Two family cars are better than One!

Over 400,000 families own two Fords and enjoy all the practical advantages and conveniences of two quality cars at costs not too much different than those of one expensive car. Yet in feature after feature Ford duplicates these expensive cars . . . as thousands know who have already joined the 2-Ford family fold.

Just think! . . . for the price you pay for just one car of some makes you can have two 1954 Fords. Whether you choose the new I-block Six or Y-block V-8, you get the last word in high-compression, low-friction power. And you get the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years—new Ball-Joint Front Suspension. In Ford you get a new Astra-Dial control panel too, Center-Fill Fueling, suspended clutch and brake pedals and a hull-tight Crestmark body, all exclusive with Ford in the low-price field. With this host of fine car features and many more, Ford offers you a car that's worth more when you buy it . . . more when you sell it.

INSURANCE QUESTIONS ANSWERED

One of the most familiar types of contracts is the insurance policy, as nearly everyone carries some sort of insurance protection. Yet, few people take the trouble to read their policies and lawyers have to answer many questions regarding insurance generally.

Here is a problem frequently presented: "I have a hospitalization insurance policy. Will the company pay all my hospital bills if I become ill?"

It may or may not. Insurance is a contract between the insurance company and the policy holder. In the usual contract the policy holder agrees to pay a certain sum of money for the policy of insurance, and the insurance company agrees that should the policy holder incur hospital expense that the insurance company will make payment to the policy holder of stated sums, as set out in the policy of insurance.

The insurance policy itself must state the complete contract between the parties. The oral statement of agents not in harmony with the policy are not binding on the company. The company is bound to pay only such sums as are specifically set forth in the policy of insurance.

Practically all policies have a section called exceptions and exclusions. The policy holder should particularly read this section, before purchasing a policy of any kind of insurance. It would be possible for a policy of insurance to have so many exceptions and exclusions as to practically nullify any benefits under the policy.

Another question often asked is: "Can I sue the insurance company which issued a liability policy covering the car of someone who runs into and damages my car?"

For all practical purposes you may not sue the insurance company which carries insurance on the other fellow's car to protect him from suits in case of his negligence. You must look to the owner or driver of the other vehicle for your damages. Upon his becoming liable to pay those damages to you, then he in turn looks to the insurance company to make the settlement for him, or to reimburse him for the settlement which he has made.

If the case goes to trial before the jury, even though you may know that the other party carries insurance, if there arises any discussion of the fact that insurance is carried by the other party, then the courts have held that it is the duty of the trial judge to declare a mistrial.

This means that you will have to start all over again and try your case from the beginning before the jury, at a later date. Your case is not dismissed, and you do not lose your rights to be heard on your case because of the word "insurance" coming into the case, but it does mean that the trial then in progress must be dismissed and you must start all over again before a new and different jury.

The theory of the appellate courts is that the mere introduction of any evidence or any testimony to the effect that there is an insurance company involved in any way in the case, is highly prejudicial to the Defendant and his cause of action.

The appellate courts further say that it is reversible error, that is, such errors as will set aside the findings of the jury, if the jury in retiring to consider their verdict discuss whether or not either or both of the parties might or might not have insurance to back them up or protect them.

TODAY'S TELEPHONE TIP

by Emily Post

A correspondent says: "The other day, I was working in the garden. Three times within an hour, my telephone rang and, each time, the person calling hung up before I could get to the phone. Will you please remind your readers how annoying this is?"

I'll be very glad to. One of the fundamental courtesies, yet one of the most neglected, is giving the person you call ample time to answer the telephone. It so happens, that person is busy and cannot reach the telephone immediately. Always wait at least a full minute before you hang up.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

There is the story going around that a freshly deceased man applying for admittance to the Pearly Gates was asked what he had done on earth. "Among other things," he replied, "I was once U. S. Secretary of Agriculture."

"Enter then," he was told, "You've had enough of Hades."

This probably illustrates what Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson felt whenism broke over his decision to lower parity support on dairy products.

But government already has close to $400 million invested in surplus dairy products, plus millions in other products.

Unfortunately, no Agriculture Secretary can attack the real roots of the farm problem.

One problem is due to destruction of U. S. tariff protection. In 1947 foodstuffs with value of $2.4 billion were imported. By 1951 food imports had doubled, reaching more than $5 billion, and was about same in 1952.

In meantime, exports of food dropped from $4 billion in 1947 to less than $1.5 billion in 1952. Going back further Commerce Department figures show that until reciprocal trade treaties went into effect in the 30's U. S. food exports equalled or exceeded food imports. From about 1935, until war food imports exceeded exports, often by ratio of 3 to 1.

During war food exports were much higher than imports, but since war, even with a U. S. vast give-away programs the nation has been bringing in more food than it has shipped out, either as gifts, or legitimate business.

Without stronger tariff protection for the American businessman, worker and farmer, only war or government relief projects will stop climbing unemployment figures.

And here's another example of the wrecking of America. Congressman Lane, Mass., claims textiles imported in 1952 would have furnished jobs for a full year for 5,000 more U. S. workers. But while wages in U. S. mills average $1.60 per hour, in England they average 40 to 45 cents per hour. While American worker is 1.5% more productive, greater productivity cannot overcome a 4 to 1 wage differential.

Without stronger tariff protection for the American businessman, worker and farmer, only war or government relief projects will stop climbing unemployment figures.

Everyone is invited to attend the services.

Allan Ray Bingham has the mumps this week.

Miss Dorothy Powell attended a picnic at Silver Falls Friday.

E. J. Lasseter drove to Spur Monday to see a doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aston visited Mrs. Benny Scott in Crosby-

COMEBACK TO FARM LIVING PREDICTED

The trend toward more part-time farming and more rural living is likely to continue in the future. Increasing industrialism, improvements in transportation and in labor-saving facilities for the home will make it possible for more people to reside in the rural areas.

While about two-thirds of the nation's increasing number of people over 65 now live in or near cities, Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist, points out that the situation may be reversed in the future as modern conveniences in rural areas increase and make it possible for retiring and elderly persons to have more comfortable living in the country.

Part-time farming, like part-time homemaking, is on the incline, Mrs. Claytor says. Nearly one farmer out of four worked at off-farm jobs more than 100 days annually within the past several years. In contrast, only one in 10 worked that much off the farm 30 years ago.

The 652 cancer clinics in the U. S. are double the number existing ten years ago but many more are needed. Help fight cancer by supporting the American Cancer Society Crusade.

Why Mercury's New Ball-Joint gives you easier, safer control on curves

Ball-joint front wheel suspension is the newest, most advanced method known to engineers of connecting the front wheels to the chassis. Instead of stiff "double-hinge" kingpins—used by all other cars in Mercury's price class—Mercury uses ball-and-socket joints, much like those used on rearview mirrors, to permit unrestricted movement in all directions. They result in virtually friction-free front-wheel motion, up and down over bumps, back and forth around corners. There's no binding or sticking. You have matchless hug-the-road stability on curves, finer control at all times.

And this is just one of the new Mercury features. There's an entirely new 161-horsepower, overhead valve V-8 engine, a complete line of optional power features, new styling front and back, and stunning new interiors. And there's America's first transparent-top production car—the Mercury Sun Valley.

There's quite a show going on at our showroom. Why not drop around?
