Way Back When

By Pauline Bateman

For entertainment they had candy breaks, and debates in the school every Friday night. Also they went serenading in wagons. They had a small organ when Aunt Rosa was a girl and they would just put it in the wagon and start out. They would sing as they rode up and down the country and people would come out and start handing out the pies and cakes at the different homes they serenaded.

Mr. Young said after the children started to school at Gravel Hill everyone entered into the spirit of the debates every Friday night, and said "why we would go, no matter what kind of weather, if the snow was knee deep we still walked and went to the school house." If we would all carry that kind of school spirit enough to give me but it seems to me he was so very modest about it. What he did not mention are a few facts that I would like to add and that is that he is a man who knows every crook, turn and gully of West Texas, every cowboy from A to Z and anything about a brand, horse or ranch, that could be thought up. In my opinion he is the best authority on these subjects left in the West today. Our sincere thanks to Duff Green for this nice work.

"Anent Dickens County Texas"
 By Duff Green

Dickens County Texas was outlined by the Texas Legislature some time between 1865 and 1900. It was organized in March 1891, election held to elect County officers, but no election was held to designate a location for a county site. It appears from the records of the minutes of the commissioners court of Dickens county that the court did meet at Dockum Post Office on the head of Dockum Creek, the only Post Office in Dickens county at that time, and designated a certain section of land laying on Duck Creek and belonging to the Espuela land and cattle company, Limited of London England, Spur, as the chosen place for the county site of Dickens County, Texas.

The Espuela Land and Cattle Company had a plot made of the town site which was named Espuela. The company erected a temporary pine building for the county's use, and Espuela, Texas became a reality, and the county site of Dickens County from its creation and the county site for about one year, or until it was moved from Espuela to Dickens, Texas, where it has remained from that date to the present time. District Judge W. R. McGill held one term of District Court at Espuela in the fall of 1891, but there was a cloud, or some question as to whether Espuela had been legally selected as the county site of Dickens County, Texas and it seems that Judge McGill ordered an election to be held with Espuela, Dickens, and Frankfort being voted for, and Dickens being the selected place.

When Dickens county was organized, there was no Espuela, no Dickens, no Frankfort, though the part of Dickens laying west of the court house belonged to the J. A. Askins pre-empted home, while the balance of Dickens came out of the Young and Crow Survey, those parities resided at Haskell, Texas with W. C. Ballard being the local agent representing Young and Crow.

It is said there is something wrong with any fellows head that thinks he can write or talk correctly about events that took place half a century ago or longer. It is just human to stick our heads out and get them bumped, when talking about those things when we think we know all the answers. A statement of fact is moot when questionable, when debatable.

Recently the statement was printed that S. T. (Doc) Pepper settled in Dickens County in 1872. If correctly printed, it is in error, for there was no settlement in Dickens county prior to 1877. Before the buffalo herds were practically extinct, Dickens county was Indian country, white settlers respected the fact and stayed out of it.

Go back yonder about 1847 or 1848, when Texas got tired of being a republic and fighting her battles by her lonesome, she joined the government of the United States of America, joined mostly to get protection from Indian raids. Then the U. S. government established a chain of forts across Texas, to give the pioneer settlements a little protection.

Ft. Richardson at Jacksboro, Texas, Ft. Benknep in Young County, Ft. Griffin in Shackleford county, Ft. Cooper a little town above on the Clear Fork of the Brazos river, Ft. Phantom-Hill in Jones County, Ft. Chadbourne in Coke County, then on to the Rio Grande River.

So far as any authoritative facts may go, the buffalo slaughter began to the south of Dodge City, Kansas in the early 1870's, but the Indians became so bad, most of the hunters went South into Texas just north of the government Forts, where the hunters had a little protection from the soldiers, and in addition the Federal government sent bodies of troops out from the Forts to put the Indians on reservations in the Indian territory and Oklahoma. The last Indian battle of note took place in 1874. Most of the buffalo were gone by 1877 so far as Dickens county is concerned, when the first cattle-men landed in Dickens county, and a few settlers of one sort or of another.

W. L. (Bud) Browning from around Fort Griffin, Texas, told me he landed on Duck Creek on May 29th, 1877 with his cattle, and if he saw a cow any where there about, he went and got her, for he knew she was his cow. It would be a mistake to assume that Browning came to Dickens county with just himself, wife and cattle.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly.

Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."

He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,

Was sold a new car before he could explain!

How he hated the styling—so high and square

And in new features it was really bare.

"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—

But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

FARM BUREAU GETS PRAISE

The Texas Farm Bureau has received a pat on the back from one of the South's foremost farm journalists. Writing in the July issue of the Progressive Farmer, associate editor Charlie Scruggs said:

"The Texas Farm Bureau was the major force at work in Austin for farmers. Most observers agreed that without active Farm Bureau participation, agriculture would not have fared so well."

The Texas Farm Bureau was the only general farm organization in the state which maintained a full time legislative staff in Austin during the recent 55th Legislature. The staff analyzed proposed bills to determine if they affected agriculture and were covered by Farm Bureau policies.

NEEDY FAMILIES TO GET USDA COMMODITIES

Judge W. H. Hindman states that the USDA commodities will be distributed twice each month to the needy families. This month distribution will be on July 17 and 24.

DE BRUCE IN ENGLAND AVERAGE LONDON INCOME $30; LIVING STANDARDS LIMITED

(Editor's note: Space limitations prevented Joe Bruce Long's letter from being published last week. So here is that communication — one week late.)

"Merry ole England has been in 'mourning' since the arrival of three cowboys from down Texas way. Not knowing what they were in for, the English welcomed us with open arms, and treated us like kings throughout our stay there. But England will never be the same.

The English people are a hard people to describe. They are a simple, yet complex people. They are simple in that they have very little economically; they are complex in that their thoughts and behaviors are hard to understand. The average income in London is $30 per week which limits their standard of living quite a bit, but their political beliefs are complex and not well defined. A tourist can meet one Englishman on the street and ask him: "What is your personal opinion about the American foreign policy?" He might immediately say "I'm for it. I believe Great Britain and the U. S. should be able to work together towards a world peace." If you ask another the identical question, he would answer: "I have no use for the United States or their foreign policy." Although you may not agree with the latter, you immediately are aware that he is very well informed to be a working man, relatively removed from politics and national affairs.

I feel I can safely generalize in saying that nearly every Englishman reads the newspaper and listens to the radio, thus becoming very well acquainted with what is going on in the world about him. He may be wrong in his beliefs and know it, but he will stand by his convictions, which are most of the time, based on a pretty fair knowledge of world happenings.

To publish their opinions, an open air oratory is held on a corner of Hyde Park in the middle of London each evening where anyone who wishes to do so may make a speech on any subject. The subjects range from religion to government, politics and economics. To attend one of these is an education within itself.

But these habitants of the British Isles are some of the happiest, friendliest, most obliging people to be found anywhere in the world. A tourist can be spotted from a mile away merely by the clothes he wears. A tourist has only to look confused or lost, when as if from nowhere a jolly Englishman with a smile from ear to ear comes up and says, "May I help you in any way or show you where to go? It is a national trait that cannot be passed away without a great deal of recognition.

London is a cramped, crowded city of over eight million people which is the stronghold of England and has been since its beginning in the early tenth century. The living quarters and shops are long and narrow, stretching for miles, over 720 square miles in all. There are no skyscrapers in London; five stories is the average.

Taxis may be seen on the streets by the hundreds, and much of a tourist's time is spent in trying to keep out of their

ROARING SPRINGS NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Onus Ferguson and daughter, Lovelyn of Midland were holiday guests of his sister, Miss Bess Ferguson and brothers, Tom, John and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferguson.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carpenter are their daughter, Mrs. D. W. Mullins and children, Steve, Suzanne and Douglas of Corpus Christi. Other guests during the week end were Mrs. Jimmy Legg and Joe of Azle and the Hugh Fishers of Amarillo and the Dick Carpenters of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thacker and Mrs. Melton Thacker and son, Max, are in Dallas attending furniture market and shopping. Holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swimm were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Swimm of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Swim of Pettit and Mr. and Mrs. Blake Gooch of Plainview.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Duff Green were Mr. and Mrs. John Kirksey and children of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sinclair and children of Abernathy. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis and Donnie are visiting in Hearne with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stanley.

Frank Ferguson looked after path, before learning his way around. Travel in one's own car is not wise since there is little or no room left on the street for the taxis and one can ride clear across the city of over 35 miles for 12 pence (14 cents).

The countryside of England is a thing of beauty that can be enjoyed by every foreigner, regardless of the section of the world he's from. It is rolling as far as the eye will carry sight and green every inch of the way. Nearly every available acre of ground is under cultivation, producing mostly alfalfa, barley and other grass feeds.

We shall meet many more people of other nationalities throughout the summer but I'm sure we will not be quite as impressed as we were with the English. Truly they are peculiar people; friendly, obliging, and well informed.

business and visited with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ferguson, Monday and Tuesday in Wichita Falls.

Carol Gipson of Colorado City is house guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gipson. Janice Reeves of Edmondson, is here visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Wesley Burt.

Johnson Seeks Conservation

Texas will not have any water by the year 2000 unless a far-reaching development and conservation project is pushed forward aggressively, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson declared this week.

"We must build more dams—many more dams—in Texas," Senator Johnson said. "We must hold onto our rainfall instead of allowing the water to run off into the Gulf. If we don't develop our water supply and conserve our water resources, the Texas economy will wither on the vine and our State will become a wasteland."

The Senator said he is urging the Senate Appropriation Committee to take action this week on flood control and water conservation projects in Texas.

"I am pressing for favorable action on projects on the Colorado River," he said, "on the Brazos and Trinity Rivers, on Red River, on the Neches, the Guadalupe and the Sabine. These are projects that will pay for themselves and will return healthy dividends."

Senator Johnson said the 1958 Federal budget proposes a total of only 30 new and resumed water projects of all kinds in the entire country.

"We've got to do better than that," he asserted. "The problem is a giant and we are fighting it with a knitting needle."

Tourists returning to the U. S. from foreign countries are urged to resist the urge to bring back with them unprocessed foods, plants and seeds. Such materials can harbor insect pests harmful to agriculture, says C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Irwin and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown Wichita Falls are vacationing a fishing at Possum Kingdom lake.

DODGE outpulls "other two" low-priced trucks!

CERTIFIED PHOTO. Dodge provides 1950 lbs. pull (3 x 650 gauge reading).

CERTIFIED PHOTO. Truck "C" exerts 1440 lbs. pull (3 x 480 gauge reading).

CERTIFIED PHOTO. Truck "F" gives you 1440 lbs. pull (3 x 480 gauge reading).

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.
