when all men between 21 and 35 must register for possible military training.

The law requires that all who, on Oct. 16, have attained their twenty-first birthday and have not passed the thirty-sixth year, must register. A national drawing by lot will determine the order in which questionnaires will be mailed to the men. On the basis of the questionnaires, local boards will place the men in various classifications — those available for immediate service, those deferred because of dependents, etc.

Local boards will select sufficient men from among those available for immediate service to fill the quota for the area. Those so selected will undergo examinations and, if they pass, will be inducted into service for one year.

"In the military service," Roosevelt said, "they will be intelligently led, comfortably clothed, well fed, and adequately armed and equipped for basic training. By the time they get physically hardened, mentally disciplined and properly trained in fundamentals, the flow of critical munitions from factory to combat units will meet the full requirements for their advanced training."

"In the military service, Americans from all walks of life, rich and poor, country-bred and city-raised, farmer, student, manual laborer and white collar worker, will learn to live side by side to depend upon each other in military drill and maneuvers, and to appreciate each other's dignity as American citizens."

"Universal service will bring not only greater preparedness to meet the threat of war, but a wider distribution of tolerance and understanding to enjoy the blessings of peace."

Dickens Schools Apply For Lunch Program Of WPA

Dickens schools have made application for the Works Progress Administration school lunch program, according to Miss Evelyn Richter, district director of professional and service projects.

Many other schools of the Lubbock area have made application for the lunch project, she said. School lunch projects were operated last year in Crosbyton, Floydada, Muleshoe, Morton, Lamesa, Brownfield, Littlefield, and Hamlin.

Sponsors of various of the projects include board of trustees, county commissioners' courts and parent-teacher associations in cooperation with the WPA.

She added that matron service is available to schools operating the lunch projects. Matrons are placed in the girls' rest rooms for the purpose of supervising children, keeping the rooms in orderly and sanitary condition, for emergency mending of torn clothing and to assist the nurse in rendering first aid.

Under the operating plan, the WPA furnishes surplus commodities, labor and supervision of lunch and matron projects. Sponsors are required to furnish equipment, space and the foods needed to supplement a balanced meal. Charges for lunches can be made of children able to pay. A substantial, well-balanced meal can be prepared for each child at a cost of only five cents per meal.

Old settlers will be honored tonight when they are guests of the Rotary club at a banquet and program in the Spur Inn.

The affair is annual and is sponsored to give recognition to old settlers of this area, and to give them opportunity to gather and discuss things of mutual interest, as well as a step on the part of the club members to retain a "connection" between the past and the present builders of the Spur area.

The pioneers will provide their own entertainment. Many of the old settlers have been assigned topics of historical interest and they will be given five minutes each for their talks.

The program follows:

Olton Mustangs Defeat Bulldogs Friday Night 13-0 In Opening Football Season

A heavier and smoother-clicking Olton eleven scored twice to defeat the Spur Bulldogs in the opener at Jones Stadium Friday night. Score, 13-0.

Fans, however, were not disappointed at the team put on the field by Coach Woodrow Duckworth. Inexperience and early-season jitters were blamed for sporadic bits of ragged play which enabled the visitors to strike successfully for long yardage. Nothing but what a few more games and several weeks training will cure was the trouble, fans agreed.

The game opened with Olton starting from their own 20 yard line. Consistent gains brought them to the Spur 34 before they could be stopped. The quarter ended scoreless.

In the early part of the second, the Bulldogs punted to the Olton 30. After a series of hard-driving plays through center and around end, the Mustangs planted the ball on the 2 yard line. One of the Hedge twins, a couple of fast and driving hefties who carried the scoring punch for the visitors, went around right end to make the score. The Mustangs ran for extra point and were successful.

In the fourth, the Mustangs took a punt on their 40 yard line and pushed to the Bulldog 10. At this point the other Hedge twin took the mail and scamped around left end for the second touch. Try for extra point failed.

The Bulldogs came close to pay in the third when they pushed to the eight yard line, but were repelled by a stubborn Mustang line.

In the fourth, finding no holes in the opponents' defense the Bulldogs tried for a field goal from the 20 but were unsuccessful. Jack Powell did the kicking.

The game ended with the visitors again threatening, this time on the eight yard line.

Starting lineup for Spur:

American Boy Is Companion To Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a systematic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address, and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

The Gift of an Empty Mind

By IRVIN S. COBB

IN a certain hotel in a Southern town a group of gentlemen—a colonel, a judge, a doctor, two majors and a captain or so—used to play poker. Always they were waited upon by a shrewd old negro who threw upon their tips. The grand jury sometimes felt an official curiosity regarding this poker game, and upon one occasion sent for the old negro hoping to extort from him evidence upon which to base indictments for gaming.

In answer to the foreman's questions the old man admitted readily enough that he had waited upon certain gentlemen, who, he said, gathered regularly in a specified room of the hotel. To the best of his belief they played a kind of game with cards and chips. The head of the grand jury called upon him to give names.

"Boss, I'd lak to oblige you, suh, de bes' in de world," said Uncle John, "but hit can't be did. You see, suh, always before dem gen'l'men starts in playin' dey has a toddy—sometimes dey has two or three toddies. And bein' puffed gen'l'men dey always leaves a little bit in de glasses and I drinks it. And, boss, dat whiskey makes me so drunk dat afterward I never kin remember a single one of dem."

The grand jury sent him away, after threatening him with jail. As he was leaving, with many bows and profuse apologies, the foreman called him back and ordered him to report again in a week.

"In the meanwhile," he commanded sternly, "I don't want you to take any drinks, and in addition you had better go to a doctor and get something that will assist your memory."

Uncle John promised to do so and withdrew. True to orders he was back again in a week smiling blandly upon the inquisitors.

"Now then, Uncle John," said the foreman, "how about it?"

"Boss," said Uncle John, with a winning grin, "Ise monstrous sorry to hab to disap'int you gen'l'men again, but 'tain't my fault dis time. I went to Dr. Brooks, jes' lak you told me, and I axed him fur somethin' to he'p my wits. But he muster gimme somethin' outen de wrong bottle, 'case de medicine done plum' destroy my memory entirely and now I can't remember nothin' 'tall."

IN MEMORY

No, we cannot understand Here where joy and happiness isn't sure,

Why we have to suffer longer, Pain and misery we must endure.

But when we cross over the rolling tide,

To live with Jesus and there abide All these mysteries will be solved By our waiting savior up above.

There's a record kept by angels On the pages, we are told Christian names are found there dearest As the pages doth unfold.

Grandmother White was a Christian, True loving and so dear Isn't this a sweet story, When there's naught for us to fear.

Now dear loved ones for and near, you must not grieve and shed sad tears, There's no greater grief, her life so blessed, Then memories of her righteous rest.

Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. Why not be smart — do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys—cut down your caloric intake—eat wisely and satisfyingly—there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied—money back.

A "FOUR-ALARM" FOR THE BLUE-GRAY TRUCKS

A KANSAS CITY bridge burst into flames one morning last spring. It twisted and writhed under the terrific heat... then stout steel spans splashed into the Kansas River.

"Voice bridges" went out of service, too. For attached to the bridge were two large telephone cables, containing wires to 1,700 telephones. It was a four-alarm for the telephone repair crews—the men in the blue-gray trucks. While flames still soared near by, the reconstruction work began.

In a fire department rowboat they got a line across the river. Emergency telephones were rigged up at strategic locations.

Then came a driving rain to make the task even harder. All night they worked against great odds. By midnight 60 telephones were working. By breakfast time three-fourths of the silenced telephones could speak. That afternoon telephone service was back to normal.

HOW DO YOU GO ABOUT WRITING A BOOK

After filling a fat notebook, it was necessary to allow the material to take shape in my mind for a year—in other words, 10 years of living in the oil fields, one year of concentrated research and interviewing, one year of study—before a single word was written. The actual writing took only six months of spare time.

But, now that the manuscript was completed, could a publisher be found? It looked as though the answer would be, No, for six houses rejected it. Finally, a small company in Dallas accepted it. Then came the question, would anybody be interested? Maybe the writer was the only one who cared anything about the Ranger rush, the greatest in the history of oil. In five weeks, however, the book was out of print; every copy of the first printing had been sold!

It went into a second, a third and a fourth edition. That was several years ago but there has been a revival in the demand for "Were You in Ranger?" in the last couple of months because of this columnist's connection with the big Texas oil movie, "Boom Town."

Anyhow, there is the story of how you write a book.

When I was a little boy in a little town, wagons loaded with logs used to come to the mills. Their cargo discharged, the empty wagons would start back to the woods and, as the big horses plodded along in the white dust of the street, a lad could climb on the end of the coupling-pole and ride as long as he wished. However, the further you rode, the further you had to walk back. Life is that way.

Much has been written, during the past summer, concerning the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco and the World's Fair in New York but we should not—in gazing at distant, green pastures—overlook our own exposition.

The State Fair of Texas is not only the largest in the field of state expositions but, utilizing the grand array of structures erected for the Texas Centennial and the Pan-American fairs, is worthy of mention in the same breath with the New York and San Francisco ones—and it is right at our doors, not half a continent away.

The buildings and grounds in Dallas represent more than $15,000,000. That the people of Texas appreciate their own fair is shown by the fact that an all-time record in the 51-year history of the exposition was set last year when 1,034,708 persons passed through the turnstiles.

A few days ago, your columnist strolled around the grounds where crews were putting things in readiness for the opening on October 5. Looking at the double row of great exhibit halls with the long pool between, one could visualize the scene that soon would come into existence under the star-spangled Texas sky—silver fountains, thousands of many colored lights, throngs slowly shuffling past the giant murals, the dull

Electric "Hen" Hatches Chicks With Least Trouble and Expense

Strong chicks are but one advantage of electric incubation.

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

ALTHOUGH there are more than 10,000 commercial hatcheries in this country, a large percentage of which take every precaution to insure quality chicks free from disease, many general farmers as well as specialized poultrymen still prefer to incubate eggs from their own breeding flock.

In recent years, electricity has replaced fuels as a source of heat for incubators on many farms having high-line power. This is because the physical factors essential to obtain hatches of 75 to 95 per cent of all eggs set—temperature, humidity, circulation and ventilation—must be controlled with absolute accuracy and be uniform in every part of the incubator.

During the period of incubation, many chemical changes incident to the development and growth of the embryo chick take place—carbon dioxide formed in breathing is carried from the embryo to the air cell of the egg, from whence it passes out through the shell; and, at the same time, oxygen for breathing is drawn into the air cell and passed on to the embryo chick, as are certain mineral elements from the shell.

If the physical elements previously mentioned are not accurately controlled and absolutely correct, those chemical changes will be adversely affected and the embryo will suffocate. That is why, with many fuel-heated incubators, large numbers of chicks either die in the shell or are very weak if hatched.

Heat, moisture and ventilation alone are not sufficient to insure a high percentage of hatch of healthy, husky chicks—the proper control and direction of those elements so that they are not and do not hinder the proper chemical changes is essential. Those requirements can be met with surety only with electricity.

Electric incubators can be purchased with capacities ranging from 25 to 50,000 or more eggs, and for as little as $15.00, thus meeting the requirements of all classes of poultry raisers. When selecting an electric incubator, hatching requirements, construction features and operating costs are the most important factors to be considered.

Hatching costs vary somewhat with the size and type of the incubator, its construction and that of the room in which it is kept. However, they usually run from 6/100 to 6/10 of a cent per egg, the lower figure being for large well-built machines operating in well-insulated rooms.

As it costs but little, many poultry farmers with small incubators heated by some other fuel now are converting them to high-line operation by the installation of electric heating units.

hum of voices, the throb of music in the distance, and the pungent odor of mustard-smearred hot dogs.

Many educational features have been arranged—an exhibit from Mexico, historical, archaeological and handicrafts; a citrus display from the tropical Lower Rio Grande Valley; an exhibit from the Fruit Belt of Cherokee, Panola, Nacogdoches, Rusk and Shelby Counties; a hobby show; an Irish potato exhibit from the Panhandle; and the National Hereford Show with $25,000 in premiums. The Texas Jersey Cattle Club is planning a "bigger and better show. In all, $80,000 in livestock prizes will be offered.

Old jokes:

Judge—Guilty or not guilty?
Prisoner—Ain't that what we got the jury for?

And, the one about the old man who says, "My boy John writes that he has been sent to the legislature but he doesn't say what for."

Speaking again of the State Fair—glittering, fast-moving entertainment will be given. The Mexican Police Tipica Orchestra will provide free concerts twice daily; the Queen of Queens pageant (viewed last year by 40,000) will be a free attraction on opening day; "Americana," huge outdoor revue, will be presented twice nightly on the 300-foot stage in front of the grandstand, starring well-known screen, stage and radio personalities. Incidentally, the finale will be a spectacular fireworks display.

And on the Midway there will be "the Streets of Shanghai," two girls whose combined weight is 1,416 pounds, "French Casino," "Beautiful Hawaii" with Princess Aloha and her hula girls, the International Midgets and many breath-taking rides. You'll see Texas and Texans on parade at the State Fair, October 5-20.

Even cotton gins are going stream lined in their business appeal. Judge Ralph Yarborough, back from a vacation, reports seeing this sign on an Arkansas gin: "Trading here is like making love to a widow; you can't overdo it."

Another reader (who didn't sign his name) sends in this one, seen in a tavern: "You don't have to be crazy to tend bar but it helps a lot."

The porter at the Connellee Hotel in Eastland, announcing a bus, has a chant: "All aboard for Cisco, Hico, Waco, any-place-you-wanna-go."

Here's an old joke: Ikey and Moe were walking along on a very cold morning. Ikey, who had been talking suddenly became silent. His friend said, "Say something." Ikey retorted, "Freeze your own hands a while."

...BUT WHY COURT-MARTIAL THE WHOLE REGIMENT?

There are bound to be one or two bad soldiers in every regiment. But why court-martial the whole regiment?

The same applies to beer retailing. Out of hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retailers, there is bound to be a small minority who disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants even this small minority of undesirable retailers eliminated entirely. Beer is a refreshing, appetizing beverage—the beverage of moderation. We want every beer retail establishment to be as wholesome as beer itself.

To that end, we have instituted a "clean-up or close-up" program—now in operation in some states and being extended to others. We'd like to tell you about it in an interesting free booklet.

23 YEARS AGO

Taken from the files of the Texas Spur, published 23 years ago this week. Oran McClure, Editor and Publisher.

The German Kitchen, under the ownership and management of J. W. Dunn, has just recently changed its name, possibly because of the fact that the United States and Germany are now at war, and not caring to have the appearance of anything Germanic, much less taking the German name. To show loyalty and appreciation of the situation the name of the restaurant will hereafter be known as the "Allied Restaurant and Bakery," showing by words as well as acts that the management is with the allies in the world's conflict. Hereafter you are invited to become allied with the "Allied Restaurant and Bakery" when you want anything to eat.

C. L. Love returned the latter part of last week from a trip to St. Louis, Chicago, and other points in the East. He stated that after passing Weatherford crops were good all the way to Missouri. In St. Louis on this trip he said he heard absolutely no talk of the war, while in January when he visited that market the whole talk was of the war, the people having a greatly divided opinion concerning the warring conditions. War at that time was a theory, now it is a fact, and no man knows when it will end.

E. L. Caraway and family, of Peacock, are this week moving to Spur where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Caraway was formerly in the drug business at Peacock and was blown away in the cyclone of several years ago. The past year or two he has devoted his time to selling automobiles of various makes, but has now centered on the Buick as the best car going.

Robert B. Bartlett, son of Mrs. Bartlett of the Spur Inn, has been recognized and honored by an appointment to a West Texas cadetship and will take the entrance examination next March.

Up to date nine bales of cotton have been ginned by the J. W. Baker gin in Spur, the other gins not yet being ready for the ginning season.
