Fire Destroys Home Of Former Muleshoe Resident At Ralls

Word was received here Saturday that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Kieth, of Ralls, was entirely destroyed by fire early Saturday morning, with nothing at all saved. Mr. Kieth was badly burned about the arms and shoulders.

Earlier in the night, Mr. Kieth was awakened by a noise outside. He investigated, but found no one. Thinking possibly it might be burglars, he placed his purse under the head of his bed. Some two hours later, they awoke to find his house in flames. While their house was burning, the house just across the street was robbed. It is thought the Kieth home was set to ignite the burglars at work.

No insurance was carried, it having expired a month ago, had not been renewed.

Mrs. Kieth, nee Miss Eunice Paige, is a sister of Mrs. Wm. G. Kennedy, and is well known here, having been one of the teachers in the local schools two years ago.

Muleshoe Nine Wins Over Amherst In 12 Inning Game

The strong arm of Bentley last Sunday led the Amherst nine to believe that there was something wrong with the ball that he was trying to throw. Bentley was very successful with the Amherst boys, letting them out to only six hits which brings himself in line with the higher leagues. It was his strenuous pitching that led the Muleshoe to a victory over the Amherst club of 5 to 6 in 13 innings.

The game was the fastest and most thrilling ever seen on the Muleshoe field. It was a real fight from the very first with both scoring the first time at bat. Dewey Walker, lead off man, hit a single and followed by a single of Aughtman's. Walker went to third, then with an error Walker scored. The third inning went for the visitors as our boys had not straightened out and a few errors was recorded in this inning, scoring the total score for the visitors to 5 to 2. For several innings at this, a very fast game, three up and three down, until Muleshoe scored an inning in the seventh, making 3 to 5, then after all had been going to look down hearted with the feeling of defeat. Stegall led the nine to the path of a rally followed by Milton Dyer, both singled and were safe. Jim H. Dyer's single through the pitcher scored the two runs that tied the game. A battle then started, it was a pitching battle between Guinn and Harmon, and in the outcoming Guinn was the winner.

It is said that Amherst was a habit of winning all their games and that up to Sunday some of them claimed not to know where the town of Muleshoe was located. We venture to say it will be easier for them to find the place now.

A large and enthusiastic crowd attended the game.

SELLS FARM

A deal was closed Monday whereby John Rogers of New Mexico acquired about twenty acres of the Leon Kropp place just north of town. Possession was given at once. Mr. Kropp moving to between Guinn and occupying the G. Dodson house.

Hail, Rain And Wind Damage Crops In Bailey County

Rain, measuring in some sections as much as five inches, fell over Bailey County Saturday night and Sunday. In some localities only showers were reported, while in the Muleshoe territory 39 inches fell. The section that was severely damaged was in the West Camp neighborhood. Crops to the extent of about three thousand acres are a complete loss, according to reports. It is said that within an hour or two, something like five inches of water fell, accompanied by hail, which covered the field and roads. About 1200 to 1500 chickens were also said to have been drowned by the farmers in the community, one man finding 103 fliers dead in one bunch. Plans were being made Monday for replanting crops as soon as the farmers could get in their fields.

"Picked Currents"

By An Office Devil

The Santa Fe has purchased 40 per cent of the stock of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad and is negotiating for the remaining interest. Only a short time ago the Orient was an orphan road, and seemingly wanted by none of the large companies. However, with a competent man at its head, the Orient not only came out of bankruptcy but began to be a paying proposition. If the Santa Fe gains control of the Orient a saving in mileage of about 100 miles on Mexico to Kansas City freight will mean millions of dollars annually.

And speaking of railroads, Texas is about the only state in the Union to date where rail building to any extent is being carried on. The Santa Fe, the greatest return, and they are competing with other large systems for lines over West and Southwest Texas, which is an empire itself with its resources barely tapped.

Attempts are being made to rean the shiping Italia, which was wrecked in the Polar ice last week. It is reported that the crew is safe, but wireless communication is difficult. Supplies for the stranded men are expected to be landed within a day or two.

One of our modern airplanes, moving at a record speed, would gain about seventy miles per second on bullets fired from a service rifle. This result is deduced by Lieut.-Col. Sharpe, of St. Louis, who has made a study of speeds attained by paid-up bullets. The information is also given that on maneuvers at San Antonio, airplanes were able to lay smoke screens on a marching column of troops and could have completely surrounded them without danger to the airmen. This should be a lesson to the wise senators who howl for billions of dollars for battleships, and argue that the doughboy is well equipped for modern warfare.

Capt. Carranza, of the Mexican Army, has just ordered a flight from Mexico City to Washington, D. C. The trip was made in about eighteen hours. Although it was to have been a non-stop flight, it was delayed by a storm to land in North Carolina, just two or three hours from his goal, on account of fog. The world is not so big, after all.

The world is at peace again. Last week there were only reports of a few thousand killed in China, about a dozen blown up in a riot at Buenos Aires, demonstrations and rioting in Austria, a few American marines and rebels killed in Nicaragua and riots in Italy. Hostilities are expected to break out in Texas about July 28.

KILLED AS AUTO IS TURNED OVER

Cecil Roberts, about 30 years of age, and resident of Fort Worth, was killed and C. S. Seawright was slightly injured when their car turned over several miles north of Venus late Monday. The accident occurred as the car attempted to pass a wagon loaded with oak. Seawright was thrown clear of the car and Roberts was pinned beneath it, his skull was crushed.

Roberts is survived by his wife and daughter of Fort Worth, his mother, Mrs. H. F. Roberts of Venus; and a brother, Godrick Roberts of Venus; also three sisters, Mrs. A. W. James of Ponder, Mrs. S. R. McManion of Venus, Mrs. H. C. McManion of Muleshoe.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Venus Baptist church with burial at Venus Cemetery—Alvado Bulletin.

Messrs. J. F. and Buck Lee returned to their home at Aspermont Saturday after spending several days in the J. W. Lee home.

Mrs. Buck and Clyde Lee, of Aspermont, are spending a few days with Mrs. Joel W. Lee. From here Mrs. Clyde Lee will go to Antionchico to make that her future home.

RIDING BOTH HORSES SELDOM PAYS

Governor Moody comes out of the Beaumont convention an ostensible victor. The delegation to the national convention at the platform and a dry plank in the platform and a dry candidate. The Governor will head the delegation, selected not by the district committee, as he finally said he wanted it done. Apparently, he has won at every stage of the proceedings.

But it is apt to prove not only a hollow but a very costly victory so far as the Governor is concerned. In its wake have been left political wounds that even time may not heal. Close friends and wheelhorses in his campaign for Governor—men like John Boyle of San Antonio and Steve Pinckney of Houston—charged him openly with breaking a solemn agreement. The Love faction, to which he went in the final hours of the convention earlier in the proceedings had said ugly things about him and at one stage its leader, Senator Love, had hurled at him an admonition that "crooked politics never pays." The Smith followers openly charged him with having "double crossed" them.

Thus the Governor, in his apparent victory, occupies the unique and unenviable position of playing with both sides. He is charged with having used the votes of the Smith contingent to defeat the Love proposals for instructions against Smith and any other wet candidate, and at the same time joining with the Love group to pick the delegates so that no Smith man or of Smith's leanings remained on the delegation. Worse still, he is charged with having delayed the report of the committee until sufficient Smith delegates had left to make his going with the Love faction assured, the desired victory. Thus playing with both sides, he was denounced by both sides and his own explanation to the convention, which he interrupted, to call call to make many a bad matter worse. Declaring himself a believer in the principles of local self government and the right of the districts to choose their delegates, he nevertheless maintained that the convention itself should pass upon or choose those selections. Although the convention had previously instructed its delegation for a dry plank and a dry platform, he demanded some additional safeguards to guarantee that the delegates so named and elected by the convention instructions. Thus he placed himself in the light of impugning the integrity of the delegates to be chosen.

His position in this respect reminds one of the story of the man with the "burritual" wife. She didn't care what he did so long as he didn't have any fun. The Governor favored the right of the districts to select their own delegates and the right of local self government, just so long as the delegates were hand picked.

It was a situation of course that produced bitter feelings and called forth varied explanations and apologies. Those opposed to the Governor and his course charged him with playing with both sides and his former friends and campaign managers among the Smith contingent charged it to deliberate purpose and characterized it as a bit of "double crossing." Others sought to explain it on the ground of the Governor's youth and inexperience in politics; to the fact that "Dan's a good boy and means well, but he doesn't know what it's all about." This, of course, is the easiest and more gracious explanation of the two; but, if it is correct, the campaign slogan, "We've had a woman for Governor; we've got a boy for Governor; it's have a man" would seem to have more merit than usually attached to a campaign phrase.

But regardless of what the true explanation may be, the spectacle at Beaumont was not only regrettable. To have the Governor of the largest, and the greatest Democratic State in the Union, and the chairman of its own delegation to the national convention denounced by both factions and held up by one as a "double crosser" represents a shameful picture to the visitors we shall have at Houston. To say the least of it, and irrespective of how one may feel toward Governor Moody, it is something that people with pride in their state and party cannot relish.—Cart Worth Star-Telegram.

PLENTY OF ENTERTAINMENT FOR HOUSTON DELEGATES

Houston, Texas—Delegates, alternates and visitors attending the Democratic National Convention in Houston, June 25, will be regaled with a wide variety of melodies by the bands which will appear on the streets, hotels and other points of vantage, including the Hospitality House and Coliseum, during the life of the national meet.

But—there's one tune, which will be absolutely TABOO. And this information comes directly from the committee in charge of band activities. "Marching Through Georgia," a melody which was composed soon after General Sherman's march through the Cracker State during the war between the States, will be eliminated from the programs. This ultimatum, principally in deference to the Georgia delegation, but also a sarcastic gesture toward the entire South, was among the first issued by the committee.

General Jacob F. Wolters, chairman, announces that all bands promised will be on hand, and that it is intended to arrange the band schedule so that two bands will be on duty in the Coliseum at all working sessions—other units will be paraded to the railroad depots to greet incoming visitors.

As a pleasant surprise, it was planned to have the welcoming bands greet the respective delegations by playing airs familiar in their home States. Copies of these selections are already in the hands of band leaders, and rehearsals are now under way.

Among the bands scheduled for the convention, in addition to the Houston Municipal Band, will be Brownsville's famous "Old Gray Mare Band," Cold Medal Band, Memphis; Dallas Municipal Band, donated by the citizens of that city in honor of Jesse H. Jones, and which will be his personal band throughout the life of the convention; Edinburg Band, crack Rio Grande Valley organization; the Magnolia Petroleum Band, Beaumont, a prime favorite with the radio patrons throughout the nation by virtue of appearing over the ether from time to time; Missouri Pacific Booster Band, headquartered at Palestine, and one of the finest bands in the State; Houston's own 143rd Infantry Band, and the novelty, Houston Ladies' Band, consisting solely of Houston housewives, and which is said to offer a rare treat not only to the ear, but to the eye, since all the musicians are unusually pretty.

Arrangements for quartering the visiting bands are complete. Some will be stationed at various fire departs throughout the city. A room in the Democratic Building has been set aside for the use of the bands.

TEXAS VETS TO ENTER—TAIN OKLAHOMA BUDDIES

San Antonio, Texas—Plans for a special train and for auto caravans to carry some 2,500 former members of the Thirty-sixth Division from Oklahoma to their annual reunion at San Antonio in connection with the tenth national convention of the American Legion October 8 to 12 are well under way.

Jim Kendrick, of San Antonio, member of the reunion arrangements committee for the division, has just returned from conferences at Oklahoma City with representatives of the division. Governor Henry S. Johnson of Oklahoma, Adjutant General Barrett, and the various unit commanders of the Forty-fifth Division have all been invited to attend the convention as the guests of the Thirty-sixth Division.

Oklahoma's contingent in the division during the world war days is now included in the Forty-fifth Division. Arrangements have already been made to care for the Oklahoma delegation at St. Mary's University where Mr. Kendrick is director of athletics. Accommodations in the nature of a tourist camp will be provided at the university for 1500 men. Special accommodations for 200 men and their wives will also be available. There will be places to park automobiles, check baggage and so forth.

Buildings of the university will be thrown open to the delegation and meals will be served at nominal cost in the St. Mary's dining hall. Transportation will be provided by regular bus from the university to the downtown district.

Major John E. Gilstrap, in charge of the United States veteran's bureau offices at Oklahoma City, and Col. Earl E. Patterson, of the Oklahoma adjutant general's office, are working details of the plans for the big Oklahoma group.

LARGE NUMBER ENROLL FOR TECH SUMMER SESSION

Lubbock, Texas—More than 800 students have already enrolled in the third summer session of Texas Technological College, and this number will be considerably augmented as enrollment still continues. E. L. Dooney, registrar, estimates that the registration for both summer terms will run well above 1,000. This is a fifty per cent increase over the attendance of last summer. There is a notable increase of transfers from other institutions who have come to Texas Technological College to pursue graduate study during the year to remove no support laureate and pleasant climate of the South Plains. With a light norther blowing on opening day students from the lower altitudes wore overcoats with fur collars and went about shivering with the temperature below 40.

Great Need of Church Is Increased Sense of Authority in the Ministry

By BISHOP FREEMAN (Protestant Episcopal).

A CHURCH without problems is undesirable. But it is ridiculous that the church should persistently outlive the faults and follies of its exponents and yet hold the affection of men over the world. More aggressiveness is needed because of increased opposition from without and a development of supineness within the church. The thing that is conspicuously lacking in the ministry is its sense of authority. Affirmations and pronouncements based on certain words of Christ which once had incisive authority now are yielding to speculation and negation.

That there have been, within recent years, disclosures of inefficiency in the church, must give any thoughtful man pause. There is serious need for statesmanship and the employment of the best strategy in the present situation. There may be need for a new alignment of the forces, and possibly for a change in the personnel of our leaders. That there is need of consolidating the ranks and a simultaneous and aggressive forward movement is conspicuously evident.

The church needs authority and conviction. A day where every man indulges in personal liberty to such an extent that he does that which is right in his own eyes, independent of what its effect may be upon others, will mark the beginning of disorder, and the break-up of those things that, by long experience, have proved indispensable to the orderly ways of decent and profitable living.

Men are groping for the truth, they are yearning for a new manifestation of spiritual power, they are insisting that speculation and negation shall give place to deep conviction born of experience. They will heed only him whose message and whose ministry bear the unmistakable evidences of a divine imprimatur.

It is difficult to lay down hard and fast rules as to the proper time to plant the different products we are able to grow.

The home garden will produce more in dollars and cents than any other area of equal size on the farm. Indications point to a favorable year for gardening.

Any grower wishing to grow staked tomatoes should begin with not more than 1,000 plants the first year and gradually increase his plantings from year to year as seems advisable.

Specialists at South Dakota State college advise that corn silage is quite beneficial to lambs only if fed in small quantities in connection with a regular ration and not as the only roughage.

Allowing barley to germinate and form root sprouts seems to encourage the old hens to eat it. The best results will come when some corn is used in the ration along with the barley.

On that battlefield on April 21, 1836, Gen. Sam Houston led his small band of Texas, inspired to heroism by memories of the Alamo, to victory over the Mexican Army, freeing Texas from Mexican domination.

"A GOOD MAN GONE"

This was the heading of the article written by one of our old Baptist ministers who has resided in Rains county for the past forty years and now is laid to rest himself.

It might appear a little strange that we hand herewith the following letter to the editor and ask that he give us space in his paper for it, but there is a few who will be interested to know the life of the father of the Dyer boys and girls. Yet it was not our fortune to have with us our Daddy.

He was taken from us when the oldest of the four boys was quite young, leaving mother with the responsibility of raising four boys and two girls. Our father was no better father to us than our mother has been a mother, but mother's words and deeds will speak for themselves. The following extract of condolence was clipped from several papers.

The falling of an undergrowth attracts but a passing notice, but when a giant oak crashes down we stop to note its fall and to consider the vacant place where its trunk and branches towered above everything around it. And so in human life. Little attention is paid, save by a near few to the continual passing of earth's mortals from the island of time to the mainland of boundless eternity. But when the white winged, silent and swift sailing ship of death touches at our shores and bears from our midst a character that towers above his fellows and has stamped the mark of his power and influence upon the minds and hearts of the people of a wide section, the whole country mourns.

Thaddeus Henry Dyer was born at the old Dyer homestead, some four miles east of Emory in Rains county, February 19th, 1837. Reared by christian parents under the strict discipline of former years he grew to manhood with the average country boy's advantages and disadvantages. Making the most of his opportunities, he acquired a fair common school education and then attended the Sam Houston Normal Institute for teachers, from which he graduated with honors.

On Dec. 23rd, 1894, he was united in marriage with Miss Lillian Hopkins in Liberty county, Texas.

With the exception of the time spent in school and about three years spent in Bunnels county his entire life was spent in Rains county.

At sixteen years of age he professed faith in Christ, joined the church and lived a devoted christian life—in fact it was his consecrated life more than any other one thing or perhaps all other things, that made him an exception among men. In all our life time we have never known a more devoted worker in and year out christian character and as such he wielded an influence for good that earthly alone can measure.

Friday night of last week, Dec. 4th, 1914, death claimed him, after a short illness with pneumonia.

One of the largest concourses of people ever seen at a funeral in Rains county gathered at Pilgrims Rest Sunday afternoon to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom they had known only to respect and love.

Funeral services were conducted by the editor assisted by Rev. Ed Harris and the remains laid to rest in Pilgrims Rest cemetery to await the coming of that day when the sleeping dust shall be resurrected, revived and reunited above everything around it that we all loved so much.

Rains county has lost a citizen that always stood for what he believed the best thing for all its people in every way. Pilgrims Rest community has lost a leader in social, educational and religious affairs whose place will be hard to fill but above all his family has sustained a loss that is absolutely irreparable. But while we as a people lament our loss and sympathize with the bereaved family, we realize that he has gone on to reap the reward of a life spent in the uplift of humanity.

In the language of holy writ, "He being dead yet speaketh," and his influences that have gone out from that noble, self-sacrificing life shall go on deepening and widening in time, only to be measured by the endless reaches of a boundless eternity.

While we bow with sorrow we would kiss the rod that smites and look forward with glad anticipation to the dawn of that eternal day when we shall again strike hands in the elysian fields of the Paradise of God, never to part again.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellman, of near Littlefield, were attending to business affairs here last Friday.

TEXAS TOURIST CAMPS

While Marfa and some other places may be backward in providing for tourists Texas stands first in the entire United States in number and beauty of Auto Tourist camps, according to the secretary of the Texas Camp and Park Owners' Association, who is in a position to know. He names a number of the large city camps that are among the best equipped in the whole country, and says that there are many others just about as good. Texas has 350 tourist camps now, with about 50 more under construction and being hurried for the summer trade.

SERVICE THAT ADDS MILES TO FIRESTONES

The service rendered by Firestone dealers is designed to save you money and serve you better. Thousands of motorists have learned from experience that this is responsible for many extra miles from each Firestone tire. In the first place, a Firestone service dealer uses Firestone equipment and the Firestone method of tire repairing. That is why it is possible to guarantee results from every job that is undertaken.

Firestone Tire Service includes: the checking of air pressure, aligning the wheels, inspecting rims, inspecting the tires and giving helpful advice. Each detail is handled by men thoroughly familiar with Firestone's principles. The men know they have a reputation for quality and dependability to uphold, and they take pride in doing the best work.

Every car owner should avail himself of the opportunity to check up on the condition of his tires. If he did this, he would not only save money on repair bills, but would get many extra miles of trouble-free service from his tires.

POLO INTEREST INCREASES

A glance at the papers shows that the interest in polo is increasing in Texas. Especially is this true in the western part of the State, where the climatic conditions are so favorable to the development of the sport.

The increased interest in polo is in keeping with the growing interest in good horses. While back statements were freely made that the auto was putting the horse out of business, but as long as people like the outdoors and outdoor pastimes the horse will be in popular demand.

I am located in town at the Geo. Dodson home and am ready to do your marcelling. Mrs. Leon Kropp. 18-1tp.

GRADUATES WEAR COTTON

To show their interest in the cotton industry the graduates of the Carthage High School were dressed in cotton when they appeared on the platform to receive their diplomas, and they looked as well as any class that has graduated in Texas this year.

Only one objection could be urged to their clothing—it wasn't made in a Carthage cotton factory.

TEXAS HAS BEST CLAIM ON 'COLOSSUS IN BUCKSKIN'

As the time for the Democratic convention in Houston approaches it recalls to the minds of Americans the man for whom that city was named—General Sam Houston, who has been appropriately called a "Colossus in Buckskin." Virginia, Tennessee and Texas all lay claim to him as being their own, but in a wider sense he belongs to the whole nation, for he was one of the really great empire builders of this country.

If you would know what was the importance of Sam Houston in the history of our country be sure to read the illustrated feature article by Elmo Scott Watson, entitled, "A Colossus in Buckskin" in this issue of the Journal.

A Colossus in Buckskin

GEN. SAM HOUSTON

SAM HOUSTON MOUNTAIN IN CITY OF HOUSTON

BY ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"The eyes of the nation turned toward Houston, Texas, where the Democratic party will soon be engaged in choosing its nominee for President. It is particularly appropriate that the name of the man for whom this city was named should be proposed from the comparative obscurity which has been its fate and that the deeds and importance of his name, but comparatively few of these individuals are worthy of having their names thus perpetuated. If ever a man deserved that honor, however, surely it was Sam Houston of whom I have recently been said 'Unless 'Old Sam Jacinto' is known and understood, until he is given his just dues, there can be no clear and proper understanding of the stars that stud the flag. Leave Sam Houston out of the story, and the American chronicle is a thing of gaps and many unintelligibilities, for not only did he make history at various times, but in a great critical period he WAS history."

Although three states vie for the honor of calling Sam Houston their own, he belongs not only to them but to the whole nation. So it is appropriate that the name "Houston" should be upon the tongue of all Americans with in the next few weeks. It is also appropriate that there should appear at this time a new biography of "Old Sam Jacinto" such as George Creel's "Sam Houston—A Colossus in Buckskin," published recently by the Cosmopolitan Book corporation.

That sweeping characterization of Houston, as the new biographer justifies in this statement:

Between Hernando de Soto, first to blaze a trail through the wilderness of the New World, and Kit Carson, last of the great frontiersmen, streams an endless procession of tremendous figures—heroic in courage and achievement, flamingly heroic and the dull background of suffering; yet not in the whole colorful story of America is there record of a more amazing career than that of Sam Houston, the Colossus in Buckskin who won an empire for his country.

From the cradle to the grave he walked with drama. As a boy he ran away from home to live in the wilds of the Cherokee; serving under Andrew Jackson in the war against the Creeks, he led the charge that carried the Indian braves to the revolting wounds that stretched him on the ground for dead; elected congressman and then governor by the abating Tennesseeans, even the Presidency was not beyond his hopes; justifying himself, he sent him into exile between two seas, seeking refuge with the Cherokees for a second time, drank and smoked, he sank him to a dark level beneath the "bearded man" entering Texas, resolved to build a new life in a new land, he lifted himself high above his degradation, and when the colonies rose in rebellion against the brutal tyrannies of a Mexican dictator, it was a clear-eyed, indomitable Houston who marshaled raged volunteers, conducted masterful retreats, and finally crushed Santa Anna and his army in a day of slaughter.

His later years were no less packed with color and high accomplishment. As president of the Lone Star Republic, he beat down the greedy, impatient and covetous of men, building firm and enduring foundations under the tottering superstructure of government; it was his abhorred statecraft, the pitting European powers against America, that made annexation possible; in the Senate of the United States, although a Southerner and a slaveholder, he braved the hate and anger of the South by an unflinching stand against slavery and successful contemptuous of threats against his life, he returned to Texas to run for governor on a Unionist platform and was against overwhelming odds, confronted with the necessity of choosing allegiance to the Confederate States, he suffered deposition rather than surrender his principles, and washed out of office to the humble cabin that was his home, old, poor and proscribed, but with his head unshaken.

Such was the career which enables his character to say by way of summary:

A gigantic, towering figure, well worthy to rank with the illustrious and admired of America, yet, save in the Southwest, born of his courage, Sam Houston is but a name, known in detail only to the inquiring few. Out of the annexation of Texas, an expansion important enough in itself, came the Mexican war that added California, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and Utah to the Union, yet schoolbooks often ignore Houston's connection with these epochal events, or else confine themselves to casual and misleading mention.

His entire life, as a matter of fact, constitutes a contribution to American as important as fascinating. A soldier in the War of 1812, he lived to see the North and South lock in deadly struggle during the fifty crowded years that lay between, he played a leading part in the national drama, better than any other, stands as a perfect exponent of the frontier spirit, and his portrait is a composite of those amazing men who rode the forest and plain as the Vikings rode the sea—reckless, dauntless, indomitable, simple as children, cruder than the Indian, arrogant and invincible in their courage and pride of blood, lawless yet curiously law-loving, and fleeing from civilization only to extend it.

Never was a biography more intense, by American.

pression result in physical ruin. Sweden also has found prison farms practical and their number will be increased.

Celluloid Models
In construction of great engineering works such as bridges and dams it has been the custom to construct replicas, sometimes costing many thousands of dollars, which are destroyed in the tests made upon it to determine the capacity of the structure to resist the strain that it likely to be put upon it.

While the average American may be but faintly interested in the work of Houston, the empire-builder, he cannot fail to be stirred by the deeds of Houston, the man. We can admire the pure grit he displayed when he received that dreadful wound in the assault on the Indian stronghold at Tolupeka, but we must admire more the moral courage he displayed when he faced a vast crowd of Texans, deploring their rash decision for secession and dared to predict defeat for the South. For "it is far easier to do something spectacular with all the world applauding than it is to stand square for a principle and to flout the mighty monarchs of Majorities."

Small wonder then that three states should claim him as their own. Virginia's claim lies in the fact that he was born March 2, 1793, in the county of Rockbridge county not far from Lexington, the son of Samuel Houston, who served in the Revolution as one of Daniel Morgan's stoutest riflemen, and one of those pioneer mothers, who were "tall and strong and a fit mate for such a man. Last year Virginia, with Texas co-operating, erected a monument at that place and there each year memorial ceremonies are held on April 21, the anniversary of Sam Houston's greatest victory, the battle of San Jacinto.

When the elder Samuel Houston died in 1807, his wife took her six sons and three daughters with her over the Alleghenies and established them a pioneer home on the borders of the Cherokee nation in eastern Tennessee. So Tennessee sprang upon the record of its contribution to national history that she sent Sam Houston to his first war under the leadership of her greatest hero, Andrew Jackson, in his expedition against the Creeks; that she sent him to represent her in congress and that she later made him her governor.

Texas' claim to Sam Houston is based upon events too well known to need repeating here. The events themselves are well known, but the significance of these events and the man responsible for them are not such common knowledge and that is why the appearance of a new biography of Houston at a time when it will be easiest for his name to be recalled is a happy circumstance. Virginia, Tennessee and Texas may claim Sam Houston for their own but as his contribution to the building of the United States becomes better known, these three states must share him with all their children throughout the world. For this Colossus in Buckskin, like all other empire builders, belongs to us all.

Telephone Directory vs. Encyclopedia

By RING LARDNER

To the Editor:
They accuse to be a few people in the United States that still think we weren't justified or something in declaring war on Germany, but I guess their guess would feel different if they stopped to think that it was a German that invented the telephone and if Loyalism and the sinking of the Lusitania was a crime, what about the invention of the telephone which comes from the 2 Greek words tele, meaning far off, and phone, meaning sound and maybe it is an accident of history in Great Neck, which isn't far from the Sound why maybe that is why the telephone service isn't so well you know.

When you stop to think that the telephones are invented by a German, why you can't help but believe the rest about them for just, inventing four gas and etc. but not only that but it also shows how vs. democracy they was when they invented something that nobody but only the leisure class can use because for lunch, I and you could not never afford it even if we only figured our time on the per hr. which nobody gets as little as that each day and the president of Harvard college or a soldier or something. For inst. if I am out here in Great Neck and want to talk to somebody in N. Y. City why it wouldn't only cost me about $2.00 to go down there and see them why if I telephoned it would be 30c for the call and 2 dings to put it through and if I worked on a 8 hr. basis on the per hr. why that would be a total of $1.50 for the 2 days that it took for them to put the telephone call through where I could go down and see them and get back in 3 hrs. or some such figure.

But in the case of the leisure class, it's different as the only real work they had to do the whole year around is make out their income tax blanks which only takes 3 months to figure out how they can beat the gov't. and if it was not for the telephone they wouldn't know what to do the rest of their time where as now when they get tired of poker and bridge and etc. and have got a few dollars left on their hands why all as they had to do to kill a couple of days is try and get somebody on the telephone.

But I don't want my genial readers to think this cruddy article means that I don't hold no brief for the telephone company. On the other hand, if it was not for a German in creating the telephone why they wouldn't of been no American inventing the telephone directory which is the greatest institution we got left here from an amusement pt. of view.

The telephone directory has never been gave the credit it deserves and personally I have got 1 regret in life which is I did keep all the telephone directories which was ever gave to me as it would save me from buying a cyclopedia which costs $20 and I could get out of it a telephone directory that don't cost no thing if you ever get it and has got 8 or 9 times as many names in it and besides that compared in the cyclopedia is 90% dead when you try and call them.

I also wished I could bring 4th a modern vol. to prove my assertions, but unfortunately the only telephone book I got in the house is the latest one from Great Neck where you at ready know the number of the grocery store and the butcher shop and the real estate Co. and Mr. Atkins who loans you money and also the N. Y. City telephone directory of May 2, 1917, and I suppose if I live here a couple more years they will give me a telephone book of 1917 and keep me up to date.

So I will half to prove my point if any by quoting from the N. Y. City telephone directory of May 2, 1917, as follows as they say:

In the first place it says that page full information can be found on Page 17. So you turn to page 17 and the first thing that strikes you in the eye ball is a ad that says we sell artificial limbs that fit. Well, suppose that some morning you was to wake up and have a craving for a artificial limb that fit and you didn't know how to go about it to get one and they was not no telephone directory in the house why here would be at? You would half to call up and ask for information which is another word for practical joke and they would fine for you a firm that sold artificial limbs that didn't come near fitting and you would buy 1 and half to walk down the st. all out of kilter and the people would look at you and make you feel like a fool.

On Page 22 they give you information for telephone users which they don't claim to use but it says you can call information free of charge and also the Co. wants criticism but it should always be made by telephone, why by the time you reach the party it would be 3 or 4 yrs. later and the management would of changed.

All told, it looks to me like the telephone which was made in Germany was enough excuse for us fight 'em where as the telephone directory which was made in America is a work that ought to go down in the same like "Huckleberry Finn" or "Casey Jones" or something.

P. S. The book also says that they have got rest rooms for operators but don't say nothing about rest rooms for birds. But call me.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. F. H. FITZPATRICK, D.D., Dean Holy Trinity Church of Chicago, 1934 Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for June 17
THE CRUCIFIXION

LESSON TEXT—Mark 15:16-47. GOLDEN TEXT—God commended His only Son to death, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Died for Us. JUNIOR TOPIC—Christ Died for Our Sins. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Jesus Chose the Cross. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Meaning of the Cross.

1. Jesus Crowned With Thorns (vv. 16-20). After Pilate had scourged Jesus he delivered Him to be crucified. 1. The crown of thorns (v. 16, 17). Knowing that Jesus had been condemned for claiming to be Israel's King, they clothed Him with a crown of thorns and a wreath of thorns. The crown of thorns typified the curse which He bore for man's sin (Gen. 3:17, 18). 2. Their salutation (v. 18). They said, "Hail, King of the Jews." This they did in derision. 3. Their mock worship (v. 19, 20). They crowned Him on the head with a reed, taunted Him and went through a performance of mock worship. 4. Jesus Crucified (v. 21-41). They led Him away to the place of crucifixion (v. 21, 22). At first they compelled Him to bear His own cross, but when physical weakness made this impossible, they compelled Simon, the Cyrenian, to bear it for Him. It is beautiful to note that the son of this Cyrenian came to bear the cross with Jesus (v. 19, 20). In all probability his being compelled to bear the cross was the means of his own salvation. Christ's care was so marked by the thorns and cruel blows that "there was no form or comeliness" (Isa. 53:2) All this He endured for us. He drank this bitter cup to its very dregs, but refused to drink "the wine mingled with myrrh," which would have deadened His pain. 5. The preparation for the clothing of the Lord (v. 24, 25). Having nailed Him to the cross they gambled for the seamless robe under the very cross, which He was dying, and in their heartless cruelty they set down to watch Him die (Matt. 27:36). 6. The superscription (v. 26). It was customary to place over the victim on the cross the name and crime of the offender. Though Pilate did this in mockery to vex the Jews, the title was absolutely true. He was indeed their King. 7. Between two thieves (v. 27, 28). This added to His shame. His identification with the two robbers was the fulfillment of the Scripture "and he was numbered with the transgressors" (Isa. 53:12). 8. The dying Savior reviled (v. 29, 30). This reviling was engaged in by the passerby, the chief priests and the thieves who were crucified with Him. In this manner they insulted and taunted Him by bidding Him come down from the cross, derisively saying, "He saved others, Himself he cannot save." He could not save Himself, and so He chose to die to save others. 9. Darkness upon the land (v. 33). This was at noonday. So shocking was this crime that nature threw around the Son of God a shroud to hide Him from the gaze of a godless community. 10. The cry from the cross (v. 34, 35). When God laid upon Christ, His beloved Son, the world's sin and turned His face from Him, there went out the awful cry of anguish, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" He dismissed His spirit (v. 37). When the price of our redemption was fully paid, Jesus dismissed His spirit. No one took His life away from Him. He gave it up. 11. The symbolized the giving up of His life (v. 38). 12. The Centurion's confession (v. 39). He said, "Truly this man was the Son of God." 13. The lingering group of women (v. 40, 41). They who had lovingly ministered to Him in life were waiting to see where they could bury His precious body. 14. Jesus' burial (v. 42-47). Loving hands now took the precious body and laid it in Joseph's new tomb. This man, who did not consent to the foul treatment of the Lord, now risked his reputation and by his action makes a bold confession of the Lord.

LACE IN SUMMER MILLINERY; TIERS AND PLAITS STRESSED

It is to rejoice for lace has entered the realm of millinery in no uncertain terms. As every woman knows, there is nothing so flattering as lace, and when it is made into hats, voila! you have millinery which is most beguiling and most enchanting. The hats in this picture, do they not tell a fascinating story of lace better than words? So wholeheartedly are fashionists—especially the cause of lace for hats, they do not stop to reserve it exclusively for dressy wear. On the contrary, lace is stretched over frills and smooth straws in a very tall order way. You can see the effect by looking at the hat at the top of this group to the right. This charming model, which can appropriately be worn at almost any hour of the day, except for sports, for which jaunty hats still hold sway, is finished with tailored bands of georgette which has been closely machine stitched. It looks as if the lace-covered straw hat is growing into a real fad. Never was a fashion received with more enthusiasm. Perhaps the favorite for the immediate moment is the close-fitting cloche or tiny brimmed transparent hair shape, in any color one may choose, the same plastered over with lace, until the design of the face looks as if it were worked into the very foundation of the shape. Just an ornament or a bit of ribbon trims these semi-tailored lace hats. A charming version of the lace hat is shown to the left at the top. It is that which the stylist would this season express the truly feminine. There is a bit of flowers and a bit of ribbon in its composition. The flat motifs of velvet flowers, encircled as they are with lace, look like quaint Colonial bouquets, worked like an applique. Who says that millinery is not at its loveliest this season? Let the doubter behold lace confections such as these, and be convinced that the hat beautiful reigns supreme this season. Even the woman whose features are not perfect must look beautiful when hatted in a graceful picture hat of transparent black lace as centered ing an entrancing study in color. Which exactly describes women's dress "as is" today.

There is as significant a display of millinery in this group as there is of frocks. The first hat, for example, to the left, adopts a trimming of wide grosgrain ribbon, which spreads its pointed ends fan-shaped over one side of the drooping brim. As a matter of fact ribbon is playing an outstanding role in the way of decoration for summer straws. And there is the hat next to it which gains its prestige from several causes, chief among which is the fact that it is one of those lovely hair bodies, so thin you can see through it. Also it features a soft irregular silhouette, which is so characteristic of the new millinery trends. Then, too, it is trimmed with wide velvet ribbon and that adds several credits to its sum total of stylishness. As to the handsome huge hat hat which tops the polka-dotted voile frock to the right, the fact that it is all black assures its chic, not to mention the charm of its transparency and the correct dimensions of its brim, according to the mode's chart.

The dress worn with this lovely black hat is indeed ultra-modern, first because it exploits the dotted netting and, second, because it is trimmed with grosgrain ribbon in two tones—navy and ecru. Bicolor and tricolor striped ribbons, or several ribbons forming varicolored borderings are much in evidence as trimming both for frocks and for hats. Many of the newer plaited skirts in the illustration. The last chapeau is clever enough to maintain the lines of the popular skulcon, while it assumes the picturesque by adding a frill of lace a la Dutch bonnet effect. According to the promise of the mode, the summer sequins are to be graced with just such groups of feminine loveliness and sartorial perfection as this illustration portrays. arrive such "pictures" require none other than wide floppy brims, sheers of frocks, with daintiest of hosiery and shoes, the entire presentadopt a scalloped hemline such as adds charm to the frock of tinted voile shown in center of this group. The lace insertion which elaborates the blouse in vertical line is dyed the same orchid shade as that of the voile, which in the dress is made. A flowered print is shown to the left and while its styling bespeaks simplicity, it carries style convention in every detail, its widened hemline and its engarled neckline.

Chance Brought Wild Rice to United States

Rice came to America by accident. In the year 1634 a rice-laden vessel from Madagascar bound for Liverpool put in to Charleston harbor in a raging storm. The captain, noting that the land and soil near Charleston resembled that where the rice was grown, gave the governor of the colony a handful, telling him that it might grow if planted, related the Washington Star.

The governor planted the rice and several months later harvested the first crop ever grown in America. Since that time rice has steadily advanced until now it is a leading product of the Southern States. It first spread into Georgia from the Carolinas, and with the beginning of the Civil war it entered Louisiana, now the leading rice state of the Union. It gradually found its way to Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Texas and, finally, into Arkansas. Later its cultivation was tried with success in California.

See Jazz as Empire's Nero

Nero and his fiddle were no more deadly than the saxophone and its companions, according to Sir Henry Coward, a prominent English divine. Luxury and vulgar pleasure seeking, he says, brought Rome down into the dust, and jazz, he declares, is tending that way because it is taking the minds of the people away from high thinking and spirituality. Besides, dark-skinned races that hold the whites in awe will cease to think of the European as a superman, and when that state of mind comes to possess England's hold on its warlike subjects in Asia and Africa will be broken once and all, Sir Henry boldly proclaims.

NEW PRODUCTION RECORD FOR CHEVROLET MOTOR

Detroit, Mich.—All previous production records in the sixteen year existence of the Chevrolet Motor Company were shattered here in May when the company turned out 140,700 units.

The output for a single day also reached a new level on May 28 when 707 finished cars and trucks rolled off the assembly line.

These figures, released here today by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, lent substance to a growing feeling in automotive circles that Chevrolet would not only equal its 1927 volume of a million cars but before the close of 1928, but that it also would duplicate its 1927 performance of building and selling more cars than any other manufacturer in the world.

Production of Bigger and Better 1928 models to June 1 was 631,500 units, Mr. Knudsen stated. He pointed out that this figure includes production since the first of the year as well as 23,000 new cars built in December so that dealers in all parts of the country would have cars for immediate delivery when the new model was publicly announced on January 1.

Up to June 1 last year the company had built 513,000 new models; in 1926 382,000 units, and in 1925 less than one-third the volume achieved during the corresponding period this year, according to Mr. Knudsen.

The output for the month just ended was 25,000 units in excess of the 15,000 cars and trucks built in May 1927, which, until this year, had been the largest production month in the history of the company. In May, 1926, the turnout was 74,000 units, and in May of the previous year 32,000 units.

GREATEST OF ALL

We heard a couple of Muleshoe citizens arguing recently as to which is the greatest industry in the U. S. To satisfy ourselves we looked it up. According to reports on file in Washington City, agriculture is our first and greatest industry. It is, in fact, as great as any other three leading industries both in regard to number of employees and capital invested. Counting the number of workers, it is a little surprising to find that construction is second, and railroading third. Textiles come fourth and machinery fifth. Lumber and iron and steel come ahead of automobiles, and following these in order are: oil, coal, electricity, clothing, publishing, telegraphs and telephones, meat, rubber shoes, baking, paper. Tobacco is the twentieth. It is worth noting that agriculture not only leads all these industries, but that it furnishes the raw material on which a number of them are based, as well as furnishing the market for them when their finished products are turned out.

Messrs. M. V. Robinson and R. L. Murdoch are here from Pflug, Texas, to improve an irrigated farm, preparatory to opening a chicken farm.

H. T. Brewster, of Lampasas, was a visitor in this section last week.
