

About Politics

By OLD BALDY (Himself)

If any of you are not satisfied with this particular part of the country and want to go somewhere else to live—California for instance—here is a piece of information which The Journal received this week that will probably be of benefit to some one who wishes to sell all of his earthly goods and go to the land of opportunity. It is sent by Mrs. A. J. Scott of Los Angeles, Calif.

TO LOS ANGELES
 Oh, come to the land of the western sun.
 Where every business is over-due,
 Where they charge you freight for goods made here.
 If you ask the reason they think you are queer;
 Where the movie stars marry twice a year,
 And would marry more if the coast was clear.
 The grapefruit here is something fine,
 A mixture of melon and pumpkin rind.
 They serve you climate with all your meals;
 The sun bakes down till your back just peels.
 The cows eat hay instead of hay,
 And the cream gets lost in the milky way.
 They sell you lots that are made by hand,
 And make you think it's really land.
 The view of the ocean is mighty nice,
 But that's included in the purchase price.
 And you sit and gaze at the sea with emotion,
 And dream all the suckers are not in the ocean.
 So tune up your fiver and head for the West,
 Where jobs are scarce and pay is less,
 To the land of oranges, missions and friars.
 To the land of greasers, fakers and liars,
 Bring all your cash and plenty of clothes,
 For when you'll get more "Gawd only knows."
 I'm telling this story and I know it's true,
 As seen by me with eyes of blue.
 If the Boosters' Club ever gets this back,
 They'll change my eyes from blue to black.
 But they asked me to write the truth to a friend,
 I've done my duty—this is the end.

THE FIDDLERS
 It was at a concert in New York where a celebrated teacher of the violin was exhibiting his pupils. A boy of eighteen stepped on the stage and began to play. A hush fell over the room. His face, his fingers, every move and look proclaimed an embryo artist. With easy assurance, in which was no trace of effort, he played one number after another, the audience urging him on with enthusiastic applause. Each of us felt the thrill of personally discovering this new star in the musical heavens. The concert over, a gentleman rushed forward to congratulate the teacher.
 "You must be wonderfully proud of that brilliant boy!" he exclaimed.
 "The teacher was unresponsive. "Not very proud," he said.
 "But surely he will be a master."
 "No. He will probably be a fiddler in a restaurant."
 The man was a bit indignant. Was this coolness born of professional jealousy—the envy of an older man for the brilliant youth? The teacher did not leave him long in doubt.
 "The boy could be a master," he explained, "but he never will. Some of the others who performed less well today you will hear from later. But he—no. He will be a fiddler. It comes too easy; he will not work.
 If you have read much of biography you know that the teacher was right. Nothing is more impressive than the infinite pains which great men have taken, not merely to achieve position, but to keep it.
 Emerson tells of a letter from an artist friend describing Michelangelo's huge mural painting of the Last Judgment, which the friend "had the opportunity of seeing very near, and was astonished at the minute finish of the muscles and nerves, finished like a miniature." No detail was too small for the artist whose shoulders were bent by the long effort of finishing his immortal pictures under the dome of St. Peter's.

Booth, the great actor, was never satisfied. One night, after a performance in which he seemed to the audience to have surpassed himself, a friend went to congratulate him.
 He "found Booth with his head in his hands in the deepest dejection, from which not even the praise of an old friend could arouse him, disgusted at having given so miserable a performance."
 Whether great success is worth what it costs or whether mediocrity is a happier state are debatable questions. But there is no secret about the formula. Eternal work is the difference between the artist—and the fiddler.

HINTS FOR THE HOME
 Soup is doubtless one of the oldest standbys of food.
 Try our Want-Ad column for results.

In its oldest forms, of course, it was served as the mainstay of the meal. A big bowl of soup with bread, and perhaps some onions and cheese, still forms the mainstay of diet in many peasant homes.
 The more modern, more sophisticated way is to use soup as something to tempt rather than to satisfy the appetite at the big meal of the day. A bowl of thick soup is still often served for luncheon. But for dinner the soups that whet but don't satisfy are the ones chosen.
 For that reason the clever hostess does not serve dried bean soup for dinner—unless dinner is otherwise a rather meager meal. Nor does she serve a thick, rich cream soup.

IN THE tire business, as in any other, production has a direct relation to costs. It happens that Goodyear builds millions more tires than any other manufacturer, which ought to mean something to the man who buys tires.
 We think it does: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"
 We think this single towering fact—not to be overridden by sales argument, however ingenious—says all that needs be said of Goodyear quality, Goodyear service, Goodyear price. The next time you need a tire, and seek the most you can get for your money, remember how the people have judged this question of value.

 The simplest and safest advice, is for you to do what an overwhelming percentage of your fellow-motorists are doing—go straight to the nearest Goodyear dealer!

EDITORS ARE HUMAN

When a doubtful situation arises in a town it is quite the fashion to remark that "the paper ought to say something about it."

The average citizen feels quite certain that he could run a newspaper better than the editor does, and if he were publisher of that sheet, he would show them, you bet.

As a matter of fact, if he has horse sense, he would do just as the editor does—put the soft pedal on family rows, church squabbles, scandals not involving major principles, as such matters of minor importance as will adjust themselves with the passing of time.

The newspaper critic ought not to expect the newspaper man to advocate or attack any proposition which he himself has not the courage to support on assail over his own signature.

The editor is willing, even eager, to push any project in the public interest. But he is not willing to put chestnuts out of the fire for individuals or minorities.—Lamb County Leader.

Check, and double check, Brother Mitchell. You sure hit a home-run.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS

With the agricultural season of 1930 beginning to get under way the eyes of the nation are focused upon agriculture and its problems and possibilities as they seldom have been heretofore.

For the first time since the early days when we were primarily an agricultural nation, big business and financial interests are taking an interest in the farmer's problems from another point of view than the mere desire to sell merchandise to him. They are beginning to see the possibility that agriculture may develop into an actually profitable industry.

For fifty years the farmers of the United States have been crying poverty so persistently that the rest of the people had just about come to believe them. The farmer, in the eyes of the average business man in the city, was a poor dab struggling for a bare existence, facing foreclosure and the poorhouse every day of his life. That was the natural reaction from the loud outcries of the farmer lobbyists in Washington who, whether they intended to do so or not, conveyed the impression that unless something was done by the Government all the farmers would have to go out of business. That never was the case, as anybody who knows anything about farming knows. There are poor farmers everywhere—poor in both senses of the word. There are disgruntled farmers everywhere who talk poor when they are really a good deal better off than most of their neighbors. It has always been the farmer's privilege to grumble about the weather and the corn-borer and the soil-pest and the other pests that make agriculture one of the most exciting occupations in the world.

But the general run of farmers get along well, considering, and now that a constructive program of Government aid has been adopted and is actually in practice, the cries of the farm lobbyists are hushed and the rest of the country is beginning to watch the farmer with great interest.

How will the farmer develop as a business man? He has five hundred million dollars of Government funds with which to try the experiment of being his own middleman. In addition to that, he has a basic capital of a great many millions of his own money invested in the shares of the cooperative marketing associations, and some of the biggest investors in the land have added more millions to that capital by buying the bonds and debentures of the national cooperatives.

The greatest danger to the farmer just now seems to be that other people and think he is making money so easily that it might be a good time for will swing to the opposite view of him them to go into.

HINTS FOR MOTORISTS

According to a recent survey, a majority of the emergency calls for help on the road at this time of the year results from the fact that motorists have failed to have their cars properly adjusted for winter driving.

When the weather is very cold, you may be forced to keep the window at the driver's seat closed. This prevents hand signaling—so be sure that your stop light is working, and make all turns and stops more cautiously.

The 1930 cars can start more quickly and stop more suddenly than their predecessors, so take this into account as you mix in traffic with them.

THE FIRST REALLY NEW OIL

IN 25 YEARS

This is the simple story of the new oil that is now enjoying such remarkable acceptance: Conoco Germ-Processed... In the first place, this new oil is an extraordinarily fine paraffin-base lubricant. And then... under exclusive Conoco patents, this oil is endowed with the unusual faculty of penetrating and combining with metal surfaces. This faculty, we call "Penetrative Lubricity." The Germ Process, by adding a precious oil-essence lacking in all other oils, does this... And so provides constant un-failing lubrication for your motor under any conceivable strenuousness of motor operation. Germ Process is the first fundamental improvement in refining methods in the last quarter century.

So won't you come into the next station you see bearing the Red Triangle and join the thousands of other motorists who have changed to Conoco Germ-Processed Oil in the last few weeks?

International uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 13
THE CHILD AND THE KINGDOM
 Matthew 18: 1-6, 12-14; 19: 13-15
 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Children had their place in inaugurating the first Palm Sunday when Jesus went in triumph from Bethany to Jerusalem. At first they are not mentioned but they certainly were everywhere in the crowd that thronged the route. Then we find them singing praises in the Temple and Jesus was heartened thereby.

It was about eight months earlier when the disciples asked the question that is part of this lesson study. Read both Matthew 18 and 19 for all the related facts. Much has been said recently about the Kingdom of Heaven that was in process of formation. Even the disciples had mistaken ideas about this and were discussing the relative fitness within the group for high places in the new reign. On a secret ballot there might have been one vote for each as prime minister. It was not in any sense of modesty that the Master was asked "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

It appears at first as if Jesus had not heard for He is looking about for a child. When attention is attracted He beckons the little one to come up close. While nothing is said on the subject it is safe to conclude that no one in all Nazareth was as popular with the children as was Jesus. Children always know whom they can trust. They were never afraid of that kindly look and inviting voice. They must have thronged Him, and especially when He was ready to tell them one of His stories.

A child helps in the acted parable as the Teacher tells them that they must become converted and be as little children if they would qualify for this kingdom of God. Some of the childlike qualities that all must cultivate are to be teachable, trustful, venturesome, obedient, loving and truthful. When these characteristics are rightly developed there is wondrous possibility of growth into well-rounded manhood and usefulness.

Special emphasis is placed upon making it easy for children to grow into their full possibilities. Punishment is pronounced against any who place stumbling blocks in the way of the children. The mill stone referred to is so big that it cannot be turned by hand and an ass is required to do the grinding. When such a stone is tied to the neck there is no possibility of anything but death when cast into deep water.

Even one child in any hundred is important. The story of the lost sheep is positive in showing to what lengths all ought to go in caring for the life and upbringing of any little one. As society improves laws are passed that protect our children. Herein is a great test of religion and civilization.

It was some months later when Jesus was ministering in Perea that children are again championed. Their mothers are bringing their darlings that He might give them His blessing. The disciples, thinking to protect Him and His time, forbid this. Then Jesus presents the world with the precious teaching of our Golden Text: "Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come unto me: for such belongeth the kingdom of heaven." Give some attention to art and study the many great pictures that deal with Jesus and the little ones. For example, there is "Christ and the Children," by Plockhurst. A copy of this should be in the children's department of every Sunday School in the world. A copy can be bought for a few cents as well as dollars.

Medicine That Did Any Good

New Medicine Banished Kidney And Stomach Ailments After Others Failed.

MR. M. D. ABBOTT

"I suffered for two years with kidney trouble," said Mr. M. D. Abbott, 600 E. Hattie street, Fort Worth. "I have scarcely been able to do any work. Lifting, or turning my body was the signal for severe back pains. Night risings were frequent. My stomach, too, added to my misery. Anything I ate caused gas and a severe pain in the pit of my stomach.

"Konjola is the only medicine that did me any good. I now feel better than I have for many a day. I can eat what I wish without suffering and the pains in my back are gone. My kidneys now are functioning normally. Konjola has gone right to the spot in my case and I praise this wonderful medicine for all that it has done for me. A medicine that did all Konjola did for me can help others and I am recommending it to a lot of my friends who are suffering as I did."

Konjola is not a "cure-all." There is no such thing. But when taken for from six to eight weeks, Konjola will produce amazing results. The countless thousands of endorsements of Konjola have proven that it makes good, even in the most stubborn cases. Konjola is sold in Muleshoe at McCarty Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. —Adv.

FARWELL YOUTH GETS PATENT ON HIS TRACTOR GUIDE

Advices from Washington indicate that the new tractor guide invention, recently perfected by Horace Hammonds of this city, is patentable and credentials to that effect are expected to be issued in the near future. Models and all detail matter was forwarded to the young patentee's attorney in Washington last Friday.

Young Hammonds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hammonds of near this city and he has been working on his invention for the past few months, having already made and sold some sixty of the new device, which promise to revolutionize tractor farming on the Plains, where tractors are used quite extensively in farming operations.

The new invention does away with the necessity of employing an operator to guide the tractor while in operation. Once put to work, the attendant may leave the field if necessary for hours, and return to find the tractor turning the sod down the rows and making all turns with precision. The inventor even claims that with the use of his attachment, which he has named the General Purpose Guide, more perfect rows can be obtained than when the tractor is driven by

CONOCO TRAVEL SERVICE

DENVER, Colo.—The old-fashioned custom of summer motor tourists planning their vacation trips by obtaining an out-of-date road map and stopping at every cross-roads to ask if they are on the right road will be made unnecessary and unfashionable during the 1930 summer touring season, according to officials of the Continental Oil Company.

This hard method of travel planning has been made obsolete by the Conoco Travel Bureau, with headquarters in the Continental Oil Building here, and thousands of branch offices throughout the territory served by this great organization.

The new way of planning a motor journey from any point in the United States to any part of Conocoiland, the great western American playground extending from Canada to the gulf and from the Mississippi to the Rockies, is to write to the travel bureau for a Conoco Passport, which it supplies absolutely free.

An individually marked map, showing the exact route the traveler should take from his home to his vacation destination, is prepared for each tourist who applies by the Travel Bureau. This map is marked in accordance with the latest information—made available daily to the Travel Bureau, by the thousands of Conoco filling stations throughout the territory—so that local weather conditions, road construction projects, detours and all such factors are taken into consideration. The traveler doesn't have to stop to ask questions often, and if he does, the Conoco Passport sent at the time, assures that he will get not only reliable information about roads, when needed, but also a score of other valuable services and accommodations from every Conoco station along his route. These include such items as hotel reservations, tourists camp information, data about side trips, hunting and fishing facilities, the forwarding of mail and telegrams, shopping information, and nearly any other reasonable request that the traveler might want to make. The marked maps and the Conoco Passport, with all the services to which the latter entitles the motorist, are furnished absolutely free to any motorist who writes to the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver or who applies through any Conoco filling station for the service.

For Economical Transportation

It's wise to choose a SIX!

After all, it is a perfectly simple matter to decide which automobile to buy. Only two questions must be answered to your satisfaction—

First: Which car gives the most for my money?

Second: Which car represents the soundest investment in satisfaction and pride of ownership?

In buying a low-priced car consider the following facts: It is wise to choose a six-cylinder motor—for six cylinders are necessary to take out vibration and roughness. Six-cylinder smoothness will save the motor, the whole chassis, the body, the passengers, and the driver.

The Chevrolet is a six. And yet it sells at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

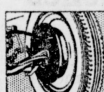

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and oversize parts, but also because it is a six. Its big, smooth, 50-horsepower six-cylinder engine is always "taking it easy." There is no feeling of strain at any speed.

With all its six-cylinder smoothness and power the New Chevrolet Six uses no extra gasoline or oil. Efficient design makes this possible—overhead valves—high compression power from any fuel—very latest high-acceleration carburetor—close-fitting, long-wearing pistons—crankcase ventilation—air cleaner. You can really have extreme economy and still satisfy your ideal of truly modern transportation.

Chevrolet economy is also the mark of Chevrolet sincerity in manufacture. To illustrate:

Chevrolet valves are readily accessible and adjustable. This saves replacing valves, and also makes it possible to preserve efficiency.

Fully Enclosed Brakes

A similar example is found in Chevrolet's molded brake lining—reducing the necessity of frequent replacement, and consequent expense.

Furthermore, there is a rear axle inspection plate on the new Chevrolet Six. This makes it unnecessary to take the axle apart to examine it or clean it.

The Chevrolet Six is full of such evidence that true motor car economy comes from advancement and refinement.

Like the finest cars, the Chevrolet Six provides the comfort and protection of four springs controlled by hydraulic shock absorbers. They are mounted lengthwise, in the direction of car travel, and self-adjusting spring shackles maintain quiet.

Safety Gasoline Tank

With modern low suspension and extra wheelbase, the Chevrolet Six has excellent proportions.

Its impressive front view is distinguished by the genuine honeycomb radiator, another mark of modern cars.

The gasoline tank is in the rear, for safety and finer appearance.

Chevrolet beauty instantly says "Body by Fisher"—costly car style, with the permanent quiet of Fisher composite steel-and-wood construction.

Body by Fisher also gives you a genuine non-glare windshield, adjustable driver's seat, more space, deeper cushions, clearer vision, finer fabrics and fittings.

There is just as much extra value everywhere in the car. BY ANY STANDARD the Chevrolet Six is the greatest value in the low-price field.

It is wise to choose the Chevrolet Six with its six-cylinder valve-in-head motor... with full scientific equipment... with its Body by Fisher... with four long semi-elliptic springs, long wheelbase, low suspension, rear-mounted gasoline tank, honeycomb radiator and all the many other features of this day and age.

See your nearest Chevrolet dealer today and drive a Chevrolet Six. Ten minutes at the wheel will show you what a remarkable difference six cylinders make.
