HON. GEORGE W. DUPREE WILL SPEAK SATURDAY IN INTEREST OF SMALL

State Candidates Make Final Appeal to Voters in West Texas; Politics Quiet Here.

Hon. George W. Dupree, prominent Lubbock attorney, will speak here at three o'clock Saturday afternoon in the district court room in the interest of the candidacy of Clint C. Small for Governor of Texas. Judge Dupree is an eloquent speaker and is well-informed on the affairs of the State, and he will bring a message that will be of interest to many in this locality.

State politics are warming up considerably, since the first primary is only fifteen days away. Considerable interest is being shown in the governor's race, and it is generally conceded that all candidates are out of the running except about three. Political observers place Small among those who are expected to get the greatest number of votes in the first primary.

County politics remain quiet. Candidates are busy working out poll tax rolls in making personal solicitations of the voters of the county, but little speech-making or antagonism is evident. The first primary is expected to be very quiet in this county.

HERE'S ONE FOR RIPLEY'S 'BELIEVE IT OR NOT'

And now we have a good item that should be sent to Ripley, originator of the "Believe it or Not" cartoon that appears in most of the daily papers, for word came to us of the strange antics of a White Leghorn hen out at the farm home of W. A. Mathis, 7 miles south of Muleshoe, and investigation revealed the following:

This wise old bird, apparently not contented to occupy man-made hen nests as is the custom in all well-regulated poultry yards, has selected a place in the lower branches of a popular tree, made a nest of sticks and straw and there deposited eight eggs. The nest is slightly more than three feet off the ground, and there is every evidence that she built it herself.

If you don't believe it, go and see for yourself or tell a better one.

Farm Expts To Be In Amarillo Friday

With practically all necessary arrangements pertaining to the reception of America's agriculture evangelists into Amarillo completed, members of the agriculture department of the chamber of commerce and the committee in charge of the day's program have settled down to await their arrival Friday.

Earl Fugus, chairman of the chamber of Commerce committee was named Wednesday to act as chairman during the farm meeting at the Municipal auditorium, which is to be featured by addresses by U. S. Secretary Arthur M. Hyde and Alexander Leese, head of the nation's farm aid bureau—Amarillo News.

Muleshoe Defeats Baileyboro 10-9 In Real Ball Game

Baileyboro met defeat at the hands of the local nine last Friday at Cobb Park in a hotly contested game. The score was 10 to 9 and was an eleven inning argument. All of the boys played real ball base and the game was full of pep and thrills from start to finish. Bentley Gwyn was on the mound and did a wonderful job of pitching.

The locals go to Baileyboro next Sunday for a return game and everyone is asked to make the trip and help put the team over as winners. Lefty Hollingsworth will twin the game and the other boys say that they are in fine condition for another winner.—Reported.

LEASES TOURIST CAMP
Chas. Williams, who has been in the employ of the Bailey County Elevator Company for the past several months, has recently leased the Farley Tourist Camp and Filling Station. He will take charge the 15th of this month, it is understood.

Even the Editor Can't Please Everybody — By Albert T. Reid

But the ones who get sore are the ones who have it coming to them.

Mrs. McCoy Dies Sunday Morning In Sanitarium

Mrs. Garland McCoy, aged 33, passed away July 6th, at the Lubbock Sanitarium after a short illness. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and family moved to Muleshoe early last fall and the many friends here were shocked at news of her passing.

Burial was made at Floydada last Sunday afternoon, Rev. Lynn of the Methodist church of that place conducting the services, assisted by Rev. Stevens of Lockney.

Mrs. McCoy is survived by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Felton of Floydada; husband, Garland McCoy, and six children, Fern, Bobbie, Paul G., Zack, Golden June and Virginia.

The entire citizenship of Muleshoe joins in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

FOUST-GLASSCOCK

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Mr. Walter I. Foust and Miss Lela Glasscock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Glasscock, Saturday evening, July 5th.

The home was beautifully and artistically decorated with cut flowers and pot plants and in one end of the room was built an improvised arch, constructed with large pots of geraniums as the base and sweet peas as the lattice work.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Juno Glasscock, sister of the bride, rendered some beautiful piano numbers, moving into the wedding march. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jack Lawler, as the matron of honor. A brother of the groom was best man. The party marched to the arch where they were met by Rev. W. B. Hicks, who united the young couple in marriage, using the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony.

The young couple left immediately for a short trip to San Antonio and will return next week to make their home in Muleshoe.—Reported.

Star Reporter

Russell Owen, newspaper man who went with Byrd to the South Pole, was acclaimed the greatest reporter by the newspaper workers of America at a dinner in his honor.

Wheat Moves Slowly With Market Low

With the wheat market standing at 68 cents Thursday at noon, there is little hope being held out for any great movement of wheat at any time in the near future. Local elevators are filled to capacity, and wheat is being stored in granaries and is even being stacked up in the fields as farmers are waiting for a better price before selling.

A check with local elevator men showed that only about 40 cars of wheat have been shipped this season. About 22 cars are now stored in the elevators. The market of 68 cents per bushel Thursday noon shows a slight decrease in price over that of 70 cents of Thursday a week ago.

Local Employees Attend Lubbock Postal Meeting

A number of employees of the local postoffice attended the convention of postal clerks at Lubbock last Friday. This was one of the largest conventions held in the state and the official family came from all parts of Texas.

Many of those attending from distant points took a real vacation and visited places of interest in West Texas and New Mexico. The principal business session was held on Friday, although the convention lasted two days. The regular sessions were held in the Baptist church. Mrs. B. W. Carles, postmaster here, stated that every minute of the time was enjoyed.

Capitol Reservation Lands Et Al, Face Big Libel Suit

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal of last Sunday carried a news item which is of much interest to many people of this section. It is in regard to a libel suit involving over one million dollars in which the Capitol Reservation lands is a party, and is given herewith in part as follows:

One suit charging libel and asking damages amounting to $200,000 has been filed in the 99th district court at Lubbock and four others for the same amount are to be filed and another in Crosby county, naming as defendants J. Everts Haley, Travis county, and former official of the Panhandle Historical society, the Capitol Reservation lands, and Francis C. Farwell, Charles F. Harding and Frederick C. French, trustees of the land syndicate, Lockhart, Garrard and Brown, attorneys for the plaintiffs, announced late Saturday. The total to be asked for in all suits will be $1,200,000.

Fred Spikes, a son of the late John Spikes, and himself one of those characterized in the book as an alleged member of a "gang of cattle rustlers" filed suit in Lubbock county.

The petition, a lengthy one, recites that the Capitol Reservation Lands, is owner of a large ranch on the Plains and Panhandle of Texas, known as the "Capitol Reservation Lands," that on these lands the ranch known as "XIT" was located and that J. Everts Haley was employed to write a history of the ranch.

Haley, then secretary of the Panhandle Historical society at Canyon, wrote the book and it was published a year ago. The book has had a wide circulation over Texas especially and also over the United States, the petition sets forth.

The petition quotes at length from the book containing an alleged attempt on the part of New Mexico authorities to curb cattle rustling activities. The quoted parts are from a chapter, "A Long Fight For Law," and the mentioned sections are on pages 118, 119 and 120.

In the chapters are recited alleged events of the shooting of two of the Spikes brothers and the wounding of a third, the plaintiff in the suit filed.

The petition recited that "said portion of said book herein above set out is slanderous, libelous and untrue and casts reflection upon this plaintiff; that this plaintiff was one of the Spikes brothers named in said article and is the one of said Spikes brothers named as having been shot in the back; that said entire article above set out was written maliciously and wilfully and for the purpose of slandering this plaintiff and was written in utter disregard of the feelings and privileges of this plaintiff, without any foundation in fact."

Mr. Spikes claims that the book was written "without any investigation as to the truthfulness of said statements, that by the term 'Spikes gang' used in said article, was meant this plaintiff and his brothers; that by the term 'rustler organization' was meant this plaintiff and his brothers and was meant an organization formed and existing for the purpose of robbing and stealing cattle; that said article charged this plaintiff with his brothers, was a member of an organization existing for the purpose of stealing cattle; that they were murderers and cow thieves and that this plaintiff was a murderer and a cow thief."

The plaintiff asks $100,000 actual damages and the same amount as exemplary damages.

Besides the plaintiff in the suit filed in Lubbock county, four more plaintiffs will file suit in a few days, attorneys said.

Fred Spikes is the son of the late John Spikes and Mrs. Julia Ann Spikes, his widow, who resides now at the age of 88 with her grand daughter, Mrs. Temple Ellis, in Lubbock. Mrs. Spikes is one of the plaintiffs and her suit is to be filed in a few days.

The book was published in the summer of 1929 and attracted wide attention. The alleged scene of the Attention Again Is Called To Political Events

Although the important political dates have been published twice in The Journal, inquiries are received almost every day at this office about a certain date. At this time many people are asking about absentee ballots. Full information may be received at the County Clerk's office and the following are the important dates for candidates and voters to remember:

JULY 16th—Last day for voters who are absent from the county to appear before a Notary Public and request a ballot.

JULY 18th—Candidates must file their second statement of campaign expenses.

JULY 23rd—Last day for voters who intend to be absent from the county on day of election to appear before the County Clerk and vote an absentee ballot.

JULY 24th—Day upon which County Clerk shall send absentee votes to the presiding judges of the respective voting precincts.

JULY 26th—Primary Election day (First Primary) Polls will open at 7 a. m. and will close promptly at 7 p. m.

AUGUST 5th—Last day for candidates to file third report of their expenses. An additional report should also be filed with the county judge not later than this date.

AUGUST 20th—Last day for voters who intend to be absent from county on day of election to appear before the County Clerk and vote an absentee ballot.

AUGUST 23rd—Date of second primary. These dates are furnished by the chairman of the county Democratic Executive Committee.

NEIGHBORHOOD CELEBRATION

Neighbors with well filled baskets gathered at the Clubhouse Farm, home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrell, last Friday evening to celebrate with a moonlight supper. The farmers being busy with crops, it was impossible for them to take the Fourth off, so while they were working in the fields the women were preparing the good things to eat.

Those enjoying the feast were Mr. and Mrs. Harrell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel and children, Mr. and Mrs. Burnham and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and children, Mr. Pochel, Mr. Hatcher, Mrs. Day and children, Mr. and Mrs. Hazemier and daughter, Mr. Williams, Mr. Sattler and Mr. and Mrs. Clark. Those from other towns were Mrs. Kiaser, mother of Mrs. Kunkel, Mr. Kiaser and wife and A. F. Stone and family.—Reported.

George Hart, nephew of E. R. Hart, spent Saturday night here with relatives. He is with the Cessna Aircraft Company of Wichita, Kansas, and was enroute to Carlsbad, New Mexico, to deliver a plane.

Palo Duro Canyon Open For Tourists Coming Sunday

For the first time portions of the Palo Duro Canyon will be open for public inspection when, through the efforts of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, the Lighthouse, Elkins and Marshall ranches will be opened next Sunday.

Some of the most colorful spots in the 60-mile path of the great canyon lie within these ranches. The Lighthouse Canyon, named from the lighthouse which the winds and rains have carved from the natural stone in the bottom of the canyon, is one of the scenic wonders of the southwest.

Thousands are expected to take the southern roads from Canyon between 10 and 6 o'clock Sunday, the inspection hours. Every effort will be made to regulate the traffic so that the greatest amount of sightseeing can be done.

Plainly marked routes will lead from Canyon to the points of interest. National park regulations will be enforced such as the prohibition of fires, no passing of cars on trails and others. Definite instructions will be given at the gates leading to each canyon for the best sightseeing.

The Lighthouse Canyon will be open from 10 until noon; all cars must be out by 1 o'clock. The Marshall and Elkins ranches will be opened at noon and remain accessible until 6 o'clock.

This is the first opportunity given to the people of the Panhandle to see the scenic wonders, without charge, chamber of commerce officials say. Portions of the canyon never open to the public will be open on Sunday.

Clay Beavers Now Has Local Phillips Agency

Mr. Clay Beavers, formerly of Farwell, has taken over the local agency for Phillips Petroleum Company and in introducing him to the public we will quote a news item from the State Line Tribune:

"Clay Beavers of this city has closed a deal in Muleshoe, whereby he takes over the Phillips Petroleum agency in that city. The deal was made Monday and Mr. Beavers reported to Muleshoe this morning to take assume charge of the business.

This deal is the outgrowth of negotiations that have been in progress for several weeks. Mr. Beavers having offered the agency at a number of other cities on the Plains country. At present Mr. Beavers is connected with the Magness Chevrolet Co. of this city as salesman.

The many friends of the Beavers will join the Tribune in expressing a real regret over their departure, and wish for them unbounded success in their new location."

Mr. Beavers is not altogether a stranger in Muleshoe and is well known throughout this territory. The Journal, as well as the citizens of Muleshoe welcomes Mr. Beavers to our city.

HARDEN-LOMINACK

Mr. Good Harden and Miss Odessa Lominack were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at Winnboro, Wednesday, July 2nd, with a beautiful home wedding. Only the family and close friends were present.

The contracting parties are well known in Muleshoe. Mr. Harden having lived here for a number of years. The bride has visited here quite often, and is popular with the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. Harden returned to Muleshoe last Saturday, where they will make their home. Mrs. Harden will teach in the High School next term.

MOSES—A COURAGEOUS LEADER

Exodus 3:1-12

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Many regard Moses as the greatest character in the Old Testament, even as they accord that distinction to Paul in the New Testament. Selected portions to introduce us to the life of Moses are: Exodus 1:13-14; 2:1-22; 3:1-14; 11:1-10; 32:30, 33; Deuteronomy 34:1-8 and Hebrews 11:23-29. Those who will do more intensive study should read, or at least scan, all of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. The life of Moses covers one hundred and twenty years, divided into three periods of forty years each. The date is about as far B. C. (1488; as the discovery of America by Columbus is A. D. (1492). Those who visit Rome are fascinated by the great statue of Moses, carved by Michael Angelo, which is found in the Church of St. Peter in Chains.

The charm of an innocent baby has appealed to many a kindly heart. It was just that way when the Egyptians sought to perpetuate their own form of race suicide on the new born babes of the rapidly growing Hebrews, who at that time were abject slaves in the land to which they had been invited in the time of Joseph, the prime minister. A family council in the home of Amram and Jochebed resulted in making a floating basket in which baby Moses was placed on the river Nile. A servant of the princess discovered the wee one and brought him to the rest. It remained for sister Miriam to suggest that one of the Hebrew women would make a good nurse and the mother was called to this high office. During forty years Moses was trained as a Hebrew by the mother and in all worldly wisdom by the wise men of the realm.

Sense of fair play was developed in this young man and challenge was offered when wrong was done to both an Egyptian and a Hebrew. Then Moses had to flee and was trained in the University of experience, while a shepherd in Arabia for another period of forty years. While there, one day he was attracted by the sight of a bush that was burning but which was not consumed by the flames. This student of life turned aside to see what it might be, and was then ready to respond with attention when Jehovah thence called him by name. With undisciplined feet the student stood reverently while the Almighty called him into the service as a deliverer of his enslaved people in Egypt. Mighty certification was made in a threefold encouragement. "Surely, I will be with thee," was the promise of God. Then solemnly that is recorded in Scripture was added: "I AM." Further, there was a pledge that would shortly be fulfilled: the people should "serve God upon this mountain." The sign of that burning bush is the insignia of the church of Scotland, and the motto is "Nec manus consumebatur."

Those forty years in the wilderness, after the signal deliverance from Egyptian bondage, mark the third period. During that time Moses was engaged in seeking to change the thinking of the people from that of slave consciousness to national consciousness. Many vicissitudes were met under divine guidance. Possibly the greatest problem was back to licentious forms of worship before the golden calf at Mount Sinai. Look at Exodus 32:32 with special attention to the punctuation. Moses broke down at the thought of a destroyed Israel and so identified himself with his people that he also asked to be "blotted out" rather than to be the father of a still greater people. The Golden Text tells how Moses won out during all those years of leadership: "for endured as seeing him who is invisible." Hebrews 11:27.

You Control Abundant Farm Power in the

McCormick-Deering 15-30

The owner of a McCormick-Deering 15-30 Tractor controls big-capacity power and he farms and profits in proportion. In these days of big machines, broad-scale operations, high labor costs, and changing needs he has wisely gone all the way in his power investment.

The extra power of the 15-30 produces extra advantages on a score of jobs the year around. It puts more power and more accomplishment under one man's control. It is built for many years of economical operation. It is ready for your peak loads, for new machines you will buy in the future, and for the greater acreage you may want to farm.

UNDER THE MIDNIGHT SUN

By Maxton Watson
Alaska isn't at all what I thought it.
Instead of the cold, barren land I had pictured, I have found a warm, undreamed-of realm of beauty—a land where wild life thrives and colorful flowers abound. A land of gold—black for farms—Indians—curious totem poles—and buzzing commercial activity.

A land where Alaska moose swim down streams; big brown bear wander sluggishly about; mountain sheep are silhouetted on high peaks against the sky line; thousands of caribou travel in seasonal migrations; salmon leap upstream to their spawning grounds;
flaming fireweed fling endless mantles of vivid rose; sheets of lupine spread purple blue; and with roses, slender columbines, blue-bells, forget-me-nots, and countless other flowers blossom in endless profusion.

The beauty of this Northland is of things primeval and primitive; mighty virgin forests; majestic rivers silently flowing to the sea; lofty mountain peaks scarcely trodden by the foot of man; icebergs dancing in prismatic beauty over sapphire seas; gorgeous sunsets melting into radiantly lovely dawns; and Northern Lights flinging tremulous banners across the heavens like faint messages from another world.
Juneau, the capital of this fair country, is a bright interesting little town of 4,000, clinging to the sides of Mt.
Juneau, which towers 3,500 feet above
it. Built partly on piles that extend over the water, and partly on bare rocks, it is a surprisingly modern city, with up-to-date hotels and stores, attractive residences and public buildings.

Skagway, the extreme northern point of our journey, rose out of a swamp some thirty years ago to meet the gold rush. Once the rendezvous of outlaws, filled with gambling halls and saloons,
and reputed the wildest and wickedest place on earth, it is now a model of propriety, with hotels, stores, quiet homes, and flower gardens of fragrant beauty.

Everywhere in this Northland of adventure and romance, is visible the work of the pioneers—fur-trappers, gold-seekers, sour doughs—men who bled over mountains, struggled thru morasses, whirled down unknown rapids, penetrated uninhabited wildernesses, and conquered the seemingly unconquerable; that the wonders of this great, beautiful country might be known to the world.

Here, amid Nature in her wildest, untamed mood, I have learned from the pioneer the lesson of "Winning Through." It is one I shall carry with me as I start tomorrow for the wonders of the Pacific Northwest.

TOMATOES and EGGS

Grease muffin tins; put one thick slice of unpeeled tomato into each tin; season with salt and pepper; break one egg on top of slice; again season with salt and pepper and put a small piece of butter on top of each egg. Bake in oven until egg is set and cooked thru but not hard. Serve on small rounds of toast and garnish with parsley.

IT'S WISE TO CHOOSE A SIX

Away of Life

BY BRUCE BARTON

THE BIG PARADE

All this happened in one day!
A twenty-three-year-old boy came into our office to apply for a job.
When we asked him about his present occupation he said he was a parachute jumper.

"I like the work all right," he added,
"but parachute jumping isn't steady."

I met a mother whose son is about to graduate from college. What do you think he wants to be? A bond salesman? A movie star?

He wants to be an archeologist.

A man named Volk died in New York City. He claimed the distinction of having torn down more big buildings than any other man who ever lived.
But he died without realizing his ambition. He wanted to live to tear down the Woolworth building.

Think of it. Six million people walk ing daily through the streets, each with his separate home and desire.

Who would ever imagine that one of them was constantly saving to himself: "Oh, if I could only tear down the Woolworth building. That would crown my career."

A man with a nosky wife and seven grown children disappeared from his home in Brooklyn, and was discovered some months later in Hartford. Questioned as why he left his family, he replied that he had done his duty as a father and believed himself entitled to a little peace in his old age. He had taken a job as a night watchman in a deaf and dumb asylum.

Why do I take up valuable white space to set down these apparently unimportant and unrelated incidents?
Because, my friends, one of the biggest and least expensive of all pleasures is reading the newspapers and marveling at the eternal freshness and variety of the human race.

Let those who are bilious rail at the "standardization of modern life." It is true that many of the things we eat and use are standardized, and living is much simplified in consequence.

But have no fear that color and interest will disappear out of the world.
Every baby has in him some little spark that makes him different from every other.

Life will be always amusing to those who have sense enough to enjoy it.
Practice the good and inexpensive habit of being eternally entertained by your fellow beings. Forget about yourself for a little while every day, and enjoy the big parade.

BEANS WITH TOMATOES

Soak one and a half cups of dried white beans over night and in the morning drain and boil in water containing one-quarter teaspoon soda. Fry out four slices of salt pork and brown a tablespoon of minced onion in the fat. Now add the beans that have drained, two cups of canned tomatoes, a half tablespoon of sugar with salt and pepper to taste. Place all in double boiler or fireless cooker, with just enough water to cover and cook again for about three hours, or until tender.

Texas ports in 1929 handled 9,554,922 tons of exports and 1,421,699 tons of imports valued respectively at $899-384,238 and $32,063,368. Petroleum products supplied 46.3 per cent of the exports and cotton 13.7 per cent.

KIWANIS

By H. A. ECKLER
Kiwans means to me a better chance to understand the problems of individuals and the problems of our community. The creating of a better personal contact with our members and the helping to build good will into all dealings. The changing of the habitual kickers through discussion to the betterment of conditions. The lending of a helping hand with a smile to all programs for the upbuilding of our community and community interests.

Two men can trade dollars and neither one is the loser or rainer, while in trading ideas, each has as much as he had originally, plus what he received from the other and in this manner is better off.

The weekly meeting over the luncheon table has already brought better feelings and understanding among the members and we have only just started.

The sponsoring of the Boy Scout movement is in itself an achievement that we can be proud of.

Although I have missed some of the meetings, each time I get something good from the discussions.

May Kiwanis never change their motto, and may our ranks never grow less and may we always see clearly to the best things for ourselves and our community.

Vote For H. STERLING For Sheiff

Just after the election in 1928, I announced to the voters of Bailey County that I would be a candidate again in 1930. I am making the race again, and I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks for the loyal support that my neighbors and friends are giving me. If elected to office, I covet the same loyal support from these, the best friends a man ever had, and men and women who stand for things that are right.

If elected, I will be on the job all the time, and I believe that with the assistance and cooperation of the good citizens of Bailey County I can enforce all laws in a fair and impartial way and with courtesy to all.

If necessary to have a deputy at the expense of the taxpayers, I promise to let the voters have a voice in the selection of such deputy in order that he may be accountable to you as well as myself.

I hope that you will see fit to vote for me on July 26th, 1930, and assure you that your influence will be appreciated.

TIRES
as good as these USUALLY COST A LOT MORE MONEY

... but these are Goodrich Cavaliers... really fine tires at really low prices

MEAN that? Of course, we mean it! And we can prove it, too... any way you want to name! Find a tire that matches the Cavalier point by point and you'll find a tire that costs more!

That's because Cavalier is made by Goodrich. Made under the strictest standards in the business. Made to stand up as only Goodrich Tires stand up... in spite of bad roads, high speeds, quick stops, constant punishment.

It's bigger in cross section to give it riding comfort. It's thicker through the tread, to give long life and high mileage.

Its carcass is of weltless cord... its tread rubber is dense and slow wearing. And the whole tire is water-cured to give it equal toughness all the way through.

Yet with all that, Cavaliers cost less than just ordinary casings. So if you want to see a good tire... see Cavalier. Your size in stock now... and two sizes for trucks. They won't last long... so come in quickly. Tomorrow, sure.

YOU NEED NOT WORRY when roads get rough or when your schedule calls for high speed, if your tires are Cavaliers! Goodrich built an extra margin of stamina into these tires to keep tire worries off your mind. And still these tires cost no more and often less than merely ordinary quality!

Small Famous For Land Bill He Put Over

Grateful West Texas Sponsored Candidacy After Legislative Work.

Wellington, Texas, July 9, (UP).—"Ride 'em, cowboy!" might well be the slogan of the supporters of Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor of Texas. For Small has ridden herd many a day. He could break horses with the best cowpunchers on his father's ranch, and still has the quiet, easy manner of the cowboy.

According to Small, his father had "just a little place." It was "eight sections of grass." A section is 640 acres and eight of them gave the boy Clint more than 5,000 acres for a riding field.

Born in Collinsville, Ala., in 1888, his parents brought him to Texas when he was three years old. They settled in Collingsworth county, which had just been organized before their arrival. In these days it was practically all ranch land.

Many dry bed streams are met in this and other parts of West Texas and the Panhandle. There being water in them only occasionally after a heavy rain, land owners paid no attention to them as streams. Nobody else did until oil began to be struck. Then an old provision was dug up which prevented the titles from crossing navigable streams. This was coupled with another provision that made streams "navigable" for legal purposes if there was 30 feet between their banks, regardless of whether there was water in them or not.

Oil seekers filed applications with the state for permits to drill, claiming the owners of the surrounding land had no title to it. Small, who had left the ranch to study law and entered politics, came to the defense of the original landowners. As a member of the state senate, he drafted what was to become well known throughout Texas as the "Small Land Bill." It validated the existing titles. Over the opinion of a former attorney general that it was unconstitutional, Small "rode" it through the legislature. When Gov. Dan Moody, also holding it unconstitutional, vetoed it, Small rode it over the governor's veto. When the act was tested in court and when courts sustained Small's bill, the demand became immediate from grateful West Texas land owners that he be a candidate for governor.

Small hesitated. He did not propose to be a sectional governor. It was only after visiting other sections of the state and feeling out whether he was wanted elsewhere that his candidacy was launched.

Senator Small was educated first in the schools of the Panhandle. In 1903 he went to Goodnight college, operated by Mrs. Charles Goodnight, wife of the famous cattle and buffalo owner of the Panhandle. He then attended Claremont College for two years and attended Trinity University at Waco, Tex., where he received his law degree in 1908-9. He then studied law

VIEWERS ON ELECTION OUTCOME ARE MANY AND VARIED

Expert Guessers Have Own Ways of Predicting Outcome.

BY GORDON K. SHEAREE, United Press Staff Correspondent Austin, Texas, July 9 (UP).—Ways to figure out the result of the governor's election are as numerous about the capitol as ways to beat the stock market.

One expert, and he has been a good guesser in three state campaigns, says it can all be worked out by dividing the state into districts.

Two districts are important in his scheme. One is the territory with a radius of 100 miles around Dallas. That, he cites figures to show, has half the voting strength of the state.

The other district taking in the extreme eastern and the southeastern part of the state, with Houston, has a third of the voting strength. Together these districts without overlapping have five-sixths of the total vote. He simply figures the strong candidates in those two districts and picks them for the runoff.

Another seasoned observer has this recipe: Take three employes of each state department whose homes are in other parts of the state. Get them to tell you confidentially how the word comes back from their homes as to the standing of candidates, strike the average and have the result.

Still another has a simpler method. He says: Pick out the two candidates that are "cussing" each other most vigorously. They will be in the run-off. It has worked out that way in past races, he says, and should do so again.

Still another seasoned office-holder here says that different methods must be used to pick the candidates who will get in the run-off and to pick the winner.

To get in a run-off in a race with a large number of candidates, it doesn't matter about the enemies, he says. Pick the man with enough group backing him or enough popularity to get a big block of votes. Those who oppose him will be so scattered among the various candidates as not to affect getting into the runoff. In the final election, the combined opposition has to be considered.

Speaking of run-offs, it has become almost a rule that the high man in the first election goes down to defeat in the run-off before the combined strength of opponents who flock to the low man.

But just as all weather signs fail in dry weather, so all political signs fail in years when people are expressing at the University of Texas. Immediately upon graduating from law school he established his law office at Wellington, where he still resides. He held his first official position in 1912 when he was elected city attorney of Wellington. He later became county attorney, county judge, then mayor of Wellington and next district attorney. His election to the state senate followed. He is married and has two children. He is a vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and has been president of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce.

individual opinions in few cases. Applying the various rules, all of which have been good at various times, different results for the governor's race are obtained. It is still anybody's guess.

PROTECT Your Grain From Winter Killing—Soil Blowing—Scarcity of Moisture

DEEP FURROWS, free from air spaces—12 to 14 inches apart—save many a loss of profit where winter wheat and other grains are subject to injury from winter killing, soil blowing or dry spells.

That's exactly the reason for the increasing popularity of the CASE Deep-Furrow Grain Drill. Its large disks are set at an angle to penetrate deeply. Seed is deposited evenly over a wider space in the bottom of the furrow. Soil blowing is reduced to a minimum. Rapid germination results—because the soil is moist. Snow is held in the furrows. Root damage is minimized—because the soil, in the drilled rows, does not crack as does ordinary drilling.

If you want quicker, more uniform germination—fewer hazards for fall seeding in semi-arid sections, come in today and let us show you this Case Deep-Furrow Drill. Our store is headquarters for modern farm implements.

Miles of Conveyors in Ford Plant

This picture shows two types of conveyors in use in the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company.

AN ENDLESS chain conveyor, three and a half to four miles long, said to be the longest in the world, has just been completed at the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Michigan. On it parts of Ford cars in the process of manufacture are transported from one building to another and completed parts are carried direct to railroad cars for shipment to branch assembly plants.

The conveyor, which carries its cargo on suspended hooks, has a daily capacity for 300,000 parts weighing over 2,000,000 pounds. It supplants freight cars and trucks which have been used for the transfer of many parts from one point to another in the Ford plant.

This longest conveyor of them all is a development of the Ford policy that nothing should be done by manual labor that could better be done by machine.

In the early days of his manufacturing career, Mr. Ford devised the as-

"Not How Cheap, But How Good."

Life Story of R. S. Sterling One of Triumph Over Difficulties

Practical Understanding of People's Problems Fits Him For Governorship

ROSS STERLING was born on a farm near Anahuac, in Chambers county, in 1876, one of 12 children of parents impoverished by the Civil war. His father was a captain in the Confederacy, and an uncle on his mother's side fought with Sam Houston at San Jacinto.

Early in his youth he left the farm to engage in freighting produce and merchandise across the bay between Anahuac and Galveston in a schooner. At the age of about 20 he opened a little "general merchandise" store in his home community.

From there he ventured into the oil field regions of Humble and Sour Lake, establishing feed and produce stores, and later expanding his activities to include country banking. In 1898 he was married to Miss Maude Abbie Gage. Five children have been born to them.

Mr. Sterling launched into the oil business in 1910, purchasing two producing wells. Adding to these properties, he organized the Humble Oil company.

In 1925 he retired as head of the Humble Oil and Refining company and parted with his holdings in it, to devote his time to other affairs, private and public.

He has been a member of the Houston Fort commission since its inception, in about 1912, and chairman of the commission since 1921, during which period the port of Houston has been developed from a dream into one of the major ports of the country, and the city's size has been doubled.

For a number of years Ross Sterling has served as chairman of the board of trustees of Hermann Hospital, which has been built and is administering a $1,600,000 charity institution. He is a director and for several years was president of the Y. M. C. A. of Houston. Governor Dan Moody appointed Mr. Sterling chairman of the state highway commission early in 1927. He and his colleagues, Commissioners Cone Johnson of Tyler and W. R. Ely of Abilene, reorganized the department, sponsored an increase in the gasoline tax, and for the past three and a half years have carried on an intensive program of highway construction and maintenance.

Loss Sterling is a member of the South End Christian Church of Houston and a trustee of Texas Christian University of Fort Worth. He is a member of the Masonic, Knights of Pythias and Woodmen of the World lodges.

Having achieved success in all his private and public endeavors, Mr. Sterling became a candidate for governor through an expressed desire to be of further service to his state, declaring that state progress and growth demands a business-like administration of the state's affairs, and that the man best fitted to give such an administration and meet the demands of the changing times should be elected.

He advocates relieving the counties of financial responsibility for building state highways, and believes the people should be given an opportunity to decide at the polls whether they want a state bond issue, to be retired wholly with proceeds of a motor fuel tax. He proposes the refunding, to counties of money already spent on state highways, as a means of lifting the heavy burden of county road taxes, and developing a system of lateral roads.

His platform pledges constructive and progressive executive efforts toward equalizing the tax burden, to the end that the small farm, ranch and home owner be relieved and mineral wealth may bear its just share of taxation.

He proposes a modernization of the prison system, useful employment of prisoners, and segregation of youthful offenders.

Mr. Sterling promises hearty support of the rural and urban schools and the colleges of Texas.

A lifelong prohibitionist and total abstainer, he promises vigorous enforcement of the dry laws and all other laws.

He would give earnest attention, if elected, to problems of labor, eleemosynary institutions, agriculture, conservation of natural resources, judicial reform, regulation of public utilities, and department efficiency.

Finally, he pledges his utmost efforts to end factional strife in Texas Democracy, and to restore harmony.

Konjola Ended Two Years Of Stomach Misery

Again This New And Different Medicine Shows Why It Has Become Famous.

MRS. BERTIE COWAN

Strange, but absolutely true—Konjola, the new and different medicine seems at the very peak of its powers when pitted against the stubborn cases that have held on with bull-dog tenacity. Take for example, the experience of Mrs. Bertie Cowan, 614 West Second St., Fort Worth, Texas, who says:

"For two years the lightest of foods caused misery. At times I had to gasp for breath, and I belched up bits of undigested food. I took soda constantly. My kidneys gave me trouble too. I had backache and had to rise many times at night. But Konjola ended all this, and today my back is free from pain, my nerves are steady, I sleep soundly and wake up every morning rested and refreshed.

Thus Konjola works, swiftly yet surely. It is strongly recommended however, that a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles be used if best results are to be obtained.

Konjola is sold in Muleshoe, Texas, at McCarty Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

OUTDOOR FISH FRY

An outdoor fish fry was enjoyed very much by a number of YL people the 4th of July at the home of I. F. Willman.

After the dinner the remainder of the day was spent in swimming, boat riding, and other amusements. Ice cream was also served.

Those present were: Mrs. Buhrman, Gladys, Edwina, Dale, Russel, Luther, Kline and Cecil Buhrman, June Belier, Rev. Lloyd Jones and wife, Robert Stiel, Miss Dottie Witterding, Evelyn Witterding, Mr. H. M. Shofner and wife, Zora Mae, J. T. Ruth and Oleta Shofner.—Reported.

Storage for Small Grain

We are in a position to furnish plans, specifications, carpenters and material to build a permanent storage granary on your farm. The cost ranges from 8 cents to 12 cents per bushel. If you store your grain in terminal elevators, you pay for the granary, but you don't get one. Build one now—your storage this year will pay for it—and next year and the years afterward will cost you nothing.

"HYDE—LEGGE—MARTIN"

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

"LOP-SIDED DIETS"
I picked this title up somewhere... and it impressed me as being good to say to my readers; for the lop-sided method is actually fitted for very, very few persons; never for those in average health, and who expect to maintain it.

The physician's first duty, it seems to me, is to prevent disease; his second to cure it if possible; so, advice to the healthy is certainly not untimely, its object being to keep folks from getting sick.

Whenever a certain type of food is known to be harmful to certain individuals, then it must be avoided. Sugars and starches have long been restricted in diabetes, and rightly so; but, for healthy men to adopt "vegetarian diet" with a view of prolonging life thereby, seems to me most absurd. I may have stated that, a dog can live on animal food to a good old age; an ox may do the same thing with a strictly vegetable diet; but man is a different sort from either. He requires a mixed diet, if he would feed the intricate and multiple-united physical and mental demands of his wonderful make-up. Man needs both animal and vegetable—as well as mineral sustenance to keep him physically fit.

This does not mean excess of any one element—and here is his stumbling-block; too, too often, he yields to the call of a perverted appetite, and eats without judgment—and suffers accordingly; for gastronomic sins are never forgiven; they must be atoned for in actual distress.

I have known many men who stuffed their bodies full at six o'clock dinners—too busy to eat at proper hours; they laid their grief to meat! White potatoes are as deadly if eaten without judgment and intelligence and at unseemly hours. The well-mixed diet, taken temperately and at sensible hours cannot cause ill-health.

CAPITOL RESERVATION LANDS

trouble, described in the petition, was in New Mexico, near Tucumcari around what is known as Mesa Redonda, south of that town. The events happened approximately thirty years ago.

Mr. Spikes in his petition stated that he and his brothers were ranching in New Mexico and were running cattle on government lands in that state. The cattle were their own property, the petition claims.

The Capitol Reservation Lands was known at that time as the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company, Limited, the petition says. Mr. Spikes further claims that the company "desired to run them out of New Mexico and desired to put them out of the cattle business in New Mexico, unlawfully ambushed them and killed two of the plaintiffs brothers and shot the plaintiff in the back."

The Capitol Reservation lands were so named because the land was transferred to the late John V. Farwell of Chicago, who was to build the then new state capitol building at Austin. The area was mostly in the Panhandle of Texas and the value was then estimated at a dollar an acre.

Farwell and associates built the capitol building. They began to ranch in the Panhandle, along in the 80's and held large holdings of cattle. Later the lands were cut up into smaller sections and sold to farmers and other ranchers. The area now held by the company is relatively small compared to forty or fifty years ago.

J. Everts Haley was secretary of the Panhandle Historical society with headquarters at Canyon and as such wrote the book at the request of the company. He spent some months in gathering material for the book and it has a wide circulation over West Texas.

The Very Latest

By MARY MARSHALL

The problem of choosing street costumes that are comfortable, appropriate, smart—and without reasonable in price—should be a fairly simple one. This agreeable state of affairs has in large measure been brought about by the return to favor of the jacket suit, which always has certain advantages over the coat and dress or one-piece dress ensemble.

In planning your wardrobe you cannot do better than to select some sort of silk suit. You will have a variety of light-weight rough weave silks, either in solid color or in one of the new colored prints.

The picture shows a silk suit, made on simple lines, the waist drawn in with a leather belt.
