SINCE 1953-1954

Cotton Supply Hits Low Mark

The supply of cotton in the United States during the 1957-58 marketing year is estimated at about 23 million bales—4.6 million bales smaller than the record of last year and the smallest supply since 1933-54.

The carryover at the end of the present marketing year, August 1, 1958, is expected to be around nine million bales, according to John G. McHaney, extension economist. This is the smallest since 1953 and 5.7 million bales below the record high of 1956 and two million bales smaller than that on August 1, 1957.

The disappearance of cotton during the present season is estimated at about 14.1 million bales, says McHaney. This is 2.1 million bales smaller than the 16.2 million bales last year.

In 1956-57, domestic mill consumption of cotton declined to 8.6 million bales as compared to 9.2 million the previous season and it is estimated that this year's figure will be about the same, points out the economist. So, mill consumption will probably be the smallest since 1933-54. Exports during the 1957-58 marketing year are expected to be about five and one-half million bales—more than two million bales below the high exports of 1956-57, McHaney says. This compares with the 1955-56 average of about 5.3 million bales.

As of November 8, 1957, continues McHaney, the U. S. government had allotted about 254 million dollars to finance cotton exports for the year ending June 30, 1958. If completely used, these funds will finance the export of about 1.7 million bales, as compared with exports of about 2.7 million bales financed with 406 million dollars last year. However, he adds, additional funds may be made available before the end of the current fiscal year.

In 1957, farmers produced an estimated 11.7 million running bales from the smallest acreage since 1878 and allotments during 1958 are 37,096 acres smaller than the 1957 allotment.

and agriculture trends. Awards will include ribbons, plaques or medals. Entered in the Project show will be 15 calves, 70 swine, 100 sheep and rabbits will also be included in the entries. The program for the day calls for registration to get underway at 9 a. m. at the Spur Experiment Station with James Jay, in charge. At 10 p. m. livestock judging will be held in the Spur FFA Project Barn. Grass judging will be held at 11 a. m. at the Experiment Station and at noon a luncheon will be served at the Experiment Station Implement barn. At 1 p. m. the Project Show will be held at the FFA barn at Spur High School.

Donkey basketball will be included as an entertainment feature. All participants will pay admission: 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults. Each team will consist of five members and a game period will be ten minutes. Teams will be made up of FFA chapter members from around the area. Brackets will be set up and games will be played at the High School Gym beginning at 4 p. m. Finals will be held at 7 p. m. Winners in the Project Show will be announced at 5:30 p. m. and presentation of awards will follow.

MISS BENEFIELD, JACK ROBERTSON EXCHANGE WEDDING VOWS IN RALLS

Miss Patricia Gayle Benefield and Jack Dwain Robertson were united in marriage at the First Methodist Church in Ralls, Texas, on January 25. The church was decorated with red and white gladioli and greenery. Candlelight also illuminated a white kneeling bench and a wedding arch accented with bells.

Mr. Walter White officiated at the double ring ceremony read at 7 o'clock. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Benefield and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson.

The Benefields are former residents of Española Community and still have their farm home there. Music was presented by Miss Judith Henry, organist, and Walter Ellis Gillon, soloist. The vocal selections were "Indian Love Call", "Wonderful One" and "Wedding Prayer".

Benefield gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of French Chantilly lace and tulle which she designed and was made by her mother. The street-length dress featured a circular skirt and scooped neckline. The bodice was sprinkled with seed pearls.

A tiara of seed pearls secured her veil of French silk imported illusion edged with hand-clipped silk chantilly flounce. White roses encircled a white orchid to form her bridal bouquet.

Miss Darla Fay Craft, a cousin of the bride from El Paso, was maid of honor in a sheath dress of champaigne satin, fashioned with a chiffon sash that reached to the hem.

Assuming duties of bridesmaids were Miss Janet Currie and Miss Donna West. They wore velvetene sheaths made identical to that of the maid of honor. All feminine attendants wore matching headpieces and red lace mitts. Their bouquets were simulated butterflies of net and gladioli florets.

Candies were lighted by Becky Calloway, Lubbock, and Danny Robertson, brother of the bridegroom.

Denice Flurry served as flower girl and Brad Flurry carried the rings. Both are cousins of the bridegroom from San Antonio.

Norman Davis, Floydada, attended the bridegroom as best man and guests were seated by Dwayne Slater and Billy Lyle.

Fellowship Hall was the setting for the ensuing reception. Covering the bride's table was a white taffeta cloth over red net, with a sparkling touch of crystal wedding bell candelabra holding twisted tapers. A white bell was placed in ruffles of red net and white taffeta to form a centerpiece. The bridegroom's table featured a red cloth with silver appointments and a memory candle. Mrs. Bob Woodward, Lubbock, registered reception guests.

Eye appeal is becoming as important to the modern kitchen as the latest labor-saving appliances.

For many years expanses of painted plaster and cabinets, tile, and white porcelain were regarded as the criterion of kitchen efficiency.

Now housewives have come to look at this kitchen treatment as monotonous and "cold." They want color and warmth with efficiency.

One material that provides all the desirable ingredients is western pine paneling. That's why it's becoming so popular for wall and working surfaces, cabinets, drawers, and built-ins for sinks, ranges, dishwashers, and other major appliances.

Use of this paneling allows the homeowner to express individuality in the design and decoration of the kitchen. The western pine forests produce 19 species, each with its own characteristic grain, texture, and knot pattern. They all accept any kind of finish.

When properly treated with modern sealers and finishes that are available, pine paneling stands up well for many years.

For kitchens and any other room subject to abrupt changes in moisture, paneling should be treated with a good commercial sealer before installation.

As a covering finish, excellent protection is provided by two or three coats of wax or one or two coats of white shellac, lacquer, or varnish followed by waxing.

If You Can't Go South

If you can't go South for the Winter—and most of us can't—then you'd better be sure your car is in trim for several months more of cold weather driving.

Drive in to your nearest Phillips 66 Station now and have done what needs to be done. You ought to have your battery tested and serviced. You'll want plenty of Phillips 66 Anti-freeze in your radiator. And how about your tires? Do you need a new set of Phillips 66 snow treads?

Our mid-winter check-up also includes getting the right winter greases in the right places, and a change to fresh Phillips 66 TROP-ARTIC Motor Oil. Come in now. Don't risk a "freeze-up."

Treating Delinquents Like Criminals Is Not Answer Says Judge Hughes

Is More Severe Punishment Needed To Deter Teen-Age Delinquents?

By Judge Sarah T. Hughes (Ed. Note:—This is another in a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the subject, District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who has handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases, along with an even greater number of other civil cases in 23 years on the bench. "Family law is probably the most important phase of the law," says this internationally known jurist, whose work has been honored in the U. S. and in Europe and whose name was put in nomination for the vice-presidency of the United States in 1952. A discussion of a different aspect of the problem appears every week.)

In the face of shocking crimes and a wave of vandalism throughout the country involving children, the cry has gone up for "tougher" laws to punish teenage delinquents.

Repeal of the indeterminate sentence law for juveniles has been advocated and the lowering of the age limits from 17 to 14 recommended so as to subject those 14 and over to the same punishment as adults. Several "get together" bills were introduced in the last Texas legislature.

Tried—and Failed

But treating young offenders like criminals isn't the answer. It has been tried before and it has failed. Less than 150 years ago all children over 7 were held responsible for their crimes.

Severe punishment, or, more aptly, retaliation, was the established pattern for a good many centuries. Children in Texas were subject to the death penalty until 1856; and until 1907 children could be confined in the Texas penitentiary. As late as 1814 three boys in England, 8, 9, and 11 years old, were hanged for the theft of a pair of shoes.

Teaches Them More Crime

Classifying youngsters as criminals and imprisoning them won't do anything except complete their education as criminals. They learn additional techniques in crime and additional criminal attitudes from older or more hardened boys or men.

In comparing boys who had been officially whipped with those who had been put on probation, a royal investigating commission in England recently found that far more of those whipped became repeaters, that their companions regarded them as heroes. In two industrial centers 440 children out of 574 who had been whipped were in court again within two years.

Toughness Differs from Firmness

In this country likewise "getting tough"—different from being firm—has failed. One parish priest who has worked in an underprivileged area of Denver had this to say to the Senate Committee investigating juvenile delinquency:

"Getting tough with the kids, is the worst thing you can do. A lot of them come from rough families and rough neighborhoods. They are used to brutality."

Need More Probation Officers

Those who have studied the causes of delinquency and worked with teen-age offenders recommend probation in the child's home wherever possible. This means more supervision—and calls for more supervisors. When probation is not advisable the delinquents should be put in an institution where there will be treatment and a program of education and rehabilitation.

Finally, in the home what is the place of punishment? The Senate Committee investigating delinquency had this to say:

Firm But Not Hostile

"The critical point seems to be whether the disciplinary measures (in the home) are consistent or not, whether discipline is cruel or firm and kindly, and—most important—whether it is given by a parent who really loves the child or one who is indifferent or hostile to the youngster."

In the home, as elsewhere, coercion doesn't work. Punishment which tries to prevent delinquency from fear alone is not the answer. Stronger Than Fear

There must be a stronger reason than fear for good behavior. Otherwise as soon as the parent or policeman is absent, the child will go and sin some more.

Guidance and training by parents with character and mature love must go along with punishment. To the children for whom these are not available, society must provide more probation officers with skill and wisdom, additional training school supervisory officials and more training school space.

A zero tolerance for methoxychlor in milk has been set by the Food and Drug Administration. This means, says Extension Entomologist F. M. Fuller, that the pesticide cannot be used as a dip or spray for controlling horn flies on milking dairy cows.

Tommy Sands Story Of Success To Start At Palace Sunday

Success is probably the most common of all human ambitions, although very few ever attain this misty goal. Far fewer find themselves suddenly in this happy position. Tommy Sands, the singing sensation who makes his motion picture debut in Twentieth Century-Fox's "Sing Boy Sing" at the Palace Theatre, became a success overnight.

Tommy was a hard working ambitious young entertainer of the "country music" variety when lightning struck. After years of struggle he gave up a safe disc jockey job in Shreveport to gamble on a career in Hollywood. He found the going tough, although he did manage a few national TV guest spots.

Then it happened. The big moment he was waiting for. It came by way of a telephone call from New York. The producer of a national TV dramatic show had been tipped off to this young Chicago-born singer and offered him the lead in a play with music. The next ten days were something of a nightmare for young Sands. The most experienced actor will testify that preparing for a solid hour on live television is the most difficult assignment to undertake. So that when the contract was signed and Sands began studying his lines, the news that the show would hit the air in exactly seven days made Tommy burst into a cold sweat and his knees began to knock.

The rest is already legend. Tommy scored a smashing success. The song he sang on the show was later recorded and sold over a million copies. His success was naturally echoed in Hollywood where Buddy Adler, head of productions at Twentieth Century-Fox, who had successfully piloted Elvis Presley and Pat Boone through the transition stage to motion pictures, promptly signed Tommy Sands to a film contract.

Sands' reaction to this success is simply to work harder. Success came suddenly but he is taking good care it does not depart as swiftly.

A properly carried out fertilization program for the farm fish pond or tank is also one of the best practices for controlling submerged mosses in the pond, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. The first application of fertilizer should be made immediately. For detailed information, he suggests a visit with the local county agent.

IT'S THE LAW

in Texas

Court Rules Have Purpose

Are you hopelessly confused by court room procedure? Words such as "objections," "overruled," "sustained," "hearsay," "irrelevant" and "opinion" are meaningless to many persons.

The purpose of a trial is to settle disputes that the parties cannot settle by themselves. Before these disputes can be settled, the facts which give rise to them must be established. This sounds simple, but on the contrary it is a difficult task. If the parties agreed on the facts the job would be easy, but each side has its own version.

The trial court has the job of establishing the facts. This is accomplished by questioning witnesses and the introduction of physical evidence. This requires application of the rules of evidence.

Through the years the law of evidence has been established. The rules place restraints on what type of evidence is proper. They have the effect of protecting the rights of the parties by insuring a fair trial.

Hearsay is a word often heard during a trial. Hearsay may involve a statement by a third person of a conversation between two other persons. It would be hearsay if Jones were asked to tell the court what he overheard Smith tell Greene. With certain exceptions, evidence of this type is excluded because it is not reliable, and might open the door to false testimony.

A lawyer objects to evidence he does not believe is proper. If a lawyer objects to evidence because it is irrelevant, he means that the evidence is of such little importance that it has no bearing on the case, and if admitted it would bog down the trial so that the time needed doesn't justify its admittance.

Opinion evidence of one not an expert is not admissible since such opinion carries no weight.

When an objection is sustained by the judge the evidence is not received. Should the objection be overruled, the evidence is allowed to be presented.

The rules of evidence have been built up through many years of court trials. These rules are not arbitrary but are designed to see that justice is done in our courts. The judge is seeking to have the truth established and insure that all parties and witnesses in the trial are given a full and fair opportunity to present the facts.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

City Lets Contract For Paving

Miss Ollie Cole Marries
Miss Ollie Cole, County Treasurer of Dickens County and Ed P. Tayloe, of Paris, Tennessee, were married in Stamford Monday. Rev. Stewart of the M. E. Church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Tayloe returned to Spur to make their arrangements to go to their home in Tennessee.

Mrs. Tayloe has been a resident of Dickens County for many years and is well known here. She has a great many friends which she acquired both as a citizen and a public official. She has served the county in public office a number of years and as our County Treasurer, had one of the best sets of books since the county was organized.

Mr. Tayloe was in this county forty years ago. He was a cowboy on the Spur Ranch before the county was organized. At this time he is a conductor on the L. & N. Railroad, having been with the company for thirty years. Not long ago the company retired him on a salary in consideration of the faithful service he had rendered them.

Mr. and Mrs. Tayloe will make their home in Paris, Tennessee, where they own a little tract of land pointing the city. Their many friends here join in wishing them much happiness in life.

City Improvements Underway

Contracts For Curbing Lot

The last of the week the City Commission let the contract for building curb and gutter around the city lots west of the Sunshine Service Station. That contract specifies for building curb and gutter from the Sunshine Service Station west to the street at the corner near the Spur Hotel and then south on the street to near the Spur Cream and Bottling Works. The alley behind the Sunshine Service Station is to be made into a street and curb and gutter built on it south to the property of Love Dry Goods Company. There the line turns west and intersects with the work on the street. This will complete the curb and gutter work around the quarter of the block.

Charles Whitener has the contract for the work. Mr. Whitener has the water line in preparatory for the work and for watering trees which the City Commissioners contemplate having soon.

These lots were purchased by the city for the purpose of erecting a city hall and auditorium.

Just how soon the building can be erected depends on how bad the people want it built, but we are sure it will be in the near future. The improvement that is now going in will add much to the appearance of these lots.

Whippett and Willys Agency Here

A new firm is starting business in Spur under the name of "Spur-Whippett-Knight Co."

This new firm will have headquarters at the Sunshine Service Station and will be under the management of Joe Christal. The business firm will be the sale of Whippett and Willys Knight cars.

Mr. Christal is one of the best known men in this country and holds the respect and confidence of every one in the community. He is taking charge of the sales agency of two fine cars which means much toward the success of the firm. The Overland car, according to government figures, has advanced from 16th to 4th place in standing and is getting better all the time. Mr. Christal will be glad to meet his friends and show them these cars. He will have a car load within the next few days.

Spur To Have Tourist Camp

J. T. Dickenson, formerly of Prairie Chapel, has moved to Spur and is installing a tourist camp on Dockum Creek just north of town. Mr. Dickenson states that it will require some time for him to develop the kind of tourist camp that Spur needs. He stated "When it comes to growing trees to give the camp a real park appearance, it will require years, but we must have the best possible as we go along."

This is something that Spur has needed for some time. People who come to our town have no place to camp out during their stay with us. It is hoped that Mr. Dickenson will be able to put his project over to the satisfaction of everyone concerned.

Soils lose their desirable structure when calcium and phosphorous are removed, either by cropping or leaching or both.

Game Commission Asked To Limit Waterfowl Shooting

Members of the Game and Fish Commission have been asked to limit waterfowl shooting to a half-day during the next duck and goose hunting season. At a meeting of the Game and Fish Commission at Lubbock last week, Panhandle residents asked the Commission to set up North and South Zones for hunting geese during the open season.

It was at this point that Commissioner Henry LeBlanc of Fort Arthur suggested the half-day shooting period. He said that ducks and geese are being driven from the coastal area by the increasing gun pressure of all day shooting.

"Our waterfowl must have some place to feed and rest," the commissioner said. "If we are shooting at them from before sun-up until sunset, we'll be driving them away."

Many individual lease holders along the coast already are permitting only morning shooting now, according to the Executive Secretary.

He said that the Central Flyways Committee will meet in Corpus Christi in June. At that time the question of the half-day shooting period will be presented to the committee.

Panhandle hunters said they were being deprived of much goose shooting because most of the early geese pass on through going south. Later in the season they become plentiful just about the time the season is closed. They recommended that goose shooting be permitted until the middle of January, the same as duck shooting, or that a split season be ordered.

Game Violations Net $10,971

Game law violators in Texas paid a total of $10,971 in fines during December, for 349 violations, according to the monthly report of the Director of Law Enforcement and Fish Commission.

Trespassing accounted for 77, to take top place in the violations. Night hunting accounted for 38 of the violations. Hunting without a license brought in 40 arrests.

Despite the fact that heavy fines are assessed every month for telephoning fish, three paid fines
