Cotton Ginnings Higher This Year; Lower Quality

In a report the county's 780 farmers will be interested in, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says Texas cotton ginned previous to August 1 averaged almost strict middling in grade and about one and one-third second inches in staple length.

Speeding through the night, the driver of this car was momentarily blinded by approaching headlights. Because he was going too fast to control his car instantly, he swerved off the highway and crashed into a telegraph pole with such force that the car was almost broken in two. He was dead when help arrived. National Conservation Bureau advises night-drivers to keep their eyes focused on the side of the road, never to look directly into headlights—and most important of all—to drive at moderate speed.

BOLL WEEVILS KEPT DOWN BY DRY HOT WEATHER

Continued hot, dry weather over most of the state has helped to keep cotton insects, especially boll weevils, at a low ebb and insect damage continues very light except in isolated areas or spots, according to a report prepared for the Spur by K. I. Ewing, USDA, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Chas. A. King, Jr., Texas Agricultural Extension Service and F. L. Thomas, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The boll weevil infestation increased from an average of 14 per cent last week to 12 per cent this week. At this date in 1946 the state average boll weevil infestation was 40 per cent and in 1945 it was 56 per cent.

Flea hoppers have decreased to below the damage point in practically all fields except in northwestern areas. The average infestation in 821 fields examined was 9 flea hoppers per 100 terminals this week, compared to 11 last week. Considerable damage is being done in northwestern areas and excellent flea hopper control is being reported.

Bollworm infestations remain light and scattering, with only a very few fields showing heavy populations or damage.

One small leafworm larva was found August 2 in Burleson County. This makes a total of five leafworms found this year in four counties. As far as known, no poisoning has been done anywhere in the state for leafworm control.

The Texas Extension Service recently issued a release entitled "Prevention of New Cotton Pests." This mimeographed circular gives suggestions in regard to the use of chlorinated camphene, the "5-3" mixture of DDT and benzene hexachloride and benzene hexachloride alone.

In large-scale experimental tests, both with ground machine and airplane, it was found that this year have definitely confirmed last year's results.

KEEPING COOL—IN COTTONS

Vivacious Veronica Lake, who has her warm moments, knows how to keep cool, too—she slips into a crisp cotton playsuit, thrusts her toes into a pair of air-cooled sandals, and has the answer to the question of what to do about the heat.

Additional cotton profits are within reach for each of Dickens County's 780 farmers through cotton grade improvement, according to the National Cotton Council, which strongly urges growers to plan now to pick their seed cotton while it is dry and to keep all cotton harvested this fall free of trash between high grade and low grade cotton. The difference in price between the two grades is so great, the council declares.

Extra cotton cash can be gained with the same size crop by extra care in picking and handling. All cotton this fall should be picked before it is damaged by the weather.

Weather Dickens County makes 5,000 or 8,000 bales of cotton, the National Cotton Council says. The principal factors in determining cotton grades are color, leaf cotton grades and the amount of trash, other foreign matter and spinning preparation.

Spinners, advised early that the area is advised, are becoming alarmed over the presence of foreign matter in cotton since there is much less waste to cotton containing little or no foreign matter.

Good grade cotton will be in strong demand this fall. It is produced, and every pound produced this fall can be used in one of cotton's numerous markets.

All cotton, in view of the excellent price offered should be ginned as early as possible. Any seed cotton ginned or wet is lower in price and staple length.

Center grade, also, will mean less danger of cotton fires this fall at Dickens County cotton fields.

"Demanding" Peace Dangerous

"Everywhere I have found that the people demand peace," declares Henry A. Wallace, after a sixty-day tour of five foreign countries and many states of the United States.

We believe that the people of this country want peace but it would be a dangerous state of mind for them to want it so badly that they fall into errors which invite aggressive war.

The idea that peace can be had in the world by resolutions or by disarmament is as dead as the dinosaurs, but, unlike the giant, prehistoric beasts, it still stalks through the land. It is a grave danger because it threatens to develop an antagonism to proper measures of defense. Moreover, if peace becomes the only goal of the American mind, it will be paid for at a price which will eventually enslave Americans.

Illustrations

The news services recently related how Jon Hall, the screen actor, and Frances Langford, his wife, escaped injury when their plane made a forced landing after being hit by a small calibre rifle bullet.

The newspapers and radiocasters made something out of the incident but the sensation almost disappeared when Mr. Hall was forced to admit later that he and his wife were not on the plane when its propeller was damaged.

The incident illustrates the quickness with which some screen actors hunt for publicity, but, to the same extent, it illustrates the readiness of the press and radio to "play up" a story.

A Stove Is Fireproof

A stove is an excellent example of "fire-proof" construction. It remains intact while its contents burn.

The fact is that many buildings, advertised as "fireproof," are like stoves. They are loaded with combustible contents that provide sufficient fuel to feed large fires.

This was the case with the Winecoff hotel. Its naked walls today stand undamaged, although smoke-scorched, in Atlanta, Ga.

Mention of the Winecoff brings to mind the furor throughout the nation to improve the safety of hotels and other places where people congregate in large numbers. Apparently, the public mind has been lulled to rest. Another tragic fire will reawaken interest in building safety.

Down To Grass Roots

Statement of Governor Beauford Jester of Texas that he will recommend the next Texas Legislature finance a search for grasses that will withstand droughts touches on a subject dear to the heart of all West Texans who own livestock and depend on the range for a means of livelihood.

It is true that in scattered sectors all over West Texas we have allowed our native grasses to die out and have allowed filaree, wild onions and even bind weed to get footholds to the detriment of native grasses. We have, in instances, allowed sheep to graze native pasture lands too close and afford the quicker, temporary variety of vegetation to choke out mesquite grass and leave some pasture lands open to ravages by dust storms and erosion.

Deferred grazing, under program of the federal government, has done more to keep alive native grasses than any other one measure. eradication of prickly pear and mesquite has helped us considerably, but when we find grass that will withstand the ravages of drought—whether we have to import the seed from Mongolia or Peru we will have taken our greatest step forward to insuring a permanent and profitable agriculture.

No man or woman can afford to have the condemnation of the people around them.

This is a good time of the year to be sure that your minor children know how to swim.

If anybody has an idea that the world has reached perfection we would like to know who it is.

Government by minorities through organized pressure may yet wreck a proud republic.

Program for a screen actor to win an Oscar: Play the part of a man thoroughly inebriated.

Well, we guess if some congressmen would introduce a bill to give all newspaper men a grand each the newspaper men would be a statesman.

CURRENT COMMENTS

By LEON GUINN

Great Britain, for reasons of economy, is cutting down the size of its army in some spots of Europe and may, Washington learned this week, have to inform the United States of troop withdrawals from Italy—even before ratification of the Italian peace treaty by the Russians. Word from authentic sources reveals, incidentally, that Great Britain is giving serious thought on wisdom of earlier decisions to postpone further restrictions on imports until it sees how the Marshall Plan develops. British cabinet members are fearful an import crisis may develop while the future of the Marshall Plan still is obscure.

There is little, if any evidence, to indicate very much will be done but one can safely say that the investigation launched by the Brewster Committee will call for other Congressional investigations for months ahead. In the position of being "starved" for 1948 campaign material, the GOP Congress (before adjournment) authorized a record number of probes of the Democratic Administration. Inquiries in the mill, or about to break out in the open will include "inquiries" into the Post Office Department, housing, surplus sales, U. S. Maritime Commission, government personnel, etc. One may look for the U. S. Navy, U. S. Army, America's foreign policy (a prime subject for much juicy probing indeed) and a dozen other subjects to be put at least temporarily on the Republican "inquisition" griddle.

One can say what one cares to, blame everybody from dog catcher to the experts who forgot to include their last set of digits in the governmental budget, but the woeful news (for the Republicans) leaked out this week that federal spending for 1948, despite rosy promises of the GOP economy program, will almost match President Truman's estimate of thirty-seven and a half billion dollars. This figure would take into account deficiency appropriations and all other authorizations that will doubtless have to be made when Congress returns.

By way of explanation, the cashing of GI terminal-leave bonds will be counted as a direct appropriation out of this year's income. The U. S. Treasury may have a record surplus in 1948, however. A revised and much more completely detailed estimate of revenues indicates a total of almost forty-two billion dollars. Really, no one group of economists or experts should have delved so far into the future as to get out on a limb as to have declared we would "whack" government spending by any figure—since many unknown factors still lie ahead which could change the entire picture even overnight. Before the next 12 months end our spending for foreign aid alone may alter our whole budget; our policy of helping oppressed peoples overseas resisting Soviet aggression may cost us many millions of dollars we have not yet planned to spend.

Eager to get in at least a few weeks fishing, glancing and resting from the grind of official Washington life, our congressmen already have a rather sharp outline of fundamental policies staring them in the face when they reassemble in the capitol. First on the list will be appropriations, naturally, for the Marshall Plan; universal military training (and this time as a "must" item) and some sort of a tax reduction plan. Just when Congress will get back in the harness is still uncertain but observers say there is a chance that plenty of "dynamite" will be gathered by early September to hasten need for a unified body of lawmakers—and action on at least two vital measures.

Casting about for reliable signs of the future, observers say a sharp decline in exports will occur at the end of this year; a decline that will pinch when Europe's dollars start running out and before the Marshall Plan lending replenishes the supply. A slump in exports may well jolt our national economy because exports at the present are running more than $20,000,000 each 12 months and account for 11 per cent of U. S. production. Manufacturers are getting the most benefit and would be the first to feel the blow; and start laying off employees.

Although some of the details may not be released for many months, assurances to finance

PROPER BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL MEASURES can save farmers of the Cotton Belt up to $100,000,000 this season, the National Cotton Council states.

Hints On Laundering Dark Cottons

Laundering dark cottons and linens, such as navy or black, has long been a problem for housewives because quite often a soapy film is left on the surface of the material when it is dry. That shouldn't worry housewives any longer—not if they do it this way explains Miss Lee Ann Williams, Dickens County Home Demonstration agent:

First, use detergents, the soapless kind, but be sure and read the directions on the package, as some detergents are used for cotton, while others are recommended for rayons. Next use gelatin instead of starch. Dissolve one tablespoon of gelatin in a little cold water and then add two quarts of boiling water. The amount of water used depends on the desired stiffness of the garment. After the garment has been washed and rinsed, and while still damp, dip it into the gelatin solution, squeeze out, roll in a towel and iron while damp.

Senator Connally Leaves For Inter-American Conference

WASHINGTON.—Senator and Mrs. Tom Connally sailed from New York on Saturday, August 2, for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Senator Connally is a delegate to the Inter-American Conference for the Maintenance of Continental Peace and Security, which meets in Rio on August 15th.

President Truman is expected to attend later meetings of the Conference. Secretary of State Marshall will also attend.

"The meetings of the Inter-American Conference for the Maintenance of Continental Peace and Security," said Senator Connally, "will implement and complete the agreements made at Chapultepec in 1945, at which Senator Austin and myself were the United States Representatives.

"The objective of the Chapultepec Declaration is to provide for the maintenance of continental peace and security of the United States and the twenty other American Republics of the Western Hemisphere. It aims at the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere. In order to maintain continental peace, it is proposed that an attack upon any one of the American Republics shall be regarded by all of the other nations as an attack upon its own integrity and security. This applies both to attacks from without the hemisphere and within the hemisphere.

"A further purpose of the conference is to protect democratic institutions and free government in this hemisphere and to prevent interference, infiltration or aggression by any nation of Europe or any other foreign power. The United States lifted high the torch of liberty in this hemisphere. With the revolutions of the Latin-American countries from Spain, governments were set up in this continent based upon a republican form of government and largely modeled upon the United States pattern. It is of vital interest not only to the people of this hemisphere but to the people of the world that democratic institutions and free government shall survive here, and shall grow and develop in order to attain the finest and best for all the peoples of the world. Communism cannot survive in such an atmosphere. Totalitarianism is not nourished by democratic processes and constitutional government. These foul principles will not be tolerated here. It is our hope by a United Western Hemisphere to smother them and extirpate them wherever they show their ugly heads.

"Of course peace within the hemisphere is one of the cardinal objectives. And then freedom from outside interference or encroachment is also of the highest importance.

"Secretary of State Hull rendered distinguished service in both of these fields. We hope and expect to carry forward, these principles to glorious success."

FARM PRODUCTS GAIN ON SOUTHWEST MARKETS

(USDA)—Many farm products gained ground on southwest markets last week, and others held their own fairly well, according to a report prepared for the Spur by the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

New crop corn started moving from South Texas farms last week, and white corn prices declined several cents per bushel. Yellow corn advanced, however, as dry weather in the corn belt threatened damage to the crop. Oats, barley, and grain sorghums strengthened some, too. Decreased marketings of winter wheat sold firm and Midwest and Great Plains growers had about completed the record harvest.

Some early new crop rice sold in Texas and Louisiana last week at $10 to $10.50 per barrel. Most feeds held about steady to firm but gray shorts and bran dropped $3.50 to $5 per ton. Dry weather improved hay demand, and prices advanced $1.50 to $2 per ton. South Texas rains helped growing peanuts, but North Texas and southern Oklahoma became very dry. Wool saw active trading in advance of the reinstated government purchase program which began August 6 under the new wool act.

Newly ginned cotton from South Texas found good demand, and most offerings graded strict middling or better. However, spot prices netted losses of $1 to $2.

Southwest peaches sold lower last week as demand slowed, especially for the smaller sizes. Hot weather held watermelons firm at most markets. Colorado peas and cauliflower weakened, but beans and lettuce sold firm. Potatoes, onions, and tomatoes from southwestern producing areas strengthened slightly toward the end.

With hotter weather, top quality eggs became even more scarce, and markets held firm. Prices stayed up fairly well on liberal offerings of medium to lower grade eggs. Demand for poultry slowed some, but prices remained generally firm on moderate receipts. Heavy hens brought mostly 22 to 26 cents, and fryers 32 to 37.

Hog markets generally overcame early-week losses to close mostly 25 to 50 cents higher. Closing bulk of good and choice medium weight butchers sold at $27 at San Antonio, $27.50 at Fort Worth, $27.75 at Oklahoma City, and $28.50 to $27.25 at Wichita. Week's top at Denver was $30, within 25 cents of all time high.

Sheep prices remained largely steady for the week, and most spring lambs went a little higher. Medium to good spring lambs brought mostly $18 to $21 at San Antonio, and closed at $19 to $22 at Fort Worth. Closing bulk of good and choice grades sold at $22 to $22.50 at Oklahoma City, and around $24 at Denver.

Many cattle classes brought lower prices last week. Most stocker and feeder types, as well as slaughter cows, calves, vealers, and bulls dropped from 50 cents to $1.50. Steers and yearlings weakened at some markets. Common and medium cows brought $11.50 to $14.50 at Houston and Fort Worth, and $12 to $15 at San Antonio and Wichita. Medium and good kinds moved at $13 to $15.50 at Oklahoma City, while common to good kinds sold at $15 to $19 at Denver.

Cecil Bennett who has been here for the past two weeks resting and recuperating at the home of relatives will leave Friday for his home in Louisiana.

B. T. Moore will leave today for Refugio, Texas where he will visit in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Brown Smith and Mr. Smith and family who were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. B. T. Moore last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Moore left Thursday for their home in Tulsa, Oklahoma after attending the funeral services for Truman's mother, Mrs. B. T. Moore.

Jake Varnell, county clerk of Dickens county was a Spur visitor Tuesday and attended the Lions Club while here.

Lewis Hickman of McAdoo was in town one day this week and while here he renewed his subscription to the Texas Spur.

Mrs. C. M. Neel and sons of Clovis, New Mexico and Mrs. George Glover and sons of Lubbock spent last week as guests in the home of Mrs. Cuba White.
Both Mrs. Hardwick and Mrs. Glover are former Spur residents.
Zell Ellis arrived in Spur last Thursday to visit in the home of her mother, Mrs. W. W. Ellis and other relatives and friends here. Zell is on the faculty of the Fort Sumner, New Mexico schools.

Mrs. B. F. Hale returned last week from a two weeks vacation at Ruidoso, New Mexico, where she has been enjoying the cool weather with her two sisters, Mrs. Floy Vanclave of Greenville, Texas and Mrs. Bert Stapp of Stamford.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Edwards of Dickens were in Spur the latter part of the week attending to business here.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS ARE FOR PEDESTRIANS TOO!

Wait! The few quick seconds it takes the light to go amber or green may be the difference between life—and death!

Traffic lights aren't just for drivers, they're for pedestrians, too. They are your signals of safety. Drivers and traffic officers expect you to obey them. Yet in 1946, over 2,800 persons were killed at intersections. In addition, more than 4,000 jaywalked into the Hereafter between intersections. From all causes, 12,200 pedestrians—men, women and children—were given a ride to the morgue! They died at the rate of 33 every day.

Fantastic? Sure, but deadly true. Of pedestrians killed who were old enough to drive, only 10% ever drove a car. That may be one reason why pedestrians have to be told, again and again, that traffic lights and all safety regulations are for them too. They have never experienced the responsibility of driving.

If you are a pedestrian, learn to cross with the lights, never run out from behind parked cars, or cross between intersections. Don't stand in the street or highway. Always be alert.

This advertisement is presented in the public interest by the President's Highway Safety Conference and the daily and weekly newspapers of the nation through their Press and Publisher Associations.

Receive Baylor Scholarships

Miss Jolene Tate, Slaton, and Miss Hazel Patton, Floydada, have been awarded Fannie Breedlove Davis scholarships from District 9 of the Texas Baptist Women's Missionary Union, for the 1947-48 school year at Mary Hardin-Baylor college. These two were selected from a group of applicants in 19 counties which comprise the district, according to President Gordon G. Singleton. The scholarships are awarded in honor of one of Mary Hardin-Baylor's former students, Mrs. Fannie Breedlove Davis, who led in the organization of the Texas WMU and who aided in the founding of the Southwestern WMU. She served as the first president of the Texas WMU. Miss Tate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Tate, 705 South 7th Street, Slaton. West Texas Grasses Do "Unbelievable" Things Says Rancher

COLLEGE STATION. — Old time ranchmen of Archer County are saying that native West Texas range grasses do almost "unbelievable things" in grazing when given a chance. The ranchmen are giving their grasses that chance by clearing mesquite growth off the range, and giving forage grasses room to grow, reports C. W. Wilhoit, Archer County agricultural agent. Wilhoit says that Wayne B. Ray, stockman in the county, has a certain track of land that would carry 40 head of cows 10 to 20 years ago, if the cattle were given extra feed three months out of the year. Seven years ago the mesquite grubbed off the pasture, and for the past three years 100 to 120 stocker cattle have been sold off the same land. Ray tells the county agent that this increase has come about without the extra feed bill and that his cows have been in even better flesh than when they were getting extra feed on the mesquite pasture. Mr. Eldon Webb and daughter, Elvia have returned to their home in Los Angeles, California after a visit here. Mrs. Webb and sons, Wayland and Carl Dean will remain for a more extended visit in the home of Mrs. Webb's mother, Mrs. Frank Smith of Afton. Mrs. Sam T. Tips On Sugaring Fruit Preserves Enlistments Open COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 10. Here's a tip for housewives on making preserves out of the fruit crop that's coming to market now.

Fruit preserves are successful only if the fruit holds its shape, yet is tender and translucent in syrup, home economists for the U. S. Department of Agriculture say as they explain that sugar has a firming effect on fruit tissues but must be applied differently to various types of fruit.

Sugar is added "straight" to tender, juicy fruits like peaches, cherries and berries. If the fruits stand overnight in sugar, they become firmer and are less likely to go to pieces in cooking. The sugar draws out the juice and shrinks the fruit somewhat, but the juice provides enough liquid so that no water need be added, and this shortens the cooking time. The shorter the cooking, the better the color and flavor. Juicy fruits with a firm skin, like plums, do not need overnight firming. But because they are juicy, they are put in thick syrup. This helps keep their shape as they cook, and the juice, as it cooks out, thins the necessary amount.

Firm fruits like quinces and crabapples are put in thin syrup to cook, for thick syrup toughens them, and, too, they have time to cook tender while the syrup boils down.

Mrs. W. C. Gruben accompanied Miss Charmain Coe to Dickens where she went by bus to Nocona, Texas where she will visit her grandmother before returning to her home in Jasper.

Dogs Derive Little From Bone Chewing

"Different Breeds Do Not Require Different Kinds of Food"

Should a dog be given bones? Except through the teething stage, when a puppy needs help to soothe the chewing urge and rid itself of baby teeth, there is no real benefit from such practice, states Russell K. Lowry, in "Better Homes and Gardens."

While the average adult dog is able to digest pieces of bones, the nourishment he thus derives is of little consequence, says Lowry. On the other hand, the constant gnawing of bones tends to wear off the tooth enamel, rendering the teeth useless or subject to disease before their normal time. An excellent way to extract the valuable matter in bones is to boil them three to four hours in water and use the resulting broth to impart flavor by pouring over or mixing with prepared dog food.

Declaring that "proper feeding is the most important single factor in the raising of healthy dogs," Lowry sums up the fundamentals of the canine diet. Because his article is such a simple and clear

This picture, taken at one of the past performances of the Dublin Rodeo, shows Colborn Bowl, which has a seating capacity of 9,000. This year's rodeo, to be held Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 4, 5, 6 and 7, will be the roughest, toughest in the Southwest. Gene Antry will give a performance at the shows on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Night performances begin at 8:00 o'clock. The Sunday afternoon performance begins at 2:00.

This reckless driver and his companion were speeding crazily through a thickly populated residential area, endangering the lives of dozens of people. Fortunately their wild ride ended before they had involved anyone else. The car went out of control on a medium curve and slammed into a gasoline pump, hurling its occupants onto the pavement. The driver was killed; his passenger lived—after many months in the hospital. Speeding was a reported violation in one out of every four motor vehicle fatalities last year. Strict enforcement of speed laws, and waning public opinion are needed to prevent accidents of this type.

Grown dogs don't need bones.

statement of what every one should know about the proper feeding of his dog, the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, New York, has reprinted it in booklet form, and will send a free copy to anyone who requests it.

Some of the more common superstitions about dog feeding are also exploded in the booklet. "Milk does not cause worms. Garlic or boiled onions do not eliminate worms. If your dog wolfs his food, don't be concerned." "Different breeds do not require different kinds of food—only the quantity changes."

To quote further from the booklet, "Dogs are rugged individualists. Even two dogs out of the same litter may differ in their food requirements, their likes and dislikes. One may require a pound of food a day, where the other may thrive on less. One may have a hard time digesting vegetables, while his brother handles them famously." For these reasons, it is explained, it is all but impossible to lay out a specific diet—that is, item by item—even for dogs of identical size and weight. Only by experience can the dog-owner learn the kind of food and its quantity which will best agree with his own pet.

Raise A Puppy, Then Baby, Couples Told

Raising of a puppy is the finest sort of preparation for the rearing of a baby, workers of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, believe.

They point to the finding of Lawrence K. Frank, a recognized authority on child care who himself has raised six children and many puppies, and who states that an understanding of the fact that babies are "human puppies" can be of enormous help to parents in dealing with the problems and vicissitudes of raising a family.

Both puppies and babies, when new-born, are dependent, helpless and demanding, he points out. They require frequent feedings and much sleep, and crave petting and affection. When hungry, hurt or uncomfortable they whimper or cry. Like the puppy, the baby will acquire politeness, emotional balance and self-discipline or will become a petulant and discordant individual depending on the manner in which he has been treated while small, he states.

Lack of national unity is the most serious problem facing the United States in the opinion of Democratic Representative John Bell Williams of Mississippi, above, who is quoted in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine as saying: "Lack of national unity is our most urgent problem. A united America is invincible against foreign threats; hence foreign threats to our national security are hardly as ominous as those which work from within. Many 'social' and 'economic reform' groups ostensibly 'crusade' for overhauling of our social and economic system. These organizations of deceit—boasting many patriotic but misled Americans—are actually Communist and Fascist fronts, or are infiltrated with 'subversives'. Our future depends upon the eradication of these evils. These groups pit race against race, class against class..."

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Puckett of Lubbock visited relatives in Spur for a few days last week.

The word should be passed around as gently building Germany at the expense of other Western European Powers and that Germany's military potential will be policed over a long period of time will, if you watch closely, be underscored as the "rock bed" negotiations of the Marshall Plan proceed... France, sooner or later, will give her ultimate consent to an increase in the German level of production and to tri-zonal administration of Western Germany.

Say what you will, but each week counts heavily in regard to the 1948 presidential sweepstakes and those with an ear to the ground say plenty will happen before Thanksgiving rolls around... John L. Lewis, for one thing, remains the great unknown among the labor politicians and even though he is reported advising Dewey Lewis has not taken any public position... Too, one may look for the Republicans to draft a program of social and welfare legislation which may include Taft's health, education and housing bills; anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills... Since labor has shown a marked tendency to swing back to President Truman since Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Bill the developments during the next six months would be anyone's guess.

Persons with even a mercenary interest shudder to think what will happen in Europe before the approaching winter ends... Even with all the help America can give Europe there will be much suffering and many will succumb to the ravages of famine before the spring of 1948 revives the war-gutted nations who are filled with restless people on the march; people who realize the major powers of the world dare helpless to agree on a sensible, workable plan of immediate relief... The United States and Great Britain wishes it were possible to keep entirely out of Europe's messed-up state of affairs, but with the world entering a crucial stage from several different angles at the same time all the U. S. and the British can do is to "carry on."

Just what we will do about lagging plane development in the U. S. remains something of a deep, dark mystery that not even the most cynical member of Congress will venture a guess on at this time... At least one major aircraft company has completed plans for a jet-powered transport plane but leaders of the industry see no way of moving forward unless the armed forces are given adequate funds to finance development of military craft; after which modified designs for commercial use would follow... Lack of orders for a military version of the 400-mile-an-hour Republic Rainbow, for example, has virtually killed chances for faster airline schedules in the immediate future... We are scrapping so many of our war-weary craft that one day we will be faced with an aircraft shortage that really hurts.

as possible, but key railroad executives concede the fact that most of the proposed 16 per cent freight rate boost will be passed on to consumers; yet they declare the amount actually will not add much to the individual family bill... To be feared, however, is a plea that some merchants might put up to the effect higher freight rates would call for "fictitious" price increases... Naturally, higher freight rates will be first reflected in the cost of perishable foods... The ICC, by the way, is slated to approve all or most of the increase—which in turn should add about a billion dollars a year to rail revenues.

The news cannot be too good, but every sign at dawn, as capitol commentators put it, indicates an era of labor calm in prospect at this time... It is gratifying to recall that the majority of the AFL and CIO contracts will not expire until next spring, and neither side seems inclined at the moment to break existing agreements... Those threatened strikes against the Taft-Hartley Act for some strange reason are not materializing... Unions, for instance, are even receiving advice from their lawyers to settle controversies by collective bargaining and without recourse to the National Labor Relations Board—pending judicial interpretation of the new law which has teeth that can bite.

If civilians and business men over the nation would keep their loud mouths closed, all would be well on America's home front for the present, but there are a few, Washington reports, who keep on yelling about a recession... A continuing prosperity will be indeed possible and probable if we keep wages high, farm income at its present high standard and with the backlog of unfilled orders for automobiles and durable goods we should have "good times" for at least 36 more months. The labor front is rather peaceful at the moment and there seems to be no indication major strikes will break out anywhere soon... Prices, Washington concedes, are a little too high but not at such dangerous point as to produce a bust in the near future.

In the stage of consideration, for instance, is a very detailed cost of living study by Taft's committee and the Senate Banking Committee... With House agreement, the study will doubtless be started this summer and a report on same delayed until the next session of Congress... A separate investigation of housing costs also is planned for this summer... A full-range investigation would be welcomed by certain Washington lawmakers because they believe the lag in construction is the soft spot in our national economy... Such a study, once it got underway, would include a minute examination of building codes, and would delve rather embarrassingly into uneven allocation of what building and construction materials are available.

Press Cypert who lives at McAdoo, and farms his mother's farm one mile east of McAdoo, had terraces built on the north quarter last winter and now declares that the crops on the terraced land are much better than on land not protected with terraces. "There was no one who 'cussed' terracing and contour farming more than I, but after seeing what Paige Gollihar's and Riley Wooten's terrace systems have done for them, there is no doubt in my mind that conservation farming pays," Cypert stated. "I am going to have the south quarter terraced as soon as I can get a contractor in the field."

Jud Smith, cooperator of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, who lives three miles west of Afton, plans to plant about ten acres of grass this fall. Smith believes that it will be necessary to leave a cover of dead vegetation on the surface of the land to protect the young seedlings next spring from wind erosion.

J. E. Hobson of Elton will plant some Madrid sweet clover this fall on some badly eroded land in an attempt to build to a productive state. "It is easier to take care of land while it is in good shape rather than let it wash away and then try to fix it," remarked Hobson. First year Hobson placed and he has taken care of it by terracing erosion resistant 20 acres of ryegrass on some sandy soil to be used as a pasture.

D. J. Yoakum is satisfied with the plan for the district this year and anticipates a successful year.

"MY FAVORITE BRUNETTE" CO-STARS HOPE, LAMOUR

The master mind, Bob Hope, detects an air of femininity—Clever boy in this scene with Dorothy Lamour from "My Favorite Brunette."

A. Conan Doyle had his Sherlock Holmes and S. S. Van Dine had his Philo Vance, but Paramount has Bob (super-sleuth) Hope in its new comedy, "My Favorite Brunette," and thereby undoubtedly hangs a tale of unrestrained hilarity.

The nation's favorite laugh-getter and his favorite girl friend are supported by a stellar cast, which is exceptionally heavy in "heavies," including such screen villains as Peter Lorre, Lon Chaney, Jack La Rue and John Hoyt, the sinister Gestapo officer of "O.S.S." The cast also features Reginald Denny, Ann Doran and Willard Robertson.

As in his most recent hit, "Monsieur Beaucaire," Hope is again a victim of mistaken identity, but this time it is of his own volition. "My Favorite Brunette" opens with Bob unobtrusively pursuing his trade, baby photography, while nursing a frustrated desire to be a private detective.

Consequently, when the lovely Miss Lamour, so desperately excited that she mistakes Hope for the private eye next door enlists his aid in the search for her missing uncle, Bob grasps eagerly at the opportunity. Dottie entrusts a mysterious map to Hope's care, and before he solves his first and last case, Bob tangles with a gang of insidious foreign agents seeking a secret uranium mine, finds himself almost at home when he's trapped in an insane asylum and winds up in the death cell at San Quentin, framed on a murder rap. Here is a situation to try even Hope's riotous repertoire of tricks, but he is said to be howlingly successful in gagging his way out of the tough spot.

"My Favorite Brunette" was produced by Daniel Dare and directed by Elliott Nugent. You and demanding hope for the best in seeing require frequent comedy, for the word is that much sleep, and a petulant and individual depending on ner in which he has been while small, he states.

Boll Weevil

sults in showing that a 20 percent concentration of chlorinated camphene and a mixture of 5 per cent DDT and benzene hexachloride containing 3 per cent of the gamma isomer will give entirely satisfactory control of heavy infestations of bollworms and boll weevils.

Cotton growers are advised that they should not expect to obtain control of boll weevils or bollworms with low concentrations of DDT and benzene hexachloride, such as a mixture now being offered for sale, containing 3 per cent DDT and 2 or 3 per cent benzene hexachloride.

Southern Texas—The tropical storm August 1, which centered in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, did considerable damage to open cotton in the extreme southern part of the State. The heavy rains throughout this area will probably cause late-planted cotton to keep fruiting and be ideal for breeding late generations of boll weevils, unless stalks are destroyed early.

Central—Cotton is rapidly maturing. "First bales" have been shipped as far north as Waco. In spite of scarcity of squares, 301 fields inspected in Milam, Falls, Williamson, Bell, McLennan and Hill counties showed only 11 percent weevil punctured squares, with only 4 fields in the last two counties above 25 per cent. Bollworms mostly light and scattering, with an occasional damaging infestation. Aphids were reported light in 130 fields, medium in 31 and heavy in 7.

Northwest—Seventy-five fields examined averaged 2.3 per cent weevil punctured squares: The average flea hoppers by counties were Nolan 59, Taylor and Scurry 17, Fisher and Runtels 23, Wilbarger and Mitchell 11. Bollworms were scattering.

South Plains—Seventy-one fields inspected averaged 12 flea hoppers per 100 terminals, the same as last week. The averages by counties were: Lynn 17, Martin 16, Dawson and Howard 12 and Lubbock 10.

Trans-Pecos—Relatively high infestations of Hemipterous insects are reported in cotton in the El Paso and Pecos Valleys. Forty-six fields in El Paso and Hudspeth counties averaged 21 Hudspeh bugs, mostly Lygus per sweeps of the net. Stink bugs on the increase. More dust than ever before is reported in this area.
