Electric Lines

A well-known columnist recently criticized an electric power company for what he considered a gross failure to extend service to a small, marginal farming region. He said that failures of this character undermine the free enterprise system, and open the way for some form of socialism. Whatever the facts may be in this particular case, it would certainly be unjust to use them as grounds for condemning the electric industry as a whole. The truth is that private enterprise, not socialized enterprise, pioneered farm electrification in this country long ago—at a time when great financial risks were involved and no one knew whether the innovation would be a success or not. It has gone steadily ahead in bringing central station service to less regulated rates, to millions of farmers. At the present time, the industry is carrying on the greatest and most costly expansion program in its history—and farm electrification is receiving a top priority. Within a very few years, practically every farm in the United States will be able to obtain this service if it wants it. The cost to the industry in making service easily available will run into the billions—and every penny of it represents private capital.

The columnist was dealing with an isolated instance. There is probably another side to the argument. But, whether there is or not, the vast majority of power and light companies are pushing farm electrification to the limit. They are cooperating with farm groups and organizations on both the national and local levels. And the lines are being built.

How To Save Tax Money

The Bureau of Reclamation, according to an announcement by a Commissioner, wants $300,000,000 a year in appropriations for the next six years. The proposed program, with a total cost approaching $2,000,000,000 of the taxpayers' money, would irrigate some 3,875,000 acres of land, and add 2,250,000 kilowatts to Federal generating capacity by 1954. This is a grandiose scheme, and it will appeal to the "free spender" but it is an extra-on bet that a large part of the money, and perhaps most of it, would be an unnecessary waste of public funds. The private utility industry has a multi-billion dollar expansion program underway which will create all the new generating capacity we can use. It will, when completed, provide a reserve capacity of 13 to 20 per cent over anticipated future demand. It won't cost the taxpayers a penny, and it will create very substantial new sources of tax revenue for the Federal government, the states, and local government as well. That is the way free enterprise—without benefit of public subsidies, freedom from taxation, or any other artificial advantage—is grappling with the problem.

The word "reclamation" has a pleasant sound. But it is being used to camouflage a program whose end result would be the complete socialization, at incredible expense, of the power resources in the nation. If Congress is really looking for a way to cut appropriations without imperiling any essential undertaking, such as the national defense, the Reclamation Bureau is a place to start. And the same applies to the rest of the tax-exempt government power agencies, existing and proposed. Private enterprise is doing the job, which is as it should be.

EIGHT CROPS ONE FARM

Jack R. West, farmer near Monroe, Lubbock county, sounds like he might be one-man competition for the Rio Grande Valley. West owns 238 acres of irrigated land, with six wells. He has eight crops on the same land, some already harvested, some to be harvested.

Potatoes were put in 162 acres, and produced up to 200 sacks per acre. The 140 acres are in cotton harvested out to one and a fourth bales per acre. Crops yet to be harvested are sugar beets, 70 acres; 22 acres of tomatoes; 50 acres of peas, to be combined; 29 acres of onions and 3 acres of bell peppers.

The surprise crop from the farm was lettuce. Some ten specialized irrigation farmers around Monroe planted a total of 230 acres of head lettuce, and West's 23 acres harvested to the tune of 300 crates per acre. County Agent D. W. Stewart says that the cool fall weather in that irrigated area is ideal for lettuce and the crop grossed about $300 per acre.

SELLING CULL LIVESTOCK NOW PAYS TWO WAYS

WILL BRING GOOD PRICE AND SAVE GRAINS FOR EFFICIENT ANIMALS

Removing unproductive, inefficient livestock from a herd is good business at any time, but is especially desirable and profitable under 1947 conditions. That is why close culling of livestock is strongly recommended this fall by Extension Service livestock specialists and other authorities.

Livestock producers who carefully select unprofitable animals and sell them this fall profit two ways. The cull animals sell at unusually favorable market prices, and more high-priced grain is made available for feeding the more efficient animals remaining in the herd.

Several factors are important in selecting cull animals. Culling should include crippled, diseased and poor-quality animals, and unproductive breeding stock. In the breeding herd, it is desirable to cull cows that have missed calving for one or two years; they are likely to be fat and bring more money when sold. Dairy cows that produce less than the herd average are worth more when sold than when kept as "boarders." Sows which have farrowed small litters are not paying their share of the cost of feed and care. Hens that have stopped laying and are getting fat are robbing the flock of profit. As a rule, it pays to cull animals that are passing their period of usefulness because of age, and to replace them with younger stock.

Rigid culling will allow farmers and ranchmen to feed more generously animals that are able to return a profit for the feed they consume. However, under present conditions, even the best animals should not be fed to grade higher than "Good," as the extra finish requires too much grain. Young and pregnant animals will have more feed at the time when their nutrition needs are most critical, helping to insure better, heavier calves, lambs or pigs next year.

Culling also will aid the improvement of permanent pastures, especially important in the Cotton South. With unproductive animals eliminated, proper stocking of pastures and ranges is encouraged so that livestock operators will be in better position to capitalize on the use of better grazing in the future.

Another major advantage of culling stressed by livestock authorities is that it will help to reduce the hazard of continued large livestock inventories. They urge the elimination, now, of many animals which have been kept in the herd in the past because of the general upward trend in prices. For these reasons, close culling is recommended this fall as one of the important steps in the good management and feeding of livestock which will help solve the problem of scarce and high-priced grains. Other practical methods of saving and using grains efficiently will be discussed in future articles of this series.

Lease Form Protects Both Parties

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 12—It's farm lease signing time for land-lords and tenants and chances are they'll find Texas A&M College's B-144, "General Farm Lease Form," helpful in getting together on their agreement.

Thousands of the lease forms have been used since they were first issued in July of 1946. The instrument contains 13 major headings and provides for some fifty questions which might arise. Points on conservation practices, rental rates and arrangements, livestock share agreements, hunting and fishing rights and improvements and repairs are covered.

The form was drawn up by an A&M committee consisting of L. P. Gahard, chief of the division of farm and ranch economics of the Agricultural Planning; and J. Wheeler Barger, head of the department of agricultural economics.

Barger says that, on the basis of its 18 months' trial to date, the "lease form" is a protection for both parties and will save time and money. He added that the principal concern of the committee was "not to produce something useful in court, but rather something to keep people out of court."

A Houston bank issued a reprint of the lease form in addition to the thousands of copies so far distributed by the Extension Service. Copies of B-144—which comes in two copies, one for landlord and one for tenant—can be secured at the offices of county agents. It's free.

Superintendent Cook Discusses School Problems

The Twentieth Century Study Club was privileged to hear Mr. C. F. Cook, local superintendent, discuss "The Problems of Spur Schools and How to Meet Them" in the home of Mrs. O. C. Arthur.

Mr. Cook gave a most able analysis of the conditions in the local system, and even though the school has shown satisfactory progress the past year, Mr. Cook has a great many plans for the future.

Bud Morrison of the Morrison Ranch south of town was a business visitor in Spur Tuesday.

Johnnie Koonsman of Dickens was in town last week attending to business here.

CHURCH OF CHRIST PROGRAM

Morning services at the church of Christ on Sunday of November 23 will include Bible Study at 10 and worship at 11. At the hour of worship Frank L. Cox will take for his theme "The Ministry of Restoration," using the language of the apostle Paul in the sixth chapter of Galatians as the basis of the lesson. The sermon will be followed by an observance of the Lord's Supper. The young people's evening class will meet at 6 p. m. Evening sermon at 7 p. m. Subject: "Jesus, Our Savior". Ladies meeting with Mrs. Oscar McGinty as teacher Monday at 4. Wednesday: Prayer Meeting at 7.

Spur's "B" team laid Girard Peacock 'quinn'. Their score tallied up 14 to 7 at the end. The girls gave way to Peacock's victory in a 31 to 19 struggle.

If you have passed Girard lately you have seen action in the gym, not the ball teams working out until 12 midnight, but the men and boys in the community running two sanding machines, but it is certainly going to be something we will all be proud of when finished.

Superintendent Howell and Coach Woolley attended the meeting last Thursday night in the interest of District 88 basketball playoff, which was held at McAdoo. Mr. Howell was elected Director at that meeting and the schedule will be published in next week's Texas Spur.

Girard News

SENIOR NEWS
We certainly have had a change in the weather not saying anything about our recent disaster. Everyone cold and despondent was suddenly warmed and made alert when they heard of it. We have just been robbed of about $25 in cash! This was candy money that we had taken in each day in our sales. The robbers also got away with some $30 of other class money. They undoubtedly did not have any need for the candy we had without money. They left it and the vault, which had some important papers in it, in a ravine near the school house.

Sheriff Jeff Watley and deputy came to investigate. Later they were attended by some special investigators from Lubbock. We hope they will be successful in finding the robbers and our "loot" (although its our "loot" that is bothering us most).

Some of the seniors have been very busy. We hope they will hurry and be back real soon.

GIRARD GIRLS BEAT SPUR
Thursday night, with dreary weather outside, the Girard girls divided up into "A" and "B" classification and boarded a bus for Spur. Both teams eager and anxious for that first point battled a difficult game for the first quarter where Girard took a lead of 11 to 1. Just before the half, Spur dropped in a beautiful shot making the score at the half 21 to 3. Final scores were 36 to 15 in Girard's favor. This was the hostess' first game so we are expecting more competition next

THINK OF THESE THINGS

YOUR ABSENCE FROM CHURCH—

Made some question the reality of Christianity
 Made some think that you are a pretender
 Made some regard your spiritual welfare and that of others as a small matter
 Made the church service weaker
 Made it more difficult for the preacher to preach
 Made the brethren discouraged and robbed them of a blessing
 Made others apt to stay away from church
 Made it harder to meet the temptations of Satan
 Made the habit of non-church-going stronger
 Made Satan more powerful over the lost souls
 "Let us hold fast the confession of our hope that it waver not; for he is faithful that promised and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and good works; not forsaking our own assembling together, as the custom of some is, but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as ye see the day drawing nigh." Hebrews 10:22-25.

THE ROWEL

CANDAL

Myra and Darwin seem to be in making hay while the sun shines, but what about after gets dark?

Margaret Wood and Clyde Blair were getting along fine until Joan Higgins said she saw him first. What a controversy! Bobbie Morrow is counting the days until Thanksgiving. We wonder why? Could it be Roy is coming home? Could he?

Which will it be Annette? Wayne Smith or Toby Collett?

Darold is one who changes around—Friday night it was Robbie Gibson, Saturday night it was his original—Jamie Neil, who will it be next?

Friday night after the ball game Mac Brannen and Barbara Vaughn were doing very nicely. Who knows this may lead to a great romance!

Ernest are you and Zelda Cox steady or are you just in a rut? Let us know will ya?

Juanelle and Ju Ron had a wonderful time Friday night, didn't you kids?

These parties seem to work fine for Galen Hays and Creola Rector. They love 'em—and we love these flirtships.

Homer really has a hard time. Just about the time he "discovers" a girl, some other boy beats him to her. Too bad, kid, but haven't you ever heard—"The early bird gets the worm (ahem, girl)?"

Several of the HS students were celebrating birthdays last week—and the way they celebrated! Doris—"naughty on you". They say there was an angel in the crowd. Can't imagine. I guess Piny celebrated good and proper—such pretty flowers Joe—good candy too!

Well, in parting, I say—There's one thing I like about these Spur High couples, they're all steady—steadily changing of course, I mean!

"AUNT SUSIE SHOTS THE WORKS"

This is the title of the Senior Play. Rehearsals began Monday, Nov. 17 at 4. The cast includes: Aunt Susie Stowe (an eccentric old maid), Creola Rector; Joy Herbert (her delightful young niece) Barbara Brumley; Scarlet Deane (Joy's colored maid) Virginia McNeill; Laura Dawson (another maid) Donna Gene Wright;

Madame Zola (who sees all, knows all and tells nothing) Owen Driggers; Mrs. Deward Dunning (a neighbor) Jean Copeland; Portia Lark (a female lawyer) Bobbie Morrow;

Omar Graves (a successful business man) Kenneth Hairgrove; LaSalle Johnson (his colored servant) Billy Jo Crafton; Johnny Rogers (engaged to Joy) Ju Don Ricketts; Slick Conroy (who adds to the mystery) Alvin Causey.

"Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" is a mystery in three acts which will be presented Thursday, December 18, 1947.

PEP SQUAD

The Pep Squad has been doing an excellent job yelling at all the games. It has done its part at every game to boost the moral of the players. The girls know their yells and songs and are ready to yell at any time.

As the football season draws to a close the pep squad is just as anxious to yell as it was the first game. The girls are looking forward to the next two games and want to do a better job yelling at these than at any previous game.

If the boys play as well as the girls are going to yell, Spur should be victorious.

LARGE CHARGE

Zella proudly tells friends that if they ever need any typing done to come to her. She is now typing 30 errors per minute!

Miss Noack turned on Basil. "Young Man," she said, "I will have to keep you in after school again!"

"Okay!" replied Basil, "But I'll have you know that half of the town says we are going steady!"

Cop: "How'd you get the flat tire?"

Galen: "Ran over a milk bottle."

Cop: "Didn't you see it?"

Galen: "No, the kid had it in his pocket."

To you readers: You may not like the stuff use—but you should see what we refuse!

"Looks like rain" mused Annette as she set the coffee on the table in the HE lab.

"Yes, but it tastes like carboic acid."

Jamie: Darold is like a "flash light!"

Doris Ann: Why?

Jamie: Because he is useful in the dark.

Big Drop of Ink: "Where has your big brother been lately?"

Little Drop of Ink: "Haven't you heard? He's in the pen finishing a sentence!"

Pike: I'm a magician.

Cash: What can you do?

Pike: I can turn water into a bath tub.

Marlene: Who is that tallest member of the Bigger Family, Mother Bigger, Father Bigger or Junior Bigger?

Peggy: Junior because he is a Little Bigger.

BAND NOTES

By Bobbie Morrow

The band made the trip to Monday, backing the boys at full speed.

At the half the band made their entrance on the field from the North, led by the drum major, Virginia McNeill. They marched while playing, "Symbol of Honor", to the south goal, made a square counter march, returned to 50-yard line, made a right column and went into the formation of an "M" honoring Monday. Then they counter-marched to the opposite side of the field and made an "S" honoring Spur. After a third counter-march and column left, they marched off the field playing "Symbol of Honor".

If you noticed a plaque in the band but window it is their good luck horse shoe mounted.

THE RIGHT WAY IS THE BEST WAY

Rules of etiquette are like the red and green traffic lights. Without rules to go by we would all crash into one another's feelings.

Actually, each rule of etiquette comes into being because it is found to be the best way to meet a certain situation.

When we don't know what to do next, we become awkward and self-conscious because we are fearful of what others may be thinking of us.

There is no surer way of making ourselves likable than by being interested in others instead of thinking about ourselves.

By putting the following rules into constant practice, you will soon be following them instinctively. That is when they will really start paying you back for your efforts!

MANNERS ON THE STREET:

1. Safe rules to follow for behavior in all public places are: Don't talk too loudly, make personal remarks that might offend someone, stare, knock into people, talk across them. Take up more than your share of space, call out a name in public unless absolutely unavoidable, or attract undue attention to yourself.

2. When a man is walking on the street with a girl, he should walk on the curb side. This is still true even if he is walking with two girls.

3. A girl should not necessarily wait for the man with whom she is walking to open the door so she can enter first. However, if it is a heavy door, he should hurry ahead of her to pull it open; or, if it pushes in, he holds it open by standing against it.

4. The Whirlwinds defeated the bulldogs 13-6 earlier in the season at Floydada, but the Bulldogs have shown great improvement since then as the final score in Friday's game shows.

BULLDOG 2nd TEAM DEFEATS FLOYDADA FRIDAY

By Galen Hays

The Bulldog second string defeated the Floydada 2nd in a spectacular game Friday night. There were no scores made in the first half of the game, but Blair got loose and ran approximately 50 yards to score in the 3rd quarter. Both teams got down in scoring territory several times, but no more scores were made until the 4th quarter when Blair again broke loose and ran over. The extra point was made by Lindsey, who made a center plunge and went over. Both teams showed up well and good blocking was done by the lines.

in New York fix the styles, but the Department of Public Safety makes the laws. Since the skirts are so long they can wait, but these laws need attention and quick, so here are a few rules to remember:

Boys when you are soliciting rides on the highway in order not to break a law remain on the shoulder of the road. And "gang" get a load of this, reckless driving shall be punishable by fine of from one dollar to $100. Oh, you had better take your ruler with you while driving, especially when parking. I bet you didn't know that it was against the law to park within 15 feet of a fire hydrant, 20 feet of a crosswalk or intersection, 50 feet of the nearest rail of a railroad crossing, and last but not least upon any part of a highway (park on the shoulder).

I guess that's about all you can remember this week, but I'll be back next time with more rules. Remember these rules and maybe you can remember more
