Texas State Fair Dates Nearing

With less than three weeks remaining before opening day, the 1949 State Fair of Texas is enthusiastically preparing for its biggest and gayest party, like a proud lady dressing for the social event of the season.

Today's workmen are busily decking the queen of the nation's expositions with brilliant colors, bunting, and all the other trappings of glamour, in preparation for the Fair's sixty-fourth annual sixteen-day party of parties.

Festivities start October 8, and State Fair officials confidently predict that 2,000,000 guests will arrive for the big, fantastic exposition.

Meanwhile Fair directors and officials are under enormous pressure as they hurriedly complete details for the presentation of some 10,000 different attractions in the fields of big-time entertainment, livestock and agriculture, commercial shows, educational and cultural shows.

Outside the executive offices, workmen this week are swarming over the Fair's 187 acres, putting finishing touches to the enlarged Cotton Bowl, installing brightening lighting systems, building new horse stalls and sheep pens, grading and paving new walks and parking areas.

The rides of the State Fair Midway have ceased their summer slumber and now stand quiet, as imaginative painters dab them with the most vivid colors known to man.

Cotton Classing Program Grows

College Station, September 22, Texas cotton producers, 111,000 strong, are members of organized groups that are cooperating with the Cotton Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, USDA.

This agency handles the free cotton classing and market news services as provided for by the Smith-Doxey Act, says F. E. Lichte, extension cotton gin specialist of Texas A. and M. College and chairman of the Smith-Doxey State Review Committee.

Other members of the committee are Fred C. Elliot, extension cotton work specialist and E. A. Miller, extension agronomist.

Lichte says this committee in 1949 has processed and approved 1,151 applications from organized groups in 167 Texas counties. He adds that 1,563 gins are cooperating with the 111,000 producers who are growing one of the 16 approved varieties of cotton on 9,686,250 acres of land.

This free classing and market news service program has enjoyed a steady growth since its beginning 1938, says Lichte. Since 1946, 20 counties with 103 organized cotton producers groups have come into the program. Their membership today is 20,000 greater than in 1946 and 146 more gins are cooperating, says Lichte.

The applications processed by the Texas committee go to the Production and Marketing Administration, Cotton Branch, office in Dallas and Bakersfield, California. The office in California handles that section of the state west of the Pecos River, says Lichte. Personnel from the PMA office have cooperated and materially assisted in making possible the steady growth of the program, he adds. The actual classing of the members' cotton is done by the eight regional PMA offices in the state.

According to King, nearly all the youngsters are beginners, and many have just purchased their instruments. The group plans to compete with other bands of this section of the state at the band contests next spring. They will compete as a class E band.

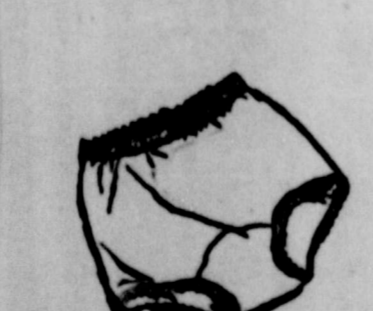

"This band will offer children an early start in music, and will serve as a very beneficial feeder group for the high school band," asserted King.

Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation Now Has 119 Patients Registered

One hundred and nineteen patients are registered this week at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation. Coming from all parts of Texas, patients at the Foundation represent the babies, children, and young people who are most often affected by poliomyelitis or other crippling diseases.

Forty-eight patients are in the building reserved for infants and children up to school age. Thirty-seven boys and girls are attending regular school at the Foundation, educating their minds as well as their muscles. Three boys are just beyond school age. They are studying photography through the aid of a professional photographer who visits the Foundation weekly from San Antonio. Their spare time is spent in the photo lab of the treatment center, doing all of the developing and printing from their wheelchairs.

Twelve of the patients are young Indians, two arriving during the past ten days from San Antonio and Galud. The other ten are "old timers," having been at the Foundation for several weeks. Several patients are in the reception center, waiting to be transferred to wards in other buildings where age groups are separated. Four patients are colored children under school age. Many of the babies and younger children are Latin Americans. All are Texas.

Rearrangement of rooms and equipment has been made continuously all summer to provide the most convenient care of patients and to add a little more bed space. There are more young Texans who are waiting to be admitted for treatment at Texas' own Warm Springs.

The campaign which will be under way this month in all parts of Texas, to dry our Governor Shivers, will provide the additional buildings which will make the Foundation readily available to all who apply. Contributions to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis emergency fund drive, also being held this month, will aid the Gonzales treatment center, as many of its patients are polio victims whose treatment costs are sponsored by local chapters of the Infantile Paralysis organization.

Built entirely by Texas and supported largely by Texas since its opening in 1941, the Gonzales treatment center has quickly taken the lead in providing complete care for children requiring long hospitalization for "shrinkage" or paralyzed muscles. Its modern buildings are all air-conditioned. Each of the four bed units has its own indoor therapy pool, plus a table therapy room. The big, well equipped gymnasium and the large outdoor pool are two of the most

...treatment features for the patients. It is in the pool that a child often feels he can walk easily again, for the buoyant, warm water relaxes weak muscles and holds up paralyzed limbs with ease.

In the gym, patients must do for themselves, with as little aid from the supervising physical therapist as possible. Here a youngster may work with any type of equipment designed for the exercise of various muscle groups. A large wheel is turned around and around to strengthen shoulder and arm muscles. A renovated sewing machine and a stationary bicycle give exercise to legs and feet. Pulleys of all types make muscles work with weight, directional pulling. Since patients may roll or walk anywhere on the grounds on one level, a special stairway had to be constructed to teach them step climbing. They begin on two-inch stairs, then graduate to the regulation four-inch stairway.

Everything is adaptable for the size of the patient, even to the school desks. Whether a stretcher or a wheelchair case, the patient's desk can be adjusted for his unique contact.

The Foundation has been developed into a complete community except for mothers and dads, however. This phase of the rehabilitation program has been the aim of the founders and medical division—giving treatment to the "whole" patient, not just to his physical ailments. In addition to the school, the Cullen building is a community of other music, movies, the library, and the patients' own newspaper.

All activities at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, however, are sandwiched in between treatments and medical check-ups, for every patient, no matter what age, knows that the all-important thing is to be well-sufficient again. "When I go back home, I'll be just like the other kids," says one little boy. "I'll play marbles anyway, and go on errands for me and my mother." And there is all the time patients ask of their stay—the chance to "do lots of things again."

School Attendance Is Not Polio Hazard

The opening of schools on scheduled dates throughout the country, despite the occurrence this year of the largest infantile paralysis epidemic in history, is no cause for parents' alarm, even though thousands of new cases may be expected during the next weeks. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis declared today.

The Foundation, now conducting a Public Epidemic Emergency Drive to raise $14,000,000 to enable its Chapters to care for an anticipated 40,000 cases by the end of the year, pointed out that new cases still are being reported at a rate of 1,000 a week but experience shows that school openings never have affected the course of epidemics, either to start or increase the incidence rate, according to Dr. Hart E. Ripper, medical director.

Certain precautions should continue to be observed both at home and at school, he advised, but the spreading of germs under one roof is not regarded in itself as hazardous. The majority of schools in incidence areas have opened or will open soon, in conformity with recommendations of a national conference of health authorities sponsored by the National Foundation early this summer.

Many inquiries from parents during the last week prompted Dr. Van Ripper's statement.

"The reason for the recommendation regarding schools are threefold," Dr. Van Ripper explained. First, closing schools or delaying their opening has not affected the course of outbreaks of poliomyelitis in the past. Indeed, such action often has resulted in public panic. Whatever is done to upset the usual routine of children in a household, or adults in their occupations, is likely to bring more trouble than good.

"Second, since children usually play with other children in their neighborhood, they probably have had the same exposure to their playmates as they will have when school opens. And there usually is less supervision when children are not in school, so early infections may not be spotted as promptly.

"Third, it is intimate contact between those who are infected and those who are susceptible that causes the spread of infantile paralysis. Normal school contact, such as taking place in households merely sitting side by side in a classroom does not constitute intimate contact."

Dr. Ripper urged he continueance of such precautions as avoidance of over-fatigue, assurance of adequate rest, strict observance of cleanliness and avoiding the use of utensils or implements belonging to other children, particularly objects that may be placed in the mouth. Routine daily checking on each child's health for early notice of symptoms such as headache, nausea, muscle soreness and fever also was advised.

With respect to schools to which children are transported in busses from widely separated areas or boarding schools, excluding colleges and universities, Dr. Van Ripper said occasional exceptions may be made regarding school openings. These involve such situations as when a school is located in a high incidence area, and children are brought into that area from regions where the disease is not prevalent.

"The thing to ask yourself is what would your child do if school were not open," he concluded. "If your child would be just as exposed to possible contacts through busses, movies, church attendance and social gatherings, then obviously nothing will be gained by keeping him out of school—except a disturbance of his normal pattern of life."

School Child Safety Campaign Launched

Texasans were urged to "spare the gas and save the child" in a statewide September campaign launched by the Texas Safety Association against traffic accidents to school-age children.

"No matter how much safety education a child has had drilled into him," said George Clark, Managing Director, "the fact remains that it's largely up to the motorist whether the child lives or dies."

The Association pointed out that home training and school safety lessons are extremely valuable in impressing youngsters with the dangers of playing in the street and crossing between intersections. But on the other hand, the Association warns, a child in the heat of play forgets quickly and easily the lessons that he has learned, so the bulk of the responsibility falls upon the driver.

Clark told motorists they can save child life by following these rules:

1. Regard every child on the street as a flashing "caution" sign.

2. In school zones, residential districts and near playgrounds, be especially watchful for children and expect the unexpected at all times.

3. Give bicycles a wide berth. Inexperience, a poor sense of balance, directly in your path without warning.

4. In residential districts, particularly, be on the alert at drive-ways and intersections for tri-cycle riders, skaters, and scooter riders.

The Texas Safety Association is sponsoring the school safety campaign as part of a continuing traffic safety program in cooperation with the Texas Congress of Parent-Teachers and other groups.

Project To Develop Airplane As Farm Tool Set Up

College Station, September 22 (Sp) Texas A. and M. College has been selected as the site of a national research project to develop the airplane and its component parts as effective agricultural tools.

The development program will be under the direction of Fred E. Weick, professor and research engineer of the Aeronautical Engineering Department, A. and M. College, and director of Personal Aircraft Research Center, Weick, who is one of the nation's outstanding engineers, is known as the designer of the simplified control, spin-proof "coucou" aircraft. He came to A. and M. College last year.

Details of the joint undertaking and operating agreements were worked out in a conference of representatives of the National Flying Farmers Association, U.S.D.A., Department of Commerce, and A. and M. College System at College Station, August 24. Formal announcement of the agreement was made at the fourth annual convention of the National Flying Farmers Association at Colorado A. and M., August 25 to 29.

The cooperative project was developed from a program set up by the Flying Farmers during their annual convention last year at Columbus, Ohio.

A new plane design suited to the needs of agriculture and development of improved methods of distributing sprays, dusts, seeds, and fertilizers from the air will be the immediate objectives of the project. The plane and its accompanying application equipment are to be designed to meet the needs of the average farmer.

Research along this line already under way at the A. and M. Personal Aircraft Research Center, a college-owned airport, wind tunnel, laboratories and shops, and outstanding personnel available in the engineering and agricultural work led to the selection of A. and M. College for this project, according to H. W. Barlow, dean of Engineering. Wide use of the airplane in agricultural in Texas and 12-month flying weather in the area were also factors in the selection.

Students Predict Trends In 1959

Here are a few of their informed hunches:
By 1959 there will be 30 million television sets in operation, with black and white sets costing about $75 and color sets (to be introduced in 1956) about $100.
The 4-in-machine industry will have become a $20 billion giant, selling magazines, men's shirts, diapers, even movie tickets the latter geared to an electric eye which counts outgoing patrons to prevent overcrowding.
The family will have declined further as a social unit, with the biggest markets for toys being schools, nurseries and other institutional buyers.
The synthetic gasoline industry will be well on the road to commercial success, having been helped at the outset by government subsidies to coal producers.

Graduate students of business at Harvard have given an unusual assignment last spring. They were told to study the trends in business which would be like ten years hence.

The members of the Glad Game class of the First Baptist Church were entertained with a doll party at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Hattie Turvan, 508 N. Carroll, Wednesday morning, September 14.

The metal working industries, finding their profit margins narrowed by high labor costs, will have adopted automatic controls for most machine tools, thus trimming labor costs a good 80 per cent.
Long-range forecasts like these. For example, a leading national don't always pan out, of course. magazine in 1939 forecast "Miss 1950" would be a strange lacquered and oiled creature, intricately coiffed, and prettied up with indelible lipstick that lasts "for weeks."

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business. For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:
How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?
How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sizes?
Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.
This styling is certainly something to start other designers tossing in their sleep.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the level-going comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflow Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit? Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

VA Announces GI Life Insurance Dividend Scale

The Veterans Administration's first calculations on amounts proposed to be paid nearly 16,000,000 veterans in the $2.8 billion special National Service Life Insurance dividend have been received by the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Lubbock this week, Robert W. Sisson, Manager, announced today.

Those under 40 years of age at the rate of 55 cents per month per $1,000 of insurance; those 41 to 45 years of age, scaling down from 52 cents to 40 cents; those 46 to 50, 37 cents down to 25 cents; those 51 to 54, 24 cents down to 21 cents; those 55 and over, 20 cents per thousand.

The proposed scale does not apply to insurance on a permanent plan which has been surrendered for a reduced paid-up amount. These cases will be handled separately. No further information has been received as to the exact date payment of this dividend will be made, Mr. Sisson pointed out. Application blanks are available at Veterans Administration offices, and after being properly filled out, there is no need for further correspondence concerning the dividend as this will only cause delay in payment.

IN NINETY YEARS
Before long, "Oil Progress Week" will be observed throughout this country, October 18 to 22. A special effort will be made to acquaint the public with the dramatic story of oil's achievements. And it is a story well worth listening to.

A breathing spell. It was not to be. A gigantic increase in civilian demand, which no one could have anticipated, raised consumption to new highs. There were forecasts of serious shortages. But the oil industry licked this problem, as it has licked so many others, and the demand was met with a minimum of dislocation.

down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning, rested and with a feeling of general well-being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a good night's sleep.

Mechanization Will Aid Cotton Profits

Higher production efficiency through mechanization of cotton farming will bring more profits to the farmer and help keep cotton out front in competition with rival synthetic fibers and paper, leaders from the cotton industry and related industries agreed at the Third Annual Beltwide Cotton Mechanization Conference recently held at Bennettsville, S. C.

HEALTH NOTES

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Sept. 22. Sleep is a necessity of life and health, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and habitual loss of sleep will tend to retard the body's recovery from fatigue of the day's activities.

Some individuals require more sleep than others. How well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A good night's rest meets a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each person to feel well, do efficient work, and to keep in a cheerful humor the next day.

Problems Analyzed
Every major problem in mechanizing the production of cotton was pointed up by the sessions. Speakers of national prominence, including American Farm Bureau Federation President Allan B. Kline, appeared on the program to discuss such subjects as economic aspects of mechanization progress in cotton production, the world and domestic cotton situation, mechanization needs and accomplishments, and efficiency in cotton farming in various sections of the Cotton Belt.

Demonstration
A mechanized field demonstration, displaying machines used in the production of cotton in the Southeast, was one of the outstanding events of the meeting. Equipment used in land preparation, planting, fertilizing, cultivation, application of insecticides and herbicides, and harvesting of cotton was exhibited during the demonstration.

Mechanical Harvesters
This year mechanical harvesters which will be available, operating at practical capacity and under optimum conditions, could harvest slightly more than 2,000,000 acres of the cotton crop, cotton experts declared. These machines are capable of harvesting approximately eight per cent of the 1949 cotton acreage, as compared with an estimated five per cent mechanically harvested last year and one per cent in 1946.

Your Church Needs You - Attend Regularly

Science and Religion

TRUE religion and true science never conflict. God does not contradict Himself. His words and his works harmonize. It is true that both have been misunderstood. Our knowledge is fragmentary, and our judgment is fallible.

MOST of us have modified convictions with increased knowledge. Science once declared the earth to be flat and stationary; and that the sun daily made a journey around us. Modern knowledge compels the revision of these and many other theories. Yet it remains true that—"in the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."

RELIGION once declared that the work of Creation was completed in six days of twenty four hours each and outlined in some detail the creative processes. With increased knowledge teachers are much less dogmatic as to time involved and procedures followed. God is still saying—"My thoughts are not as your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways."

AS knowledge grows and judgment matures fancied discords blend in harmony. Increasing numbers of people are able to see through the microscope—"Tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything." Every scientific finding by man is rooted in God. Attend your church regularly.

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to avail themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they be the sole umpire of their own disputes over the meaning of contracts.

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike

There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts—just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life. The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as follows:

... It is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike should occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow, in view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are an unwarranted and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organization in this case would even result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor Act. ...

Obviously the railroads cannot be run efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded
There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:
1—Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.
2—Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.
3—Decision by arbitration.
4—Decision by neutral referee.
5—Decision by courts.
The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad.

Innocent bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships

There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employees, and are the most highly paid of all employees on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employees of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.
The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.
If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

What are These Strikes About?
These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.
