HERE ARE STEPS BY WHICH CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR SEEK TO CLIMB TO CHAIR

Local Politics Pick Up; Candidates Get Hot; 'Hot Air' Bets Turn Atmosphere Blue.

Candidates for county offices are making their last appeal to the voters here this week. Election interests are centered mostly on the offices of sheriff and commissioners. Up until the past week, little attention has been paid to politics, but as the time draws near for the people to go to the polls, money, marbles and chalk are being placed on favorites, even though most of the wagers are "talk." "I bet you—blah, blah—" can be heard on all sides, but the world goes on just the same.

Predictions are that the vote in the first primary will be as heavy as in 1928, when practically every voter in the county went to the polls. A summary of the gubernatorial candidates by United Press is as follows:

Eleven to choose from and no more than two can enter the gates to the second primary at the polls next Saturday. That's the situation that faces the voters in the gubernatorial campaign. Here, in a nutshell, is what the candidates are for and against:

Ross Sterling: Supports state-wide road bond issue. Has comprehensive plans for prison, tax, agricultural marketing, departmental and court reform. Favors conservation of natural resources and public utility regulation.

James Young: Hearty support to prohibition. Fights for democratic harmony and protection of party integrity. Advocates new tax shifting burden from home and land owners to industries and natural resources. Opposes income tax and road bond issue.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferriss: Favors law prohibiting any person drinking liquor illegally obtained from holding public office. Would reduce governmental expenses by employing "business administration." Would combine offices of tax assessor and collector. Wants quarterly payment of taxes. Opposed to issuance of state bonds.

Thomas B. Love: Would seek to abandon ad valorem tax for state purposes. Wants tax on natural resources. Favors road bond issue if framed so it will reduce existing taxes for road funds. Favors creation of fact-finding agency governing utilities.

Clint C. Small: Would "debunk" politics. Favors retention of ad valorem tax. Opposes state road bonds. Favors retaining appointive highway commission. Opposes state road bonds. Wants separate commission as arbiter on public utility disputes.

C. C. Moody: Opposes road bonds. Would improve present penitentiary system. Favors lightening taxes on people.

Earle B. Mayfield: For strict law enforcement and purity of ballot. Wants court reform. Opposes chain stores. Favors redistribution of state tax load, relieving property of ad valorem tax. Favors elective highway commission. Denounces state road bonds.

Barry Miller: For redistribution of tax load. Opposes income tax. Wants appointive highway commission. Opposes bond issue. Favors reimbursing counties for money spent constructing state highways.

Frank Putnam: Would do away with prohibition and liberate convicts sentenced under the Dean act provisions. More liberal support of education institutions, charitable institutions and eventually old age pensions. Opposes state bonds. Would authorize railroad

Rains Break Up Dry Period And Improve Outlook

Large sections of the Panhandle were soaked Tuesday when rain fell over large areas, some receiving as much as two inches. At Clovis, N. M., 3.85 inches of rain fell in short time, flooding streets and roads. In the West Camp community about one inch was reported. No rain fell in this immediate vicinity Tuesday, but a total of 34 inches was recorded here for Monday and Wednesday nights. A good rain was reported at Lariat Monday night which extended over a large territory to the west and north of Muleshoe. This rain will be of great aid to growing crops which were beginning to suffer in many sections.

Dallas Randall On Trial For Morton Slaying

The trial of Dallas Randall at Farwell was nearing a close Wednesday afternoon, according to information received from there. Some difficulty was experienced in obtaining a jury, and a total of 165 special veniremen were called before a jury was finally selected. It was thought that the case would be decided by Thursday morning, as a special session was to be held Wednesday night. Randall was charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Nathan Morton near Friona last December. Morton died of wounds from a knife alleged to have been in the hands of Randall during an altercation last Christmas day on a farm near Friona.

Constitutional Amendments

In this issue of The Journal will be found four proposed Constitutional Amendments which are to be voted on by the qualified electors of the State of Texas, November 4th, 1930.

The State has these proposed amendments published for various reasons. One reason is that all citizens and qualified electors may be informed as to the subject on which they are voting. These amendments will run four times, so that there will be no plausible excuse for anyone not knowing how to vote when he or she goes to the polls on November 4.

Invariably, after an election, whether it be state, county or city, some people are heard to complain about the way the government is doing things, about the inefficiency of this official or that, or about this or that law. Ordinarily the voters have a part in all these things, but many of them wait until the singing is over to ask what it is all about, then put in the remainder of their days in the 'anvil chorus.'

Now is the time to get yourself informed on the amendments which are to come up this fall. You might possibly be in favor of them all, or you might not care to approve any of them. We are of the opinion that at least one of them is going to mean a great deal to the people of this State. Read S. J. R. No. 19 NOW, and if you do not understand it thoroughly, get information about it from some reliable party who does.

SHOWER COMPLIMENT

Miss Ellen Abbott entertained Thursday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mather, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Foust who had just returned from their wedding trip. After several games of forty-two the hostess, assisted by Miss Verdie Griffiths, served delicious refreshments. A basket heavy laden with useful and beautiful gifts was presented to the bride and groom. The guests departed at a late hour thanking the hostess for a most delightful evening.

Panhandle Census Figures Double In Past Ten Years

The sensational increase in population for the Eighteenth Congressional District in something for any section of the State to be proud of, says the Amarillo News, and gives the figures as follows:

Just missing 100 per cent increase in population in 10 years by a hair's breadth, the 53 counties comprising the Eighteenth Congressional district leads the rest of the pack in growth and development, gives a definite reason why the Panhandle has been the white spot on the economic map for long months past, and has set a record for the rest of the country to shoot at.

The exact increase is 98 per cent, plus. Those who delight in delving into fractions may have a thrill in figuring the exact amount. In the actual counting of noses the figures show 256,494 people in the district 10 years ago, while at present the number is 508,322—almost double.

Only one county in the district, Roberts, showed a decrease, and that decrease consisted of exactly 17 people. Some tremendous increases were noted in individual cases, such as Cochran, Dawson, Gray, Hale, Hookley, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn Potter and Terry. With the single exception, the district as a whole presents a 10-year picture of marvelous growth and development.

The census population of the entire state is 5,810,683, an increase of 24 per cent for the last decade. Estimates made in Fort Worth, covering 114 West Texas counties, including Tarrant, show 32 per cent.

So the Panhandle district leads the total West's figure by more than three to one, and the state as a whole by more than four to one.

Border Smugglers Use Barrels And Dogs In Traffic

Harlingen, Texas, July 10.—Frustration of the attempts of liquor runners to transport liquor out of the Laredo and lower Rio Grande Valley country isn't so difficult, for only two routes lead out of this 225-mile stretch of the Rio Grande. But interrupting the continual stream of liquor across the river to the border country is another matter.

Liquor smuggling has become a pastime with many Mexicans. They are not dull—these characters—and their chief delight is hoodwinking the border patrol and prohibition officers. To do that, they are continually involving novel schemes that will keep them at least one jump ahead of the United States agents.

And because of that, enforcement officers say that attempts to smuggle any considerable quantity of liquor across the numerous international bridges long since has been abandoned. So has the use of boats, which are found to be cumbersome.

The nearest wrinkle, enforcement officers say, was one encountered recently. A barrel filled with bottled liquors, was sealed airtight on the Mexican side and placed in the river. The barrel barely showed above the water. It was easy for a Mexican swimmer to push it across one of the many desolate stretches in the lower Rio Grande territory. If swimming the river becomes too risky, it is a simple matter to tie a light rope to a dog and send him across. The receiver on the Texas side then can station himself perhaps one hundred yards away in the underbrush and pull the consignment across.

Nor is that the only purpose to which dogs are put. It is known that they had been used to bring across consignments of morphine, heroin and other drugs, each of which would run into thousands of dollars. The inherent trait of yelping, however, makes them worthless where the river is patrolled frequently.

Not all of the liquor that flows across the Rio Grande is bottled in the brewery where the label indicates. In fact, enforcement agents believe, the majority of it is not and for that reason is very unsanitary. Mescal and tequila especially, two popular liquors in the border country, often are brought across in goats' stomachs and bladders. The consignment is lighter and less bulky that way, and it is a simple matter to bottle and label it at some adobe hut hidden in the thick, almost impenetrable brush.

Despite their efforts to prevent it, government agents know that considerable liquor is seeping into Central and North Texas. While the two highways are well watched last year, a steady stream was slipping through. It had them mystified until a carlot shipment of what was purported to be Rio Grande Valley cabbage was entered in Oklahoma and found to consist largely of liquor. Crates of cabbage lined the walls of the car, but inside were hundreds of cases of liquor which was valued at many thousands of dollars.

The owner was never apprehended. However, a check of the records showed that several other cars had been billed out earlier in the season by the same shipper, and it is presumed that these were filled with liquor. With that discovery prohibition agents began to wonder what portion of the more than 25,000 cars of fruits and vegetables shipped out annually from this section consisted of liquor.

The Very Latest

For several reasons the two piece suit, if included in the wardrobe at all, has been restricted to spring and autumn. Dresses worn without wraps or with a thin silk wrap have been the usual choice for summer. With the jacket suit playing a leading role throughout the spring it is only natural to expect a continued interest in this sort of thing throughout the warmer weeks, and there is a place in every woman's wardrobe for at least one such costume.

The suit shown in the sketch today is of the last described sort and a more practical all-occasion suit for the more mature woman could not well be found. To make a costume of this sort at home requires no unusual dress-making talents, while the cost of ready made suits of the sort is unusually reasonable this season.

THE "LOWER" HOUSE

Most observers of public affairs will agree with Mr. Coolidge in his recent statement that in the Congress which adjourned the other day the House of Representatives proved itself the saner and more statesmanlike of the two houses and went far toward regaining its former prestige.

Certainly the performance of the United States Senate is nothing for the nation to be proud of. Instead of being the sedate, deliberate body which it was intended to be and was for many years, the Senate has become the forum for the wildest and most irresponsible demagoguery. This is a condition which cannot be entirely blamed, perhaps, upon the so-called "popular" election of Senators; but certainly a considerable number of Senators, whom we might name, could never have got into the Senate in the old days when the State Legislatures chose the members of the so-called "Upper" House.

It was the House of Representatives which was responsible for practically all of the constructive legislation which the 71st Congress has enacted thus far. While Senators of both parties were posing for individual effect and taking every possible opportunity to give the President a slap in the face, the House of Representatives went about the public business in a business-like way and stood firmly against the wildest and most impractical proposals of the Senate.

The attempt to assert the authority and dominance of the Senate and to reduce the Presidency to the status of an office boy has had some curious manifestations, but has aroused the laughter and derision of the public more than its sympathies. The rejection of the President's first nominee for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge Davis, was much more an attempt "to put the President in his place" than because of any real objection to Judge Davis.

No wonder that President Hoover said, when informed of the birth of his latest granddaughter, "I'm glad she doesn't have to be confirmed by the Senate."

The Senate controls all important patronage, under the Constitutional clause requiring its "advice and consent" to the major Presidential appointments. But in the last few weeks of the session it became apparent, even to Senators, that the country was resentful of the Senate's antics. The President wisely refrained from trying to crack the whip over them. Apparently he thought that if he gave the Senate enough rope it would hang itself; and that is what happened, so far as the respect of the people is concerned.

Chicago Man Marvels at Amazing World of Today.

Chicago.—A young man on his honeymoon was stricken with total blindness—thirty years ago.

One day recently, his vision suddenly restored, he sat bewildered by the side of the woman who for three decades had been his guide, his companion and his wife, and—until he closed his eyes again—she seemed unreal.

Three days before the man—J. F. Fish, 2428 North Sawyer avenue—sensed the beginning of the miracle that was coming to him.

He was in his own living room. His wife was there. The feeling he had was as if a black curtain before his eyes became less black at the lower edge and a misty gray border grew.

For some time he considered this without saying anything. Probably it was just an illusion, he thought. But the gray border widened. It became translucent—and then—transparent. He exclaimed:

"My dear, I believe—I really believe that I am beginning to see!" She started up—then resumed her seat. Her pulse beat fast. But his was beating faster. He continued: "There are vague shapes. The outline of a door—over there—a chair—is that your hand on the back of the chair?"

Swiftly the whole of the old black curtain seemed to be drawn aside, and the eyes behind the curtains—eyes which last had "joked upon the world in the year 1897"—saw the amazing world of today.

Mr. Fish is the head and founder of the Northwestern Business college. When students and teachers come to his office now he closes his eyes "in order to recognize them more readily—because his ears are better trained than his eyes."

The original loss of his vision was the result of a blow on the head. The restoration was time's slow healing of that injury.

Entries Urged For National Canning Contest

Six hundred dollars for a quart of canned goods! Can one jar of food be worth that?

This is a question that is agitating Muleshoe homemakers since word got around that six hundred dollars in cash would be paid for the best jar of fruit, vegetables or meat entered in the second National Canning Contest which is being held at Shenandoah, Iowa.

The contest seeks to further the work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the home demonstration agents throughout the country by focusing the attention of American housewives on the economy and healthfulness of home canned foods.

First prize winner in the National Canning Contest last year was Mrs. Mary Hvass, Kennan, Wisconsin, farm woman, whose entry of a quart jar of green peas was chosen as the best entered by the girls and women from all sections of the United States.

The holding of the contest in Iowa this year is due to the influence of Henry Field, Shenandoah farmer, merchant and KPNP announcer, whose career is one of romance of American life.

Four hundred and seventy prizes totalling $4,250 in cash, loving cups and ribbons, will be distributed to the winners of the contest, which comprises three major divisions; fruits, vegetables and meats. The best entry in each division will be awarded $100, one of these will also receive the five-hundred dollar sweepstakes prize. Second prize in each division will be $50, the third prize $25, and fourth prize $10. The winners will also receive loving cups and ribbons. There will be many small prizes and in addition, five hundred dollars in cash will be awarded to the home demonstration agent whose county sends in the largest number of entries.

The contest is open to every woman and girl in the United States. There are no restrictions as to the nature of the food sent. Contestants may enter one, two or all three divisions. Entries should be sent as soon as possible after canning. These will be placed and kept on exhibition until after the closing of the contest October 1st.

Mrs. Luther Ragsdale is spending a few days vacation in New Mexico, leaving this week.

SKELETON OF INDIAN CHIEF-TAIN HAS BEEN UNCOVERED

Canyon, Texas.—Removed from the place where he was laid to rest, preparatory to his departure to the happy hunting grounds, a skeleton, that of an early plains Indian chieftain, found in Collinsworth county recently, will be placed in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, located here.

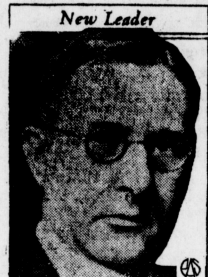

By all the evidence surrounding the dead chief, one is led to believe that the skeleton has been buried at least 75 years. The flint rock still remained in the flint gun that was buried beside the tribal leader.

As it was the custom to bury personal belongings beside the dead of an Indian tribe, a large number of articles were found by the side of the departed Indian warrior.

Wood spent Sunday in the Rackley home.

Congressman Marvin Jones

In the coming primary, the Democrats of the Eighteenth Congressional District, composed of fifty-three Northwest counties, will no doubt show their appreciation of a conscientious, wise and capable public servant by voting for Marvin Jones for Congress.

Mr. Jones was first elected in 1917 and has served continuously since that time. By native ability and through industry and experience he has become one of the most effective and highly respected men in the House.

If the entire House of Representatives were composed of men like Marvin Jones the standing of the National Congress would be a source of general pride. Mr. Jones does not seek the limelight. He does not speak merely to get into the record, but when he does speak he has something to say, and the members of the House always listen to him.

Mr. Jones has had very little opposition, and in the few instances when it has developed, his opponent has accepted defeat with very little surprise, and everybody seemed to have a good time. His merit is recognized, and each added year finds Mr. Jones more strongly entrenched in the confidence and esteem of his constituents. Even those who disagree with him occasionally on national questions are proud of the manner in which he serves all of the people of the district, and of the record he has made.

The people of the Plains are always glad to support Marvin Jones.

THERE'S MORE TO THIS TIRE THAN Mileage, MISTER!

Low price, for one thing . . . and that significant name "Goodrich" on the sidewall!

YOU CAN'T BEAT OUR PRICE
for Goodrich Quality Mileage that cost you 38c in 1920 now costs you ONLY 4c, at the prices now in effect on Goodrich Silvertowns.
COME IN TODAY

MILEAGE? Sure there's mileage in the Cavalier! Plenty of it . . . and every bit the kind that lets you forget you've got tires on your car! But mileage is only part of the story of Cavaliers. There are low prices to think about, too. Real savings, in cold hard cash. And right there on the sidewall that significant name Goodrich! Assurance of quality . . . value . . . ability to take punishment!

For Goodrich puts its name on only one kind of tire . . . the kind that stands up in spite of punishment, high speeds, bad roads. The kind that takes its own good time about wearing out . . . and keeps you from worrying about it. That's the kind of a tire the Cavalier is. Big, Husky. Oversize in air cushion and tread thickness. Stout in the sidewalls. Water-cured for through-and-through toughness. And mighty good looking on your car. You can forget about mileage. That goes for granted with any Goodrich Tire. Just remember the low prices and the fact that they're backed by Goodrich. Come in . . . see them. We have them in all sizes . . . including a couple for trucks.

DEBORAH—A LEADER IN A NATIONAL EMERGENCY Judges 4:1-10

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Early mistakes can cause many calamities in later years. It was just this way in the history of the Israelites during their conquest of the Promised Land. When Joshua was commissioned to cross the Jordan and possess the land he was told to drive out all the natives who were gross in their idolatries. All too soon the Hebrews were content with the limited area they had allotted to the various tribes, whereas the promise was that they would be victors wherever their feet would tread as they went forward in conquest. Because they stopped short of the command of God almost continuous problems resulted.

Soon the various peoples that were permitted to remain in the land sought to intermarry and then to interest the Jehovahites in taking up the forms of licentious worship which were indigenous. These made a strong appeal to the flesh and this made them attractive. Further, tribute was levied for the sake of non-attack, or marauding took place after the crops had been garnered. Only when the new inhabitants were all but re-enslaved did they remember from whence God had delivered them in freeing them from the burdens they had to bear in the land of Egypt. Then, though late, they would turn to the Lord and cry out for His divine help. God's way was to raise up some deliverer who is called a judge. There are at least a dozen of these judges, beginning with Othniel and reaching to the time of Samson and Samuel.

Through there were many good men in Israel, this time God will act through Deborah. She was a woman worthy in her own home. Soon her

I shall never swear out a warrant for any man's arrest who does not interfere with my rights unjustly. But I have a right to say to my patient, my friend, my neighbor, "If you are no better custodian of your most precious possessions—life, health and happiness—than to fritter them away drinking "jake" and corn whiskey, then take the consequences, and blame nobody but yourself." I might say that tincture of arsenic would do a quicker, cleaner job for you—and save your family a lot of worry! I have no use for jake even for medicine.

The average domestic consumption of electricity in the United States is thirty-one dollars.

influence extended to the community and the people sought her advice as she held a kind of court under the conveniently located palm tree. Being attentive to the voice of God she understood that through her leadership Israel would be delivered from the oppression of Jabin, who often terrorized the colonists by his display of those one thousand chariots of iron. A good leader assigns work to others and Barak was commissioned to assemble ten thousand from the tribes of Israel at Mount Tabor.

When the enemy came forward to attack a God-sent storm broke in their midst—and the one thousand chariots of iron at once became a great liability and the dead were piled up in confusion at the crossing of the swollen Kishon river. It remained for another woman to destroy the enemy's general, Jael drove a tent pin through the temples of Sisera while he slept after a hearty meal. Thus Israel was again freed from the oppression of a neighboring people.

This is designated as the Quarterly Temperance Lesson and a significant application comes from the habits of the Israelites during this period of the Judges. They seemed to forget that the facts of the past must be taught to each new generation. The children in every age are the men and women of each to-morrow. These growing youth should have been instructed in the commands of God and further reminded that disobedience would bring oppression from the surrounding peoples. Experience is too costly when each age learns matters anew. There has been unbelievable progress in freeing the nation from the curse of the organized liquor traffic. Prohibition is about the liveliest news in the daily press. One of the greatest needs today is that there shall be more teaching to youth that alcohol is a poison and its use as a beverage is detrimental to life, society and morals.

is addressed to the motorist who has never said "Ethyl" to the Conoco salesman

WE realize that nothing we can say in this advertisement will cause you to prefer CONOCO Ethyl Gasoline if you haven't already tried it. You'll like the swift pick-up on formidable hills... the uncompromising and instant unleashing of power when you accelerate... the utter absence of vexatious knocking... the infrequency of having to shift gears.

CONOCO Gasoline is as good as the choice crude from two billion gallons and modern refineries can make it. But we, its makers, tell you that Ethyl adds the final touch, the essential resistance to "knocking," so that you may enjoy the instant starting, the flashing acceleration, and the rushing power which each gallon of CONOCO Gasoline has for you.

Try your first tank full of CONOCO Ethyl at any Red Triangle Station. And then make up your mind. If CONOCO Ethyl doesn't sell itself to you, we will never urge you to try it again.

Another Fine Victory Won By Konjola

Lady Was About To Give Up Hope Of Finding Escape From Stubborn Ills.

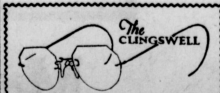

MRS. FLORA STANLEY

No wonder Konjola has won a million friends; no wonder seven million bottles were used in two years! Would you not like to know all about the medicine that wins such triumphs? Ask your druggist about it, but right now before you do anything else, read the words of Mrs. Flora Stanley, 315 North McMasters Street, Amarillo, Texas. Praising Konjola, Mrs. Stanley says:

"I was in miserable health for five years, the result of stomach, kidney and liver disorders. My back ached terribly and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. Gas formed after each meal, and I endured awful pains. Dizziness spells and bilious attacks were other sources of distress. My husband insisted that I try Konjola and now I have a good appetite, food digests as it should, dizziness and biliousness are gone and my weight is back to normal. We will always recommend Konjola after what it did for us."

"Konjola does work swiftly, yet a full treatment of from six to eight bottles is advised for best results. Konjola is sold in Muleshoe, Texas, at McCarty Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

NEARING HOME

By MARION WATSON
When a world of beauty is this Pacific Northwest! Each spot we visit seems fairer than the rest—and yet always new novelties, greater splendor lies ahead.

Just a week ago we steamed up the land-locked harbor of Vancouver and beheld the skyline of azure blue mountains silhouetted against myriads of snow-peaks glistening in the sun. Within the very limits of this city we found Grouse Mountain towering a mile in height, and Stanley Park, with its world-famous groves of mammoth fir.

On to Victoria, where ships of seven seas flanked us as we entered the post, and sea gulls, like homing pigeons, followed in our wake. Inspiring Parliament buildings welcomed us to a charming city of trim English architecture, lovely gardens, and beautiful homes—a city of leisure and quiet beauty, through whose streets swept the very breath of the sea.

Next, Seattle—high on a hill, with snow-capped Olympics to the west and the lofty, green clad Cascades to the east. A prosperous and fascinating metropolis, this—with its parks, University of Washington campus, and ship canal. Soaring into the sky from its horizon is the gleaming summit of Mt. Rainier, more than 14,000 feet in height.

The beauty of this mighty monarch has been preserved by Rainier National Park, a picturesque and imposing playground. Like a day in fairy land was our brief stay here—riding, hiking, enjoying the delicate beauty of flower-carpeted Paradise Valley, and finally climbing to the top of the world behind an Alaskan dog team to seek a night's shelter beneath the snow-capped gables of Paradise Inn. Arising the next morning to explore the jewel like ice-caves and gleaming glaciers, and to thrill at the great crevasses and precipitous slopes.

Then Aberdeen, with its huge lumber camps in the primeval wilderness where golden sundust flickers through the dense green cathedral spires and the vast silence of virgin forests is broken only by the shrill whistle of lumberjacks and the mighty thud of falling trees.

Hastening to Seaside, on the ocean to sport amid the white caps and see the strange, wild formations the ocean in its fury has heven from the rocky shore.

And finally Portland, "City of Roses" where forest, stream and mountain meet in a region of spectacular beauty and magnificence—where Mt. Hood towers in glorious splendor, palatial residences rest in flower bedecked settings, and the Columbia River, bordered by picturesque waterfalls, flows majestic to the sea. Here, amid this natural loveliness I shall tarry for a while before embarking on the more strenuous experience of life on a dude ranch.

Plans have been completed for the establishment of a poultry packing plant to be built in Big Spring, Texas, about September 1st. Farmers' Co-operative Association is putting it in.

The Way of Life by BRUCE BARTON

TOO MUCH PITY

A man who has won high distinction in his chosen field of labor came into my office not long ago. He walks with a limp, for one of his legs is shorter than the other.

He told me that for years he went around on crutches.

"I finally threw them away," he said, "and I'll tell you why. I got infernally tired of having people stop me to ask what had happened. I did not want sympathy. It did me no good, and slowed up my operations. I'm lame. I'll never be any better. But I can stand the lameness better than I can stand being pitted."

There is a great waste of pity in the world.

I know, for example, a couple who seem to be curiously mismatched. The woman is ten years older than the man. She is argumentative. She is not a very good housekeeper.

At least a hundred times I have heard somebody say: "I'm so sorry for Joe. He might have picked out a lovely young girl, and see what he went and did."

Now the simple fact is that the man and woman are exceedingly happy. I personally can't see what he finds attractive in her, nor why she should have chosen him. But it is none of my business, and I certainly am not going to waste sympathy on two folks who seem to like each other and to be perfectly satisfied.

I live a part of every year in the middle of Manhattan Island, and the rest of the time in a New England village. My Manhattan friends say: "What a terrible bore it must be to live in a little town. No theatres, no art galleries, no excitement. How I pity country people."

My village friends say: "I like to go to New York for a visit, but what a frightful place to live! Noise, and crime, and rush and expense! The poor folks who are crowded together in those big apartments just don't know what real living is. How I pity them."

What an absurd situation. What an emotional waste!

This seems to me to be a pretty good idea—don't weaken your emotional nature by pouring out pity unless you intend to do something about it.

Pity the sick and relieve them. Pity the poor, and divide with them. Sympathize with the struggles of youth and lend a helping hand.

But don't get into the foolish habit of being sorry for anybody who happens to be different from yourself. The chances are that he is spending an equal amount of his time being sorry for you.

REAL ESTATE

In the selection of a farm the inexperienced buyer must largely trust the agent with whom he deals. It is therefore essential that the purchaser deal only with those who are expert in their line and who are at the same time known to hold a reputable and trustworthy position in the community in which they live.

Low Priced Rubber Makes This Year a Tire Buyer's Holiday

Crude rubber is cheap today. Tire prices consequently are the lowest in history.

Buyers with an eye to a bargain are buying the best tires the market affords for no more than they used to pay for inferior or unknown tires.

They're buying Goodyear Tires — because Goodyears offer the highest values in this situation

The special values now available in Goodyears trace directly back to definite Goodyear superiorities.

The Goodyear All-weather Tread is superior in traction. The Goodyear Supertwist

Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You need not accept these statements on faith.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

And the facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value.

That's why Goodyear sales steadily are breaking down all previous records.

That's why Goodyear now builds annually more tires than any other manufacturer.

That's why "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Low Goodyear prices, high Goodyear values, make this season a tire-buyer's holiday—almost anyone now can afford the superior quality of Goodyear Tires.

Believes Small Will Be One Of Two In Run-off

Fort Worth, Texas, July 23.—"I am as confident as I can be that Clint Small will be one of the two high men of the eleven candidates for governor to be submitted to the democratic voters of Texas on Saturday, July 26th," declared Lee Satterwhite, campaign manager for Small, here today.

"Close observers estimate a total of seven hundred thousand votes for the seven recognized leading candidates, which means one hundred thousand to each candidate if equally divided. But summing up the vote as indicated from a close study it is my judgment that the two high candidates in the first primary will range somewhere between one hundred and twenty-five thousand to one hundred and fifty thousand votes. The next three candidates will range somewhere between ninety thousand and one hundred and fifteen thousand; the next two will range somewhere between sixty-five and eighty thousand votes."

Senator Clint Small of Wellington

CLINT C. SMALL

"In this split you will be able to begin to see definitely how Small is going to win. North and west of that line is the great West Texas, which admittedly will go almost solid for Small in the first primary.

"Take a copy of the Texas Almanac published by the Dallas News. It is but a simple matter to figure that there are nearly 300,000 poll tax receipts in that area, or approximately one fourth of the total of Texas. At the same time politicians estimate that only 57 per cent of the poll tax receipts are voted, which will mean that in Texas there will be 700,000 votes polled, while in West Texas, Small's own territory, there will be some 200,000 votes polled.

"Don't ever get it in your head that just West Texas is going to vote for Small. His platform is too intensive. His platform is too solid. And East Texans and West Texans are going to join with West Texas in putting him over."

CHEVROLET Six-Cylinder Trucks

Bigger, Faster, Sturdier and more economical

In size, speed and durability, the Chevrolet Six-Cylinder Truck is superior to any haulage unit ever built by Chevrolet. Yet, for all these decided advantages, it shows (according to many prominent fleet users) a lower maintenance cost than any other low-priced truck of similar capacity!

These basic facts should be borne in mind by everyone considering the purchase of an inexpensive haulage unit—because capacity, speed, ruggedness and operating economy are the big points to consider in these days when business men are watching transportation costs.

Many important features of the Chevrolet Six-Cylinder Truck are given below. Study them carefully. Then use them as a basis of comparison—to prove quality—to prove modern design—to prove OUTSTANDING VALUE!
