Lea Gains New Field

Anderson Oil & Gas Co., Inc., Midland, has recompleted No. 1 Hess-State, former producer in the Bagley (Pennsylvanian) field, and recompleted the well as a Wolfcamp discovery in Lea County, N.M. Proposed field designation is Bagley, Southeast (Wolfcamp).

It was finished to flow 41 barrels of 48-gravity oil and 37 barrels of water daily, through a 32-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,627-8,632 feet, which had been acidized with 1,690 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 1,375-1.

Total depth is 10,100 feet, and the plugged-back depth, 9,143 feet. Top of the Wolfcamp was reported at 8,420 feet.

It formerly produced through Pennsylvanian perforations at 8,967-9,994 feet, and was completed from that pay in 1962.

Location is 1,900 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 34-11a-33e, eight miles southeast of Caprock.

Reeves Area, Culberson Draw Probes

Expiration has been scheduled in Reeves and Culberson counties.

MGP Oil Corp., Midland, has filed application to re-enter and clean out to old total depth of 4,575 feet, as a wildcat, at No. 1 Doyle Jayroe, Reeves County failure, six miles west of Pecora.

Originally drilled by Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. (Atlantic Richfield Co.), it was plugged and abandoned Feb. 22, 1964.

The test spots 1,900 feet from southwest and 660 feet from southeast lines of section 46, block 4, H&GN survey, abstract 408, seven miles west of the one-well Kathy Sue (Cherry Canyon) oil pool.

Culberson Test
Warren American Oil Co., Midland, plans to drill No. 3 Avoca as a 2,500-foot searcher for gas, or a location west extension to the marginal two-well War-Am (Delaware) field of Culberson County.

Drill site is 600 feet from north and 2,095 feet from west lines of section 38, block 59, T-1, T&P survey, 7 1/2 miles northwest of Orla.

Andrews Discovery Offset Scheduled

Amoco Production Co. plans to drill No. 1-ET University as a location northeast offset to the opener and lone producer in the Block 6, Northeast (Silurian) field of Andrews County.

It has a projected depth of 13,000 feet, and spots 1,827 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 25, block 6, ULS, 10 miles southwest of Patricia.

The discovery, Amoco's No. 1-ES University, was completed July 26, 1974, for a daily flowing potential of 352 barrels of 44-gravity oil, through a 9-64-inch (Continued on Page 7B)

Junketing Oklahoma Senator Proposes Aid Cuts To Both Sides In Indochina

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett says Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger should try to persuade the Soviet Union and China to join the United States in a reduction of military aid to both sides in the Vietnam war to reduce the level of fighting.

Bartlett, an Oklahoma Republican, and seven other members of Congress headed home today after a visit to South Vietnam and Phnom Penh which President Ford hoped would increase support for his request for $325 million in supplemental military aid for the South Vietnamese and Cambodian governments.

Asked if Congress might recommend that Kissinger return to Vietnam or try to reopen some sort of negotiations, Bartlett replied: "Yes, I would say that each one of us — and I certainly am not speaking for anybody but myself — but it would be my guess that we would want Secretary of State Kissinger to play a very big role, to play it right away, with Russia and China in an effort to encourage them to use their influence on the North Vietnamese to reduce the level of war and to reduce the military support to the North Vietnamese as we would reduce it to South Vietnam."

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., agreed that Kissinger had to become involved in efforts to bring peace to Vietnam and Cambodia.

McCloskey also said that future aid to the Saigon government would depend on what it did about the thousands of political prisoners who have not been brought to trial.

The delegation met Sunday with a North Vietnamese representative to discuss the Communists' refusal to cooperate in the search for remains of Americans missing in action in Vietnam. The North Vietnamese representative, Lt. Col. Nguyen Duc Bao, responded with charges of U.S. violations of the cease-fire agreement, provoking heated comments from several of the Americans.

Rep. Bill Chappell Jr., D-Fla., charged the North Vietnamese with murderous attacks on Americans searching for the graves of the missing men. Bartlett said Bao's statement was "hogwash." Rep. John J. Flynt Jr., D-Fla., said it contained "many fabrications."

McCloskey warned that if North Vietnam "does not permit U.S. inspection teams or joint inspection teams to look for the sites of Americans shot down, many members of Congress may vote for the aid rather than against it."

Decision Due This Afternoon

By CARL C. CRAFT WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford conferred with Republican congressional leaders today, and one GOP spokesman said afterward, "It is certainly possible" that Ford will defer the second and third dollars of his oil import tariff.

Ford scheduled a 3 p.m. CDT announcement on his response to a Democratic proposal that he defer the higher tariffs while compromise talks are under way to shape an energy program.

"Spirit Of Compromise" White House spokesmen insisted after the Republican leadership meeting that Ford had not reached a decision. But Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott said concerning the tariff proposal: "It is certainly possible, given a spirit of compromise, that something may happen there."

Scott said that Ford didn't divulge any decision. Scott and House Republican Leader John Rhodes of Arizona emerged from the meeting with criticism of an energy plan prepared last week by Congress' Democratic leadership, but with praise for a separate plan presented by Chairman Al Ullman of the House Ways Means Committee.

"Biting Marshmallows" Scott charged that the Democratic leadership wanted "save energy on the cheap. It can't be done that way." "They aren't biting a bullet — they're biting a marshmallow," Scott added.

The Ullman plan, in contrast, is "much better considered ... much better prepared," said Rhodes.

Scott agreed, calling the plan put forth by the Ways and Means Committee chairman "a respectable and expert approach to the problem ... it certainly bites more than a marshmallow."

The Ullman plan calls for gradual increases in the gasoline tax to as much as 40 cents a gallon.

Ford May Delay Planned Hike Of Oil Tariff

(Continued From Page 1A) tariff came after the Democratic leadership in the House and Senate last week proposed an alternative energy conservation program. Ford indicated satisfaction that his congressional critics had developed their own proposals and said he would consider a delay in his own program in order to encourage a possible compromise. "I am most hopeful the President will adopt some compromise attitude where he imposes no additional import fees beyond $1," Ullman, D-Ore., said Sunday. Sen. William V. Roth Jr., R-Del., one of 10 Senate Republicans who voted for the tariff delay bill, predicted that Ford would delay the additional tariff hikes. Meantime the President's top economic and energy advisers, including Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb and economic aide Alan Greenspan, were to testify today before the Ways and Means Committee. The panel is beginning two weeks of hearings on energy conservation. Ullman, interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation" Sunday, said the Democratic leadership's energy program "has been watered down to the point where the Ways and Means Committee and certainly I as chairman don't believe it will adequately do the job." Ullman said the leadership's energy package had been weakened in "large part" by Senate pressure. Senate members of the Democratic energy task force last week said they preferred smaller gasoline tax increases than did their House counterparts.

While the Ways and Means panel urged a levy of up to 40 cents a gallon, the Senate House group had proposed a gasoline tax hike of five cents. The current federal gasoline tax is four cents a gallon. The leadership group also proposed the creation of an independent agency with standby authority to impose oil import quotas and a penalty-reward system to encourage the purchase of economy autos. The Ways and Means proposals called for the gradual imposition of oil import quotas as economic conditions permitted and a federal petroleum purchasing agency which would solicit bids from oil firms and oil-producing countries. The goal would be to control imports and keep lower prices.

Brief Spring Fades Away In Tall City

Somewhat cooler air spread deeper into Texas today after a weekend of spring-like weather in most sections. Spring faded in Midland, too, with the temperature reaching only 41 degrees by noon today after a high of 79 Sunday. The National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal said the mercury would rise no higher than the upper 50s today and the mid-50s Tuesday.

At 8 a.m. today, it was a chilly 37, 16 degrees below the reading at midnight. And, it's supposed to get even nippier tonight, with the low expected around 30. Scattered drizzle fell in parts of the Central Texas Hill Country during the night and broken clouds overhung most of the south central and east parts of the state this morning. Skies were clear in the west and north sections.

A weak cool front came to a halt early in the day along a line from the South Plains to the Coastal Bend. Forecasters looked for it to start moving again, however, and a little cooling was promised in most areas. They also predicted rain in North Texas before evening.

Near dawn temperatures sagged to 27 degrees at Amarillo, 29 at Dalhart and 31 at Lubbock in the Panhandle-Plains sector while 19 was still 65 at Alice and 66 at Brownsville in the extreme south. Sunday afternoon's top marks went as high as 83 at Cotulla, Del Rio and Galveston and 87 at McAllen, The Associated Press reported.

The judgment was against Ruthco Inc., an Odessa oil company, owner of the Cessna 182 that crashed and burned after striking a power line on take-off near Imperial May 25, 1974. # VW Rejects Arab Letter

WOLFSBURG, West Germany (AP) — The Volkswagen company today rejected an Arab boycott threat. It said the demand to withdraw a license from Israel to produce Wankel engines was sent to the wrong address. A spokesman for Volkswagenwerk AG said the firm of Wankel GMBH granted Israel a licence to manufacture its rotary piston engine long before Volkswagen had any connection with the company. Volkswagen's interest in Wankel GMBH is minute, the spokesman explained. He said the Lorch trading company in England bought a large share in Wankel GMBH.

Kuwaiti interests own 20 percent of Lorch. Volkswagen said it received the Arab demand about six months ago. The Arab Boycott conference in Cairo announced Sunday that the company, West Germany's biggest auto manufacturer, had been given three months to submit proof that it has stopped its dealings with the Jewish nation. The conference threatened to blacklist the company if it did not comply. The company spokesman said when the Volkswagen Foundation granted funds to the Weizmann Institute in Israel several years ago, the Arabs also protested and threatened boycott action. Volkswagen explained then that the foundation bearing its name was not under the company's control, and the matter died, the spokesman said.

The boycott conference also announced that it removed Amel Inc. of Providence, R.I., two of its subsidiaries, Litwin Corp. of Wichita, Kan., and Litwin S.A. of France, and 35 other affiliates around the world from the blacklist of firms dealing with Israel. Amel deals in a number of products, including machinery and petrochemicals.

Duniven and his motorcycle slid 73 feet before the collision. Robnett was not injured. City planning department officials met in Dallas Thursday with the HUD staff to discuss Midland's application and were told the application might not be approved. Today, the planning department began an intensive study of a tape recording of the Dallas meeting.

Fred Poe, assistant city manager, said he hadn't listened to the tape, but had been told by members of the planning staff that HUD objected to the housing assistance plan. Poe said the HUD office extended the application deadline from April 1 to April 15 so the city could restudy and possibly revise the housing assistance portion of the application.

Midland May Lose $4 Million In Federal Development Funds

Midland is faced with the possibility of losing more than $4 million in funds made available through the federal Community Development Act officials at city hall revealed today. The funds had been allocated to the city for funding of an street improvements, drainage and housing rehabilitation in the city's low-income areas.

The Dallas staff of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) gave indications last week it would reject the city's application for housing assistance under the act. The city was planning to apply for funds to subsidize rehabilitation of low-income housing. The application also included proposals for street and drainage improvements in those areas.

City planning department officials met in Dallas Thursday with the HUD staff to discuss Midland's application and were told the application might not be approved. Today, the planning department began an intensive study of a tape recording of the Dallas meeting.

Road Toll Turns Upward With Good Weather

By The Associated Press
Violent deaths turned upward in traffic again during the weekend as pleasant weather sent many Texans onto streets and highways.

These were among the victims: Officers said a 16-year-old youth led them Sunday to the bound and stabbed body of Virgil Cliett, 66, of Hillboro in a ditch five miles northwest of there. Itasca police said he tried to sell the dead man's car at a gas station shortly before they arrested him.

shot and killed early Sunday while trying to stop a fight outside a cafe in Southeast Fort Worth, police said. They jailed a 37-year-old man. Two small brothers, Michael Dwayne Pink, 4, and Anthony Ray Pink, 2, died Sunday when fire swept their four-room duplex apartment in Houston. Their mother told investigators flames prevented her from rescuing the children after she ran next door for help. Ten-month-old Kimberly Young died Sunday afternoon when three cars and a motorcycle collided in Beaumont. Five other persons were injured seriously.

body. Strube had been shot twice in the head and several hundred dollars was believed missing from his person, officers said. Two electric tongs doors closed on Jake C. Cleveland, 33, and crushed him to death Sunday at Hobby International Airport. Officers said he and another man were removing an airplane from the building.

Rescuers Spot Engineer's Body In Subway Wreckage

LONDON (AP) — Rescuers mangled wreckage of a subway train in which police say at least 30 persons died reported today they spotted the body of the engineer.

Rescue workers clawed their way into the front car of the train late Sunday night, working no more than 20 minutes at a time because of poisonous fumes and the 120-degree heat from arc lights. Some of the workers were overcome, and had to be helped out of the tunnel.

Twenty-six bodies have been removed from the wreckage. Police said at least 13 others were in the front car. More than 80 persons were injured in the rush-hour accident, and three of them were still listed in grave condition early today.

The train went past its last stop at the Moorgate station, in London's financial district, at 35 miles an hour and slammed into the end wall of the dead-end tunnel. The 50-foot-long front car was compressed into 10 feet. Newson's tiny driving cabin was embedded in the wall.

Reporter Saves Money, Time Flying From Love

DALLAS (AP) — More than $40 and almost an hour can be saved by a person using the in-town airports when flying from Houston to Dallas and back in one day, according to a newspaper survey.

The one-way trip thus would cost $36.45 and would take one hour, 51 minutes.

Houston Intercontinental to D-FW: cab from downtown to Intercontinental, 23 miles in 43 minutes for $12; air fare (economy class) $31.37; flight time 50 minutes; baggage handling at D-FW, 17 minutes; cab from D-FW to downtown Dallas, 21 miles in 26 minutes for $14.10. The one-way trip would thus cost $57.47 and would take two hours, 16 minutes.

Investigators trying to determine why the brakes of the train were not applied are photographing and minutely examining each piece of wreckage. One of the driving controls known as the "dead man's handle" could be the key to the crash.

The handle, which controls power and emergency braking, is depressed by the driver while the train is running. The brakes come on when it is released. Some drivers have been known to disconnect the handle, complaining that it is uncomfortable to hold down. But subway officials said they did not believe this had happened.

Dallas Times Herald reporter Tom Kimball recently figured the cost and time for flying out of Houston Intercontinental and the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport and then compared it with flying from Love Field in Dallas and Hobby Airport in Houston.

Kimball left a downtown Dallas office building, took a taxi to Love Field, flew to Houston Hobby and took a cab to a downtown Houston building.

The return trip was from the same Houston building to Intercontinental, then on to Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport. The time-cost breakdown showed:

Love Field to Houston Hobby: cab from downtown to airport, 7.5 miles in 17 minutes for $4.95; airfare, $25; air time, 50 minutes; airfare baggage handling time, 12 minutes; cab from Hobby to downtown Houston, 11 miles in 32 minutes for 11 miles in 32 minutes for $6.50. The one-way trip thus would cost $36.45 and would take one hour, 51 minutes.

President Ford responded to the publication of the list, which was apparently drafted in 1970, with a promise that "any allegations of discrimination will be fully investigated and appropriate action taken under the laws of the United States."

Rabbi Hertzberg said his organization is drafting legislation to help American companies resist an anti-Israel boycott by Arab nations.

The proposed legislation would make it illegal for any country doing business with the United States "to boycott or exclude from trade any foreign nation that maintains diplomatic relations with the United States."

Arab Investments Welcome, Says Jewish Congress Leader

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The president of the American Jewish Congress says Arab investments in U.S. companies are good for the economy but steps should be taken to prevent boycotts and discrimination.

"Such investment is both inevitable and welcome as a stimulus to our economy," said Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg. "At the same time, however, Arab investment must not be permitted to distort the political, institutional, business practices or foreign policy of our country."

Speaking Sunday to 400 delegates at the start of a three-day convention of the American Jewish Congress Women's Division, Rabbi Hertzberg suggested creation of a federal agency to compel disclosure of foreign investment in U.S. companies and to report on the extent of foreign ownership of American enterprise.

The Red Crow Drive-In—Tony states: "When you strike out on your own, you start at the bottom and learn as you go. That's what Red Crow did when he started that Red Crow Drive-In in 1955. Today more time is spent teaching new staff members customer relations, courtesy, service, appreciation, and dependability. Red Crow goes one step beyond."

Preparations Available For Repairs To Masonry

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. Our fireplace is of a light sandy beige color. We assume this is the original color, but due to the former owner having burned garbage and other waste products in the fireplace, part of the stone facing is smudged with a dirty, sooty color that still remains after several washings and scrubbing with strong detergents. We would like to have your suggestions of what we can do, other than sandblasting the stone, to get a uniform color on the whole face of the fireplace. It measures 48x34 inches. The hearth of the same kind of stone is 20x24 inches. — G.A.L.

A. Cleaning and etching preparations for brick, stone and other masonry surfaces are available at large hardware stores and masonry supply dealers. Get the kind that contains no muriatic acid and follow label directions carefully.

Another suggestion: use a fine steel wool and a strong detergent or mechanic's hand soap containing sand, followed by ample rinsing with clear water to remove all trace of the cleaner. If the soiling is too deeply embedded for removal of the stains by this method, rub the stone surface with carborundum block, available at paint and hardware dealers. This method will require plenty of "elbow grease."

However, a fresh, smooth surface of stone will be exposed. Q. Can you tell me how to get rust stains off a kitchen sink. I have tried several cleansers, but these do not remove the stains.

A. Mix one part sodium citrate to six parts of water and six parts of commercial glycerine.

Sharon Antonelli registered the guests. Sue Westbrook, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the coffee service. Christy and Lori Westbrook, sisters of the honoree, assisted in the gift display room.

DEAR ORIGINATOR: Thanks a lot, but there's enough swapping going on without my starting a swap shop. In other words, "DASS" ist nicht fur mich.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old woman who has been going with a wonderful 69-year-old gentleman. He says he loves me, needs me, and wants to marry me.

I care for him so much, but here is my problem. When we first met, I told him that I had been widowed once and divorced once, as I had no intentions of getting involved with him, but here is the true story of my life.

When I was 17, I had a baby boy out of wedlock whom my mother kept until I married the following year. I had another child with this husband, and was divorced four years later.

I married a second time and divorced eight years later. No children. I married a third time and had two sons. That marriage lasted 22 years. My husband deserted me. After that I couldn't go out with another man until I met the one I'm going with now.

He is pressing me for an answer, and I don't know how much of my past I should tell him.

Although I was married and divorced three times I was never untrue to any of my husbands. This man says he hates a liar, so I'm afraid I'll lose him if he finds me to be the one. Help me.

D. IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR D: There is no substitute for honesty. Tell him of your past marriages and divorces, but don't go into details. Explain that had you known that your relationship would develop into a serious one, you'd have been more factual, but you were reluctant to tell a comparative stranger that you were a three-time loser. He'll understand.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18, and the youngest of all the women in our family. I am also the only unmarried woman in the family and I intend to stay that way. Do you want to know why?

Because all my sisters' husbands do is insult them. I never heard one of those husbands compliment his wife

Create Padded Cell With Monotone Theme

By ADELE FAULNER
Copley News Service

The No. 1 complaint about apartment living is the noise factor. There's the noise you want to keep out and your own private noise you hope to keep in.

Everyone has had to cope with those noisy, inconsiderate neighbors. There's the guy next door who is studying to be a drummer, perhaps a noble ambition, but not at 6 o'clock in the morning.

And, who hasn't lived beneath a couple who insisted on playing the same set of records over and over with their stereo system turned up full blast?

All day long, we are surrounded by noise, confusion and frustration, so it becomes increasingly important for homes to be designed as a place to find serenity and inner quiet.

One place should be set aside in your apartment as a private "cell"—a special retreat where you can go to get away from it all. Often, it happens to be the bathroom, but a bedroom could be turned into your "recovery" area.

Use Carpeting
One way to keep noise out is through the use of carpeting.

on the walls. It not only blocks outside sounds, but absorbs your noise so that private conversations don't become the public knowledge of your neighbors.

Carpeting, however, may be too costly for most budgets.

A less expensive way to insulate against noise is by draping the entire room with a sound absorbent material.

You also could select a fabric which comes with a laminated foam rubber back and affix it to the wall the same as wallpaper.

Furniture, too, can be used to muffle sound. A good way to add some quiet space between you and the neighbors is to install bookcases along the walls adjoining the two apartments.

Noise can be combated effectively with more noise. To block out the neighbors' noise, make some of your own by playing low-key music.

Another big annoyance comes from the pitter-patter of feet, especially high heels, on a linoleum floor. To be a considerate neighbor, serious thought should be given to putting carpeting on both the bathroom and kitchen floors. (It also makes it warmer and more comfortable for you.)

There are many new patterns and designs in practical and easy-to-clean kitchen carpeting. It can be installed simply by laying it on the existing floor with a release adhesive.

Colors also can do much to help create a peaceful, serene atmosphere. Most people find tranquility in colors of a grayed light value.

You can literally create your own "padded cell" by using a monotonous color scheme. The same soft color is used on the walls and ceiling and carried through to draperies which are hung all the way around the room.

Accessories such as sheets, bedspread and rugs in the bedroom can be in the same color using light and dark values such as sky blue and navy or beige and brown. This becomes your place, so enjoy it.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Heloise Metes Out A Time Saver!

Dear Folks:
Move it over because I'm coming in for a visit and I intend shouting... I learned something a long time ago that I should have told you about then. Why I haven't, I don't know. Lazy maybe?

It's about defrosting meat. Whether it's a package of frozen chops, hamburger, or what.

We usually just pull it out of our freezer and put it on the drainboard to defrost and wonder why it takes so long. Because we JUST put it on the drain. That's why.

For years I have always put a spoon under the package to let the air under it so that it will thaw faster. Lately I just pick up a grill from one of the burners on my stove, put it on a newspaper on the drainboard, put the frozen package of meat on the grill and let her thaw away. Much better.

I do suggest that you don't put your meat on the stove itself, because some meats bleed and drain while thawing. Might save you a clean-up mess on your stove later, honeybuns. So remember this when thawing a roast next time. That is if you can afford one.

Ugh!
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
My husband has one favorite hat, and everyday I have been changing the hatband to match his outfit. I had been using the bands from his other hats, but today I discovered that the outdated, skinny ties I had been saving could easily be converted for just that purpose.

It certainly widens the selection and offers a challenge to see what I can come up with! My husband loves his "total" look and I don't mind seeing the same old hat so much.

Olivia S. Butler

Dear Heloise:
My fridge abuts my cabinets just to the right of my sink. I have placed a "stick-on" holder with four or five hooks on it on the side of the fridge near the top.

Then to hold the towels more securely I saw a bone ring to the center of the long edge of the towel and hang the towel up by this ring.

No more dish towels slipping onto the floor now. I also use one of the hooks to hold my ice tongs (right at the fridge at my finger tips).

Vivarium Store Sells Lizards

NEW YORK (AP) — Vern and Susan French believe lizards will make perfect pets for New York people — or, at least, that's what they hope. The Frenches have launched the only vivarium store in the city. They sell lizards, iguanas, armadillos, swifts, toads, newts, salamanders and tortoises and tiny plants and everything to keep tiny animals healthy and happy in enclosures that closely simulate their natural environment. "There are enough dogs in the city already," said Susan French. "These are perfect pets for New York City people." The dictionary defines vivariums as places "for keeping and observing animals and plants indoors."

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

"Thy Word is Truth" — (John 17:17)
by Bryan Boal

Lydia was an unusual woman in the first century world. She was one of the few women who was engaged in commercial business. She was a dealer in purple dye and goods which were produced in her home city of Thyatira. Acts 16 tells us that Lydia was unusual for a more important reason: her greatest desire was to obey God. Therefore, it comes as no surprise that she obeyed the gospel of Christ when the apostle Paul came to Philippi where Lydia was transacting business. Her heart was opened to the good news about Jesus Christ, and she was baptized. Her response follows the divine pattern given in the book of Acts: baptism following hearing and believing gospel preaching. Lydia serves as a good example for us today. Public Schools Week

The annual observance of Texas Public Schools Week opens today, with the emphasis this year being placed on involvement and communications.

Better communications between the public and the public schools perhaps would result in more involvement on the part of citizens, and this certainly would work to the advantage of both schools and the citizenry.

And perhaps the best way to get into the spirit of the occasion would be to visit one or more public schools. All citizens are invited to do this very thing, and you would be welcomed by administrators, faculty members and students.

This observance offers an excellent opportunity for you as a concerned parent and citizen to take a close look at your school district. Is it doing what you expect of it? Public schools take a large bite from your tax dollar, and you should be interested.

It also is well, in thinking about the observance, to remember that this marks the 121st year of public schools in the Lone Star State. Think, if you will, of the many marvelous advances made in the field of education during this period of time.

Education is the foundation of society, and it is through a consistently high level of public education that America has become the great nation that it is.

Midland also has been most fortunate in this connection, the community's public schools long having been recognized among the best anywhere.

This is why it is so important to continue to improve the quality of education, which in turn plays a leading role in maintaining and improving our way of life.

Education undoubtedly is more vital now than ever before in understanding and living in today's complex society. This makes it all the more important for citizens to support their local public school system in doing the best job possible in the area of public education.

The following paragraphs, signed "Your Public Schools," are worthy of special note as Texans salute their public schools:

"I am the backbone of the nation, the bulwark of democracy;

"I reach beyond the limits of present knowledge;

"I foster the development of individual capacities for fifty million young Americans;

"I enable them to become the best they are capable of becoming, for I impart the gift of seeing.

"I am the chief instrument for keeping this nation the fabled land of opportunity it started out to be;

"I am looking for leaders with vision, men and women with confidence, who believe in the future and who know how to make the most of it, for themselves and others."

THE BIBLE

Can you quote it? By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER

1. The tares spoken of in Matthew 13, of the bearded darnell plant, resembles wheat and often is poisonous to humans, because of parasitic growths in them.

2. Name the young boy's dream, which is recorded in Genesis 37.

3. Name the O.T. prophet whom Jesus quoted as prophesying, "Behold my servant, whom I have chosen." Matthew 12

4. What happened to the five kings who hid in the cave of Makkedah (Mak-KEY-da)? Joshua 10:23-28.

5. What people were excluded from the Israelite's Book of Law? Nehemiah 13:1.

Four correct . . . excellent. Three Correct . . . good.

Void In Washington Declared Outright

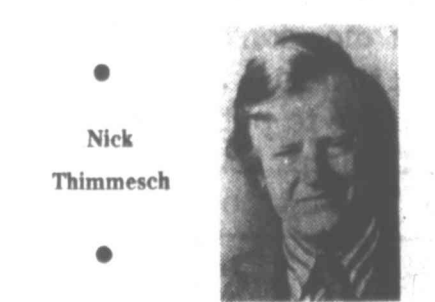

WASHINGTON — First it was said in guarded, hushed tones. Now some are brave enough to declare it outright. There is something missing in this town, a sense of leadership. Moreover, there is the eerie realization that the pre-Watergate President Nixon provided what is so sorely lacking now.

Whatever one concludes about Nixon as President, he imparted a sense of command and sparked an adversary relationship with his political foes which was creative and also kept them alert.

There is no such alertness now. These days, this town is more stupefied than activist. The pre-Watergate Nixon and his opponents played hard ball, but it was big league. What we have now is dreary, almost pointless, sandlot-boring and meandering.

In the years before the Nixon Presidency crumbled, there was lively disputation over Vietnam, the defense budget, revenue sharing, school busing and school integration. There were fights over the establishment of the Domestic Affairs Council, the Office of Management and Budget, the Council on Environmental Quality, indeed, the Environmental Protection Agency itself.

They came to fight, the Nixon people and the adversaries, and somehow Vietnam ended; revenue sharing and all the rest became productive realities. Something happened, maybe not enough, but something happened.

spiced occasionally with gossip about how Mr. Ford's Grand Rapids corps resents the possible reaches for power from Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller's office.

No, Richard Nixon cannot come back, nor does he deserve to. It's all over. He bungled the Watergate scandal. Whether it was bad judgment or arrogance, he let his popular support waste away. Then he lied to the American people, and even left them with the dangerous notion that all politicians—in both parties—conducted their affairs Watergate style.

At the least, he deserved censure. Those who still hate him wish he would burn in hell, no less. I suspect the American people feel the pardon was right, but still wonder how it came about that the first President in history was forced out of office.

His son-in-law, David Eisenhower, an independent thinker, disagrees with his wife, Julie, and others in the family,

'Ask Not What You Can Do For Your Country— But Rather What You Can Do To Get Votes'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — As the fighting over Cambodia approaches the showdown stage, according to classified cables from the U.S. embassy, Communist forces have turned upon the civilian population with a sudden savagery.

The cables describe a bloodbath in the countryside. Villages have been destroyed, and the inhabitants "have been ruthlessly executed by knife and burning." Even small children have been brutalized.

"The enemy appears to have shifted some of the focus of his attacks from the battlefield to the village," ambassador John Gunther Dean has reported in a grim message to the State Department.

"Ignoring static (government) defensive military positions, the enemy has concentrated their attacks on villages, directing their fire at villagers."

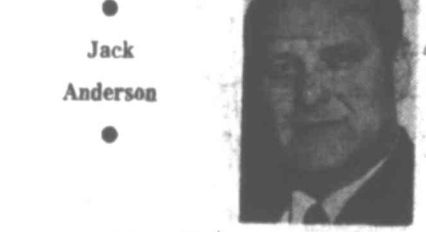

Villagers who resist Communist overtures, says Dean, are declared the "main enemy," with Buddhist monks next and government troops third.

"This is not an isolated phenomena," (sic) claims Dean, "but rather seems to be indicative of a new enemy strategy to inflict even more suffering on the civilian population of Cambodia."

The classified cables refer to the opposing forces by their French initials. Government troops are called FANK, and Communist guerrillas are identified as KC.

"FANK has not shown the ability to protect villages from Communist attack," Dean reports tersely. ". . . KC, by keeping refugees off farmland and nonproductive, continues to demoralize their spirit."

Our intelligence sources point out that terror has been used by both sides in Cambodia. Government troops have been accused in the past of ugly atrocities. But the reports from the Cambodian hinterland have seldom been more horrifying.

One cable, telling of an assault upon the refugee camp of Tuol Trach, declares: "Ten villagers were killed, 10 wounded and a few are still missing."

Six of the 10 villagers killed were young children, under 10 years of age, and were brutally executed by knife and bayonet after being captured by the enemy."

Dean offers this assessment of the new Communist ruthlessness: "Inquiries as to motives of the enemy have produced a similarity of response, with the answers varying only in degree of sophistication."

"The refugees express the view that the KC forces control most of the land area but need more people. The attacks are seen by the refugees as enemy punishment inflicted on them for rejecting KC offers to come over to the KC side, or to cease cooperating with the Phnom Penh side."

"Rather than trying to capture villagers and forcibly move them to KC-controlled territory, the refugees feel that the KC wants to demonstrate that FANK is unable to give protection. . . ."

"Military authorities . . . indicate that the enemy has concentrated on areas where there has been an active effort to put the villagers back into agricultural production, or where there is a strong government-supported village militia."

The cables report that "in some areas, village militia forces have been fairly effective against enemy attacks because the village men sometimes stay and

INSIDE REPORT

U.S. And Israel On Collision Course?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

JERUSALEM — Israel and the U.S. may be veering toward collision, a potential tragedy which would have dangerous repercussions on the Arab-Israeli struggle and might plunge this shining, emblematic nation into a crisis of politics and self-doubt.

Storm signals are flying, with Israeli politicians conceding deep uncertainty how to manage the policy divisions between Jerusalem and Washington over a second-stage withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai.

The widening gap between Israel's view of American obligations and a more skeptical view of Israeli policy by U.S. politicians was dramatized when Ambassador Kenneth Keating received a private briefing on the new Israeli budget. After explaining their request for $2.500 billion in new U.S. aid, finance minister Yousha Rabinowitz was stunned that Keating, according to one official present, declined to give the request automatic approval.

Rabinowitz, grappling with a grave economic crisis, could not believe what he heard. Twisting his tie in unfeigned anxiety, he pleaded with Keating to tell Washington he fully supported the request. But Keating promised only that he would tell President Ford the request deserved serious consideration.

What is disturbing about the incident is not the size of the request but Rabinowitz's misreading of politics in an America mired in recession and vast deficit spending. It depletes the gap fight until their families have had a chance to flee to safety."

The cables also contend that "in spite of lack of protection which exposes villagers to daily attacks, and in spite of the many hardships of being a refugee on the (government) side, most refugees intimate that they would rather be poor and suffering—but have their freedom than live under the stifling regime of the KC."

WATCH ON WASTE: The Coast Guard has authorized Rear Adm. Glenn Thompson to spend $135,000 of the taxpayers' money on a house for himself in Juneau, Alaska. The plans include $10,800 for a heated, two-car garage and $2,800 for landscaping. He'll also get a $4,000 annual allowance to maintain the place. A Coast Guard spokesman explained that the admiral needed the $135,000 home "to fulfill his social and business obligations in an atmosphere consistent with his position."

The taxpayers foot the bill to haul 122 military children from Andrews Air Force Base to private schools in the Washington, D.C. area. Five blue military vans, complete with drivers, transport the youngsters to 12 different schools within a 20-mile radius.

The Transportation Department shelled out $1,300 not to mention hundreds of dollars worth of man hours, to compile a 290-page information directory. But the directory, apparently, contained more information than the top brass wanted to put out. So all but some file copies hastily were shoved into the shredder.

To most Israelis, helping the U.S. for granted while creating conditions to make it demonstrably harder for U.S. policy to succeed is not at all contradictory. An army major told us: "We are the ones living in constant danger, not you! All we ask from you are tools to do the job."

The shrewd, articulate Menachem Begin, leader of the hawkish opposition party Likud, put it more dramatically: "Where is the nation that would commit such a folly as taking risks for peace?" With convictions like that widespread, a collision with the one true friend Israel has left is ominously possible.

But while Congress has acted to give the people access to more of the executive branch's modus operandi, Congress also has unintentionally revealed a large vein of hypocrisy that runs through that body politic.

You see, there is no Freedom of Information Act that applies to Congress. One of Ralph Nader's investigators plans to use the new law to get copies of letters between the Department of Transportation and Detroit concerning auto safety standards.

Chances are good that he will get them. But should that same investigator claim a citizen's right to see auto safety legislation files in the House and Senate committees that draft such bills, he would laugh off Capitol Hill.

Inside information is made public only when a politician thinks it is in his best political interests to release it.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE—

Information Freedom Except For Congress

By BENJAMIN SHORE Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "Freedom of information" has such a nice democratic ring to it that President Johnson signed the first such law on the Fourth of July in 1966.

A decade in the making, the Freedom of Information Act was intended to force the people's government to open up its files to the people, unless . . .

Of course, it was all the "unless" that made the law far less effective than the Congress had hoped. The weakness was caused primarily by nine categories of exemptions, such as national security or trade secrets.

These exemptions were broad enough to permit clever bureaucrats to circumvent the intent of the law in most cases.

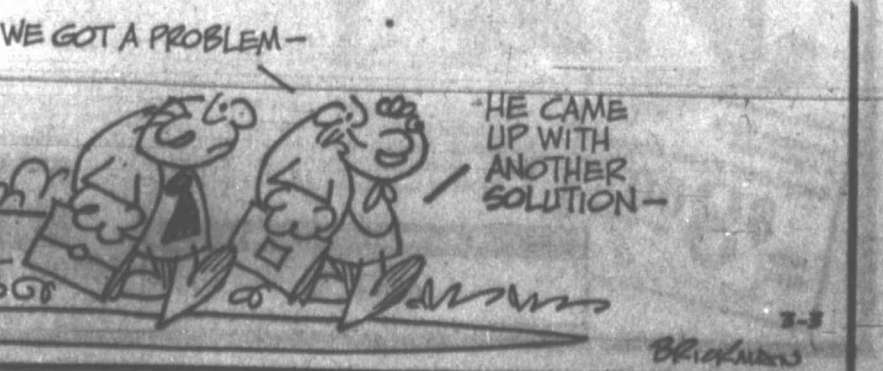

So for the next eight years, Congress and citizens gathered evidence of the law's ineffectiveness. It was amended late last year to close loopholes, and the refurbished law went into effect the small society

"I'm worried about what historians will say 50 to 100 years from now," Waldie told the paper. "I'm worried that they will not be as aware as we are of his complicity. . . ."

Waldie said the press "disliked Nixon immensely" and that Nixon would not have been forced out of office "if the press had not desired it," though Watergate coverage was not determined "in a monolithic way."

In contrast, according to Waldie, press coverage of the Rockefeller nomination was "abominable" and, despite Rockefeller's alleged involvement

Music Recital Available Here Sunday

It made what you were waiting for a warm, spring-like day, music certainly was available in Midland Sunday afternoon.

The choice was yours — a keyboard recital by a visiting concert pianist, or the Beethoven Ninth Symphony in all its glorious grandeur, presented by a visiting orchestra, chorus and soloists.

"Choice" is the key word here, because unless you were fleet of foot (or of ear) you couldn't hear both — unless you heard the first portion of the recital and arrived late for the symphony program. Perhaps that was the solution for some.

Regardless, I hope you heard at least one of the musical offerings because both were outstanding and either would have made the time spent indoors worthwhile, despite the tempting weather outside.

The piano recitalist was Dr. Aryl S. Paul, a member of the music faculty of The University of Texas-El Paso, while the orchestra, chorus and soloists came down from Texas Tech University at Lubbock. The Tech presentation here was a forerunner of the same program to be presented in Lubbock Friday night as one of the highlights of the current week's Festival of the Arts on the Tech campus.

Soloists in the final movement in Beethoven's monumental and majestic symphonic work were Tech faculty members Sara Sue Arnold, Judith Klier, John Gillis and William Estwell. They joined a massed choir numbering more than 200, and the Texas Tech University symphony orchestra, the work, widely regarded as the crowning achievement in Beethoven's prolific composing career. The presentation in Lee High Auditorium was under the baton of Paul Esworth. Gene Kenney had prepared the choral ensemble.

Dr. Paul, the piano recitalist, came to Midland to present a benefit program for the Wallace Wimberly Memorial Scholarship fund of the Midland Music Teachers' Association. The scholarship is awarded annually to a musically-gifted senior in the city who plans to continue keyboard studies at the college or university level.

The recitalist donated his time and talent to the scholarship fund, the works which he presented in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church are among those which he will be presenting during a three-week concert tour in Europe late this month.

Dr. Paul's program was wide-ranging, spanning the centuries from Bach to Debussy, but his keyboard diction was consistently impeccable. He seemed as much at ease in the cooler classical idiom as in the more lush romantic style, and displayed a particular affinity, I thought, for the stylistic demands of the impressionistic Debussy work.

The first segment of the program demonstrated Dr. Paul's innate musicality, the cerebral "feeling" for the colorations and shadings of the musical passages as intended by the composers. The second part demonstrated more than adequately the pianist's finely-honed keyboard technique. This second segment presented an unusually fine (sumptuous, really) reading of the Prelude, Sarabande and Toccata of Claude Debussy's "Pour le Piano." Also finely delineated in all its stylistic and tonal complexities was a seldom-performed sonata of Charles Griffes, an early 20th Century American composer. The recitalist demonstrated some fine pedaling and unusual fluency in this place which, although not for everyday hearing, certainly was an interesting encounter at least once.

And — perhaps just to show members new and old, Dr. Paul's program was a demonstration of the musicality of members of the faculty, who will have had their own above par performance, but, will go along with the members new and old, Dr. Paul's program

COMING TO MIDLAND—The 64-voice Chorus of Southwest Texas State University San Marcos, will be heard at 8 p.m., Tuesday in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church as part of its current West Texas concert tour. Admission to the program will be free. Director of the chorus is Henry Sellers, formerly the choral director at Robert E. Lee High School here.

Larry Mahan Wins All-Around Title At Houston; Hudson Wins Most Cash

HOUSTON (AP) — Larry Mahan of Dallas is the all-around champion of the Houston Livestock Show Rodeo. Mahan, a six-time world champion, claimed the title in the 43rd Houston rodeo Sunday night with a victory in saddle bronc riding. He won $3,042 in saddle bronc and bull riding through he failed to reach the finals in the latter event. The biggest cash winner, however, was Johnny Hudson of Paradise, Tex., who collected $5,055 in calf roping. Roping is Hudson's only event and that meant he couldn't qualify for all-around honors. Rusty Riddle of Weatherford, Tex., won $3,023 for his victory in bareback riding. Frank Shepperson of Midwest, Wyo., earned $2,797 in the steer wrestling and Butch Kirby of Greenville, Tex., won $2,703 with his bull riding championship. The rodeo drew 422,238 fans this year, up 10,725 from last year. Combined attendance for the rodeo and livestock show was 688,325, or 16,900 above last year.

Trotters' Magic Can Even Interrupt Wars

Hallie Bryant says he first realized the full impact the Harlem Globetrotters had on people back in 1958, one of his early years with the team.

"We were in Lima to begin a nine-day tour of Peru the day before civil war broke out in the country," he recalled.

"We were advised it would be inadvisable to play and we were at the airport waiting to leave when word got around that we were in Lima. The news media picked it up.

"Would you believe that they suspended the war for four days and we played our games in Lima," Hallie still shakes his head in disbelief. "Of course, they still had the curfew at night."

In 1958, the Trotters were in Algeria during the war with the French. "I was scared to death, but we played in several cities and there were no incidents."

When the famed basketball magicians make their annual visit to West Texas at Odessa's Ector County Coliseum Wednesday night, everybody can hang loose. There are no wars going on unless it's a gas war or two.

The Odessa stop is one of 27 Texas stops and before the year is over the Trotters will have played around 200 games on four continents.

If the New York Nationals beat the Trotters it will be the biggest upset since the Boston Shamrocks turned the trick two years ago.

Still, after 14 games in 14 Texas cities, the Trotters had 14 sellouts.

Bryant's explanation is that the Trotters combine good basketball and entertainment to produce a G-rated show. "No one comes away embarrassed," says Hallie.

After 20 active years with the Trotters,

Bryant is in his third year as advance man for the club.

Back in 1950, he played on one of those Houston Wheatley state champions.

Why did he pick the Trotters over the pros? "Back in those days they were just beginning to look at blacks from black colleges and contracts were loaded with ifs, ands and buts. I've never regretted it."

One of the new players with the Trotters is Jimmy Blacklock, the rookie from UT-Austin. "He's one of the best rookies we've had in five or six years."

To make the team, Blacklock had to survive a rookie tryout camp of 150. After two weeks of scrimmaging, the veterans come to camp and the young players who blend in best, we keep," says Bryant.

It has been 10 years since the Trotters and College All-Stars cross-country tour fell victim to an NCAA ruling on scholarship forfeitures and it has been even longer since the Trotters played the pro teams in exhibitions.

"The only team that holds an edge over us is the Minneapolis, now Los Angeles, Lakers, just one game. If we can pick up the seven-footer we want this year and work out some dates, we may just be playing some NBA teams again."

Until then it will be the Nationals, Shamrocks and Washington Colonels, the perfect foils for the Trotters' pleasing antics.

The Mid-Winter Conference of Texas High School Athletic Directors began its two-day run this morning, but ADA from throughout the state were checking in all day Sunday at the Holiday Inn headquarters.

And by Sunday night most of the visitors were swapping yarns and discussing mutual problems at an informal gathering.

They were here from all over, Joe Golding from Wichita Falls, Bill Stages from Galveston, Paul Smith from Galena Park, Bob Burris from Big Spring, Bob Harrell from Irvin and a late arrival was Dee Jones from Liberty to name a few at random.

Most are familiar with Midland and West Texas in one fashion or another. Burris and Jones both coached in Midland, Harrell coached against Midland teams while at Lamson and Sab Angelo and Stages and Smith both were involved in exciting football series with Midland.

For Smith and Stages, the ADA convention in the tall city was an opportunity to renew acquaintances with teammates from the old Mosaic Home teams in Fort Worth and they reviewed the Rusty Russell days with Midlanders Donkey Roberts and Judge Perry Pickett.

Stages was an assistant to Pete Ragus at Corpus Christi Miller in 1964-65 when "we played those Wahoo McDaniel teams."

"We couldn't wait to get Melbourne, Australia (AP) — "I've whipped Jimmy. Now it's Ali's turn. I don't care where I fight him. I just want to see him on the other side of the ring."

Smokin' Joe Frazier was speaking Sunday in his dressing room, wrapped in a bright yellow towel. He'd easily dispatched a tired and defenseless Jimmy Ellis in nine rounds, and nothing seemed to matter now but a fight with Ali.

"I feel great," he whooped suddenly. "I feel like I could take Muhammad right now."

Frazier beat Ali in 1971 but lost to him in January 1974. But he hardly has a return date with the champion in the bag. All Ali has said is that he'd "talk about" facing the winner of the Melbourne fight. And in the meantime, the champion has a fight March 24 with Chuck Wepner, and says he wants to give George Foreman a rematch.

Murphy Glad To Be Back

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Bob Murphy has a pitiful grin, perhaps, Irish as he is, it should be called a leprechaun's smile—spread across his round, red face.

"I just thought that since Johnny Miller wasn't here I'd better take advantage of it," he said.

The green-clad Murphy turned back suddenly-stricken Jack Nicklaus and eager Eddie Pearce with two dramatic shots boys," the broadly-beaming in the stretch run and won the Murphy said after his closing, $50,000 first prize Sunday in the four-under-par 68 had brought Jackie Gleason Golf Classic. him from three strokes off the "It's been a long, long time, peace."

"I just had the feeling today that if the wind would blow, maybe blow some of those shots a little, maybe I'd get lucky."

"And that's exactly what happened. The wind blew. It blew Jack Nicklaus shot out of bounds and opened the gate for Murphy. And Murphy got lucky. He hit an eight iron shot that hit in the right of the pin on the 19th green and hepped dead at the flagstick as if drawn by a magnet."

IN SWC CHASE— Ags, Tech Head For Wire

By The Associated Press
Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf says he expects to see a lot of man-to-man defense in his team's last two games, which will determine the outcome of the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Aggies, owning a one game lead a week ago, today share first place with Texas Tech after the Red Raiders whipped them by 10 points last Tuesday night with a man-to-man defense.

Saturday night, Texas Christian tried the same tactic but the horses weren't there and A&M took a 94-81 victory, preserving the tie at 10-2 with Tech, an easy 78-51 victor over Texas.

"I was not surprised that TCU ran a man-for-man Tech beat us with that Tuesday night," said Metcalf. "No one has beat us with a zone this year. We had to win, but we also had to get some momentum after that loss to Tech."

The Aggies travel to Dallas Tuesday night to play Southern Methodist and host Texas Saturday, while Tech's last two games are at Baylor and at home against TCU. A playoff will be necessary if the tie stands.

Tech got 27 points from the SWC's leading scorer, Rick Myers. "The Texas zone is real tough. You have to really prepare for it."

Bailey finished with just 14 points in the game, but his six of seven shooting performance at the beginning gave Tech an early 14-4 lead.

Bullock, but it was a 12-point spurge in the opening minutes by Phil Bailey that shattered Texas' zone defense and put the contest in the Red Raiders' control.

"The key to the game was Bailey hitting his outside shots early," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers.

Introducing Monticello: The newest in a whole new generation of power plants.

The first 575,000 kilowatt generating unit at the new lignite coal-fired Monticello generating station is now in operation. Right behind it and still under construction is Unit #2, which will have the same capacity.

The first 575,000 kilowatt generating unit at the new Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant, Texas, is now in service.

Monticello is the second lignite plant Texas Electric has built in cooperation with two other electric companies. The first, Big Brown, is near Fairfield and has been in operation for three years now.

These lignite plants are an important part of Texas Electric's system. We're building them because new supplies of natural gas and oil, our traditional fuels, are hard to get and extremely expensive.

In 1975, about 20% of our total generation will be fueled by lignite coal. By 1980, we'll add two other units at Monticello and four at a new site near Martin Lake. Lignite will then account for almost one-half of our total generation.

Power plants that use lignite fuel are much more costly. But lignite itself is less expensive than other fuels. Its use will help us keep the price of electricity from increasing as much as it would if we tried to depend on expensive new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

New lignite plants like Monticello are helping do the job.

Marketbasket Survey Shows Some Food Costs Down

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers who kept a careful eye on which items they purchased found lower prices at the grocery store during February, according to an Associated Press survey which showed sales on protein-rich beef and eggs.

Shoppers who wanted nonfood items such as laundry detergent or fabric softener were out of luck. So were some people with a sweet tooth: the price of granulated sugar declined or stayed steady, but the cost of chocolate chip cookies increased.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1975 in a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked at the start of each succeeding month.

Among the findings in the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill declined in nine cities during February and increased in four. Over-all, there was an average drop of nine-tenths of one percent during the month. In January, the bill declined in seven cities and was up in six.

—The marketbasket bill was up an average of 94 per cent in the two-year period that ended March 1. Sixteen per cent of the increase came in the last 12 months.

—The biggest savings in February came at the beef counter. The price of a pound of chopped chuck declined at the survey supermarket in eight cities, down an average of 17 per cent. The price was up in two cities and unchanged in three. At the start of this month, the price of chopped chuck was lower than it was a year ago in every city checked. Increased beef supplies are credited with causing the drop.

—The price of a five-pound bag of granulated sugar decreased in six cities, stayed the same in six and was up in only one — Chicago. The declines reflect recent drops in wholesale prices that occurred because of supply buildups. The president of the National Association of Food Chains, Clarence Adams, said Friday that the American consumer was the hero of the sugar price drop. Consumers refused to buy when prices reached $5 or more for five pounds and the price for a 14 1/2-ounce bag of chocolate chip cookies was more than $1 at the start of March. Part of the reason for the increase is that the cookies reaching the shelves now were manufactured with sugar purchased before the price started to decline.

—Eggs dropped in price in 10 cities, continuing the downward trend that started last year.

—Laundry detergent increased in price in eight cities, up an average of 6 per cent. Part of the boost is due to higher costs for ingredients that have a petroleum base.

Government economists and industry spokesmen predict food costs generally will continue rising for the first half of this year, although at a slower rate than last year. They are hoping that prices will start to decline in the second half of 1975 if harvests are as large as anticipated.

Prices paid to farmers have been dropping steadily, but retailers say they are unable to pass the savings on to the consumer because of high costs for nonfood items such as transportation and labor.

The AP did not attempt to compare actual prices from city to city — for say, for example, that cookies cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 per cent in one city and 6 per cent in another.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 2.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its report, says the figures do not correspond to actual family food spending and are used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Cold Canadian Air Nips At Tobacco, Peach Crops

By The Associated Press

Cold air descending from Canada crept into the southeastern section of the country today, causing possible crop damage in central Georgia and the Florida Panhandle.

The National Weather Service reported early today that temperatures in some portions of the region had dipped below freezing. Extended forecasts predicted temperatures throughout the area would fall below the freezing point later in the day causing some damage to tobacco and peach crops.

Unseasonably low temperatures in northern Florida lingered near the freezing point, while southern Floridians enjoyed sunny skies and mid-60 degree temperatures.

Elsewhere, fair weather continued in South Central Texas where temperatures were expected to approach the 70 degree mark. Below zero temperatures were recorded in some portions of the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Proposed Ford Budget Could Reduce School Lunch Program 24 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's proposal to eliminate school lunch subsidies for all but the neediest children could mean a 24 per cent drop in the number of students buying lunch at school, government experts say.

The plan to trim $600 million from federal child nutrition spending next year also could mean that children from more affluent families would have to pay an additional $1.05 a week to eat at schools.

All Students New Benefit

Federal subsidies equal to 21 cents a lunch now benefit all students and are part of a federal program that will cost more than $1.9 billion this year. The program is expected to cost nearly $2.3 billion next year, according to the Agriculture Department.

The existing subsidies consist of a half-dozen child nutrition programs which carry specific federal payment formulas.

"Block Grant" System

In a move to save money, the Ford administration is urging that this system be discarded and a system of "block grants" be substituted. These grants would be offered to the states to continue school lunch aid for needy children, which are de-

Old 'Domino Theory' Revived In Drive For More Asian Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old "domino theory" is being revived and broadened by top U.S. officials who warn of "serious consequences" for the United States around the world if Cambodia or South Vietnam fall because American aid is cut off.

The theory, formulated nearly 21 years ago as the French were on the verge of defeat in Indochina, held generally that the loss of one country to Communist aggression would lead to neighboring countries falling under Communist domination, one after another.

However, the latest version of the theory looks beyond Indochina for its predicted impact.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke of the "falling domino principle" on April 7, 1954, a month before the Communist Viet Minh victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

Asked to comment on "the strategic importance of Indochina to the free world," Eisenhower replied:

"You have a row of dominoes set up. You knock over the first one, and what will happen to the last one is the certainty that it will go over very quickly. So you could have a beginning of a disintegration that would have the most profound influence."

The French soon lost Indochina, but the whole area did not go Communist, a fact that is often cited by opponents of the theory. As a result of an international conference, the country was partitioned into a Communist North Vietnam, a non-Communist South Vietnam, and independent regimes in Cambodia and Laos.

The domino theory came up repeatedly during the national debate over U.S. military involvement in Vietnam in the 1960s and early 1970s.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Bodies of two men missing since separate boating accidents Jan. 19 were recovered Sunday by fishermen.

The body of Robert Lee Perkins, 35, of Watauga was found by Troy Markam, 16, about noon at Lake Benbrook.

Another body taken from Lake Proctor about 5:30 p.m. Sunday was identified by Comanche County authorities as that of John W. Glass, 28, lost in a boating accident that took the lives of two other Fort Worth men. It was found floating near the bank by Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Carl Simpson of DeLeon.

Thai Government To Seek Complete U.S. Withdrawal

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand's new government is going to call for the withdrawal of all American forces stationed in the country within 18 months unless a critical military situation exists then, Defense Minister Thawit Seniwong told newsmen today.

Gen. Thawit said this would be part of the policy statement the new prime minister, Seni Pramot, makes to the House of Representatives on Thursday. His coalition government is expected to have an uncertain future because it does not command a majority in the house.

Thawit said the policy statement was first drafted to call for the American withdrawal "as soon as possible." He declined to say why it was changed.

There are about 25,000 U.S. military personnel and 350 military aircraft stationed at air bases in Thailand, American military spokesmen say.

Bail Forfeiture Checks Uncovered After Two Years

DALLAS (AP) — Two checks totalling $1,015 and written to Dallas County to pay for a bail bond forfeiture lay in a former assistant district attorney's desk for more than a year before being discovered last month.

Wilson Johnston, dismissed from the district attorney's office as part of a payroll cut-back, found the checks for $1,000 and $15 as he cleaned out his desk.

He now is a briefing attorney for district judges.

District Clerk Bill Shaw said the missing checks came to light late last year but apparently got buried again in paper work.

Johnston said he apparently put the checks in his desk when he received them in 1973 and then forgot about them. He was handling bail bond forfeitures for the district attorney at the time.

The senator said he hopes to be able to return to his job within a month.

Defense Deputy Expects Major Blood Bath If Cambodia Falls

DALLAS (AP) — Cambodia will fall to pro-Communist forces if Congress refuses to approve additional aid, Deputy Secretary of Defense William Clements has warned.

Clements predicted that Cambodia will suffer "one of the worst bloodbaths in history" without the additional $222 million in aid requested by President Ford.

Clements was in Dallas Saturday for the Dallas Military Ball, at which Adm. James L. Holloway III, chief of naval operations, was guest of honor.

But Clements said he could give no guarantee that aid for ammunition, food, and fuel would save Cambodia. Congress has already approved $275 million in military and economic aid to help Cambodia through June 30.

"Southeast Asia feels Cambodia has a U.S. commitment," Clements said. He warned that "an enormous amount of unrest" would follow in other areas of Southeast Asia.

He said the U.S. policy goal should be to attempt peace negotiations "somewhat along the lines of what happened in Laos." President Ford said last week that such a settlement is possible if Cambodian forces can hold out until May, when the dry season ends.

Although the U.S. Navy holds an edge over the Russian navy, Holloway said a "real threat" will exist in the next decade if the U.S. fleets are not replenished.

He added that comparing navies is "like comparing a hockey team and a football team," because of their different roles.

Clements headed Sedco Inc., a Dallas oil firm, before accepting his defense post two years ago.

14-Year Old Heidi Biggs Dies At Close Of 'Dream Vacation'

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — "She got to see her dream didn't she?" asked Heidi Biggs' mother. "She got to see Hawaii."

Fourteen-year-old Heidi died of cancer Sunday, less than an hour after she was carried on a stretcher from a plane returning her home from Honolulu.

Terminally ill with a rare form of the disease, the trip had been her secret wish — the dream of a dying girl from a welfare family.

Wanted, One Thing More Her mother, Mrs. Lucille Biggs, said that at the end Heidi asked one thing more: She wanted to say goodbye to her younger brother and sister. But she died as the ambulance rushed her home to them.

"We wanted to take her straight to the hospital," Mrs. Biggs said in an interview. "But she insisted on going home. She knew it was her time. She wanted to see Toby and Eva before she passed away."

Heidi learned last summer she was dying and doctors said she had less than a year to live. Deeply religious and a member of the Apostolic Church of God, a fundamentalist church, she put her trust in God.

Sustained By Faith Her mother said that the girl's faith sustained her through the chemical therapy that disfigured her and through the pain that never left.

"I pray and I believe," Heidi said last Christmas. "I believe that if I die I'll be with God and I'll be safe with Him."

An Associated Press story about her final Christmas touched Russell Penny, a Canadian businessman in Sudbury, Ontario. He flew to Belleville to meet Heidi.

She told him what she had told no one else: she had seen a television travelogue about Hawaii and it was a place she secretly dreamed of seeing.

Penny helped organize a trust fund for the trip and people from all over the country contributed.

On Feb. 15, with $2,400 collected, Heidi and her mother left for Hawaii. They planned to stay a week, but after enough money was contributed for Randy Hillman to join them, they stayed longer. Hillman was Mrs. Biggs' last husband.

Dallas Bank Fights IRS On Records

DALLAS (AP) — A North Dallas bank which refused to turn over records to the Internal Revenue Service investigating one of its customers goes to court Wednesday in a legal battle over the government's right to examine bank records.

Preston State Bank thus far has refused to let the IRS examine bank documents ranging from signature cards and bank statements to credit files and loan ledger sheets concerning Dallas resident Ralph Flanders. The IRS is investigating the tax liabilities of Flanders.

IRS Goes To Court Bank President Weldon Howell refused to open the bank's financial records to a general IRS examination when directed to do so by Dec. 11, 1974.

The IRS took the bank to court and U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor ordered a show cause hearing for Wednesday.

"We're in a tight place here," Howell said. "We certainly want to obey the law, but we must try to protect our customers' interest as best we can."

"We are going to ask the IRS to define more clearly what they want and what our obligations are under the law. It would be a lot easier just to say 'have at it' but you've got to protect the right to privacy; it's important to us all," he said.

Howell noted that the U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled the IRS can issue a "John Doe" summons for bank records without specifying the taxpayer being investigated.

Lawyers for the American Bank Association said they expect many banks would continue to challenge the summons power in hopes of getting lower courts to set limits on individual investigations.

'John Doe' Ruling Howell said if Judge Taylor orders Preston State Bank to obey the summons, the bank will ask reimbursement for the cost of separating and producing the documents. A federal judge in Pennsylvania has ruled that banks should receive payment for such expenses, he said.

Texans Find Kissinger's Statements No Surprise

HOUSTON (AP) — An announcement by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger of a possible change in United States foreign policy toward Cuba was no surprise, two Houston political scientists say.

Dr. Robert Dix of Rice University and Dr. Phillip Taylor of the University of Houston said Sunday the only surprise element in Kissinger's weekend remarks here was that he made a major Latin American policy speech in Houston.

During a Saturday speech to members of 10 civic groups here Kissinger hinted the end of a hemispheric embargo against Cuba is near and said this could be a start toward possible normalization of relations between Cuba and the United States.

Kissinger hosted an "intimate" dinner party for some 20 prominent persons in the city and state Saturday night and departed the city early Sunday.

In commenting on Kissinger's remarks, Dix and Taylor said the U.S. government would have been forced, within a short time to make a decision to reestablish trade and domestic relations with Cuba.

Both professors said the Organization of American States (OAS), which includes many Latin American countries as well as the United States, probably will both soon lift sanctions against Cuba with or without American approval.

"The Latin American countries are going to vote Castro back," Dix said. "The United States would look very foolish if it did not go along. We have larger aims than just Cuba."

"Kissinger is seeking a new kind of relationship with Latin America. Cuba's relationship with Latin America is fairly secondary I think. To poison our relationship with Latin America is counter productive."

Schoolman Accuses Dallas Of Ignoring Race Problems

POTTSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Dallas School Supt. Nolan Estes says failure of city, county, church and business leaders to eliminate "institutional racism" is in effect "ripping kids off."

It was the first time Estes has openly blasted the community for neglecting problems of institutional racism.

At a school administrators' retreat here with ethnic advisory groups, Estes said, "For the most part the community's leaders have remained painfully silent."

Estes said there is "no way" the school district can deal with the problem without community help.

The Dallas school district is under federal court order to do away with institutional racism, as reflected in its discipline practices that, in the past, have resulted in disproportionate numbers of minority students being suspended.

In response to Estes' statements, Dallas Chamber of Commerce President David Cooley said he would invite Estes to appear before the chamber board of directors to "define his affirmative action program and delineate, as near as possible, the role the chamber is to play."

Plano Approves Huge Bond Issue

PLANO, Tex. (AP) — Voters have approved a $26 million bond issue for a 10-point capital improvements program.

City Manager David Griffin said a moderate tax increase will be necessary if building costs continue to rise.

Included in the program are $790,000 for a library, $15,000,000 for streets and thoroughfares, $815,000 for a fire station, $725,000 for municipal building expansion, $2.5 million for park land acquisition and $2.9 million for park development.

Laredo Receives Plaque For Work On Old Air Base

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The City of Laredo has received the nation's first recognition plaque from the Defense Department for its efforts in converting a closed Air Force base to civilian use.

Bill Sheehan, chairman of the Federal Office of Economic Adjustments told city officials, as he turned over the base's deed to them, "The Laredo base has shown the greatest progress in economic adjustment from over 270 base closures across the nation since April 1, 1973."

The OEA has worked closely with Laredo officials since the base was ordered closed over two years ago. Laredo officials have leased base property and buildings to 30 industries and restored civilian employment to 500. The base, at one time, employed 2,000 civilian workers and 4,000 military personnel.

Sheehan noted that the city has completed 110 of 125 different development actions within 18 months.

Bike Accidents Up Bicycle fatalities for 1973 totaled an estimated 1,150, a 5 per cent increase over the 1972 figure of 1,100, and 29 per cent above the 1971 total of 850 deaths.

Cuevas Jury Picking Resumes

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys sought today the fifth juror in the trial of Ignacio Cuevas, charged with capital murder in connection with a 1974 prison shootout.

The fourth juror was selected last Friday after a week of the trial in which the state seeks the death penalty.

Cuevas is the lone inmate survivor of an Aug. 3, 1974 escape attempt at Huntsville State prison. Four persons died in the shootout.

Cuevas is accused of intentionally causing the death of Julia Stanley, a hostage who was killed.
