Spur Mutual Gaining In Membership

We read of how fire purifies the gold and clears away the dross, and how precious stones become more lustrous by use. The past few years have tested the quality of the Spur Mutual because they have been trying years. But the Spur Mutual is coming thru with the greatest record of any business of the times. During all of these years of drought, low prices, hail, depression, and all other unpleasant conditions, Spur Mutual has not failed to meet a single claim and every one has been paid in full. The greatest feature of Spur Mutual is, that the check is there when the beneficiary needs it. Very few cases during the twelve years of service rendered by Spur Mutual has the funeral been held before the beneficiary received the check for the death claim.

Spur Mutual is a business that is giving service to the people. It was founded upon the basis of service and it has grown and lived on that same basis. The business is of the highest type and the quality of service is not surpassed by any. It has fostered a worthy cause with a willingness that has won the respect of everybody. Many homes have been left in sorrow, and probably in need, that the Spur Mutual has brought light and hope into its portals.

Nichols Sanitarium

Mrs. Monroe Mings, of Peacock, underwent an operation Wednesday morning for ruptured appendix and general peritonitis. Conditions looked favorable but the case had not developed sufficiently to tell what might be the result.

Mrs. Lonnie Bradshaw and daughter of Swenson, continues to improve and soon will be able to return home.

Mrs. G. R. Elkins, city, underwent an operation Saturday, and seems to be getting along fine at this time.

Miss McClung Is Chosen Miss Spur

In the bathing revue held at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, Miss Lavada McClung was elected "Miss Spur" to represent our city at the Western Revue, held in Roswell in August. There were seventeen young ladies of our city in the contest and it was no small problem for the judges to make the selection. They used the two evenings for the work and Miss McClung was chosen as winner.

This is a greater event than many of our community may realize. What might be the result if Miss Spur should be chosen the winner at Roswell and gain that trip to Chicago. Miss Spur winning the All West Texas Revue, sponsored by a business firm in Spur. That will give Spur country more advertisement than any one thing in its history.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis won the first honors in the Tiny Tots Revue. There were five children in this revue. The selection was made by the cheerings of the audience and it seems a good selection was made.

The Palace was favored with a good house each evening. The Revues were under the direction of Mrs. Nydia Dallas, of Lubbock, who is a teacher of social education.

The Palace is giving some fine programs at this time for the amusement of the people. It is a wonderful home of entertainment and if Spur did not have such a theatre we would soon realize more what it means to us. It is a good place for the people of the town to spend an evening with their families and relax from business and forget troubles.

Golfers Enjoy Barbecue Thursday

The picnic last Thursday afternoon which included a great feast, was enjoyed by members of the Golf Club greatly. The members met at the golf course about six o'clock in the afternoon at which time a driving contest was conducted. Each member was permitted to make three drives with a wood club and prizes were awarded for the five best drives.

E. Lee made the longest distance totaling 825 yards in three drives. This was an average of 275 yards per drive. He was awarded the first prize of six new golf balls.

B. Williamson won second honors with 630 yards. Bill Kyle took third place with 625 yards. Reuben Draper and Grady Lane tied for fourth honors and flipped a coin for fourth and fifth honors. Each made 600 yards. Draper took fourth place and Lane placed fifth.

Guy Karr was awarded consolation, and if any one desires to know anything about this prize, you are referred to the recipient.

Farm Flocks Feed Folks

A profit of $29.03 above feed costs for the month of March is the record of 386 hens of four flocks, on which records are kept in cooperation with the county agent. The very low feed cost of $7.75 was made possible through the use of home grown grains and skim milk. The amounts of milk fed varied all the way from all that the flock would consume to as little as one gallon per day.

Egg production per hen was increased from 11 in February to 16.6 in March, with two of the demonstrators getting 20.7 and 20 eggs on an average from their flocks. Average feed costs per dozen was 1.45¢ for all flocks with the lowest 1.07¢ and the highest 2.30¢.

Leroy Garrison a 4-H club boy of Rankin community was high man again with the most profit per hen, he and Mr. R. N. Richards of McAdoo having obtained 20.7 and 20 eggs per hen respectively.

Mr. R. N. Richards' flock of 103 white leghorns made a profit of $11.01 above feed costs, which is more than twice what his allotment would have been had he been dependent on R. F. C. fund for maintenance.

ESPUELA CLUB NEWS

The club met with Mrs. W. E. Ball with six present. Miss Pratt gave an interesting talk on bed room demonstration. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Crockett, May 4th. The program will be on the need of a foundation pattern.

REV. GUY N. WOODS

Who will do the preaching for the revival at the Church of Christ beginning with the eleven o'clock services Sunday morning. The meeting will continue all through next week. The singing will be in charge of local people. The church extends an invitation to the public to attend these services.

South Plains Good Roads Meeting Friday

Persons who are interested in good roads for West Texas should attend the South Plains Good Roads Association meeting in Lubbock Friday. This meeting will be held in the Hilton Hotel at 2:30 in the afternoon, and was called by President P. B. Ralls.

There is no federal aid available at this time to promote good roads building. There is a well-defined movement in the east where many roads have been built, to keep Congress from making any appropriations for aid with which to build roads. The government is voting millions of dollars for relief work in on which to build levees, but we have the east in the form of reforestation work, but we have no such work in this country. We have no streams, many miles of territory that should be reached with good roads. It is time for the people of the West to be alert to their opportunities in regard to aid for their highways. It is hoped that the federal government will go forward but there might be a change in another direction.

NEW BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

There have been three new volumes added to Spur Library this week. They are "The Drift Fence" and "Robbers Roost" by Zane Grey, and "Doomed to Devils Island" by Blair Niles. These volumes are recommended to the people and the public are asked to avail themselves of the opportunity of reading them.

McADOO MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Womans Missionary Society met with Mrs. C. W. Parmenter on April 24th, to complete the study of "Lady Fourth Daughter," which has been taught by Mrs. P. E. Gollihar.

The Society decided to sponsor a "quilt show" and "food sale" at McAdoo on May 6th. Everyone is urged to enter quilts both antique and unique. There will be a cash prize for the best quilt of each division. Each person visiting the show will be given a chance at the quilt to be given away on that day.

County Committee Plans Campaign

The Democratic County Executive Committee met at Dickens Monday morning and planned the campaign to raise Dickens County quota of $149.10, as part of the deficit of the Democratic party last November.

The committee asked that each precinct chairman collect ten cents from each Democratic voter in his precinct. In this way it is hoped that Dickens County may raise their part 100% without any one voter being forced to pay very heavily. The campaign will end Monday, May 8. A list of those contributing will be printed and sent to National headquarters at the end of the drive. See your precinct chairman and pay your part in the Roosevelt-Garner victory.

The committee endorsed the policies of President Roosevelt and ordered Secretary Arthur to write the President of same.

A resolution was passed asking that the Commissioners Court of Dickens County to abolish two voting precincts at Spur, leaving the town divided into two precincts with Burlington Avenue as the dividing line and that the voting boxes of these two precincts be located in the business district of Spur. Chairman Robt. Nickels was authorized to present the resolution to the Commissioners Court at its next meeting and explain why the Committee took this action.

Vacancies on the committee were filled as follows: Precinct 1, Dickens, Z. W. Fowler; Precinct 9, Croton, Roy Cunningham; Precinct 17, Prairie Chapel, C. A. Martin.

The County Committee is now composed as follows: Chairman, Robt. Nickels, McAdoo; O. C. Arthur, Secretary, Dickens;

SIXTH HEMINGWAY NOVEL IS FIRST TO BE SCREENED

Although it is the first of his novels to reach the screen, "A Farewell to Arms," Ernest Hemingway's best seller, which comes to the Palace Theatre Sunday, with Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper in starring roles and Adolphe Menjou at the head of the supporting cast, is the sixth published book.

Hemingway won first recognition with his novel "The Sun Also Rises." He had previously however, published "Three Stories and Ten Poems," "In Our Time," "The Torrents of Spring," and "Men Without Women." His latest book is on the new lists.

In 1929, "Death in the Afternoon," published in book form, Hemingway in addition to the works he has written numerous short stories for magazines.

The screen version of "A Farewell to Arms" follows his novel closely. Miss Hayes plays the role of Catherine Barkley, the English nurse. Cooper is the young American, an officer in the Italian ambulance corps. Menjou is Rinaldi, his war-brother.

The devastating love which develops between the American and the English girl reaches its climax in the picture as in the novel, in the hospital, when their child is born.

The picture was directed by Frank Borzage, whose "Seventh Heaven" won several awards as "year's best" a few months before the publication of "A Farewell to Arms."

This picture will be shown at the regular Saturday Nite Prevue, Sunday and Monday Matinee and Monday night.

BELIEVES IN HIS PRODUCT

J. O. Morris, of McAdoo, was in our city Saturday advertising some very fine cotton seed. Mr. Morris is a progressive farmer and believes in planting good seed in every line because he has found it pays. He stated that he planted twelve bushels of this cotton seed and grew twelve bales of cotton. The twelve bushels planted 24 acres which produced 26 bales. See his advertisement elsewhere about this cotton seed.

Meeting At Church of Christ

A series of meetings will begin at the Church of Christ on Sunday, April 30, and continue for one week. The church has arranged with Rev. Woods of Post, to do the preaching during this revival. The song service will be in charge of local people. The church extends a cordial invitation to everybody to attend these services.

Dickens School To Remain Independent

In the election last Saturday the citizens of Dickens school district voted to remain independent. The maining an independent district or question had arisen in regard to re-voting to become a common school district. A petition for an election was presented and the election called. The vote was 85 for remaining an independent district to 23 for becoming a common school district.

Dickens has one of the best schools in the west, and there is usually harmony among the people. When anything comes up, a vote is taken and all abide by the majority vote.

Pocket Gopher and Rat Control

In cooperation with the U. S. Biological Survey demonstrations were given in pocket gopher control in alfalfa fields, lawns and the golf course, in all of which places gophers become quite a menace. Control measures consist of locating runs and the use of traps in each end of the run. The best time for trapping is following a rain, when the mounds are freshly thrown up however, Paul Lowe, of Spur, finds that they may be trapped any time if you work at the job. He caught eight in a short time with 4 traps. The traps are of special design and may be secured from the county agent.

A demonstration in rat control at the Experiment Station showed that control can be effected by the use of bait made of salmon and red squill in the proportion of one ounce of red squill to one pound of salmon. The poison is laced in paper bags and placed in the runs. Pre-baiting should be done for a night or two to see if rats will eat the bait, then the poison mixed and put out, and follow up with a change of bait if any rats are left.

LAYMENS DAY AT RED MUD

We will observe Layman day at Red Mud next Sunday, April 30, W. O. Sargent, of Weinert, one of the Associate Lay Leaders of Stamford District, will be with us and make a talk at the morning hour.

Lunch will be served on the ground. The afternoon will be given over to George S. Link and others. We want you to bring your lunch, come and take part with us. We urge all church members to attend regardless of your faith and order. It will do you good. Come, let us have a good time together. We are looking for you, so don't disappoint us.

FEEDERS' DAY AT THE SPUR EXPERIMENT FARM, FRIDAY, MAY 5

Friday, May 5, has been designated as "Feeder's Day" at the Spur Experiment Station. Eighty-five head of steer yearlings have been on feeds for about 160 days. These feeds have been arranged in various mixtures, and classes, which are expected to show various results, or a means of determining different results. The economical side of the feeding has been recorded along with the feeds. The Station has some very interesting figures which should demand the attention of the farmers of Dickens County, and it is hoped and urged that a great number of farmers will be present on Feeder's Day and learn something about these feeds.

All feeds being used are home produced—grown in Spur country.

The object of this feeding experiment station is to secure additional information on five pertinent feeding problems of Texas as follows:

- (1) Which is the best variety of bundle feed?
- (2) Does it pay to grind feed for yearling steers?
- (3) Can cottonseed be profitably substituted for cotton seed meal in the fattening ration.
- (4) Is trench silage more profitable in the ration than cured bundle feed?
- (5) Is it profitable to add oyster shell flour to the ration in fattening steers?

All of these tests will close on the morning feeding of May 3. The Feeder's Day will be held May 5. All visitors will have an opportunity to secure the correct information on Feeder's Day. It is the hope of the Station that a great number of farmers will be present on that day.

Advance reports from all sections of West Texas indicate that the attendance at Feeder's Day this year will surpass the number present last year. The Plains country, especially that South and West of Lubbock, is becoming an important feeding section at a rapid pace. Thousands of cattle are being fed in those sections this year.

You are asked to watch for the outline of feeds for different pens which will be published next week in time for you to have a copy before you go to the Feeder's Day exhibits. Watch for this and study them, then go to the Experiment Station and learn the results. Be at the Feeder's Day exhibits should be the slogan of every farmer.

Next Monday will be first Monday and trades day in Spur. The merchants of the town have secured a very fine entertainer to give the people a free program at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

How about that man who can throw his voice and make it appear that he is speaking right by you when he may be on the other side of the street? Did you ever see it done? Be in Spur next Monday and watch the man who throws his voice. He is a real ventriloquist, and you will miss a very amusing program if you are not here. The merchants of Spur have brought this man to town for your entertainment. Get here early and get the trading done and be ready when the megaphone announces the beginning of the program.

Yes, there is another performance you will want to see. That will be the blind-folded man driving an automobile down the streets of Spur. You ask how he can see if he is blind-folded? Well, he has a way of doing it and none of us know the trick. But it will be a novelty we do not see very often. Don't miss this opportunity Monday.

Bring in those things you want to swap to your neighbor and have a great day trading. This will help you get along and will help your neighbor, too. The very thing you have and cannot use may be the very article your neighbor is needing. Give him an opportunity to get it. You may want and need what he does not need. Get together at Spur Monday and have a neighborly swap. And you don't want will enjoy the laughs.

To miss the program Monday for you "Mysterious Sights" will keep you wondering what will be done next, and you will appreciate his clever jokes and puns. You will enjoy this short but entertaining program and you will regret if you miss one minute of it.

Read the full page advertisement and get the names of the business firms who are making it possible for you to enjoy this entertainment. They are your friends who want you to enjoy the day, and it is hoped you will be here. Come, bring the children and have a great time.

Opens Drug Store At McAdoo

Marshall Formby was in our city Monday and stated he had opened a small drug store in McAdoo last Saturday. Mr. Formby has his business located in the post office building and stated he has a very good patronage. He has installed a fountain and states that he will keep ice cream throughout the summer.

Mr. Formby is a young man of sterling integrity and has all the characteristics of a business man. He is a college graduate and has spent most of his life at McAdoo. Opening a business in the community where he is known and receiving a good patronage is very good evidence of the esteem in which he is held.

ANOTHER STUDENT TAKES HONORS

In the original report of the Inter-scholastic League District Meet at Lubbock, the name of Miss Anita Harkey was omitted. Miss Harkey won second honors in girls declamation. She won second honors in the county contest. Miss Mary Jo Collier won first honors in the county and could not go to the district meeting. Miss Harkey represented the county in a very able manner at Lubbock and is to be commended for her effort.

NOW IS THE TIME

If you are going to invest in the stock market you would, of course, watch the substantial stocks and buy at the lowest price quoted, expecting to profit by the rising market.

So it is with young people in making their plans for their future. Now while we are, as the economists say, at the bottom of this depression, there is only one logical direction to go and that is upward. Wouldn't it be the sensible thing to prepare so that when the wheels of industry do start to humming you will be ready to take advantage of the opportunity that seems to face you?

With good high school training supplemented by good business training, you will have something readily marketable that will place you far in the lead of the unprepared or the ones with only a general education. Surely this is the day of specialization and business offers quicker rewards than almost anything at this time. President Roosevelt is inaugurating some sound legislation which will, no doubt, stimulate business and make for better times.

Why not write Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, Tyler, Texas, for their catalog and find out how easily you can get a business training and what it will mean to you?

M. E. CONFERENCE STAMFORD DISTRICT OPPOSES LIQUOR

Below is a report of the Board of Lay Activities of the Stamford District Conference of the Methodist Church which states the attitude of that body relative to the repeal of the 18th Amendment and the return of intoxicating liquors. The report was adopted recently by the board, and signed by C. B. Breedlove, chairman, and G. H. Jones, secretary of the board. The report is being sent to the press over the caption of J. C. Mann who is the conference secretary.

It is as follows:
We have been brought face to face with the strating realization that we must again meet that hideous monster the liquor traffic. Form time immemorial our fathers battled this enemy, finally routing it from American soil more than a dozen years ago. As soon as this fetter was removed, progress reached a rate far beyond the wildest expectations. Now, repeal of the eighteenth amendment, would mean the arrest of all human progress. There is not one good thing to be said for liquor. The economist, the scientist, the psychologist, the minister, these and all others say liquor has no good qualities. All its effects are evil. It cannot be regulated for the same reason that the Devil cannot be regulated. Six months ago the cry of the liquor crowd was "Repeal the national prohibition and let the states regulate the matter." Now, within our very own state, our faithful members of the legislature are fighting to the last ditch to prevent the state returning to the local option theory. In the very near future we shall have to fight to prevent open saloons in all parts of Texas.

We denounce the call for revenue from beer and refuse to surrender the blood of our children for the satiation of the appetites of the maws of the manufacturers and dealers in liquor. Our fathers and mothers gave their lives to protect us and we here and now pledge our lives to protect our children and the millions yet unborn. There can be only one reason for favoring the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, that of greed for gold. We refuse to crucify American civilization on the cross of gold.

The advocates of repeal have cried "political preachers" and tried to scourge our faithful pastors from the battle, but thanks be unto God, they have refused to be intimidated. We hereby express to them our undying gratitude for their courage and fortitude. This question was among men long before politics in the modern sense came into existence. We refuse to allow the politician to transfer the question from the moral field to one of politics. To this cause we pledge our loyal devotion and pledge ourselves that liquor shall not pass.

Our national Congress has betrayed us in legalizing beer and already one half the members of the state Senate have voted in committee to set next November the seventh as the day upon which to elect delegates to a state convention to decide how Texas stands on the question of national repeal, thus hoping to rush the vote and win before we have time to organize for the fray. The liquor crowd is offering no quarter, nor could it be trusted if it should. We here and now raise the battle cry and hoist the banner of righteousness and shall give no quarter until the damnable stuff is driven out of existence. We pledge ourselves to support for public office no man or woman who seeks to gain power to legalize liquor or to nullify in any way the victory which was won at the cost of the blood of our mothers. The soul of America is wrapped up in the eighteenth amendment and we refuse to see it dismembered. "On with the battle."

J. C. Mann, Conference Secretary.

THE STORE OF LITTLE PROFIT

May 1st

The market in Cotton Goods and Cotton Products is in a turmoil. Most manufacturers have withdrawn or raised prices, and adopted a waiting policy until the enactment of the Farm Bill, and the 30 hour a week law which seems to be certain of passing. It appears that increased Prices are certain. The increase due to the 30 hour law can be avoided by buying your needs right now, but the Farm Bill as we understand it, will add a tax that will be retroactive. It is not our object to urge anyone to buy or anticipate your wants, but you know the situation and can use your own judgment.

Provided the Farm Bill is enacted and enforced as it stands, staples will be increased 40 to 70 per cent, and from the present interpretation the retailer will be given 30 days to liquidate his stock before the tax would apply on his inventory. There is no way the tax can be avoided.

Wont you please buy your dry goods now while we have the lowest prices of all time; our next $ Days will show a larger increase in prices. Tom F. Hunter Delivers Address

If an individual operated his business as that of our state is operated he would surely bankrupt. The business of our government is comparable with that of a big corporation. Its organization should be as carefully formed; its assigned duties should be cautiously placed.

Austin is now over-run with the public relation men (lobbyists) of the big corporations. The talent of the nation, specialized in every field of endeavor, by fair play and by deviating from the truth, seeking special privilege and evading just tax assessments, while the over-worked legislator, unaided by any governmental agency grapples with questions with which he has but little information and no paid counsel, is sufficient evidence that our state government should be re-organized that responsibility be well-placed.

The 42nd. Legislature, realizing this need and the need of economy, created a joint committee on re-organization and economy. The report contains a wealth of information. This bill would reorganize the school system and re-group the administrative departments into 19 departments. The bill will not pass in its entirety. If, though, the committee can procure a reorganization of the governmental agencies as recommended and succeed in its efforts to have created one central board of education, with broad powers over institutions of higher learning, it will have done the state a great service.

Our state government can not be administered economically or efficiently through 131 un-related units. The plan to reduce governmental agencies to 19 related units is a constructive move and could only be improved by a further reduction, with their activities coordinated for a greater central authority.

The work of the Legislature, in the re-organization, can be simplified and I believe, greater good accomplished, if the joint committee report is followed in the main, with this change in the plan for administration:

Permit the Board of Pardons to remain as is, with the exception that they should be appointed at the will of the Governor. If they are not in harmony, they fail in their purpose. The central board of education should be created with broad powers. The State Auditor should have a separate department. The remainder of the functions of government can be more economically administered and better co-ordinated if a Board of Public Relations with five members be created and the duties of the other departments discussed by the committee be transferred to this Board. Let the Act provide for the abolition of all statutory created Boards, Commissions and Bureaus and by resolution for constitutional amendments, the abolition of the elective offices as recommended by the committee. The various subdivisions of government so ably made by the committee would be headed by executive secretaries, employed by the Board. All Boards suggested by the committee, except the Board of Education, would be dispensed with. The functions assigned in the report to these would be performed by the Cabinet; but transferred to the Board of Public Relations immediately; the duties and functions of constitutionally-created boards and departments as recommended by constitutional a-mentment.

 The five members should be employed by, and at the will of the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Legislature might prescribe proper qualifications and restrictions for the personnel of these five managers; all should have had practical experience in governmental administration. Having co-ordinated, then the state business, as it is co-ordinated in all successful business, the Legislature, and not the Governor, should elect and employ a State Auditor and efficiency expert, that from a different source a proper check may be kept. It is not a safe policy to permit the ones upon whom the responsibility of administration rests to designate the person that shall check their transactions. If the Auditor is not to be elected by the Legislature, then he should be appointed by the Attorney-General, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Every elector in Texas, when he goes to the polls, has well-fixed in his mind for whom he should cast his ballot for Governor or for Attorney General. He may make a mistake in his determination, tho if he does, it is his mistake, and if the election of any Governor be a mistake, then it is a mistake made by a majority of the people of the state, in a matter in which they are always partially advised. Then upon that man selected should be placed the great responsibility of all matters of Public Relation. The Board, when created and employed, would organize and allocate to their several members, functions of government in which they are better equipped to administer. Each member would directly administer the functions assigned to him. In matters of appeal or of dispute, the Board as a whole would sit. Collectively, they would constitute the Governor's Cabinet and Governor's advisors. They would be authorized from time to time to improve upon the matter and means of the administration of all functions of government; budgeting would be simplified in that practically all departments would be brought together. We would have no more conditions, as we have had, of departments asking money to spend without being charged with its procurement. The great constructive thought of the committee could thus be more efficiently put into practice, and without the Legislature, in its short time in session, being required to assign in detail the duties of the many functions. The ultimate cost of the administration should not exceed 60% of the present cost. Inefficient members could be removed without the necessity of evidence sufficient for impeachment.

The Oil Industry And Texas

Texas, with the largest oil fields the world has ever known, has greater financial interest in the oil situation than have all other states combined, and in a series of articles to follow it is proposed to present the facts as they ultimately affect the general public interest, without respect to whether the contending factions in the industry win or lose in the struggle now being brought to a National issue.

President Roosevelt's "New Deal" proposes legislation divorcing oil pipe lines from the ownership of the integrated oil companies.
 Integrated oil companies are those which own oil producing properties, pipe lines, refineries, and retail distributing facilities and filling stations.
 In the order of their importance, these integrated companies, frequently called "major companies" are:
 The Standard Oil Companies, and their subsidiaries, Rockefeller controlled.
 The Shell Companies, British-controlled.
 The Gulf Companies, controlled by the Mellon family.
 The Consolidated Oil Co., controlled by H. F. Sinclair.
 Cities Service Companies, controlled by the Dawes family.
 Sun Oil Company, dominated by the Pews.

In the earlier days of the development of Texas' oil fields, the major companies drove their pipe lines to newly discovered fields independent of any legal restriction.
 Then, even as now, the majors contend fiercely with one another for entry into adequately proven new fields in an effort to control the output of as many wells as possible and to buy oil at the lowest price.
 A single pipe line serving a field gives the owners of the line two advantages—control of the output, and the power to name the price paid for the oil.
 Advent of another pipeline means competition for connections to wells and competitive prices for the oil.
 But it is rare that a price change by one company is not quickly followed by others.
 As pipe lines increased in number and territory served, producers without pipe lines grew restive over having only one buyer for their oil, who fixed the price paid and the amount purchased and eventually State and National Legislation was enacted making the pipe lines common carriers.

Under such laws the pipe lines are supposed to receive and deliver shipments of crude oil for any producer.
 Interstate shipments, however, are limited by the pipe lines to movements of not less than 100,000 barrels at one time from one shipper to one destination, the effect of this ruling being practically to nullify the common carrier function.

Intrastate shipments are governed by less drastic requirements of the carriers, due to Texas regulations, but the old practices still prevail to such an extent that few producers are able to market their oil to any but the pipe line to which their well was originally connected.

These were the conditions when the famous Seminole pool in Southern Oklahoma promised, in 1926, to flood the country with an un-needed supply of crude oil.
 All of the important pipe line companies laid their knees to this, then the largest and most productive field in the history of American oil.

The production from Seminole quickly outstripped all capacity to transport. Soon producers favorably situated with respect to transportation facilities were moving their oil while surrounding properties were unable to move any.

This situation became critical, and finally, by mutual agreement, an umpire was appointed, whose duty it was to allocate to the various producers the amount of oil they were permitted to run.

This was "Proration" born.
 Before the limits of the Seminole field were fairly defined, the highly prolific Oklahoma City field was discovered and the Seminole situation was duplicated.

To make legally effective the Seminole plan of allocation of production, laws were passed by the Oklahoma Legislature giving the Corporation Commission power to "Prorate" production in order to prevent "physical waste."

Infractions of these laws and inability of the Commission to enforce them led to the Governor of Oklahoma placing the field under martial law.

Meanwhile, the most famous gusher field of history was discovered in East Texas, where competitive production brought discord and dissension between producers, pipe lines and the law enforcement body of Texas—the Railroad Commission. In Texas, as in Oklahoma, the National Guard was employed to aid in enforcing the proration regulations adopted by the Commission. But the East Texas field like an unleashed giant gone mad, outgrew and engulfed the National Guard and the Railroad Commission and the State Legislature itself.

Producers with wells capable of flowing tens of thousands of barrels of oil daily, seeing a fortune within their grasp, grew dissatisfied over regulations allowing them to produce only a few barrels daily.

Legions of law suits ensued. Lawyers in many cases were making more money than their clients were getting from their oil wells. Prices for oil declined to almost nothing. At this critical stage the major companies agreed amongst each other to establish a higher, stabilized price if all producers would limit their output in accord with Commission requirements.

Pence temporarily prevailed. Oil went up to $1.00 per barrel, but a higher price resulted only in intensifying dissatisfaction. Orders of the Railroad Commission were declared illegal by the Federal Courts and some wells—many in fact—were opened to the limit of transportation and storage facilities.

New proration orders were issued. Again the Federal Courts declared them illegal and a fresh outburst of "illegal" production followed; a third effort, with the same consequences, brings us to the time when President Roosevelt requested his Secretary of the Interior, H. L. Ickes, to call a conference of the oil States' Governors to meet on March 27, 1933, in Washington to discuss the complexities of the situation.

SIDELIGHTS

BY MARVIN JONES, MEMBER OF CONGRESS FROM TEXAS

Everyone seems to feel that the new administration is off to a good start. This is preeminently a time for action and the President is certainly a man of action.

The Congress has voted him broad powers along many lines. No doubt other powers will be granted to him in his effort to work out of the emergency with which the country is faced.

He is not only endeavoring to secure essential legislation and to carry out the program which he has in mind, but he is trying in every way possible to reduce the expenses of government in accordance with his pre-election pledges. Many bureaus have been abolished and others have been merged in such a way that they did away with the over-lapping activities.

I have been called into conference with other members a number of times at the White House, and we have all been amazed at the fine knowledge the President has of the entire situation as well as his ability to stand the strain of long hours of continuous work. He works day and night, and seems to remain in good health and in good spirits at all times.

It was my privilege to be assigned the task of introducing the President's farm mortgage refinancing bill and of handling the same in its passage through the House. It was passed on April 13 by the record vote of 387 to 12.

I regard the farm mortgage situation as one of the most pressing problems of the hour, and I hope the Senate may see fit to pass the bill at an early date, either separately or as a part of the general farm bill to which it has been attached.

The establishment of credit facilities, the adjustment of trade barriers which are discriminatory against agriculture, and the adjustment of trade barriers in the interests of markets are also important steps in the farm program. I hope that all of these may be worked out.

For some time a number of us have been urging that the currency be liberalized in such a way as to make the dollar more truly a measure of value. Several methods have been suggested. The result of the adoption of any of these measures would mean an advance in commodity prices. It seems to me an increase in the price level in farm and other commodities is essential to national recovery.

be in the interest of the entire country.

We are in a great national emergency which calls for discarding of selfish interests in an effort to save our institutions. For this reason I expect to continue to support the President in the program which he has planned.

I am glad we have a man in the White House who is unafraid, who is willing to assume responsibility and who has a program. The American people are thrilling with a new hope under his leadership.

I have every faith that he will lead us forward into the full promise of better times and happier conditions.

I am convinced that a controlled expansion of the currency will not only materially increase farm prices but that it is essential to complete national recovery. The dollar is supposed to be a measure of value—a medium of exchange.

We often speak of using dollars to purchase commodities. That depends upon which side of the bargain the trader is located. One man uses money to purchase wheat. The farmer uses wheat to purchase money. When one borrows money to be repaid in the future, it is essential to fairness that the value of that dollar remain substantially the same, measured in terms of the general commodity price level.

Here is where the hitch comes. Translated into farm commodities, the dollar is worth twice what it was worth a few years ago. The private debts of America run into staggering billions. It is impossible to pay these debts with the increased value of today. Yet the obligation rests not only upon the farmer, but upon other producers and upon manufacturers to pay these debts with greatly appreciated dollars. This is responsible for a great deal of the grief and stagnation from which the country has been suffering.

The strange part about this whole situation is that the debts we owe, we owe to each other. Not a dollar is owed abroad. Yet, both agriculture and commerce have been chained by the high priced dollar—and almost destroyed.

The credit of the country has been so greatly contracted that the only practical way to effect relief is thru an adequate supply of money on a sound basis.

Currency and credit are like other commodities. When they are plentiful they are low in price. When they are scarce they are high in price.

Of course, no one wants printing press money. On the other hand, no thinking person wants money so high priced that it becomes a hindrance rather than an aid to commerce and exchange.

Foreign countries have, by revaluing their unit of money on a lower basis, practically destroyed the market of the surplus farm products of America.

Any expansion should be properly controlled. Germany went to the extreme by increasing the volume of currency to such an extent as to practically cancel all debts. This was her deliberate purpose. For the last three years we have been going to the other extreme by contracting currency and credit to such an extent as to make payment of debts practically impossible. France, on the other hand, took the middle position, revaluing the franc on such a basis as to make payments of debts possible and yet at the same time increasing to a reasonable degree the farm and general commodity price level.

Through a reasonable increase in the volume of currency, which can be kept on a sound basis, the prices of farm commodities can be materially increased, debts can be paid and conditions restored.

Money is the life's blood of the nation. One might have a perfect body, but if he had only half enough blood he would suffer torture. On the other hand if he had too much blood he might suffer from high blood pressure. If he has a sufficient amount of blood his health conditions become ideal.

Properly controlled expansion of currency merely means restoration of the normal flow of commerce and trade—a restoration of commodity prices to a point where they would be fair to everyone. Such a step is essential to the proper working out of the different steps in the President's program for national recovery.

The action of the President in approving a amendment granting authority to restore the currency to a proper basis has had a very fine effect on the general commodity price level.

The Speaker has designated me as amendment when it comes out to the one of the conferees to consider this House. I am in hearty accord with its purpose and expect to urge early adoption by the House. I believe it will do more to restore confidence and bring back prosperity than any one thing.

County Home Demonstration Club News

CLARA PRATT
 County Home Demonstration Agent

DEMONSTRATOR IS PLEASED WITH HER YARD

"We like our yard better every day. We are so happy over it. All the plants we put out are living and we are hoping we can keep them growing. The spirea bloomed profusely when it had been set out only about a month. I'm glad we enlarged the lawn and put out more trees; the grass in the new lawn is doing nicely," says Mrs. M. D. Ivey, yard improvement demonstrator in the Spur home demonstration club.

"The first thing we did was to have the home demonstration agent draw a planting plan for our yard. We followed the plan in putting out trees, foundation plantings and grass. We used privet, evergreens and flowering shrubs in the foundation plantings. Foundation plantings are the plantings around the base of the house to break the harsh angles and corners and make the house blend into its surroundings. We removed three mulberry trees that dotted the lawn, making it appear smaller than it was; then we removed the privet hedge along the drive. That added spaciousness to the lawn too."

"We have enjoyed learning about the new plants we have used and are looking forward to their first blooms with great anticipation," she finished.

Quoting from Miss Inez Derryberry, who was Extension Specialist in Landscape gardening, "Every farm home in Texas can be made lovely with a little time and effort given to it. 'Rest, peace and quiet, a farm home surrounded by a green expanse of well-sodded lawn, a background of lovely trees, foundation plantings of shrubs that gracefully tie the house into the surroundings—this is what landscape gardening can do for a home. With the unlimited amount of space, good soil, and native shrubs which Texas farm people have, there is ample opportunity for all to have a lovely farm home," says Miss Derryberry in her bulletin, "Beautifying County Homes."

ENTHUSIASM FOR CLOTHES CLOSETS SPREADS

"My clothes closet resulted in two others being built," said Mrs. Clark Forbis, wardrobe demonstrator for the Chandler home demonstration club. "The man who built my closet went home and built one for his wife, and now has finished one for my sister-in-law. I believe our club is going to be one-hundred per cent on building or improving the clothes closets. That is what we are working for," she added with club pride.

With the 4-H and home demonstration clubs working toward the goal of improved clothes closets, it is quite the style to have a new closet or to put a hanging rod or shelves or hat stands and shoe racks in the old closet. Are you in style?

GIRLS CONTINUE TO WORK ON BED ROOMS

"I don't see how we got along with out the clothes closet before we built it, and to think that it cost only twenty-five cents too," is the comment of Mrs. C. W. Taylor, mother of Wanda, who is bed room demonstrator for the Dickens 4-H club.

Besides building a closet, which provides storage space for the whole family's clothes, Wanda has given her bed room furniture a new coat of paint and plans to paper the walls and stain the floor.

The county contest in the bed room work for the girls ends the last of May, when the girls rooms are scored a second time. The girl making the greatest improvement in proportion to the money expended will enter the District contest and will receive a trip to the short course in July.

Chevrolet to Present Exhibit At Chicago

Installation of equipment for the assembly of automobiles at "A Century of Progress Exposition" at Chicago has already been started by the Chevrolet Motor Company, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager announced today.

Complete installation will effected well in advance of the scheduled opening of the 1933 World's Fair around June 1, Mr. Knudsen said, assuring visitors that they will be able to see an automobile built up from the bare frame to the completed car.

A balcony seven feet above the assembly line, and erected in circular form so that visitors may walk completely around the line and watch every operation in the building of a modern automobile has been provided, Mr. Knudsen said.

Machinery is identical with that used in Chevrolet's eight other assembly plants except that the conventional overhead conveyers will be replaced by floor type conveyors to bring parts to the desired place along the line. Machines will be finished in silver with green trim, and will be manned by about 150 workers in white uniforms.

Production of 25 or 30 cars a day is planned. Two body types—coaches and sedans—will be built on the Master Chevrolet wheelbase. Regular inspection posts will check every operation along the line, and the cars will be driven out under their own power, tested, put through final inspection and may be purchased on the spot and driven home by their new owner.

H. L. Wright has been named manager of the assembly plant by Mr. Knudsen and is to remain in that capacity for the duration of the World's Fair. Mr. Wright has been with Chevrolet eleven years and for eight years served as manager of the assembly plant Chevrolet formerly operated at Janesville, Wisconsin.

rolet eleven years and for eight years served as manager of the assembly plant Chevrolet formerly operated at Janesville, Wisconsin.

Mr. Wright began the installation of equipment March 20 and expects to have the line completed and ready for testing by the end of April.

Chevrolet is the only company which will operate an automobile assembly line at the Fair, Mr. Knudsen said.

GAS RATE REDUCTION THREATENED

If the new Natural Resource Commission is created, as planned by House Bill No. 213 in the legislature now, all the work done toward reduction of gas rates by the Railroad Commission of Texas will be lost. There is no saving clause in the bill that would carry over this work from the hands of the Railroad Commission and place it in the hands of the Natural Resource Commission.

The Railroad Commission is now in the trial of the case to reduce the municipal gate rate on natural gas for 256 cities and towns of Texas served by the Lone Star Gas Company. The Commission has made an appraisal and valuation of the Lone Star for this purpose. The engineering work took one year. The case has been on trial continuously for three months.

The Railroad Commission has made real headway in this important matter. If authority is taken from it by the creation of a new Natural Resource Commission all the good work will be lost. The people will be defeated in their hope for early gas rate reduction.

No wonder the big utility companies want to get rid of the Railroad Commission. It is making too much trouble for the utilities. An amendment in the way of a graduated tax was tacked on to the bill, which will cost the companies $10,000,000 a year, and yet they are willing to pay this price in order to get their industry away from the supervision of the Railroad Commission and into the hands of a new Commission. This means that it would be a good proposition for the utility companies. And a good business proposition of this magnitude for the utility companies would not be a good business proposition for the people.

For absolute proof a record of birth should be on file with the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health. The Registration Area is that part of the United States where, according to the government test, at least ninety per cent of all births and deaths are recorded with the proper officials. Texas is the only state that is not in this area and the present check by the government is for the purpose of finding out whether or not Texas should be admitted.

To secure this recognition and be placed on a par with other states it will be necessary for each person to see that any death or birth occurring in their family during the past year has been filed with the local registrar and that he has sent the report on to the state office. This check is now in progress and it is necessary that the records be sent in at once.

The proper registration of births and deaths is of the greatest importance not only to the individual but also to the public at large. A birth certificate will prove right to inheritance, citizenship, legitimacy, school age, legal age for marriage, right to vote, right to hold public office, age for military service, nationality in foreign countries and qualifications for jury service. They are also used in securing passports and determining the birth rate in states, counties and cities.

No civilized community should allow a human being to die and be buried without an official record being made of the fact. Such records are indispensable in determining the cause of death, relative death rates, ratio of deaths to births, duration of life, rates of insurance and relative healthfulness of different states and localities. They are necessary in proving

SPUR MUTUAL OFFERS

WHY

A NEW DEAL

For twelve years Spur Mutual has served the people by giving them protection for less, and it is better prepared NOW than ever before. We are turning the corner, and Spur Mutual will help you turn that corner with greater safety.

It isn't the price you pay, but the service you get that concerns you most. When you buy protection, promptness is the main factor. Two things enter into the minds of people when considering buying insurance—price and quality. The price of Spur Mutual is low; the quality of Spur Mutual is the highest that can be secured in the State of Texas. The price: A 1500-dollar policy for the past twelve years has cost on an average of less than $17.00 per year. The quality: In ninety-five per cent of the cases a check in full has been delivered to the beneficiary before the funeral was held. Again, Spur Mutual has never had a law-suit.

ENDORSEMENT

Spur, Texas, January 17, 1933.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

The Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association, of Spur, Texas, under the management of Mr. Fred C. Haile, has an enviable reputation for promptitude in the payment of its claims, and in its general business relationship with the public. It seems to be especially well managed. It has been in existence for a sufficient length of time, some eleven years, to test its stability and worth. Those in this territory desiring life insurance, the value of which both for protection and credit is but further emphasized under these present conditions, would do well to consider the advantages which this association is offering.

Yours truly,

CLIFFORD B. JONES

CBJ:H Mgr. S. M. Swenson & Sons.

ENDORSEMENT

Spur, Texas, January 16, 1933.

TO ANYONE WHO MAY BE INTERESTED:—

Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association has been in operation about eleven years, and has paid every death claim promptly. Its directors are the very best men in our town, and Mr. Fred C. Haile, who carries on this business is a fellow far above the average in ability, is energetic, and a fellow of real vision.

This Association has at all times been in good financial condition, and is now.

The territory of Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association covers seventeen counties in the heart of West Texas. As you know, a mutual life insurance association is inspected by a representative of the State Insurance Department, and the management of the Association is bonded to protect the policy holders from any possible fraudulent use of funds.

Mr. Haile tells me that he has an ambition to develop this organization so that it will function in every county in his district just as it is doing in this county, and has done for the past eleven years. A mutual life insurance association is simply protection, but there is no better insurance while it is in force, and the Spur Mutual has one of the best records, if not the best, in Texas. Usually a check is handed or mailed to the beneficiary within twenty-four hours of the death of a member.

Yours very respectfully,

GEO. S. LINK

GSL:DK Mgr. Bryant-Link Co.

ENDORSEMENT

Spur, Texas, April 25, 1933

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

It is always a pleasure to speak a good word for the Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association of Spur, Texas, under the able management of Mr. Fred C. Haile. It has been thoroughly tried and tested during the past few months and has not been found wanting. The prompt and efficient manner in which these claims were paid is a source of a great deal of satisfaction to me, as a policy holder.

The importance of a reasonable amount of insurance is unquestioned.

This is a home institution and is filling a long felt need in a prompt and efficient manner and deserves the support of those seeking good insurance at a reasonable rate.

Yours very truly,

W. B. LEE

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS SOLICITED

The Bureau of Census at Washington is asking people to see that all births and deaths are recorded. Texas is the only State that is not included in the Federal Registration Area, see that it is registered; when some need to do is, when a child is born, and the Bureau of Census is very anxious that we get lined up. All we friend passes away, that the death be registered. This does not cost anything, and it will mean much to our government in the future.

Anyone can make the registrations. All you have to do is ask the postmaster for a birth registration card. This is a little green card which has a place for the name of the child, race, date of birth, month, day and address of parents. If it is a death year, county and state, and name you request a death registration card. When these cards are filled out, you drop them in the postoffice, and they of Census and are postpaid. Let's be ready addressed to the Director help our government in this work.

THINKS PEOPLE ARE MAKING A MISTAKE

George Coury and son, merchants at Rotan, were in our city Monday attending to business matters. Mr. Coury stated that he feels that the people are making a great mistake in patronizing the truck lines in Texas and elsewhere and taking the business away from the railroads. He said that no truck line has ever gone into a country before that country developed while railroads all over the west have been built without even the promise of securing any business.

He stated that when a railroad built into any town or community, that the company buys its own roadbed and builds its own road at its own expense. Then after that the railroad company pays taxes on that road and still suffers the expense of keeping up the line. The truck lines use the roads the people have built, taxing these roads with heavy loads which cuts them out and causes the people extra expense.

He stated that many times you drive up behind a big truck and you honk, honk, honk a dozen times and then many times the truck will not give over and give you an opportunity to pass. Then if you attempt to pass and go into the ditch, wreck your car, or endure other damage, it is always your fault and not the fault of the big truck.

He stated that if people continued to patronize the truck lines that parallel the railroads, that it will not be many years until the railroads will have to suspend operation on those lines. Then he stated that the people will have to endure any sort of service they can get.

He stated that the people of the Spur country may feel that they don't need their railroad at this time, but let that road be abandoned and it would not be long until you would observe the difference. He said that by all means people should stand by the railroads and patronize them if they are benefactors of the people.

OFF THE GOLD STANDARD
A POLITICAL BOMB

When President Roosevelt proclaimed that the United States was off the gold standard for the time being, it seemed to meet the approval of most of the big banking institutions of the country and all foreign nations except France. J. P. Morgan, President of J. P. Morgan & Company, gave his hearty approval of the movement and stated he felt that it will be for better interests and improved conditions.

Foreign money advanced in value, the English pound going 23 cents the first day. However, there is some opposition to the movement. Ogden L. Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury, and his little gang have stated that it is a step toward the ruin of the country. It is generally understood that Mr. Mills' objection is purely political since he wants to be the next Republican nominee for President, and should Mr. Roosevelt's plan be successful it will mean the death knell to Mr. Mills should he be nominated in 1936. It is not known how much influence Mr. Mills and his little bunch will have on the President's plan, but none of the leaders at Washington seem to be alarmed. In fact, it is about what they expected of Mr. Mills. The issue of today is to find a plan which will bring our country steadily out of a condition of financial chaos and put it upon a sound basis. If we can re-establish our foreign trade, make an outlet for American products and open up a demand for products of other countries, get people and nations to trading, restore confidence to humanity, it will mean a great deal not only to our country but to the world at large.

Junior - Senior Banquet

The Juniors of '33 gave the customary annual banquet in honor of the Seniors Wednesday night, April 12, at the Spur Inn. Although, it took much weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth to raise the funds, it was put over with a bang and was a great success.

The room was decorated with crepe paper of blue and white, also, small ladders of blue and white carried out the Senior colors and their motto, "We build the Ladder by Which We Climb." Speeches of gratitude were made by trustees, members of the faculty and student body. Dance numbers were presented by the pupils of Mrs. Guy Karr, several popular numbers were played by Lynn McGaughey, and songs by the Junior quartette. An unexpected song sung by Ray Dickson and several others, of "Happy Days" was also enjoyed. "Juice" Albin read the prophecy while Betsy Wilson read the "Will".

Everyone reported a swell time after the largest banquet in the history of Spur High School had been served. —Reporter.

DICKENS COUNTY

School Notes

BY MADGE D. TWADDELL

CREDIT TO OUR TEACHERS

I have just had a letter from Miss Georgia Walker from the State Department of Education in which she says, "As you know I like your group of teachers." She names a number whom she remembers as being outstanding. She in this letter is also giving us as school officials credit for choosing teachers who are good instructors, and good people, too. She further says, "I want to commend you for that as well as for other attainments I could mention."

I believe we have never had better schools in Dickens County than we have had this year. Much of the credit goes to the teachers. The State has been very slow about sending money. Our bank has loaned the teachers twenty percent of their salary and after this they received no more until some little bit comes dragging in. If there has been much complaining or fussing, I have not heard it. On the whole our teachers have served us unselfishly and well.

SEVENTH GRADE EXAMINATIONS

The annual county-wide seventh grade rally day was held Saturday, April 22nd at McAdoo.

The examinations began at 8:30 a. m. At noon lunch was served in picnic style all together. Each child brought enough food for two meals. The merchants supplied some additional refreshments.

Miss Cecelia Dittich, Miss Florence Craddock, Marvin McCuan, and C. W. Giesecke planned games, tournaments, etc for the afternoon. The McAdoo Grammar School presented one act play at 3:30.

At six o'clock we had supper and began the graduation exercises immediately after eating. Geo. S. Link gave a school address. Each school presented a number of its own choosing. Mrs. Twaddell presented diplomas and awards. Perfect attendance awards and County Reading Certificates were given to the seventh grade pupils.

Suitable prizes were presented to students receiving the two highest grades. Honorable mention was made of the pupils making the ten highest grades.

The Wilson-Long Examinations, (Form C) were used again. Last year we used Form A. The grades made at home counted 60 per cent of the promotion; the examination 40 per cent.

The County-wide graduation is very democratic and economical as no child is allowed to dress up. Each one wears what he is accustomed to wearing to school. Many of our boys graduate in overalls and tennis shoes. We do not give the pupils much time to even comb their hair. There is nothing much more splendid than seeing seventy-five or more of our fine boys and girls march up on the platform just as they have been playing all day to receive graduation.

This is the third year that we have had seventh grade county examinations in Dickens County. As a result the elementary work is getting much better. We have long since learned that if we send children into high school well-prepared the failures in high schools and colleges will not be so great. Children work especially hard during the 6th and 7th grades by way of coming up to the county standards.

READING CERTIFICATES

We know that a student who is a good reader usually does well in all of his subjects. In order to increase the interest in reading the State has devised a scheme of giving out reading certificates to students who will read as many as thirty of a certain list of books and give satisfactory reports on the same; up until this year the number did not have to be but fifteen and will be fifteen again another year. During the last three years Dickens County has won many state certificates.

Since the standard was raised this year and because it was so hard for one child to get thirty of the required books we are offering a County certificate to any pupil in Dickens County schools who reads fifteen library books approved by his teacher, the reading committee and the County Superintendent.

Numbers of children will receive both County and State Certificates this year.
