Ratliff Expresses Satisfaction At Bond Drive Success

I am very well pleased the outcome of our Second War Loan drive in Dickens county during the month of April. On Monday morning after the Spur rally on the preceding Saturday, we learned that we had exceeded our quota by a substantial amount.

To the committeemen and workers over the county we are particularly indebted for the huge success of the drive. The school leaders of the county did a remarkable job in planning and arranging the programs had at the rallies. Everyone cooperated magnificently, and many gave of their time without remuneration. Particularly, am I indebted to Mrs. P. D. Allen, who volunteered her secretarial work at my War Bond office.

If the future war loan drives receive the same enthusiastic support there is no question but that Dickens county will always meet its quotas.

Dickens county will continue to have a monthly quota to meet, and everyone is urged to continue their monthly purchases of war bonds.

Signed: O. B. Ratliff.

Jane, Fike Godfrey Making Good; Spend Easter With Parents

Among the girls and boys home for the Easter holidays were Fike and Jane Godfrey, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Godfrey. In conversation with Merle Edwards, Boy Scout executive of Lubbock, he spoke very complimentary of Fike, who is classified as a Senior Engineering student at Texas Tech., and at present is serving as President of A. P. O. National Service fraternity of the College, as well as president of Industrial Engineering club. In addition to this, Fike has been holding down some part time jobs, running the blue print department of the college since September, and doing some work in the dean's office. The dean in speaking of Fike said "If all boys were like Fike Godfrey colleges could soon dispense with deans."

Jane doesn't intend that her brother Fike, grab off all the family honors, so she hails from Dallas where she is secretary of Nutrition division, of the Dallas Red Cross chapter. In addition to her routine office work, Jane plans to do canteen work and teach nutrition class as part of her contribution to the winning of the war.

Jane and Fike have grown up in Spur, attending and graduating from the Spur high school; then to greater fields of endeavor, where they are making enviable records for themselves. Spur folks say more power to you Jane and Fike.

Twenty-Three Years Health Program For County Schools To Start Next Monday

As we are asked so often, "How do you like your new man," we are going to let the man for whom he worked 23 years answer the question. And we are frank to say he didn't elaborate. This is what R. A. Gaines, publisher of the Rockwall Texas Success, where he has worked for the past 23 years, thinks of Jim Huse, who has recently joined the Texas Spur force:

IN SEARCH OF HEALTH
Saturday morning Jim Huse left for Spur, Texas, where he will be employed in a printing office. Jim has been with the Success for the past 23 years, and we were sorry to see him leave, but such a change was necessary on account of his health, and we trust he will find a place where he can get relief from his ailment. Jim was a good man to work with, he was always on the job, and attending strictly to your business, and doing his best to do the best work possible. You could always depend on him to do the job as it should be done the same if you were present or not. He took an interest in your welfare and worked at all times to the point of making your business successful.

Jim has been in failing health for the past three years, and more especially the past year and a half, and it was necessary for him to make the move. We trust him the very best of success, and wish for him a quick recovery to better health. We can assure whoever he may work for that he will be a deserving man and they need never fear that he will not do more than his part at every point.

Yes, he worked for us for 23 years, and that is a mighty long time, but it was very pleasant.

Sales To Date Over $185,000; Afton Sells $16,000 At Rally

"Buy Bonds till it hurts, and then buy more Bonds till it don't," Dr. Don Morris, president of Abilene Christian college, who delivered the principal address at Spur's Bond rally last Saturday, when the county sold enough Bonds to exceed its quota, said as he appealed to his hearers to back up the government in its drive to raise $13,000,000.

Preceding Doctor Morris on the speakers stand was Mrs. Oscar McGinty who read three patriotic selections.

The program was officially opened by the Spur High School band by the playing of The National Cherry march, followed by Symbol of Honor march and the Star Spangled Banner. Rev. Herman Coe, pastor of the First Baptist church, offered the invocation.

Doctor Morris' talk was brief but stirring, and he held the attention of his hearers throughout his address. Other short talks were made by O. C. Thomas, superintendent of Spur schools; O. B. Ratliff, chairman Dickens County War Bond committee, and O. L. Kelley, county superintendent of schools.

Immediately following the program, sale of Bonds started in the Thacker-Godfrey building. As the doors opened the large corps of workers were immediately swamped by a large number of buyers of Bonds and stamps which continued for several hours. purchases ranging from 10 cents Saving Stamps to $10,000 Bonds, running the total for the day's sales to slightly over $60,000.

The sale of Bonds and Stamps has kept a brisk pace throughout the week and total sales was upwards of $185,000, issue value, putting the county well over its goal of $159,000. It is predicted by Bond committee officials that sales up to Friday night, when the campaign officially ends, will exceed $200,000.

One of the highlights of Saturday's Bond rally was the Army Jeep brought here from Camp Barkley through efforts of the Twentieth Century Study club. All school children who purchased $1.00 worth of Defense Stamp and all adults buying a Bond of any denomination were entitled to a ride in the Jeep. Second Lieut. Bill Chambers, Sgt. Bill Hauenstein, Sgt. Glen Doran and Corp. Eldon Wright brought the Jeep here. They were guests of Carl Proctor or lunch.

O. B. Ratliff, as chairman of the Dickens County War Bond committee, desires to publicly express his appreciation to W. T. Andrews, Hobart Lewis, Foy Vernon, Minnie Ola Ward, and Maudie Palmer of the Spur Security bank; Postmaster O. C. Arthur, Mrs. Wanda White, and Mrs. Prentis Allen in their unstinted efforts in sale of Bonds at the various rallies held throughout the county during the drive.

PATTON SPRINGS HOLDS ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY

An enthusiastic Bond rally was held at Afton in the Patton Springs school building last Friday night when the citizens of that community "stampeded" the Bond sales workers to purchase over $16,000 in War Bonds in less than 30 minutes. Over 1,000 people were present and they were delightfully entertained for 30 minutes preceding the rally by the Patton Springs band, under the direction of H. Lindsey, with several patriotic and popular numbers, by the high school chorus, directed by H. L. Sladen.

Coronation of the school queen was an interesting part of the program. Miss Barbara Ruth Allen was crowned queen. Other candidates were: Allene Rich, Dolores Goodwin, Norlene Roberts, Valoria Faye Rich, Melba Jo Edwards, Maridell Miller, Carolyn Hays, Frances Williams, Waynell McCarty, Sylvia Belle Hinson, Mary Jo Harvey, Patsy Campbell and Don Forbis.

Balancing Economic Power

By SENATOR JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY

That the democratic philosophy of social, political and economic organization is now facing its greatest test, no one, I'm sure, would be bold enough to deny. The danger, however, is far greater than that which is represented by the military power of the Axis. It is so measured by the extent to which the ideas of the authoritarian state have spread, even subconsciously, among our own people. In America there are people who believe that democracy and the capitalistic system are out-moded and who are confident that out of the war will come a new social and political order based upon the principles of totalitarianism.

The task we must assume when the war is over will be not only the restoration of civilian industry, but the restoration of authority of the citizen over his government and over the organizations through which his economic needs are served. Public debt, in the years to come, will challenge the loyalty of our people to "the American way of life" in a degree greater even than the challenge by which they are now confronted.

We must realize that though the government must create a debt, only the people can pay it. Production by the people is the only dependable source of government revenue. The supreme task of a democracy therefore is to enable the people to produce it. The only alternative is some form of national socialism.

Rule from the Top

It is only because we have lost sight of the fact that government should be only the servant of men, that even here in this country, as well as in the Old World, government threatens to become our permanent master. Local desires and needs have increased more rapidly than the capacity of local revenue to meet them. Inadequacy of local revenue in turn proceeds from the inability of local enterprise to hold its own with national enterprise. The struggle has been constantly becoming more unequal as the emphasis and scope of economic life during the past half century have been turning steadily away from the local to the national sphere. This has been necessarily accomplished by a steady expansion of the power and activity of the central government and a steady contraction of the effective powers of local government.

When the ideals and principles of democratic society were developed, land was the principal source of economic income, and business activity, like the land itself, was principally local. In the early days of our history whenever men found themselves oppressed or confronted by an economic depression they could move on to new land and there earn their own living in their own way with their own labor and the resources of nature. After the Civil War the problem of readjusting the lives of the men who had fought the Civil War was solved in the building of the transcontinental railroads and the settlement of the Great West. After the World War, when our economy had become industrial, we found the means of readjustment in the building of motor roads and automobiles, airplanes and radios and all of the devices which have made the modern economy so luxurious.

Democracy in Business

As our economy changed from an agricultural to an industrial one, from local to national, it also changed from an individual economy to a group or organizational economy and we have never taken the time or the thought to adjust these organizations of the modern world to the lives of individuals. In that failure lies not only the cause of the present war, but the challenge to democracy. Unable to support themselves in the complex economic order of our day, unable to command their own jobs and make their own living on their own land or with their own tools, people have turned to government for support and when they do that they undermine democracy.

Political democracy depends absolutely and completely upon economic democracy. There can be no free enterprise without the right of private property. We have no recourse except to make certain that, first of all, the right of the individual to support himself shall be protected. How much more true is it that no subordinate organization under the government should exercise that power.

Through the law the people must, if they are to protect their own rights, lay down the standards of responsibility and conduct which shall guide the groups which they permit to come into existence. Only thus can group activity be preserved from collectivism.

Individual vs. Community Interests.

In this war effort we are of necessity utilizing not local enterprise, not small business, but the resources of the huge economic and political organizations which have been the product of our time. It was also necessary for the government itself to assume complete power over the economic system. So we see that Big Business leads directly to Big Government. We miss the whole threat to the democratic ideal if we fail to realize that the essential mark of concentration of economic power in government and in huge economic organizations is that they are controlled from the top instead of from the bottom in the democratic way.

The independent private businessman and worker have been giving way to the employe, for even the executives of Big Business are today jobholders in exactly the same manner, if not to the same degree, as the wage worker. The men who occupy places of responsibility and indeed even those who occupy minor positions of more or less security with the huge economic organizations frequently have more loyalty to the organizations with which their economic lives are bound up than to the community of which they are citizens.

Preserving the Source of Prosperity.

Big Labor, like Big Government, has been a product of Big Business, and here again the tendency is to govern from the top down instead of from the bottom up. Abuses in the field of labor, as in the field of business, often tend to be exaggerated. But prosperous business is the only guarantee that labor has that it may earn good wages. Steadily employed labor to good wages is the only guarantee that business has of a market in which it may dispose of its goods and services with profit. The best way to increase government revenue is to improve business, private business, and thus to increase employment by private enterprise.

Mankind is in search of the formula by which the responsibilities and duties of each group may be defined and democratic controls established. Instead of each of these various divisions of society grasping for the last ounce of advantage for its own members and thereby following the sad pattern of the past in which wars over the ownership and distribution of a scarcity have seemed to dominate history, we must step forward into the new era of abundance which can be attained by intelligent cooperation.

We do not want the government to run the whole show. The natural and inevitable result of concentrated power is the limitation of growth. The progress of the world in letters, in art, in science has been the work of free man, so democratic society must, first of all, make absolutely certain that no arbitrary power, whether it be exercised by private or public authority, shall be permitted to restrain the activities of men.

Hats Off To Retailers

The retail merchant has become the man in the middle—in the middle of that no man's land—where a fighting government collides with a fighting, consuming public. Both of these fighting elements are allies, but like most allies they don't get along too well sometimes. A spoiled public which has been in the habit of getting what it wants when it wants it from an incredibly efficient retail distribution system, cannot be expected to do the halt of shortages and be led about by dictatorial decrees without kicking the daylight out of a few regulatory fences. Unfortunately the retailers upon whose shoulders fall the responsibility of explaining and applying the restrictions, are the ones who get kicked most often. For that reason it is only fair to give them a pat on the back occasionally. They deserve it.

Retail distributors have shown amazing ability to interpret and put into practical operation literally thousands of new wartime merchandising regulations conceived by lawyers and experts with little or no merchandising experience. Most of the regulations carry heavy jail sentences and fines for violation. Laboring in the shadow of stiff penalties, thousands of merchants throughout the country work on the rules as they understand them, often without benefit of legal advice, and put them in force. They know it has to be done or the distribution system will break down, bringing disaster to the country. They try to explain this to customers and are ineffectual in the rules. Neither ease inequalities in the rules. Neither the while striving to get the government to simplify and ease inequalities in the rules. Neither the public nor most government experts actually comprehend the heavy responsibility which retail merchants bear in helping to maintain economic stability during the emergency.

Consumers should be slow to criticize the retailer for inconveniences over which he has no control. The government should constantly seem to make burdensome restrictions less onerous. And both the public and the government should be less quick to accuse retailers of evil intent when one of ten thousand rules has been inadvertently violated.

FROM A LONELY SOLDIER TO HIS DAD

Oh how I remember, It was a day in September; 'Tne hour about two That I left my loved ones so sad and blue.

On the bus I rode away, Thinking of my loved ones I had left that day. My dear mother is in heaven, and I know she is at rest, So it is just you, dear Daddy, the one I love the best.

It was the hour about eight, That we rode through the M. P. gate;

There were a lot of lights, and some red ones too, But my thoughts were of you, dear Dad, the one I had left so blue.

Now I am sitting on my bed Thinking of your white head. Now Dad, you love me, and I know that is true,

And I am praying I will some day be back at home with you. Pvt. Martin E. Moudy, Station Hospital, Ward 15, Camp Hulien, Texas.

AS I SEE IT

There's a highway and an alley
In the life of every man,
Each should make the choice to travel
On a way and to a plan.

Those who travel on a highway
Without fear and thought beware
May become the aimless traveler
And fall victims to a snare.

Those who travel in the alley
Without hope or aim and care
Find the journey leading downward
To a goal that isn't there.

Those who travel steady onward
Have a goal in life to make,
Some will preach it, others reach it,
Some will counterfeit and fake.

Time will park us, time will mark us
As we slowly pass along,
We may have the praise of masters;
We may have the blame of wrong.

Each of us must choose the better
Way in life to do and plan,
Leave the world with greater blessings
For the growing up of man

War clouds roll and murder thunders
From the sky in endless streams
And the work of man's creation
Fades away like fairy dreams.

Yet the hand that rocks the ocean
Is the hand that rules the world,
And the hope of Man's elation,
In the flag of God is furled.

When the battle fields are silent
And the bugle sounds are still,
Can a peace all universal
Guide the thought of human will?

To a world all one united
With a purpose, will and plan
That injustice shall forever
Cease to live and reign with man.

WAR RATION BOOK NO. 3

War Ration Book No. 3 will be distributed through the mails to more than 120,000,000 individuals beginning late in June and ending July 21, the OPA has announced. Mailmen will leave postcard application forms at every home between May 20 and June 5. The postcard, properly filled out by the head of the house and mailed to OPA, will bring ration book No. 3. Prentiss M. Brown, price administrator emphasized that book No. 3 is a replacement book only, containing a new supply of stamps to take the place of those now being used up. He said if any more rationing programs were necessary there would be official notice by the government.

COUNTRY GIRLS GOOD NURSES

Directors of schools of nursing rank country girls higher than their cousins. Some of the qualities the directors like about their non-urban students are: They adapt themselves quickly to life in the school; they have learned to use their hands; they have a good supply of common sense; they are friendly and cooperative; they are conscientious; and, one director said: "They get up in the morning."

The need for nurses is urgent. War Manpower Commissioner Mc Nutt has said: "One of the outstanding shortages of womanpower in the war is in the field of professional nursing." Write for information to the National Nursing Council for War Service, 1790 Broadway, New York, New York.

MAY EXCHANGE POOR MEAT

A consumer may ask his butcher to exchange a cut of meat that was bruised or otherwise unfit for use when it was bought, the OPA has announced. The customer then may receive other meat of the same point value. Ration stamps cannot be refunded, although any difference in price may be adjusted if necessary.

LIVE HOG CEILING THREATENED

Livestock producers and packers were told last week by Chester C. Davis, Food Administrator, that a ceiling would have to be established on live hogs if prices did not adjust themselves in line with wholesale ceilings. He remarked, however, that the recent coude of the hog market has been most satisfactory.

NO LIMIT ON RECAPPING

After May 1 there will be no restrictions on the number of certificates that may be issued for recapping truck tires. Because recapping takes only one-sixth as much crude rubber as a new tire, the OPA has removed quota restrictions so that the tires will not be driven beyond the recapping point.

PLAY SHOES TO BE RATIONED

"Play" shoes not ordinarily used for street wear that are manufactured, packaged or shipped after April 15, 1943, go back on the rationed list. Such shoes, if they left a factory before April 15, remain non-rationed, even though they may reach consumer months later.

RATIONING PROGRAM CHANGES

Farm fencing and peanut pickers are no longer rationed; quota controls on milking machines, grain and forage flouers, portable and stationary elevators have been removed; and pressure cookers have been placed under rationing.

CORDIN' TO LAW

(By SARAH GANN)

I planted my cotton, plowed it good, twice—
Squares was a formin'—putting on nice
When in comes a feller that God only knows—
Sayin' "Hi, there, Mister, you've got too many rows"
So I pulled ole Bessie's line and said to her, "Haw"
Some to be canned—some to eat raw—
Feedin' the family 'cordin to law!"

Now I plant potatoes, pop-corn and gumbo,
Spinach and cabbage, row after row;
Pintos, onions, carrots and beets,
Tomatoes and muskmelons juicy and sweet.
Feedin' the family 'cordin to law!

I rotate, strip-crop, and contour around,
Hop over clodded, high terraced ground;
I find myself comin' when I thought I was goin'—
Rows so blamed crooked, can't make a showin',
But corn is comin' purtier'n I ever saw
Since runnin' them rows 'cordin' to law!

I keep sign' up ever'thing new,
I'll git nothin' if I don't, not much if I do;
I'm a-hopin' that God or good Uncle sam
Will settle a farm bill that I'll understand;
And if I git to heaven in the sweet by and by I'll meet Mr. Roosevelt, tryin' to comply!

tioning, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced. The 150,000 pressure cookers which will be produced in 1943 will be rationed by county farm rationing committees, to users showing the greatest need for them. Community organizations composed of several families who agree to use a pressure cooker jointly will get first consideration. Information can be had from County War Boards.

NEWS IN ANIMAL FEEDS

Farmers will be interested in two recent Department of Agriculture discoveries. Poultry nutrition specialists have found that soybean meal properly cooked is a promising substitute for meat scrap and other protein feeds of animal origin. Another discovery is that good-quality home-grown legume hays, formerly considered too bulky for hog feed, may be used to reduce the amount of concentrates required in rations for growing and fattening pigs. Of three legumes tested, ground soybean hay gave the best results, when used for five to ten percent of the total ration.

STILL MAKING BOBBY PINS

Rumors of a ban on manufacture of bobby pins are false. WPB officials have declared. Even though the pins are made of vital high carbon steel their production will be permitted.

WOMEN MAKE GOOD INSPECTORS

Women have proved such a success as inspectors of Army Signal Corps equipment that they now make up 40 percent of the inspection force, according to the War Department. The women do the entire inspection job, from the mechanical work on the assembly line to the final inspection of the extremely complex electrical equipment.

BLANKET SIZES REDUCED

Blankets cannot exceed 84 inches in length, except for white cotton sheet blankets, which may be 95 inches long, according to an order by the WPB. Furthermore, no line of blankets can be made in no more than four colors, plus white. In general, only rose, blue, green, and cedar are permitted for solid color blankets.

USED CAST IRON SOIL PIPE

The use of cast iron soil pipe and fittings for sanitary drains in and under buildings should be continued as long as the supply of raw materials from which these products are manufactured is adequate, according to WPB.

NEW REQUIREMENTS FOR WAACS

Under the new rules candidates for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps must have completed at least two years of education in an accredited high school, and must score at least 60 in the WAAC mental alertness test in order to be eligible. Previously, there were no fixed educational requirements and the minimum score in the mental alertness test was 50.

SOLDIERS GRAVES RECORDED

The burial place of American soldiers who fall on foreign soil will be properly recorded by the Graves Registration Units of the United States Army. This service operates closely behind the combat area, burying the dead, recording and marking the graves, and collecting personal effects. Except when combat interferes, overseas burials are approximately the same as those conducted in the United States with full military honors rendered. Rites are ministered by a chaplain of the deceased's own faith when possible.

"HOLD THE LINE"

Farmers and others now employed in an essential industry cannot change to a job at higher wages unless the change is in the interest of the war program, according to recent rulings of War Manpower Commission. Men now in unessential work are encouraged to get into jobs contributing directly to the war effort, even if an increase in wages is involved.

RATION-FREE RUBBER BOOTS

Over-the-knee olive-drab, clay and khaki colored rubber boots—the kind worn for hunting and fishing—can now be bought ration-free, the OPA has announced. Below-the-knee height boots are still under rationing control.

EXTRA FOODS FOR HOSPITALS

Hospitals can now get additional supplies of rationed foods that are needed in patient's diets by means of an application signed by whatever officer is in charge. Formerly, the OPA required the head physician to show the reason for the extra foods and the amount required.

CCC TO BUY NO. 2 BEANS

The Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase No. 2 dry edible beans as well as No. 1 from the 1943 crop. The price for No. 2 grade will be 15 cents below the prices for the No. 1 grade.

GAS STATION DRAWS PENALTY

The first suspension order prohibiting gasoline deliveries to a service station was issued by the Petroleum Administration for violation of the 72-hour per week sales regulation. The station affected, located in Wichita, Kansas was charged with staying open more than 72 hours a week and refusing to post the hours during which gasoline was sold. Under the PAW order, gasoline deliveries to the station will be suspended for four months.

OPA CUTS POINT VALUES

Point values of all canned and bottled soups have been reduced by OPA from 8 to 6 points, with a cut to 4 points for tomato soup. Point value reductions for all frozen fruits and vegetables also were announced. Blackeyed peas were removed from the list of rationed dry beans and peas and now may be bought point-free.

SCHOOL BUSES FROZEN

School buses must be kept on the job unless special approval is obtained from the Office of Defense Transportation. School superintendent in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico were notified this week to remind bus operators whose contracts expire at the end of this term that such vehicles were frozen in service by a recent ODT order.

FARMERS' FEED COSTS CUT

Price control for linseed oil meal, cake and pellets was established by OPA as an aid to the nation's food-for-freedom program. Specific dollars-and-cents ceilings on these animals feed were set below current levels to reduce farmers' operating costs...

CANNING SUGAR AVAILABLE

There is positively no reason for spoilage of crops this year because of a lack of canning sugar, OPA officials say. All local Boards have been instructed to issue certificates for allotments of sugar for home-canning under the same regulations as last year until they are notified of a change in procedure. Sugar certificates can be issued quickly in any community as the canning season arrives. Application dates are set by local Boards.

The Wheezer

It may sound odd to call a person a "wheezier," but there are many who wheeze. Just what does the word mean? The dictionary defines the noun to mean one who breathes hard and with a husky whistling sound. This type of breathing is particularly common among those who are suffering from some form of asthma. And what is asthma? It is generally a disorder which is characterized by difficulty in breathing, and may be due to a number of causes.

During the past 25 years, much has been learned about asthma and its underlying causes. The term "allergy" has come into general usage in relation to asthma. It means a natural and marked sensitiveness of an individual to various substances. Persons who react to certain foods are said to be allergic, and they may show their sensitiveness in several ways, including wheezing.

She Wheezed.

A worker in a large industry was one of the complaining kind. She found fault with everybody both at home and in her place of employment. Either it was too hot or too cold, too stuffy or too breezy. The place of work was always too dusty for her, and she was, in a way, a troublesome person. But her difficulties began early in life. While still a youngster, she had difficulty in breathing, and, of course, she wheezed. For years the family assumed she had chronic bronchitis; then all her near ones agreed she had some form of heart disease, because even slight exertion brought a labored breathing and palpitation.

The day came when she had obtained her job. Traveling in the subway brought on its chain of complaints; climbing a flight of stairs in the work place had the same results.

Unfavorable remarks concerning dust and ventilation in the factory were frequent yet the other workers found no particular cause for complaint. Some of her fellow workers even began to think there was something peculiar about this person—her breathing—her coughing—her complaining.

thing—her coughing—her complaining.

The Cure

Things got so bad that the foreman sent her to the plant standing and sympathetic nurse standing and sympathetic nurse filled out a medical history form. The industrial physician made a tentative diagnosis. He referred the worker to a local physician who made various yet simple skin tests. The results indicated that she was especially sensitive to house dust and chocolate.

Under proper medical treatment and the elimination of chocolate from her food, she began to show rapid improvement. The so-called bronchitis or almost constant cough disappeared first; the so-called heart disease was no more; and the wheezing showed rapid and dramatic improvement. Proper medical advice ended much suffering. A complaining and ailing worker was helped to an improved state of efficiency.

You Don't Need A Ration Card To Use Your Electricity

Electrical power is the only essential item of all war production that is available without restriction. Electricity is an essential ingredient of all war materials. It enters into the manufacture of tanks, planes, guns, ships, bombs and bullets. Power is a part of the arms the soldier carries, the uniform he wears, the food he eats. Since the war began the demand for electricity in war production has multiplied enormously, but despite that fact it is still available in unrestricted quantity not only for war plants and military establishments, but for civilian uses as well.

Age Requirements For NYA War Work Training Is Cut

In view of the necessary expansion of military and industrial personnel for maximum utilization of all available and potential sources of labor, the age requirements for enrollment of youth trainees has been lowered to include youth between the ages of 16 and 18 years whose services would not be immediately required in normal industry.

The Consolidated Aircraft corporation, as well as numerous other concerns throughout the State are employing a great number of 16-year old boys and 18-year-old girls who are graduating from high school this year. Most of these young men and young women will be employed by Consolidated Vultee after they have completed training at NYA resident centers. Sixteen-year-old boys are offered training in aircraft sheetmetal, and are paid while learning this trade at the NYA resident training centers.

Supervision, pay, and leisure time activities have been set up for this age group to meet the policies of the War Manpower Commission and the requirement of the Childrens Bureau of the Department of Labor.

Eighteen to twenty-five-year old women are particularly needed in war industries who have had training in Aircraft Sheetmetal, Machine Tool Operation and Radio and electrical assembly.

A small wage of approximately $16.00 per month is paid to trainees who receive room, board, laundry and medical care while in training.

A typical center is located at Ranger, which is supplying a large number of trained workers to Consolidated Vultee, as well as to numerous other concerns throughout the State. At this center, youth are housed in NYA constructed dormitories. Stone cottages, housing 20 girls each are grouped around a central dining hall adjoining a large recreation center. Each girl has her own clothes closet, shares a dresser with several others, and sleeps in a single bed. Interiors of the cottages are attractively finished in pine wood paneling with venetian blinds at the windows. The kitchen and dining room, administration building, infirmary and Young women as well as 16-year-old boys should see A. D. Taylor, Counselor for the National Youth Administration, as soon as possible, as vacancies now exist at the Ranger center.

S. S. Board Urges Employees Request Account Statements

If you do not know the status of your social security account and have not requested a statement of your account, you should do so, said John Palmer, manager of the Lubbock Social Security Board office, in a statement today. Palmer pointed out that "all careful persons ask for statements of their bank accounts each month. This is not done because of distrust or lack of confidence in the honesty and efficiency of the bank but merely because it is good business and a protection for the depositor and the bank alike. The practice of calling for bank statements is encouraged by banks. The Social Security Board encourages employees to request statements of their old-age and survivors insurance accounts at least once a year and they have made the asking easy."

In order to secure a statement of one's social security account, a worker merely fills out a simple post card, Form OAR-7004, giving his account number, date of birth, name and address, and mails the form to the Social Security Board Candler Building, Baltimore, Maryland. The form may be obtained from any Social Security Board office. This method of securing a statement of your social security account is very similar to that of obtaining a bank statement, where a depositor fills out a form giving the date, the exact date, the exact name of the account and his signature. Any worker can merely write a letter to the address given above, showing his account number, date of birth, name and address, without using the post card, Form OAR-7004, and a statement of his social security account will be sent to him.

Palmer emphasized the importance of checking up on social security accounts at least once a year.

The Prevention Of Coccidiosis In Poultry

(By Chas. A. Taylor, County Agricultural Agent.)

Poultry raisers should be on the alert for the possible outbreak of coccidiosis in chickens as the season is right for this disease. Coccidiosis attacks chickens from the ages of two weeks to five months. The weather conditions in the spring are most favorable for the outbreak and spread of the disease. The first symptoms are that the chicks appear cold and will tend to congregate around the brooder, the wings will droop and the droppings will take on a bloody or brownish color. Losses range from a few to 100 per cent in some cases.

The disease is now prevented through the feeding of sulphur in the mash and continue feeding this mixture until the pullets are 5 to 6 months of age. If the disease is already in your flock feed 5 pounds sulphur to each 100 pounds mash for five days then reduce to the 2 1/2 per cent mixture.

Sulphur should not be fed if the chicks do not have access to direct sunlight for several hours each week. However this should not be the deciding factor as most chicks in Dickens County have access to sunlight from the time they are two weeks old.

For further information contact your county agricultural agent.

CHRIST'S CHARGE TO PETER

LESSON TEXT—John 21:15-24. GOLDEN TEXT—Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.—John 15:13.

Breakfast for a hungry fisherman—that is what our loving and thoughtful Lord had provided on the shore of Galilee. He wanted to talk to Peter, but He knew this was needed first. There are some folk who think that following Christ is a delightful matter, devoid of every pleasure. Jesus never taught any such thing. He attended weddings and dinners even in the homes of those despised by men. But remember that He always did it for their spiritual good, not merely for His own enjoyment; and that He always brought the gathering up to His own spiritual level, rather than stooping to any worldly or wicked standards.

Here we find Him with a glowing fire upon which fish is broiling, and with bread ready for these hungry men. It was just like Him thus to meet in most delightful and satisfying fellowship those who serve Him. Draw up to the fire, Christian friends who are standing afar off. You may be so timid that, like the disciples, you will not dare to call Him by name (v. 12), but if you will come, you will find that the precious fellowship will soon warm your heart.

With the meal over, Christ turned to Peter and in their conversation we find the latter required to

I. Face Responsibility (vv. 15-17).

With kindly persistence our Lord brought Peter face to face with his responsibility of full-hearted devotion to Him. Before service can be rendered there must be a right relationship to the Lord.

Three times Peter was asked to declare his love for Christ. Such a public confession was quite in place, before the man who had thrice denied his Lord was restored to a place of leadership. The words "more than these" (v. 15) indicate that Jesus was asking of him a high measure of devotion. It is no more than He has a right to expect of us.

The conversation after breakfast that morning was a very profitable one. One is reminded, by contrast, that few of our mealtime discussions are very useful. Many (perhaps most) after-dinner speeches and conversations yield little profit. Here is an occasion when such was not the case. One wonders whether we would not be wise to take the suggestion and turn our thoughts and those of our dinner guests to spiritual things. Surely it should be so among Christian friends and in a Christian home.

II. Feed Christ's Flock (vv. 15-17).

We review the same verses to point out that an expression of love to Christ means nothing except as it manifests itself in service. Like Peter, we are to be diligent about feeding His flock, whether they be the young and inexperienced lambs, or the mature sheep of the fold.

We tend to specialize. Even in soul-winning some give themselves to child evangelism while others reach only adults, and would hardly think of dealing with a child. True it is that we have varying gifts, and one does one type of work better than another. But let us avoid over-specialization. Every needy soul is a challenge to us as we present the gospel.

The word "feed" should be stressed. Here again the church has frequently failed. Men and women are won to a decision for Christ, and then forgotten. Sheep must be fed if they are to grow. A teaching ministry must accompany the evangelistic effort. They belong together, and to neglect either is to fail, at least, in that measure.

III. Follow Him to the End (vv. 18-24).

Endlessly ingenious are the devices of Satan. He who had sifted Peter like wheat (Luke 22:31) and had rejoiced in the weakness of his denial of Christ, now saw him stepping out into victorious living. He heard the prophecy of the martyr's death of Peter. So he put into his heart a question. Why should he suffer? What about John? What was the Lord going to do for him?

When our enemy cannot trip us up with temptation to personal sin, he resorts to the device of jealousy. Many promising Christian workers have become useless because they have taken their eyes off Jesus and put them on the persons and work of other Christians. Doing a work which was difficult and unnoticed but very important to God, they have felt the urge to quit because someone else seemed to have the easier task and receive more recognition.

The answer of Jesus in verse 22 plainly states that it is not the place of one disciple to judge the course of life of another, nor to gauge his own devotion to Christ by another's place or service.

The word of Christ to us is the same as to Peter: "Follow me." We have all we can do to live our own lives in a manner well-pleasing to our Lord.

Just Look Who We Are!

Great Aunt Matilda doesn't think very highly of too much coddling. In fact, when someone talks about life-long insurance for every man, woman, and child in these United States, she uses one of her most characteristic old fashioned expressions.

"Fiddlesticks," she says, "What do they think we are anyhow? Softies? Decadents?"

"If we were an old, old country so weary by centuries of living that we hadn't the strength or imagination to fend for ourselves any longer, then maybe it would be a good thing for a benevolent government to come along and take over our cares. But look who we are!" the old lady exclaimed with fire in her eyes. "We're Americans. The kind of people who have always dared to take chances and venture their treasure. Why my own father took one of the biggest risks of his generation when he went all the way around Cape Horn to California in 1849. Suppose he'd been protected by some kind of fancy life-long insurance—whether he did anything or not. Do you think he'd have had the spunk to go on that long dangerous trip in the hope that he'd discover some gold?"

"Then take my grandfather. He risked all of his savings in a little flour mill in which he and his sons worked harder than they ever had before. They made good eventually and became one of the leading families of the community. "Of course several generations before that, there was another forebear of mine who pulled up stakes over in Europe and in order to seek his fortune in the New World far across a wide, unfriendly ocean. . . . Suppose there had been no incentive there? Suppose he had been sure of a living in the old country? Do you think he would have undertaken that perilous voyage?"

"This country was founded by strong, adventurous men and women. It was built by people of unusual courage for the sake of freedom and greater opportunities. "Wouldn't it be selling our birthright for a mess of pottage to sacrifice our time-honored American privilege of individual initiative for the sake of a mediocre livelihood?"

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who wilfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy. . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, "Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?" — Secretary Morgenthau.

MOTHER, WHY DON'T WE HAVE LONG TICKETS LIKE THAT MAN?

THAT'S A GOOD QUESTION, YOUNG LADY, AND HERE'S THE ANSWER. . .

Conductor—You see, you and your mother are making your entire trip on this Burlington Zephyr. Your trip started at Ft. Worth a little while ago and it will end in Denver tomorrow morning. But this gentleman's trip is going to take him way beyond Denver. He's going from there to Billings—then to Spokane and he'll end up in Portland.

Jean—How do you know he's going all those places—did the man tell you?

Conductor—No, but this long ticket did. You see, it's really a lot of tickets linked together just like a chain. Each one of them belongs to a different railroad. Right now, I'm tearing off the Burlington Lines ticket and it says "from Ft. Worth to Denver." After he leaves Denver, he'll ride on several different railroads and as he does, each conductor will tear off his share of this long ticket.

Jean—A lot of other people on this train have long tickets, too. Are they all going where the man is?

Conductor—No, if you could talk to all of them, you'd find they came to Ft. Worth from many different places—from East, South and West. And you'd find, too, that they're headed for a lot of different places.

Jean—Then how do they all happen to be on this same Zephyr train?

Mother—Don't ask so many questions, dear.

Conductor—I'm never too busy to answer that question, young lady. It's because the Burlington is a natural link between railroads of the North, East, South and West, People just naturally find it convenient to use the Burlington. And, with our fleet of fine passenger trains, headed by 14 diesel-powered Zephyrs, they find it mighty pleasant, too. At least that's what they tell us.

Burlington's role as an essential link in border-to-border and coast-to-coast travel, has become doubly significant during these days when both war man power and materiel must be transported efficiently and speedily. We of the Burlington Lines—the Fort Worth and Denver City, Colorado and Southern, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy—more than 35,000 of us are proud to be among the armies of railroaders who have teamed up to do the biggest transportation job, both passenger and freight, in history.

"War Challenges The Family", Discussed By Miss Dosca Hale

Work, Play, Study, and Worship, were given by Miss Dosca Hale, as the main points that a parent has to consider in training a family today. "War Challenges the Family", was the subject of her address given before a group of Home Demonstration club members of Dickens county April 15.

Children should be taught early in life the value of work. Well planned work brings profit as well as satisfaction, and each child should be given some task and be made to feel responsible for doing that job to the best of his ability. The hours spent with the entire family making plans, help to shape the future of the children more than any one realizes at the time. The child learns self reliance and courage to face his task as well as good judgment.

Play and relaxation are also very important in the very trying days. Each person should choose the type of recreation most suited to his personality, a game or good book enjoyed by the entire family brings the family closer together and gives the children something to look forward to when they are away.

Study is also very constructive and must not be neglected. Study broadens our viewpoint on problems in our lives as well as in the lives of others, and makes us appreciate their efforts and be sympathetic with their problems.

Worship is most important for thorough worship and quiet meditation one gains that feeling of calmness, a sense of security and the strength to go on; also under this comes the teaching of the Golden Rule.

Now, as at no other time, must children be taught respect for people of all nations, if we can hope for world peace.

"Never" says Miss Hale, "teach your child to hate Hitler or the Japs rather try to show him the whole trouble was brought about by misguided leadership, and the wrong type of home training.

The responsibility of teaching these things rests with the parents and as parents we must not fall down on our job, if we wish for peace, security, and happiness tomorrow.

After her talk Miss Hale passed questions of current interest to each person present and asked each to discuss the question.

This meeting was held in the Round Up at the Methodist church. Floral decorations were by the Tri-Community club.

Dickens County club members were very fortunate to have had the privilege of hearing such an able speaker as Miss Hale, specialist in parent education and child development, from A. & M. College and each club will profit by her talk for each club was represented at the meeting.

Burlington Offers 25,000 Acres Land For V-Gardeners

Free use of an estimated 25,000 acres of arable land for the cultivation of victory gardens was offered today to garden clubs, individuals and railroad employees by the Burlington Lines.

The lands are located along the Burlington rights of way in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, Colorado, Minnesota, Wyoming, Montana, South Dakota, New Mexico and Texas, and are available without cost for the cultivation of food and certain other crops that will not interfere with railroad operations and safety.

President Ralph Budd of the Burlington Lines, who is a trustee of the National Victory Garden Institute, said the development of "Burlington Victory Garden Clubs" at various points along the railroad will be encouraged, especially at division points and other locations where considerable numbers of Burlington employees are located.

All that is necessary to secure a right of way plot is to obtain an application blank from the nearest Burlington agent. The Victory gardener may select his own plot and, provided it does not interfere with railroad operations and has not been allocated to someone else earlier, a permit will be issued promptly. The only restriction on plantings is that the crops must not constitute a fire or safety hazard and must not obstruct drainage.

Garden permits for the cultivation of food crops on the Burlington rights of way have been granted for many years, Mr. Budd said. During World War I that public was permitted to plant gardens on suitable land along the right of way, and since that time many employees have continued to use railroad lands for gardening. In addition, the Burlington for the last 30 years has permitted farmers to raise alfalfa on the right of way, wherever practicable, and probably has 3,000 or more acres of right of way planted in alfalfa at the present time.

Rationing Board Officials To Be In Lubbock Monday

Ned Hogan, chairman of the Dickens County War Price and Rationing board, today announced that on Monday, May 3, representatives of the Dallas Regional and Lubbock district offices of the Office of Price Administration will be in Lubbock, to conduct meetings with the Price Panels and Price Clerks of the War Price and Rationing boards of Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Stonewall, Kent, Hockley, Cochran, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Gainne, Lamb counties and with representatives of the wholesale and retail grocery trade in these counties.

The meeting with Price Panels and Price Clerks will be held at 2:00 p. m. in Lubbock. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the members of the various boards with the new functions of Price Panels and with the new simplified price regulations.

In the past, merchants throughout the country have had to contact the nearest branch of the Office of Price Administration in order to secure copies of the regulations and to have these regulations explained. In line with the new policy of delegating certain functions to Price Panels throughout the country, the members of the Price Panels will be in a position to assist the merchants to a better understanding of the regulations, thus eliminating the necessity of contacting the nearest branch of the OPA on every problem which might arise. As the Price Panels become familiar with their new duties they will be handed additional regulations with the end in view that they will eventually be in a position to solve most of the problems locally, thus eliminating to a great extent the delay and sometimes confusion resulting from the necessity of contacting the nearest OPA office.

The meeting with representatives of the wholesale and retail food trade will be held at 8:30 p. m. in Lubbock. The importance of this meeting cannot be greatly stressed. New simplified food regulations will be gone into in detail and everyone engaged in the wholesale and retail food business is urged to attend and to bring their individual problems to the attention of those conducting the meeting. This meeting is not intended as a general meeting where the regulations are merely explained, but is intended also to bring out the various problems with which the merchants are confronted and to solve them.

It is understood that Mr. Howard B. Gholson, District director of the Lubbock District Office, will be here, with Mr. Clarence W. Nichols, Regional Price Executive of the Dallas Regional Office, Mr. J. B. Mooney, District Price Officer, and Mr. H. T. Gobens and Mr. W. A. Robertson, District Price Specialists.

This meeting in Lubbock is one of a series aimed at contacting all the War Price and Rationing Boards through the Lubbock District of the OPA, as well as representatives of the wholesale and retail food trade in the whole area.

With the Boy Scouts

On March 15, 1937, the Spur American Legion post decided to sponsor a Boy Scout troop. A. M. Walker, Bob Weaver, Luther Powell and Lawis Lee were elected as committeemen. They in turn elected Cecil Fox as Scoutmaster. Troop No. 36 was organized with 11 members, and Cecil Fox has continued as their Scoutmaster. The troop has lost only one of its original committeemen—Luther D. Powell—who has entered military service. The other members of the troop have continued as committeemen throughout all these years. The troop now has 36 members duly registered an active.

Troop 36 has furnished six boys to the colors, who are today in uniform. This troop has to its credit three organization honors. It is the only troop in Dickens county that has been active in organizing other troops. The Scoutmaster has earned and will receive at the next Court of Honor the Scoutmaster Key, which is one of the highest awards issues to a Scoutmaster for his services and achievements. Lawis Lee, one of the committeemen, has recently been honored by being elected Mayor of the city of Spur.

On April 26, the other three members of the committee of Troop 36, together with a real Scouter for both troops, M. C. Golding, furnished and prepared a real dinner in honor of the mayor-elect, who is a tireless worker for the Boy Scouts of Spur. The dinner consisted of fried chicken, French friend potatoes, coffee and bread—all prepared by the local post in the Scout hall. A cigar and a package of cigarettes were placed at each plate by Scouter M. C. Golding. O. C. Arthur, advancement chairman of the Eastern district, acted as toastmaster. After giving a general report as to the organization of Troop 36, and of its advancement, and the purpose of that occasion in honor of Mayor-elect Lee, and paying tribute to one of this troop's committeemen, Luther Powell, who for the second time is wearing a uniform in the service of his country. Requests For Red Cross Aid From Servicemen Increase

Washington, D. C.—Requests for Red Cross aid to servicemen and their families through Home Service units in local chapters have jumped more than 700 per cent over the average at this time last year, according to reports received here.

Much of this extra work falls upon the volunteer Home Service workers in small chapters, many of whom are devoting as many as 40 hours a week to Red Cross duties. Mobilization of these volunteers to help meet needs of service-star families in every community is part of the nationwide Red Cross Home Service program for the welfare of the armed forces and their families.

These Red Cross volunteers on the home front assist relatives of service men to get in touch with them overseas when emergencies arise. They provide information and consultation service on matters of allotments that haven't come through as well as on problems involving claims for pensions or other government benefits. They provide information needed by military authorities in determining questions of furloughs and arrange for loans or grants to meet bona fide needs.

In one small town in North Carolina, the Red Cross Home Service worker is also the long distance night telephone operator. When he is called away to answer an emergency call from a serviceman or his family, his wife operates the switchboard. In addition to taking care of emergency needs, this worker devotes all his spare time to the numerous and varied human problems that are a part of the routine day of a Red Cross Home Service volunteer.

In a small village in Indiana, the Home Service worker is a rail road telegrapher who works at night and still devotes an average of 35 hours a week to Red Cross duties. He receives no pay other than the many letters which come to him from soldiers thanking him for his part in giving Red Cross aid.

Out in Nebraska, the Home Service worker, an ex-service man himself, now working his full week in a new ordnance plant, has all telegrams and messages for Red Cross service sent to him at the plant so that emergencies can be handled promptly.

In Arizona a Home Service worker, who is a busy real-estate man, often finds his office as crowded with soldiers wives as it is with customers. He helps them find places to live, assists them in securing needed employment, arranges loans often needed when a wife must return to her home after her husband leaves for foreign service, and provides many other helpful services that are a part of the Red Cross obligation to men of the armed forces and their families.

Training classes and institutes are being given in many chapters to prepare volunteer workers

LIGHTENING MONDAY DOES SLIGHT DAMAGE AT LAUNDRY

Last Monday afternoon lightning struck the Spur Laundry, burning out a motor, and for a while it looked like we might have to revert back to rub board days, but the Wilson men are of the resourceful type, and succeeded in borrowing a motor from Hugh Swearingen, Texaco man at Dickens, and in a short time had things going.

H. Snider. The new officials will take the oath of office today (Thursday), and officially assume their duties Saturday, May 1.

Making Ration Books At Home

Uncle Sam's Ration Books No. 1 and 2 cover a good deal of our daily needs, but the Ration Books we make at home are just as important. Unlike Uncle Sam's Ration Books, the home-grown counterfeiting ration cards in Germany, but we are not talking about counterfeiters when we say "home-made" ration books—they are as genuine as a dish of beans or a platter of steak for which we give up a handful of those precious "points" from Book No. 2.

It's like this: Victory Gardens go a long way in season, on the daily menu, but that's only half the story. During their prime there will be some surplus over daily needs, and that's the making of the extra "ration book." Two pounds of snap beans or about three pounds of tomatoes will fill a quart jar, three or four pounds of lima beans will shell out a quart of delicious "baby limas," and so on. Every can or jar that is filled would cost a certain number of points if bought on the market.

To put it another way, a bushel of tomatoes in the can is worth about 300 points, a bushel of snap beans about 416 points, a bushel of limas about 456 points. A bushel of each of these three items grown and processed at home adds up to 1,272 points, more than twice the quota for canned vegetables in Uncle Sam's Ration Book.

This sort of home-made ration book saves the official coupons for buying a variety of processed fruits and vegetables which cannot be produced at home, all of which belongs to the "home front" where the Civilian Defense armies must do as good a job as our boys in uniform are doing on the world-compassing battle fronts.

CORRECTION

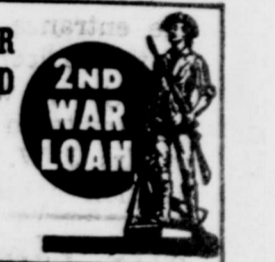

In the servicemen column of the Texas Spur last week the name of Edward Carroll was carried as Sgt. Edward Carroll. This was an error, and should have read Master Sgt. Edward Carroll. He is the son of Mrs. Eufala Randall.

Thirteen billion dollars—the sum the Treasury must raise in the Second War Loan drive, is only one sixth of the estimated cost of the war for the fiscal year of 1943.
