Accessories Are "Present Perfect" Christmas Ideas For Perfect Gift Giving

Accessories have a new role this wartime Christmas! They are the personality prizes for gift giving—to vary and give new zest to simple, basic costumes in conservative wardrobes. There isn't a woman on your gift list who wouldn't thrill to an accessory gift like the wearable, wonderful ones now in the stores.

HANDBAGS FOR ALL

Handbags are bigger and better than ever, this year—and the bigger the better, for busy women! The new felts and fabrics are generously sized to hold all your good wishes; plus ration books, purse accessories, and war stamp albums and perhaps a First Aid textbook, too! There are shoulder-strappers, that leave both hands free for fetch-and-carry, colors to delight the eye, ladylike little bags for furlough dress-up, and sturdy leathers for duration gifts to prize and pamper.

GLOVES THAT PLEASE

Toasty warm gloves make exciting Christmas gifts, blessed with good looks as well as a practical turn of mind. Be sure to see the delightful wools ready now for gift choosing—gloves or mittens, plain or fancy—gay or costume colored.

The new fabrics have outdone themselves, too—in color richness, quality and pleasing variety. Don't set your heart on just the pair you bought last year—you may not find them; but you will find a gratifying assortment of gloves to fill your gift list with pride, and the recipients with pleasure!

ACCESSORY HANDKERCHIEFS

Handkerchiefs are not to be sniffed at these days! They are accessory-conscious and gift-conscious—with variety indeed the sped of life.

Just nobody ever had enough handkerchiefs, and the Christmas hankies are purse accessories or pocket pick-ups worthy of the best names on your Christmas list. Why not ditto hankies right down your shipping list, and share the pleasure of giving, in the joy of picking them out?

Christmas Mails At Home

The Post Office Department is asking that Christmas packages and cards be mailed during November or not later than December 10th.

War materials and personnel and Military mail must go through and we are asking that the Public assist by mailing early.

Transportation facilities are heavily burdened. The number of railway cars available are far below that of former years.

More than 30 thousand postal employees have gone into the armed forces. We must handle the mail with less experienced help, and yet owing to the war situation there is a much larger volume of mail to be handled.

Mark your packages "Not to be opened until Christmas" and remember, November is the month to Mail, November is the month to Mail. —L. S. Wilson, P. O. Clk.

Jewelry Gifts Are Spirit Lifters

The gift of jewelry is always particularly personal—and this year, the personal gift is the thoughtful gift, when thoughtfulness means more than ever before! There's a jewelry gift waiting for everyone—perhaps not all the gilded beauties of former years, but many, many lovely pieces to please and give a lift to holidays spirits.

Chinese Women Join University Of Texas Faculty

Scientists of America and one of her fighting allies will join forces in a University of Texas research project this winter.

Two Chinese women biochemists have been granted post-doctoral fellowships with the University's Biochemical Institute, Dr. R. J. Williams, Institute director, has announced. Work of the three-year-old Institute includes study of vitamins and their relationship to cancer.

The two new research workers are Miss Edith Jlu-Hwa Chu, a native of China who flew here from her place as professor of organic chemistry at the Southwest Associated University in Kunning, Yunnan, China, and Miss Yen Hoong Loo.

Miss Loo will receive her doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Michigan this month. She is an American citizen of Chinese descent, having been born in Hawaii.

Warm Cotton Wearables Get A Big Welcome

The most wanted and best gifts of all this Christmas are "wearables" that will give long smart service long after the holidays are over. And right up there in gift preference are warm cotton fashions, casually smart everywhere, wonderfully warm—and happily budget priced for gift-giving. Prime favorites are the cotton corduroy separates in jackets, skirts, slacks and vests. They come in eye-catching happy colors and make superb gifts. If you plan to treat your self this Christmas, too, one of the fashionable wide wale corduroy suits is a splendid investment. Beautifully tailored, they change their personality with your accessories—can be tailored for daytime—very smartly sophisticated for dinner dating. Do see these smart cotton fashions at your local stores today—underscore them for gifts—for yourself!

CHARLIE BIRD

Charlie Bird was born in Georgia October 30, 1866. He came to Texas at the age of 5. His parents came to Dickens County in oxc wagons, bringing the first grocery stock, in 1881. Mr. Bird went to work for John Bell and worked 4 months for a horse and saddle. Later he worked for the Pitchfork Ranch. On June 11, 1885 he went to work for the Matador Land and Cattle Company, and remained in their employ for 16 years. He married Dasie Blair December 8, 1891. They have 5 boys and 1 girl living. At this time Mr. Bird owns the TX Bar Ranch consisting of 12 sections of land in Motley County and 7 sections West of Spur. Mr. Bird has as much interest in Dickens County as he has for Motley County. The progress of the West is due to the foresightedness of such men as Mr. Bird. The example of frugality, and homemaking by this family is an inspiration to the people of this section.

The Agricultural classes of the Spur High School were visited Tuesday morning by Mr. O. T. Ryan Area 1 Supervisor, and Advisor. He was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Rutland State F. F. A. Advisor and State Vocational Agriculture Supervisor. Mr. Rutland made a fine talk to each Agriculture class. Mr. Rutland has about 650 chapters to visit and he does not get around very often. We enjoyed his visit very much.

The F. F. A. boys will have a joint meeting with the homemaking girls in the Gymnasium Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m. The meeting will be followed by a party. The Agriculture boys are asked to meet at the Agriculture building before the party.

TO THOSE BUSINESS MEN

We want to say "thank you" to those business men who were so kind to extend us best wishes in our new Firestone store opening last week. We appreciate everything you said and have done for us in this new enterprise.

When starting on a new type of business all of us feel we need the best wishes of our neighbors, and you helped us greatly with your grateful messages. We are going to try to reciprocate by giving you excellent service, and our only restriction will be government regulations. Come to see us and let's talk about the future of our town and country.

Armistice Day---

1918 --- 1943

The echoing boom of the big guns of the last war had just begun to dull in our memory—when World War II became areality and blasted us all out of our peaceful way of life. Now it is time to remember—those who fought and bled and died in the battles of both wars. Now it is time to realize that this is the people's war—and that to win it, so that we will be victorious on the Armistice Day yet to come, each of us must fight with all our will and love of liberty!

FARM and RANCH NEWS

Farm Question Box

By ED W. MITCHELL, Farm Adviser General Electric Station WGY

Q. Does barley make a good feed for hens and pigs?

A. Barley is a close second to wheat for general feeding purposes, a little lower in protein, but higher in carbohydrates and fat. It is higher in protein than corn and is a good substitute for corn or wheat and better than oats. You may feed it freely to any kind of livestock, either alone or ground with other things. Be a little careful in starting animals on soft, newly threshed grain of any sort.

Q. What is the best time of year to transplant raspberry bushes?

A. The best time is early in the spring; the next best time is late October. Chop off a piece of root with a sprout or sucker, and transplant promptly before it can get dried out. Use water and mulch on them over winter and during the first season.

Q. What dressing is best for grass land to be used for hay?

A. Superphosphate or some combination of nitrogen and phosphorus (Amo-Phos). In general, 300 pounds per acre every two or three years is profitable.

Q. How are eggs preserved in water glass?

A. To nine quarts of boiled, soft water in a clean, sterile crock add one quart of water glass and put the eggs in and cover with a tight paper or lid. Use only fresh, sterile, clean eggs and do not wash or wipe them because this procedure removes the protective "bloom." Directions are on each can of water glass.

Q. When are okra pods ripe enough to be picked?

A. The long, green pods are the edible portion and are best when young, tender and freshly picked. Pick them when they are as large as a finger.

Q. How can tomato seeds be saved?

A. Let tomatoes ripen, then store them in a shallow tray where they will rot but not heat and mold much. When they are well disintegrated, crush them in a tub of water and scoop out the seeds with a wire strainer. Dry the seeds and store them in a cool, dry place.

Q. Should there always be an opening in the roof of a poultry house?

A. Hinge the top board of a shed-roof type of house and use windows in gable ends of a gable-roof type. These methods are better than running a ventilator through the roof.

Adjusting Breeding Stock To Range Conditions

Over-stocking exhausts the feed on a ranch in maintaining cows in condition too poor for profitable calf production, and similarly with sheep and goats, wool and mohair clips are lighter in weight. It is the opinion of Robert R. Lancaster of the A. and M. College Extension Service staff, that conservatism calls for adjustment of breeding stock to minimum range feed usually available regardless of rainfall. Except in rare, severe drought, this leaves an annual surplus to be grazed by steers or wethers.

"Most conservation ranchmen," observes Lancaster who is Extension pasture specialist, "adjust breeding stock to any likely range conditions. They take up the slack with steers or wethers—by winter feeding if necessary and by spring grazing in favorable seasons. That maintains breeding stock in best condition and for longer service; increases number and size of offspring; maintains range condition; and produce meat with less risk and expense and with less overhead of breeding stock."

Experience bears this out. One pasture at the New Mexico Experiment Station made 75 per cent more beef with 22 per cent less cows than another. The larger number of cows on the latter, which was about the usual rate, were undersized, and calves were fewer and lighter in weight. Adjustment of grazing animals to seasonal ups and down in range conditions indicates use of some steers on which are the most read-justable and buyable kind of stock. They may be bought or carried on range surplus grass above the carrying capacity and a reduced breeding limits grass, April. A pro-both grass require fall and holdu have range feed 18 years out of 20. Among benefits of conservative stocking and grazing management are needs of fewer sires and less equipment; lower death losses; ease of handling yearling steers; fewer forced sales on glutted markets; stable income; benefit of good breeding preserved, and a more permanent ranching business and livestock industry.

Preserving Fresh Vegetables

Now is the time to think about freezing some of those fine turnip greens, spinach, mustard, and all other types of fall greens. Quick freezing and storing in freezer lockers is the most desirable method of preservation for most foods because more of the original flavor, texture, color, and nutritional value of the fresh product is retained. As in all methods of preservation, the first thing to remember is to start with quality food and work fast to prepare it for preservation. Other factors contributing to a successful frozen product are proper handling in preparation; good air-tight, moisture-vapor-proof containers or wrapping; quick freezing; and storage at near zero temperature with correct humidity.

Select young, tender green leaves and remove stems of all types of greens. Wash thoroughly to remove all sand and dirt. Arrange greens in colander or wire gasket for steaming. The steaming process stops enzyme action or chemical changes which take place as soon as the vegetables are gathered. Steaming is preferred to blanching because more of the food value is retained in this process, whereas in the blanching process some of the vitamins and minerals are lost in the blanching water. Greens should be steamed for 2 minutes. They are then packed into containers, leaving 3-8 inch head space for half-pints, 3-4 inch for quarts, and 1 1-2 inches for half-gallon paper or tin cartons.

For glass jars allow 1 to 1 1-2 inches for pints and quarts. Larger jars should not be used. Food expand in freezing; therefore leave headspace. In placing food in paper boxes the food should be placed in the cellophane lining with the aid of a jar filler.

(Paper boxes with cellophane linings may be secured from the marketing committee of the Dickens County Home Demonstration Council.) After the cellophane bag is filled, leaving proper headspace, it is sealed with warm curling iron or flat iron, being careful not to use too hot an iron for the bag will be burned by a hot iron. Boxes or containers of food are taken to the frozen food locker where they are quick frozen at -20 to -25 degrees Fahrenheit. After quick-freezing the food from 8 to 48 hours it is then stored in at 0 degrees temperature in the locker.

Agnes M. Marrs, County Home Dem. Agent.

This Must Be A Record

A Knox County woman who has been a home demonstration club member for 18 years reveals she has missed only 13 meetings in all that time, and for 13 of those years her attendance record has been perfect.

This remarkable evidence of interest has been reported by Mrs. R. M. Almanrode of Knox City, a member of the Sunset Home Demonstration Club, formerly the Gillespie Club. She missed three meetings in 1942 because of a case of measles, while trips to the Texas Centennial and Tennessee were responsible for her absence in 1936. Mrs. Almanrode's daughter was born in 1929, and she missed six meetings that year.

In an account of her work to Lucile King, Knox County home demonstration agent, Mrs. Almanrode recalls that she attended her first home demonstration club meeting on July 8, 1925, when she was a bride of two weeks. After a delayed honeymoon in Tennessee, Mrs. Almanrode began her club career in earnest. During the 18 years she has held every office in her club and in the county home demonstration council. She has attended four state meetings of the Texas Home Demonstration Association and has enjoyed the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College on several occasions.

"My wardrobe work, all the home improvements, the records, the pantry and better foods—all have gone into the making of a better, a richer, and a fuller life for me," Mrs. Almanrode says.

Early this year Mrs. Almanrode was supervisor of a food preservation center in her community, and 2,715 containers of fruits, vegetables, and meats were canned in 15 days. She recalls with pride also that she canned "the first calf canned in Stonewall County,

"Send us more Japs!"

"Sighted sub—sank same!"

Men who talk like this cannot be licked.

This is the one big difference between our soldiers and sailors and those of our foes.

It is purely American.

Such spirit is not built on the battlefield. It is built before the battle . . . at the country crossroads . . . in the factory yards . . . on the playgrounds of America.

It is the most precious thing we have.

We must guard it carefully.

The USO is custodian of this spirit when the men are on leave, off duty, away from camp. Hundreds of USO Recreation Centers are maintained to make the men feel "at home" in strange cities and towns, in America and far-off war zones.

Isn't it little enough to give them a place to rest, to play games, to smoke, eat, talk, or to write the folks back home?

The USO means a great deal to the men in the way of recreation and small comforts.

But it costs money . . . it needs your dollars to keep it going . . . all you can spare. Let's open up our hearts to these boys of ours!

WE PAY TRIBUTE

To those who strived, suffered and shed their blood that we may have peace.

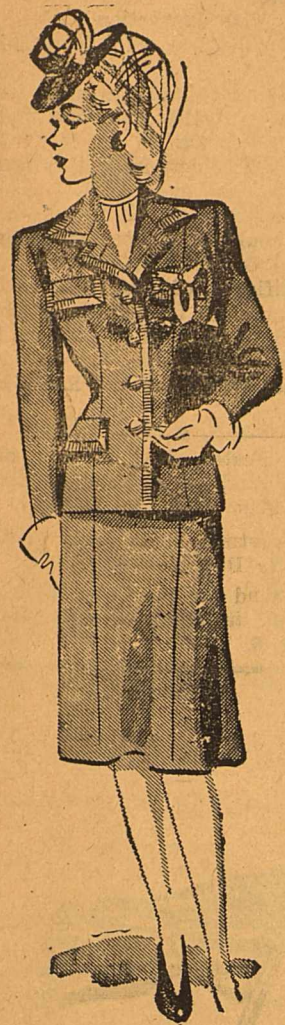

1943, we are fighting for the ones that gave their life, their blood must not be shed in vain . . . WE MUST WIN THIS WAR.

Let us meet with courage whatever sacrifices our country now asks of us for its safe defense . . .

W. F. Godfrey Has Longest Ford Agency Record

The First Ford Agency established in Texas was by Dr. B. C. Bachelor and W. F. Godfrey and the firm was known as Bachelor and Godfrey Ford Agency. They opened business between the first and the fifteenth of October 1913, and sold their first car to White Moore.

Dr. Bachelor left this country several years ago. Mr. Godfrey is still engaged in the automobile business with his partner V. C. Smart. The firm is now known as Godfrey and Smart. Mr. Godfrey came to the present site of tSpur about September 1, 1909, and at the opening of the town he began the sale of real estate and operated a small fire insurance agency. He came here from Paducah.

Mr. Smart arrived in Spur November 11, 1909 with a stock of merchandise from Rotan. He was employed by R. R. Morrison Dry Goods and Grocery Co., for some time. On November 1, 1919 he became interested in the Ford Agency and has been selling automobiles since.

A Pioneer Citizen

There are few counties in Texas where Mrs. P. H. Miller is not known. She has been at the forefront of civilization all of her life, and she is known because of her broad and benevolent attitude toward people and the causes of right. We doubt if there is a person in Dickens County who has wielded a greater influence over the lives of men and women than has this person.

Mrs. Miller and her husband came to Spur with the first train at the beginning of the town in 1909. The train, due to more modern convenience of travel, has settled into the background, but the principles for which Mrs. Miller stands are still in the foreground. The S. M. Swenson & Sons' lands were being placed on the market and there was a rush in every line of business. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were engaged in the lumber business and sold much lumber to build the first houses in the town and the country. They had opened lumber yards at Peacock and at Jayton previous to coming to Spur and their service to the people in those communities cannot be estimated. Both towns were on the front lines and there were practically no accommodations. Mrs. Miller laughed as she related how they spent their first nights at Peacock sleeping on the floor of their office on two quilts. Her desire to help people far overshadowed the hardship she had to endure and today she looks back at them only as passing incidents.

She jokingly stated that the country had more cattle and less butter, and the quality of butter was never considered. She paid forty cents per pound whether the amount weighed it or not, and most of the time it didn't. Housing facilities were scarce, and many times people found accommodations in the Miller home, especially if they came to Spur for hospital services. One friend once remarked that it would be a long list if all the names of people were registered who stayed with Mrs. Miller, they had friends in the hospital.

Among the first community works by Mrs. Miller was her interest in the organization of the Baptist Church here. She gave of her time and means to this end, was one of the charter members, and today is the only charter member who has kept her membership continuously in the church. She was always willing to use her influence and talents to make a better Spur. After the hospital was built, it was a common thing for her to be called to the hospital to assist in caring for the sick. Not only at the hospital, but in the homes whether among the well to do or in the less commodious homes. She stood ready at all times to help.

People coming in on the train and had to wait for a conveyance to other places, would go to the Miller home because they knew they would find a welcome.

It is interesting to hear her tell of how people at Peacock had to use watermelons to quench thirst due to the fact there was no water in the community that was fit to drink. A stranger passing through who might be thirsty, was given a nice big slice of watermelon and told to enjoy himself.

Mrs. Miller has always been interested in education, and many young people have been enabled to go through college because of her assistance. Many have written her expressing their gratitude for giving them an opportunity. Some have said,

RATIONING CALENDAR

RATION BOOKS: Consumer will not have to carry all four books for a very long period. The only stamp good in Ration Book I is Stamp No. 18 for shoes which is good indefinitely. Should it become necessary to terminate this shoe stamp, the public will be given 30 days notice. Ration Book II has only a few stamps, the blue X, Y and Z processed food stamps which are still valid and they expire Nov. 20.

SUGAR—Stamp No. 29 of War Ration Book IV (on front page, marked sugar) became good Nov. 1 for five pounds and will be valid through January 15, 1944.

SHOES—In addition to Stamp No. 18 in War Ration Book I which is valid indefinitely, Stamp No. 1 on airplane sheet of Book III became valid Nov. 1 and will be good approximately six months.

EDITORIAL

WHAT WAS THE ARMISTICE DAY?

On November 11, 1918 hostilities ceased in Europe and the World War I was at an end. The Allies were victorious. Yes, the victory was won, but it proved to be empty. Why?

Was it the misguided Idealism of Woodrow Wilson? Was it for lack of foresight on the part of our Senate? Was it the insistence of the French for Security? Could it have been Power Politics on the part of England? Could it have been a dominant characteristic in the mentality of the German that impels him to try to conquer the World every quarter of a century? Is it possible that Russia could have contributed to a "War Psychosis", that permeated the minds of men in all nations?

The boys of 1917-18 did their job. The German nation sued for an Armistice which was granted. No more could have been asked of our fighting men. Germany was forced to lay down her arms. Those men who contributed to her defeat, will bow their heads to commemorate 11:00 a. m. November 11, 1918, and for a moment stand silent. Though their minds for that one moment will flash the memory of that instant when the killing sopped, when they could plan to live tomorrow, believe that again they would see their mothers fathers, wives, sweethearts, brothers, and sisters.

Upon returning to their homes they found conflicting opinions, conflicting desires, conflicting purposes and objectives. These men are standing before you today, not with ridicule, but with wonder written in their disillusioned faces. Why th sacrifice, why the carnage, why the waste of 1917-18, if the thing has to be repeated as it surely is at this time? The ex-service man wonders if he did not stand idly by and permit the victory, won by blood, and sweat, and tears, dissipated by people who thought more of dollars than of lives, and the future?

THE NEXT ARMISTICE AND PEACE MUST HAVE MEANING

The winning of the victory in 1918 was a triumph. The loss of the Peace was disastrous. The winning of this war is in the hands of the professional soldiers, and the men who have been drafted, from the Allied nations. If the politicians, the economists, the sociologists cannot win the Peace, the ex-service men from World Wars one and two must see that a peace is imposed on the world, that will at least insure some security for posterity. The ex-service men will assume this responsibility only upon the apparent failure of the peace-makers to recognize the value of the lives of the citizens of the nations instead of the value of dollars.

Peace Aims? The politicians and the professional fixers are already crying that they want a long extended cooling off priod, and time for careful deliberation in the "negotiations". We remember the peace of 1919, and the "Washington Disarmament Conference, that followed. It was disastrous for the well being of this nation. The fighters of 1917-18 and of 1941 to date must be fed up of fighting a war every 25 years for "humanity's sake".

Would it be against the law, or would it give the enemy any information that he is not entitled to, if some one should ask, "What are our War Aims?" If, after the present Moscow Conference is finished, and no definite statement is made by the Allied Nations, as to our War Aims, are it will be high time for the parents, the wives, brothers, sisters and sweethearts of our fighting men to rise up and ask the United Nations, "What are we fighting for?" "What are the governments of the United Nations planning for our future?" The people who are putting up the lives the labor, and the money are entitled to know what will be done with their investment. So far, the basis for this war, the 4 freedoms, is an empty phrase without proper meaning. A man in jail can enjoy the four freedoms. He has freedom from want; He has food, shelter, and clothes. He has freedom from fear, no one can break in and harm him. He has freedom of speech; he can say anything he likes. He certainly has freedom of worship; he can preach all day 24 hours a day if he wishes. But he still wants out.

Surely there are few people in this nation who believe that we are sending our boys to death in the South, Middle, and North Pacific; through an inferno in Italy and over the continent of Europe, so we, the people of this nation can enjoy the 4 freedoms.

The souls of our boys who have fallen, are looking to you and me for a determination that this kind of a war will not again be thrust upon the people of the world. It must be with a determined, set mind, that we the people of this nation, will dedicate our efforts, our labor, our money and our lives to justify the confidence placed in us by those brave boys who have fallen in the present War. The responsibility for their sacrifice rests squarely upon the shoulders of the people of this nation. If their sacrifice should prove to be in vain, we shall have only ourselves to blame.

SCRAP METAL AND FATS NEEDED

Scrap metal is needed to make instruments of war. Dickens County should continue to contribute toward this scrap bank. We are busy, sure, but the scrap is still needed. The housewives have been neglecting to bring in their waste fats. One teaspoon full of waste fats will fire 5 army rifle shells! Take the can of waste fats to your meat dealer. These are YOU CAN WIN YOUR WAR.

ARMISTICE DAY 1943

by Ruth Taylor

"Here lie we dead because we did not choose To shame the land from which we sprung. Life is perhaps no great thing to lose, But young men think it is, And we are young." We, who remember the casualty lists of the last war, walk with ghosts today. Besides the soldiers on our streets, we see those other lads whose lives were far too short, who loved life too greatly to be miserly with it when their country called.

In the Armistice Day pause this year, there will be new heroes to remember. Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Corregidor, Wake Island, Guadalcanal North Africa, Sicily—before this article appears there will be as many other places all over the globe hallowed by those who could say as did A. E. Housman in the "Epitaph for the Fallen"—"Here lie we dead because we did not choose to shame the land from which we sprung."

They have given their all—and it was so much! Who knows what great things they might have accomplished, what great good might have come to the world if they had been allowed to live, what things they might have created, discovered, invented, taught.

We have to face the fact that before this war is over, thousands upon thousands of these, our finest, will have died. They will be Americans—maybe rich, or poor, maybe Black or White, maybe Protestant, Catholic or Jew; but not German-American, Russian-American, Italian-American; not a "son of the American Revolution", not an immigrant—just citizens of the United States—Americans who loved their country and its ideals of freedom and equality enough to offer their lives that these ideals of justice and democracy might not perish.

We, too, though we cannot fight must not "shame the land from which we sprung." We have a duty as binding upon us as that of any soldier as long as this war lasts. Afterwards we have another duty, too—that of seeing to it that they did not die in vain, that the promise made in the Four Freedoms are at last fulfilled for all the people of all the earth, and that those who come after may live as free men, unafraid in a free world.

Jim Ribinson from McAdoo was one of the many people from that section who were in Spur Saturday attending to business and greeting friends.

Frank Hale of Girard was on the streets of Spur Saturday attending to business and greeting friends. Mr. Hale is trying to find a place to purchase, and he was told to read the Dickens County Times Want Ad section and we believed he would find just what he wanted, and so will all the readers of the Dickens County Times, we hope.

Miss Lois Jo Bentley, County Home Demonstration Agent for

Motley County was in the Times office Saturday October 23 buying supplies, and attending to other business in Spur.

Mrs. Dave Wilson returned from Dallas Monday, October 25 where she has been under the care of a physician during the past week. Mrs. Wilson reports little improvement.

MORE POWER!

WE CHEERED, when Uncle Sam called on industry to work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, UNTIL THE WAR IS WON!

Continuous production, you see, is nothing new to us. We've always worked that way. It's one big reason why we were prepared to serve the army training camps, the flying schools, and the new war plants in West Texas—all in addition to serving your home and business.

We are proud that our service to you has not suffered despite the unforeseen problems created by the war. We believe it is a credit to the American way of doing things... a tribute to the American system of free initiative and free enterprise.

The electric industry throughout the nation is providing power where it's needed when it's needed... MORE THAN THE COMBINED TOTAL OF ALL THE ENEMY NATIONS!

This is in contrast to claims by proponents of socialization who predicted an immediate and disastrous shortage of electric power. The proof is:

- Today, in time of America's greatest need, the country's electric operating companies are supplying over 90% of all the power commercially generated;
- Last year they paid $510,000,000 in taxes, enough money to equip 2,400,000 soldiers or build 9,273 fighting planes;
- The average home now gets over twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago.

It represents American genius at its best. In little more than two generations electric systems owned by the public (through millions of small stockholders) have become indispensable in American homes AND IN AMERICA'S WAR EFFORT.

It has been possible because America's electric companies have been built and operated the American way—by good business management.

Spur is scheduled to play Matador at Spur next Friday night. The game will start at eight o'clock, and this is expected to be a thriller. Thursday night, November 11, Spur is scheduled to play Floydada Whirlwinds at Spur.

If Spur wins the next two games, the Bulldogs will have Floydada tied for district honors. In that event the tie will be played off Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 25.

Let's stay in there for the Bulldogs for they are in the race and are doing a fine job. The only comparisons with Floydada as to class of the teams are the games with Lockney. Floydada won over Lockney 25 to 6, and Spur won 44 to 6.
