Gasoline for Sunday driving... or Natural Gas to cook next Sunday's roast?

Most people think only of gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils when the petroleum industry is mentioned. The fact is, practically all oil producers are also natural gas producers. So today the driller of a wildcat, or exploratory well, calls his venture successful if the well discovers either oil or gas.

If it is an oil well, then he has helped to supply the country's increasing needs for oil and oil products; if it is a gas well, he has discovered additional supplies of an efficient, economical fuel for household and industrial use.

The petroleum industry's development and conservation of the country's natural gas resources is a practical demonstration of the progress to which Oil Progress Week invites attention.

Beginning with the location of the well, advanced geological and geophysical studies of underground formations aid in the selection of likely oil or gas producing areas, but still the odds against a wildcat well producing either gas or oil are eight to one.

If a natural gas field is discovered, reservoir engineers immediately begin their studies to determine the best producing methods to conserve the underground energy and to obtain the maximum production for the longest possible time.

If the gas that is discovered is "wet," it is processed in gasoline plants which remove the liquid parts and send them to refineries for further processing into motor fuels and aviation gasolines, or to petrochemical plants to be converted into a long list of useful chemical products, among which are the plastics and synthetic fabrics with which you are so familiar. "Dry" gas, the residue from gasoline plants, and sometimes produced direct from the gas field, is the natural gas that burns in literally millions of homes throughout America and under the boilers of thousands of American industries.

So, whenever a wildcat well discovers oil for gasolines or natural gas for the kitchen stove, it adds to the available energy resources of the most highly mechanized nation on earth; it supplies products essential for today's and tomorrow's high living standards; it gives additional strength to resources for National defense.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Evidence mounts that small business, rather than huge combines, makes goods and services available to more people.

An example is contained in 800 page report of Senate Small Business Committee on independent airlines. This establishes, despite obstructive tactics of a powerful bureau, the Civil Aeronautics Board, independent enterprisers have made it possible for all America to fly.

To understand airline situation, bureaucratic terminology is all important. There are "certificated" and "irregular" airlines. 16 trunk lines, of which 4 are huge, plus 30 others operating largely inside state boundaries are certificated, or permitted by CAB to fly schedules.

There are also about 60 so-called "irregular" airlines, operating by CAB permission, but forbidden to maintain any regular schedules. Testimony reveals independents have been stopped for flying too often on Tuesdays, or some other days.

But testimony shows "irregulars" have not only been responsible for huge air travel increases, they have also shown majors how to make money.

In the postwar years of 1946, 1947, 1948 major airlines lost $42 billion, separately discussed bigger government subsidies.

In 1949, independent operators entering business, cut fares from around 6 cents per mile to 3 cents per mile or less. Reluctantly, to meet competition, majors either started coach service, lowered fares, or increased schedules.

As each officer was installed she was presented a miniature shoe, and her acceptance signified her willingness to assume her responsibility in the paths of service.

Unique decorations of various styles of shoes added a great deal of variety to the installation theme and carried with it the thought of footprints to higher ground.

The dedicatory prayer was given by Mrs. Hunter Wilson, and

Class Of 1929 Meets At Kelley Home

Marie Oliver Kelley was hostess for the Class reunion of 1929 and LaFaye Blair Marcy, Georgia Hargrove Thompson and Marion Jordan, local exes, assisted her.

Out-of-town members of the class who rode on the float and drank soda pop at the reunion along with spending "lung power" for two hours of reminiscing were: L. D. Foreman, Mary E. Hogan Clemmons, Edna B. Albin Wilkerson, Reba Maples, Henry Albin, Mary McCormick Dickson, Lottella Sparks Marchinson and Odie Holly.

A letter was read from Johnny Marsh Gilbert of California and Jacob Paul Twaddell called the reunion on the telephone while the class was in session. The class also talked by telephone to their sponsor, Kenneth Hemphill of McAllen, Texas, the pioneer of proper behavior and progressive leadership for class sponsors. He was graduated with the first Texas Tech class and he came to the little town of Spur with his ideals and careful planning for the class he sponsored. As a result the flagpole in front of Junior High was the first gift a class ever gave a school.

Mr. Hemphill is minister of First Methodist Church in McAllen and is married and has three children.

Looking at old pictures, memory books, Rowels and clippings comprised the entertainment for the two hours.

Mr. Hemphill promised to be at the Homecoming for 1934 and will all the class of '29 be here to meet him?

Class Of 1935 Has Reunion Friday

to be an accurate record of all acreages planted to cotton, all acreages prepared for planting cotton but not planted or which may have been subsequently planted to a cover crop of feed or otherwise. Upon that basis reasonably fair allotments could be made. Likewise it is important that the effect of the drought be considered for the previous dry years included in the base period.

It is true that cotton acreages in 1933 will be considered in arriving at allotments for 1934 but the year 1933 will be taken into account fully in following years and the matter is of the greatest importance. If we have an acreage control program in 1934, the county allotments will be based upon the previous three years period, excluding 1933.

I am advised that the county PMA officials have considerable information on hand in regard to the facts of the situation and I have again addressed a further appeal to PMA officials in Washington and College Station, urging that the true facts be ascertained and taken into consideration in any future control programs. I have pointed out that several hundred thousand acres of cotton land are involved in this problem and the welfare of thousands of cotton farmers.

Recently I have suggested to county officials of the PMA that if possible they take the initiative in certifying to the State Office a figure which includes actual cotton acreage plus acreage which would have been planted except for abnormal weather conditions."

Seems You Ought to Know Him!

You see a man in a beautiful new Cadillac—and, almost instinctively, you take a second look.

Your judgment tells you that those who drive Cadillacs are likely to be people of importance—and are very probably in the public eye.

It is small wonder that you feel this way about people who own and drive these distinguished cars.

For more than half a century, Cadillac has been a favorite car of the leading people in every community across the land. For Cadillac is the only car in America whose name has consistently been reserved for the finest cars it is practical to produce.

People who want the finest have learned to come to Cadillac—as the tide goes with the moon!

Of course, you don't have to be a prominent person in order to find a reason for moving up to Cadillac.

There is every practical reason for owning a Cadillac—as well as every personal one.

Under normal driving conditions, the Cadillac car will run a full day on a single tankful of gasoline.

The lowest priced Cadillac costs less than twenty-two models of other makes of American-built cars.

And a Cadillac, according to an authoritative study of national used car prices, will return a greater share of its owner's investment at the time of resale than any other motor car in the land.

So whether you are prominent, or whether you are practical—Cadillac is your perfect choice!

Better come in and see us. Cadillac was never so fine and beautiful as it is today—and it was never more practical to own and enjoy.

We're at your service—any time you wish to call!

Mighty Midget Starts Revolution

THIS IS A "TRANSISTOR" . . . the most important single invention ever developed by telephone scientists. Now used mostly for military purposes, it promises to revolutionize the design of many everyday electronic devices, from hearing aids to television sets. In telephone equipment it is expected to replace vacuum tubes — doing the same job, but taking up far less space and using far less power. Not all the new ideas developed by telephone research are as exciting as this. But every year an average of 260 inventions and improvements are made to help us keep our telephone service high in value — low in cost. SOUTHWESTERN BELL . . . WRITTEN FARM RENTAL AGREEMENT ADVISABLE

At this time of year, landlords and tenants alike are thinking about farm rental agreements for 1954. While many operate from year to year on the basis of verbal agreements regulated by local customs, written leases are better and may save disagreements and hard feelings between the parties.
 Farming is a business and is conducted in a businesslike manner for best success. Rental contracts involve a full year's work by the tenant and possibly thousands of dollars for both parties. A few dollars spent on a properly drawn agreement is good business economy.
 A farm lease is not a simple paper. Printed lease forms often turn out to be traps if not understood, or if not properly executed. A farmer-tenant contract is intricate and of such importance to both parties concerned that amateur draftsmanship is risky.

SUGAR AT ITS BEST!

 Fixing of cash rent or designating the length of term are relatively simple. Yet, even in these matters, ambiguity or incompleteness can cause bitter disputes and expensive lawsuits.
 A loosely drawn property description may have consequences entirely unintended by either landlord or tenant. Where rent is to be based on acreage, an accurate description is doubly important.
 In addition, there are legal substitutes for some omissions in written leases. For example, the tenant who holds over beyond his term may automatically renew the contract if the lease is silent on the subject. It is important to know the results of omissions as to know the court's interpretation of the language used.
 There are many matters which should be covered by a properly drawn lease. For instance, if a tenant is to farm on a share basis, care should be taken to define what expenses are to be paid by the parties as well as what shares are to be taken out. A lease should cover such things as who is to make repairs, what land is to be cropped, whether the tenant can cut timber, whether loss of a building by fire or other cause frees

Hot and hearty breakfasts are a must for school children. To introduce variety, serve French toast. Dip day-old raisin or white bread into a mixture of egg and milk. Lightly salted, saute in melted vitaminized margarine till golden brown and serve with butter.

Don't throw away your old powder puffs. Soft yet firm, they're splendid for rubbing silverware and help to avoid stains on the fingers.

There's less work for mother and more incentive for the children when they help to keep themselves neat and tidy. Give them their own shoe polish kit, with liquid and wax polishes, brush and cloths. And don't let them stop at shoes, either—a neutral colored shoe polish does wonders for school bags, pocket books and belts.

Surprise dad and the kids with a tempting Waldorf salad in their box lunches. Per person, chop 1 medium size apple, 1 stalk of celery and some walnuts. Mix with 2 tablespoons real mayonnaise and pack in a small plastic container. For those who want lettuce, wrap separately in waxed paper.

Dish towels come in such a variety of colorful patterns that they're naturals for kitchen curtains. For the standard low window over the kitchen sink, two 18" x 36" towels are just right. Sew six white plastic rings at the top of each towel and there are your curtains. Trim with ball fringe or rick-rack braid, if desired.

For constipation, never take harsh drugs. They cause heart cramps and griping, disorienting, nervous action, make repeated doses seem needed.

Get more but gentle relief when you are temporarily constipated. Take Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative composed in Syrup Pepsin. No salts, no harsh drugs. Dr. Caldwell's contains an extract of Senna, one of the finest natural vegetable laxatives known to medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative causes good, easy going, comfortable, satisfying relief for every member of the family. Helps you get "on schedule" without repeated doses. Even prevents indigestion, griping, and constipation which may follow.

Get Dr. Caldwell's for the doctor. Money back if not satisfied. Mail order to Box 280, New York 18, N. Y.
