States Denied Offshore Rights

Court Says U.S. Owns Shelf Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the federal government owns the offshore oil rights in the Atlantic Ocean claimed by coastal states.

In a unanimous opinion, the court rejected the argument of the states that pre-revolutionary charters made them the owners of the oil rights.

The ruling came in a suit filed by the Justice Department against the 13 states bordering the Atlantic. The suit was filed after Maine began preparing to sell three million acres off its coast for development by private oil and gas companies.

Colonial Charters Cited

Maine's plans conflicted with a 1953 federal law giving the states ownership of only the first three miles of seabed off their coastlines.

But Maine and the other coastal states claimed that colonial charters gave them domain over a 100-mile-wide belt of the seabed. The states argued that they did not relinquish those ownership rights when they joined the Union.

The government countered that England did not have that much seabed to give away and that, even if it did, the charters were invalidated when the U.S. Constitution was ratified.

White Writes Opinion

Writing for the court, Justice Byron R. White said earlier Supreme Court rulings bound the court in deciding the Maine case.

The court ruled in 1947 in a California case that the states were not even entitled to ownership of the first three miles of seabed. Congress acted in 1953 to restore ownership of that area to the states.

"As the court viewed our history, dominion over the sea was first accomplished by the national government rather than by the colonies or by the states," White said.

In arguments before the Supreme Court, the states said they must be given control over offshore drilling for economic and environmental reasons.

The states said they run the risk of profound environmental damage yet must bear millions of dollars in uncompensated costs from any drilling in federal waters. Under the present program, states receive no

Irish Americans, Friends Celebrate St. Patrick's Day

By The Associated Press

Irish Americans and their friends across the nation honored St. Patrick today with parades and festivities.

The greatest expanse of shamrock green was to be found in Chicago. Mayor Richard J. Daley was to officiate at ceremonies where 25 pounds of green dye would be poured into the Chicago River as a prelude to the afternoon parade on State Street.

Hard to believe though it may be, one Irish bar in Kansas City is going to be closed. Kelly's, a spacious spot situated in a 125-year-old building, overflows nightly with singles. And Randal Kelly, the proprietor, says that with a St. Patrick's Day crowd, "the old building just couldn't stand it."

In New York, where there are more persons of Irish descent than in Dublin, Aer Lingus—Irish International Airlines—as usual flew in a bevy of stewardesses. They were to pass out shamrocks at City Hall, sing the praises of Ireland and then fall in to parade up Fifth Avenue.

New York marchers, expected to number 100,000, will have a green stripe to guide them up the avenue for the first time in 10 years. Deputy Mayor James Cavanaugh, himself a son of Hibernia, last week gave permission for return of the center line after Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is only half Irish, banned it in 1964. Wagner had said the stripe would prompt the Germans to ask for a blue stripe for their parade and the Italians to ask for a purple one for theirs.

Washington marchers also had a green stripe for their St. Patrick's Day parade which occurred a day early. Some 3,000 persons paraded up Constitution Avenue while more than 65,000 persons looked on.

Guinness stout flown from Ireland was pumped from a huge van on the Ellipse, the park area behind the White House grounds. National Park Service official Art Lamb said today that the parade (See ST. PATTY Page 2A)

Texas Utilities Execute Contract With Soviets On Lignite Research

FORT WORTH — W. G. Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Co., announced today that Texas Utilities Services Inc., a TESCO affiliate, has signed a contract with V-O Licensintorg of Moscow (U.S.S.R.) which will lead to a development project for determining the feasibility of underground gasification of deep lignite coal deposits in East Texas.

Gasification of lignite is being studied as a potential source of fuel for generating electricity.

V-O Licensintorg is an exporter and importer of technology for the government of the U.S.S.R. Texas Utilities Services (TUSI) is an affiliate of TESCO, Dallas Power & Light Co. and Texas Power & Light Co., electric utilities serving about four million people in a 75,000-square mile area of North Central, East and West Texas.

Marquardt said the pilot project in East Texas is one part of the electric companies' continuing research into all technologically feasible alternatives to increasingly expensive natural gas and oil as fuels for generating electricity. The companies began using mined lignite in 1967 and are constructing a jointly-owned nuclear generating facility near Glen Rose which is scheduled for service in 1980.

According to TUSI President Perry G. Brittain, Soviet research into the underground production of combustible gas from deep coal deposits began in 1933 and is considerably further developed than recently begun U.S. efforts. The contract provides documented technology from more than 40 years of Soviet research to be used by TUSI in the East Texas development project.

Two Now Operating

The Soviets currently are operating two underground gasification plants which are producing gas from coal for continuous commercial use as power plant fuel. In November, Brittain visited one of the plants near the city of Angren in the Uzbekistan Republic to study the operation and hold preliminary discussions. Last month, Dr. Kuril Zvijagintsev, deputy director of the U.S.S.R. Vniipromgaz Institute, and Yuri Kulagin, deputy director of V-O Licensintorg, visited Texas for discussions with TUSI technical personnel. After detailed technical talks with Dr. Zvijagintsev, TUSI engineers concluded the Soviet process for producing combustible gas from underground deposits of coal holds promise for successful application to some deep lignite deposits in East Texas.

Brittain said the development project is intended to verify the applicability and economic feasibility of the Soviet process for producing gas from deep lignite deposits in this area. Although the heating value of the gas is expected to be relatively low and not suitable

Onassis Leaves Jacqueline, Children $150 Million-Plus

PARIS (AP) — Aristotle Onassis left his widow Jacqueline about $120 million, most of his valuable paintings, and trust funds of $15 million each to her two children by President John F. Kennedy, family sources in Athens report.

They said the bulk of the Greek shipping magnate's estimated $600-million fortune will go to his only surviving child, 24-year-old Christina.

Art dealers in Athens conservatively estimate the value of Onassis' collection of paintings by Gauguin, El Greco, Van Gogh, and Picasso at $20 million. One dealer said that several paintings already were hanging in Mrs. Onassis' Fifth Avenue apartment in New York.

Sources close to the family said Jacqueline had received a settlement at the time of her marriage to Onassis to provide for the two Kennedy children through a trust fund, with cash for herself and unlimited expenses while Onassis lived.

Onassis died in Paris Saturday at the age of 69. Doctors gave broncho-pulmonary infection as the cause of death.

Family sources said Onassis' body will be flown by private jet from Paris to Greece on Tuesday for interment and will be accompanied by Jacqueline, Christina, and other close members of the family.

The plane will land at Actium on Greece's west coast. From there, the relatives and the body will be taken to nearby Levakas and then aboard Onassis' palatial yacht Christina to the Onassis-owned island of Scyros for the burial service immediately after arrival, the sources said.

Onassis' fortune is not expected to be diminished appreciably (See ONASSIS Page 2A)

Thai Leader Sets Year As U.S. Pullout Limit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The 25,000 U.S. troops and 350 aircraft must be withdrawn from Thailand within one year unless the Cambodian war comes to this country, new Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj said today after King Bhumibol Adulyadej confirmed his cabinet.

"If the Cambodian war is expanded into Thailand, or if rockets fall on our soil then we have to think it over," said Kukrit, who is under pressure from Socialist groups to end the U.S. presence.

The Pentagon has already indicated plans to cut its Thai strength in about half during the coming year.

The previous Thai cabinet, headed by Kukrit's older brother, Seni Pramoj, was confirmed Feb. 22, but was forced to resign eight days later when it lost its first confidence vote. Seni's policy had favored delaying the U.S. withdrawal for 18 months, and that contributed to his downfall.

Kukrit, whose Social Action party ran fifth in the Jan. 25 election, formed a coalition of seven of the 22 parties in the house after his brother's cabinet failed. The new coalition still is to be approved by the House of Representatives on Wednesday — has 124 seats, 11 short of a majority in the 250-seat assembly. It is believed to have an excellent chance of winning the vote.

Federal Officials To Probe Records Of Major Utilities

By MARGARET SCHERF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agents, probing allegations that oil companies charged illegally high prices, are going to investigate the records of every major utility in the nation, a Federal Energy Administration official says.

The investigation, which centers around the rapid rise of prices during the Arab oil embargo, was said to involve possible fraud and millions of dollars of illegal overcharges to customers such as the utilities.

Grand Juries Busy

Grand juries in Jacksonville, Fla., New York and Los Angeles already are looking into the possible price manipulations by oil suppliers, the FEA official said Sunday. Similar cases may also be presented to grand juries in Houston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston.

"We are going to investigate every major utility company in the nation," the FEA official said.

Alleged Fraud Case

Under investigation are allegations that importers and suppliers falsified documents required by the Customs Service, such as mislabeling the country of origin of some oil delivered by tankers to the United States during the 1973 embargo.

For example, one alleged case of fraud reportedly involved a tanker in an East Coast port with oil claimed to be from Venezuela, the first nation outside the Arab bloc to raise prices to $10 a barrel.

But the oil reportedly was from Nigeria, where the price was still $5.50. That alleged overcharge came to $2 million.

In Los Angeles, customs agents reportedly were looking into purchases by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

John Russell, a buyer for the department, said agents have checked department records several times. Russell said as far as he knows the probe involves only one company in Los Angeles but he declined to name it.

Battle Looms On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee said today tax credits for homebuyers should be removed from tax cut legislation.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., made the statement to reporters as Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress increases in the federal budget deficit could rekindle inflation, start a new recession and cause higher unemployment.

The tax cut may win congressional approval this week, although its reception at the White House could hinge on whether Congress makes some commitment to holding down spending.

Also expected to get Senate and House committee action today and Tuesday are proposals for emergency military aid for Cambodia. Democrats in both chambers have criticized any increase in aid, and the House committee already has rejected one compromise.

Ullman said the $3-billion tax credit proposal for home buyers, approved by the Senate Finance Committee, must be taken off the anti-recession tax cut bill.

Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, R-Pa., senior GOP member of the Ways and Means Committee, agreed that the tax cut bill is the wrong place for the home buyers provision. He, too, said he is still opposed to attaching the ailing companies provision.

Despite signs that the nation's current economic difficulties are easing, Simon said it is realistic to estimate budget deficits of at least $45 billion in fiscal 1975 and $80 billion in fiscal 1976.

"As enormous as these deficit figures are, they do not represent an outer limit of what might actually develop," Simon said.

"Frankly, I am fearful that the capital cannot meet such heavy demands for funds from the federal government without producing serious adverse economic consequences."

All signs show that the nation's current, short-term economic difficulties are becoming less serious, Simon said.

But he added that the end of (See ULLMAN Page 2A)

Zarb Claims Compromise Near On Energy Program

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said today the administration and the House Ways and Means Committee are in "60 per cent agreement" on a compromise energy program.

Zarb indicated President Ford had all but given up hope of obtaining congressional approval of a one million barrel per day cutback in oil imports this year, saying that a reduction of about a half million barrels daily is a more practical expectation.

Talking with newsmen aboard Ford's jetliner enroute to a presidential appearance on the Notre Dame campus, Zarb gave a report on his negotiations with Ways and Means Committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore.

"We are in 60 per cent agreement on an energy program," he said. "We have general agreement on goals. The question is, how fast do you go?"

Zarb said congressional Democrats fear that "moving too rapidly would retard the recovery" from recession.

As for higher gasoline taxes, he said: "We really haven't come into agreement there. We've sort of put that on the back burner until we look at the rest of the program."

Confirmer Finals In Martin Sector

Love Oil Co., Inc., Scottsdale, Ariz., has completed its No. 2 Elsie Campbell as a second Strawn producer and 3/4-mile south extension to that pay in the Breedlove, South field of Martin County, six miles northwest of Tarzan.

It was completed to flow 181.2 barrels of 46-gravity oil and 78 barrels of water daily, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 10,850-10,874 feet, which had been acidized with 1,100 gallons. Gas-oil ratio measured 2,363-1.

Drilled to 10,943 feet, it has 4 1/2-inch casing set one foot off bottom, and is plugged back to 10,814 feet.

Location is 1,900 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of league 246, Wheeler CSL survey.

The Strawn pay opener, Kirby Petroleum Co. of Houston, No. 2-A Hyatt, was completed July 6, 1974, for 497 barrels of 51.6-gravity oil per day, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 10,887-10,912 feet.

Atoka Crude Well Finals In Midland

Mobil Oil Corp. has completed No. 28 Louise Shackelford as a 3/4-mile north extension to the Atoka oil production in the Azalea multipay field of Midland County.

It gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 442 barrels of 48-gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio measuring 2,937-1. Production was through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 10,870-10,894 feet. The section had been acidized with 5,000 gallons.

Scheduled to 11,800 feet, as a stepout to Devonian gas production in the field, it was drilled to 11,500 feet, and plugged back to 11,100 feet, in a 5 1/2-inch liner hung from 9,029-11,500 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 34, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, 13 miles southeast of Midland.

Link Project Set In Eddy County

Harvey E. Yates Co., Inc., Artesia, N.M., will drill No. 2 Cedar Hills Communized as a link test, 3/4 mile east, and 3/4 mile southwest of Morrow production in the Burton Flats field of Eddy County.

Location is 1,650 feet from north and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 15-12s-27e, four miles northeast of Carlsbad. Planned depth is 11,750 feet.

Gaines Producer Gets Offset Test

Western Reserves Oil Co., Midland, plans to drill No. 2 Wolfe Estate, as a 3/4-mile northeast offset to its No. 1 Wolfe Estate, lone producer in the Gaines County portion of the Block A-26 (Wichita-Albany) field.

It has a projected depth of 7,600 feet, and spots 1,900 feet from south and east lines of section 20, block A-26, PSL (Continued On Page 7B)

U.S. Embassy Now Burning Documents To Leave Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Saigon (AP) — The United States Embassy has begun burning documents and has asked volunteer American relief agencies to reduce their staffs to essential personnel, American sources reported today.

Ambassador John Gunther Dean asked Catholic Relief Services, World Vision and C.A.R.E. to send nonessential personnel to Bangkok or Saigon until after the U.S. Congress votes on President Ford's request for supplemental military aid for Cambodia, employees of some of the agencies said.

General Chass feared Embassy officials believe that Congress will reject the request, and some fear anti-American demonstration or general chaos in Phnom Penh. But it is apparent that the Embassy also fears the collapse of President Lon Nol's government and foresees the possibility of the fall of Phnom Penh to the Communist-led insurgents.

Members of the Embassy staff have begun packing their household goods. A special plane came in Sunday and Monday to take out personal effects of staff members.

The French Embassy was reduced to a consulate today, and Charge d'Affaires Albert Pavet and 14 members of his staff went to Bangkok. A vice consul and nine staff members remained.

The French air force plane that took them out made two trips to Bangkok, and evacuated about 130 French citizens plus a West German, five Swiss and two Danes. Many of the evacuees were native Cambodians who retained French citizenship or natives of Pondichery, on the Indian east coast.

French officials said the plane would remain in Bangkok until the end of the week and would make more evacuation flights if there were enough requests to get out.

Senate Faces Possible Interest Rate Showdown

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas senators met today with advance notice from Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, that he may bring up his controversial bill to raise loan interest rates.

The St. Patrick's Day legislative session began at 11 a.m. in the Senate and 2 p.m. in the House.

Other possible subjects for Senate debate today, according to "notices of intent" filed last Friday, include two bills by Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth. One would give Campfire Girls a sales tax exemption on candy they sell, like Girl Scouts now get for their cookies, and the other would make the Texas College of Osteopathy a part of North Texas State University.

Moore filed the formal notice Friday that he would take up the loan interest bill today, but there is no requirement that he follow through on the notice.

"More green for the money lenders may be the theme of Monday's St. Patrick's Day celebration in the Senate if SB69 (by Moore) is considered on that date," said a Friday statement from Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, who has fought Moore's bill since introduced.

Moore's bill would raise interest charges on a 12-month $1,000 loan from $110 to $138. It also increases the constitutional ceiling on interest on loans from $2,500 to $5,000.

The House planned to take final action today on House bills giving the prison system power to furlough inmates for health or family reasons without going

FBI Says Sports Radical Not Obligated To Talk About Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI agent in charge of the hunt for Patricia Hearst says the highly publicized attempt by the FBI to talk to sports radical Jack Scott could end in Scott's simple refusal to cooperate and the FBI's police crackdown.

Charles Bates told The Associated Press Sunday night that his men would have to "turn around and walk away" if Scott refused to talk to them.

Scott and his wife, Micki, have been sought for questioning since they were linked in news reports last week to an eastern Pennsylvania farmhouse where Miss Hearst and Symbionese Liberation Army members Bill and Emily Harris may have hidden out last fall.

He said there is no warrant out for Scott's arrest. "All we can do is tell him we'd like to talk to him. If he doesn't want to, he doesn't have to. If he refused, I'd say, 'Thank you very much.'"

Reports of new leads "may convince Miss Hearst and the Harrises to turn themselves in without anyone being hurt," Bates said.

But the fugitives could also reason: "Oh, well, they know now where we've been recently and they may know now, so we'd better get lost or hide," he said.

"It's too early to assess. I'm hoping that it helps. But I won't know until the thing's over."

Bates denied published reports that Scott had eluded FBI agents in a high-speed chase in Berkeley last week and later abandoned his rented car.

Denies Chase

He said of the reported chase: "Nobody would elude us once we found them. I don't know where that came from. There was never any chase. We haven't been out trying to grab him."

Bates refused to comment on a report that Harris' fingerprints were found in a New York City apartment Scott left last September.

The Chicago Tribune said Sunday that Scott apparently left that apartment to join the fugitives at the Pennsylvania farmhouse rented by Mrs. Scott and that the FBI told the Wayne County, Pa., sheriff's department that Miss Hearst "was supposed to be pregnant or pretending to be pregnant."

Scott Not Charged

Bates said he could neither confirm nor deny reports that the fingerprints of Miss Hearst, the Harrises and indicted fugitive Wendy Yoshimura were found in the Pennsylvania farmhouse.

Asked if there were any basis for a warrant against Scott, Bates replied: "For what? It's a lot tougher to charge a person than people think."

He said it could not be determined when fingerprints might

FBI Rebuffed

Bates declined to confirm reports that the daughter of Randolph Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, was back in the San Francisco Bay area and considering giving herself up.

Newweek Magazine said Sunday that FBI agents traced the fugitives from the Pennsylvania house to the Boulder, Colo., area where the FBI was snubbed when they asked an abortion clinic in December if any patients fitted Miss Hearst's description.

The magazine quoted another source as saying Patty had been seeing an obstetrician in the area, "one who specializes in preparing women for home deliveries. Local radicals call her 'Mellow,'" the report said.

ODESSA — Mario Franco Trejo, 19, of Odessa was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary Friday after 70th District Court Judge C. V. Milburn revoked his 10-year probation term.

He was placed on probation June 19, 1974, after pleading guilty to a charge of burglary. The state, in seeking the revocation of the probation, charged that he had committed another burglary Dec. 21, 1974.

New Mexico Crash Kills Hereford Man

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — Gary Crame, 23, of Hereford, Tex., was killed Sunday when his car overturned on U.S. 64 near here, state police said.

A passenger, Debra G. Spies, 22, of Canyon, Tex., suffered head injuries and was taken to a Las Vegas hospital, officers said.

Big Spring Man Charged In Gun Death Of Spouse

BIG SPRING — Ronald Jason Caldwell, 27, of Big Spring has been charged with murder in the shotgun death of his 22-year-old wife Saturday night.

Cathy King Caldwell was shot instantly when she was killed in the face by a 12-gauge shotgun, Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena said.

Sheriff's deputies said that Mrs. Caldwell was found lying in the kitchen floor of her home about a mile southwest of Big Spring.

Officers were notified of the incident by neighbors of the Caldwell.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Who's Biggest Fool In Triangle?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for eight years. (No kids.) I thought we had a perfect marriage, and so did everybody else in town. We're in business here, and everybody knows us.

Last year a friend of my husband was killed, and my husband started helping his widow. I was never invited to go along when he was helping her with whatever he was helping her with so much. He helped her over several weekends, so I finally told her that I need him to help ME on weekends, but she didn't seem to care.

Finally, I found a love note in my husband's pocket. It was from her to him. Signed, too, I accidentally found it in his pocket. (The woman was supposed to have dearly loved her husband.) I know that this woman and my husband had no previous affair going while her husband was living.

Now, my husband has moved out of our house and is living with her. And on Main Street yet. I asked him if he wanted a divorce, and he said: "No." He is supporting me and living with her. He says I am a wonderful woman but he was just drawn to her. He knows if I divorced her, she would expect him to marry her, and he doesn't want that.

I have a question for you: Which of the three of us is the biggest fool? Me, for still caring for him? Him, for destroying his image in town? Or her, for letting him live with her and ruin her reputation?

DEAR LEFT: I would call it a three-way tie.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, not young anymore, and I am married to a man who is older than I am. He's in poor health, and stubborn as a mule. He refuses to make a will, and I am told that if he should die without making a will, the government will take half of everything he has, and there will be such a high tax on what is left over, I may have to go to the poor farm. Is that true?

I don't have much education and wouldn't know how to talk to a lawyer, so please don't tell me to go to one. We are not rich, but we have worked and saved for nearly fifty years and I don't want to lose my security.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The place to get the facts is from a lawyer. Don't worry about your lack of education. He (or she) will explain everything to you in language you can understand. And don't be ashamed to ask questions.

If the bank you do business with has a trust department, it can also be helpful. Don't believe rumors. Get the facts; you'll be glad you did.

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem. I have been happily married for 14 years. My father-in-law remarried six years ago. His wife has a habit of giving me second-hand gifts.

In the days of the miniskirts, she gave me four half-slips that came down past my knee, a purse with a telephone number in it, and six nightgowns that smelled of mothballs!

This woman dresses beautifully, has excellent taste in clothes, and I cannot imagine why she would pass on these second-hand gifts to me that she wouldn't wear herself. And she certainly can afford to buy new gifts.

Should I return the next gift that is obviously second-hand, and tell her I have no use for it? Or should I say it doesn't fit? Or what?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Accept the gift graciously, and dispose of it any way you wish.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, not young anymore, and I am married to a man who is older than I am. He's in poor health, and stubborn as a mule. He refuses to make a will, and I am told that if he should die without making a will, the government will take half of everything he has, and there will be such a high tax on what is left over, I may have

HOROSCOPE

by Carol Bright

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Tension and broken promises could be in effect today but if they come, do not be upset. An announcement could change later in your advantage. Your intuition is very accurate at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep active at something constructive for best results today. Good things could come from friends now. Think constructively.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you get the end of a higher-up, you can be successful in a new place you have in mind. Your judgment is not good today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take time for bonding to ideas of new contacts. Use your intuitive faculties at this time. Avoid the frivolous tonight.

MOON CHANGES (June 22 to July 22) You have a worry that can be alleviated if you go to an expert for advice. Try to be more courteous to others.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Make sure you are not acting as a small toward you now. Avoid heavy spending tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Any risks you take with your good name now could prove very expensive in the future. Stay out of bad weather tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Think of new ideas with associates before making any definite plans for the future. Look for harmony now and save money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Come to better terms with your creditors and target worry. Avoid any temptations that could be costly in the long run.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) Put your home affairs and take care of any situations that may have arisen with associates. Your finances are good now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 23) Now that you are clearing up home problems, use more progressive methods. An expert can help you solve a financial worry.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 24 to Feb. 23) If you adopt a more cheerful attitude, you can solve a professional matter quickly and easily. Relax tonight. Keep calm.

PISCES (Feb. 24 to Mar. 23) Your intuitive perceptions are not accurate at this time, so use only your best judgment to solve any problems. Stick to facts.

The largest U.S. city safest from traffic accidents is Chicago, with New York City the most dangerous.

Area Gardeners Have Anniversary

BIG LAKE — The Reagan County Garden Club will celebrate its 25th anniversary at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Reagan County Community Center.

The celebration, honoring past presidents of the club, will include displays of pictures and mementos and past award winning flower arrangements. Scrapbooks also will be on display.

The club was founded in 1950, with Mrs. Henry Schooler as its first president. The club was federated with Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. in 1957.

For developing the downtown park in Big Lake, the club won the Sears State Award. The club also has developed the Reagan County Park and the triangle at the cemetery on Highway 137.

Current president of the club is Mrs. Jimmy Martin.

You may be using more than a ton of coal a year without even knowing it.

The reason you don't know you're using this coal is because it comes to you in the form of electricity.

We now have two power plants that use Texas lignite coal. They account for about 20% of our total generation. We figure they use an average of more than one ton of coal annually for each residential customer.

One other lignite plant is under construction. By 1980, when almost half of the electricity we generate will be with lignite, you may be using three to four tons of coal a year.

We're using lignite because new supplies of natural gas and oil — our traditional fuels — are hard to get and increasingly expensive.

This, plus the higher costs of building power plants that use lignite, together with inflation — means that electricity is going to have to cost you more.

But because lignite fuel itself is more economical, it will help us keep the price of electricity from increasing as much as it would if we tried to depend on new, more costly supplies of natural gas and oil.

One other big advantage of lignite is that it isn't being used extensively for anything other than the generation of electricity.

We're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

One of the ways we're doing it is by using a fuel that you can't use yourself.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I run around with a bunch of bachelors and we all have the same problem as we all have our own apartments and do our own cooking.

I have been nominated "president in care of troubles" to write to you and see if you can solve our problem.

Namely: plastic that has stuck on our stainless steel pots and pans from breadwrappers, etc. This has now turned black as the ace of spades.

Hal keeps his electric coffee pot next to the bread and it's stuck to that, too.

Jerry has plastic stuck on his toaster.

Try as we might (and we have used everything) we cannot remove this stuff. Or is it irremovable?

You got an answer?
Robert S. Sampson
President of Bachelors

Yep, three!
One: You all could get married and let your wives worry about those things. After all, you didn't say you were married.
Two: Nominate a vice president and let him take care of

Bachelor's Budget Has A Plastic Problem

those things. Presidents are supposed to delegate authority. Ever heard that one before?

Three: Go to your dime or drug store and buy a bottle of the cheapest fingernail polish remover you can.

Put some on a piece of cotton or facial tissue and let sit on the spot about a half-minute and then start rubbing away. Keep repeating this process until the hard-so-nails "stuff" dissolves and disappears completely.

As your cotton gets soiled, use a clean piece. And that's all there is to it, gentlemen.

Hope this makes you all happy.

Heloise
President of the Kitchen

Dear Heloise:
Now is the time to begin stocking up on those summer picnic supplies.

After holidays, (Christmas, Valentine's, St. Patrick's Day, etc.), many stores have napkins, plates and paper tablecloths at reduced prices.

When those warm days arrive, you'll find your picnic basket full and ready to go! (Who cares on a picnic what the design is?)

Daily Reader
LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
I'd bet my wig that you'll get loads of letters from senior citizens ladies like me, about that real sharp, "socks-appeal" widower.

Man, would I ever like to meet a guy like him! Not only does he have socks appeal, but I love his real down-to-earth and up-to-sky philosophy!

Widow

Folks, she is referring to the widower in a previous column who set up a "marriage-relations" bureau for odd socks — saves them until he finds a perfect match!

Spouse the widow thinks she would make one, too?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When you are ready to throw out your empty, solid room deodorizer container, don't. It can be made into a cute, small flower pot.

Wash the whole thing well with soap. Take the small spot out of the top section and put the top section upside down into the bottom section. Some types may need a few small dabs of florist's clay to stabilize them.

I have made some from several different brands and a number of colors. They are really very attractive.

Amelia Schipper

Dear Heloise:

Here is a way to keep crewel yarns separated while working on something.

Line them up in order on a clothes hanger (pants hangers are best), and use the little wire plastic bag ties to hold them together.

Carolyn Hilton

Dear Heloise:

My husband is tall and slim.

Garden Center Sets Bake Sale, Bazaar

Garden club members are making final plans for the bake sale and bazaar scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest, 1706 W. Indiana St.

There will be many items for sale, including cakes, cookies, casseroles and breads, and arts and crafts, such as aprons, table linens and oil paintings.

Special prizes will be an oil painting donated by Midland artist, Charles Fruit, a "Mola" wall hanging donated by Mrs. Edwin J. White and a handmade patchwork skirt donated by Mrs. Maud Lanford.

The public is invited to this annual fund-raising event of the garden center.

Cooking Peas

Fresh, tender garden peas may be cooked without water if they are cooked in the top of a double boiler. Cooked this way they are very delicious. All the seasoning they need is a little butter and salt.

Mrs. Doug Henson Chosen Jaycee-Ette For February

Mrs. Doug Henson was selected Jaycee-ette of the month for February during a recent meeting of the Midland Jaycee-ettes.

Guests were Mrs. Dennis Smith, Mrs. Mark Powell, Mrs. Mike Jenkins, Mrs. David-Moffatt, Mrs. Willie Wilson and Mrs. Ken Arnold. New members introduced were Mrs. Stan Knatz and Mrs. Tom Green. Members of the Stanton Jaycee-ettes also visited the meeting.

Mrs. Rick Prince presented a "Have Your Say" speech to open the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Bill Pike and Mrs. John Nobles.

Under aid to Jaycees projects, reports were given on new member orientation, sweetheart banquet and Jaycee jackets and name tags.

In civic activities, reports were given on ushering at the Community Theatre and a game night planned for the Permian Basin Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Members voted to assist the Midland Association for Retarded Children with the Bike-Bike-a-Thon in May and to make donations to Midland Meals on Wheels, Teen Challenge Outreach and the Texas Jaycee Hospital Foundation.

Mrs. Jerry Hyde announced plans for a skating party to be held Sunday for members and their families, and an orientation for new members scheduled March 31.

Mrs. Joe Campbell gave the report of the nominating committee and announced that election of officers will be held at the April meeting.

The next regular meeting of the club will be at 8 p.m. April 8.

Right Expensive!

Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York has come up with some figures which should startle even some of those state and local agencies which continually seek federal funds.

Texas residents, according to the research organization, paid a seven-cent "premium" for each dollar they received in federal grants-in-aid last year.

Texas' tax burden for each federal aid dollar received in fiscal 1974 placed it among 23 states which helped foot the bill for states whose tax costs were less than the year's grants. Texans, in the previous year, paid $1.04 per federal aid dollar.

Tax Foundation said that of $44.6 billion in 1974 federal grants-in-aid to state and local governments, Texas received $2.1 billion. Federal taxes to pay for the aid gave residents an estimated tax burden of $2.3 billion. Figure it out for yourself. There still is no such thing as a free lunch.

Indiana led the nation with $1.58 tax cost per dollar of aid received. Florida and New Jersey tied for second-place "honors" at $1.48.

It is explained that under federal grant formulas, some of which are designed to aid "poorer" states, Texas helps pay for aid programs in states paying less than a dollar in taxes for a dollar in aid. New York, for instance, paid 85 cents last year. Alaska was lowest at 36 cents and Mississippi next with a 45-cent tax burden per aid dollar.

In revenue sharing, Texas bore a tax burden of $313.8 million in receiving $288.7 million, making the burden $1.09 per dollar received.

Just something to think about at income tax-paying time.

Lee Rebels: Great!

Midlanders are proud of the Rebels of Robert E. Lee High School who advanced to the semi-finals of the Class AAAA state basketball tournament at Austin last Friday before losing 52-47 to the Houston Kashmere Rams in a triple overtime encounter, which had the more than 7,000 onlookers on their feet most of the way.

The Rams went on to win the state championship for the second year in a row.

The courageous Lee Rebels carried the fight to the Rams from the start and played nip-and-tuck ball all the way. The fact that the Rebels led at the half and that the game was tied 17 times is proof enough that the Midland cagers did themselves proud against the Houston team which had won 77 successive games up to that point, while averaging more than 90 points a game this season.

The Lee Rebels have nothing to be ashamed of in their semi-final loss at Austin. One shot which missed by inches with three seconds left in the regulation time, and again in the second overtime, would have won it for Midland. It was just that close.

Coach Paul Stueckler has expressed pride in the way his team played. If not the best, it certainly was one of the best games of the season for the Rebels.

Congratulations are in order for Coach Stueckler, other members of his staff, and the Lee Rebels. They have made basketball players and observers across the state sit up and take notice.

Tribute To A Great Day For The Irish!

By SAM STEWART Copley News Service

There graven on a tablet, on the pedestal on which stands the Statue of Liberty, it says: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore, send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed to me. . . ."

When Emma Lazarus penned those lines, many years ago, she was welcoming the hordes of immigrants who streamed to America from across the sea, mainly in the years from 1860 to 1930.

And in the early years those who came were abundantly Irish, a fit topic for comment in relation to a great day for the Irish, St. Patrick's Day.

They came, huddled and tempest-tossed, stacked in the steerage or, however, eager to leave the certainty of hunger and deprivation in their homeland for the uncertainty but nevertheless the opportunity of a strange land.

They came, also, from Germany, from Italy, from England and Scotland and Wales, from Greece, from Poland, and wherever — but a St. Patrick's tribute concerns the Irish. They came asking not for a handout; they came asking for a chance.

They embraced an old-fashioned philosophy, which was that nobody owed them a living; they had to earn it.

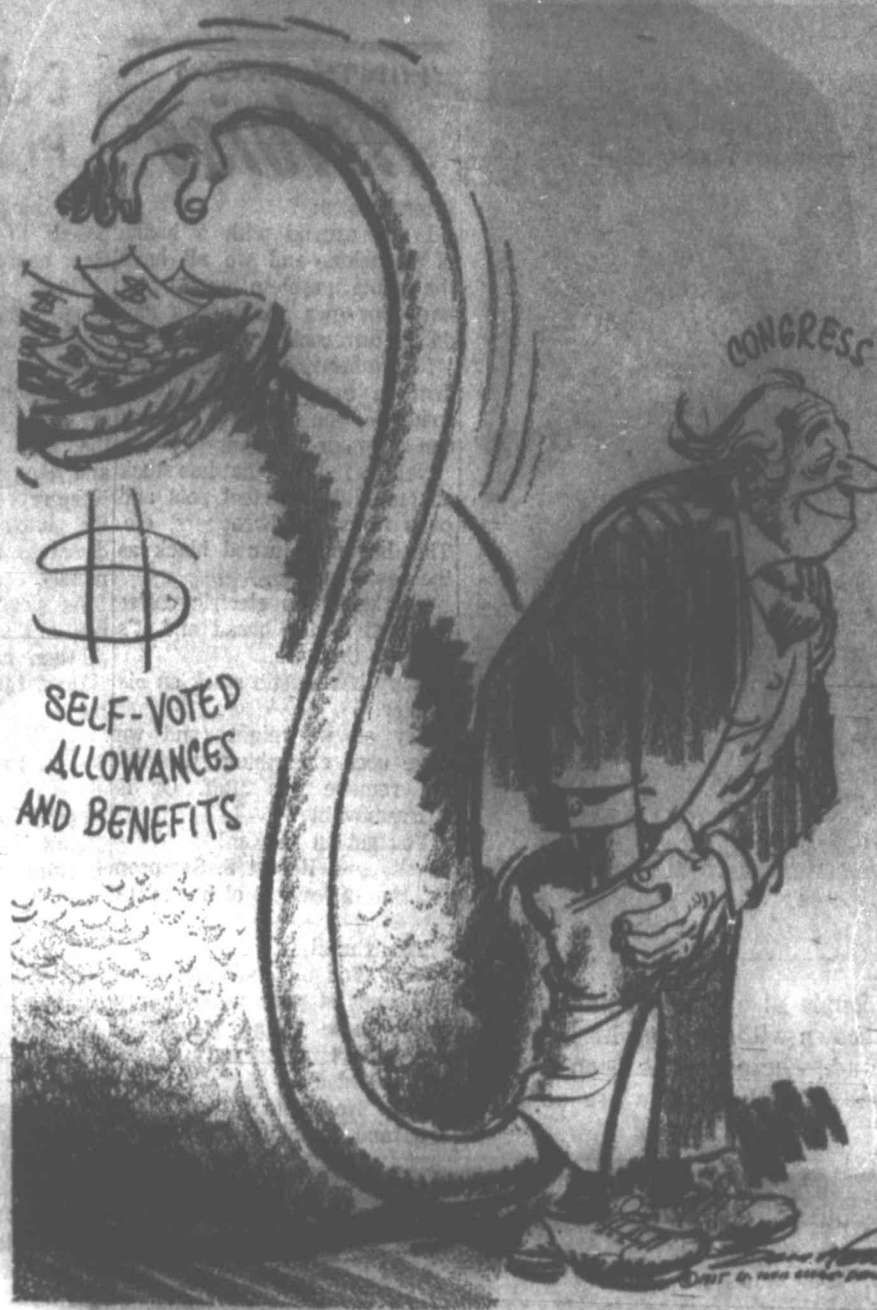

And they set about doing it, with a determination and dedication which made Americans of them even as they clung jealously to their own identity.

They were the minorities of their time, but they were too busy to indulge in marching or painting signs. They asked for no privileges and were given none, aside from the privileges which followed the arduous pursuit of life, liberty and happiness. And when they won them, they knew they had something.

From the status of pauper immigrants they achieved, in degrees varying with their earnestness and their ability, the rewards which were their due and they asked no more.

The Irish made themselves felt mostly in Boston and New York, and it took one immigrant family only three generations to send a millionaire presi-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Soviet KGB had a contingency plan to kill Richard Nixon if he had been elected President in 1960, a high Russian intelligence officer has told the CIA.

The Nixon murder plot was described to incredulous CIA agents by Anatol Golytsyn, a former KGB major, who defected to the United States from his post in Helsinki, Finland, in the early 1960s.

He gave American agents other valuable intelligence, which has turned out to be completely accurate. Our sources, therefore, believe his story about the Nixon assassination plan.

Golytsyn's own view was that the plan, although bizarre, was deadly serious. He attributed it to the late Nikita Khrushchev, then the cock of the Kremlin, whom Golytsyn understood to be somewhat deranged. In those days, Nixon had the reputation as an implacable foe of the Soviet Union.

The Russian major also told CIA agents that the hot-tempered Khrushchev had talked about eliminating the brilliant ballet dancer, Rudolf Nureyev, after he defected to the West. The worried Golytsyn tried to warn Nureyev of the possibility, according to our sources, although they don't know whether the warning ever reached Nureyev.

For years, Golytsyn's spectacular revelations have been hidden away in the CIA's files. But after stories about the CIA's assassination attempts hit the headlines, CIA sources confided Golytsyn's KGB assassination tales to us.

The former KGB officer was one of the highest ranking Soviet defectors in CIA history. The United States paid him $200,000 in compensation and spent at least $500,000 more to protect him, our sources say. Part of the money was spent on an ingenious scheme to sneak him and his family into the United States.

By comparison, a far more publicized defector, Peter Deriabin, was paid only

INSIDE REPORT— Guilt For Cambodia: Eyes On Washington

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The foggy notion in Congress that ending aid to Cambodia will halt bloodshed under a coalition government benevolently guided by Prince Norodom Sihanouk conflicts with two harsh realities.

First, Sihanouk, exiled in Peking, has no real influence over Communist forces in Cambodia, which are largely controlled by the North Vietnamese politburo. After the Communist takeover in Cambodia, the saxophone-playing Prince would be a temporary figurehead packing his bags for luxurious retirement at Mougins on the French Riviera. Even if he favored a coalition government, Sihanouk could not impose it on Cambodian Communists and would not try.

Second, neither Cambodian insurgent leaders nor their mentors in Hanoi have the slightest intention of collaborating with the defeated politicians of Phnom Penh. Rather, they talk of avoiding the mistake of Dr. Salvador Allende, the late Marxist president of Chile: not quickly liquidating the bourgeois politicians who later ousted him. Publicly earmarking seven Cambodian leaders for the firing squad is only the beginning in making sure Cambodia is not another Chile.

Thus, by stopping fuel and ammunition for besieged Phnom Penh, Congress speeds the Communist victory and probably guarantees nationwide reenactments of executions, imprisonments and repression common everywhere in Cambodia under Communist control. Even with continued U.S. aid, the miserably led Cambodian army seems doomed. But that can be traced to years of Congress' denying adequate aid and advisers. In seeking guilt for the Cambodian tragedy, all roads lead to Washington.

To cleanse their hands of blood, members of Congress show ingenuity — particularly Sen. Henry M. Jackson, the former hawk turned Indochina dove. Jackson is urging Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield to fly to Peking to urge his old friend, Prince Sihanouk, to seek a coalition government which would avert a Cambodian bloodbath. The Jackson view of Cambodia sees the insurgents suspicious of Hanoi, friendly to Peking and respectful of Sihanouk.

Jackson must not have listened to the Prince lately. Ever since being deposited by Gen. Lon Nol on March 18, 1970, Sihanouk has talked of revenge through Communist military victory in Cambodia and then fading away to France. "If I go on as chief of state after victory," he told the Swiss Tribune de Geneve in December 1971. "I run the risk of being pushed out the window by the Communists, like (Jan) Masaryk, or I might be imprisoned for revisionism or deviationism." He since has sounded that theme in interview after interview.

Returning from a visit to Hanoi in January, Sihanouk seemed even more resigned to Hanoi's hegemony over all Indochina, including Cambodia. To a Western visitor in mid-February, the Prince seemed morose, expressing doubt he could serve any useful purpose in Cambodia and again yearning for the Riviera.

Nor is Peking calling the Cambodian tune. Although military supplies for the insurgents come from China, 2,000 military advisers in the field are North Vietnamese (as are some 8,000 logistical troops). Having trained Cambodian insurgents while North Vietnamese divisions held the field for three years, Hanoi remains the dominant political force.

And Hanoi is notoriously allergic to negotiating when its troops are on top. The clandestine radio of Cambodia's insurgents, located near Hanoi and run by Vietnamese, on March 3 indicted President Lon Nol and six other Cambodian leaders: "Our Cambodian people . . . cannot forgive these traitors. We must eliminate them." Any doubt about what "eliminate" meant was ended March 6 when Sihanouk told Reuters that six of the seven (excluding former Premier Son Ngoc Thanh, now in Saigon) would "probably be executed."

Nobody who has studied Communist control over nearly all of Cambodia's countryside and one-third of its population believes the list would end at six or seven notables. There is abundant evidence of drumhead justice in the provinces, with officials secretly executed by stabbing.

Ordinary villagers are scarcely immune. Refugees and defecting Communist soldiers agree that in July 1974, after capturing Ta Hen outpost of Battambang province, insurgents executed 900 men, women and children. Besides other well documented massacres, insurgents have been burning villages, collectivizing farmers, and repressing Buddhist observances.

In short, when anti-aid congressmen argue to end aid rather than "prolong Cambodia's agony," they are urging the United States to hasten a brutal campaign against one of the world's oldest, most sophisticated cultures.

Venezuela Offers Half Billion

HEMISPHERE REPORT—

By WILLIAM GIANDONI Copley News Service

Oil-rich Venezuela is arranging to put some of its petrodollars to work in Latin America.

Eventually, the South American country plans to make $500 million available to finance projects and programs that contribute to development of less-favored hemisphere republics.

The funds will be administered by the Inter-American Development Bank, Washington, D.C., under terms of a contract signed in the U.S. capital Feb. 27.

The idea originated with Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez, who broached it a year ago in his inaugural address, March 12, 1974.

At that time, some Latin countries were making no secret of their displeasure at Venezuela's reluctance to share the windfall profits of the oil bonanza with them. Estimates were that Venezuela expected to earn an extra $10 billion from its petroleum exports in 1974 alone.

The arrangement with the Inter American bank provides that Venezuela will put up the money in 10 equal, consecutive installments over a five-year period. The fund will remain in effect for a quarter of a century, and may be extended.

The Venezuelan gesture is to be no give-away program.

"Resources of the Trust Fund will be administered within criteria of security and profitability," is the way the Inter American Development Bank put it.

That doubtlessly was something of a disappointment to those Latin countries which had been looking toward Venezuela as a possible source of "soft" loans and "grant" aid, of the sort that the United States once made available to them.

Venezuelan Finance Minister Hector Hurtado appeared to be trying to assuage their chagrin when he told the bank's governors that Venezuela also was seeking other means for making resources available for use under concessionary, soft, terms.

In laymen's language, that means that many Latin American countries, which have seen their oil import bills triple and quadruple in the last year or two, no longer can afford to take advantage of loans from the Venezuelan Trust Fund, with its criteria of security and profitability.

Most of the Latin American countries are net importers of petroleum and petroleum products. Venezuela, which is a founding member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), and Ecuador, the only other hemisphere nation that enjoys membership in OPEC, are Latin America's major oil shippers. Bolivia and Trinidad-Tobago, along with Mexico in recent months, also are exporting petroleum.

All the other countries have to rely on foreign oil for which they are being charged currently inflated prices.

Our language has been enriched from the pens of George Bernard Shaw, Sean O'Casey, Brendan Behan, James Joyce and William Butler Yeats, Irish tenors have hit for us the clear high notes from John McCormack to Joe Feeney. And tunes by Victor Herbert and Jimmy McHugh are likely to be around for a long time.

Tarrant Jail Wins Approval

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Eldon Mahon says conditions at the Tarrant County jail meet and better some legal requirements. Mahon heard testimony from Sheriff Lon Evans, other jail personnel, and three inmates at a hearing Mahon called on jail conditions.

Afterwards, Mahon said he found no major problems, but did warn jailers not to censor mail, punish prisoners without due process or take any other actions which might violate prisoners' constitutional rights.

Dallas Gas Price Boost Under Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co.'s financial records fail to justify any rate hike for its Dallas customers under the terms of its franchise agreement here, the Dallas Times Herald has reported.

The newspaper said in a Sunday article that the utility's surplus financial reserves have not fallen below the minimum required under the agreement with the city.

Huge Surplus Cited
The newspaper said it was supplied with Lone Star's earnings figures by an authoritative source.

The figures reportedly show Lone Star's surplus reserve, as of Jan. 1, to be $3.7 million. This is $1.1 million above the minimum required before the company is entitled to a rate increase.

Lo-Vaca Ruling Cited
Lone Star asked the Dallas City Council for a $10-million rate hike after the Texas Railroad Commission ruled that financially troubled Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., which supplies 10 per cent of the gas Lone Star sells to Dallas, could charge higher prices for its gas.

Lone Star interpreted the ruling as allowing it to pass along to its customers the increased cost of gas as determined by the Railroad Commission.

Abilene Asphyxiations Boost Violence Toll

By The Associated Press
The asphyxiation of four West Texas residents as they sat in their auto at a drive-in movie gave a solid push upwards to the state's weekend violent death toll.

The Associated Press counted Texas violent deaths from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

The latest tabulation early today showed 25 violent deaths, including 15 in traffic accidents.

Here is how some died:
A custodian discovered the bodies of Eddie Mae Starling, 24; her husband John, 29; Larry J. Marshall, 46, and his wife Mary Ann, 26, Sunday afternoon at a drive-in movie in Abilene. All four were believed from Hamlin.

Authorities said the two couples died around midnight Saturday, when the exhaust system of their car apparently failed while the car heater was in use.

Two persons were killed in a one-car accident on a farm road about six miles southeast of Breckenridge. Authorities said Denise Judd, 18, and Donald Dean Wade, 17, died when the car they were riding in failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree. The driver was slightly injured and a third passenger escaped without injury.

Gary Wayne Cooper of Fort Worth was killed in a one-car accident early Sunday on Texas 163 in Irving. Police said Cooper's car overturned on the road's westbound shoulder after he apparently lost control of the vehicle.

Kristen Ann Bob, 18, of Dallas died early Saturday when the car in which she was riding overturned and crushed her in North Dallas.

A racial stir was blamed for a parking lot argument at a Seagoville drive-in grocery which led to the shooting death of William Charles Frier, 43.

A car struck and killed Joseph Gilder, 75, on a Houston road shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday. Police said Gilder was standing in the middle of the road. The car did not stop.

Cathy King Caldwell, 22, of Big Spring was found shot to death one mile southwest of the city.

A man was taken into custody.

Two Sherman youths were killed early Saturday when the motorcycle they were riding crashed head-on with a car in Sherman. The dead were identified as James R. Fleish, and Wilbur Ray Mullins, both in their early 20s, police said. The driver of the car was not injured.

A traffic accident involving four cars on Interstate 45 in north Harris County killed two persons and injured four others Saturday. State police identified the dead as J. D. Saralies, 46, of Houstonville and Georgia Spivey, 32, of Houston. Police said none of the four injured was seriously hurt.

Isaac Mata, 52, was killed Saturday when he was struck by a car in the parking lot of a Houston lounge. Police quoted witnesses as saying Mata was deliberately run down and that the driver backed over Mata after running over him once.

An Oak Cliff man was shot to death and a woman jailed for murder after an argument Saturday in his Dallas apartment. Police identified the dead man as Prince Albert Ranson, 37, shot once in the chest. Police jailed a 22-year-old woman who said she shot Ranson after he threatened to

John Dean Halts Tour Of Colleges

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — John W. Dean III has cut short his college speaking tour, saying his speaking engagements inevitably ended in defenses of his acceptance of lecture fees.

The last stop for the former White House counsel and convicted Watergate conspirator was a friendly audience of more than 2,000 Saturday night at Santa Ana College.

"When I came out of prison, I wanted to go out and talk to students on campuses to share my experiences and bad judgments," he said.

But even though the crowd laughed at his quips and applauded his remarks, he was asked whether he was profiting from the spots of Watergate by accepting a $3,500 lecture fee and $200 expenses.

The tour had been set to continue another two weeks.

West opens the king of diamonds, and South wins and draws trumps. South next leads the nine of clubs for a finesse, losing to the jack.

Back comes the seven of spades, and South has his chance to show what kind of hand he has.

Most declarers would play a low spade from the South hand. West plays the nine to force out dummy's queen.

Continues Clubs
South ruffs a diamond and continues the clubs by trying another finesse. No luck—East wins with the king of clubs.

Now East leads his other spade, and West takes two spade tricks to defeat the contract.

After losing the first club trick, South should have played the king of spades on East's first spade return.

If West refused the trick, South would have only one spade loser. If West took the ace of spades and returned the jack to dummy's queen, East would be out of spades. Whenever East won his second club trick he would be unable to return a spade.

Playing the king of spades is an entry-killing maneuver, familiar to all notrump declarers. What's not so familiar is the idea that you can and should use notrump plays at trump contracts.

Because small businesses keep growing bigger, so does our family of pushbutton communications equipment.

Matching a telephone system to a growing business is more than a matter of adding buttons. Sure, the first change may be from a single line business telephone to a six-button model. But as a business continues to grow, it usually needs more communications features as well as more lines. That's why we've added a new family to our lineup, bridging the gap between the familiar six-button set and a full-fledged PBX. We call the new system COM KEY. There are two economical models: The 718 handles seven lines and up to 18 phones. The 1434 handles 14 lines and up to 34 phones. COM KEY gives you the advantage of a central answering position. Yet anyone in the office can pick up any line. COM KEY also features an intercom and such options as a paging system and the capability of playing your own music for customers when you put them on hold. If you're looking into communications for a growing business, go with a system that can grow with you. Find out about our new generation of communications equipment. Call the telephone business office and ask to have a communications consultant contact you with details.

Before you get down to business, call the experts in the business.

Susan Hayward Buried In Georgia

CARROLLTON, Ga. (AP) — Some 100 people gathered for a simple ceremony in a tiny church she helped found to mourn Academy Award-winning actress Susan Hayward.

The flame-haired actress was buried Sunday beside her second husband, Carrollton businessman and attorney F. Eaton Chalkley, among the red clay hills where they lived for nine years.

"She was a good woman who loved her family, her home and her country, and I was proud to know her," said the Rev. Thomas Brow at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church.

Miss Hayward and her husband donated 14 acres adjoining their farm for the church, and they helped raise money for its construction about 10 years ago.

Miss Hayward, 58, won an Academy Award in 1956 for her role in "I Want to Live." She received nominations for two other roles.

A brain tumor was discovered two years ago. She suffered a fatal seizure at her Beverly Hills, Calif., home Friday.

Her twin sons by her first marriage, Gregory and Timothy Barker, were among the pallbearers. Their father is actor Jess Barker, Miss Hayward's first husband.

Few celebrities attended Sunday's service. Most mourners were friends who knew her as Mrs. Eaton Chalkley.

Pint-sized Houdini does his thing 'It's All Tricks,' Lad Says

UNION BEACH, N.J. (AP) — "Daddy locks me up and I don't use anything to get out," says Dennis Burke Jr., a 4-year-old who specializes in Houdini-like escapes from ropes, chains and handcuffs.

The youngster learned his bag of tricks by watching his father, Dennis Burke, an amateur magician who performs with the boy at charity functions under the billing of Dionysius Burke & Co.

D. B. Jr., as his father calls him, recently amazed the audience at a March of Dimes telethon when he escaped from chains and two pairs of handcuffs in 40 seconds.

His father, a production worker at Tenco Co. in Linden, says the boy escaped from padlocked chains at a Cub Scout dinner in 14 seconds.

Burke says Dennis first tried to imitate him by escaping from ropes and chains. Burke wraps his tiny son in one 11-foot chain and another 3-foot chain, padlocking both.

The father says, "As though mechanized, Dennis begins to jump and wriggle, sometimes using his teeth until the chains begin to loosen. His format varies from standing to sitting, but whichever is more comfortable, it seldom takes him more than seconds to release himself.

"Just to show that he was tightly secured, he shows you the impressions left on his skin from the links."

Dennis, who often makes his escapes behind closed doors, insists he doesn't use a spare key. But he won't say how he does it. He'll only say, "It's all tricks."

Plainfield Police Chief Patrick McColgan, out of whose regulation police handcuffs Dennis managed to wriggle, says of the feat, "This is show business. But I'll admit it's an interesting trick for a lad so young."

Under New Jersey law, children under age are prohibited from collecting money for performances, so Dennis is pursuing an amateur career, planning next to perfect escapes from locked trunks.

Culture Drowning In Waves Of Red Ink

By TIM AHERN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Museums, orchestras, the theater and ballet are more popular than ever, but they're drowning in red ink, according to a study of 40 cultural attractions in Philadelphia.

The Greater Philadelphia Cultural Alliance conducted the study to show the economic importance of culture in hopes of obtaining more financial support from the business community.

Henry E. Putsch, executive director of the alliance, says that while attendance at cultural events is steadily increasing, organizations such as the world-renowned Philadelphia Orchestra are losing money.

"The orchestra is always sold out, and there's only so much you can charge for tickets," he said. "The money raised from tickets in no way covers expenses."

The same holds true for other attractions, such as theater and ballet, he said.

Orchestra tickets now cost $2 to $25, compared with $1 to $10 five years ago. Ballet or theater tickets are priced at $3.50 to $10 today, compared with $2.50 to $10 in 1970.

The 40 organizations considered in the study employed a total of 5,100 persons and had a combined budget of $64.1 million last year.

They reported operating deficits of $35 million, and although most of the deficits were made up by government subsidies and individual and foundation contributions, year-end deficits still totaled $2.5 million.

Putsch says the major economic importance of cultural attractions is their "multiplier effect" — money spent in the city by people who come to attend cultural events. He says the actual dollar impact from culture's multiplier effect is $160 million a year in Philadelphia.

And although local cultural events are sometimes costly, they are still less expensive than vacations away from home, says Putsch.

"We're finding that a lot of persons in the area are staying here now and going to things here instead of going away for vacations," he said. "And we think that businesses in this area need to know how important the culture business is here."

Golda Meir Again Has Eye Surgery

JERUSALEM (AP) — Former Premier Golda Meir is wearing glasses to protect her eyes from dust after a second cataract operation, a hospital spokesman says.

He added, "It was a quick operation. She was put under partial anesthesia. She was a good patient."

The operation occurred more than a week ago but she apparently had requested that no statement be released on it.

Symphony To Play At Andrews Today

ANDREWS — A special concert of the Midland-Odessa Symphony will be presented here tonight. It will be the orchestra's first performance here.

The 8 p.m. concert in the Andrews Junior High auditorium will feature music for all tastes patterned after the Boston "Pops" Orchestra's successful formula: "Light and semi-classical music, plus a dash of the unexpected." To be offered on the program are music from the movies and Broadway musicals, plus country-western tunes, folk songs, rock 'n roll and patriotic numbers.

The event also will feature the Andrews School choir in two selections, backed by the symphony. In addition, a dozen selected instrumentalists from the Andrews High School Band will sit in with the orchestra in a performance of the music from "Hair." A "surprise guest conductor," some well-known Andrewsian with no experience or background in music, will be chosen to lead the orchestra in the theme from "Can Can." Other works on the program will be conducted by Dr. Tom Hohnstadt, symphony music director.

3,000 Doctors Strike At 16 New York Hospitals

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 3,000 physicians struck 16 voluntary and municipal hospitals today after round-the-clock negotiations failed to resolve a dispute over the doctors' working hours. It was the first major strike by doctors in the city's history.

Dr. John Holloman, president of the city's Health and Hospitals Corporation, said the city would not immediately seek a court injunction against the strike which began at 7 a.m. He said he wanted to see the effects of the strike.

The hospitals and their related facilities have a total 14,000 beds and provide outpatient services to some 10,000 clinic and emergency room patients.

The Committee of Interns and Residents — CIR — has been demanding that doctors be required to work no more than 80 hours a week and 24 hours overtime in the 11 voluntary and five city hospitals involved in the dispute. Spokesman say interns and residents now work as many as 110 hours a week and 56 hours at a time.

Coppola, Korty, Chaplin Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Directors Guild of America has awarded Francis Ford Coppola its award for the best directed film of 1974 for his "Godfather Part II."

The guild named John Korty best television director of 1974 at its Saturday night banquet for his "Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman."

And a rare life membership was awarded to Charlie Chaplin, who recently was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II.

Sides Is Double Winner In Kirby Sales And Horses

C. C. Sides, owner of Midland Kirby Co., has been raising and showing Appaloosas for about sixteen years of the thirty-three he's been selling vacuums.

At age 76, Sides still does most of the showing, breaking and training of his horses and his horses are winners. He also continues to win in Kirby vacuum sales.

Raised in Van Zandt County in East Texas, he bought and sold livestock until tractors replaced horses and mules and "It broke me," he said.

One day he noticed a car loaded with strange looking gadgets and asked the man what he did for a living. The man replied, "I won't tell you, but if you care to come with me, I'll show you."

He saw his first vacuum cleaner demonstration. Since that day in 1938, Sides has sold at least one cleaner a day. By the second month of selling he was at the top of the list in sales.

In 1946 Sides became associated with Kirby Vacuum Cleaners and has sold as many or more Kirby cleaners than any man living. One month he sold 115 - the closest sales made was 68. Sides' record is selling seventeen vacuums in one day.

His ability to sell has resulted in an office covered with plaques and awards. Some of the outstanding awards were 1958 - a trip to the factory at Cleveland, Ohio; 1959 - a Rambler stationwagon (loaded); 1964 - a trip to the World's Fair at New York City; 1969 - a Pontiac Grand Prix plus many things such as a chair like those of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

The honor that Sides prizes the most came last year in July when he was named the top salesman in a five state region and was given a 15 day holiday in England, Italy, Tanganyika and Kenya.

Sides' interest in raising horses was revived in 1958 when he bought a saddle mare, Nora Bell. His son, T. Paul, raises Appaloosas and suggested that he breed Nora Bell to an Appaloosa. Zipper Bill, one of the colts and probably the best, was shown at halter 22 times winning 17 firsts and several Grand Champions. Later he was shown in performance and later sold.

C. C. Sides is a winner in both areas of interest, Kirby sales and horses.

Odessa Wins Top Money At Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Ward, a bull and bareback bronc rider from Odessa, Tex., took home $1,712 and all-around cowboy honors from the Phoenix Jaycees Rodeo of Rodeos.

Ward held on for 145 points to take first in bareback bronc riding and placed ninth on the bulls. The five-day rodeo offered $65,000 in purses and ended Sunday after nine performances.

South Viet Bombers Strike Area Across Cambodian Border

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese bombers struck across the Cambodian border today attempting to knock out North Vietnamese artillery and troops threatening the South Vietnamese provincial capital of Tay Ninh City, field reports said.

Associated Press correspondent Denis D. Gray reported from near the Cambodian border about 40 miles west of Saigon that he saw heavy smoke from bombs dropped by South Vietnamese warplanes rise into the sky.

Another Highway Cut
Meanwhile, North Vietnamese forces pulled the noose tighter in the central highlands, cutting a fourth highway into the region and leaving only one road open, the Saigon command said.

The second week of the North Vietnamese drive against the area ended with an attack on Dinh Quan, a district town 50 miles northeast of Saigon, that cut Highway 20 to Dak.

Government officers also conceded that the North Vietnamese had captured virtually all of Ban Me Thuot, the capital of Darlac province, in the highlands. They said a few hundred government troops remain in the devastated city, isolated but in radio contact with government forces.

Americans' Fate Unknown
The fate of nine Americans trapped in Ban Me Thuot by the fighting was unknown.

Kien Duc, a district town south of Ban Me Thuot, was reported under heavy attack. A village six miles southeast of Kien Duc was overrun, field reports said.

Nearly 30 Americans have been evacuated from the highlands and half of the South Vietnamese 2nd Corps headquarters at Pleiku has been moved to Nha Trang, on the cost, because of the deteriorating military situation. Thousands of civilians, most of them military dependents, have been flown out of Pleiku.

South Vietnamese forces also were meeting stiff resistance along the Cambodian border 50 miles northwest of Saigon in an operation to drive back North Vietnamese forces threatening Tay Ninh, another provincial capital.

Viet Cong gunners fired 30 rockets into a government base camp on the outskirts of Tay Ninh, hitting an ammunition dump and setting off explosions that lasted for more than an hour.

More South Vietnamese infantry reinforcements were rushed to Hieu Thien, a threatened district town 10 miles south of Tay Ninh, to join in the counteroffensive to retake more than a half dozen outposts and villages that fell to the North Vietnamese last week.

Fuel Depot Attacked
Another district town 75 miles northeast of Saigon, Hoai Duc, also was under heavy rocket and infantry assault, the Saigon command said.

Viet Cong forces also struck within three miles of downtown Saigon, the command reported. A handful of sappers attacked a fuel depot on the outskirts of the capital, wounding 10 government soldiers and damaging rubber field tanks. About 250 gallons of gasoline were destroyed, officials said.

In Cambodia, military sources reported that the government drive northwest of the Phnom Penh airport had forced the Khmer Rouge to withdraw their captured U.S. 130mm howitzers out of range of the airfield and reduced the daily shelling of the field considerably. U.S. officials said the American airlift of rice, fuel and ammunition flew a record 44 flights on Sunday.

Kissinger Takes Latest Israeli Word To Egypt

By BARRY SCHWEID
JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Egypt today with new word from Israel about the proposed Sinai withdrawal agreement but apparently without any major concessions.

After a four-hour negotiating session Sunday, Foreign Minister Yigal Alon said he, Premier Yitzhak Rabin and Defense Minister Shimon Peres had given Kissinger "proposals," but the secretary of State termed them "ideas."

However, the Israeli cabinet met earlier and authorized its negotiators to continue the talks on the basis of guidelines set earlier by the cabinet.

This indicated that a pullback to 20 to 30 miles in the Sinai desert was still the maximum Israeli offer, and that Egypt had not yet offered sufficient inducement for them to give up the Abu Rudeis oilfields and the strategic Mitla and Gidi passes.

In Cairo, meanwhile, an Egyptian government spokesman said the Egyptian proposals Kissinger took to Israel last week "constitute a firm Egyptian position which is not subject to maneuvers or outbidding."

The Israelis said these proposals, which have not been disclosed, were "insufficient, and even unsatisfactory" in some aspects.

The Egyptian spokesman said Egypt, because of what it is spending to reopen the Suez Canal and rebuild the cities along the waterway, should be "assured of an adequate Israeli withdrawal for protecting its huge human investment in the region."

The spokesman also said Egypt has no objection to participating in the Geneva conference as part of a unified Arab delegation representing Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization. This was believed aimed at circumventing Israel's refusal to negotiate with the PLO.

Kissinger spent Saturday and Sunday in Damascus and Amman, meeting with President Hafez Assad of Syria and King Hussein of Jordan.

Air Condition Now; Let Jerry's Do It

Jerry Riel of Jerry's Sheet Metal, 700 N. Fort Worth St. reminds homeowners and businesses it is time to prepare for the hot weather ahead with a new Day & Night central refrigerated air conditioner.

Jerry can give expert advice about the type system best suited to your home or business, and his expertly trained staff can install it. A Day & Night air conditioning and heating system will provide season after season of just-right comfort inside, whether it's blowing or blazing outside.

Perhaps you are remodeling or building a new home and a complete heating and cooling system is needed. Whatever your needs, Jerry's Sheet Metal can provide you with the safety and convenience of a Day & Night gas system, which offers unmatched construction and quality. The exclusive Jetglass C protected heating element cannot rust out or burn out. With a Day & Night air conditioning and heating system, you will enjoy comfortable temperatures summer and winter.

Have Jerry's Sheet Metal check your air conditioning system for the warmer weather ahead. For best results after Jerry's experts check your old air conditioner, be sure to keep it oiled and change the filter about once a month.

Jerry's also carries window type refrigeration units. For all your air conditioning and heating needs call Jerry's at 684-4405.

Texas Student Loan Scandal Could Involve $8 Million

By RICK SCOTT
DALLAS (AP) — Taxpayers and students may be the victims of a scandal unfolding in Texas which involves the U.S. government's $8-billion Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Estimates on the amount of money involved in Texas range from $800,000 to $8 million.

The scope of possible wrongdoing is not yet entirely clear, but some top state officials say the irregularities already found in Texas can only be part of a "nationwide scandal."

"I don't think there is any question but that this is a serious matter for the entire United States," the chairman of the state school board, Joe Kelley Butler of Houston, said last week.

In Washington, officials of the U.S. Office of Education—an arm of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW)—said there is no indication thus far that the problem extends beyond the Texas regional office headquartered in Dallas.

The region includes Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Through the loan program, the U.S. government guarantees repayment of loans made to students either by banks or schools. If a student defaults on the loan, the government repays the lender.

There have been these developments here recently:

—Officials of HEW closed the Guaranteed Student Loan office in Dallas suddenly and audited the books for possible funds misuse. Student loan program offices throughout the country are being checked by HEW, especially where cash is handled, an HEW spokesman acknowledged.

—Four loan collectors, including a supervisor, were fired from the Dallas student loan office several days later. Officials said they found evidence of "improper representations and tactics in the collection of funds on defaulted student loans."

—The Texas attorney general's office has filed suit against a number of proprietary (private and for-profit) schools in the state, alleging more than $200,000 in tuition refunds is due students who had received government-backed loans.

—A private collection agency, which was used by the government in some cases, has been placed in receivership.

—A state attorney general's task force, the Internal Review Service, the FBI, HEW and U.S. Customs officials have jumped into the probe, which now includes the Texas Education Agency.

Investigators believe some "defaulted" loans were actually repaid by students, but the money never found its way back to the government. It disappeared through collectors, collection agencies or in government offices.

Some methods used to collect past due loan payments reportedly violated Federal Trade Commission laws. One young black man, who dropped out of a private business college, said a man posing as a sheriff's deputy came to his place of employment and threatened to put him in jail unless he paid.

The young man's case was only one of 10,000 cases handled by Collegiate Recovery and Credit Assistance Programs, Inc., a collection agency placed in receivership after allegations that it failed to forward $300,000 paid by students on to colleges or the government.

Several of the fired federal workers in the Dallas student loan office were former Collegiate Recovery employees.

Cecil D. Evans, deputy director of the federal loan program here, testified he received more than $2,000 in cash and trips to Las Vegas and Jamaica in return for referring colleges to Collegiate Recovery for collection on defaulted student loans.

Evans, who has resigned his post, also said he received the favors while employed as a loan officer for Republic National Bank in Dallas, one of the state's largest banks.

An internal audit of the Texas Education Agency's Division of Proprietary Schools and Veterans Education (DPVSE), to be made public soon, reportedly details lax enforcement of Act in connection with the loan program.

Floods Take Heavy Toll In Three Dixie States

By The Associated Press
Rain, drizzle and fog lingered over the southeastern states today as floodwaters rose in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama.

About 500 families in Columbus, Miss., left their homes Sunday night as the Tombigbee River rose to eight feet above flood stage and spread out over a three-square mile area.

Residents Remain Calm
No injuries were reported and residents of the area seemed to be taking it calmly, going to church or restaurants despite flood waters rising in nearby parking lots.

The heaviest downpour Sunday was in southern Georgia where reports of one inch of rain in six hours were common. Civil defense authorities said the worst appears over for Tennessee, which was hard hit last week by heavy rains. Officials revised their damage estimates from the rains upward to $32 million, and Tennessee Gov. Ray Blanton asked the federal government to declare the state a disaster area so it can receive special federal funds.

Nashville's Grand Ole Opry was forced to perform in the city's Municipal Auditorium when the Cumberland River washed over its banks and covered much of the new Opryland music park.

Fog was widespread from the nation's midsection to the Appalachians, where snow was falling.

Fog Closes Airport
O'Hare International Airport in Chicago, the nation's busiest, was shut down early today because of the fog. Driving conditions were hazardous throughout the Midwest.

Flagstaff, Ariz., was blanketed with two inches of snow and Salt Lake City measured one inch. Wintery weather was common in the West with rain along the northern Pacific Coast, turning to snow in the Rockies.

A travelers advisory was posted through the night for the mountains and interior areas of Southern California because of high winds. High wind warnings were in effect Sunday night in extreme southern Nevada.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 17 at Butte, Mont. Ely, Nevada, and Pellston, Mich., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

'Hostess With Mostest' Perle Mesta Dies At 85

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It is said that many political compromises were worked out at Mrs. Mesta's parties, which were known for relaxation and a bit of gay abandon rather than laborious philosophical discussions.

Through the years, her guests were treated to piano recitals by Harry S. Truman, a Comanche war whoop from diplomat Patrick Hurley, a rendition of "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" by Dwight D. Eisenhower, a whistling performance by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Sen. Tom Connally's version of "My Old Kentucky Home."

Father Strikes Oil
Born in Sturgis, Mich., on Oct. 12, 1889, Mrs. Mesta moved to Oklahoma City after her father struck it rich in Oklahoma and Texas oil fields. Her father, who built one of the city's most luxurious hotels, the Skirvin, left his fortune to her.

She went to Washington in 1907, an accomplished pianist and singer with aspirations toward a career in opera. In 1916, however, she gave up her career plans to marry George Mesta, founder of Mesta Machine Co. of Pittsburgh. She inherited Mesta's fortune when he died in 1925.

Her name was later linked with numerous suitors, but she never remarried.

Liberal, Feminist
She was active in political campaigns, first as a Republican but later switching her registration to the Democratic party. She considered herself a liberal. A feminist and supporter of the women's liberation movement, she presided at the opening of the Woman's Party Headquarters in Geneva in 1939.

Her fund-raising activities for President Truman were rewarded with an appointment as minister to Luxembourg in 1949.

She stayed for four years, gaining a reputation for providing "open house" to American GIs.

TWU Loses Appeal On Dormitory Rule
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Second Court of Civil Appeals upheld a lower court ruling which declared unconstitutional Texas Woman's University's regulations requiring single women to live in dormitories.

The court said the school may be right that it needs the girls in the dorm to pay off bonds, but said it cannot treat women one way and at the same time allow men to live in private off-campus housing.

Sit-In Spokesman Vows Future Seizures At UT

By DAN McDONALD
AUSTIN (AP) — A spokesman for the group responsible for an eight-hour sit-in at a University of Texas administration office says student protesters today are different from those of the Vietnam war era.

Thomas Collier, a black UT junior from Amarillo and a member of United Students Against Racism, said, "Students involved in protests have become more sophisticated today."

This past Thursday 10 students locked themselves in the offices of acting UT-Austin President Lorene Rogers and said they would not come out until their demands to end alleged racial discrimination at the university had been met.

Granted Amnesty
The group came out after conferring with two state representatives and school administrators who granted the students amnesty and a right to talk to the university regents at their monthly meeting Friday.

"Our attitude is to achieve our goals by any means necessary," Collier said. "But our future actions will be determined by the actions of Rogers and (UT Chancellor Charles) Lemaistre."

"I think our actions Thursday woke up a few people to the charges of racism against the university," said Collier, who was not in Rogers' office during the takeover.

"We're planning to do other things than just rallies and demonstrations," Collier said. "We're going to talk to legislators and go directly to university officials."

Collier added that he thought the regents will be more responsive to his group's concerns than in the past because of Thursday's activities.

Regent chairman Allan Shivers told the 10 students on Friday that "the university will not tolerate under any circumstances seizure of university property in the future."

Wants Progress Report
Another member of the student group, Irma Soto of San Angelo, told the regents that she wanted a progress report on the group's demands for the regents' next meeting.

Miss Soto also said all standardized admissions tests should be eliminated for minority students and a division of minority affairs established for the university.

Collier said the hearing Friday "was very inadequate because 15 minutes is not enough time to say what we've been trying to say for the past seven years."

As an indication of the changes in student protests, Collier pointed out the assistance Thursday of Reps. Mickey Leland, D-Houston, and Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin.

"Leland and Barrientos were effective in helping the students in Rogers' office talk with university officials and the regents," Collier said.

"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)

Blood is precious. Nothing substitutes for human blood. Because of this fact hospitals value blood more than money. In several cases recently of which I am aware money was useless in purchasing blood for transfusions; only more blood was accepted as payment. Truly, blood is precious.

In spiritual realities blood is also precious. Not just anyone's blood, but the blood of Jesus. To explain this point the apostle Peter writes to Christians with these words, "You know that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your fathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, but with the precious blood of Christ" (1 Peter 1:18-19). So, in regard to salvation blood is of more value than anything. The blood of Jesus Christ alone can cleanse us of our sins.

Blood is precious, but the most precious blood is that which Jesus shed on the cross for our sins.

Oral Roberts In Buzzer Win

NEW YORK (AP) — After a weekend of eight basketball games, the Oral Roberts Titans have emerged as the quickest and slickest guns in the National Invitation Tournament. "They're in another league," says St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca. "Can you imagine my players against them?" St. John's may get that chance. Along with the high-powered Titans, the Redmen were another of the teams who won first-round games at Madison Square Garden and proceeded into this week's quarter-final round. St. John's defeated Lafayette 84-78 Saturday night to complete the first day of this 32nd annual affair. The victory launched the Redmen into a meeting Tuesday night against Manhattan, a 68-51 winner over Massachusetts Saturday. Pittsburgh, a 70-65 winner over Southern Illinois, will play Tuesday night's other game against Providence, which upset 14th-ranked Clemson 91-86 Saturday.

Smith Takes Bowling Lead

Oral Roberts, a team with a load of talent and a breathtaking offense, beat Memphis State 97-85 Sunday in the tournament's most exciting game and advanced to a quarter-final meeting Thursday night against Oregon. The Ducks shot down St. Peter's 85-79 Sunday.

South Carolina, another of the class teams in the 16-team field, took Connecticut 71-61 Sunday to advance to Thursday's other quarter-final game against Princeton, an 84-63 victory over Holy Cross.

The Oral Roberts-Memphis State game created the most excitement of the first-round contests. Both teams came out shooting from the hip and continued to blaze away for the full 40 minutes.

Oral Roberts had the last shot—a baseline beauty by Arnold Dugger at the buzzer—and thus had the ballgame. "We do play defense, but we sure didn't play it tonight," said Oral Roberts Coach Jerry Hale, whose club fired 81 shots and hit the mark on 44 of them. Memphis State didn't do much worse in the pro-type game. The Tigers threw up 88 shots and completed 41.

"For our next opponent," Hale pointed out, "we're going to have to play some defense. We're not really a run-and-gun team."

The winning play was as gorgeous as the rest of the game had been and put a perfect finish to the spectacular shooting show. It was a busted play, but Dugger managed to get off a jump shot with just enough time left.

"We tried to get the ball to Anthony Roberts, but we couldn't, so I had to take the shot," said Dugger, who leaped into the arms of teammates after the game-winner. Bill Cook, the 6-foot-5 Memphis State forward who scored 18 points for the Tigers, found the ending hard to believe. He stood motionless on the Garden court for about five minutes, watching the scoreboard as his teammates vanished into the dressing room.

"It was," said Hale, "one heck of a game."

State Champions Set New Record

AUSTIN (AP) — When LePoyner's victorious Flyers greeted their cheering fans at midcourt last Saturday night, it marked the end of an unprecedented two-weeks in schoolboy basketball. LePoyner of Larus, southwest of Tyler, school enrollment 113, was the third unbeaten team to win a state basketball championship this season. Records show that this had never happened since the University Interscholastic League split the schoolboy competition into five divisions in 1953. LePoyner claimed a 42-0 season by whipping Spade, northwest of Lubbock, 52-42, for the Class B championship after defeating Richards, 66-52, in the Saturday morning semifinals. In Class AAAA, Houston Kashmere, enrollment 1,950, overcame Midland Lee's stalling tactics in the semifinals to capture a triple overtime 52-47 victory and claim its second consecutive title by thwarting Fort Worth Paschal's slowdown antics 60-58. Kashmere, the successor to Houston Wheatley as the dominant high school basketball team in Texas, finished with a 46-0 record and extended its victory string over two seasons to 78, a AAAA record. Last weekend, Lamesa closed out a 34-0 season by clipping Cleveland 64-56 and South Grand Prairie 59-55 for the Class AAA championship. The other champions are Brookshire Royal, which beat Whitewright 63-57, and Dimmitt, which squeezed by Van Vleet 46-43. The three undefeated champions illustrated that experience pays by starting all senior lineups. Richards had the youngest squad, starting a sophomore and three juniors among its first five. And the Spade Longhorns, a school of only 31 people, exemplified what the UIL insists what schoolboy athletics is all about—they joined spectators in applauding their opponents, LePoyner, as the Flyers were introduced before the state championship game.

Drake Beats Arizona In Tournament Finals

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Energized by home-cooking, reed-thin Larry Haralson helped underdog Drake outfox "The Fox" Sunday with a 73-67 victory over Arizona in the title game of the National Commissioners Invitational Basketball Tournament. The least-surprised spectator in the slim crowd of 4,161 and a national television audience was Haralson's mother, Mae. "I knew they were going to win. Larry told me so on Thursday when I had him and some other boys out for supper," she said. Her Louisville-reared son, a mainstay on two straight Kentucky state title high school teams, responded to his homecoming by averaging 20 points a game in Drake's march through the eight-team tournament. But the steady play of Haralson and teammate Terry McKissick, who were both named to the all-tournament team, was only half the strategy of Bob Ortegel, Drake's first-year coach. Arizona's racehorse attack never got out of the gate as Drake methodically and calmly protected a 10-point lead throughout the second half. Deadly free throw shooting by the third-place entry from the Missouri Valley Conference sealed Arizona's fate. Drake received a 24-point effort from McKissick and 20 from Haralson, while holding 6-foot-9 Al Fleming, who had a 20-point average, scoreless in the first half. But in the end, Drake's 23-of-34 foul shooting played a key part in the downfall of the favored Wildcats. Arizona, 22-7 converted six of only eight free throws. "We had an air of confidence from the start," said Haralson, whose club entered the tourney tied with Purdue as holders of the worst records—15-10. "We had suffered together for so long that once we started winning it all mushroomed," said Ortegel. Arizona coach Fred Snowden, nicknamed "The Fox," said Drake's game plan kept the Wildcats off balance and clogged Arizona's giant-sized middle. "The whole crux of the game was whenever we cut in, they wouldn't miss," he said. Arizona, 6-20 when Snowden took over the program three years ago, finished 22-7 for its best record ever. Bob Elliott, Arizona's bull-strong inside operator, was named the tournament's most valuable player. He averaged 28.3 in three appearances, including 27 in the finale. Other all-tourney selections were Purdue's John Garrett and Bowling Green's Jeff Montgomery. NCIT officials said the event, which drew 20,218, would return to Louisville next year. A year ago in St. Louis, the tournament pulled 19,000 fans.

Drake Beats Arizona In Tournament Finals

MIAMI (AP) — There have been 33 other American victories, along with assorted foreign triumphs in the British Open, the Australian Open and the World Cup. But No. 54, which tied him for fourth place on the all-time winning list, was particularly pleasing to Jack Nicklaus. The triumph in the Doral Open Golf Tournament Sunday wiped out the memory of a collapse that cost him the title in the Jackie Gleason Classic just two weeks ago. It set him up for the Masters. It wrote an end to a series of frustrations that have plagued the Golden Bear since last fall. And it came with Johnny Miller in the field. "I read the papers like everybody else," Nicklaus said when asked his reaction to Miller's challenge to Jack's position as the game's premier performer. "He's won a lot of tournaments the past year or so, and he'll win a lot more. It's good for me and good for the game to have someone playing very well." But Nicklaus, who had a final round 68 and won by three strokes with a 278 total, isn't ready to change his schedule or shift his priorities to meet the challenge. "My schedule is the same as it's been for five or six years," Nicklaus said. "I played three in the west, I've played two in Florida. I'll play one more and go to Augusta with six tournaments." "That hasn't varied by more than one tournament in several years." And he turned his attention from Miller to the Masters in Augusta, Ga., April 10-13. "It's always nice to win," he said. "But it's particularly nice to win this close to Augusta. It's good to get your confidence up. And nothing is better for your confidence than winning." "Winning this close to Augusta makes me feel that it is indicative of the way I feel I'll play in the Masters." And that was very good.

Stenmark Wins Giant Slalom

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — It was the weekend of the Swedes. Youthful amateur skier Ingemar Stenmark carried home Sun Valley's Harriman Cup, the first time it had been awarded in 10 years. "The Swedes are winning everything," said resort owner Bill Janes. "I can't help wondering why. Maybe it's the women." Stenmark, a quiet 18-year-old raised in a Scandinavian village, challenged some of the world's top amateur skiers to win the giant slalom and a third place in the slalom last Saturday. His next stop is Val Gardena, Italy, next weekend where he and Gustavo Thoeni of Italy will be running neck-and-neck for the World Cup championship.

Indiana Heads List In NCAA Playoffs

By The Associated Press
Top-ranked Indiana is credited with changing Kentucky's mild case into Wildcat. And the Hoosiers could soon tangle with their rumpaging creation since both teams appear to be on a collision course to the finals of the NCAA's Midwest Regional next Saturday.

Kentucky was manhandled by Indiana 96-74 in December and from the ashes of that defeat rose a different Wildcat team, one that sometimes confuses basketball and boxing. One coach said that after the Wildcats were wiped out by the rough-and-tumble Hoosiers, they began playing "a karate defense."

That brand of play paid off in the first-round NCAA game Saturday, when sixth-ranked Kentucky, led by poised seniors Jimmy Dan Connor and Kevin Grevey, rolled over No. 5 Marquette 76-54, ending the Warriors' 12-game winning streak and prompting Marquette Coach Al McGuire to say: "I think we need to a much better club... (Kentucky) is a much better team than a lot of people think they are."

Syracuse in OT
In Saturday's other first-round action, it was Kansas State 69, Penn 62 and Syracuse 87, La Salle 83 in overtime at Philadelphia; North Carolina 90, New Mexico State 69 and Boston College 82, Furman 76 at Charlotte, N.C.; Central Michigan 77, Georgetown 75 at Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Indiana 76, Texas-El Paso 53 and Oregon State 78, Middle Tennessee 67 at Lexington, Ky.; Cincinnati 87, Texas A&M 79 and Maryland 83, Creighton 79 at Lubbock, Texas; Louisville 91, Rutgers 78 and Notre Dame 77, Kansas 71 at Tulsa, Okla.; Arizona State 97, Alabama 94 and Nevada-Las Vegas 90, San Diego State 80 at Tempe, Ariz.; Montana 69, Utah State 63 and UCLA 103, Michigan 91 in overtime at Pullman, Wash.

While the Wildcats, 23-4, are looking ahead to a possible revenge bout with undefeated Indiana, they first must beat Central Michigan 21-5, in a Midwest Regional semifinal game Thursday night at Dayton, Ohio. "We certainly want to play Indiana but we can't overlook the next one," said Grevey, a second team All-American who scored 19 points.

In the other Midwest Regional semifinal Thursday night, Indiana, 30-0, plays Oregon State, 19-10.

The rest of the lineup for Thursday night's regional semifinals looks like this:

Syracuse, 21-7, plays North Carolina, 22-7, and Boston College, 21-7, plays Kansas State, 18-3, in the East Regional at Providence, R.I.

Cincinnati, 22-5, plays Louisville, 25-3, and Maryland, 23-4, plays Notre Dame, 19-8, in the Midwest Regional at Dayton, Ohio.

Arizona State, 24-3, plays Nevada-Las Vegas, 23-4, and Montana, 21-6, plays UCLA, 24-3.

The winners of the regional semifinals will then meet Saturday night in the finals, and when the dust clears, there will be four teams on their way to San Diego March 29-31 to crown a new champion.

Indiana Advances
Indiana took another large step toward the coveted title by whipping Texas-El Paso, 69-49, of course, the Hoosiers' do-or-die defense played a vital role.

"There's no question that our defense is the most important part of our game," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "It was tough for them to come back against us."

Indiana, which broke the game wide open early in the second half with a 31-12 spurt behind Steve Green and Quinn Buckner, received an inspirational lift by the appearance of injured high scorer Scott May.

May, wearing a cast on his right forearm to protect a broken bone, didn't take a shot and was credited with one rebound in 51 seconds of playing time. "He's looking better all the time," said trainer Bob Young. "He can be used in certain situations."

Second-ranked UCLA, seeking its 10th NCAA championship in 12 years, barely survived a battle with Michigan. With two seconds left in regulation, Michigan's C. J. Kupec rimmed an 18-footer and the teams went into overtime. "C. J. was out a little farther than I would have liked," said Michigan Coach John Orr. "But we had planned to play for the last shot and he makes most of those."

Early in the overtime, Marques Johnson cashed in two foul shots and Richard Washington tossed in a pair of jumpers to keep the Bruins' season alive.

Louisville Wins
Third-ranked Louisville used Junior Bridgeman's career-high 36 points and a strong bunch of reserves to bust open a two-point game at halftime. "I think the key was our bench," said Louisville Coach Denny Crum. "It was obvious in the last 10 minutes that Rutgers were not nearly as quick as they were in the first half."

Maryland guards John Lucas and Brad Davis fired long range against a tough zone defense to beat pesky Creighton. Doug Brookins scored 25 points.

and led a late Creighton charge but Lucas' foul shot with nine seconds left sealed the verdict.

No. 7 North Carolina, joining Maryland as the two Atlantic Coast Conference teams in this tournament and forcing defending NCAA champion North Carolina State to the sidelines, rode a 17-3 burst early in the second half to a romp over New Mexico State.

Arizona State raced to a big lead, had troubles with Alabama's full court press but held on to nip the Crimson Tide. "A lot of teams wouldn't have given that kind of effort," said C. M. Newton, coach of 10th-ranked Alabama. "I thought we showed a lot of class."

Syracuse made it into overtime when La Salle's Joe Bryant, who scored 25 points, missed a shot with three seconds left in regulation. Syracuse then hit 10 straight foul shots and got two clutch baskets by Kevin King to nip La Salle.
