City Plant Rambles On

Our new City Light and Power plant has been in operation for more than twenty days and has not had a single interruption thus far. It has been giving 24-hour service and has not had to stop one minute for anything. All of the three units have been tried out and run some of the time, but with the exception of about two or three hours in the day, one unit has been able to easily handle the load for the town.

At this time the town has 67 street lights that are at the service of the people from sundown until sun up. It is wonderful what a change in appearance these lights have made to our little city. People can go thru any part of town and have adequate light to travel by, and many of us can take care of our evening's work by the light of the street lamps.

In speaking of the new plant, L. R. Burrow, City Secretary, stated that the people are showing their loyalty by using the city service. The city plant is furnishing service at 10 cents per kilowatt hour as a maximum rate and are giving people a combination rate which includes stove, power and light at as low as three cents per kilowatt. At this time Spur has the lowest light and power rate of any town in West Texas. Even the top rate in Spur is one cent less than it is in Abilene.

In speaking further of the new plant Mr. Burrow stated that people can have lights and power at a low rate and at the same time be paying out their own plant. After that, the proceeds from the light plant can be used for city improvement. What Mr. Burrow is referring to has been accomplished by Ponca City, Okla., a town that does not have any city taxes, but has plenty of lights and practically all of the streets paved. The expenses were paid out of the city light and water plant.

Hokus-Pokus Celebrates Birthday Saturday

Next Saturday, May 25th, will be the third anniversary of the founding of the Hokus-Pokus Grocery in our city. To commemorate the event Messrs. Sanders and Twaddell, managers of the local Hokus-Pokus, have made arrangements to enjoy a good time by having as many of their friends as possible to visit them on that day.

It being the birthday of the firm there will be a feast as one feature of the program. There will not be a long line of tables, but it is hoped that all their friends will be present during the day and enjoy something to eat. They will serve ham sandwiches made from those famous Morris Supreme hams cakes and crackers—the kind that Hokus-Pokus sells. Then they will serve hot coffee made from that good Pecos coffee that pleases so many people. All the coffee you want to drink.

Then to keep in line they say they are going to sell groceries cheaper than they have ever done before. It is not a day to make money, but to celebrate their anniversary. Read their advertisement what they say about "Whoopie" day of good times.

Members of this store hope to see you Saturday, and want you to enjoy a good feed, good coffee, and the best grocery prices in history. They will have an especially big line of fresh vegetables, and a whole lot of those fine Arkansas strawberries. Well, go see for yourselves.

R. N. Cluck, superintendent of our schools, left Saturday for Waco, where he will spend a short time visiting with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Cairnes, of Claremont, were in our city Monday greeting friends and doing some trading.

BRYANT-LINK COMPANY Spur's Department Store

Were we asked to write a theme or to deliver a lecture on a subject that we felt was of great importance to the individual family, state and National life, we believe the basis for our thought would be, "Home". It has been said, and well we think, that Mother, Home and Heaven are the three sweetest words in the English vocabulary. We would begin by saying to every girl and boy starting in life to make their plans to own a home all their own, be it cottage or mansion. No life, we think, has gotten its share of this world's happiness that has not felt the security of its own home nest, where the world may be shut out and love shut in. True in the language of our beloved poet, Eddy

Students Make Special Record

J. W. Brown, a student of the low seventh grade, has the honor of making the highest grade in the junior high school. His average being 94.49. He not only made this good record since entering here at mid-term, but he came to us from the Greenville Public Schools with a straight A card. He is one of the best students in the entire school of Spur. It is a pleasure to have this type of student in school.

John Jackson Payne, a student in the eighth grade, has been neither absent nor tardy for the past three years. This is indeed a wonderful record, and it is this type of students that you can depend upon to meet with success. Punctuality is a good habit to form while young. This young man is to be congratulated for this splendid record. It is hoped that when his graduation day comes, he shall have added three more years of perfect attendance to his record.

Names of those receiving $5.00 awards (for each division of the grade):

- East Ward School
- Low First, Frankie Sanders.
- High First, Wynell McClure.
- Low Second, La Fern Hazelwood.
- High Second, Billie Bruben and Hazel Ann Wilson, tie.
- Low Third, Francis Mavis.
- High Third, Sybil Schirmscher, and Norris Russell.
- Low Fourth, Perishing Lee.
- High Fourth, Marion Busby.
- Junior High School
- Low Fifth, June Lisenby.
- High Fifth, James Moore Busby.
- Low Sixth, Winnie Faye Crouch.
- High Sixth, Mary Ellen Boyd.
- Low Seventh, Eloise McCrary.
- High Seventh, Mary Bell Ensey.
- Senior High School ($10)
- Eighth Grade, Weldon Bell.
- Ninth Grade, Lucie Blair.
- Tenth Grade, Melvin Ensey.
- Eleventh Grade, Jane D. Wilson.

There were "certificates of award" given to students that had been neither absent nor tardy during the entire year. There were about twenty-five students that received these awards.

New Operator For Western Union

R. R. Watson, of Okmulgee, Okla., is now acting as operator at the local Western Union office. Mrs. Humphries, who has been manager for the local office, left for her home in Snyder, retiring from the business. Mr. Watson stated that he is acting only as a relief operator and that a new manager would take charge of the business the last of the week.

He came from Helena, Ark., to Spur, and stated that the train on which he rode, had to cross the White River on a ferry. He then traveled some ten miles before he was able to see land. The Mississippi is out of banks again and flooding the whole country.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hale will be in Cisco the last of this week for their daughter, Miss Anna Mae, who is finishing some advanced college work in Randolph College this year.

Community Program Last Thursday Evening

The community program for Spur Schools held at the East Side school last Thursday evening, was one of great interest. The object of the meeting was to award honor students in the schools the various medals.

Miss Osborne, County Home Demonstration, made a talk stressing the value of Home Economics in our schools. In a very concise manner Miss Osborne told of the economic value of this work and the practical training our girls would receive. In speaking of the fact that we expect our girls to go out and be home keepers, she stated that our public schools did not give a single hour of practical training along these lines.

W. S. Patrick, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, made a very fine talk in regard to commercial training in our schools. It appears that our boys and girls should be trained to know something about business by the time they leave the high school. Mr. Patrick emphasized the thought that we must prepare the boy to make himself a successful business man.

George S. Link, local manager for Bryant-Link Company, had offered $10.00 in gold to the student making the highest honor in each grade. In grades below the high school there are two divisions. In this case there was $5.00 given to the honor student in each division. In the high school, the pupil making the highest grade was awarded $10.00 in gold by Mr. Link.

Mr. Thomas for the High School, and Mr. Kelley for the Grammar School, awarded the medals on attendance records and the scholarships. It is surprising how many of our students make a fine record in our schools.

This will be the last community meeting until next fall. But, why should not the good people in Spur get together once in a while during the summer and talk over our schools. Why not a community program every two or three weeks during the summer months? Are they worth while? It would be fine to do the things worth while.

Class of '29 Hold Flag Pole Exercises

Despite the heavy rain which fell Friday afternoon, the members of the graduating class held their flag pole set in a concrete base.

On this base is a bronze tablet with the name of every member in the class. The work as a whole is a very fine specimen of art and the class is to be complimented for their thoughtfulness in this respect.

Takes Charge of Gambill's Store

A. Freeman, of Dallas, arrived in our city last week to be manager for Gambill's 5-cent to 5-dollar store. Mr. Freeman has been with the F. & W. Grand chain stores the past several years and is an experienced merchant in the variety business. Mr. Freeman is moving his family to our city and states that he thinks Spur is a fine little town.

He consulted with the Dallas Chamber of Commerce before coming west, and was advised if he wanted to locate in a good little town to come to Spur. Thanks, Dallas friends.

FLOWER SALE

The ladies of the First Methodist church will hold a "Flower Sale" on Saturday, May 25, next Saturday.

It will be the last sale of the season and people are urged to take advantage of this sale for flowers, bulbs and pot plants.

Hogs and Skim Milk Made the Money.

C. C. Neely, of McAadoo, was in the office the other day. He said that he sold six shoats the other day. He bought them for $30 and fed them about ten gallons of skim milk per day and all the maize they would eat for 61 days an d sold them for $115.

J. H. Hopper Goes the Fifty-Fifty Route.

J. H. Hopper of Twin Wells has run the lines on 140 acres on his place this year and reports that he put up the terraces himself with a road drag. He says that from here out he is going the

C. R. Edwards & Company Stage Big Sale

Beginning at nine o'clock last Saturday morning, C. R. Edwards & Company, one of the large dry goods concerns in our city, started their big spring sale.

In this, as in all other sales given by this firm, they are offering the people some of the rock-bottom bargains and giving them merchandise that is seasonable in every respect for several weeks yet.

B. M. Doss, of the Guarantee Sales Company of Dallas, is in charge of the sale and he is making it a good one.

Come to Spur for your dry goods, and you can't buy them cheaper anywhere else in Texas.

Retail Merchants Hold Meeting

The Retail Merchants' Association held a meeting Tuesday afternoon and discussed some very important business. The merchants had been unable to hold a meeting for sometime on account of various things coming up on their meeting night. They had a very interesting meeting Tuesday and all seemed to be a unit in action.

Among other things talked over was that tickets on the cow which is to be sold for one dollar on First Monday, would be given to persons for cash sales only. People who bought and expected to pay the first of the month would not be entitled to tickets on their purchases.

Another thing was agreed that all stores would close at six o'clock each afternoon, and this closing hour should stand until September 15, after which time the merchants could use their own judgment about closing.

The association voted unanimously that none of its members would go into any advertising schemes that were promoted by outside people or firms. Spur has been the prey of such advertising schemes which have taken many dollars from our merchants. The merchants have been generous in this respect but have learned that such advertisement does not pay. Many outside firms get three to four time the worth of such work and carry the money out of the country.

A motion carried that the purchasing committee be allowed to add a good registered gift for a First Monday Third prize. The merchants desire to give those who secure prizes something that will be beneficial and enable them to grow into greater farm program.

Then after talking over some matters relative to transportation of merchandise the association adjourned.

W. L. Powell, of Dry Lake, was on our streets Saturday telling people the advantages of farming in Spur country.

O. L. Kelly, principal of our Junior High School, left Tuesday for Abilene where he will spend several weeks doing some college work.

A. & M. Specialist Visits Officials at Local Station

Dr. J. O. Morgan, head of the Department of Agronomy at the A. & M. College, was a guest of the Spur Experiment Station the last of the week. Dr. Morgan came here to review the work that has been going on at the Spur Station relative to the problem of water and soil conservation. The experiments relative to this great farm problem have been under way for the past three years, and Superintendent Dickson has made some wonderful discoveries. Many facts have been developed in the work here and many sections of the United States have been greatly benefited.

Dr. Morgan is here to look over the equipment and the various instruments Mr. Dickson has employed in the work. He stated that there will be a course included in the curricula of the A. & M. College and every student who takes the Agricultural Course will be required to take the work relative to Water and Soil Conservation. This is how important Dr. Morgan and others at the A. & M. College think the work of the Spur Station is.

The fame of the Spur Station has become nation wide, Superintendent Dickson was invited to Washington where he made a talk before the American Society of Agronomy. He was asked to go into Kansas and other states where he spoke of the experiments at Spur Station. The results of this work is that twelve Federal Experiment Stations throughout the United States have followed the work of the Spur Station. This work causes Texas to be the leader in water and soil conservation.

Also, while here Dr. Morgan went over the county with County Agent E. L. Tanner and inspected the terracing that has been done the past few months. Mr. Tanner is the pioneer in the terracing business in Texas and is recognized as one of the leading authorities in the Southwest in this work. Dr. Morgan complimented the terraces on Dickens County farms.

Riter Hdw. Installs New Furniture

This week the Riter Hardware is undergoing a great change. There have been new hardwood floors put in and new fixtures. All fixtures are hardwood finish and are symmetrical with the floors. The counters have been taken out and in the center have been installed the Hubbard Display Tables for the light hardware.

All the cases at the walls have panel doors on which will be displayed every article in the case and can be seen by the customer without opening the case. The sporting goods and highly polished hardware will be displayed in floor show cases where everybody can see them at a glance. The new arrangements has made a greatly improved appearance in the store. No store in Dallas, Houston, or any other large city excels this one in looks and appearance now. We ask that you go see it.

Mr. R. D. Speed, of Dallas, is installing the new fixtures and he seems to be an artist in the work.

Paid All Expenses And A Profit

The last of the week a lady in Spur asked Mr. Hoover of Twin Wells, how much money his six cows made him. He said, "They feed the whole family and we sell cream to the amount of $10.00 to $12.00 per week."

He did not say anything about the skim milk the pigs and chickens are getting. The cows might be doing better still. But fifty dollars per month and a living extra is very good for six Jerseys.

E. C. Robertson, one of the good farmers on the Plains, was looking after business affairs in our city Monday.

CITIZENS GIN ALMOST COMPLETED

The building for the new citizens' Gin is about completed and will be ready soon for the machinery to be installed. M. Hargrove is building this new gin and he is making it a good one. Mr. Hargrove is one of the oldest ginners in Spur and he is one of the best.

This gin was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago, and Mr. Hargrove stated then that while the loss was very heavy, that he expected to rebuild the gin and to build it on a far larger and better scale. He will have it ready for the opening of the ginning season and be prepared to give the best ginning service to the farmers that Spur has ever given. He believes in good gins and especially in good ginning service.

Public Parks Needing Funds

We feel since the rain that our efforts in Park Planting have not been in vain. Everything is starting to grow including the weeds. We are very much handicapped in our work on account of the lack of funds. We hope by another year to have a small park tax so that everyone may share in the expense of planting and maintenance. With four parks and with limited funds, we will not be able to keep all of them clean during the summer months and trust that those who live adjacent to some of the parks will organize clubs and set a day once a week and cut the weeds and probably next year we can get some shrubbery and flowers planted. Folks these parks are yours.

And you should keep them in good shape. We are very much indebted to the following for their support in a financial way:

Rev. Abbott Returns From Convention

Rev. A. G. Abbott, Pastor of the First Christian Church, returned from Breckinridge Thursday evening of last week where he had been attending the State Convention of his church. He stated that he attended the Rotary Club at Breckinridge Tuesday evening and there were about twenty-five visiting ministers at the meeting. Also he said he attended the meeting of the Baby Rotarians, the youngest organization in the state. It seems that ministers think a great deal of the Rotary Work.

R. H. Gambill, manager of the Gambill 5-cent to 5-dollar stores with headquarters at Abilene, was in our city Tuesday, looking over the conditions of the store here.

Bill Lyre, one of the hustling representatives of the wholesale vegetable houses, was in our city Tuesday interviewing our merchants.

W. W. Keefe, superintendent of schools at Dickens, was transacting business in our city Tuesday.

Jno. D. Huffstelder, of Highway, was looking after business affairs in our city Tuesday. He said crop prospects in his country looked encouraging.

J. P. Koonsman, of Wichita community, was attending of business matters in our city Monday.

Spur Creamery Installs New Storage

The Spur Creamery has just added another large refrigerator and cooling room to their storage department.

This new addition will be used for storage of butter and is large enough to take care of a full carload. The refrigerator section will have a temperature of around zero which will keep the butter fresh, hard and firm at all times.

The Spur Creamery has done a fine business, and this little institution has done more to stimulate the price of cream in Spur country than anything else. Usually at this time of the year before the creamery was installed, farmers would be getting around thirty to thirty-five cents for cream. We do not remember of sweet cream selling under forty-two cents since the creamery was installed. The great majority of the time the farmers have been able to get forty-five cents for cream in good condition at the creamery. It is just another illustration of the home institution standing up for the interests of the home people. Let's patronize the Spur Creamery and keep the price of cream up to a live situation.

Pool of Roosters Net Farmers Good Price

A pool shipment of roosters from Spur Monday netted farmers nine cents per pound for the old roosters. The pool was made at the Fair Grounds Saturday and arrangements for shipment and market was made for Monday.

This shipment was done under the auspices of the Farm Extension work and the price paid did not include any discount for shrinkage. It was paid on the weights in Spur.

During the past ten days there have been more than 400 roosters sold and shipped from Spur trade territory. This indicates that the farmers are becoming interested in producing quality products, and it will not be many days until they will be willing to place a stamp on the eggs certifying they are infertile. It requires quality products to obtain the highest market price, and it looks like the farmers here are going to get it.

The roosters sold for from two to four cents per pound higher than the average market just because the farmers brought in sufficient quantity to justify immediate shipment. Again, by getting rid of the roosters will guarantee them at least from three cents to five cents per dozen more for their eggs this summer. They there will be the expense of feeding the roosters saving by getting them away from the flocks.

It is hoped that production in infertile eggs can be worked up to sufficient quantity for a regular carload shipment each week. This will give Spur farmers the advantage of Chicago and New York markets and will insure them the top prices for eggs produced here. Let's keep the hen with the farm.

Rev. Berry Moving Family to Spur

Rev. F. J. Berry, minister of the Church of Christ, left for Slaton Monday to move his family to our city. Bro. Berry has been pastoring a church here for sometime but has been unable to secure an adequate home. Also, he did not wish to take his children out of school until the close of the term. He and Mrs. Berry arrived in our city yesterday evening with all the little berries, and soon will be comfortably situated in the Booth property on Harris street.

Miss Ludell Perry, another Spur girl, will be a member of the class at Randolph College to get her Degree at Commencement next week. Baccalaureate sermon will be Sunday.

Lyric Entertains Spur High Seniors

Last week through the courtesy of Mr. E. M. Remington, the members of the Class of '29 Spur Schools, enjoyed a very fine program at the Lyric Theatre. The Class attended one hundred per cent and stated they appreciated Mr. Remington's kindness very much.

It is fine to have a theatre manager who feel that interest in our young people, and it has been our observation when we find one of that type, that there usually is a fine class of pictures for our young people to see when they attend the theatres. Mr. Remington came to our town, invested all he had in the show business, and is being just one of us, doing all he can to make Spur a better town and the country more progressive.

Baccalaureate Services Held Sunday, May 12

One of the best classes in the history of Spur High School marched into the First Methodist Church for the baccalaureate services Sunday May 12. Seated in the main row of pews the class listened to a very able sermon delivered by the Right Reverend E. Cecil Seamon, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of received the applause and approbation of the great throng of people who were deeply interested in his wonderful sermon. He spoke to the class for forty minutes, using as his subject, "Mothers and Motives." It being Mother's Day he associated his discourse with the spirit of the day and admonished the class to the realization of the value of their mothers.

Bishop Seamon used as a basis of his theme the scripture found in the 16th chapter and 13th verse of the book of St. John, "when the Spirit of Truth is Come, He will guide you in to all Truth". His discourse in part was as follows:

"You have come to ask God's blessing on your graduation and to thank him for your education thus far. At your invitation I have come as a minister of Jesus Christ to speak to you. Therefore, I have spoken his words in the text.

"This is Mothers day—when we thank God for the Mothers on earth and in paradise who have been true to their trust. Those mothers are happiest today who have given moral and spiritual strength to their children. Children should put into ambition their desire and determination to provide for their mothers in their old age a happy home and an honorable name.

"We should remember there can be no mothers except for fathers. Likewise, there can be no children with a proper place in society without honorable and lawful fathers and mothers. If you, young people, appreciate the value of a home, add to your resolves today that by your actions, your conservations and your influence you will never be in any way a contributor to the sorrow of a little child who must grow up without an honorable father to honor every day with her.

This day is likewise known to millions of Christians as Expectation Sunday—the Sunday after the celebration of Christ's ascension and the Sunday before Pentecost, commemorating the time the first Christians waited expectantly for the coming of the Holy Spirit—the Spirit promised in the text. Let us remember the goodness of God in making Jesus and the Father accessible to every person of every age and clime and race thru the Spirit.

"As energy is recognized by science to be the common element of all the physical universe (and it is more spiritual than material) so the spirit of God is the universal essence of God and the approval of man to the Father. In appealing to youth to be led of God, I might dwell on the sins to be avoided:

1. The use of narcotics—morphine, cocaine, and nicotine. They work similarly except in degree.
2. Stimulants—especially alcohol that burns out the heart before the normal physical strength is spent.
3. Covetousness—God's name for gambling of all kinds.
4. Perversion of the God given sex impulses.
5. Disregard for human life and personal property rights.
6. Neglect of Sabbath rests and public worship.
7. Lawlessness.

"These are the prevailing sins. You know about them all. I hope your knowledge is merely theoretical and not experimental. I omit further discussion of them not because they are unimportant, but because they are merely symptoms of a disease I would combat with moral and spiritual hygiene. All sin must be repented of and abandoned if righteousness and place and joy are to develop.

"But as dress reform, fresh air, baths and diet have done more for physical health than have physics and drugs, so I believe we should depend upon the leading spirit of God into a freer, purer, stronger spiritual more than dwelling morbidly upon individual sins. I believe that Christ had this in mind when He said, "I am come that they may have life and that they might have it more abundantly." I believe in what somebody has called the explosive power of a new affection.

"Loving youth I have been much with them, and have observed that a real knowledge of Christ develops an appreciation for Him that drives out habits inconsistent with His standards. It must be a devoted and an adventurous love, such as impelled Richard Haliburton to follow Ulysses through his various experiences as recorded in the "Glorious Adventure."

"If our youth today will follow the guiding of the Spirit, our young men may approach and follow Christ as did Peter, and James, and John, the thief on the cross and the privileged Nicodemus; and our young women may approach Him and have fellowship with Him as did Mary and Martha, the woman at the well and Mary Magdalene.

"If your motives are definite in the desire to achieve real standards and ideals, they will lead Christward and Jesus will be recognizable at every stage of development, the one perfect type of youth, the absolutely consistent young man, the perfectly composed leader, the perfectly clear thinker, the one absolutely sympathetic friend, the entirely self-sacrificing servant of society, the one spirit completely familiar and satisfied with God, the one undying influence in the world, the one noncontrovertible proof of the ability to live human life in accord with the divine will, the one unfailing assurance of God's mercy and forgiveness, the one divine Redeemer able to raise us up to God.

"Let us remember, however, that Christ grew and developed, and let us not try to hold to the child in swaddling clothes as the guide and inspiration of our later adolescence. With Christ's life as your motive I believe you can live the life described by F. W. Norwood: "He who meets sorrow without bitterness and is not coarsened with poverty; who is defeated and fights on, or is triumphant but remains humble, who carries the hopefulness of youth into the deepening shadows of age, and when the sun is setting is confident of the morn—this is the man who has lived well."

"The motives that I believe are yours now, may with the guidance of the Spirit of Truth lead you into this Christlike life.

"I would be true for there are those that trust me,
 I would be pure for there are those that care:

I would be brave for there is much to dare,
 I would be friend of all, the foe, the friendless,
 I would be giving and forget the gift

I would be humble for I know my weakness;
 I would look up and laugh and love and lift."

The Bishop closed with this prayer of his own:
 "Blessed Lord Jesus Christ, help our young people to know and to love the spirit of adventure, the loyalty to home and the desire to serve their Heavenly Father, even as thou didst find thy joy in these experiences of life.

Help them to hold their true convictions, their best ambitions and their highest aspirations, that in the midst of all temptations they may satisfy their souls with the things that are true and are beautiful and pure, and grow strong in the worship of Thee, their Savior and their God, and in the service of their fellow men. Amen."

Rev. Berry, pastor of the Church of Christ, dismissed the services and the class marched out of the auditorium while the congregation waited.

WHY THE "GOLDEN RULE" IS GOLDEN

Whatever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.—Jesus.

Everything right is economic, and everything economic is right. This is why what is known as the Golden Rule is the most economic utterance recorded in the literature of the ages.

It naturally would be just that because He who uttered it was master of economics. Naturally also it is as economic materially as it is morally and spiritually. Its Author never wasted either thoughts or words, nor things tangible or intangible. He crystallized into fifteen words all that there is of economics, morality and justice.

The command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," is based upon the principle expressed in the Golden Rule. "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another," is as economic as it is spiritual. Obedience to these commandments would make war impossible, and war is waste—uneconomic—both materially and morally, socially and politically.

Mercy, sympathy, kindness are impelled by love for mankind. Therefore, Love is the source of economics. "God is Love." War, contention, strife, destruction are not products of Love. That is why they are uneconomic.

The Golden Rule is golden because it is productive of golden thoughts, words and deeds and golden conditions.

The principle embodied in the Golden Rule is the one principle which, if obeyed by all, would bring about universal happiness. Lack of consideration for others, which seems to be now the universal sin would no longer obtain, and the waste, want and woe the sad old world is constantly experiencing would be eliminated.

Any principle of process, system, or plan, that is uneconomic can not succeed. This is true as to business and government, society and philosophy.

It was stated on this page recently that man is, to the extent that he is able and has opportunity, his brother's keeper. One or two readers since have written in to state that they differ with the writer as to that statement; that they believe in "every man attending to his own business." That is right; but it is a part of every man's business to be his brother's keeper to the extent that he is able. To disregard this truth would mean not to build another hospital; to turn a deaf ear to the cry of suffering; to afford no protection to the weak and the helpless; to make of the story of the Good Samaritan a joke.

Men can not be independent of each other. All are interdependent.

Sympathy, mercy, loving-kindness are simply the products of the principle which makes us our brother's keeper to the best of our ability. One could sit by the bedside and see a fever patient die of thirst because he couldn't get himself a drink of water. The man "attending to his own business" could say, "The water was there within a few feet of him. I didn't keep him from getting it." Such refusal to give the suffering one the water would be a sin of omission.

Even one "business" is not independent of other businesses. If every business but one stopped, that one would soon be stopped al-

The Golden Rule in Business
The basis, the foundation of business and everything else in the universe is honesty. Dishonesty is inequitable, unethical, unjust and uneconomic.

This resplendent virtue, honesty like all the others, is embraced in one all-comprehending word, "truth." And Truth is the law of God, which can not be violated without suffering.

Every moral and spiritual virtue is economic, and therefore every act impelled by it and accomplished in accordance with it must be.

Thus it is plainly seen that acting in obedience to the Golden Rule and that of being our brother's keeper—interest in his welfare and willingness to assist him—and the exercise of each of the virtues is constructive and therefore necessarily economic.

Each of the Ten Commandments is an economic landmark. Each of the Beatitudes is an economic axiom.

An honest man will not be dishonest under any circumstances. Having the advantage doesn't mean opportunity to him. He will sell an honest product at an honest price, regardless of whether he controls the entire output or not.

He realizes that taking undue advantage is a form of robbery. It is depriving the helpless of what is justly their due. That's what a highwayman does. The gun he uses in his nefarious business represents undue advantage.

Principle does not yield to circumstances, and honesty is principle.

Right never changes because of circumstances but circumstances often are changed because of right. There can be no system in business or anything else without honesty and without system there can be no business.

Honesty is an ever-present and ever-operating principle. It must animate every enduring enterprise, every laudable purpose.

System is economic, and necessarily implies co-operation, and there can be no co-operation without honesty.

Co-operation is a universal principle, both as to natural objects and natural law. The stars and planets in their courses are governed by it, and the laws which move them enforce it.

Men have a law governing them but do not obey it as they should, and their difficulties are in proportion to their disobedience.

This law, this virtue, this principle, this heart of the Golden Rule is Honesty.

This wonderful law, uniformly and universally followed, would prevent many business wrecks.

Honesty is a moral, commercial and financial gyroscope. It is the "governor" on the engine of industrial endeavor.

Faith in Man Essential
Every necessary business is legitimate, and every legitimate business is necessary.

If it is necessary, it is an honest business, and if it is honest it should be conducted honestly. No business could be carried on without some faith in man. Not a check would be cashed; not an order would be delivered; not a bank could operate.

Every honestly conducted business, whether a great factory or a shoe shining "parlor," a department store or a carpenter shop, is an asset to the town in which it is located.

Every dishonest business is a liability and a handicap, which handicap has to be overcome by those honestly conducted. There should be no combinations formed for destroying business, but only for promoting it.

Every business reflects the character of those owning it and those engaged in conducting its various branches. This newspaper when it comes off the press embodies, so far as its contents can under the circumstances, the traits, characters and characteristics of those having to do with producing it.

Every letter sent by a business concern, every purchase by mail, every transaction, great or small, by any business firm helps or hinders the town as well as the firm. House of Hope on Rock of Truth
Every House of Hope, including business houses, must be built on the Rock of Truth.

Laws of right and wrong, of justice and injustice, are constantly and continuously in effect, whether they are obeyed or not. Disobedience to these laws does not destroy them, but those who disobey them. Disobedience to natural law brings inevitable defeat and disaster, but no more sure than to do the laws of morality. Dishonest methods succeed only so long as they are believed to be honest.

So soon as an individual or firm is known to be unfair in his or its dealings, failure is at the door.

A business dishonestly conducted has within itself the seeds of its own destruction.
The most dishonest man in a community will not admit that he is dishonest, yet no one knows it so well as he. This is a tribute to truth and honesty, although an unwitting one.

A business, like a life, must be built upon a solid foundation, the Rock of Truth, if it is to be a success.

The public now soon learns to distinguish the legitimate from the illegitimate business, the honest from the dishonest—one conducted according to the Golden Rule from one that is not.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times now is that many organizations, such as chambers of commerce, better business bureaus, luncheon clubs and the various associations composed of business men, are frowning effectively on dishonest and illegitimate business.

Business men and the public generally now make it very uncomfortable for him who undertakes to carry on business by "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."

Business men are promoting this "Golden Rule Week" throughout the country. They recognize the truth of the statements made in this article, though perhaps have not thought of them in just the way here expressed; and they are encouraging a movement which has in it doubtless more of good for business and the world generally than they realize.

They know that any kind of an institution that is not established on the right basis is not established at all. It is doomed from the beginning.

Honesty, frankness, straightforwardness constitute the right basis upon which enduring success can be achieved.

Every necessary business is the King's business and should be conducted as the King would have it conducted—according to the Golden Rule.

Federal Land Bank Board Meets Here Wednesday

Our little city was favored Wednesday by having as its guests members of the Federal Land Bank Board from Houston. In all there were seventeen of the guests who bestowed a great pleasure in the progress of our country. The visitors arrived early and spent the forenoon in visiting the Experiment Station, the terracing work on certain farms, and our alfalfa fields and dairy farms. All of them seemed delighted to note the advancement that this section of West Texas has made.

At the noon hour the guests were treated to a luncheon at the Spur Inn where everything was made comfortable, and visitors and local people gained acquaintances. The usual friendly talks followed, and with an excellent repast, everybody were relieved of all formality and were just folks.

Clifford B. Jones acted as toast master and introduced Judge M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land Bank at Houston. Judge Gossett then introduced the personnel of the party which consisted of R. D. Johnson, a director; H. C. Huckaba, assistant treasurer; G. F. Collins, special agent; A. K. (Dad) Short, terracing agent; A. C. Harris, assistant secretary; E. F. Shropshire, chief appraiser; Judge Lewis Rodgers, General Attorney; Roy C. Archer, Austin, director; J. M. Neeley, of Amarillo, director; W. E. Unzicker, auditor; Brown F. Lee, appraiser; J. E. Brannen, Jr., Sterling City, appraiser; R. S. Tillotson, Asperment, appraiser; Ward McConnell, Brownwood, appraiser; W. J. McAnelly, San Antonio, appraiser; Fred A. Grayum, Lubbock, appraiser.

Judge Gossett complimented Spur for the agricultural work that is going on. He stated that the Federal Land Bank at Houston was the first to establish a desk to study the conservation of soil and moisture and is reasonably proud of this record. He stated that this bank easily takes first rank in the interest of farm work, and out of more than 63,000 farm loans that they have had to foreclose only 54 since the bank was established in 1917, and that these foreclosures were in Central and East Texas. That during the period of the work of the Federal Land Bank at Houston that they had let out to farmers more than $185,000,000.00. He stated further that West Texas deserves all that its friends have said about it, but unless the farmers in this country terraced their farms and conserved the soil that they would endure the same calamity that farmers in East Texas had gone through with.

A. K. Short then spoke, stating that Spur Experiment Station had done more work in teaching people about the conservation of soil and moisture than any other institution in the world. The influence of Spur Station has caused other stations to be established, and has caused Texas to take the lead in the project of terracing and conserving soil and soil moisture.

Judge O. C. Newberry, County Judge of Dickens County, was then called on. He stated that the Commissioners' Court deemed the

BLACK JOHN PLOTS

A gloating smile spread over the face of Black John. "This Tarzan ape is no match for Black John!" he boasted. "Even now I am waiting for word that he has been caught!"

Mary repressed a reply and hastened to the hut and to Bobby. Deep in the jungle two of the cleverest of the natives had finished placing a trap cage and lay hidden in the brush watching it. They crouched entirely hidden as they heard the approach of something.

It was Taug making his way through, cautiously after his defeat by Tarzan in his attempt to gain the title of king of the jungle. Taug paused and stared curiously. Just before him he caught sight of a tempting bunch of jungle fruit, left unguarded by someone.

He moved forward for it, reached out to grasp it—and the door of the trap sprang shut as the ape lashed his way back and forth in futile effort now to free himself.

Instantly the two natives were on their feet. "Tarzan is caught!" cried one. "The Witch Doctor is mightier than Tarzan the Mighty! Run and tell him while I guard the trap!"

From a far now Tarzan himself could hear the raging of Taug. "Something was wrong,—was it with this interloper or with some new claimant for the title of jungle king? Quickly Tarzan swung himself along in the direction of the cries.

Soon he was peering down from his eyrie in a tree whence he had swung himself by his grass rope. Below he could see the native in a dance of triumph about the cage-trap. A cunning expression overpread Tarzan's features as he set himself for a long swing.

As though from the sky above Tarzan swung down upon the native guarding the trap. A look of frantic fear came to the native's face. It was as if by a miracle the supposed captive was free. In desperation he closed with Tarzan. But it was an unequal fight. A moment and Tarzan had picked him up bodily and flung him toward the cage.

The native lay there, still. Tarzan darted to the cage and peered in. It was Taug. "So," he muttered as he tore at the trap, "you would be king of the jungle!" Tarzan smiled. "Yet Tarzan is glad to help Taug."

Tarzan at last laid his hand on the catch of the trap. He unfastened the door, lifted it, and Taug sprang out.

It was no longer the sullen Taug.

work of sufficient importance that they had agreed to pay one fourth of the price on every terracing machine purchased in the county. The writer happened to be in the office of Mr. H. C. Huckaba, assistant Treasurer of the Land Bank at Houston, who said, "That is the first instance of where a Commissioners' Court has taken the lead in the work, and it is one of the greatest things for the farmers in this county that could have happened." Thanks to our wide-awake Commissioners' Court.

There were many others who spoke just a few words. Among these were R. D. Johnson, treasurer; J. M. Neeley, director; Mr. Foster, Judge Rogers, for the Land Bank; E. L. Tanner, County Agricultural Agent for Dickens County and R. E. Dickson, Superintendent of Spur Experiment Station.

After the luncheon all the guests were invited to accompany the Spur Golf Club to the course just north of town where they were given an opportunity to exhibit their skill in strokes. This entertainment was under the supervision of W. T. Andrews, of the Spur National Bank; and W. P. Simpson of Simpson's Barber Shop. All guests who could, availed themselves of this opportunity and when the round was made, declared their delight on being with the Spur people.

The day was a great one for Spur country, and it is hoped the Federal Land Bank were equally as greatly gratified with the visit of their official board. The Houston Bank stand second of all the twelve banks in United States, and is right close to the record of the Federal Land Bank at Omaha which leads.

J. Robinet, of Calgary, was looking after business affairs in our city Tuesday.

alized. High overhead he tarzan himself in the leafy screen of the trees. He saw; also he saw the tribe, too many for him.

But Tarzan, king of the jungle, was never defeated, not in his own jungle. His face was suddenly convulsed with rage at the indignity to the fair white queen. He raised his head and uttered a loud roar. It was human yet like nothing human. It was the battle cry of the king of the jungle calling upon his followers.

The natives heard and they knew it. They fled in panic. Black John followed. Was he not their leader? In terror, too, Mary and Bobby fled.

Far and wide through his kingdom the call was heard. Tantor heard and started, trumpeting.

Tarzan swung himself down before Mary and Bobby, stood before them in awed admiration. Mary did not know whether to run or stay. Bobby stared in wide-eyed fear and admiration.

"Fear not! Tarzan will never allow that Black John to harm the White Angel!"

Mary shivered at the thought of Black John. "You are good—good as you are brave. But Black John has many men—and you are alone."

Just then Tantor broke through the jungle. Tarzan smiled. "Tarzan is not alone! The beasts of the jungle are his friends. See!"

Mary shrank back and Bobby cried out in fear. "Don't be afraid of Tantor. He is Tarzan's friend and will help the White Angel, even as Tarzan once helped him. Once when I was a very little boy, with my knife I cut him loose from a trap."

Quickly in his curious English Tarzan told the story. "And now," he added to Mary, "learn this bird call. If Tarzan hears the bird call, he will know the White Angel is in danger and will come."

Mary repeated the call until she got it perfect. But she was nervous. Her absence from the village would be noticed. She thanked Tarzan, turned toward the village, while Tarzan was swung up on his back by Tantor who started off, also.

In the thicket the jealous, scowling, scheming eyes of Black John missed none of this meeting. Through his tortuous brain was evolving a dark scheme. He would use Tantor to capture Tarzan and nip this friendship in the bud.

No sooner did Black John have an idea than he put it in execution. In the fastness of the jungle he set the tribe to work digging a pit. In the bottom of the pit he placed rows of long, sharp-pointed stakes. Over the pit they laid a flimsy false floor of jungle foliage.

It was impossible to keep secret such a plot in the village. The moment Mary learned it her first thought was to warn Tarzan. She stole cautiously to the door of the hut and looked out. There on guard a burly native blocked her exit. She was a prisoner.

Somewhat she must convey the warning to Tarzan. She looked helplessly at Bobby. Suddenly an idea flashed into her mind.

"They'll never suspect you, Bobby. Go—give the bird call. Tarzan will hear it and come to you. Warn him!"

There was not much time to act. Already the natives had been posted through the jungle, first to scare up and worry Tantor, then to drive him down the trail that passed over the pit.

Chicks From Six to Twelve Weeks of Age.

Now is the time that many folks have got their chicks by what they consider the most dangerous age, that is from the incubator to where they can begin to look out for themselves. From now on there are two very dangerous ailments that must be watched. These are worms and coccidiosis. The last is a germ disease and is got from droppings and is carried over from year to year where chickens have been raised before. Older stock are often affected but seldom get down with it.

There are two forms of this disease, the chronic type and the acute type. In the acute type chickens suddenly begin to die in great numbers. They become droopy, sleep, wings droop, feathers ruffled. In the chronic type there are several at a time down but the owner just thinks it is the weak ones that are not showing up well. Veterinary books usually put a lot of stress on bloody droppings in this disease as well as blood filled cecal pouches of the intestine. Personally, I never run across many cases where blood shows up.

Treatment of this disease consists in prompt removal of chicks to new ground, starving of chicks for 24 hours, then giving of sour skim milk for one day, and then the giving of a little whole grain the next day with sour skim milk or butter milk, and thereafter gradually bringing the chicks back on feed over a week or ten days. Sour skim milk should be given in place of water until the chicks are well as the acid conditions of the intestine is what kills the germs. I have seen this remedy used in a great many cases with good results. The use of hail screen floors as recommended by Mr. Holmgren is the greatest prevention of this disease known. Many folks are removing their flocks from the hail screen now. This is a mistake as chicks are as a usual thing not attacked by coccidiosis until they are around six to twelve weeks old.

John N. Willys Is Re-elected Head of Willys-Overland

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 14.—At the annual meeting of the Willys-Overland Company held here today, all of the present officers and board of directors were re-elected.

In a statement to the stockholders, President John N. Willys said that every indication pointed to 1929 as one of the most successful years in the company's history, with sales surpassing the record volume of last year by a substantial margin and satisfactory prospects for greater earnings in the second quarter.

"The first quarter showed an increase in per share profits as compared with the same period of 1928," Mr. Willys said, "with the 1929 profits based on 3,000,000 common shares outstanding as against only 2,526,684 outstanding shares in the first quarter of last year."

"Since the bulk of our first quarter's profits this year were largely acquired in its closing weeks, our earning potential for the second quarter is materially enhanced with notable gains in sales. An important factor which should have a marked effect in increased earnings in the current and following quarters is our sales gains in the higher priced six-cylinder lines of Willys-Knights and Whippets. Our six-cylinder models now comprise 50 per cent of our total volume, the balance being our lower priced four cylinder Whippet model. Earlier in the year the ratio was approximately 75 per cent Whippet fours and 25 per cent Willys-Knights and Whippet sixes. Not only are we enjoying record gains in our domestic business this year, but our exports for the first quarter showed an increase of 72 per cent over the same period last year."

Mr. Willys also said that the distribution of stock as voted at the meeting today, indicates there has been no material change in the past year in the ratio of any of the large personal holdings.

"I have been at the head of this company for 21 years," Mr. Willys said. "In other words, I have attained my majority. In that time there have been frequent rumors, some of which gained widespread notice, to the effect that the company was considering the advisability of becoming merged with other organizations, and at other times that my personal interests and holdings in the company were to pass into other hands, plus additional unfounded rumors of similar purport.

"Naturally, time cannot always be taken to issue specific denial for all such rumors, but I want to frankly say today that I have taken no steps to sell my stock or to change my relationship to the company in any way and that I have no plans effecting the capital structure, the organization or the personnel of the company.

"This should set at rest all rumors, surmises and guesses that have been current during the past few weeks."

The company's elected directorate is comprised of President John N. Willys, C. O. Miniger, George M. Jones, Gordon M. Mather, Rathbun Fuller, Thomas H. Tracy, H. C. Tillotson, L. A. Miller, C. B. Wilson of Pontiac, C. B. Mertz of New York, and T. A. Russell, of Toronto.

CHRISTIAN MEETING DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

The series of meetings which is in progress at the First Christian Church, continues to draw large crowds. Rev. Abbott, the pastor, is bringing some great messages and is doing some plain and effective preaching. Sunday evening he spoke of the subject, "If a man goes to Hell from Spur, who will be to blame and who will care." He made it very plain in his discourse that man cannot expect to gain entrance at the Pearly Gates on his moral standing.

Monday evening he spoke on the subject, "The Three Great Religions of the Bible." This was a very interesting discourse. He outlined that the Patriarchs had a religion all their own, then came the Jewish dispensation, and finally the Christian religion.

Friday evening Rev. Abbott will speak on Church unity. He has a great message on this subject and has been making a study of this movement for years.

Mrs. Abbott has charge of the singing and every service is characterized by a large choir. The entire public are extended an invitation to attend all services. The services will close Sunday morning in order to co-operate with the revival starting at the First Baptist Church.

GODFREY AND SMART

TARZAN THE MIGHTY

Novelized by ARTHUR B. REEVE,
 From an original Serial produced by UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION, by special arrangement with
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
 Author of TARZAN OF THE APES, THE CAVE GIRL, etc.

Through babyhood and childhood the foster-child of Toka grew. And though he was the little friend of all the jungle world, yet the jungle knew he was different. Gradually as he grew to manhood in the life of the jungle, gleaning the rudiments of his own language from picture books left in the effects of his parents in the cabin, heir to the wonderful carved hunting knife of the dead sportsman, his father, gradually the jungle people came to realize that he was their king in brain and cunning, accepted the overlordship of Tarzan, the Mighty, foster-child of Toka, the she-ape.

It was not often now that his power was questioned, except by Numa, who seemed to retain a hereditary enmity. That was why as Tarzan faced Taug, protecting Teeka, Tarzan laughed.

"Taug has chosen and there is none in the jungle to stay him!" Quickly Tarzan's laughter changed to rage. Here was a defiance of his mandate to rule that he could not afford to pass.

Tarzan hit Taug a staggering blow. A moment and Taug was back at him. Again Tarzan hit him. Taug crumpled. In an instant Tarzan was over him, his Greystoke hunting knife unsheathed. He felt his arm stayed. It was Teeka, pleading, for Taug. Slowly he returned the knife to its sheath, rose from the prostrate Taug and turned away. Again, as so often since he had reached the estate of manhood, swept over him the realization that neither the ape people nor the other beasts were his real kin.

Morose and moody Tarzan proceeded through the jungle. Now more than ever before he felt alone—alone. These friends of the jungle were not his own people. Who were his own people?

Mechanically his course took him to the hut. Except for the ravages of time and the weather it was the same hut he remembered from earliest childhood. Something was vaguely stirring within him now as he entered. He picked up a child's picture book, glanced through it. It did not satisfy. On the table was a Bible, very worn and old. He opened it. There was a picture of a woman. He gazed at it long and earnestly. It stirred some recollections within him, indefinite, formless. Then, too, there was the picture of a man.

These were his people. For a long time he turned it over in his mind. Dead! Yes; without a doubt. But were there no others?

He closed the book, put it back on the table. Somehow now he was more alone than even he had been before. He felt he must get back into the jungle. At least there were his friends, Tantor, and the apes. . . .

plunged, turned upward, and grappled with the prince of the crocodiles just at the moment when those murderous jaws were within inches of snapping this queen of Tarzan's own kind, first he had ever seen in his marvellous winning of the jungle.

Over and over the man and the infuriated crocodile rolled in the water as Tarzan vainly struggled to grasp his knife from its sheath at some moment when the animal at home in his own element might be off guard. For Tarzan being off-guard for an instant might mean the loss of one of his own superbly developed limbs, perhaps of his life.

Mary, headed for safety and shore, looked back just in time to see a dozen or more of the crocodile tribe thrashing after her so closely that it was scarcely an even break whether she could reach the shore first—and even then must she depend on a miraculous toughness of the slender tropical tangle of vines to pull herself well clear of those voracious, cruel jaws. She grasped the tangle and it parted in her hands as she screamed in frantic terror at the snapping jaws only a few inches behind her.

Chapter III. BLACK JOHN PLOTS

Frantically, desperately, Mary clutched at the tangle of vines again. This time it gave a little but it held and she pulled herself safely up the bank just missing the ravenous jaws of the foremost of the crocodiles by inches.

Still a-tremble like an aspen leaf in the wind she ran through the brush and with shaking fingers donned her scant garment of leopard skin, fastening it as she peered through the tangle at the handsome and heroic figure of a man as he struggled, waited his chance, then overcame the infuriated leader of the crocodiles, flung him back and with powerful strokes made the edge of the pool and drew his powerful form glistening with the water up to safety also.

He stood looking about for her, caught a glimpse of her as she drew back in the shadows. She started to run in sudden fear as he advanced toward her. He stopped, raised his hand and called.

"Fear not! Tarzan will not harm you!"

Mary hesitated. There was something at once commanding and reassuring in the tone. A smile, half-frightened, flitted over her face. She was tempted to wait, then her fears hand at him—and ran on toward the stockade.

Tarzan checked himself. A long time he gazed after her with a wondering, entranced expression on his face, then turned back again to his jungle—but not the same Tarzan he had been a scant half hour ago. A new purpose had come into his life.

Mary, too, at the entrance to the stockade paused to look back, with a smile at the memory of Tarzan. Perhaps she should have stayed. But then there was Bobbie. She turned.

Black John was glaring at her suspiciously.

"You've been outside the stockade again! Haven't I warned you enough of this Tarzan beast that's roaming around?"

Mary hid a sudden start at the uncanny mention of Tarzan. But she could not check the peculiar smile on her lips nor the shrug of her defiant shoulders even by her non-committal answer.

What's Doing In West Texas

That DE LEON shipped a car load of Shorthorn junior and senior calves to Lake Charles, La., is an indication of what that territory is concentrating on. Jo. Doss Miller Jr., and C. M. Caraway shipped the car consisting of 29 bull calves to Henry Gray, a breeder of Shorthorns in that state. The animals were all fine registered stock and represented a considerable value.

HAMLIN has completed plans for a cream route that makes a loop around the town, and then goes into Stamford, and collection will start upon the arrival of a sufficient number of cream cans and will be under the direction of T. A. Carter. The producers will receive a premium of 10 cents per pound above market price for sweet cream.

CANYON has started a campaign to raise $50,000 for the erection of the first unit of a museum building to house the relics of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

ARCHER COUNTY'S chamber of commerce has made plans to establish a higher grade of cattle in the county with the purchase of 26 high bred registered animals to be shipped from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana breeders.

MLUESH(J) continues to ship car after car of maize, kaffir and corn to outside markets every day. The demand for these feeds is good because of the high quality. Much of it is used for planting.

FRIONA, in following up the work of Better Home Week, has inaugurated a Better Homes contest for Friona and vicinity during the coming summer to end August 15. Prizes will be awarded for the three best kept homes. Two classes of homes will be considered, those in the city limits and those within a six-mile radius.

IOWA PARK will sponsor a Community Work Day on June 4, at the Fair grounds in order to get the grounds ready for the proposed erection of a grand stand for general use. Labor and the use of tractors, teams and other equipment will be donated so that the work may be completed in one day.

CROSBYTON is experiencing a new residential building boom. On one block recently sold by B. W. Ellison there is to be built six brick veneer homes by its new owner G. H. Johnson. Johnson has already built four homes in Crosbyton.

RALLS, in being chosen the place of meeting for the 1930 South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, brings the meet to Crosbyton County for the second time,

2. Types of clothing for the children, which are attractive, simple to make and easily laundered.
3. How clothes influence a child's character.
4. How children may be taught to care for their clothes.

A demonstration on selection of pattern, material and simple decorations for children's clothing was given by Miss Osborne.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lee Mimms, May 22, at 2:30.

Miss Sallie Hill of College Station was here Monday doing the District Living Room judging. Mrs. D. F. Christopher's room was judged Monday morning. If Mrs. Christopher should be placed in the district, her room will be judged for a place among the State Winners. The Women's Home Demonstration Council have raised money to send Mrs. Christopher to the Short Course. There she will have a chance to tell about her living room.

Clothing Contest

At the present time the women's Home Demonstration clubs over the county with the girls clubs are planning a clothing contest. The girls have the clothing contest each year, but the women have never entered such a contest. The women's dresses will be of the sheer materials. The girls contest is divided into two classes, the school dress and the afternoon dress. About fifty women are entering the contest and twenty-three girls have entered. Of course, the women and girls' dresses will not be judged together. The Chambers of Commerce have promised to send the two girls that win to the Short Course, and the Women's Home Demonstration Council plan to send the woman that wins. Further plans about the contest and the program for the contest will be published later.

Summer School Offers Phonics

Since there will be no work below the fourth grade offered in Summer School, Mrs. T. W. Whigham has agreed to take a limited number of pupils for special work in Phonics. Classes will be held from 8:00 to 10:00 each morning. They will continue for a six-weeks' period, beginning Monday, May 27.

Mr. Cluck is very anxious for Mrs. Whigham to give this work as he and the primary teachers agree that in practically every case in which a child has trouble with his reading and spelling, it is because he has not had the proper foundation work in Phonics.

Mrs. Whigham plans to take only a limited number and give them individual instructions. They will be taught the fundamental principles of phonics in a thorough manner. The course also includes reading and spelling lessons, to teach the pupils how to apply phonics in all their work.

All those interested in this course should get in touch with Mrs. Whigham at once as classes will begin next Monday.

President of Willys-Overland Cites Record Volume of Business in Overseas Markets

NEW YORK, May 23.—John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company and Chairman of the Foreign Trade Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, sailed tonight on the Berengaria for a two weeks' inspection tour of the company's factories in Manchester, England, and Berlin, Germany. The primary objective of the trip is to consult with the company's European executives on plans for handling the greatly increased Willys-Overland overseas business.

"In the first four months of 1929," said Mr. Willys, "we exported 17,003 Willys-Knights and Whippets. This is a new high record. April exports totalled 4,325 cars and indications are that May exports will show better than a 50 per cent gain over May of last year."

"Increase in foreign business are widespread. Not only Europe but South America, Australia, New Zealand and the Far East are giving us large volume of orders. Numerous foreign distributing points are ordering from 50 to 250 per cent more cars than last year. Immediate plans include the export of a large volume of the new 1-2 ton Whippet Six commercial units besides the line of passenger cars in which six cylinder sales show a marked increase."

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ragsdale, of Elton, were in our city last week to take home a hatch of chickens from the Spur Hatchery. Mr. Ragsdale stated that he wanted to get a good flock of hens on his farm and see if he could make some money on that line. He owns 240 acres of good land in the Elton country and has been reasonably successful. However, he stated that a farmer should make more than just a living on that much land and that he is trying out the cow and hen route to success.

MISS THELMA CARAWAY HONORED

Miss Thelma Caraway, bride-elect, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday afternoon by Mesdames Roy E. Dickson and B. F. Hale, at the home of Mrs. Hale.

With Mesdames Dickson and Hale in the receiving line were Miss Caraway, Mrs. E. L. Caraway and Miss Lucille Lucas, another bride-elect.

A color note of orchid, green, pink and yellow was carried out completely in the decorations. Masses of roses, snapdragons and larkspur in these colors were placed at vantage points about the rooms. A shower of rainbow colored streamers fell from the chandeliers. In the dining room, a cover emphasizing the color scheme was used on the table, with centerpiece being a huge basket of various-colored flowers. Tall pastel tinted tapers were placed at each end of the table and the buffet.

Mrs. Clyde Weaver, of Abilene, formerly Miss Helen Newman of this city, presided at the brides book, held open by a delicately tinted tulle bow, caught with a cluster of valley lilies.

Over a large table in an adjoining room a beautiful rainbow was hung, with the ends reaching into the traditional pot o' gold. And indeed, treasures were truly discovered for here were the many lovely gifts for the bride-to-be. Little Misses Helen Hale, Litlian Grace Dickson and Annie Laurie Lewis, daintily in dresses of pastel colors, graciously served the guests with ices in pink, green yellow and orchid. Sprays of larkspur made the plates most attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Albin enjoyed the pleasure of visits from their children last week. All of the children were home, except two, who were unable to get here.

Albin, of Abilene, Edward Albin, of Stockton, California, and Roy Albin, of New York City, were unable to be present.

Mr. Albin stated this week that he does not remember of ever enjoying a visit from his children as he enjoyed this one. In speaking of the time he said, "They almost took in the place, but it reminded me of when they were little rascals pulling just such stunts." He stated further that all of them had returned home as business required them to go back.

Dr. B. F. Hale was attending to business in Lubbock Monday.

Chas. Windham, representative for the Hup line of automobiles, was attending to business matters in Lubbock Monday.

Clever Women Who Use Our Laundry Are This Town's Happiest Wives!

You pity the drudge who does her own washing as you see the sag and droop that come from lifting and carrying. You are shocked at the way heavy work robs her of looks and youth.

How blind she is not to know that it is a saving in health, life itself, and money, to say nothing of happiness, to send all the family washing to the laundry.

Every woman owes it to herself to make the laundry her servant. Many a husband whose wife uses this laundry says proudly: "My wife is as young looking today as when we married."

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. der if Spur does need an auditorium. It seems that there were about fifty to sixty per cent of the people at the community program on the evening above named that were able to secure a place in the auditorium. People stood on the outside of the building at every window, the halls in the building were full of people and the auditorium was crowded to its utmost. It appeared to us that we need a larger place to hold even our school programs. When the interest in education in any town the size of ours is so strong as to draw that many people out to a school program it appears that it would be money well spent to provide a place where the people can be accommodated.

It is has been our observation that the young men who are interested to the extent of going to hear a good program and then is required to stand up or remain on the outside of the building does not get as much out of the situation as he might. He loses interest in the good things he wanted to know about and was not permitted to learn. Again, it affords a very good opportunity for these young men to become interested in some things that are not so elevating as the school program at the East Side building Friday evening. When the young man goes to hear good things and is disappointed by having to remain on the outside of the building or to stand up, he often becomes a menace to the meeting. Such was not the case at the above named program, but such a condition often offers an opportunity for people to become disturbers.

Then Sunday morning at the baccalaureate services, when the First Methodist Church was crowded to its fullest and still people had to be turned away. We wonder if it would pay us to make an effort for the City Auditorium. When we take into consideration the many people who would enjoy hearing that fine sermon, who were deprived of the privilege by knowing there would be no room for them, and stayed at home, we wonder if the auditorium would be worth while.

Well, we have two more programs this week. We are wondering ourselves whether we should try to be at the East Side school tonight for that fine program, or would it be better for us to remain at home and give some friend our room. Space will be above par value at this meeting. Half of those who attend this meeting will be able to hear the program, the other half will do the best they can.

What about the graduating exercises Friday evening?

Well, if it is like it was last year, there will be no room left for a lot of us fellows who work hard all day and cannot take out in time to get there early. There are 41 of us fine young men and young ladies graduating this year as ever went out from any high school. They have many friends who want to see them get their diplomas. But truly, it is a sacrifice when they know their friends will be compelled to stand up or leave the building.

People of Spur are asked every week why we have no City Auditorium. At present we cannot invite any conventions to our city because we have no place for them to meet. We are deprived of the privilege of entertaining people of other sections of the country because we have no place to entertain them. We are robbed of the privilege of meeting and mingling with people of other towns because we are not in position to ask them to visit us. We are unable to get their ideas of business and about town building. We fail to receive the compliments due us as a thriving little city because the auditorium—the one outstanding monument to our town—has not yet materialized.

Recently a number of farmers wanted to have a meeting in our city that they might discuss some of their farm problems. They had to secure one of our theaters in order to have the meeting. Farmers are learning that if they get together and talk over their business as other people do, that they get along better. Spur has failed thus far to provide a place for the farmers of Spur country to hold their meetings. The theatres have been very liberal in this respect, and so have the churches, but people feel a delicacy in intruding upon these two very helpful factors all the time. Let's build an auditorium where everybody can meet and feel free. Then people from other sections will come our way and tell us how progressive we are. We know we are progressive, but we need an auditorium to let the world know it.

around at Kellam's Dry Goods, is a very good authority on this.

Prof. Thomas stated a few days ago that he would spend the greater part of his summer vacation in Weatherford, his home town, and extended an invitation to a few of his friends here, to come down later in the season and help him devour some of the water melons that are grown in that part of the country, stating that they held the record in that part of the universe for raising the largest, and far the best, melons in the State. Mr. Bullock Tilotson, down at the West Texas Utilities promptly responded with the following: "Sure, they grow so large down there that it is necessary that they be raised near the railroad track to enable raisers the aid of the T. & P. to use the pile driver in "thumping" the melon in order to ascertain whether or not they were ripe enough to pull."

Jimmie, the hospitable tonsorial artist around Schrimsher and Stack way, went visiting the other night, and parked his car for a brief moment, leaving the lights burning. When he returned to his Limousine his light had ceased to glare, running the battery down. Not having a crank handy, Jimmie left the car for the night, walking back to town. The next day he went for his car and found that a cat had entertained itself with a merry jubilee during the night, leaving his foot prints on practically every part of the car. Just ask Jimmie.

Mr. Hemphill has informed us that he will return home this week and enter in the real estate business. His home is in Littlefield, northwest of Lubbock, in Lamb county. Already, he has begun testing his sales ability on some of the boys, and in describing the value of the land out there, what the chief products are, etc., he stated that less than a week ago two men raised a fuss on one of his farms adjoining the beautiful little city of Littlefield. Must be great soil!

We are at a loss to know what the mechanics in Spur would do if it were not for Mr. Cluck's Chrysler.

Soft drinks are on "soft" for everybody. For instance Pardes

California Wine. Dudley Wooten is a very good authority on this. For your convenience we insert herewith his telephone No. 184-J, that you might "give him a ring" concerning the matter.

Plainview Pastor Addresses Graduates

Plainview, Texas, May 23.—A distinct honor was conferred upon Rev. J. Pat Horton, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city in that he delivered the Commencement sermons this year to both the graduating classes of Wayland College and the Plainview High School. Both sermons were delivered on the same day, to the Wayland seniors Sunday morning and High May 19th. Rev. Horton has served for three years as pastor of the Plainview church and this bespeaks the high esteem by which he is held in the eyes of the young people of Plainview. The church has made a steady growth under Rev. Horton's pastorate here.

Judge H. C. Pipken, of Amarillo, delivered the annual address to the Wayland graduates last evening. Rev. Victor Crabtree, of Dickens, was one of the academy graduates.

MORE WEDDING BELLS PEAL OUT IN SPUR.

A very quiet little wedding occurred on east side of town Thursday evening of last week when Mr. Fred C. Haile and Miss Opal Nichols were married. Mr. Haile seemed to let no one know of his intentions until it was too late for any one to make any objections.

Thursday morning he invited O. A. Lambert, manager for the Pitchfork Ranch, to accompany him to Post City. Mr. Lambert had business at Post and accepted the invitation. Instead of going directly to Post Mr. Haile headed his car for the 24-Ranch country to the amazement of Mr. Lambert. Upon being queried why he he was going in that direction Mr. Haile stated that he had to go that way in order to get his girl. That was all that was said about it at that time.

About nine o'clock in the evening they arrived back in Spur. Mr. Haile asked Mr. Lambert to hunt up Judge Roddy and take him over to his home and explaining that he and Miss Nichols were going to get married in the quickest time. During the time Mr. and Mrs. Haile and George Van Ness were invited to be at the home on short notice and no explanations were given.

Within a few minutes all the guests were present at the nice little home of Fred Haile on east side. Judge Roddy was handed the proper authority and at once proceeded with the ceremony.

The groom has been associated with the Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association the past three years, as assistant secretary and field manager. He is widely known over this country, having spent most of his life in Dickens County. He is a graduate of Simmons University receiving his A. B. Degree from that institution in 1926. He has built up the Spur Mutual from about 1200 members to more than 2000, having quite a number on the waiting list.

The bride has been teaching school in Kent County the past year. She was educated in Abilene Christian College and Simmons University. She and Mr. Haile learned to know each other about nine months ago. Her home is in Abilene where she has spent most of her life.

Mr. and Mrs. Haile are at home on East Side where their many friends join in wishing them unbounded success.

Guest, "it takes a heap o'livin' in a place to make it a home;" But think of the joy of this living that makes the home. Planting the rose and training it so it will run just where it will get the blessing of the early morning sun, planting a tree, building a lattice, planting the garden, watering the flowers; these and thousands more little duties which are real joys in disguise, taken together make the home, that Little Heaven which has within it's walls secrets of joy and sorrow too small to tell the world about, yet more priceless than gold can buy.

Young man, it is Home for which every young woman dreams and hopes; is it home for which every young man should toil and save. Home is the refuge from toil and cares; the center of the family life that makes this a good world to be in. And as old age comes on, Home brings contentment and happiness, the memories of cherished days gone by and peace of mind and body.

"Home ain't a place that gold can buy

Or get up in a minute. Afore it's home there's got to be A heap of livin' in it."

We don't admire a recluse that lives all alone in some secluded spot and thinks not of ought but self, and yet he has a joy that some who walk the highways of social life know not of, "The Spot to him so sacred his 'Home' ". No we do not consider the money put into a home as we do an investment, but as the clothing we wear, a necessity to life and to the carrying out of Gods plans for his creatures which are just a little lower than angels and made in his own image.

We would say to the young woman, do not give your hand to any young man who does not have an ambition to make for you a home and plan this even before you are married; and work and save and pray and make your dreams come true. Many log cabins and humble cottages have become shrines to which the traveler goes because some great man or woman was born there. And we owe to our children that sacred heritage of a childhood home. Young man begin now your own building fund take from your monthly salary one-tenth which you owe your maker and pay him, and one-tenth place in your home building fund and keep it sacred for that purpose. Young woman go and do likewise, so you will be prepared to furnish that home. Some girls dream of marrying a rich man. They are scarce and you would be very likely unfortunate if you succeeded, the divorce courts bear outstanding testimony of this fact. In our good state there are two outstanding rich men's sons, one of them has six and the other seven living wives, so riches don't seem to bring happiness.

We are thankful for the nice rain and are looking forward to the harvest time, which we believe will be sufficient for our needs if we do our part well. Our business thus far this year has been very good. We thank you all and want you to know we appreciate your business; and that, while we do not have the Special-Saleitis, we have, at all times, values that will stand the test. We want to help make your homes more comfortable and attractive by placing some new furniture, rugs, etc., in the rooms that need a refreshing touch. And think of having your own Copeland Electric Refrigerator making all the ice you need, and actually paying for itself in the saving of food. The old ice box is out of date, as the hack and buggy. Every home should have Electric Refrigerators, where Electric current is available. And we have the New Perfection Refrigerator which fills the need of the country home, Easy Washers to make washing really easy. Too many things to mention here.

Come on with the Crowds and Bring the Children.

Get Spur off the "Sucker" List

Within the past week there have been three "high powered" salesmen in Spur trying to put on different propositions in the name of "advertising"—and the merchant has been picked as the "Jones" that "pays the freight".

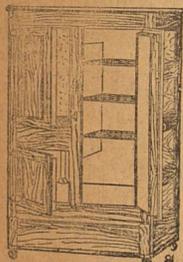

The Spur Retail Merchants Association is trying to save money for the merchants of Spur by informing them of these worthless schemes.

So tell them NO and it won't be long until these "easy-money" salesmen learn that Spur is OFF the "sucker list" and they can't sell their worthless schemes to our merchants.
