

Lubbock Boys' Club To Get Profits From Rodeo Aug. 24-26

LUBBOCK, Aug. 23.—Opening with a mammoth cowboy street parade at 10:30 Thursday morning, August 24, the American Business club of Lubbock will again present Beutler Bros. Rodeo at the Fair grounds, August 24, 25 and 26.

The rodeo will be held on each night at 8:15 and on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The Lubbock Boys club will receive all profits from the show as they did last year. The profits from these shows will assure the completion of the boys club, a civic enterprise.

Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla., nationally famous rodeo producers, have promised their "top string" of rodeo livestock, as well as nationally known rodeo contestants, and are offering more prize money than any rodeo presented in Lubbock.

The Fair grounds and rodeo arena have all been reconducted for the show, and the well-lighted arena will assure spectators a fine view from any seat, and will give the show the best setting it ever had here.

All members of the American Business club are donating their services, and will act as car parkers, ushers, ticket sellers and will do all the work done at the show, with the exception of the performing.

Monte Reger of Woodward, Okla., will have his assembly of specialty performers for trick riding, trick roping and other specialty acts.

Bronc riding, calf roping, bulldozing and Brahma steer riding will be the contested events.

CHARM (Part 2)

Watch your thoughts. Remember that God's word tells us, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he," and you cannot artificially later your real thoughts will reveal themselves and you will stand before others as you really are.

One day a patient came in my office and related the following: "There are some people in my neighborhood that I dislike. One day I met them and they began joking me about a trivial matter. I spoke to them very insultingly and I am sure that they think that I am rude and ill-mannered. I spoke before I thought. I expressed my real feelings, because I did not like them and was taken off my guard."

This woman probably created a feeling of antagonism and distrust by her unseemly conduct which was due to being momentarily off her guard. She cherished evil thoughts in her heart to which she gave expression in an unguarded moment.

Some women may have carefully trained manners, but really lack of consideration for others, as well as true refinement. Such women will often show this by catty remarks about others. Some of them are so unfeeling that they even hold up the physical defects of others to ridicule. The woman who does that is often trying to be witty, and is really

Duck Creek Soil Conservation District NEWS NOTES

RILEY WOOTEN, Chm. OSCAR MCGINTY, Sec.
WILL WRIGHT TOM MURDOCK A. A. FREY

The Supervisors of the Duck Creek District had a good meeting on August 17. Visitors at the meeting were supervisors of the new King-Stonewall Soil Conservation District, Messrs. R. L. Hight, A. J. Hurt, and A. C. Hecht, and the county agent of Stonewall County, Mr. Cliff Bates. After making a short tour of part of the farms cooperating with the Duck Creek District, the visitors were favorably impressed with the work the cooperators are doing in soil conservation.

The supervisors approved three conservation plans on 6,242 acres as follows: C. R. Kelley of Kent County, J. A. Propst and Franklin Bros. Ranch of Garza County.

Applications for assistance were approved on 10 farms and ranches on 6,535 acres as follows: James B. Reed, B. L. Pickens, Murray A. Lea, Jr., James L. Peak, S. W. Hughes, J. R. McArthur, W. C. McArthur of Dickens County; J. R. George, Mrs. J. F. Anderson, of Kent County and Ada Webb et al of Garza County.

The Supervisors are planning to move their heavy terracing equipment from the Bert Wallace Ranch in about three weeks. They would appreciate information regarding cooperators who desire some terracing work to enable them to route the equipment so that it can do the most good for the District with the shortest possible moves between jobs.

SCREEN STARS

If things are what they seem, there will be quite a cycle of "whodunits" on the screen in the months to come. All of a sudden, movie-makers have discovered the enormous reader-audience of the two-bit detective mystery thriller and have decided to take advantage of the interest—and quick.

A young actor, Ralph Brooks, who is just getting started in Hollywood, thinks he has a "perfect" role in "The Thin Man Goes Home." He opens a door, says three words, someone shoots him, he falls dead and "for the next eight weeks I have nothing to do but lay still while hard-working actors and actresses walk on me, around me, and over me." And—he gets paid for it.

Rosalind Russell was somewhat perplexed as Director Michael Curtis peered intently into the faces of 17 babies trying out for a role in her picture, "Roughly Speaking." Finally, Curtis selected one, baby Alfred

Clairemont Man Is Uninjured When Nazi Hit B-24 Liberator

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATOR STATION—Second Lt. Jehu F. Stewart of Clairemont, was uninjured recently when the B-24 Liberator "Midnight Choo Choo," in which he was flying as co-pilot, was blasted by Nazi anti-aircraft batteries over enemy territory.

Although hitting no one, flak severely damaged the aileron control cables and severed hydraulic lines. The pilot, 1st Lt. Gayle H. Miller of Montgomery, Ala., with Lt. Stewart's assistance, nursed the bomber along while the aerial engineer, Sgt. James M. Marshall of Hermiston, Ore., effected temporary repairs.

Although blinded by hydraulic fluid, the navigator, 2nd Lt. James W. Abell, of Chicago, Ill., managed to direct the "Midnight Choo Choo" on its homeward journey. As a result of Sgt. Marshall's quick repair job, the pilot and Lt. Stewart flew the crippled Liberator back to England, and landed it without mishap.

Lt. Stewart, who in civilian life was a rancher near Clairemont, entered the service at Barksdale Field, La., on Jan. 4, 1941 and was on overseas assignment from March 4, 1941 to March 21, 1943. He entered foreign duty in the European theater on June 3, 1944.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Stewart of Box 56, Clairemont, Texas.

One Advantage

I'm glad my wife is built long and thin, sorter like a shoestring, as you might say," stated Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge.

"Why?" inquired an acquaintance.

"Well, she don't shade the corn while she's ahoing of it like a fat woman would."

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burstan

One of the instruments which plays an important part in air flight is the air speed indicator, which tells the airplane's speed in flight in relation to the air through which it is flying. Ground speed, however, is the speed of the airplane in relation to the ground, and is not indicated by this instrument, but can be computed from the readings. In still air, air speed equals ground speed. In a head wind, the ground speed is less than air speed, and with a tail wind the ground speed is greater than air speed. By adding or subtracting the velocity of the wind, the ground speed is determined.

There are maximum and minimum air speeds between which an airplane can be safely operated. If a pilot permits his plane to go below the minimum indicated air speed or stalling speed, the plane tends to become unmanageable. Diving the airplane beyond the rated maximum speed takes it beyond the safe limits from a construction viewpoint.

In addition to its use as a safety instrument, the airspeed indicator aids in navigation. It is also possible for the pilot to tell from any indicated change in speed if the plane is not in level flight during poor flying weather.

On the green south of the Administration building of Texas Technological college, Wednesday night, August 16, 73 summer graduates received degrees conferred by Dr. Clifford B. Jones for his last time as president of the college.

The audience then sang the college hymn, "O College Mother, Beautiful" and Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lubbock, pronounced the benediction.

Among the graduates were the following from Spur: Winifred Lee Hurst, Bachelor of Science in the Home Economics division; and Bonnie Mae Campbell, Bachelor of Science in education.
