9,400-Foot Test Staked in Pecos

Belco Petroleum Corp., Midland, has scheduled No. 1 White Estate, a 9,400-foot wildcat in Pecos County, seven miles southeast of Bakersfield. It is 1/4 mile southeast of the Ellenburger discovery in the Apache Camp field, and spots 660 feet from north and 1,800 feet from east lines of section 1, block 179, TCR survey. The discovery, Texas Oil & Gas Corp. No. 1-A White Estate, completed in 1974, topped the Wolfcamp at 5,923; Cisco at 6,621; Canyon at 7,050 and Pennsylvania detrital at 8,042 feet, under ground elevation of 2,753 feet.

Forest Develops Deep Ward Gas

Forest Oil Corp. No. 1 Dolly Varden, assured Ellenburger confirmers and fourth Fossilman well and 1/4-mile southeast extension to both pays in the Vermejo field of Ward County, flowed gas at the rate of 3.5 million cubic feet per day, plus eight barrels of lost water hourly, from the Ellenburger. Flow was through perforations at 21,265-21,285 feet, which had been fractured with 35,000 gallons. Testing continued. The Fossilman perforations at 18,788-18,294 feet have been shut in.

Test site is 6,200 feet from northeast and 1,100 feet from southeast lines of section 69, block 33, H&TC survey, five miles southeast of Mentone. The discovery well is in Loving County.

Strawn Producer Reopens Field

Atlantic Richfield Co. has completed No. 9-A Virgil J. Powell as the re-opener of the Tillery, Northwest (Strawn) oil pool of East Schleicher County, 4 1/2 miles northwest of Fort McKavett. It had a 24-hour flowing potential of 30 barrels of 33.6-gravity oil and six barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 11,700-1. Production was through an open choke and perforations at 3,959-4,078 feet, which had been acidized with 2,500 gallons and fractured with 8,000 gallons and 9,700 pounds. Well site is 600 feet from south and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 2, block A, AB&M survey. The new strike is one mile east of the original opener, which was completed in 1968.

Kokomo Sets Pipe In Pecos Wildcat

Kokomo Oil Co. of Odessa was waiting on cement after setting 4 1/2-inch casing at 3,446 feet, total depth, for completion attempt at No. 1 ARCO-State, Pecos County wildcat, six miles northwest of Girvin. It indicated production in the Tubb dolomite with the recovery of 402 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut drilling mud, no water, on a one-hour drillstem test from 3,290-3,267 feet. Gravity of the oil was 36 degrees. (Continued On Page 14A)

U.S. Jobless Rate Reaches 8.9

Unemployment Picture Has Bright Spots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment rate rose to 8.9 per cent in April, the government reported today, but there were some bright spots in the employment picture suggesting joblessness may be nearing its peak.

The .2 per cent increase in unemployment was at a slower rate than in March, and total employment rose for the first time in seven months. Nonfarm payroll employment also held steady, and the length of the work week edged up for the first time since the fall. "I wouldn't want to say we're coming to the end of the line," said an analyst for the Bureau of Labor Statistics. But he added, "There's room for encouragement."

The Texas Employment Commission's office in Midland reported unemployment rate here is 3.3 per cent.

Unemployment in April rose by 200,000 to a total of 8,176,000 following an increase of 500,000 in March, when the jobless rate hit 8.7 per cent.

But total employment, which had declined by 2.6 million since September, increased last month by 240,000 to 84.1 million. With employment and unemployment both rising, the size of the U.S. labor force rose sharply for the second month in a row — to 92.3 million.

The Labor Department said adult males, who have experienced the greatest number of job losses during the current recession, accounted for more than half of the April employment gain.

The jobless rate, since hitting 8 per cent in January, has remained at the highest level since the depression of the 1930s. Not since 1941, when the rate averaged 9.9 per cent for the year out of a work force of 55.9 million, had it exceeded the 8 per cent mark.

A further rise in unemployment is expected in the next few months before it reaches the peak forecast by the Ford administration for about mid-year. However, despite new predictions of an economic improvement, joblessness is expected to remain at high levels through much of the 1970s.

Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop indicated Thursday that he believes the steep rise in unemployment experienced over the past seven months is losing steam. He predicted that joblessness will not go "much higher."

In its report, the Labor Department said total nonfarm payroll employment held (See U.S. JOBLESS Page 2A)

Dollar Strengthens But Pound Crashes

LONDON (AP) — The dollar strengthened sharply in London today and the pound sterling crashed to its lowest levels ever against major currencies.

Dealers said part of the pound's troubles stemmed from the strength of the dollar but international currency speculators were still worried about the rate of inflation in Britain now running at a record 21 per cent.

COMBAT PLANES, SHIPS AND GOLD LISTED

Viets Demand Property Back

By The Associated Press — The new government of South Vietnam demanded today that all property taken out of the country by fleeing Vietnamese, including combat planes and gold, be returned.

A Hanoi broadcast said the Revolutionary Government in Saigon charged that "dozens of warships, freighters, and hundreds of cargo and combat planes" were taken away.

It said all property owned by the defunct South Vietnamese government inside and outside of Vietnam belongs to the Vietnamese people and is at the disposal of their new government. The statement added that this is in accordance with international law on property heritage.

More than 125 South Vietnamese air force planes and helicopters are in Thailand. They were flown there by fleeing air force officers, and the Thai government at first said they would be returned to Vietnam. But today, after pressure from the United States, Thai Defense Minister Parman Adirekarn said disposal of the aircraft was Washington's responsibility.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said Thursday, "The United States retains title to all aircraft that have been given under assistance programs."

The Pentagon estimated South Vietnam's new Communist leaders have gained more than $5 billion-worth of weapons, equipment and facilities which the United States supplied to the anti-Communist South Vietnamese forces. Pentagon officials said the $5 billion figure represented original equipment cost rather than replacement value.

They said much of what was left behind was unusable or in poor condition, and the Communists probably could not adapt it for their use. But this optimistic view seemed to ignore the skill shown by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese during the past 20 years in utilizing captured equipment and fabricating their own with minimal facilities. A blackout continued on reports from non-Communist newsmen in Saigon. Three Associated Press correspondents in Saigon were reported able to move about freely, but they were not allowed to send dispatches.

The Pentagon said the number of Vietnamese evacuated by the United States totals nearly 80,000. A spokesman said U.S. ships picked up about another broadcast from Hanoi said the new Saigon government had ordered personnel at South Vietnam's diplomatic missions to stay at their posts and await new orders. It called on them to "protect the property and files and documents" of the previous government and said that "those who render distinguished service in this connection will be commended or rewarded."

A spokesman for the Revolutionary Government said 6,000 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenants to the major general commanding the Army of the Republic of Vietnam's ARVN — 4th Corps were also captured, and all are still held "for re-education."

The new government allowed The Associated Press and a CBS television crew to visit one of the "re-education camps" for the officers at Dien Bien, about 20 miles south of Da Nang.

The camp consisted of a group of ramshackle old army barracks surrounded by a dilapidated barbed wire fence that was made up of only two strands of widely separated wire for a considerable part of its length.

The camp's commander, in army greens without any insignia of rank, said nearly 900 former ARVN officers were in the camp and their re-education course would start the next day.

The inmates were wearing civilian clothes, usually shirts, slacks and sandals. Some lounged in their bunkrooms or outside. Others were cooking or washing up mess kits. A small cloth movie screen fluttered between two poles in front of the administration building. Some inmates wore wrist watches.

Officials Still Uncertain How Many Viet Refugees Will Come To America

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Navy ships today were carrying thousands of South Vietnamese refugees to sanctuaries far from their homeland. But in the United States, Immigration Service officials were uncertain how many Vietnamese would come to America.

Together the latest estimates from the Pentagon and State Department showed around 80,000 Vietnamese had fled their homeland in advance of the Communist takeover.

That total included some 40,000 on U.S. Navy ships, more than 31,000 in camps on Guam and Wake Island and an unknown number at sea in Vietnamese Navy vessels.

An Immigration Service spokesman said it was unlikely all the Vietnamese evacuated would be admitted to the United States. He said they would be screened to determine which qualify for admission under a waiver of normal immigration procedures. While emphasizing that no figure could be considered definitive in the current confused situation, the Immigration Service spokesman said officials are thinking in terms of about 50,000 people being admitted. Many of the other refugees probably would head for countries other than the United States.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said Thursday the refugee rescue operation off the coast of South Vietnam had been halted and Navy ships were heading out of Indo-Chinese waters.

However, spokesmen for the Pentagon and State Department said that any refugees spotted in the open sea would be picked up in accordance with international maritime law. Defense officials said that about 30 South Vietnamese Navy vessels had been sighted in the South China Sea with large numbers of refugees aboard.

Storms With High Winds, Hail Sweep Across Texas

Fast moving thunderstorms, accompanied by high winds, deluges of rain and large hail, swept across the Plains, South Texas and North Texas today.

Early today the thundershowers dotted the High Plains, spreading to the Lower Plains from Wink and Odessa to Paducah and Throckmorton.

A rapid flow of moist unstable air into the western portion of the five-state area was the cause of the thunderstorm activity. Clear and cool weather covered the Panhandle and west of the Pecos early today. Cloudy and warm weather covered most of Central and East Texas.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 50 degrees at Dalhart to 78 degrees at McAllen, The Associated Press reported. Showers and thundershowers were on tap again today with warm afternoon temperatures.

Midland, however, received only sprinkles of rain while the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal recorded .06 inch. The possibility of further precipitation is 20 per cent both this afternoon and tonight, the weatherman said. Thursday's high mark was 84, with the overnight low crawling back to 63. Today's anticipated high is in the upper 80s, and Saturday's maximum should be near 80. Temperatures tonight are expected to fall in the middle 50s.

Khmer Rouge Destroys Several Embassies In Phnom Penh

PARIS (AP) — The Khmer Rouge have destroyed several foreign embassies in Phnom Penh and no foreign mission is now functioning in the Cambodian capital, official French sources reported today.

The sources said their information came from diplomatic dispatches whose origin was not further explained. The report of the razing of the buildings coincided with a statement from a spokesman for President Valery Giscard d'Estaing that France was now deeply concerned about the fate of a truck convoy that was supposed to be bringing 610 foreigners from the French Embassy in Phnom Penh to the Thai border. "We as without any word of these refugees," the spokesman said, "they have not been seen." The spokesman said there was no communication between Paris and the French Embassy in Phnom Penh where the foreigners took refuge the day of the Khmer Rouge takeover. It was not even certain that the convoy left Phnom Penh, the spokesman said.

South Vietnam's New Government Frees 103,000 Taken Prisoner In Da Nang

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — A spokesman for South Vietnam's new government says 103,000 enlisted men and noncommissioned officers who were taken prisoner in the Da Nang area in March have been released to return to their homes. The spokesman for the Revolutionary Government said 6,000 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenants to the major general commanding the Army of the Republic of Vietnam's ARVN — 4th Corps were also captured, and all are still held "for re-education."

Continued Holdouts May Cause Problem For New Viet Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite claims of complete control of South Vietnam, the new revolutionary government and Hanoi still may have the problem of continued holdouts and vestigial guerrilla units from remnants of the Vietnamese army, official sources report.

The sources say some military units in the Mekong Delta, including those from the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai religious sects, may still be holding out.

Other groups east of Dalat and among the Montagnards in the central highlands also may have melted into the hills to await further action without surrendering their arms.

However, there is no military leader at this point who could unify these diverse units.

Anti-Communist guerrillas would face many difficulties, particularly in finding a constant source of supply.

In the past, South Vietnamese told American officials that if the Viet Cong came to Saigon they would go to the lairs of the VC.

Some of this thinking is believed to be operating now.

The new bosses of South Vietnam who came from a guerrilla warfare background have moved swiftly to stop an insurgency before it can develop. It is believed this is one of the reasons they demanded that South Vietnam's last president, Duong Van "Big" Minh, disband the army and the administrative apparatus of the Vietnam government.

The new revolutionary government is expected to move slowly in consolidating its forces.

The Provisional Revolutionary Government — PRG as it was known before taking power — was not a government in the full sense of the word. It was more of a cabinet with only 126 people in top positions.

At the grass roots areas where the Viet Cong held control, there were revolutionary committees.

But there was no in-between bureaucracy connecting the revolutionary committees at the bottom and the PRG command at the top, according to analysts here.

Now, it is expected that new revolutionary committees will be established not only at all village levels but also in the big cities such as Saigon, which has been renamed Ho Chi Minh City. One revolutionary committee is being formed for each 3,000 people.

Based on past experience and on Communist doctrine, the prognosis for South Vietnam is a rough, mean and probably bloody transformation into a Communist state. The main hope here is that the new rulers are sensitive to world public opinion.

Pentagon Says Many Weapons Of No Use To North Vietnamese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials acknowledge that the new leaders of South Vietnam have acquired more than $5 billion in U.S.-supplied weapons, equipment and facilities, but say a large proportion of that is unsuitable for use by the Communists.

At the time the South Vietnamese army began crumbling in March, its military arsenal — on paper — was the envy of many Asian military leaders.

By the Pentagon's count, there were nearly 500 U.S.-made M41 and M48 tanks, about 1,000 large artillery pieces and an air force which included more than 500 combat planes.

The artillery included just under 100 175mm long-range guns. There were also more than 650 U.S.-manufactured combat helicopters in the South. Pentagon officials said the $5-billion total represented original equipment cost rather than replacement value.

If all that were added to the weaponry already provided the North Vietnamese by the Soviet Union and China, only the two Koreas and China would compare in military might in Asia.

But Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger told a news conference Thursday he expects the new Communist military challenges in Asia as a result of the defeat of the Saigon government.

Pentagon officials say, however, that even before the start of the South Vietnamese collapse, some of those U.S.-made tanks, aircraft and other weapons were unusable or in poor condition.

The United States, in part because of congressionally imposed budget restrictions, was unable to keep up with the South Vietnamese need for spare parts.

Maintenance by the South Vietnamese, especially on aircraft, was frequently poor.

As the South Vietnamese retreated southward, some expensive weapons were destroyed either in combat or to deny their use by the advancing Communist forces.

U.S. officials acknowledge, however, they don't know how much was left intact.

For the planes, guns and other material still in South Vietnam, a new Communist leadership must decide whether it's worth it to them to turn it to their military purposes.

There is an estimated $1 billion in airports, port facilities and communications bases captured largely intact by the North Vietnamese in the South.

Officials said that while these facilities served American purposes ideally, the North Vietnamese will have little use for them.

Ford Reported Planning Meets With Sadat, Rabin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is lining up separate meetings in about a month with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, informed sources report.

The meetings, expected to be announced within a few days, are seen as part of a U.S. attempt to recapture the diplomatic initiative toward a Middle East settlement that was lost in March with the collapse of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's step-by-step approach.

Sources in Washington and Cairo said Thursday that Sadat was referring to Ford when he said in a speech prepared for delivery today that he would meet with "a major foreign personality" in a European capital June 2-3.

Ford plans to be in Brussels, Belgium, on May 28 for a summit meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomatic sources here said discussions were still under way between American and Israeli officials over the exact date and place of the Ford-Rabin meeting, but they said the session may take place in Jerusalem during the first week of June.

They said Israeli officials had been informed of the Ford-Sadat meeting in advance and understood it would take place about June 2.

Officials declined to speak on the record about the planned meetings for fear of detracting from the official announcements.

U.S. officials also declined to say whether the Ford-Rabin meeting would be a joint one, but they said the two leaders would meet separately.

Gandhi Says U.S. 'Queered Our Pitch'

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi says the resumption of U.S. arms sales to Pakistan "queered our pitch" just as India's relations with its neighbor were improving.

Mrs. Gandhi, who is attending the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, said in a speech today that she regrets the U.S. government's decision to resume the supply of arms, she said in an interview Thursday.

Dallas Woman To Be Charged In Man's Death

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A 36-year-old Dallas woman was to be arraigned today on state charges of murder, robbery, burglary and grand theft in connection with the robbery-killing of a gold coin dealer, a spokesman for the district attorney's office said Thursday.

Kimberly Conner, 28, also charged with interstate flight to avoid prosecution on the state charges, surrendered to FBI agents Thursday.

The federal charge was dismissed later at Miss Conner's arraignment before U.S. Magistrate J. Edward Harris.

After John H. Stillman was slain and $100,000 in gold coins taken, another woman Dallas was arrested in Tucson in mid-January, Mattie Young, 42, goes to trial Tuesday on charges of murder, armed robbery, grand theft and burglary.

State Railroad Receives Donations

AUSTIN (AP) — Latest additions to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's State Railroad include a 1,500-horsepower diesel engine, two box cars and 24 acres of land along the right of way.

The land was donated by the Temple-Eastex Corp. and the diesel work engine was provided by the Aluminum Co. of America and the city of Palestine.

Plans are to use the engine for maintenance work on the 26-mile state park railway in spreading ballast and as an emergency fire train for hauling water cars and recovering disabled steam engines.

1,500 Midland, Martin Teachers To Be Eligible For Unemployment

Approximately 1,500 Midland and Martin county public school employees are expected to be eligible for unemployment compensation this summer. Ed Miller, manager of the Texas Employment Commission in Midland, said today.

Miller said the estimate came from a survey conducted by the Texas Education Agency following the implementation of a new federal special unemployment program signed into law Dec. 31, 1974.

Already the commission office here has received a few inquiries on the program, the manager said.

In preparation of the anticipated filings of school employees, the commission has prepared a sheet of information designed to give the program's details to public school employees.

The prepared statement explains that "you, as an unemployed public school employe, may be entitled to unemployment insurance if you are unemployed, file claims, are seeking regular full-time work during the period of your unemployment, and are otherwise eligible."

The new program includes teachers who do not work a full 12 months, although the Texas Employment Commission has asked for an opinion from the state attorney general to clarify the new assistance plan.

While the conditions of the program could be changed, Miller said, "As it stands right now, we'll take claims on teachers."

The unemployment compensation will be based on the salary earned and would be a maximum of $63 per week.

Miller said exactly who would be involved in the program is still unknown because of individual contracts of teachers with the school systems.

Among those ineligible for the program are teachers on vacation or holiday pay and those attending school.

unemployment occurred among adult men, whose jobless rate rose from 6.8 per cent in March to 7 per cent, its highest level since July 1958.

Jobless rates for married men and household heads rose to 5.6 and 6 per cent, respectively. Jobless rates for adult women were reported at 8.6 per cent; teenagers, 20.4 per cent; whites, 8.1 per cent; and blacks, 14.6 per cent — all about unchanged last month, but still at or near record high levels.

The government said the increases in joblessness last month centered mainly in the construction, manufacturing, transportation and public utilities industries.

Jobless rates of 19.3 per cent in construction and 12.2 per cent in manufacturing were record highs.

The so-called hard-core unemployed — those jobless for 15 weeks or more — rose by 410,000 to a level of 2.4 million in April. As a result, the average duration of unemployment increased by 1.5 weeks to 12.9 weeks — the highest level in more than 10 years.

Following an almost steady downward trend since last fall, the average work week for all production workers edged up in April to 36 hours. In manufacturing, there was a rise of two tenths of an hour to 39 hours, and the government said nearly all industries reported increases in the factory work week. However, factory overtime inched down to 2.2 hours.

In April, average hourly earnings of production rose one cent to $4.44, or 34 cents more than in April 1974.

first step toward distributing state aid to school districts on the basis of genuine need.

All taxable property in a county would be appraised, at full market value, by a single county-level appraisal office instead of by each of the thousands of taxing units. Appraisals would follow standards issued by the state comptroller. Legislators have yet to make a final decision on whether the county appraisals would be verified by the comptroller or a special legislative tax board.

All the school finance plans submitted to the legislature, including the one approved Thursday night by the House Public Education Committee, would base state aid exclusively on a district's taxable property values. The greater the values, the less the aid, since the values determine the amount that a district can raise on its own through local property taxes.

Dallas Added To Amtrak Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak officials say The Lone Star Amtrak's Chicago-to-Houston train will begin service to Dallas customers beginning in mid-summer.

Amtrak's board of directors said Thursday it decided to institute the new daily service between Dallas and cities to the north as a market test.

The through service to Dallas will involve splitting the Lone Star at Fort Worth, with one section diverting to Dallas and the other continuing to Houston. The process will be reversed on the northbound trip.

Corley Trial Jury Selection Continues

TYLER (AP) — Jury selection continued today in the capital murder trial of Edward Eldon Corley, accused of the Sept. 14 shotgun slaying of Vicki Lynn Morris, a Chapel Hill housewife.

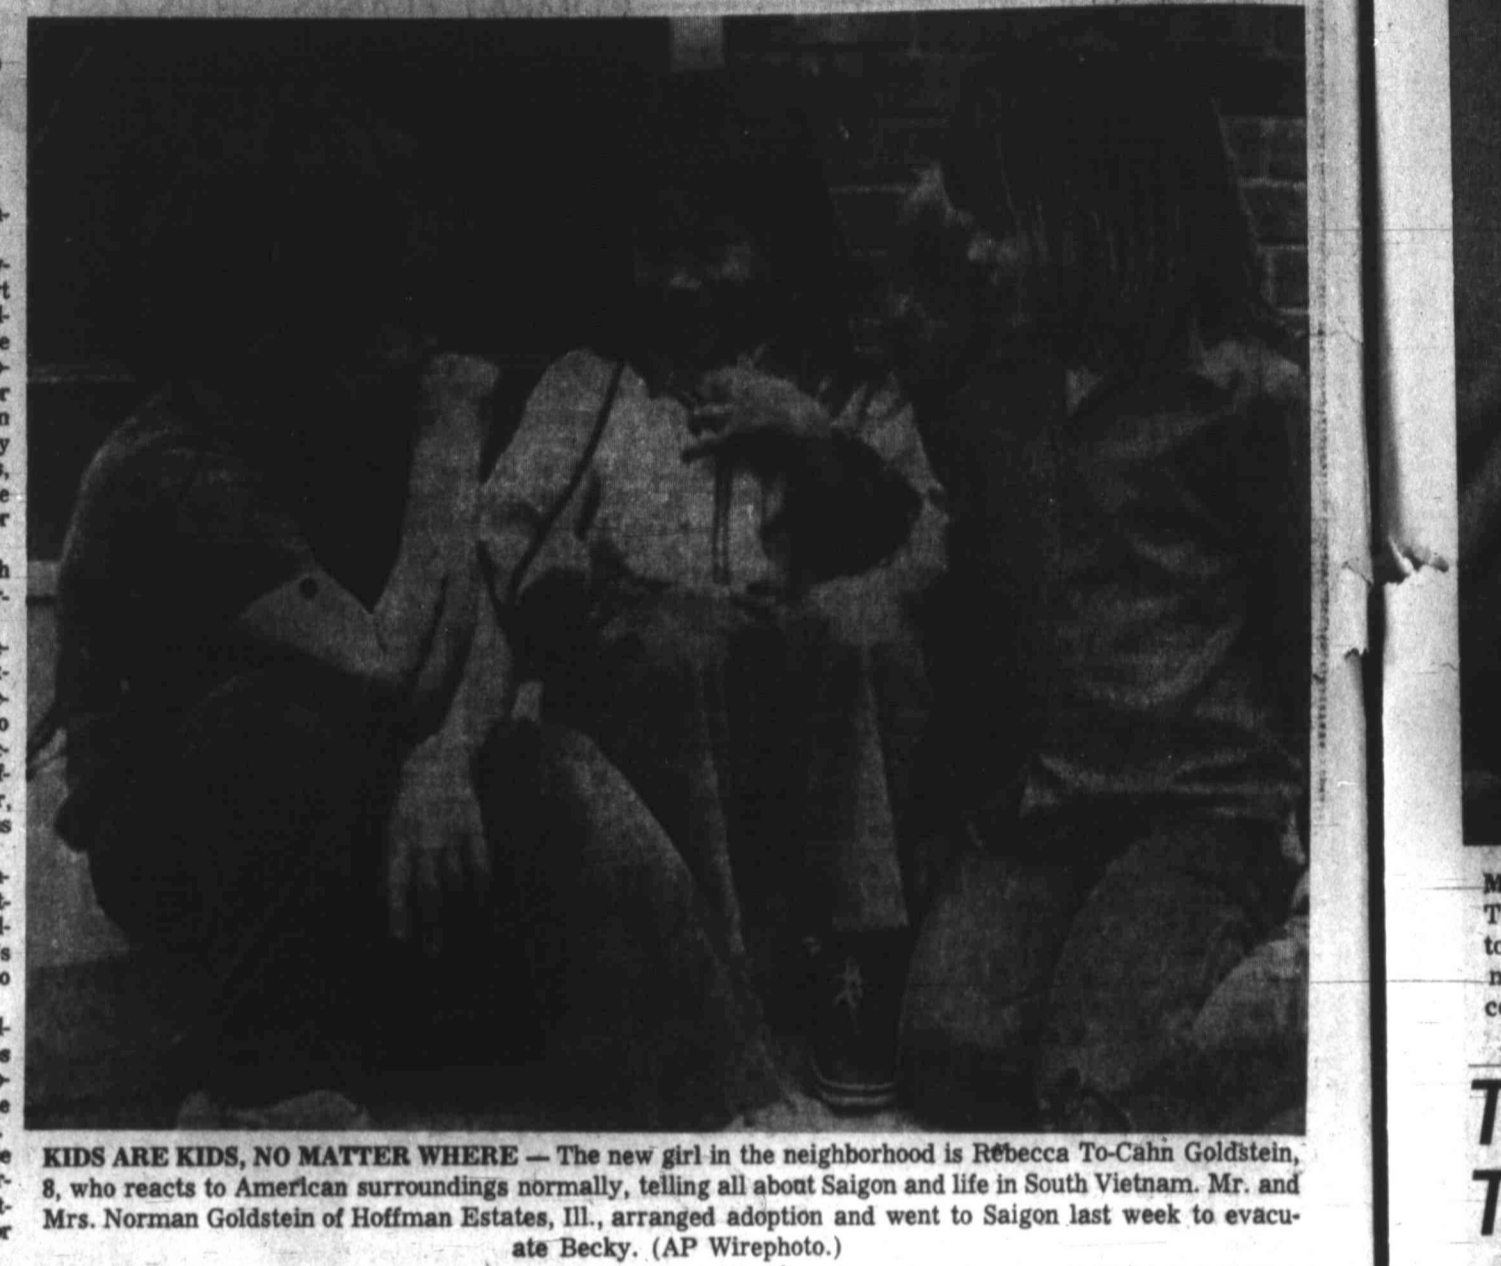

One of nine prospective jurors questioned Thursday was approved to serve on the panel after Dist. Atty. Curtis Owen and court-appointed defense attorney Jim Knowles struck one each. State District Court Judge Galloway Calhoun dismissed the other six after each indicated a moral or religious aversion to the death penalty, which the state is seeking if Corley is convicted.

Calhoun set aside a defense motion Thursday for a change of venue and instead, ordered the jury selection to continue in order to determine whether Corley could get a fair trial in Smith County.

Ford Buys First Bicentennial Bond

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has bought the first of a new series of Bicentennial Savings Bonds and says he'll purchase a new $200 bond each month.

"It was a good investment then and it's a good investment now," the President said Thursday, recalling for reporters that President Franklin D. Roosevelt bought the first Series E bond 34 years ago.

Congress May Be Unable To Block Ford's Fuel Price Hike Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surprisingly close Senate vote indicates Congress may be unable to block President Ford's plan to force fuel conservation by raising prices sharply.

Opponents of the Ford program say the result could be a $30-billion-a-year increase in fuel bills, or about 15 cents more for a gallon of gasoline, more unemployment and a new round of inflation.

By a 47 to 36 vote, the Senate on Thursday passed a bill giving Congress authority to veto any presidential action removing federal controls from oil prices.

But the margin was nine votes short of the two-thirds required to override a virtually certain veto of the bill.

Barring position changes by several senators, the vote could mean that Ford will be able to remove all oil price controls, at an ultimate cost of $22.3 billion a year, and impose the remaining $2 of a $3-per-barrel special tariff on imported oil, which would raise fuel prices by an estimated $5.4 billion a year.

In addition to these direct increases in oil prices, according to Senate Interior Committee estimates, Ford's program would push up the prices of other fuels by billions of dollars.

Thus, while the Senate approved a bill sharply opposed by the Ford administration, the narrow margin amounted to a moral victory for the President in his battle with Congress over a national energy policy.

While Ford seeks to raise prices to force conservation and reduce dependence on foreign oil, the Democrats who control Congress generally favor a program aimed at reducing imports and fuel consumption only to the extent that the economy would not be hurt.

The House Ways and Means Committee is moving on a path much more compatible with the Ford program, but senators have shown little appetite for that route, either.

Ways and Means hopes to complete action early next week on a bill that would gradually increase the four-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax to discourage pleasure driving; impose a graduated tax on cars getting less than 19 miles per gallon; and reduce oil imports through a quota system.

Waiting in the wings of the House is a much milder version of the bill passed by the Senate on Thursday. The House version would give Congress 180 days to veto a presidential plan to remove controls from oil prices.

French Seek Information On Refugees

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — France pressed officials of Cambodia's Khmer Rouge government in Paris, Peking and at the Thai-Cambodian border today for information on the fate of more than 600 foreign refugees reported to have left Phnom Penh by road three days ago for Thailand.

A large crowd of anxious relief agency officials and diplomats waited at the frontier for the third consecutive day for the group. They had taken refuge in the French Embassy in Phnom Penh on April 17 when the Cambodian capital surrendered to the Communists, and it was feared that many were suffering from dysentery, dehydration and hunger.

In Paris, a spokesman for President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said France was making representations to Phnom Penh authorities in Paris and Peking about the refugees, but had received no reply so far.

At this frontier point, which is 250 miles from Phnom Penh, a French government official, Marc Bonnefous, tried to contact the Khmer Rouge across the river forming the border.

Through an interpreter, Bonnefous hailed the Khmer Rouge over a loudspeaker and asked to speak to their chief.

Soldiers on the Cambodian side acknowledged that they could hear but no one came immediately to the crossing point. Khmer Rouge soldiers have said the group ran out of gas Thursday more than 30 miles short of the border but there was no explanation for the continuing delay. The French ambassador to Thailand, Jean-Louis Toffin, said after a talk with the Khmer Rouge on Thursday that it was uncertain whether the group had left Phnom Penh.

The revolutionary government's Paris spokesman has charged that the French Embassy was a refuge for "war criminals" and that they included Sirik Matak, one of the leaders of the coup that installed Cambodia's pro-Western government in 1970.

A French government spokesman in Paris denied the charge. Sirik Matak had contacted the embassy but decided not to stay there after seeing how bad the food and sanitation had become, he said. The spokesman said this information reached Paris before communications with Phnom Penh were cut off more than two weeks ago.

French officials said there were no Cambodians among the evacuees, who included 515 French and 93 other foreigners.

Voters Show Apathy In Ulster Election

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's voters responded with apathy to the province's election for a constitutional convention, and commentators predicted the total vote would be the smallest in years.

British troops and local police fought a 30-minute battle Thursday night in Londonderry with a mob of 200 Roman Catholics that attacked troops and police as they were carrying ballot boxes to a counting center.

The mob pelted the uniformed men with bottles and rocks and the troops fired volleys of rubber bullets. The army said 30 soldiers and policemen were hurt.

An army spokesman claimed the mob was led by members of the Irish Republican Army. There also were two attempts to bomb Roman Catholic candidates shortly before the voting began Thursday, and two shooting incidents in Catholic West Belfast, but no one was hurt.

First returns were to be announced today, but the final result is not expected until Saturday.

Officials said many Roman Catholic voters stayed home because of the boycott urged by the guerrillas of the IRA's Provisional wing. Other commentators said the people were "punch-drunk with politics and violence" after 5½ years of religious warfare and six elections in 30 months.

Texas State Guard To Have Training Exercise In City

The Texas State Guard will have an area-wide training exercise in Midland Saturday to be attended by members of the 403rd M.P. Battalion and Headquarters of 4th M.P. Group.

The communications training exercise will take place at the National Guard Armory in Midland at 9 a.m. The drill will feature the emergency communications van from the State Adjutant General's Department in Austin. This van is capable of moving to any part of the state and establishing multilateral communications with Austin within 24 hours or less in the event of a disaster.

The drill is the last of four to be held in West Texas. The other three were in Amarillo, Lubbock and El Paso. The exercise gives area state guard members a chance for "hands on" training with the communications equipment in the van. During the drill a radio network will be established with Odessa, Andrews and Monahans. The Texas State Guard is an all-volunteer military organization commanded by Lt. Colonel Fredrick C. West, communications training officer of the Texas State Guard. Area guardsmen of disaster.

Entries Acceptable For Rose Show

By Patsy Garden
 Whether you would like to win an award or just share your roses, this could be the year for you to enter the Midland Rose Show Sunday at the First National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Happy Bond, 1600 Gulf St., are two of approximately 70 members of the Midland Rose Society, sponsors of the show, who will enter specimens, vying for the many trophies and blue ribbons to be awarded. It has been stressed that anyone wishing to enter the show does not have to be a society member.

From the 142 rose bushes around the Bond home, mostly Floribundas, the couple will select their entries in the show, either horticulture or arrangements.

Entries will be taken between 7:30 and 10 Sunday morning, while judging will be from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. The award winning roses will be on display until 6 p.m. Sunday.

"We have bud vases for everyone," said Mrs. Bond. "They need to be sure they know the variety of the rose, but if they don't they should bring it anyway. Some of the Rosarians we have will probably know." She pointed out the roses should be brought in water.

Roses will be judged on form, substance, color, stem, foliage and size. The bloom form should be symmetrical and from 1/4 to 2/3 open when judged. The substance of the petals should have a fresh crisp look, and the color should be deep and pure. The stem should be strong and straight with length in proportion to the bloom, and it should have a clean and unblemished foliage of good color for the type. The size of the rose should be appropriate to the type of entry made.

Jim Galyean, rose society president, has noted that picking a beautiful, fully-opened rose the morning of the show is one of the surest ways to win nothing. By the time the judges see it, several hours later, it will probably be too wide open or shattered, he said.

"Pick your roses, as slightly opened flowers, at least the evening before the show—today or Saturday if they are already open—and keep them refrigerated up to their necks in water. Since the sugar content of roses is highest between 5 and 7 p.m., picking at that time will help them last longer. Refrigeration "conditions" them to last more. Hybrid teas should have any side buds removed," said Galyean.

Identification tags should be obtained in advance from the Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest, or they may be filled out when entry is made. There will be no admission or entry fee for the show. Containers will be provided for horticultural entries.

The Bonds can truly be proud of the work they have put into their roses. Bond, since his retirement, has put most of the yard work into the bushes, while Mrs. Bond has spent her time with the roses preparing for the shows. However, before Bond retired from many years in the grocery business, she and a couple of boys planted the 142 rose bushes. In fact, Mrs. Bond has been growing roses 40 years, compared to about 3 1/2 for Bond.

Talking about roses in this area of the state compared to other areas, Bond said "If you really work at it and want to, you can grow roses here."

They joined the rose society approximately five years ago because they wanted to learn more about growing roses. And they did learn more about roses. "There's something about a rose that keeps you busy all the time. Roses are either pretty and cute, or they get sick," said Bond.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Granny Squares Off A Mixed Afghan

Dear Heloise: I recently decided to crochet an afghan made of granny squares in order to use up a large assortment of leftover yarns I had accumulated over many years.

I had used both wool and synthetic yarns, and because you cannot mix these yarns—synthetic yarns can be machine washed and dried, wool cannot—I found it impossible to tell the difference by look or feel. My husband then suggested a simple test. Take a small piece of yarn and singe the end with a match. The wool yarn forms an ash that is easily brushed off. The synthetic yarn melts and forms a hard end.

Pat Heloise

Dear Heloise: I baked a cake for a bake sale and didn't want to lose my cake pan. The box said to put wax paper on the bottom of the pan, but all I had was aluminum foil. I slightly greased the pan and pressed the foil down, with enough left on the sides to grab hold of. When the cake was done, I lifted it out of the pan and placed it in a decorative box. Now I don't have to worry about someone returning my pan or plate.

Mrs. Darlene Troy

LETTERS OF THOUGHT Dear Heloise: I love to cook and can fruits, vegetables, pickles, relishes, make jellies, etc. I have lots of family and friends to whom I proudly display the fruits of my labor and like to give them a pint of this, a quart of that, with a string attached. I ask that they "return my jars, so I can fill them the next year." Isn't that a fair deal? Now it's that time of year again, but the jars haven't come back so good. Can't we have a "jar return week" as a reminder? "I can if they can!" The Kitchen Counter Sounds fair enough to me. Especially in these days of "canning supplies" shortages. How about it, gals? Let's TAKE THOSE JARS BACK!

4. A starchy food such as the bread in a sandwich or plain crackers to go with the salad.

5. Fresh, canned, dried fruit, or a polyunsaturated dessert. Keep a cabinet shelf for lunch box materials only. Necessary items include a lightweight insulated lunch box, a widemouted vacuum bottle for soups, baked beans, chili, stews (these can be reheated leftovers, which are often better the second day), attractive napkins, plastic spoons and forks, plastic containers with lids for salads, canned fruits, leftovers or anything juicy, paper cups and plates, foil, waxed paper, plastic wrap and waxed sandwich bags, individual packages of sugar, salt and pepper, if available, envelopes of moist towelettes (or damp paper towels or a damp washcloth can be put in a plastic bag). Clean bags brought from the market can be used as lunch bags, thus saving money and conserving paper.

When grocery shopping, keep in mind supplies that will simplify lunch box packing. Freeze small cans of juice, such as apple, orange or tomato, and pack with the lunch. They help to prevent spoilage of perishable foods by keeping them cool. Make sure all meat and poultry products, especially pork, are thoroughly cooked and refrigerate shortly after cooking.

Bear in mind: food for lunch boxes should be kept hot (or cold) and clean. When preparing carrots or celery for a meal, set aside some sticks for lunches.

Try this unusual lunch box menu. The recipes are easy to prepare.

Broiled chicken legs Orange-cabbage slaw BROILED CHICKEN LEGS 6 chicken legs 1 tbsp. oil ¼ tsp. salt ½ tsp. crushed rosemary, poultry seasoning or other herbs Line broiler pan with foil (optional). Brush chicken legs with oil and sprinkle with salt and rosemary. Put in pan and broil four to five inches from source of heat, turning once, 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Makes three servings.

ORANGE-CABBAGE SLAW 2½ cups finely chopped cabbage ¼ cup snipped orange sections (use shears) 2 tsp. lemon juice Mayonnaise Salt, sugar and pepper Combine cabbage, orange sections, lemon juice and mayonnaise just to moisten (about two tablespoons). Mix well and season to taste with salt, sugar and pepper. Makes two cups, or three servings.

Dear Abby

She Wants Bump Back On Nose

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old unmarried woman. My mother is Jewish, and my mother as much father is Irish. I have always looked very much like my mother because I wish you would print this for others who have found that dieting didn't work for them.

ONE HAPPY FELLOW DEAR ABBY: You make it sound so simple. After considerable research, I learned that gastric-bypass surgery, which proved so successful for you, is not for everyone. There are risks involved. Those who look like my mother instead with their physicians.

DEAR ABBY: As a police officer, may I say something to the man who objected to women wearing pantsuits? Not one victim of the rap cases I have handled was wearing a tailored pantsuit. One was wearing a slinky pajama sort of thing; the others were wearing either skirts or shorts.

A COP DEAR ABBY: I have a question to ask that has been bothering both my husband and me for a long time. We have two little girls. Our third daughter was stillborn. When people ask us how many children we have, what is the best answer?

WISCONSIN MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: The best answer is your own: "We have two little girls. Our third daughter was stillborn."

Lions Open District Convention Today

Lions of District 3-A1 opened their annual convention here this morning, with District Gov. Jim Lemons of Big Spring being among the first to register for the two-day conference.

The registration desk, situated in the lobby of the Rodeway Inn, convention headquarters, was a busy place as early arrivals from out-of-city joined with Midland Lions in getting their registration badges.

Edward Kosjer of Virginia Beach, Va., a member of the board of directors of Lions International and a principal speaker at the meeting, was to arrive early this afternoon at Midland Regional Air Terminal. He will address the Saturday night banquet. Mrs. Kosjer was to accompany her husband to Midland.

A convention golf tournament opened at 10 a.m. today at Hogan Park.

Paul Bozeman, general chairman of the convention, pronounced everything in readiness for the conference, which is expected to attract several hundred persons to the Tall-City Terminal. He will address the Saturday night banquet. Mrs. Kosjer was to accompany her husband to Midland.

Janette Blatherwick's formerly Gibbs-Blatherwick across from Commercial Bank in The Village day, before handing the gavel to Gov. Lemons. Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., will welcome the convention delegates to Midland.

Mayor Angelo has proclaimed this "Lions Club Week" in Midland. The observance is highlighted by the district convention. The mayor, in his proclamation, pointed out that the district—third largest in Texas in area and fourth largest in membership—has 64 clubs, all of which are expected to be represented at the Midland meeting.

The nine Midland Lions Clubs—Downtown, Southside, Terminal, Westside, Eastside, Morning, Evening, Tall City and Greenwood—were the convention hosts.

Special entertainment for the visiting ladies is planned, with the women's auxiliary groups of the various Midland Lions clubs serving as hostesses. A hospitality room for the ladies was open this afternoon at Rodeway.

A coffee honoring the wife of the district governor is scheduled at 9 a.m. Saturday at Rodeway. It will be followed at 10:30 by a special program on handwriting analysis, conducted by Ms. Dolores Gaines. A visit to the Midland Planetarium will be a Saturday afternoon feature.

The district queen contest is scheduled at 8 p.m. today at Alamo Junior High School, with more than 35 entrants. Duke Jimerson of Midland, a past district governor, will emcee the program. The winner of the Midland contest will be eligible to compete in the state contest scheduled next month.

A reception for the queen contest participants will be held at 9:30 p.m. at Rodeway.

A star spangled breakfast for Lions Key Members will open the Saturday activities at 7 a.m. at the convention headquarters inn. Paul T. Crocker of Bellmead, governor of District 2-X3, will be the speaker.

The Saturday luncheon at Ranchland Hill Country Club will have as its speaker Dr. Thomas H. Lindsey of Vernon, a past governor of District 2-E1. A necrology ceremony will get under way at 1:30 p.m. at Rodeway, with Elder J. E. Barrington, a past president of the Midland Westside Lions Club, in charge.

Business sessions will be held Saturday morning and afternoon.

Balloting for district governor and the next convention city will be conducted Saturday afternoon.

The international director and his wife and the district governor and his wife will be honored at a reception starting at 7 p.m. at Rodeway.

The concluding event will be the district governor's banquet scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Rodeway Inn's Ballroom.

"HAVE A GOOD DAY" — The First National Bank's "Flower Girls," Darlene Mertinck, left, and Susan Gibson, pin daisies on Dave Rutherford, left, and Police Chief Harold Wallace in the bank's plaza Thursday to kick off "Have a Good Day Today" promotion which will continue through May.

Scientist Says Present Safeguards Insufficient To Stop Nuclear Thefts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading nuclear scientist said today that security arrangements for nuclear materials are insufficient to prevent theft by groups with the skills used

Theodore B. Taylor, who worked on the team of scientists that developed the first atom bomb, also said the information and nonnuclear materials used in fission explosives "are now widely distributed and available to the general public."

Taylor issued his warning in a statement prepared for the House subcommittee on energy and the environment, finishing a week of hearings on the problems of nuclear energy.

"Present U.S. physical security applied to special nuclear materials for civilian purposes, though strengthened substantially during the last two years, is still inadequate to prevent theft by determined groups having resources and skills similar to those that have been used for successful bank robberies or hijacking of valuable shipments in the past," he said.

Taylor, chairman of the board of the International Research and Technology Corp., said several safeguard measures are under "intensive study" by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, the successor to the now-extinct Atomic Energy Commission.

"Taylor warned that crude but highly destructive fission explosives that could be transported by automobile could be designed and built by small groups of people, conceivably by individuals working alone, if they somehow managed to acquire the needed quantities of special nuclear materials."

"Under some conditions this could be done in an ordinary home workshop, using equipment and materials that are commercially easily available worldwide. Such devices, if exploded in especially densely populated areas, such as the financial district of New York City, could kill more than 100,000 people."

Plutonium, the major radioactive ingredient in a nuclear weapon, is considered to be the world's most toxic material.

Bank Continues Good Day Program

The First National Bank's second annual "Have a Good Day Today" program opened Thursday when the bank's "flower girls" began passing out daisies to customers and passers-by in the bank's lobby and plaza.

The theme of the program will be carried in the bank's regular advertising as well as in special props, decals and displays in the bank.

The program is designed to promote good will and help create a positive attitude among the bank's customers and friends.

Special costumes for the "flower girls," flowers and arrangements for distribution of flowers and decals were handled by First National's employee committee.

"Because Midland and First National have been blessed with prosperity, we feel this program is a small way in which we can express our appreciation and thanks to our many friends and customers," C. J. Kelly, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the bank, said.

"Last year's 'Good Day' campaign was very well received and more than 10,000 fresh daisies were distributed," Kelly added.

Thurston Named Top Civil Engineer

BEAUMONT—Howard Michael Thurston of Midland was named "outstanding civil engineer junior" at Lamar University's spring engineering banquet Monday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thurston of 3212 Mariana St., he is a member of Blue Key and Chi Epsilon honor fraternities. He also will be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi honor society in ceremonies Wednesday.

Radio Club Sets Meeting Monday

The Tall City C.B. Radio Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the club house, north of the cotton gin on Tank Farm Road.

Nominations will be made for officers prior to elections in June and plans will be completed for the Memorial Day weekend coffee stop on I-20. Visitors are welcome.

Congressional Leaders Expect To Start Work Next Week On Refugee Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders expect to begin work next week on a new bill that approves aid to Vietnamese refugees but omits any authorization for using U.S. troops in refugee evacuations.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., of the House International Relations Committee said his panel may start soon on such a bill but that he wants the administration's determination of how much money is needed.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill said, "There is no reason in the world the Committee on International Relations can't bring in" such a bill next week.

The resolve to start anew follows the House vote Thursday rejecting a bill for $327 million in refugee aid and authority for President Ford to use troops in the evacuation, which already was completed. The bill was voted down 246 to 162.

Opponents of the bill claimed it would have permitted Ford to send U.S. troops back to Vietnam while others expressed concern that some of the aid destined for refugees still in Vietnam would fall into the hands of the conquering Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

The House action evoked a strong response from Ford, who urged the House and Senate "to approve quickly new legislation providing assistance... To do otherwise would be a repudiation of the finest principles and traditions of America."

Ford said the House vote "does not reflect the values we cherish as a nation of immigrants. It is not worthy of a people which has lived by the philosophy symbolized in the Statue of Liberty. It reflects fear and misunderstanding rather than charity and compassion."

He said Congress "may be assured that I do not intend to send the armed forces of the United States back into Vietnamese territory."

House Democratic caucus Chairman Philip Burton of California said he believed Ford was honorable and meant that.

But Burton said President Lyndon B. Johnson also was honorable when he asked for the 1965 Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, which was later cited as authority for a full-scale U.S. combat role in Vietnam.

Morgan also criticized opponents for not giving retroactive approval of evacuation authority to maintain the principle that only Congress can authorize use of U.S. troops in hostilities abroad.

Possible Drug Epidemic Seen In North Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Drug Enforcement Administration office in Fort Worth says there are indications of a possible new "epidemic" of drug use in the North Texas area.

Jack Salter, director of the Fort Worth office, said Thursday after 61 persons had been rounded up in a drug raid that "the stage is set for another epidemic."

The arrests were the results of the undercover agents who moved into an Arlington apartment complex last October and led double lives for six months to gain the evidence needed for the roundup of suspected drug distributors and sellers.

Officials said the raid was one of the largest in county history.

"You don't hear very much about the drug problem any more, but we haven't noticed the situation getting any better," Salter said. "You talk to police departments across the nation and they'll tell you use of heroin, cocaine, amphetamines, barbiturates and marijuana is up."

Salter pointed out that many of those arrested were young persons.

He said that "the problem is taking in a wider age group. We have been having a terrible time with elementary children in Lubbock."

He added that federal drug officials are "very, very apprehensive that the problem will grow even worse when Turkey renews its opium harvest this year."

The Arlington area investigation involved the purchase of "several thousand dollars" in marijuana, cocaine, heroin and other drugs by the two agents during the past several months.

About 30 of those arrested were in Arlington, 23 in Fort Worth and the rest in surrounding towns, Salter said.

He added three automobiles and 50 pounds of marijuana were seized during the raids that were conducted by more than 50 officers from Arlington, Fort Worth and the DEA.

Three of those arrested were held on federal charges involving the sale of hard drugs.

Group Says Conspiracy Trying To Lead U.S. Into Third World War In Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a group calling itself Citizens for American Society says an international "Communist-Russian Marxist-Zionist" conspiracy is trying to lead the United States into a third world war in the Middle East.

Edward J. Hatfield, the group's president, accused President Ford of being the latest in a succession of "presidents who have practiced pure treason against our Constitution" by setting a "Communist-Zionist foreign policy."

"Those still living should be tried as war criminals, convicted on the evidence and hung from the nearest tree," Hatfield told a dinner Thursday night attended by about 100 persons.

The dinner was sponsored by Hatfield's group and the Holy Land State Committee, a group which seeks a separate Palestinian state in the Middle East.

Hatfield said President Ford is being influenced by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller in what he called the administration's pro-Israel stance. He accused Rockefeller of being a "world domination," adding "For the first time in our history we have a President who works for and takes orders from the vice president."

And he urged Americans to celebrate the Bicentennial by overthrowing this alien government of political scum.

Invitations to the dinner at the Army-Navy Club here called the get-together "an unprecedented association of Christian and Jewish anti-Zionist patriots, anti-Marxist Israel congressmen and prominent Arabs — all working for genuine peace in the Near East."

Hatfield told a reporter his organization has been in existence since 1969. He said it is not anti-Jewish but is opposed to pro-Israeli factions who are aligned against the Arab world.

He said he was not certain of the organization's full membership, but that 17 members had helped organize the dinner.

Evidence Arguments Set In Murder Case

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorneys for Robert Kleasen say they will argue today that all evidence found in Kleasen's trailer in the deaths of two Mormon missionaries was seized illegally.

The evidence includes two bloody wrist watches and a name tag with a hole that may have been made by a bullet.

The defense is asking State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell to suppress this evidence because the search warrant specified that the officers would look for a .22 rifle that Kleasen purchased after allegedly lying about not being under felony indictment.

This was a pretext search warrant, says R. Roscoe Haley, Kleasen's chief defense attorney, because 12 federal, state and city law enforcement officers showed up at Kleasen's small trailer.

Jackie Onassis May Wed Another Rich Greek Shipper

Agence France-Presse

ATHENS — Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis, widow of Aristotle Onassis who died March 15 in Paris, might wed another Greek shipping magnate, Ioannis Karras, according to reports in the Greek press.

Karras, 67, a bachelor, owns several cargo vessels and controls shipyards at Chalkis, a chain of hotels in Salonika and several transport and import-export businesses.

Mrs. Onassis is also the widow of President John F. Kennedy who was assassinated in 1963.

Coherent, Plausible Story On Richard Nixon

WASHINGTON—In the torrents of words which washed around Watergate, there were precious few to give us a coherent account of how it came that Richard Nixon literally drove himself out of office.

'Hope We Never Run Short Of This Fuel'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten WASHINGTON — Speaking candidly behind closed doors, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger recently tried to assess the news shocks which have jolted the nation.

He cited the Watergate horror, the economic nosedive, the breakdown of Arab-Israeli negotiations and, finally, the collapse of anti-Communist forces in Cambodia and Vietnam.

"We are close," pronounced Kissinger, "to a national nervous breakdown." We disagree. You see, we've been receiving thousands of letters each week from the people who make up this country.

INSIDE REPORT

Letter Spells Out Sense Of Betrayal

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps evacuated the last American officials from Cambodia April 12, the U.S. embassy in Phnom Penh received an extraordinary letter which has produced a mixture of sorrow and foreboding in Washington.

The letter was written to Ambassador John Gunther Dean by Prince Sirik Matak, Cambodian high counselor. He and prime minister Long Boret, two of the seven "supertraitors" condemned to death by the Cambodian Communists, surprised the embassy by declining seats on the last plane out of Phnom Penh.

The decision by these Cambodian anti-Communists to go down with the ship conflicts with the cliché of corrupt Mandarins transporting hoarded gold to the French Riviera. But Sirik Matak's letter also could provide additional evidence convincing government leaders in Asia and elsewhere that alignment with Washington is folly.

OPEN-MOUTHED NEWCOMERS

President Ford invited members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee into the White House April 14 for a top secret briefing on the Vietnam crisis and got lectured by junior Democrats eager in the heady air of "reform" to tell the chief executive how to run his business.

Jackson's Wife Bracing Herself For Hard Campaign

By ANN BLACKMAN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — She hates flying, gets nervous when she gives a speech and worries she'll say something wrong. But her husband wants to be president of the United States, so Helen Jackson is starting to campaign again, 11 months and thousands of miles of traveling before the first presidential primary in March 1976. "I'm bracing myself," said the wife of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who lost his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972 but has again declared himself a candidate. Bracing herself, because experience has taught her that a presidential campaign means a crush of handshakes, a constant smile, strange hotels and chicken dinners, the same answers to the same questions: What do you think of the economy, the energy crisis, abortion, women's lib? "You have to be so careful of what you say," Mrs. Jackson said as the plane bumped down in Indianapolis recently, her first stop on a campaign trail she hopes will lead to the White House. "I sympathize with Abigail McCarthy who said she lay awake nights worrying that she would say something that would ruin her husband's career," she said. Mrs. McCarthy, who is separated from former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, wrote "Private Forces, Public Places," a book about her political experiences. Four years ago, Mrs. Jackson traveled almost exclusively with the man she calls "Dear Heart" while other candidates' wives campaigned alone for their husbands. This year Mrs. Jackson started her campaign by driving herself to the airport. Now she, too, plans to do some campaigning alone because "it's more practical, and we'll reach more people." With her husband running close to President Ford in the opinion polls, she sees her duty as "helping people get to know Scoop better." She knows that if he is to secure his party's nomination this year, he must do better in the primaries than he did in 1972 when he finished third in Florida after a major effort, fifth in Wisconsin and a weak third in Ohio. This time Mrs. Jackson plans to do some things differently, like spend more time at home with their two children, Peter, 9, and Anna Marie, 12. "I'm not going out for a week or 10 days at a time," she said. "It's not good for the children.;" At 41, Helen Jackson is an attractive woman who is more comfortable discussing her children than the Middle East crisis. Her blonde hair is always perfectly coiffed; she does need to keep busy; she never disagrees with her husband publicly; and she freely admits she hasn't given the women's liberation movement much thought. Advertise Or Be Forgotten!

Wallace Still Believes Shooting Part Of Conspiracy

By JACK NELSON
The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — The FBI has briefed Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace at least twice in an effort to allay his suspicions that the attempt to assassinate him in 1972 was part of a conspiracy, according to FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley.

Despite the briefings, Wallace, in interviews and in private conversations, says he believes that Arthur Bremer, the man who shot and critically wounded him, was a paid assassin.

And now, as he prepares to become a formal candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, Wallace talks as if he will inject his suspicions into his campaign.

Not only does Wallace talk readily about a conspiracy theory, but so do his wife, Cornelia, and his son, George Jr. Mrs. Wallace expounded on it in recent interviews in several women's magazines and the governor's son spoke of it on a national television show recently.

"I can't prove it," the governor told The Los Angeles Times, "but I think there's more to it than Bremer. I get a lot of mail from different groups and individuals who think more people were involved. The whole thing troubles me."

However, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, in response to written questions submitted by The Times, replied, "no information has been developed indicating that Bremer was involved in a conspiracy and all investigation indicates he acted alone."

Kelley wrote The Times that the FBI had interviewed Wallace at least twice last year — the last time on Aug. 30 — because of news reports that the governor "seemed to feel a conspiracy exists, although he was quoted as having no proof."

Kelley said that after the FBI briefings, Wallace "stated he

Some Employees' Week Shortened

Hotel and motel employees Thursday started getting overtime pay after 46 hours of weekly work instead of 48, reports Jack Camden, Midland compliance officer for the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division.

The two-hour reduction affects several hundred workers in the Midland area, Camden said.

Nationwide, the change will affect 1,321,000 hotel and motel workers under the $2-per-hour minimum wage, Camden added.

had no further questions and he was completely satisfied with our investigation."

Nevertheless, Wallace has continued to tell reporters that, while he is not critical of the FBI investigation and does not have evidence to support his suspicion, he believes Bremer was a paid assassin.

Conspiracy theories abound, not only in the Wallace shooting, but also in the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., and are being debated increasingly in public forums.

The Watergate scandal and disclosures of covert CIA and FBI operations and other government domestic intelligence activities have heightened public doubt in the official findings in all four cases that the assassins acted entirely on their own.

As a result, the Rockefeller commission investigating the CIA has had to delve into the assassination of President Kennedy and has ordered a re-examination of the autopsy of the President.

In Congress, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., is pushing for passage of a resolution to create a select House committee to study circumstances surrounding the deaths of the Kenedy brothers and Dr. King and the shooting of Wallace.

With Wallace about to formally declare his candidacy for president and his suspicions about Bremer already a matter of record, there is every prospect — unless Wallace changes his mind — that his suspicions will further fuel the conspiracy debate and inject the issue squarely into the presidential campaign.

Wallace's motives are not devoid of skeptics in Alabama. "He keeps telling reporters he doesn't think Bremer acted alone and he may actually believe that," says a veteran Alabama political reporter who knows Wallace well. "But it also is good copy, and used the right way might make some political mileage."

But Wallace says that despite the FBI briefings, he cannot

Governor Signs Two Snelson Bills

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has signed two bills by Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland, making them law.

The governor approved SB 354 to establish municipal courts of record in Midland, and SB 402 to permit university oil and gas land leases to be sold in other state areas besides Austin.

shake the question which he says bothers him most: how Bremer, who he calls a "ne'er-do-well," had the money first to stalk former President Richard M. Nixon in Canada and then the governor in this country during the 1972 presidential campaign?

"How was he able to follow me around, stay in the Waldorf Astoria, go to massage parlors and stalk me and tall me all over the country?" Wallace asked in an interview in Montgomery.

FBI Director Kelley, in responding to The Times' questions, wrote:

"The source of Bremer's savings which he used for his travels were determined by FBI investigation to be money he received from verified employments. Bremer's travels apparently depleted his funds and at the time of his arrest, he had less than $2 in his pocket. A review of Bremer's known bank accounts revealed they had been closed in March 1972, prior to the time he went to Canada."

The Times submitted its questions to Kelley as part of an investigation which Times reporters in Washington and New York have pursued since E. Howard Hunt testified during the Senate Watergate hearings in 1973 that shortly after Wallace was shot, Charles Colson, then a White House consultant, suggested that he fly to Milwaukee and search Bremer's apartment.

As to whether Bremer could have solely financed his travel from Milwaukee in stalking Wallace or Nixon from April 4 to May 15, 1972, The Times found after examining more

Y Conducts Swim Instructors' School

The Midland YMCA will hold an aquatic certification and training institute today through Sunday at the Central Y. The clinic is designed to train participants in modern techniques of teaching individuals how to swim.

Satisfactory completion of the requirements will certify participants as a Y special instructor in the area of pre-school swimming. Prerequisites for certification are minimum age of 27 and a current senior lifesaver card. Fifteen year olds who are strong swimmers will be certified as Aquatic Specialist leaders upon completing all course requirements. Registration is 6 p.m. today. Pat Owens, institute director at the Central Y, is in charge of the clinic.

Diabetes Bikathon Scheduled Sunday

Entry blanks for the Midland Diabetes Assn. Bikathon may be picked up today for the Sunday event which will run from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The course of the Bikathon will be marked on the entry blank. All money raised will go to the Diabetes Assn. fund.

counts of Wallace's fear that the shooting was part of a conspiracy.

It's not just unanswered questions that trouble Wallace, however. As he sits propped up in a specially made bed-deck in the Executive Mansion at Montgomery and contemplates that fateful day in Laurel, Md., he sees an image of Bremer that needs no proof to project a coldly calculated conspiracy.

"He planned to kill me in a crowd," Wallace said. "He knew if he did it out in the open he would be shot down."

In fact, a Maryland state trooper almost killed him anyway.

Wallace, declaring he would like to see additional investigation of the assassination attempt, says "finding out about my case won't help me, but it may help prevent this from happening to someone else — a lifetime of misery in a wheelchair."

But Kelley thinks the FBI has done all it could to investigate whether there was a conspiracy. He wrote The Times that he had tried to be responsive to all questions he felt the FBI could be expected to answer and added, "Should any facts be subsequently developed warranting additional investigation by the FBI, appropriate action will be taken."

"I THINK I'LL GO BACK TO TAKIN' NAPS IN THE AFTERNOON."

Steel Industry To Hike Pro

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry is planning to raise its product price by 5 to 10 percent from 152-153 million ton million tons by 1977, according to a report by the U.S. Steel Corp. The magazine said that steep price rise would reduce capacity decision steel demand, which have becom respectable and favor medium term futu

Joseph Warren American Revolution's First Great Martyr

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

During the ferment that molded the dissatisfied people of the American colonies into revolutionaries, Joseph Warren was a man to be reckoned with. It was the spy system Warren set up that first became aware of the British plan to march on Concord and Lexington, and it was Warren who sent Paul Revere to warn rebel leaders.

There aren't any statues of Warren. But he gave his life during a hopeless battle when he could have sought safety in the Boston taverns that sheltered other rebel leaders.

He was the American Revolution's first great martyr.

Joseph Warren came from the economic and intellectual class that produced the New England dissenters in the decade before 1775. Born of well-to-do parents in what in 1741 was the pastoral village of Roxbury, Mass., Warren was quickly caught up in the liberal thought of the day.

He enrolled at Harvard College, became a doctor and moved to nearby Boston to practice medicine.

Besides treating patients, he became a member of the Committee of Correspondence, a group of colonialists who ran a network of information and propaganda against the British.

His name first became known in September 1774 when he drafted the Suffolk Resolves attacking the British Coercive Laws under which the Port of Boston was closed and local taxes were confiscated.

Charging the British with warring on freedom, Warren wrote that Massachusetts should collect and keep its own taxes and, if necessary, use force to defend the freedom of the colony.

Warren's document, adopted at a Suffolk County convention by representatives from the Boston area, was one of the first open challenges to British sovereignty in the American colonies.

From then on, Warren moved into the first rank of colonial leaders.

He was elected president of a provincial Congress in April 1775 and obtained a commission as major general in the Massachusetts militia. His fateful role in history was approaching its climax.

On April 18, 1775, Gen. Thomas Gage, British governor of Massachusetts, sent troops to arrest Warren, Samuel Adams and John Hancock.

But Warren's spies became aware of the troop movements and he sent Revere on the ride that was to become American folklore. Revere was arrested, but other riders made it through and the rebel leaders escaped.

Warren helped organize the Indian-style fighting that helped to defeat the British at Lexington and Concord. He continued his staff work, training colonial troops and organizing the fortifications for the Battle of Bunker Hill. But when the fateful fight began on June 17, 1775,

Warren refused to go with other leaders to safety out of sight of the battle. He told Col. William Prescott: "I shall take no command here. I came as a volunteer with my musket to serve under you."

When the Americans finally ran out of ammunition and Prescott ordered his men to pull back, Warren stayed behind to direct the retreat, still fighting with his rifle butt and bayonet.

At the age of 34, Joseph Warren, doctor, writer and leader, died of a bullet wound. Legend says he fell at the very spot where the Bunker Hill monument now stands.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, May 2, the 122nd day of 1975. There are 243 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, the Soviets announced the fall of Berlin in World War II. The Western Allies announced that Nazi troops had surrendered in Italy and parts of Austria.

On this date —

In 1670, the Hudson's Bay Company was chartered by England.

In 1863, Confederate General Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was mistaken for a Union scout and shot and fatally wounded by his own soldiers during the Civil War battle of Chancellorsville, Va.

In 1890, The Oklahoma Territory was organized.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler abolished labor unions in Germany.

In 1960, Caryl Chessman was executed in San Quentin prison in California after eight stays of execution.

In 1966, there was rioting in Israel during a visit by former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Ten years ago: The first link in a worldwide live television system was opened as the early bird satellite united viewers in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Europe.

Five years ago: U.S. and South Vietnamese troops overran four bases in their thrust into Cambodia and captured large caches of rice.

One year ago: The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered former Vice President Spiro Agnew disbarred from legal practice in the state because of his no-contest plea on a charge of tax evasion.

Today's birthdays: King Hussein of Jordan is 40. Bing Crosby is 71.

Thought for today: Nothing is really work unless you would rather be doing something else — James Barrie, Scottish writer, 1860-1937.

Steel Industry To Hike Production

NEW YORK (AP) — America's steel industry plans to increase its production capacity 8.5 per cent from the present 152-153 million tons to 165-166 million tons by 1977, reports 33 Magazine.

The magazine also reports that steep price rises are in store.

The publication attributes the capacity decision to strong steel demand, profit levels which have become more acceptable and favorable short-to-medium term future prospects.

Unitarians To Commemorate United States' Bicentennial

The first of three special programs commemorating the nation's Bicentennial will be presented Sunday at the Unitarian Church, 3400 N. A St.

The "Three Bicentennial Sundays" emphasis will continue through May 18.

To initiate the emphasis, Sunday's program at 10:45 a.m. will be a theatrical presentation of two revolutionary-era sermons. Mark White will present a sermon first preached by the Rev. John Witherspoon in 1776 at the Presbyterian Church in Princeton, N.J. Witherspoon was the only clergyman among the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Also Sunday morning, Randy Carley will interpret a sermon preached in 1780 by the Rev. John Mayhew at West Church, Boston. Mayhew is credited with the original suggestion that the American colonies should unite against England.

Scheduled for presentation at the second bicentennial program on May 11 is a talk, "The Impact of the American Revolution on Religious Freedom," by Dr. Mary Quinlaven of the UTPB history faculty. The third program on May 18 will focus on "The Religious Heritage of Thomas Jefferson," an adaptation of a special program originally presented at Dallas.

American Lutheran Mission Appeal Gains $30 Million

MINNEAPOLIS — Members of the American Lutheran Church (ALC) have pledged almost $30 million through the denomination's United Mission Appeal to expand ALC ministries in the U.S. and other countries.

Surpassing a "minimum expectation" of $25 million, the United Mission Appeal's directors from within the denomination's 18 districts recently reported pledges of more than $7 million. An additional $1,586,000 in major gifts and miscellaneous contributions raised the total to more than $23 million.

Noting that the pledges represent involvement of slightly more than 60 per cent of the ALC's 4,825 congregations (including the Midland Lutheran Church in Midland, Tex.), some observers are suggesting that the special appeal may top $35 million.

The American Lutheran Church is currently marking its 150th anniversary. The denomination is the result of a merger in the spring of 1960 of several Lutheran church groups: the Evangelical Lutheran Church (Norwegian), the American Lutheran Church (German) and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church (Danish). A fourth body, the Lutheran Free Church, affiliated in early 1963.

R-T Series Wins Award

The "Support the Church" feature series appearing each Friday on the church calendar page of The Reporter-Telegram has received an 18th award from the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa.

The Keister series is nationally regarded as foremost in the field of modern church advertising. Its success during the more than 30 years it has been appearing in many of the nation's leading newspapers is due to its appeal to the unchurched through human interest illustrations and texts which encourage church membership and attendance, the Freedoms Foundation points out.

United Methodist Magazine To Fold

CHICAGO — The United Methodist denomination's national monthly magazine, United Methodist Today, and its specialized insert for pastors, "Today's Ministry," will be terminated with the June issue, according to a recent announcement here.

Newsweek, a four-page weekly newsletter, will be continued, the announcement stated.

The unanimous action of the United Methodist Board of Publication to terminate the magazine means that for the first time in 150 years the UMC will be without a denominationally sponsored, generally circulated periodical. Declining circulation and increasing costs resulting in a projected deficit for the 1974-75 fiscal year in excess of $500,000 was the chief reason cited for the termination.

Meanwhile, plans are being developed with the denomination's joint committee on communications to send subscribers of United Methodist Today the church's monthly program journal, The Interpreter. For those already receiving the latter publication, other options will be available.

Christian Family Week To Be Observed Here

Christian Family Week next week will be observed by many churches in the state and nation, including Midland's Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 N. A St.

Special events are planned by the Hope congregation to emphasize the week, said the Rev. Elmer E. Burrall, pastor.

To initiate the observance, the congregation will celebrate Sunday as Church Music Sunday. The 9:15 a.m. service of communion will be accompanied by contemporary liturgy and special anthems will be presented by the senior and junior choirs.

Thursday at 8 p.m., Pastor Burrall will present an introductory outline of Transactional Analysis, popularly known as "T.A.," as a tool for individuals to understand themselves as well as others. The outline will be aimed particularly toward inter-family relationships.

Concluding the family emphasis on Mother's Day May 11 will be a special meal prepared and served by the men and boys of the congregation. The event will feature a talk by Linda George of Family Services of Midland, whose topic is to be "Families in Conflict."

Those of bishop, stake high councilman, stake president and mission president. A native of Holladay, Utah, the General Authority was managing director of Mormon pavilions at numerous world fairs, including HemisFair in San Antonio, Expo '70 in Osaka, Japan and the New York World Fair in 1964-65. He attended Utah State University and studied economics at George Washington University. During his youth he served two years as a missionary in Great Britain. He is a Salt Lake City building contractor.

Brockbank To Speak At Odessa Stake Meet

ODESSA — Elder Bernard P. Brockbank, an assistant to the Council of Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, will be featured speaker at an Odessa Stake conference this weekend.

The conference will begin Saturday at the stake house, located at 21st and Washington streets in Odessa. It will conclude with a Sunday morning session scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., with Elder Brockbank to be speaking on missionary work of the LDS Church.

Elder Brockbank has served in numerous responsible positions in the church, including those of bishop, stake high councilman, stake president and mission president. A native of Holladay, Utah, the General Authority was managing director of Mormon pavilions at numerous world fairs, including HemisFair in San Antonio, Expo '70 in Osaka, Japan and the New York World Fair in 1964-65. Teen Challenge Program Slated

West Texas Teen Challenge, headquartered in Midland, will sponsor a special musical program at 8 p.m. Saturday in Alamo Junior High auditorium.

Featured on the program will be a group of former narcotics addicts who are now participating in the Teen Challenge outreach to troubled and drug-addicted young people. They will share with the audience some of their own experiences as drug users and how they found freedom from addiction.

The public is invited to attend the event at no charge.

Evangelist, Puppet Will Lead Revival

Evangelist Jerry Young and his puppet Tom will be in Midland next week to lead a revival at Bellview Baptist Church, 1710 N. Big Spring St.

Mr. Young will join the Rev. Elbert Smithen, Jim Tate and Lewis Easley in preaching at the revival which begins Sunday morning and continues through Sunday, May 11. Mr. Smithen is Bellview's pastor, Tate is minister of music for the church and Easley is a member of the congregation.

Sunday services will begin at 10:50 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. Special services each week will begin at 7:30 p.m. There will be a number of special emphases during the week, including "Neighbor Night," "Children's Night," "Family Night" and "Sunday School Night." A special "Old Fashion Night" is planned Saturday evening, May 10.

Mr. Young, who has been in full-time evangelistic work for the last five years, is a graduate of Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar, Mo., and the University of Corpus Christi. He has conducted more than 200 revivals and crusades. An accomplished vocalist and pianist, he has made two LP albums.

The evangelist also is an accomplished ventriloquist and his puppet Tom is an integral part of his ministry. He makes his headquarters at Houston.

The special services next week will be open to the public, it was announced.

Handbell Choirs To Compete Here

Handbell choirs from Southern Baptist churches in various parts of the state are in Midland this weekend to participate in a state handbell festival at First Baptist Church here.

Ensembles from churches in Dallas, Corpus Christi and San Antonio are registered to take part in the festival along with groups from churches in various West Texas cities.

The festival will begin this evening and conclude Saturday. Highlight of the convales will be a concert by the massed choirs at 11 a.m. Saturday. The event will be open to the public.

Clinician for the festival is to be Tommy Brinkley, formerly an organist for FBC here, who now resides at Dallas.

One of the visiting ensembles the junior high handbell choir of Dallas, will stay over to play for the Sunday morning worship service of FBC.

Smith To Receive Honorary Degree

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The Rev. Robert Boynton Smith, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland, Tex., will be the recipient of an honorary doctor of divinity degree conferred by Southwestern At Memphis at its commencement services May 31.

Southwestern at Memphis is a private four-year college of liberal arts affiliated with the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

George Alexander Heard, chancellor of Vanderbilt University, will deliver the commencement address at the May 31 exercises. Approximately 205 seniors will receive diplomas.

Chancellor Heard will receive an honorary Doctor of Letters degree.

Other honorary degree recipients are Albert R. Erskine III, doctor of letters; Mrs. C. M. Gooch, doctor of humanities; W. Robert Martin Jr., Doctor of Divinity, and Hollis F. Price, doctor of humanities.

Mr. Smith, who assumed his Midland pastorate three years ago, is an active leader in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

He served as chairman of the Commission on the Minister and His Work in St. Andrew Presbytery from 1969-72 and was chairman of the Presbyterian General Assembly's Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations. He presently heads the Mission Committee and the Nominating Committee of Treas Rios Presbytery.

Mr. Smith holds a bachelor of Arts degree from Presbyterian College, Clinton, S.C., and a bachelor of divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary. He earned a master of theology degree from New Orleans Theological Seminary and also did graduate work at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Revival Planned Here Next Week

Faith Temple Church of God in Christ, 1805 N. Terrell St., is announcing a revival crusade to be held Sunday through Friday next week.

In making the announcement, the Rev. W. C. Kenan, pastor, said that Bishop T.D. Iglehart of San Antonio will be the revival preacher. He is the state bishop of the Texas Southeast area of the Churches of God in Christ, a post which he held for the last 20 years. He has served on the denomination's Board of Bishops for many years and is widely recognized as a dynamic speaker as well as a Bible scholar.

Pastor Kenan announced that revival services will be at 8 p.m. daily. The public is invited to attend and hear the guest evangelist.

such outstanding speakers as Adm. H. G. Rickover, Washington, D.C.; C. John Miller of Allegan, Mich., president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and Jim C. Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission, the association feels that all interested persons should have the opportunity of attending.

Other speakers will include D. K. Davis, managing director of Energy Research Associates, Dallas; Frank L. Thompson of Midland, president of International Association of Drilling Contractors, and a top executive of the Federal Energy Office, Washington.

A luncheon at Rowley Inn and a banquet at Midland Country Club will highlight the annual meeting.

Reservations should be made at the PBPA office, 104 Western United Life Building (684-6345) by Monday, Ed Thompson, executive vice president said.

Runnels Sector Draws Goen Test

Alsbrook & Edwards Oil Co. of Richardson staked a 1,580-foot southeast offset to the recent Goen reopener in the Norton, West field of Runnels County. It is No. 2 Dolph Richards.

Drill site is 1,400 feet from south and 1,200 feet from east lines of section 14, T. M. Fowler survey 440. Contract depth is 4,530 feet.

No. 1 Richards was completed April 7 by the same operators for 96 barrels of 44-gravity oil, daily, through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,326-4,327 feet.

Dual Producer Gains Offset Try

Taubert, Steed, Gunn & Medders of Wichita Falls has staked No. 7-N S. B. Burnett Estate as a location northeast offset to a dual conglomerate and lower Strawn well and 3/4-mile southeast stepout to 5,400-foot Strawn production in the Anne Tandy field of King County, 17 miles southeast of Guthrie.

Location for the 6,000-foot test is 660 feet from northwest and 2,000 feet from the northeast lines of section 1, block X, R. M. Thomson survey.

The field has two conglomerate and three 5,400-foot Strawn wells.

Offshore Drilling Group Termed 'Empire Building'

By PAUL HOUSTON
The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — A special House committee, charged with expediting legislation on offshore drilling, has been quietly established amid outcries that no Californians were appointed to it and that a proposed $325,500 outlay for the staff is an "empire-building" ploy.

A resolution creating the select committee on the Outer Continental Shelf, whizzed through the House with little notice last week when members were preoccupied with the Vietnam aid bill.

Speaker Carl Albert (D-Okla.) appointed 16 members to the committee, including 10 from Atlantic seaboard states and three from the Pacific states of Oregon, Alaska and Hawaii.

Appointed chairman was Rep. John M. Murphy (D-N.Y.), who came up with the idea for the committee. At a meeting in the speaker's office, the proposal won the endorsement of Albert, Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. (D-Mass.) and the chairmen of three standing committees which had been assigned numerous bills dealing with offshore development of oil and natural gas.

Murphy said Thursday that a special committee was needed to avoid delays caused by the overlapping jurisdictions of existing House panels. The new committee is required to report on a bill by next Jan. 31. The only bill the committee was specifically asked to consider was an offshore drilling measure sponsored by Murphy.

A member of the new committee, Rep. Morris K. Udall (D-Ariz.) wrote Albert Thursday that he was "increasingly uneasy about the absence of a member from the California delegation."

Udall noted California's "immense interest" in offshore issues and said that only Tuesday the California State Energy Commission had "strongly criticized a Department of sample chamber yielded 250 cubic centimeters of heavily oil- and gas-cut drilling mud. Flowing pressure was 66-238 pounds; final shut-in pressure was 1,465 pounds, time not reported.

The project is 3,107 feet from most southerly south line and 1,787 feet from most westerly east line of section 106, block 11, H&G survey, abstract 8474, 1/4 mile east of the Sun Valley North (lower Tubb) field.

Menard Oiler Confirms Field

The P-C Southwest (lower Strawn) field of Menard County gained a confirmation with completion of G. C. Clark of Tyler No. 1 J. G. Biles, nine miles north of Fort McKavett and 1/2 mile north of the discovery.

It gauged a calculated 24-hour potential of 216 barrels of 40-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 350-1. Potential was based on an actual 14-hour flow of 120 barrels of oil through a 17-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,004-4,008 feet. The pay had been treated with 250 gallons of acid.

Bottomed at 4,041 feet, the well is 467 feet from south and east lines of Aloys Russer survey 1631.

Lloyd Patton No. 1 Concho Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, was completed in 1972 as the discovery well, for 358.5 barrels of 35.2-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 4,013-4,018 feet.

Field In Eddy Gains Extension

Cities Service Oil Co. has completed No. 1-B Tracy Community as a one-mile northeast extension to the Carlsbad, South (Morrow) field of Eddy County, N.M.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 6.236 million cubic feet of gas per day, producing through perforations at 11,597-11,744 feet, which had been acidized with 5,000 gallons.

Location is 2,045 feet from south and 479 feet from east lines of section 18-22s-27e, one mile northeast of Carlsbad.

Stepout Scheduled In Glasscock Area

Hanson Production Co., operating from Houston, has scheduled a location south stepout to the two-well Blalock, East (Wolfcamp) field of Glasscock County.

The project, scheduled to 8,000 feet, is 1,800 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 13, block 35, T-3-S-T&P survey, seven miles northwest of Garden City.

Mesa Petroleum Test Shows Oil

Mesa Petroleum Co., Amarillo, No. 4 West Knowles, location south offset to an undesignated Strawn discovery, and 1/2-mile north of the three-well Drinkard area in an unnamed area of Lea County, N.M., recovered 60 feet of slightly oil- and gas-cut mud and 469 feet of drilling fluid, on a drillstem test in the Drinkard.

Tool was open 1 1/2 hour on the test taken from 8,222-8,293 feet. The sample chamber recovery was two-tenths of a cubic foot of gas, 200 cubic centimeters of oil and 1,900 cubic centimeters of drilling fluid.

Slated to 11,700 feet for tests of the Strawn, drilling continued below 8,395 feet in lime.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 34-16s-37e, five miles southeast of Lovington.

Upton Prospect Pumps Oil, Water

Gulf Oil Corp. has amended its No. 6-M McElroy, former offset to the Cisco opener in the King Mountain, North field of Upton County, as a 4 1/4-mile west outpost to Strawn oil production in the Amacker-Tippett field.

It pumped 28 barrels of oil and 144 barrels of water in 24 hours, through Strawn perforations at 9,582-9,612 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons. Testing continued.

Drilled as an Ellenburger wildcard at 13,070 feet, it was completed in 1969 as the Bend oil opener in the King Mountain, North field.

Location is 2,100 feet from south and 1,700 feet from west (some maps show 1,700 feet from east line, which is in error), of section 67, block Y, TCR survey, 11 miles southeast of Crane.

By The Associated Press Hank Aaron won one for Milwaukee and lost another one for Babe Ruth. Aaron, who surpassed the Babe's fabulous career home run mark last year, blasted through another Ruthian plateau Thursday...

Porter touched off a four-run burst in the eighth with a two-run homer. Milwaukee slugger knocked in two runs to bring his lifetime figure to 2,211 and guide the Brewers to a 17-3 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

While playing with the Atlanta Braves, Aaron went through a quiet pressure catching Ruth's home run total of 714. Since then, Aaron has built the brook record to 735.

Snyder's Western Texas College, which recently won the national Junior College basketball championship, is now winning again in the recruiting wars. WTC has signed Lawrence Butler to a letter of intent. The Glasgow, Mo., product is a 6-3 guard, who averaged 30.3 points per game in high school and was sought by over 100 major colleges.

The Buffalo Braves of the NBA filed a $500,000 suit Thursday against Eddie Donovan, who quit recently as their general manager to take over the New York Knicks. The suit, charging that Donovan broke a three-year employment agreement with the Braves, asked the State Supreme Court of New York to ban Donovan from working for the Knicks or any other NBA team before July 29, 1977.

Kenyon College basketball players have asked college officials to fire head basketball coach Jim Zak and his assistant Tom McHugh. A petition was circulated by the players for the action and 17 of the 23 Kenyon cage members signed it.

Football

Joe Namath reportedly is not anxious to undertake new responsibilities in a new league and in new surroundings, but he has a $4 million incentive from the WFL. Namath and lawyer-partner Jimmy Walsh, however, say that the New York Jets are trying to force the issue. The Jets are apparently trying to keep Joe with the same $250,000 a year salary that he has collected for the last three years.

Portland has been accepted as the 11th team in the World Football League alignment, according to WFL president Chris Hemmeter. The Oregon city, which operated last year in the WFL as the Storm, has met all the financial and legal requirements for a new franchise under a different group of investors.

Hockey

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, has denied a report that the sale of the league-operated California Golden Seals to San Francisco businessman Mel Swig had been completed. "The transaction will not be final until it is documented, and he (Swig) has until May 30," Campbell said.

The World Hockey Association will hold its first All-Star game in 1976, according to the WHA office in Newport Beach, Calif. The first All-Star game has been awarded to the Hartford Civic Center, home of the New England Whalers.

Aaron Helps Young Yount

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron has climbed another plateau past Babe Ruth on the mountain of baseball immortality. But he insists he is already hearing footsteps in pursuit—those of 19-year-old shortstop Robin Yount.

Aaron, baseball's home run king with 735 in 22 superb seasons, shattered yet another Ruth record once thought unattainable by driving in two runs in the Milwaukee Brewers' 17-3 rout of the Detroit Tigers Thursday. He had tied Ruth's career runs batted in mark of 2,209 Sunday.

Aaron, whose four hits in four times at bat raised his average to .218, broke the record with a sharp single to left off Tiger rookie Vern Ruhle, scoring Six-to Lezcano in the third inning for a 3-2 Brewer lead.

An RBI double by Aaron triggered a five-run fifth inning, and Aaron singled as the Brewers poured across five more runs in the seventh. Yount capped that rally with a three-run homer, giving him two hits and four RBIs for the day. The 19-year-old shortstop leads the Brewers in batting average, .387; homers, 4; RBIs, 12; runs, 13; and hits, 24.

Aaron, who hit .314 for the old Milwaukee Braves and already had 40 career homers the year Yount was born, preferred to talk about his teenage teammate Thursday instead of his personal milestone.

"No more plateaus, I've never seen any plateaus," the 41-year-old designated hitter said. "I just try to do the best I can and let the records fall. I just happened to be in position to break one of the most historic records in baseball, and I'm glad it's over with."

"The thing I like is that today showed this is a sound, young ball club," he said. "I believe this ball club will be right in the thick of things, and I'm just glad to be on this club."

"That Robin Yount—this kid is for real. He has tremendous talent and he wants to play. If he stays healthy, he's going to be a great, great ballplayer. Bud Selig, the rest of the owners were always talking about him this winter. You can see why."

averages, respectively.

On the season, Stevens is hitting .422 while Blackwell owns a .395 average. Keith Bishop is hitting .385 on the year and Brock is hitting .368 followed by Alan Neal and Laughlin with .344 and .343 averages.

Stevens has rapped out eight doubles, three triples and three homers while knocking in 33 runs to tie the city record set by Midland's Robert Shaeffer in 1973 when Midland won the state AAAA baseball crown.

Catcher Terry Copeland has the best season batting average for the Pack which is on an 11-game losing streak. Copeland owns a .330 average while Clellan Pearce is hitting .316 on the year.

Jakie Wells, who has seven home runs this season to tie Shaeffer and Bill Brown of the Bulldogs in that department, has knocked in 23 runs, but is only hitting .234 on the year. Pearce has 17 RBIs and Karl Brosig, senior first baseman, has 16 to his credit.

Dade Suffers As Caps Win

By The Associated Press

Leading Texas League West Division slugger Paul Dade felt the sting of Shreveport's doubleheader romp over El Paso last night right where it hurts—in his batting average.

Dade, with a .542 going into Thursday night's games, was the target of Captains pitchers Randy Hopkins, 2-0, and Rich Anderson, 4-0, who held the Diablo star to one hit in eight trips to the plate.

Shreveport, down 5-3 in the ninth inning of the first game, mounted a successful rally and scored on a bases-loaded single by Jim Sexton, a wild pitch by El Paso hurler Bill Rotham and a single by Tommy Thomas to win it 6-5.

League leading Shreveport blanked the Diablos 4-0 in the second game.

In the East, last place Alexandria drubbed No. 2 Arkansas 10-3, collecting 16 hits off three Arkansas pitchers, including five doubles. Dave Wehrmeister, 1-3, pitched five and two thirds innings, getting the victory. Jackson at Lafayette was postponed due to rain.

Friday's schedule shows San Antonio at Midland, El Paso at Shreveport, Alexandria at Arkansas, and Lafayette at Jackson.

Jurgensen Retired By Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen, with the waistline of a veteran beer drinker (actually he leans more toward scotch), was asked once how he could quarterback with a protruding stomach.

"I throw with my arm, not my belly," he replied.

And throw he did during the 19 years he played in the National Football League—11 with the Washington Redskins and given with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 40-year-old Jurgensen was retired by the Redskins Thursday even though he made it plain he did not like the idea.

"I would have preferred to make the decision myself," Jurgensen said at a news conference. "So few people get out of the game at the right time. Everybody thinks they can do it forever. But you would like to make the decision to quit yourself."

"It's the dignity of going out," he said. "It's not a matter of being replaced by Billy Kilmer... He did that four years ago."

"It's kind of disappointing to retire this way," said Jurgensen, who holds numerous NFL passing records and led the National Conference last season although he was a part-timer. "I feel that I could still make a contribution. I believe I can still help someone win."

Earlier, at another news conference, Coach George Allen made Jurgensen's retirement official by saying he made the decision for the good of the team and its future.

"He deserves every recognition he's going to get," Allen said. "He'll go to the Hall of Fame. I hope his next years will be as productive and happy as his last 18 have been."

Allen said Jurgensen's No. 9 jersey will be retired as was the No. 33 of one of his famed predecessors, Sammy Baugh.

Allen insisted, although Jurgensen disagreed somewhat later, that money was not the primary motive in releasing the quarterback who reportedly earned $120,000 although Jurgensen mentioned once at the news conference that it was $150,000.

"Sorry has been injured and has undergone operations in three of the past four years," Allen said. "We've got a young quarterback named Joe Theismann and there are a lot of other factors."

"If I wanted to make the money decision, we'd have gone with the same quarterbacks, Billy Kilmer, Jurgensen and Theismann. Every decision I have made has been for the good of the team and I think this decision will prove that."

Jurgensen sat in the corner of the team meeting room but declined to say anything until his own conference later in the day, in which he announced he would join a management consulting firm fulltime and was considering an offer to become a color analyst for CBS Sports on NFL games this fall.

"Later, however, Jurgensen said he was told by Allen that the Redskins could not afford to carry him and Kilmer, who makes over $100,000, with one of them sitting on the bench."

"The economy had something to do with it," he said. "They considered that I was too much of a luxury—a $150,000 quarter-back who played only four games."

He also said Allen asked him at the meeting last week if he would consider playing for the Redskins if Kilmer insisted on being traded.

"He told me that there was no place for me if Billy comes back," Jurgensen said. "If Billy wants to be traded, we want to get Jurgensen's salary on top of his own."

Jurgensen, visibly moved by the conference, at one point appeared to be on the verge of tears and choked up when asked what he will miss most about the game.

His reply: The relationship with his teammates.

Foolish Pleasure Tops Derby Field

LOUISVILLE (AP) — "He's as honest as he can be; he always tries," says his owner. Foolish Pleasure will try to beat 14 other 3-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

"We hope to win, but I'd be foolish to guarantee it," said owner John L. Greer, who has watched Foolish Pleasure win 10 of 11 lifetime starts including two major pre-Derby stakes—the $100,000-added Flamingo and the $100,000-added Wood Memorial.

The Churchill Downs odds-maker listed Foolish Pleasure as the 9-5 favorite Thursday to win the first prize of $209,000 from a purse that will total $282,100 if all 15 start in the 101st running of the 1 1/4-mile Derby.

Foolish Pleasure worked a half-mile in 48 seconds over a sloppy track and galloped out five-eighths in 1:01 Thursday. "I'm in the dark as much as anybody about the condition of the track," said trainer Leroy Jolley when he entered Foolish Pleasure. "But the horse will accept any kind of track."

With no more rain, the track should be fast for the Derby. The weather forecast for today and Saturday called for cloudy and mild weather, with the temperature around 70 Saturday.

Post time is 4:32 p.m. CDT, with television coverage by ABC from 4 p.m.-5 p.m.

Foolish Pleasure will start from the No. 3 post position under Jacinto Vasquez in the Derby, which calls for scale weights of 126 pounds.

John Galbreath's Prince Thou Art and Golden Chance Farm's Master Derby, expected to be Foolish Pleasure's toughest competition, both will start on the outside of the favorite.

Prince Thou Art, who upset Foolish Pleasure in the Florida Derby, will go from the No. 8 post under Braulio Baeza. He will run as part of an entry with Galbreath's Sylvan Place, a non-stakes winner who was second in the Florida Derby.

Sylvan Place will start from the No. 14 post and be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., who won the 1974 Derby on Cannonade. "I'd prefer a fast track for both horses," said Lou Rondello, trainer of the entry, which is the early 7-2 second choice. "With a large field I prefer a fast track."

Master Derby has won his last five races, including the Louisiana Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes, and is listed as a 9-2 choice to make it six in a row Saturday. An off-track figure to help the chances of the son of Dust Commander, 1970 Derby winner, who will leave from the five post under Darrell McHargue.

A colt who prefers a fast track is Frank McMahon's Diabolo, winner of the 1 1/4-mile California Derby in a blazing 1:46 3/5 on a fast track at Golden Gate Fields. Laffit Pincay Jr., who rode Diabolo for the first time in the California Derby, will be aboard again Saturday when the dark bay starts from the No. 13 slot.

Two other big stakes winners in the field are Arthur A. Seligson Jr.'s Avatar, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, and Bob Clayton's Promised City, who was first in the Arkansas Derby. An Arkansas Derby winner never has won the Kentucky Derby.

Bill Shoemaker, who will be trying to win his fourth Derby in 19 attempts, will ride Avatar out of the No. 10 slot, while Dave Whitely will ride Promised City from the outside post.

"He's going to run, that's why we put him in," said Promised City's trainer, Larry Spraker.

96 In Mexico Hospitalized For Acute Food Poisoning

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ninety-six persons had to be hospitalized for acute food poisoning in Nuevo Laredo, across the Texas border from Laredo, and another 900 were given first aid, Mexican police authorities report.

All the victims had eaten a few hours before at a convention lunch Thursday night organized by the Mexican chapter of the Knights of Columbus, attended by about 1,000 persons.

No deaths were reported either by police or the Red Cross. Local health authorities described the outbreak as "acute enterocolitis" but said that although the symptoms were painful none of the patients

Campus Police Start Friendly Program At Yale

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Yale University policemen have decided to stop chasing away the youngsters who hang around the campus getting into trouble, and instead make friends with them.

The theory is simple: stop the futile approach of chasing them. Instead, the police will welcome them into a program in which the officers may help the youths to change direction at a crucial point in their lives.

Chief Louis Cappiello, who has an 11-year-old son — about the same age as the trouble-makers — said he began developing the program idea after getting to know some of their problems.

"When I talk to the kids I find they don't have facilities or recreation to keep them interested. They're just hanging around," he said.

Hanging around leads to shoplifting and other petty thievery, trespassing and countless other problems.

Cappiello said he would scold the budding criminals when they were caught but he often ended up buying them ice cream.

Starting with a nucleus of those campus "ne'er-do-wells" aged 9 to 12 and adding other inner city youths, Cappiello has organized a group of 20 boys for the program.

Baseball games are planned, followed by summer cookouts at Yale's recreation center in the shore town of Old Lyme. Cappiello hopes that by fall some of today's problem kids will be helping pass out football programs at the Yale Bowl. Some even may be anxious by then for some academic tutoring, he said.

American Businesses Leave Investments Totaling $60 Million In South Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — American businesses left investments totaling upwards of $60 million when they withdrew from Vietnam.

The investments left behind are potentially direct losses to the companies since private investment is not part of an estimated $150 billion in military equipment, housing, and supplies paid for by the U.S. government as part of its war effort in Vietnam.

However, the companies said they successfully evacuated all of their American employees and their families and many Vietnamese employees before Saigon surrendered to the Viet Cong. The companies include oil firms, banks, manufacturers and an airline.

The state department says there is no comprehensive list of what U.S. companies left behind in Indochina. But the list includes a sewing machine assembly plant, office equipment, fuel tanks, a dairy products plant, some bulky airline equipment and loans to Vietnamese businesses and individuals.

Multi-million dollar investments in oil drilling operations off the coast of South Vietnam on property leased from the former South Vietnamese government account for much of the money.

Arrangements vary widely, but the operation of many of the companies was turned over to Vietnamese employees who planned to stay or to the French for custodianship.

Much of what was left is considered lost. For example, the loans U.S. banks made to Vietnamese are generally considered "uncollectable" by the banks.

Hopes for recovering some of the investments were dimmed Thursday by a report from Saigon by the Cuban News Agency that the new government ordered the nationalization of all business and industry in Vietnam.

The oil companies have invested millions of dollars in oil exploration in the South China Sea. They do not know yet if they will be allowed to continue to supply the oil needs of Vietnam, which has little production and refining capacity of its own.

And Pan American World Airways left behind ground equipment of undetermined value to service the two scheduled flights per day plus charters it flew until recently into Saigon. It does not know if it will be invited to resume service there.

Among the U.S. companies which invested in Vietnam, the oil companies stand to lose the most.

Oil companies with investments in South Vietnam were: Exxon Corp.; Caltex, a joint venture of Texaco Inc. and Standard Oil Co. of California; Mobil Oil Corp., and Shell Oil Co.

Other firms with operations in Vietnam include: the Bank of America, First National City Bank, Chase Manhattan Bank, the Singer Co., International Business Machines Corp., and Foremost-McKesson Inc., maker of drugs and dairy products.

Government Proposes Some New Welfare Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today proposed cutting off payments to welfare mothers who refuse to help identify and track down the father of their children, but mothers who cooperate would be rewarded with cash bounties.

Rules proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare also would require all adult applicants or recipients of family welfare payments to obtain Social Security numbers and furnish those numbers to a welfare agency.

Those mothers who cooperated in identifying the missing fathers would be rewarded with cash incentives of up to $20 a month in child-support payments without any loss of welfare assistance. Support payments beyond the first $20 would then begin to reduce the amount of welfare payments to the family.

The public has 30 days to comment on the rules which take effect July 1.

If a mother refused to cooperate in locating the father of a child, establishing paternity of a child born out of wedlock and obtaining support payments, she would lose her share of the family's benefits.

The children's benefits, in such a case, would be handled by the local welfare agency or another third party.

Men Like Sex More Than Women Do, Researcher Says

By C. G. McDANIEL
CHICAGO (AP) — Men like sex a lot more than women do, a Maryland psychologist reports.

Even young women rate music, nature, family, job and travel higher than they rate sex, Dr. Paul Cameron reported at the Midwestern Psychological Association annual meeting Thursday.

But he said for men, sex is No. 1, at least until middle age, when it becomes tied for No. 2.

Cameron and a colleague, Patti Fleming, of St. Mary's College of Maryland in St. Mary's City, asked 818 men and women in Los Angeles, Louisville, Ky., and southern Maryland to rank 22 daily activities in order of importance.

These included eating, watching television, smoking, church work, housework, sexual activity and so forth.

Men under age 25 ranked music and sex in a first place tie. Those 26 to 39 ranked sex alone as No. 1. Those 40 to 55 ranked family first, and nature and sex second.

Between the ages of 56 and 64, employment ranked No.

1 with men, with sex and sports tied for eighth place.

After age 64, sex ranked 15th, again tied with sports.

None of the age groups of women ranked sex as their primary interest.

Those under 26 ranked music, nature, family and travel ahead of sex. Between 26 and 39, they ranked sex in fourth place, after family, nature and travel and music.

Middle aged women even ranked housework, sleeping and television ahead of sex. For them family came first. Sex was 11th. And it was about the same for women 56 to 64, who ranked sex 13th, and for older women, who ranked it 17th.

Cameron said that for both men and women, greater sexual pleasure was reported by those with the highest level of education. Income was not found to be related.

The psychologist said that "even though the 'sexual revolution' is upon us... our results suggest that females just don't like sex as much as males."

The psychologist said results of the study support the claim widely made by women that "all you men are ever interested in is sex."

'Knights' One Of MCT's Best Shows

"The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia" now onstage at Theatre Centre is one of the three or four (or at least half-dozen) best shows I've seen here.

A strong statement? Let it stand, nevertheless. Because "Knights," along with "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" and "How the Other Half Loves" and a few others, provided for me the kind of special (and specially refreshing) theatrical evening that doesn't come about all that often. Which points up the fact that a community theater doesn't have to (and shouldn't be expected to) serve up endless "Odd Couples" and "Star Spangled Girls" and "Drink to Me Only."

But the strengths of Jones' play also may be its weakness. As a kind of compassionate parody of a segment of West Texas (or Southwestern) smalltown life, "Knights" may strike fire with Texas (or, again, Southwestern) audiences. But as a vehicle for the greater world outside, "Knights" will probably not be exactly a socko item. There is a delicate balance here between what is relevant and interesting to regional eyes and ears and what will interest theater-goers elsewhere in the way of Texas manners or mores. Granted, up to a point the characters in "Knights" have their counterparts across the nation and elsewhere, but Jones' comedy is really pretty much an "inside" piece.

Be that as it may, as a West Texan, I find "Knights" one of the funniest plays ever about West Texas. While we laugh mightily at the play's characters and their foolish notions, and their peculiarly West Texan idioms and references, we also feel compassion for dullness of their lives and their limited viewpoints and, in the end, we cannot help feeling sad that something which has meant so much to so many has degenerated to the point where it means so little to so few.

"Knights" is a play that Midland Community Theatre Art Cole strongly believes in, and his devotion certainly saw to the excellent framing of the play's cast. There is careful staging and direction here, many small but excellent bits of "business" to heighten characterizations, much careful attention to details large and small.

Cole's cast is an exceedingly strong one—even though not all members are West Texans! Charles Sutton and Glen Thompson are excellent as the abrasive Red Grover and the senile Col. Kincaid respectively. Gary Askins comes on strong as the alcoholic who fools nobody but himself, and Aaron Cranford and Carl Ward are so "West Texan" and convincing in their roles as Rufus Phelps and Olin Potts that it's almost uncanny. Conrad Coffield Jr., is quite good as the not-too-bright candidate for initiation, Lonnie Roy McNeil, and Ray Henderson and Don Shivers are other members of the fraternal organization turning in excellent characterizations. In the end, though, perhaps the strongest character in the entire show is Marcine Reddick as Ramsey eyes, the hotel custodian.

"Knights" will have performances at 8:30 p.m. today and Saturday, with additional presentations next weekend and the week after. Seats for all performances are available at the Theatre Centre.

Recession Can Take Credit For Decreased Energy Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — When U.S. energy use dropped last year, delighted government officials hoped it was the start of a new trend.

But statistics indicate that the economic recession was more responsible than anything else for the decline. Thus, energy use is expected to start climbing again when the economy rebounds.

The Department of the Interior announced last month that U.S. energy consumption fell 2.2 per cent during 1974. Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said he was "delighted and frankly gratified — at this drop. I hope we are seeing the start of a new trend."

Energy use, however, historically has been linked to Gross National Product — the value of goods and services produced by the economy.

And for 1974, the GNP was down from 1973 by the same 2.2 per cent that energy use fell.

Roger Sant, the Federal Energy Administration's assistant administrator for conservation and environment, said in an interview he takes last year's energy consumption figures "neither with encouragement nor discouragement."

Sant contends, however, that one year is too short a period in which to expect conclusive results.

When 1974 energy-use figures were announced, Morton cited five causes for the decline in usage: Arab oil embargo, higher prices, economic slowdown, successful conservation efforts and favorable weather.

No government experts could be located, however, who had calculated just how much of the decrease was attributable to each cause.

"Because there are so many variables, we don't know which caused what," said Sant.

For future savings, the Ford administration and Democratic congressional leaders are pushing a policy that depends in significant part on curbing use through higher prices. Elements of that plan, now being studied in Congress, include deregulation of certain gas and oil prices, higher fees on imported oil, higher gasoline taxes and excise taxes on gas-guzzling autos.

Sant acknowledged that his office has trimmed some of its earlier estimates on how much price rises would cut consumption of energy, but he still maintains: "The price has to have some effect."

The relationship of demand to price is called price elasticity. Sant's experts now figure that, for every 10 per cent rise in price, a 1 per cent saving in energy will result over a one-year period.

If, for example, you now spend 60 cents a gallon for gasoline and use 50 gallons a month, these elasticity predictions say that, if the price rose to 66 cents per gallon, you'd trim your usage to 49.5 gallons a month. That might be the equivalent of one less trip to the supermarket.

Sant said energy figures for 1974 reflect hardly any conservation in industry but instead simply show curtailment of energy.

"But equipment is getting in place and changes are under way now, so that conservation will replace curtailment," he said.

"Knights" will have performances at 8:30 p.m. today and Saturday, with additional presentations next weekend and the week after. Seats for all performances are available at the Theatre Centre.

All-Day Fly-In Slated At Andrews

ANDREWS—A free all-day fly-in is slated for Sunday at the Andrews County Airport, starting with a 7:30 a.m. breakfast in the civic center near the airport.

All area pilots who fly into the airport Sunday morning will be served a free breakfast prior to the competitions and afternoon air show.

The show will be free to the public, and a noon barbecue will be served by the Andrews-Messquite Burners in the civic center, starting at 12:30 p.m.

Acrobatic entrants include Rob Satterfield, Doug Warren, Doctor "Doc" McCollough of Levelland and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Bates. Also expected as an acrobatic pilot will be race car driver Jim Hall of Odessa.

Plainview, Lubbock, Seguin, Midland and Amarillo are just a few of the aviation centers sending planes in for the event, according to the Andrews County Chamber of Commerce.

Trophies for the oldest, youngest and longest traveled fly-in pilots will be presented at the fly-in, plus additional trophies for practice bomb runs and other special events.

An airport spokesman said no radio will be required for fly-ins due to some of the older planes. The airport will be closed while the show is in progress.

Mrs. Zimmermann's Services Saturday

Services for Mrs. Richard L. (Iona) Zimmermann, 50, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in St. Luke's United Methodist Church with the Rev. Billy Wilkinson officiating. Interment will be in Sunset Memorial Gardens at Odessa directed by Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

Mrs. Zimmermann was dead on arrival Thursday morning at a Midland hospital. She was born Nov. 24, 1924, at Larue and was reared there and at Dallas. A graduate of the Dallas Methodist School of Nursing, she served as an Army nurse in Europe during World War II.

She was married to Zimmermann June 1, 1947, at Bremerton, Germany. They moved to Midland last August from Houston. She was a member of the Women's Golf Association of Midland and St. Luke's United Methodist Church. Survivors include the husband; a son, Robert L. Zimmermann of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Lee Windsor of Dallas; her mother, Mrs. Mable Smith of Midland, and a grandson.

Pallbearers will be Johnny McDonald, Don Vaughan, Ed Lowrey, Gregg Hardless, Muek Worcester and Elmer Joe Johnson.

Acuff Man Released On Bond Of $10,000

A Lubbock area man indicted by a Midland County Grand Jury last month for swindling two Lubbock men out of $40,000 is free on a $10,000 bond following the recent serving of his indictment and capias, Mickey Clark, sheriff's chief criminal investigator, said.

The man, Don Wilkins, 48, of the Acuff community east of the South Plains city, is charged with soliciting the money in exchange for a bonanza of gold coins and diamonds.

But, so the indictment alleges, the money changed hands—from Moreland Martin and Johnnie Dean Lusby to Wilkins. Martin and Lusby claim they were hoodwinked into believing that an elderly Midland man in dire need of ready cash for tax purposes would give up his gold coins and diamonds for the $40,000.

The exchange for the gems and coins was to take place via a bank safety deposit box. Other indictments handed down by the grand jury included: —Buddy Ray York of E-Z Way Food Store, 1101 E. Scharbauer

Hike-Bike-Ride Beginning Here Saturday Morning

The 1975 Hike-Bike-Ride for the Retarded of Midland is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the Opportunity Center, A and Ventura streets.

The route will extend 20 miles for hikers and horseback riders, while bicyclists may make as many laps as they choose along the loop laid out for the event. Co-chairing the event will be Midlanders Judy Rankin, a professional golfer, and Tom Brahaney of the St. Louis Cardinals football team.

Anyone who walks, rides a bicycle, or a horse can participate by getting pledges from persons or businesses who will sponsor him as a hiker, biker or rider.

The objective is for individuals to pace themselves, while the sponsor pledges to match the number of miles traveled by his contestant. There is no limit to the number of sponsors each participant may have. Midland businessmen and individuals have contributed over 50 prizes, with a 10-speed bicycle being the first prize.

Registration forms may be obtained from First National Bank, Love's Burger Train, Midland County Library, the Opportunity Center and the office of the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens.

A campaign to raise funds for retarded children and adults, the Hike-Bike-Ride is sponsored by Midland chapters of Teen's Aid the Retarded (TARS) and the Association for Retarded Citizens.

"Remember," Mrs. Rankin said, "we have our title to defend. We were first in the nation last year by raising $9,600. Of course, we expect to keep the trophy in Midland."

Post Office Suspends Service To S. Vietnam

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A temporary suspension of service has been placed on all classes of civil mail destined for South Vietnam, effective immediately, the U.S. Postal Service has announced.

The action was made necessary by an indefinite suspension of commercial transportation into South Vietnam.

All mail bound for South Vietnam will be returned to the sender, the Postal Service said. Mail that is returned due to suspension of service will be marked "service temporarily suspended." Postal customers having such mail returned may take it to a post office and receive a refund on the postage.

The Postal Service said mail without a return address involved in the service-suspension will be sent to the Dead Letter Office.

Lone Star Gas Rate Hike OK'd

AUSTIN (AP)—Railroad Commission members said today that Lone Star Gas Co. can increase its natural gas distribution charges by 8.83 cents per thousand cubic feet.

The increase, classified as an "interim order," will be in effect until the commission makes a final decision on Lone Star's request for authorization to pass on to customers each month 100 per cent of the increased gas costs.

The increase became effective May 1.

Briscoe Loses Round In School Financing Dispute To Teachers

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has lost a round in the school finance dispute to the Texas State Teachers Association. If he is serious about his own plan, he must carry the fight to the House floor.

The House Public Education Committee rejected a bill embodying Briscoe's weighted pupil approach Thursday night, 7-5. It voted to the floor the TSTA bill that includes a $10,000 minimum salary for brand new teachers.

House Speaker Bill Clayton indicated the bill would not reach the debate calendar until May 12, giving Briscoe plenty of time to work for support for his plan.

Money Major Problem
Money is a crucial problem. Briscoe's $800 million measure probably could be financed within his no-new-taxes restriction, while the estimated $800 million to $1 billion cost of the TSTA bill could not.

The compromise bill worked out between Briscoe and House leaders would give all teachers an across-the-board salary increase of $1,400, lifting the minimum to $8,000.

Both Briscoe's bill and the TSTA measure contain provisions designed to alleviate what virtually all agree are gross inequities between property-rich and property-poor districts in the quality of their schools.

Leeway Provided
Both provide "local leeway" money—additional state funds to make up the difference between a specified enrichment funds goal and what a modest additional tax effort in a district would produce.

Both would base state aid entirely on a district's taxing ability, measured by market value of taxable property. Briscoe's bill would not fully implement that method, however, until 1977, while the TSTA bill would start it immediately, using whatever figures the State Board of Education can obtain until accurate appraisals can be made.

Difference Cited
The major difference lies in Briscoe's proposed weighted pupil approach for determining total state-local expenditures in each district.

A district with many pupils in expensive vocational and special education programs would spend more money than one in which most are in relatively cheap conventional classrooms. This would be determined by multiplying figures reflecting the different "weights" for such programs by dollar amounts based on actual spending by 42 leading Texas districts.

Approach Continued
The Kubiak-TSTA bill continues the present approach under which total Foundation School Program spending is based on so many dollars per classroom teacher unit.

Evidently in recognition of the growing teacher surplus, the bill would reduce average teacher-pupil ratios for grades 4-12 from one-to-25 now to one-to-24 in 1977-78 and one-to-23 in 1978-79.

Ratios for kindergarten through third grade would drop from one-to-24 now to one-to-20 by 1978-79, decreasing in stages.

The bill would plow more state money into district allowances for maintenance, operations and school bus costs.

How They Voted
On the crucial choice between the compromise Briscoe bill, recommended by a subcommittee that worked on school finance for a month, and the TSTA bill, these members voted with the TSTA: Reps. Frank Madla, D-San Antonio; Al Brown, D-San Antonio; Jim Clark, D-Houston; Kubiak; R. B. McAlister, D-Lubbock; T. H. McDonald, D-Mesquite; and George Preston, D-Paris.

Voting for the Briscoe bill were Reps. Herman Adams, D-Silbes; Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston; Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin; Joe Pentony, D-Houston; and Ruben Torres, D-Port Isabel.

"My whole object was to place on the table (defeat) the weighted pupil concept," said Kubiak, whose bill does, however, contain $10 million for a pilot program testing the concept.

He and Clayton both said they expect the House to trim the minimum teacher salary to $8,000, but TSTA Executive Secretary Caille Smith said TSTA intended to work hard to keep it at $10,000.

Beware Of Taking Wrong Finesse

Most players make mistakes in finessing. Some finesse too seldom; some, too often. Still others have an instinct that tells them when to take the wrong finesse.

Develop Diamonds
You start the hand with eight tricks in top cards. Your best chance for the ninth trick is to develop a low diamond. Since the only threat is the spade suit, your problem is to develop the diamonds without letting West run the spades.

But that way, the problem has an easy solution. Play a low spade from dummy at the first trick, and win in your hand with the ace. Now lead a diamond and finesse with dummy's nine.

You expect this finesse to lose, and it does. But East cannot safely lead spades while dummy still has the queen. Your diamond trick is now established, and you have nine sure tricks.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K 10 2 H-Q 9 8 4 D-J 10 8 7 C-9 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart. The hand is worth one response, and the question is whether to bid your hearts or raise partner's diamonds. Show a major suit rather than raise a minor.

Senate Approves Fee Increase Bill

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson of Midland gained quick Senate passage of a bill to increase the registration fees for engineers.

The bill, authored by Rep. Chris Semos of Dallas, goes to Gov. Dolph Briscoe for his signature.

Snelson told the Senate that the bill has engineers renew licenses every two years instead of every year. It increases the original licensing fee from $25 to $50 and increases the renewal fee from $10 to $45. The measure passed the Senate 30-0.
