Light Docket in Prospect for 112th District Court

Spring Term Begins Monday Morning for Sutton

TWO DIVORCES

Civil Cases Are Mostly Carryovers from Former Times

A comparatively light docket, with only one criminal case now docketed and with most of the civil cases carryovers from former court terms, faces Judge Joe G. Montague and Sutton county officers when the spring term of 112th district court for Sutton county is convened Monday morning.

The grand jury has been summoned to appear Monday morning. Weaver H. Baker, district attorney, was here from Junction Wednesday conferring with Sheriff B. W. Hutcherson about investigations which they request of the grand jury. A few indictments growing out of arrests in the last six months are expected to swell the criminal docket for this term.

Two divorce cases have been recorded by J. D. Lowrey, district clerk. They are Owen Gray, jr., vs. Erma Gray, and Andres S. Rodrigues vs. Pasquala S. Rodrigues.

New civil cases are those of U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co., vs. A. B. Murdock, suit for writ of judgment; and B. W. Hutcherson vs. Graham Bros. & Company, suit on note.

Continued cases follow: Mrs. Mamie E. Clarkson vs. Wool Growers' Central Storage Company, et al, trespass to try title and for damages.

Lions Hear Talks on Bank Holiday

Spirit of People Praised; Club Considers Phone Rate Cut

Sonora Lions at their Monday luncheon heard talks by the Rev. E. P. Neal and by George H. Neill relative to the banking and financial situation of the country. The Rev. Mr. Neal, as program chairman, made a brief talk stressing the importance of co-operation of the people in the government's bold efforts to strengthen the nation's finances. He said that patriotism was as important now as in war time.

Mr. Neill, as cahier of the First National Bank, discussed the national holiday briefly and assured the Lions that Texas banks as a whole were in excellent condition, the best in two years, in fact.

A letter from the Eldorado Lions Club requesting co-operation of the local club in petitioning the San Angelo Telephone company for lower rates was referred to the club's civic affairs committee, composed of W. E. Caldwell, J. W. Trainer and C. H. Carson.

Guests were Howard Espy, Dr. I. B. Boughton and U. M. Gilder, Sonora, and A. P. Magruder and J. B. Becker, San Angelo.

Next week's program committee follows: J. M. and M. C. Puckett and the Rev. Z. E. Parker.

Sonora Clippings Were Sold at 6 Cts.

Price of Early Deal Announced Following Later Sales

The price paid the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company for its spring accumulation of wool clippings was 6 cents per pound, it was revealed this week by Bill Fields, warehouse manager.

The sale was made to J. M. Lea for Draper & Co., several weeks ago, but the price was not announced at that time. Clippings were shipped two weeks ago. Other sales over the state were at 6 and 6½ cents per pound. Wool is expected to bring about three times as much.

Harold Evans Sells 35,000 Pounds Wool

Lamb Fleece Goes to Silberman at Unannounced Price

Harold Evans Wednesday afternoon sold 35,000 pounds of choice lamb wool to Murphy Campbell of San Angelo, buyer for S. Silberman & Sons, Chicago dealers at unannounced terms.

This was the first sale of the year in this section, and also the first sheep shearing job. The 6000 lambs are long yearlings, and the wool is unusually fine and clean.

MRS. MARY EVANS MOVES TO SAN ANGELO SATURDAY

Mrs. Mary Evans and little daughter, Mary Jane, moved Saturday to San Angelo, where Mrs. Evans will be employed by the J. C. Penny company. Another daughter, Miss Jessie Louise, is a student in a San Angelo business college, and will live with her mother.

Mrs. Evans has been a resident of Sonora for many years, having been reared here as the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith.

Charles Harold Evans, a son, will continue to be in Sonora part of the time, since his business as a wool and mohair buyer keeps him in this section most of the year.

Mrs. Joe Berger at Home Ill

Mrs. Joe Berger was brought home Tuesday from San Angelo where she was taken several days ago for treatment of a painful case of pleurisy with which she has been suffering. She was accompanied here by Mr. Berger. She has been advised to remain in bed for ten days, and is not permitted to receive company. Her condition is thought to be improved.

Sonoran's Father Develops Picker

A. R. Nisbet, Plainview, father of W. R. Nisbet of Sonora, has invented a machine, pictured above, which has demonstrated its ability to pick cotton by air blowing methods. It can be set up to pick one, two or more rows, according to amount of power available. Capacity, of course, depends on the hook-up. Green and unopened bolls are not injured by the picking of open cotton. Negotiations are under way for establishing a factory in Plainview for manufacture of the machines.

Outlook for New Mohair Best in Nearly 2 Years

12-cent Offer Refused in Angelo Is Report; Shearing Going Rapidly Ahead Here

The price outlook on spring mohair is the most favorable in nearly two years, according to present indications. An offer of twelve cents a pound for adult hair was reported refused in San Angelo last week. General opinion has it that kid hair will bring at least 35 cents a pound, almost double the price paid for the bulk of last fall's clip, and that adult hair will bring above 12 cents, which is double the price paid for some clips 6 months ago.

Buyers for a number of eastern firms are showing interest in the clip this spring, while at this time a year ago they would not even talk about mohair, much less look at it or discuss prices. At that time big surpluses on hand with the co-ops acted as a depressing influence. These have since been taken over by a few of the larger mills, thus creating much greater interest in the coming clip.

Shearing is about one-half finished in this section, according to estimates. Fleece is being received day and night at the warehouse of the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company.

Ranchmen in this area have enjoyed unusually good weather for shearing thus far. Few had started prior to the February cold wave, and since then weather has been favorable most of the time. One ranchman in Menard county lost three hundred head when they were caught in a rain just after shearing two weeks ago.

Offer of 10 and 30 Cents for Hair

Goat Men Expect Fleece to Bring Better Price, However

A speculator's offer of 10 cents for adult hair and 30 cents for kid hair Thursday morning was the first activity in mohair circles here this spring.

Ranchmen and wool men expect the spring clip to bring a better price than the first, however, and are in no hurry to sell.

SHROYER PLANS SALE OF GUANO FROM RANCH CAVE

S. L. Shroyer of Camp Allison is planning the sale of guano from bat caves on his ranch on the North Llano river. He has used the fertilizer on his truck patches with excellent results.

Samples of the guano are on display at the Hall Feed & Grain Co.

Firemen Call Off '49 Fracas

The "49 Fracas" planned by the Sonora Fire Department for next week-end was called off by action of the members at a called meeting Tuesday night. Other forms of entertainment are being planned in its stead for raising a convention fund to entertain the Hill Country association in July.

HITCH-HIKER OR ROUGH RIDER, BOY HAS FUTURE

Either as a hitch-hiker or a roughrider—his parents are undecided—there is a definite future ahead for W. T. Lohn, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lohn.

At any rate the youngster climbed aboard the bumper of Miss Aileen Swafford's sedan, unobserved, and rode from the Troy White residence to the Sonora business section, over one of the city's roughest streets Monday afternoon. When the car stopped he climbed down, unharmed, and seemed willing to take another ride.

W. E. WHITEHEAD, EARLY SETTLER; HERE MONDAY

W. E. Whitehead of Del Rio, one of the real pioneers of the Sonora country back in the eighties, was in Sonora for a short time Monday afternoon.

Mr. Whitehead came to this area in 1882, six years before Sutton county was organized and before Sonora was established. He worked cattle on the site where the business section now stands.

Mr. Whitehead was accompanied Monday by two of his five rancher sons, Lee and Tuff.

Sutton County's March Allotment from R. F. C. $700

Money Delayed by Bank Holiday; Further Street Work and Improvement Planned

Sutton county's March allotment of R. F. C. unemployment relief funds has been announced as $700, according to announcement received last week by George H. Neill, county chairman.

The allotment will be used to pay for work already done earlier in the month and to continue improvement of city streets and other public projects. Further graveling of streets is contemplated, as well as placing a number of culverts and drains. The committee will continue its efforts to carry out projects of lasting benefit to the town while at the same time providing employment for those in need of the work.

Cemetery clean-up work will be planned with a portion of the funds received this spring.

Citizens have been asked by the committee to offer suggestions as to the most needed and desirable improvements, in order that the funds may be expended for the greatest good of the community as (Continued on page 8)

Bond Cancellation Election Saturday

Only Property Owning Tax-Payers Allowed to Cast Ballot

Cancellation of 155 of Sutton county's 175 thousand-dollar highway bonds, voted in April 1931, is to be decided in a special election ordered Saturday by the commissioners' court.

The bonds were never sold because the state took over all construction costs. Twenty bonds were used to pay for right-of-way and fences on the 21 miles of Highway 27 in the west end of the county.

A light vote is expected, since only property owning taxpayers are qualified to vote. Sentiment seems to be unanimously in favor of cancellation.

Variety Store Will Open Before April 1

F. J. Wood, Eldorado, Going in Kirkland Building

A complete variety store will be opened in Sonora before the first of April, according to plans announced this week by F. J. Wood, Eldorado store owner, who is opening a store here.

Mr. Wood has leased the store next to Leaman's Department Store in the E. M. Kirkland building. Work of erecting fixtures began this week. Store fixtures belonging to Mr. Kirkland had been stored in the building for several months. These are being moved to Eldorado for storage.

Mr. Wood will be in charge of the store here personally.

HALBERT SELLS MUTTON GOATS, 30c; NANNIES $1

Robert Halbert recently sold 1331 head of mutton goats, out of the hair, to Jap Lowe of Del Rio at 30 cents a head.

Mr. Halbert also sold 850 nannies to Dr. A. G. Blanton at $1 per head, sheared. Dr. Blanton is trucking the goats to Catarina, where they will be run by Ben F. Martin. Moving of the stock began Thursday morning.

TUESDAY IS TRADITIONAL "FIRST DAY OF SPRING"

Next Tuesday, March 21, is officially termed the first day of spring by the calendar.

On this date the equinox is reached, when day and night are supposedly the same length—12 hours each.

MORALE IS GOOD

Authorities Say Holiday a Benefit to Business

The First National Bank of Sonora gained approximately $15,000 in deposits over withdrawals in the first day's operation following the banking holiday of two weeks when it re-opened here Wednesday.

The volume of checks handled for the day was about seven times normal, with 2198 going through the bank. Of this total 1804 were local checks, and 394 were out-of-town checks, accepted for collection only and not for deposit. Each item is handled 26 times, so some idea of the work involved can be gained. The staff worked until after 6 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The usual run of cash business was had here, with withdrawals and deposits about equal.

Citizens of this area are little given to hoarding, say local bank officials. About the only gold held out in this area was in the form of souvenirs and gift pieces. Local citizens have responded admirably to the nation's request that gold be exchanged for other forms of currency, and many are parting with their gift pieces in spite of deep sentimental attachment.

Business operations are being carried on as usual here, with no restriction on local checking accounts or normal cash withdrawals. Banks will not pay out gold or gold certificates, however. They (Continued on Page 8)

What Is

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Over 30 Million Americans Now Have It— Is This Dreaded Disease Becoming a Plague?

Athlete's Foot is a fungus germ (Tinea) which appears on the feet in the form of a little yellow blister, causing severe irritation and itching—especially between the toes. This disease is very contagious and is spreading with alarming rapidity among all classes of people. The failure to successfully treat Athlete's Foot in the past has been due largely to the fact that these germs hibernate in the pores of the shoes. Salves and liquids applied only to the feet DO NOT PENETRATE THE PORES OF THE SHOES. Medical Science has recently developed an amazing treatment known as Meritt Foot Powder, which laboratory and clinical tests have proved will positively kill these germs and restore feet so infected to a normal, healthy condition. It is simply sifted on the feet and into the shoes. Meritt Foot Powder quickly eliminates excessive perspiration and itching of the toes. It heals irritation and is unsurpassed for chafing and as a deodorant. Why suffer another day when this fast working treatment is positively guaranteed to overcome these distressing conditions or your money refunded?

HEALTH NOTES

MALARIA COSTS HALF MILLION EACH YEAR

Austin, March 15.—More than one half million dollars are lost each year in Texas by a preventable disease, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. This disease is malaria, and last year three hundred Texans died of it.

The funeral, medicine and loss of time of those dying was estimated at one hundred dollars each or $60,000.00. For each death there was at least two hundred cases, this would mean 60,000 people acutely ill with malaria. The course of the disease varies from a few days to many weeks; however, if the 60,000 ill were only incapacitated one week, there would be a loss of 360,000 working days, at one dollar a day the loss would be $360,000. Then no doubt those sick spent at least one dollar each for medicine. The above figures are very low and do not take into account the loss in the schools occasioned by children repeating grades.

Malaria is caused by the bite of one certain mosquito. First the mosquito bites or sucks blood from a person that has the germ of malaria in his system, the mosquito then bites a well person. The germs enter the blood, grow and multiply there. The second person bitten begins to shiver with chills, then to burn with fever, then to have headache. The fever may last for weeks or go and come. Sometimes one may have a light attack of malaria without knowing it, only feeling dull and tired.

To prevent malaria the breeding places of mosquitoes must be eliminated and the houses properly screened.

NEW NEVADA SENATOR

Portrait of Patrick McCarren, the newly elected senator from Nevada

inated and the houses properly screened.

After a person has been ill with malaria, he should take a complete course of treatment under the care and observation of his physician, until examination of the blood shows him to be free of the germs. Incomplete treatment of malaria leaves one still harboring the infection even though he may be free from symptoms. As long as the germs remain in the blood the individual is not only a menace to others, but is likely at any time to become ill with a fresh attack of acute malaria—chills, fever, headache, all over again.

'WEARIN' O' THE GREEN' APPROPRIATE FOR TODAY

St. Patrick, the grand old saint of Ireland, who freed the country

Thousands, both in Ireland and elsewhere, will wear the significant green today, for the traditions concerning St. Patrick are many, and apparently have a strong appeal to popular fancy.

TO OUR MANY CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS IN THE HILL COUNTRY

We wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your consideration, patience, and good-natured common sense throughout the recent Bank Holiday.

We feel sure you all understand that this bank had nothing to do with the situation, but that we could not function with all other banks closed. We attempted to serve our customers to the full limit allowed us under the law. We appreciate the many acts of friendship and confidence that came to our attention.

This institution will continue in the future, as we have for the past sixty-four years, in making loans only to our own people, your friends and neighbors, and we will stand as we always have, with the Hill Country. Your continued confidence and business will speed the return of normal conditions which now seem in prospect.

WEST TEXAS THE CURING GROUND FOR MACHINE AGE BREAKDOWN

Editor's Note—The following article written for West Texas Today, official magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by Frank Grimes, editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, gives an interesting picture of the potential possibilities of development in future decades in West Texas:

The same opportunities that attracted tens of thousands of individuals and families into West Texas in the decade between the treaty of Versailles and the collapse of the stock market in 1929 are just as much in evidence today, only more so.

These opportunities may be thrown into one general classification and reduced to a phrase; The chance to be an individual rather than a cog in a machine.

More than any other section of the country just now, West Texas offers to the energetic man the opportunity to plant his feet on solid ground and be ready to ride the next Prosperity Special that comes along.

The East, with its heterogeneous population, its Old Worldish flavor of fatalism, is bound to the wheel of mechanized civilization.

The great Middle West is mortgaged to the hilt, with the size of the mortgage conditioned on $300 to $500 land.

The Old South has made phenomenal strides in the past twenty years, but it will have to go another twenty before it will be within hailing distance of West Texas.

The Pacific West is a diamond in a pig's snout, a real estate agent's nightmare.

Here You Are!

Only in West Texas may all the ingredients of the New Era be found.

That calls for a definition of what constitutes the New Era.

It is a civilization wherein the machine will be used to lighten the labor of man, and not to eliminate it.

The machine age, whirling at ever-increasing speed, threw men off into economic limbo by sheer centrifugal force. The faster it revolved, the more men it cast away and the farther from its support it flung them.

Man has two remedies. He can slow down the machine to a rate at which it may be ridden; or he can pick himself up out of the dust and go as far away from it as he can get.

From necessity or choice, he has elected to turn his back on the monster.

He is getting back to what we call fundamentals, or first principles. He is depending more and more on the sweat of his brow. If the machine age offers him no opportunity to sweat, he will create his own opportunity.

Pudding's Proof

And he is doing just that. Millions of quarts of foodstuffs were put away in rural and urban cellars of West Texas this winter—fruits, vegetables, meats. In some cases the city feller furnished tin cans or glass jars to the country feller, and they shared the resultant preserved foods. Co-operative gardens were cultivated. Farmers "swapped" work, products and ideas. A common necessity threw them together, in an economic sense, for the first time in years. This economic compulsion revived old social customs, the old time friendliness and helpfulness that distinguished the long, lazy period before agriculture sprouted wheels and levers.

We might as well be frank about this matter. Nothing short of a world war, or a totally unexpected development of comparable importance, is going to change very materially the condition we find ourselves in at this moment. All this talk about prosperity being just around the corner creates an altogether erroneous picture in our minds. This generation will not see a return of the mad, irresponsible, selfish and completely false boom of the 1920's. It was a freak. The sooner we quit using it as a yardstick for economic and social values the better off we'll be.

And Then—

The era we are entering is a saner, happier one. First we must clean up the wreckage left behind by the machine madness of the preceding decade. We must bind up the wounds of that economic holocaust which left its scars on the bodies and minds of millions of American people. Gradually we will be able to hold out to every man the chance to make a living for himself and his loved ones, by the simple and sensible process of getting out of his system the blighting effect of the lotus blossoms he sniffed in the boom.

West Texas has millions of acres of arable land not yet touched by the plow. Every acre, properly attended, is capable of feeding a hungry mouth or clothing a shivering body. That is not saying that West Texas has anything special to offer a man who wants to enter cut-throat competition with other cotton farmers. It is saying, however, that West Texas has millions of acres of cheap land that can be made to sustain life and provide shelter. There are millions of people in this country today who have no means of doing either; they are dependent upon outside help for their daily sustenance, such as it is.

West Texas, then, is particularly and peculiarly blessed in the potentialities of its agriculture. It is the greatest cattle-raising region on earth. It is the greatest sheep and goat country in the world. It has enough unmined potash to fertilize half the cultivated land of the globe. It has enough untouched petroleum to run the motor cars of the world for as long as motor cars of the world will be fashionable. It has actual or potential power plants capable of lighting great cities and running giant industries.

Above all, West Texas is a new, raw country that requires a lot of building before it will even begin to be crowded. That means work for man and machine in the processing, transportation and utilization of raw materials; in the construction of buildings, highways, reservoirs; in the building of factories of a type suitable to our needs; in the multifarious activities required to feed, clothe, shelter, entertain and educate a population that is continually growing.

In short, West Texas holds the answer to the riddle of the machine age. It offers every willing and earnest man an opportunity to help himself, by furnishing him the raw materials of his own economic rehabilitation. It is able to do this because of the blessings of Nature, which richly endowed it; and because it was less touched and therefore less affected by the devastating bursting of the Machine Bubble.

Vet to Visit Own Grave in France

Misplaced Helmet Causes Mistake in Identity During War

Pittsburg, March 15.—Frank Totino has gone to his grave!

But Frank isn't dead. He is merely taking a pilgrimage to his grave in France—and he is carrying a picture of the little wooden cross over the mound bearing the name "Frank Totina."

It was in the Argonne Frank was "killed." A buddy lying in a shell hole; Frank was behind a tree. But let him tell it:

"Orlando (his buddy) called me to come over. But I thought I was safer where I was. Boom! A big shell hit, killing Orlando. Part of the tree that protected me was blown apart and I felt the shell burn into my hip. My helmet was thrown over with Orlando.

"Inside the helmet was my number and this caused the burial party to think they were burying me."

For two days Totino lay beneath the shattered tree. He finally was found and taken to a base hospital where he recovered.

After he came back to America Totino learned there was a grave for him in France. He obtained a picture of it and now he is on his way to see it.

IT PAYS TO READ BEFORE YOU SIGN, NAMES ON PETITION SHOW

Temple, March 15.—Petitions signed by a long list of prominent people mean little, it was demonstrated yesterday when many signed a joke petition without ever reading what it contained.

Several hundred Temple business and professional men signed without reading a petition circulated by a Telegram reporter asking the president to appoint Giuseppe Zangara, attempted assassin of Franklin D. Roosevelt, to some important position in the new National cabinet.

The petition was written like the average petition and began with considerable talk about the need for economy in government and other current topics. It was written in a very confusing manner so that it was long and difficult to read.

Only four persons approached refused to sign it. About half started to read it but thought they had gotten the contents of it and obligingly signed their names.

A few said, "I'll sign it provided it doesn't cost anything." Others said they would sign it if the reporter asked them to. He immediately replied, "I'm not insisting—we are just trying to see how many signatures we can get."

The petition was started in the Telegram office and it was quickly signed by nearly all approached.

Editor Walter R. Humphrey, who has just become the father of a fine girl, was among those who hurriedly and obligingly signed without reading.

One signer thought after he had affixed his signature that once in college he had hurriedly signed a petition which was a joke, promising to have his right leg cut off and immediately took the petition back, read it and scratched out his name.

One of the men who signed it said, "I never have signed a petition before but this is one thing I am after." He had read only the introductory part about cutting taxes and did not read further.

The petition idea was suggested by one circulated in Omaha by an attorney on a wager that he could get 300 signatures to a petition to nominate a mayor, regardless of the candidate. He named Zangara and got 300 business and professional men to sign the petition without reading it.

AMERICA GOES AHEAD!

The holiday is over, and in every part of America people are glad to get back to work. Almost everyone marked time during the bank holiday. Everything hinged on the bank opening. All progress and all decisive action was held up awaiting the settling of an uncertain issue.

Then came the dawn—the dawn of a new business era founded on a national financial structure of carefully planned soundness. Americans and America will go ahead, as shown in the phenomenal stock market rallies on the opening of the stock exchange Wednesday. Both in volume and price reaction it was the most successful day that the New York exchange has seen in many a month. And all of that will be reflected in increased business activity in all parts of the nation.

The new administration and the new deal have capitalized a dramatic situation, and by so doing have inspired a brand of confidence in the mass mind that has not been felt since 1929. With a sound banking structure and renewed confidence in government, America stands ready to advance. Let's all be ready to go along, not too fast, but at a steady gait which will carry us to a permanent prosperity.

IT LOOKS LIKE DISCRIMINATION

The old saying "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways" might be aptly applied to the policy of the Santa Fe lines in removing concentration charges on wool and mohair destined for San Angelo. The removal works only in one direction, though, and if the wool is to be hauled to a Sonora firm for concentration a fee must be paid.

The freight rate from Sonora to Boston or from Sonora to Houston is the same as the rate from San Angelo to those points. Consequently the Santa Fe removes freight charges for hauling wool from here or any point on the San Angelo-Sonora line into San Angelo for storage in warehouses there. But if an Eldorado grower wishes to sell through the Sonora wool firm it costs somebody 1 cent per ton per mile, or 20 cents a ton, for hauling the wool here. It works a hardship on warehouses on any of the lines running into San Angelo. It would seem that removal of concentration fee should work in both directions equally, so long as the railroad eventually gets the long shipment whether to Boston or to Houston.

Another point of difference lies in the rate to Chicago. While the Sonora-Boston rate is the same as the San Angelo-Boston rate, the rate from Sonora to Chicago is 17 cents a hundred pounds higher than from San Angelo to Chicago. This eliminates the Chicago market so far as Sonora handled wools are concerned.

Why the rates should be the same to Boston and different to Chicago appears to be another instance of the occasional injustices which railroads arbitrarily commit.

LET'S HAVE ONE UNANIMOUS ELECTION

Let's go to the polls Saturday, property-owning voters of Sutton county, and have one unanimous election to record for the edification of posterity.

The purpose is to vote off the remnant of the 1931 bond issue and formally release the county from an obligation of $155,000. The purpose of the bond issue has been served. We have gotten our highway to the county line on the west, and soon we shall have a complete system of county lateral roads. And all of this has been done at a cost of only $20,000 for right-of-way for the highway.

The state highway commission's timely plan of building the highways without county aid, paying entirely from gas tax revenues, coupled with its policy of taking over highway bond issues used for construction purposes, has saved Sutton county taxpayers many thousands of dollars already, and will continue to do so throughout the years.

We don't need the bonds, but to make the deal legal they have to be cancelled in a public election, so let's go to the polls Saturday and vote "for the revocation, or cancellation, of highway bonds."

A man who spends from seven to ten years of hard work getting a Ph. D. degree from some university comes out and looks for an $1800 a year job. Yep—ignorance is bliss.

Spring arrives next Tuesday—we hope it does not meet Winter leaving.

Mayer Farm Boss Is Shot at Saragosa

Affair Attributed to Row Over Irrigation Water

Fain Downs, 29-year-old farm foreman at Saragosa for Sol Mayer, who has extensive ranch holdings in Sutton county, was shot at 11 o'clock Friday morning in a garage at Saragosa. He was carried to a Pecos hospital, where he is in a critical condition. Charges were filed against Walter Goode, 60, Saragosa farmer. It was understood that trouble between the two arose three years ago from an argument over division of irrigation waters.

"Devil's Dream"

(By W. E. James)

THE OLD MAN

As I passed through the hall early this morning, I observed the outline of a youth's strong head reflected on the drawn shade by the rising sun.

"Lady, can you give me an hour's work—" he began, as I opened the door.

You know the story—trying to get home—out of money—no breakfast.

Perhaps he lied. But I believe not. I prefer to believe most of the lads who come to my door, look me in the eye, and in a quiet tone say, "Lady, I'm hungry."

If the present economic strait should rob me of my confidence in mankind, I should be as poor in character as the "panhandlers," whom I loathe.

Instead of discrediting all who knock at my door, I believe it impossible for me to fathom the misery and distress burdening the hearts of many of them.

And so this, fine, sturdy six-footer, was to me another proud father's boy drifting with a wild current he is powerless to stem. My heart goes out to these lads, washed from life's moorings, drifting rudderless.

My heart aches to know there are little children, too small to wander and beg as the youths, who huddle in dirty hovels by day, hungry; and sleep in ragged heaps at night, cold.

I grieve to know of young parents who have fought, God only knows how valiantly, to keep their broods together. Yet failure stares them in the face each waging dawn.

Of late I've listened to the anguish of many young lovers—fine, capable young people—yearning to start life's greatest comradeship together. But there are no funds, no job, no prospect. Their deprivation of rightful, healthful happiness is nothing short of tragic.

And yet of all the sad pictures incident to the present distressful period, none so wrings my heart as the sight of grey, gaunt old men as they shuffle along the way in ragged shoes and tattered clothes—shoulders stooped, heads hung, the light of hope burned out of their eyes, the red run out of their blood.

I know you will criticize. Youth deserves first concern, you say. For the race must move forward on their feet, I know.

They knew, too—those grim old hulls of men. They gave their best to help youth on. Now their sunsets are so cold, so comfortable.

Many persons dismiss the problems of the aged with a feelingless, "They have had their day."

But till a heart ceases to beat, it yearns for love and kindness. Till a body is lifeless, it requires food and covering. I've never been old. But often I wonder if there is ever a heart as lonely and aching as an old, empty one. I wonder if anybody ever feels the sting of chill and pain as keenly as an old wornout body.

And so this morning when I had appraised the sturdy six-foot lad on my step, I asked him if he had an old dad at home.

With brightening interest he replied he had.

"Then go home and help him bear the load," I said. "Your shoulders are broad and strong. He needs you. This depression will pass. Fresh dawns, filled with promise, will break for you. But the old man won't come back. He is passing through the sunset. Make it warm and glowing and golden for him as God has made the days for you."

May I say to you, young friend, or you in your prime: stretch out a strong, steady hand to the old man faltering at your side. He needs you, even as once you needed him.—Pearle Seal Butler in the Clifton Record.

IT TAKES SO LITTLE TO BRING HAPPINESS

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Sonora Lions Club it was voted to send a subscription of the Braille Mirror, to some blind persons, this act being about the least the club could do to further the major activity work with the blind.

The subscription was mailed to the Braille Institute and the following is the reply, in part:

Sometime ago we received the following letter, in part, from a blind reader in Houston, Texas:

"Reading is all the pleasure in the world that I do have and it is just part of my life. Some time ago I sent to the Braille Institute of America for free samples of two of their magazines; namely, the 'March of Events' and 'The Braille Mirror.' I received both of the magazines and I greatly enjoyed reading them both; I do think they are wonderful. But I am real sorry that I cannot subscribe for either one. Of course, I would take both of them at once. But I am a widow and totally blind and deaf. I have to depend upon my father and my mother for a living. They are both old and they give me a place to stay and something to eat and I am very thankful for that much. It would be a great pleasure if I could get just one; but if the magazines are not given to me free I have to do without them. Of course, the rates are very low, but I don't have too much money a year for clothes and shoes."

Thank you kindly for your subscription for "Light" and we are today entering a subscription for "The Braille Mirror" to be sent free for one year to Mrs. Clara Williams, 3702 Charles St., Houston, Texas, the writer of the letter quoted above. You may be sure this gift will bring her much joy throughout the year.—Sincerely yours, Braille Institute of America, Inc. Los Angeles, California.

HOW TO WIN PREFERENCE WITH EMPLOYERS

When executives need office help, they want someone who is trained to do the work from the first day, and who has the broad knowledge of business which will make his or her services more and more valuable as time goes by.

Because we have placed so many young people in offices in the past, our school has built up a reputation among employers. They know that they can rely upon our recommendations; therefore many of them call us first when there is an opening.

While positions are by no means plentiful through any avenue at this time, we feel sure that our employment department can give you a better chance for a good position than would be available to you through your own efforts or from other sources. The employment department of the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration is, perhaps, better known throughout the United States than the employment department of any other school.

If you are interested in Executive Secretarial work, Senior Accounting, Junior Accounting, Business Administration, General Motors Automobile Accounting, Radio Engineering, Telegraphy, Cotton Cladding, Shorthand and Typewriting, or any similar course of study, you should investigate the training and the employing service we offer you. We shall be glad to furnish our big, free catalog, "Achieving Success in Business," to any young person who desires to train themselves for business. Address the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, Tyler, Texas.—Advertisement.

Scholastic Census Being Taken Now

Members Sonora P.-T. A. Acting Enumerators; Names Solicited

Every parent in the community, living within the Sonora Independent school district, is urged to make certain that all of his children of school age are listed for the 1933 scholastic census now being taken under direction of the Sonora Parent-Teacher Association, said R. S. Covey, supt. of schools, this week.

A census of this type, he says, presents a large problem for enumerators if they cannot secure willing co-operation by parents.

Enumerators, to be assisted by Mr. Covey, are as follows: West Sonora, Mrs. Tom Driskell and Mrs. H. L. Taylor; portion of town between the draws, Mrs. J. W. Trainer and Mrs. E. E. Sawyer; South Sonora, Mrs. A. W. Awalt and Mrs. W. C. Warren; country, Mrs. W. C. Gilmore, R. S. Covey; Mexican section, Adolph Flores, and assistants.

Mrs. W. S. Douglas of San Angelo, state chairman of American pottery and district chairman of junior art clubs for the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, besides being, herself, accomplished in art, and having twice visited all of the most famous of the old art galleries abroad as well as all of the foremost art galleries of the United States, addressed members of the Sonora Art Club at a meeting of that organization held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Richardson, and spoke to students of the Sonora schools Wednesday morning at the chapel hour.

Following the singing of two beautiful solos, "The Hills of Home," by Oscar J. Fox, and "Duna," by Josephine McGill, by Miss Marie Watkins, accompanied by Miss Ruth Tipton, at the meeting Tuesday evening, Mr. Richardson was introduced by Miss Florence Langford, who conducted the program, and he told the club of his experience in seeing the Mona Lisa, famous painting by Leonardo da Vinci in the Louvre art galleries in Paris during the World War.

Mrs. Douglas was then presented to the group which she held enthralled with her brief history of art, beginning with its origin; her delightfully informal remarks about art in general; her explanation of three beautiful studies by Mrs. J. R. Kendall of San Angelo, well-known artist; and her explanation of a large art appreciation collection of copies of famous pictures which she displayed with appropriate comment.

The three Kendall pictures were hung over the fireplace of the Richardson home where they appeared to great advantage, and Mrs. Douglas used them as examples of attention to line, color, perspective, time element, composition, pattern, texture, and other necessary elements in good pictures.

Typing paper at The News.

The new trend in art, Mrs. Douglas pointed out, is the introduction of sunshine into pictures, as opposed to the more popular use of atmospheric background effects of 50 years ago. The speaker pointed out the particular adaption of West Texas to this type of painting.

Following her highly entertaining and instructive discourse the club enjoyed an informal discussion of the beautiful pictures from the folio which had been passed around the room during her exposition of their outstanding merits.

The hostess served dainty sandwiches with coffee, and green mints in green be-ribboned candy cups, suggestive of Saint Patrick's Day.

Attending this outstandingly interesting meeting were the following: Mesdames E. A. Bode, M. O. Britt, Maysie Brown, J. D. Westbrook, P. J. Taylor, J. C. Stephen, C. H. Jennings, S. T. Moral Code for Teachers Made

The following "Moral Code for Teachers," a parody on the "Moral Code for Youth," recently presented by the Lions Club, was turned in this week:

If I want to be a successful teacher I must have:

COURAGE—I must have courage to face a room full of monkeys who do not know a thing and will not study.

WISDOM—I must have wisdom to understand that, although a student cannot recite when called upon, he nevertheless has studied and knows his lesson.

GOOD HABITS—I must be very careful about my habits, showing good nature toward my students by letting them talk when they please or chew gum likewise.

USEFULNESS—I must be very useful to my students. In case they do not have enough time to get their lessons, I will prepare them for the little darlings.

HELPLESSNESS AND UNSELFISHNESS—I must be very helpful to my students. To those who dislike to pay attention in class, I must unselfishly give my time before and after school. I shall not be selfish with my grades. All my students shall pass.

CHARITY—I shall be very charitable to my students. If they do not make grades I shall help them by giving them good grades.

FAITH—I shall at all times keep up my faith that some day my students shall begin to study and make good grades.

WE WONDER WHY

Marion can make a sound so much like Bobbie's car horn.

L. M. jumped so quickly Sunday afternoon.

Miss Duncan doesn't read to the 8th grade anymore.

J. T. is so sore he limps around.

Miss Swafford stopped in her car so suddenly after school before going to the P.-T. A.

Bobbie didn't build a fire with one match like the campfire girls instead of the way Boy Scouts do. Marion is "wondering" about something.

J. T. moved from in front of J. Ed in geometry class.

Ora was mad at Clovis Friday.

Ora didn't come to town Sunday night.

Clovis was so happy Monday morning.

Assembly

On Thursday morning March 9, Misses Mary Louise Gardner and Clovis Neal entertained the high school by singing a number of popular songs. The two young ladies sang "Sweethearts Forever," "Say It Isn't So" and "In the Gloaming by the Fireside." Then the assembly enjoyed a piano solo, "Underneath the Yellow Moon," which was played by Miss Neal.

After the musical program was completed, Mr. Covey spoke of his trip to Minneapolis. He told the school that he had learned many new methods of teaching.

At the chapel period last Tuesday the Rev. Mr. Parker spoke to the school on the subject of high ideals. The beautiful story on the subject of Joseph's captivity, imprisonment and success was told, and throughout the speech the point was emphasized that God has a purpose in life for each individual just as he had a purpose in life for Joseph. Mr. Parker pointed out one's success in life depends upon attitude toward God. The program was concluded by a prayer of reconsecration led by Mr. Parker.

CHATTERING ANNIE

Hey there:
How's everybody today? Is school going as you want it to, or is everything crossed up and everyone behind with his work?

As each and everyone of you know, Mr. Covey got back last Monday a week ago from Minneapolis. On Thursday he gave an account of his trip, telling us of the interesting things he saw and a little of the knowledge he acquired. Of course, he had a new fund of jokes.

The Epworth League had its usual meeting last Sunday, but there was a difference in procedure this time. The program was carried on around the table, banquet-style, after the group had been served refreshments. The League is to take the same program to Ozona next Sunday. Wesley, L. C., and J. T. all had a part. Clovis and Mary Louise sang a song.

Boy! these declamations are certainly coming up! Violet and Dee are working under the direction of Miss Draper. Treva is being coached by Mrs. Smith. But Mary Louise and Alice are remaining under the supervision of Miss Duncan, who has had charge of declamation ever since she has been teaching in Sonora high school.

Lem Eriel came back to school last Monday. Everyone was sure glad to see him, too. For awhile Sunday afternoon it looked as if he was going to get sick again, because he had fever, but that's o.k. now.

By what I can gather the junior class is planning a picnic for this afternoon. Boy, I envy them because I haven't been anywhere lately. I'm at least glad that someone has some class spirit.

I wonder how many of the school pupils heard the speech made by President Roosevelt last Sunday night. It really was a whiz; every American citizen should look to the future and anticipate better things from the administration of this great mind.

Of course, Chattering Annie and her friends were not worried by the closing of the banks because the banks closed as far as we were concerned when we draw out our balance several years ago.

People, I'm gonna tell you something—Chattering Annie has recently had conference with Major Hoople who thoroughly convinced her that technocracy is the only salvation for the country. Am I not right, students?

Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin has recently presented a picture of the late S. M. N. Marrs, former state superintendent of public instruction in Texas, to Mrs. S. T. Gilmore. The picture has been framed by Mr. Rees and will be placed at some appropriate place in our new high school building, which was dedicated by this great educator a few years ago. Sonora high is one of the 100 schools in the state the late Mr. Marrs was particularly interested. Don't we feel proud, thus marked as a school in which though?

PLENNIE WINGO "BACKS OUT" OF DEPRESSION, FOR FT. WORTH SHOW

Maybe we've been trying to get ourselves out of this depression the wrong way. We've been going straight ahead, hoping that we'd get through it if we just kept at it long enough; but maybe the depression wasn't built that way—maybe it's a bottomless pit, and the only way to get out is to go into reverse.

That seems to be the way Plennie Wingo of Abilene, Texas, had it figured out.

Plennie, it appears, ran a restaurant in his home town, and the business in ham and eggs, prunes, coffee and hamburgers, medium, with onions, seemed to be passing fair. At least Plennie made a living out of it, what with no board to pay, and tipping himself if he felt generous.

And then came the depression. Whether people in Abilene stopped eating, or merely stopped paying, is not known. Anyway, Plennie went broke.

A man working in—say—a shoe factory might be able to get along without eating, unless he had acquired a taste for leather or whatever it is they make those paper soles from; but having been in the immediate vicinity of food for so long, Plennie had acquired a taste for victuals. He craved nourishment at regular intervals. He just had to get a job!

One day in March, 1931, Plennie was disconsolately singing "I'm going back to the —." He got no farther. A fellow with a sign boosting the fat stock show at Fort Worth told him if he was going back anywhere he might just as well carry the sign and advertise the show. They offered him real money, so Plennie grabbed the sign. Plennie, not having a bicycle, began walking "back," and that's how he got started. Maybe it's not exactly how, but it will do.

The important part is that even walking backwards is better than not eating, so Plennie felt very bad indeed when he had hiked in reverse through enough Texas towns to satisfy the boss. The show was over and so was the job. No, they didn't have anything else to offer, but allowed that he had done tolerably well as a hind-side-to sandwich man.

"Plennie," one of them asked, apropos of nothing at all, "how far do you reckon a feller could walk backwards?"

"Around the world," Plennie boasted hopefully.

"Pooh, pooh!" doubted a skeptic.

"There's a fat purse in it when you get back here if you do," offered a Fort Worth business man, who was perhaps more of a skeptic than the "Pooh-pooh-er." Such a statement in Texas is known as calling one's bluff.

But the joke was on the caller because Plennie wasn't bluffing. Excused from having to cross the oceans in reverse, he started after that fat purse.

During the past two years Plennie has been plodding steadily over the highways and streets of two continents with heelplates on his toes and rear vision mirrors on his dark glasses to permit him to see what's going on behind before he gets there. In all that time he has never misser a meal and has earned his own living as he went.

A pair of heavy-soled walking shoes lasts him only five weeks, for he's a hiker and not a "hitch-hiker," which being translated means ride-bummer.

Plennie has been arrested in Turkey and Phoenix, Ariz., because the people thought that anyone who would toddle in reverse should—well, there ought to be a law against it anyway. Neither arrest stuck, but Turkey kept him out of that country, probably on the theory that it had too many backward people as it was. Plennie thought that a fellow who walked backwards was bright compared to a guy with a harem full of wives to support, but he kept his mouth shut about it.

Plennie is now getting along toward Fort Worth again, and we hope that vaguely mentioned "fat purse" will be raised.—Pathfinder.

Mohair Growers Urged to Retain Fleece by Gulley

Uvalde Goat Man Sees Better Days if Ranchmen Will Stand Pat on Prices

An open letter to the Texas wool and mohair growers was issued this week by J. L. Gulley of Uvalde, pioneer sheep and goat man, who urged the producers to pool their clips, believing that in this manner they will obtain better prices.

The fact that there will be several buyers in the field this year is taken by Gulley as indicating that a better price is in prospect than that obtained last year.

The letter follows:
To Texas Mohair and Wool Growers:

It has been reported that there will be several buyers from the East this spring for mohair and wool. It looks as if there is going to be a better price than we have been getting for several clips. Mohair costs the growers 30c or more per pound, at the present prices of supplies, interest, taxes and rent, and unless we can get at least the cost of production it will only be a few years until this most valuable hill country livestock business will be a thing of the past.

I am writing this to warn the growers not to turn their clips loose to any buyer that comes along just because he offers a little more than we have been getting recently. No buyer is going to come to your ranch and offer to buy your clip unless he feels that he can get it for less than he can at the warehouses and too, there is no better sign that we will get a better price than for buyers to offer to buy individual clips. It is an indication that there will be a growing demand for mohair and wool.

I have known growers of mohair to lose as much as $500 on a single clip by selling too soon to buyers who were buying from the ranchmen in advance. Be sure to carry your clip to your warehouse and let's sell collectively, which has proven to be the safest way in the past.—J. L. Gulley.

Boerne Confident of America's Future

City in Holiday Attire During Bank Closing

Boerne, March 15.—Little things like the bank holiday are not bothering Boerne, which is in gala attire and prepared to remain so. All this came from the following proclamation, signed by Mayor R. L. Hickman, W. Janesch, president and D. K. Lansing, manager of the chamber of commerce; Scoutmaster H. O. Adler of the Boy Scouts, Commander H. A. Palmie of the American Legion, County Judge M. J. Lehman, County Assessor Paul Holekamp, W. G. Davis, for the press, and H. R. Harz, Fred Zoeller and Henry Fabra for the merchants:

"To the people of Boerne: As an expression of confidence in the Government of the United States, and because of our belief in the brightness of the future and that a glorious new day is about to dawn for all our people, we request that the city of Boerne put out gala attire, and that the flags be displayed and kept flying until after the present emergency.

"We believe that 'God is in His heaven, that the Government at Washington still lives,' that the American people cannot be beaten, and we beg every citizen to greet his fellow with a smile and to be all for Boerne and for America."

CAMP FIRE CIRCLE

SPECIAL COUNCIL FIRE TO COMMEMORATE BIRTHDAY

In observance of Birthday Week of the Camp Fire organizations, designated for March 13 to 19, the Latonia Camp Fire group will hold a special council fire meeting Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Sonora Woman's Club park, if the weather permits. The meeting will be open to the public. Awarding of heads for honors will be part of the ceremony of the meeting.

Owing to illness of the group's guardian, Mrs. W. C. Warren, this meeting was postponed from Monday this week, as previously planned.

Founded in 1911 by a group of 11 men and women who sensed the need of a girls' organization to parallel work of the Boy Scouts for boys, the Camp Fire organization has become international.

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick, among the founders, evolved the System of Honors now employed in the Camp Fire work, by taking their family of three girls into the Maine woods in summer and teaching them out-door sports and camp chores, for success in which honors were awarded as an incentive to higher endeavor.

The vision of camp work is world-inclusive and has as its aims friendship, fun, out-door life, and achievement; in brief, all-round development for girls.

Tips on taxes
LEGISLATIVE NEWS SERVICE OF THE TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION, AUSTIN

Austin.—There is a very noticeable lessening of talk about the need for new taxes in order to balance the state budget within the last few days. Economy moves gained correspondingly in momentum, following the declaration of a bank holiday. This is true, although it was apparent that perhaps a majority of the legislators were sincerely endeavoring to redeem the pledge to reduce the cost of state government 25 per cent.

Chances of a sales tax are generally regarded as having disappeared. There is less talk of an income tax. Automobile license fees are almost certain to be reduced. The Senate is yet to act on a bill adopted by the House providing for a third lower license fees on automobiles and light trucks. The House has voted to reduce the state poll tax to the constitutional minimum of $1. A Senate bill is pending to fix the limit of the state ad valorem tax to 57 cents for this year.

Another new tax measure made its appearance in a bill which would levy a tax of 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. An exemption clause relieving the first 150 million feet for each producer for each three months, it is claimed, will have the practical effect of relieving Texas consumers of any additional tax burden. The obvious purpose of the bill is to realize revenue from gas exported to northern and eastern states.

Natural gas at present pays a gross production tax of 2 cents. The proposed bill would heavily increase this tax on exported gas. Backers of the bill claim 81 per cent of gas marketed from the Panhandle goes to the north and east. They also claim that the proposed 2-cent tax would yield, based on 1932 consumption, more than $1,700,000 annually, compared with about $120,000 paid in gross receipts last year.

A state budget of less than $30,000,000, as compared with an eight-year average of $45,000,000 and last year's figure of $42,000,000 is in prospect, if reductions recommended by the House appropriations committee is finally approved. Judiciary, eleemosynary and departmental appropriations have been finished in committee. College heads have been instructed to bring in recommendations for 35 per cent reductions in their budgets. Educational appropriations are incomplete.

Efforts to abolish eight state colleges are apparently defeated. The Senate killed a bill to that effect. Institutions scheduled to close by the bill were teachers colleges at Denton, San Marcos, Alpine and Nacogdoches, John Tarleton at Stephenville, junior A. & M. at Arlington, C. A. I. at Kingsville and College of Mines at El Paso.

There were 10443 beneficiaries of Confederate pensions on the 1932 rolls. Although there have been 12,243 deaths among pensioners since 1924, the number has dropped only from 12,897 to the figure for 1932.

Payments of the Confederate pensions have more than doubled since 1924, figures being $1,764,000 for 1924, compared to $3,562,000 in 1932. The increase has come by liberalizing pension requirements and increases in payments to individual claimants. In nine years the number of claimants decreased 11 per cent while payments were increased 100 per cent. The pension fund was $2,825,000 in the red at the close of the last fiscal year.

The Comptroller's annual report, just issued, contains some very interesting figures. Tax rolls show horses and mules had an average valuation of $18; cattle, $12; jacks and jennets, $17; sheep $1.79; goats 94 cents; and dogs, $14. Average value of land was $9.61 per acre. Since only 5,500 dogs were rendered for taxation, tax assessors might hasten a solution of the tax problem by getting more dogs on the rolls.

The fact that local taxes comprise the greater portion of the tax bill of the average Texas is emphasized by the Comptroller's report. County tax rates average 90 cents for the entire state. The range is from 29 cents to $2.70. Reeves county has the lowest rate and Duval county the highest. School and other special district taxes are not included. City taxes are also additional. The Comptroller has no record of these purely local taxes.

Cattle Tick Fight Near End in Texas

Total of 157 Counties Now Free of Pest; Extermination Soon

Extermination of the fever tick in Texas, where only 41 counties are under quarantine today as compared with 198 twenty-five years ago, is in sight and can be accomplished at an early date with proper co-operation of those most concerned, annual report of the Texas Live Stock Sanitary Commission shows. In 1906 fifteen states were tick infested but all now are released from federal quarantine but Texas, Louisiana and Florida.

There is no reason for continuing eradication work in Texas indefinitely, for with determined efforts ticks can be exterminated within the next three years, the commission points out. Total of 900,000 herds of 20,350,000 head of livestock were dipped under inspectors last year, with a total expenditure by the commission for this work of $428,828.57.

Systematic eradication work is being carried on in Brooks, Cameron, Duval, Galveston, Grimes, Harris, Hidalgo, Houston, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Leon, LaSalle, Madison, McMullen, Montgomery, Nacogdoches, San Jacinto, Star, Shelby, Walker, Waller, Webb, Willacy, Zapata, and part of Brazoria county. On December 1, 1932, Anderson, Atascosa, Austin, Brazos, Burleson, Cherokee, Fort Bend, Live Oak, Milam, Panola, Robertson, Rusk and Washington counties were released from quarantine. Counties not released from quarantine, but in which no systematic dipping is being carried on include Angelina, Chambers, Hardin, Jasper, Jefferson, most of Liberty, Newton, Orange, Polk, Sabine, San Augustine, Tyler and most of Trinity.

Confidence Is Important!

Advertising Is a Safeguard

Advertised services and products have to be good, for advertising invites the spotlight of close inspection, and if false claims are made it becomes apparent in double quick time. You may have confidence in the products and services advertised in The News.

It seldom pays to take chances, and today, when dollars are called on to do double duty, it is doubly important that you use every precaution in buying. Choose from products which are known to you, about which you have been informed by advertising.

Advertisers Can Depend on News Pulling Power

The financial outlook seems all the better for the holiday in the opinion of local bank officials and business men. Public morale in this and other parts of the country is much better than in any period for several months past. Commodity prices, as well as stocks and bonds, are showing great strength as banks re-open and as the new national administration settles down to work.

British Action on Beef Affects U. S.

Change in American Market Will Result from Restrictions

Recent British restrictions on South American beef imports will tend to divert beef movement from Canada and New Zealand from American markets and also tends to make the American markets more important to exporters in Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics points out. British Empire beef producing areas are favored under terms of the Ottawa agreements, making importation of chilled and frozen beef from non-British countries possible only under an official license.

The plan contemplates reduction of imports of non-Empire frozen beef 10 per cent during the first quarter this year under volume a year ago and 5 per cent increase in the reduction until it reaches 35 per cent in the second quarter of 1934. World cattle numbers in leading producing areas showed an increase last year, and the 1926-30 average estimated world total was 670,000,000 head compared with 648,000,000 annual average the preceding five years and a pre-war average of 562,000,000 head.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

Australian Rancher Visits King Domain

Investigating Crossbreeding with Brahma Cattle

E. E. D. White, one of the largest breeders in North Queensland, Australia, was a visitor at the King Ranch this week. Mr. White is a member of the Executive Council of the United Graziers' Association of Queensland, and of the Commonwealth Council for Scientific and Industrial Research of Australia.

His visit to the King Ranch is to investigate the cross-breeding of Hereford and Shorthorn with the Brahman cattle, as well as the Africander cattle recently imported from South Africa by the King estate. The breeding program of the King estate is attracting the attention of cattlemen not only in the United States but also in foreign countries.

Mr. White is accompanied by W. H. Black of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C., who went to South Africa to select the Africander cattle for the King Ranch.—Kingsville Record.

Birth of American Navy
 The American navy came into existence in 1775 after the close investment of Boston by Washington had cut off all supplies to the British troops, save such as might arrive by water. To intercept these, some small vessels were armed and manned by New England seamen, first under the auspices of Rhode Island and Connecticut, and afterward by authority of the congress which organized a naval committee with John Adams at its head. These little craft not only deprived the enemy of succor, but captured enough prizes to furnish the Colonial army with war material, without which it could not have continued hostilities.
