NUMBER 26

Whoa, Now!

By Grady Lackey

Even as we write these lines there are favorable thunderheads gathering in the south and in the southwest. It is our fervent hope and prayer that, come morning, the rains will have fallen to relieve both our land and our faith. The heavy warmness Wednesday afternoon and evening seemed to have had the "feeling" that something big was in store for us. We heard some pessimistic comments on the possibilities of a twister under such conditions, but we like to believe that it will mean a good soaking rain.

For several months now we've been making the biscuits for the brotherhood breakfasts over at the Baptist Church. . . . Come Friday we're planning on trying our luck on a larger scale when the adult training unions will have a chuck wagon supper.

Bill Glenn pointed this one out to us yesterday—we had already heard it, but possibly you hadn't.

A Southern lad died and upon reaching his eternal resting place, commented: "Why, I sure didn't expect Heaven to look just like Texas!"

To which the gate keeper said, "Sorry, son, but this isn't Heaven."

While attending the funeral of our wife's grandfather this past Sunday, we heard a young Methodist preacher repeat the words of the elderly man's favorite hymn. We were well pleased that his favorite was the same as our own favorite and thrilled as the thoughts of the song so expressed the full and fruitful life of the father of June's mother.

Amid the trials and disappointments of today's world we can all obtain a new vision of life itself by pausing to "Count Your Many Blessings."

"When upon life's billows
You are tempest tossed,
When you are discouraged,
Thinking all is lost,
Count your many blessings,
Name them one by one.
And it will surprise
What the Lord has done."

With the new irrigation wells being dug north of town on Duck Creek, many have wondered just what effect, if any, this will have on the city's water supply.

A quick check with City Engineer James Cowan this week enlightened us on this matter. Cowan explains it to where it looks like, all the wells up on the Caprock would have to be drained before the city's supply could be damaged.

Of course, the usual number of "ifs" go with this theory, but by looking at a map showing the different formations, wells, etc., it does seem logical.

Newcomers to our fair city may continue to complain about the "different" taste our water might have, but they don't realize that we have never faced any shortage of the precious stuff. While other towns have been hauling it, rationing it, hoarding it and all but worshipping it, we in Spur have not even had to quit watering our lawns.

Incidentally, we've been told that the minerals that give our water that different taste have to be added to some city water supplies at a great expense.

One of our ever-hustling employees was whistling a catchy little tune the other day when we were seriously mulling over a technical problem confronting us. We very politely asked him not to whistle while he worked.

Without more than a slight interference in the melody, he replied, "I'm not working—just whistling."

D. E. Woodward, officer of the organization, reports that things are shaping up pretty rapidly and they have most of the uniform shortages whopped.

However, it is reported, there is still some delay in one of the flags and one of the staffs, but it is hoped that they will be received at a very early date.

"Some riding practice is very urgently needed," states Woodward, but a lot of what they did then will smooth out the rough spots and make a much better showing.

The next regular meeting will be May 1 and meal arrangements must be made at least two days in advance. Riding practice will be next Sunday at 2:30.

'53 Bulldog Team Taking Form During Daily Workouts

From 7 until 4 p. m. each day Coach Sam Hawkes and Billy Hahn are putting the makings of the 1953 Spur Bulldogs through the paces over in Jones stadium.

Coach Hawkes still maintains a hopeful attitude toward the prospects for this year's team but still carries the memory of how injuries can wreck what could be a top club.

He claims that the Bulldogs will show the fans a well rounded club this year with possibly the most experience and material in general than in many a year in Spur.

Daily practices will continue over the hill for two more weeks.

Mrs. H. L. Penninger of Breckridge spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. L. C. Penninger, and her sister, Mrs. Carl Penninger.

Perennial Grasses Need Rest To Build Up The Root System

Recent rains in most sections of the state have greatly increased the chances for successfully getting the temporary pastures started. E. M. Trew, associate agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out many reasons why livestock producers should use such pastures.

First, he says, the summer growing perennial grasses went into the winter season in a weakened condition and will be slow to start this spring. They need a rest.

at the beginning of the growing season in order to allow for the rebuilding of their root system. If they are grazed too early this spring, warns Trew, they will be weak, low producers throughout the entire growing season.

He recommends a six week rest for the perennial grasses at the start of the spring growing season and the use of temporary pastures to take up the slack. Then too, he adds, the temporary pasture will provide grazing during the summer months when perennial pastures do not normally furnish much grazing. If forage production from either the temporary or perennial pastures exceed requirements, Trew says, the surplus should be used for hay or silage.

The specialist says Madrid of Hubam sweetclover can be planted up to April 15 in the areas of the state north of Temple. They may be planted on clean land, overseeded in small grains or sod, or planted anywhere in the state as soon as the danger from frost is past. Sweet, Common or Tift are varieties which are well-adapted but in the humid areas sweet sudan does best, says Trew. In the areas of the state where adapted, lespedeza can be planted. Trew recommends at least one acre of temporary summer pasture for each animal unit on the farm.

Planting cowpeas with sudan increases the total yield from the pasture and improves the quality of the crop—either grazing, hay or silage—because the legume increases the protein and mineral content, says Trew. Staggered plantings will extend the grazing season and improve the quality of pasture especially when rotation grazing is practiced. Temporary pastures can be used to divide the pastures into small areas which can be grazed off in a hurry and this is a recommended method for keeping the pasture growth tender and nutritious.

Trew points out that when the plants in the pasture begin to get coarse, mowing will force out new growth and thus increase production. Strips, he adds, mowed in the pasture, with plants left on the ground, will provide the dry roughage needed by the livestock.

To get the most in any pasture, Trew recommends the liberal use of fertilizer. He suggests that soil tests be used as the basis for determining fertilizer needs. Some fertilizer should be applied ahead of planting and since pasture grasses need lots of nitrogen, side-dressing of nitrogen should be applied after each time pastures are grazed down or mowed. The nitrogen will increase plant growth and the amount of protein in the plants.

Finally, says Trew, temporary pastures will furnish lots of good grazing, if properly managed, and by making rest periods possible for the permanent pastures, will make these permanent pastures better. Good management means staggered plantings, rotation grazing, mowing to keep growth coming and to supply dry roughage, planting a minimum of one acre for each animal unit and using liberal amounts of fertilizers before planting and side-dressing with nitrogen.

Panel Gives Three Major Reasons For Drop In Farm Prices

Farmers are being falsely blamed for high food prices and indulging in "get-rich-quick" schemes at the expense of consumers, J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, declared this week.

The state farm leader referred to an announcement by W. B. Bain of Dallas, marketing administrator for the North Texas milk area, as an example of what often happens in the case of food prices. The announcement appeared in the April 8th edition of the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Bain reported that milk producers in North Texas will get 44 cents less per hundred weight for Class 1 milk in April than they received last month. The newspaper report stated that the April price of $5.85 was down 77 cents, or about 1 1/2 cents less per quart, from the February price; yet, there has been no reduction in the price paid by consumers.

"This is an excellent example of what is happening to the farmer's share of the consumer's dollar," Hammond said.

"Farm prices have tumbled, but the retail prices have stayed up." The Farm Bureau president pointed out that retail prices do not reflect accurately the farmer's share of the food dollar.

"Last year the farmer received only 45 cents out of every dollar's worth of produce he sold. The consumers should concern themselves with the 55 cents difference between prices paid to the farmers and prices paid by the consumer."

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Armes and Mr. and Mrs. Audie Armes and their families visited Mrs. Loyd Womack last Thursday night.

Cliff Bird, Bob Conner, W. C. Gruben, R. E. Dickson, W. F. Godfrey, Cal Martin, Carl Proctor, Nell Davis, Dick Sampson, B. Cairns, W. T. Williams and J. B. Reed.

Second place red ribbons were awarded to Mmes. Bob Conner Roy Stovall, T. Moore, Cliff Bird, Eric Foster, Godfrey, Bingham, John Adams Paul Marion and Jack Rector.

Mmes. Carl Proctor, Cal Wright, W. F. Godfrey and Hattie Turvan were third place winners.

Approximately 75 people attended.

AMERICA'S NEW RAILROAD

"I want a ticket on the Atomic Texas Chief!"

Well, sonny, just hang on to that dream. By the time you're a full fare, it might come true!

Of course there is no "Atomic Texas Chief" yet.

But, don't sell American ingenuity and progress short. At the rate things grow new for you on the Santa Fe, you only need to squint your mind's eye just a little to see tomorrow streaming toward you down the track!

You can almost feel the future of Santa Fe in the quickened tempo of its progress in the recent past.

Just count the growing number of Santa Fe diesels that speed your freight and smooth your ride today.

Nineteen years ago there weren't any. Today there are 1422 units. By year's end there'll be 97 more. Steam is disappearing fast. And more than 250 coaling and watering stations have bit the dust.

Santa Fe folks just don't dally when it comes to building new.

For today the Santa Fe is America's new railroad. And it's going to stay that way by growing newer every day—in every way that can mean new safety, better service, new comfort and dependability for you.

It costs millions of dollars to serve you so. But it doesn't add a penny to the taxes you pay. Santa Fe folks are proud of that, too—proud that the newness of the Santa Fe is a part of American progress that pays its own way.

The new farm to market road has begun to look like a highway across Croton. It has already had a coat of tar and crushed rock. We now have a good road all the way to Roaring Springs. When the four miles is completed south of the present road, we will have a paved road all the way to Spur. We understand this four miles has already been surveyed and will be paved sometime in 1935. All we need out here is a little more pavement, a good rain, and a few oil wells.

Bing, Bob and Doty Shove off for New Fun on 'Road to Bali'

Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour have been going places in their "Road" picture for quite some time—and now they cap their zany adventures with a hilarious trek down the "Road to Bali" Paramount's latest laugh riot which opens on Sunday at the Palace Theatre. Advance word brings news that the gag-a-minute trio hits the millennium in laughs in this slap-happy jamboree of mirth, music and merriment which takes them to the mysterious and colorful isle of Bali.
Beginning in an Australian dance hall where Crosby and Hope appear as a pair of second-rate song-and-dance men, the fun fest film frolic moves through one uproarious misadventure after another. After meeting sarong-clad Doty Lamour and her evil cousin, Murvyn Vye, the boys get all tangled up in a fantastic scheme to locate a sunken treasure. Along the "Road" they meet an assortment of characters which include a comic octopus, a tribe of hungry cannibals, a choice selection of delectably formed Balinese dancers together with a veritable menagerie of wild animals.
"Road to Bali" is the first of the "Road" pictures to be filmed in Technicolor, and in addition to its laugh-packed story, it boasts an array of musical production numbers. Song writers Johnny Burke and Jimmy Van Heusen, the talented tunesmiths who wrote most of the music for the other "Road" pictures, have turned out six new hit parade hopefuls for "Road to Bali."
Doty Lamour's fans will be delighted to know that in "Road to Bali" she once again dons a sarong—for the first time in eight years. A series of seven different sarongs styled for Miss Lamour by Edith Head, Paramount's ace fashion designer, gives Doty a chance to display the Lamour glamour which has kept her high on the Hollywood fan mail lists.
Bing, Bob and Doty at their fun-filled best; a lavish production chockfull of eye-catching and ear-tling musical numbers; and the gorgeous hues of Technicolor combine to make "Road to Bali" what is reported to be a screen voyage that is bound to delight everyone. It comes as a fitting climax to its brilliantly successful predecessors and tops them all in laughs.

 Money-what a scarcity among all of us, and the Spur Golf Club is no exception.
 The only way we can accomplish anything is by everybody doing their part. As of now, the dues have been coming in slowly and to have the work accomplished that we have started for club, we must have some money.
 The dues are all payable now in full or in installments, but to be paid in full by the first of July.
