CHEVROLET RECEIVING ORDERS FOR DELIVERY

Detroit, Mich. Jan. 30—An instantaneous public response, expressed in terms of orders for retail delivery, greeted the announcement this week that hereafter Chevrolet dealers would quote only actual delivered costs instead of the conventional "f. o. b." prices on new cars and trucks.

This "New Deal" is automobile merchandising, designed to drive into the open every item entering into the cost of a car to the purchaser, has been instrumental in enabling dealers to book 85,000 orders for retail delivery of new cars, according to reports to William E. Holler, general sales manager of the company.

The immediate results of the new policy was a flood of wires and expressions of appreciation from both dealers and the public to Mr. Holler commending his new plan for its sincerity and honesty in driving the "pack", or increase, out of the difference between list, or f. o. b. prices, and the actual cost of the car to the customer.

"Hereafter," he said, "we are going to quote only final delivered prices. The customer wants to know how much his automobile will cost standing in front of his home. Under our new plan, he will be spared the unpleasantness of discovering that his car eventually cost him many dollars more than he had originally planned."

"The expressions I have already received from both dealers and the public indicate that the plan won quicker and more enthusiastic general support than we have believed possible. The public naturally has welcomed a plan which ends doubts and misunderstandings; and the dealers are equally enthusiastic about it because it facilitates their dealings with prospective customers, who often blamed the dealer for the extra amount piled on the quoted, or list, price when the car was delivered."

"Many wires from dealers declared that the new plan, when made public in their localities, added measurably to the good will which the Chevrolet name enjoyed among their customers."

The plan was generally regarded in trade circles here as the most revolutionary merchandising step ever made in the automobile industry since it attained its present size.

"While the automobile industry," said Mr. Holler, "is generally regarded as the most progressive in the world, it was woefully out of date in some of its operations. One of the worst was its president clinging to 'f. o. b.' price listings."

"We have moved boldly away from all that. We are modernizing our sales tactics. We are out to build up sales policies as honest and as modern and efficient as the car itself."

tion and loss of the local compress, and the taxes that are now paid to our county, our schools, our city, and also the state, which alone runs into a considerable figure. He pointed out, further, that to allow this cotton to go to the ports would not only result in the loss of the compress and in all probability, the present low freight rate on cotton, but would also result in the loss of some $7,000 payroll annually to the people of this community.

Our Chamber of Commerce witness further showed that, granting no increase in freight rates accrued from this readjustment, the fact, alone, that this would result in the complete destruction of our local compress, as well as all other interior compresses, would be in itself an unfair adjustment in favor of port compresses. This apparent coalition on the part of some of our railroads and the port compresses has evidently come about because of the fact that when the railroads won their fight against trucking of cotton in Texas, which they have done, to a great extent, the port compresses in thus cutting off their supply of trucked-in flat cotton. It would, therefore, appear to the thinking person, that with the trucks whipped, the railroads are now preparing to come to the rescue of the port compresses by inducing the Inter State Commerce Commission to permit them to haul flat cotton, whether at the present rate or a higher rate, in order to somewhat compensate for this loss of cotton to the port compresses by means of their victory over truck competition. The point was brought out at the hearing by our local witness that the Spur Chamber of Commerce had done everything it possibly could to assist the Railroads during their fight against cotton truck competition. It was further pointed out that we have no fight with the railroads. We are thoroughly satisfied with the present rates on cotton. We do most heartily disagree with them in this attempt to favor port compresses at the expense of the interior interests. We know that if flat cotton can be shipped from interior points even at the present low rates allowed on compressed cotton it would utterly ruin every interior compress in Texas and the next step would be to get an increase on flat cotton rates and we oppose any increase in cotton freight rates now or in the future. We are sorry for the poor port compress, but we seriously doubt the wisdom of penalizing 95% of the population of Texas in favor of the poor port compresses. They made their own bed why not let them lay in it?

Repays Red Cross For Needed Help Given

A young Dickens County citizen who a few years ago was in need of assistance and received it through the local Red Cross Chapter, yesterday looked up D. L. Granberry, chairman of the local chapter, and gave him a check for $10.00 which he said was the amount of aid given him a year or so ago by the Red Cross. He told the chapter chairman that he promised himself at the time of getting the aid that the first time he could do so he was going to pay the money back. Mr. Granberry said this is the first man so far as his records show to do this thing which so many people promised openly and of their own accord that they would do as soon as they were able. Red Cross never asks nor expects repayment of help given, but it will always take a repayment as an out and out donation. The spirit of appreciation shown by this young man is commendable and if all the others in like positions in Dickens County would follow his example our local chapter would be able to buy shoes for a dozen or more little children and put them back in school. A spirit of appreciation is one of the most commendable traits any person can have.

County Health Nurse Examining Children

Approximately every school in Dickens County has been visited by the County Health Nurse, Miss Evelyn Richter. Thursday, inspections will be made at Twin Wells, Peaceful Hill and Red Mud; Monday, February 12th, inspections will be made at Espuela, and Wednesday, 15th, inspections will be made at Dickens Schools.

Forty-four children had the first dose of diphtheria toxoid at Highway School, and eighty-five colored children in Spur were given the first dose. Six camps have been visited in Dickens during the past week. Every school in Dickens County is to be given an inspection during the survey of the health department if time permits.

We are urging that all children be given the diphtheria toxoid, typhoid serum, and be vaccinated for smallpox. Let's not wait for an epidemic to break out before having the children vaccinated. Prevention is so much more satisfactory than cure. In about six months after a child has had the diphtheria toxoid, have a doctor do a shick test to determine if immunity has been perfected.

The cards that are being sent home by the nurse after school inspections are to bring the parents' attention to the defects which in the Nurse's opinion need medical attention. Visit the doctor or dentist and give the child the benefit of a treatment which might be indicated, especially eyes, teeth and throat.

BLUE EAGLE FLIES SWIFTLY WHEN PRIVILEGE IS ABUSED

Washington—The National Recovery Administration has just restored the Blue Eagle to four violators of the President's Re-employment Agreement in Kentucky and Massachusetts. But there is determination to deprive employers of the emblem promptly upon receipt of evidence that they are not complying with its purpose as explained by the President.

Restoration to confectioneries at 506 Madison Avenue and 207 Pike Street, Covington, Ky., and the Package Confectionery Co., of South Boston, Mass., were made upon recommendations of local compliance boards, which reported that the two concerns had complied fully with the conditions imposed for the return of the emblem, including payment of back wages. Both companies declared that they had felt keenly their loss of the Blue Eagle. One made such haste as to fulfil the conditions of the local board on the same day the loss was sustained.

The fourth restoration was to Isaac Plevinsky, baker, at 390 Washington Street, Haverhill, Mass., who, according to sworn testimony, worked his bakers 12 to 14 hours per day, up to 89 hours per week, instead of the 50 hours agreed upon. Plevinsky lost the Eagle in December 13 and at once approached the Haverhill compliance board with an offer to make restitution. He complained that, in addition to financial loss, he "suffered considerable mental anguish." The board telegraphed NRA here that its members were convinced "of a complete change of heart by Mr. Plevinsky by his expressions of sincere contribution and promises of future compliance." He paid the bakers their overtime, and the postmaster at Haverhill was advised of his action by telegraph.

Harry Baily, of 101 East First St., Wichita, Kansas was deprived of the Eagle for paying one waiter $4 per week and another $3 and requiring both to work seven days. The Tip-top Cafe, 620 1-2 E. 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo., paid a waitress $6 a week instead of $12.96, less $3 for her meals, and lost its Eagle. So did H. J. Willard, of Ocala, Fla., accused of paying a woman attendant at his newsstand $4 a week, whereas the newspaper and magazine distribution substitution sets a minimum of $13 a week. The testimony showed she worked 59 hours instead of 40. Willard was accused of working three persons in his restaurant overtime and underpaying them. Frank Arnold of Watertown, New York was accused of requiring a truck driver to work from 60 to 72 hours a week for $7.50. The substitution for the trucking industry allows a maximum of 48 hours averaged over a three month period, with a minimum wage of $14.48 per week, so he lost the Eagle.

The Linen Supply Industry substitution sets a minimum of 40 hours a week, but complaints against P. G. Cosmos, of Lindenhurst, New York, indicated that he required female employees to work 48 to 50 hours and also that a truck driver worked up to 80 hours, instead of 48. Summoned before the Babylon (N.Y.) compliance board, Cosmos said he had determined that truck drivers were "outside salemen", and thus exempt. The board's recommendation that he be deprived of the Blue Eagle was endorsed by NRA. Two dry cleaners in New York City and one in Harrisburg, Pa., also were ordered to surrender the insignia for flagrantly open defiance of the recently approved minimum retail prices established under the clearing and dyeing code. The three were the first to suffer such a penalty for violating an approved code. They were cited to the Federal Trade Commission for appropriate action.

CHEVROLET COMMERCIAL CARS SHOW INCREASE

The important bearing of commercial car business on the country's economic life lends special interest to the announcement of W. E. Fish, commercial car manager of Chevrolet, that the company's commercial car business for this year will not only exceed last year's by a wide margin but also outstrip earlier estimates for 1934.

Chevrolet commercial car retail sales in 1933 totaled about 103,000 units, or almost as many as the combined sales of the other three leading producers in Chevrolet's weight class. The original projection for 1934 was considerably above this figure, but general indications to date this year show that it is still too low, Mr. Fish said.

"From the New York Show right on through", he explained, "there has been far livelier interest in our new commercial car line than for several years past. The truck display at the show is usually a comparatively quiet spot. This year all that was changed. At New York we actually had to send out for additional salesmen to answer the questions of visitors, and we closed more sales as a direct result of the Show than at the preceding five years' shows put together.

"The same thing was true at Chicago, where we had a special exhibit at a cleaners' and dyers' convention. It was necessary to bring in more salesmen to take care of all the inquiries, and the follow up work since then is producing many sales. Similar interest is reported from the 100 cities where our advance showing has just been held. Production for the Frequently the question is asked about the differences between the two religious bodies. Many people who are affiliated with these two groups do not know what the issues are. For this reason, and for the benefit of others who might be interested in these matters, this topic will be given consideration Sunday night. If you are interested we invite you to be present.

PATTERSON NEW DIVISION SUPT. TELEPHONE CO.

J. B. Patterson has been appointed Division Commercial Superintendent of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for West Texas, effective March 1, according to word received here today by J. C. Pinson, District Manager. Patterson will succeed M. P. Caldwell who retires after forty-one years of service.

Patterson was born and educated at Sweetwater. A printer during vacations and after class hours while going to high school, he followed the printing trade for some months after graduation, and then leased the Roby Banner, which he published for about a year. In August 1918, the Telephone Company needed a Manager at Roby and Patterson left the newspaper business to join the ranks of those who have for a creed "The message must go through."

Promotions came frequently to young Patterson, as he received assignments in Anson, Sweetwater, Ft. Worth, Dallas, Amarillo, and again at Dallas. For the past five years he has been Connecting Company Agent, a job which requires him to handle business matters with more than 300 independent telephone companies throughout Texas.

As Division Commercial Superintendent he will have charge of all Bell business offices throughout West Texas, offices serving 83,000 telephones.

WILSON DRAW REGULAR P.-T. A. MEETING

The Wilson Draw P.-T. A. enjoyed the presence and talks of a number of prominent visitors at the regular meeting Friday evening, January 26. The business meeting was omitted. The following program was rendered: First—A very comprehensive talk on scout work — Mr. Weber Williams. Song, "Puddin' Head Jones"—Billie Fletcher.

3. An inspirational talk on "Some of The Advantages of Scout Work"— O.L. Kelly.

4. Announcements regarding:
 - (1.) C. W. A. Projects.
 - (2.) High school transfers.
 - (3.) The petition for ordering an election to determine whether or not we retain the office of County School Superintendent.
 5. Reading, "A Country Girl at a Picture Show"—Mrs. Dierckson.
- Such manifest interest from the larger communities is greatly appreciated by both teachers and patrons of the smaller places. Besides the direct benefit there is an intangible effect that inspires enthusiasm and encourages further effort even in the face of great difficulties.
- We were disappointed in not having the usual attendance of parents at this meeting and wish to urge them to remember our P.-T. A. meetings which are scheduled to meet the last Friday evening of each month at 7:00 p. m.
