The program of the day was carried out almost to the letter, and our business men and the Retail Merchant's Association were well pleased with the results.

The Methodist ladies served dinner at the opera house and we understand the result was quite satisfactory, and the amount of money obtained was fully up to the expectation, and those who dined with them were high in their praise of the services rendered.

The Lubbock Cowboy Band as heretofore furnished splendid entertainment in the way of music, much to the delight of all.

In the afternoon what was called the town team of business men, matched a game of baseball with the team of twenty years ago, and the game was begun at 4:00 o'clock.

It was highly enjoyed by all present. It developed that there were some real interesting characters in the game, and played extra well for the length of time they had been out of practice. The final count at the end of the ninth inning was 32 to 21 in favor of the business men's team. The receipts from the game were given to the Mothers' Club through the civic league for the benefit of the school ground fund.

Special Train to Crosbyton

For the benefit of the readers of the Avalanche, and for their convenience only we furnish the following information:

A. M. Hensley, one of Lubbock's best contractors and builders, made a trip to Lorenzo the first of the week, and informed the Avalanche man that he had closed a deal with Arthur Kelsey to erect a new gin building and also a neat little residence in the town of Lorenzo. Mr. Kelsey will put in an up-to-date gin outfit, and will have it ready for the cotton crop this year.

JOIN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

ORGANIZATION IS FOR THE UPBUILDING OF THE TOWN AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE COUNTY

MEN OF ALL OCCUPATIONS ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP

Considerable Membership Has Already Been Enrolled, But Every Good Citizen Should Join and Do Their Part Toward Helping to Promote the Best Interests of the Community

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is the name under which our new commercial organization will be conducted. It sounds good, and it will result in great good for the entire community if the people of Lubbock and Lubbock county will get behind it and give it their moral and financial support.

The membership though very encouraging for the length of time the new movement has been going, still it is not what it should be. It is not an organization for bankers, merchants, and professional men, who live in town, alone to belong to, but it is for everybody, and everybody is solicited to come in. Place your name on the list of progressive citizens and do your part toward making it the great success that it should be.

Lubbock has made good progress even without a commercial organization, but there is no telling what an improvement there might be over the present conditions had the organization been perfected a year ago, and had every man in the county been in close touch with the situation.

You can join the organization by seeing Mr. W. S. Posey, cashier of the Lubbock State Bank, who will be pleased to give you any information about it further than what you already know.

The new organization is under the supervision of a strong directorate, and we are confident that it will become a great developing power for Lubbock and the entire South Plains.

Join the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

METHODIST MISSIONARY NOTES
Next Monday is the last business session in the 2nd quarter. Let each member do her part to enable our treasurer to send in a good report.

We extend our sincere thanks to each one who in any way assisted in making our Trades Day Dinner a success.

The Woman's Missionary Council accepts Bishop McCay's invitation to come to Fort Worth for its next annual session. The following stanzas were the invitation:

"To the lands of the sandstorm and sands,
Where the wind blows
Just after it snows,
And the horse is too small for his brand,
In the land of the boundless plain,
Where the prairie dog kneels,
On the back of his heels,
And fervently prays for rain."

President Wilson has offered to John E. Mott, the Christian worker of international fame, the ambassadorship to China. Mr. Mott, from conscientious reasons, declined the post, but it is said that he is now reconsidering the matter and will probably accept. A Christian statesman, such as he would prove, would be of untold blessing to China at this acute stage in its history.—S. S. Visitor.

CONGRESSMAN SMITH FOR SENATOR.

A. H. O'Keefe, Adj. Joe Sayers Camp, U. C. V. writing to the Fort Worth Record, strongly advocates the election of Congressman W. R. Smith of the 16th district, as United States Senator. He has the following to say of our Congressman:

"I will say that we of West Texas have one of the truest and brainiest men in congress from this (the sixteenth) congressional district. He has no superior and but few equals, and that is in the person of Hon. W. R. Smith of Colorado, Central West Texas, who is serving his sixth term. As Hon. Charles Culbertson will not be a candidate for the senate in 1914, and as West Texas has never put forth a candidate for the senate, and I am an old Texan and a veteran of the frontier and of the confederate war, I claim the privilege of nominating him now, but without his permission. As all United States senators have been heretofore selected from East and Middle Texas, we of the West and this (the sixteenth) congressional district have allowed you of East Texas to put forth your man, and we of this district have rallied around the flag and elected him, even to that gallant little Morris Sheppard—the Alex Stephens of Texas. Now we ask and expect East Texas to help solicit and elect our big, brainy man, for he and Sheppard would be a power in the United States Senate, and he is always ready and willing to assist the noble heroes of the U. C. V., I ask them, as one of them, to assist in soliciting and electing him."

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY.

Of times, in our efforts to promote the doctrines of our own peculiar church, or rather the peculiar doctrines of our own religious sect, we forget "the weightier matters." This has been brought to light in the fair city of Hereford in a most striking way. Last Saturday, a woman, abandoned and alone, with three small children to provide for, one a mere infant, was brought into court by the strong arm of the law to answer why her children should not be taken from her and given to some other person more competent and able to provide for them. While the officers of the law are not to be criticised for their action in the case (they were doing only their sworn duty), the necessity for such a step was a sad comment upon the modern brand of Christianity. Perhaps, we should not use the term, Christianity, but rather the word religion. James says a man's religion may be vain. The following from the same New Testament writer is genuine to the issue: "If any man among you seem to be religious hold not his tongue, that man's religion is vain; pure and undefiled religion is this: To visit the fatherless and widows in their need and to keep himself unspotted from sin." Men applied the same rule in the ancient days to determine the quality of a man's religious professions as they do today. We all know the hypocrites who pray the loudest in the church house and swear the strongest in the court room. We cannot deceive God nor man by our professions; our actions tell the truth, our daily walk is known of all men; if we would practice our religion with the same strenuous efforts with which we preach it, there would be no occasion for such a scene as was enacted in the juvenile court last Saturday. We spend thousands of dollars on church houses, church schools, foreign missions and public charity, but we neglect our duty right at our own doors—to visit the fatherless in their need. This case should stimulate the practical side of Christianity in Hereford. The members of the different churches should not stand back for fear of criticism or public talk; the work is here and the duty is plain. This article is written in the interest of the public good. We should guard ourselves when talking about others: we should rather refrain from carrying unpleasant stories from mouth to mouth, let charity cover the sins of others, for, perhaps, your own sins need a larger blanket. Let's not play at Christianity.—Hereford Brand.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one decided remedy that cures the most stubborn cases of Catarrh of the Bladder, and that it is a natural, safe, and reliable cure. It is called "HALL'S CATARRH CURE," and is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. "HALL'S CATARRH CURE" is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have secured a hundred dollars for any one that will take a cure. Send for list of testimonials.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 8

JOSEPH FORGIVES HIS BRETHREN

LESSON TEXT—Gen. 45:1-15
GOLDEN TEXT—"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." Ps. 133:1.

No story of the Old Testament is fraught with greater dramatic interest than that which is presented today. Let us get the setting of the picture. An opulent oriental court; that man who next to Pharaoh exercised more power than any congress or assembly, and into whose hands had been placed the destinies of a kingdom by earthly power and the outworking of the plan of redemption by a divine power. Servants, power, resources, all at Joseph's command. Before him his brothers who long ago gave him up as being dead. Outside a great calamity resting upon the people, and none prepared to meet it except these of Egypt whose provision was the result of the work of this man of God. (1 Tim. 4:8). Before this man, as humble supplicants, we see those who "entreated him desperately." Judah's speech was a revelation to Joseph, it satisfied him, and what need, therefore, for further delay in revealing himself in his true character?

Saving Love.
I. Revelation, vv. 1-3.—Excluding all from his presence, saving his brothers, Joseph gave full vent to his joy and rejoicing. "I am Joseph; doth my father yet live?" Their astonishment was so great as to leave them speechless, and again haunting memories condemn them to fear and, forbidding for they were "troubled in his presence." We have here a beautiful picture of forgiveness and love.

The exaltation of Jesus was to give repentance to Israel through the forgiveness of sins. Acts 5:31. Even so did Joseph bring repentance to his brothers and forgiveness of their wrongs toward him 22 years before. Joseph's severe dealings with his brothers aroused them to a full recognition of their evil deeds and prepared them to receive his pardon and forgiveness.

But the cup is full, no longer can he restrain himself, and with a loud voice, so loud that it could be heard without, he cried "I am Joseph." Small wonder that at such a proclamation by him whom they had so grievously wounded, they were troubled. So shall it be when the brethren of Jesus shall "look upon him whom they have pierced," Zech. 12:10.

II. Reconciliation, vv. 4-15.—The greatness of Joseph is here revealed in a clear, true light. He interprets to his brothers their own actions with all that God has involved in it, which must have been a great surprise to his brothers. Joseph does not wait for them to fall at his feet and sue for mercy, but seeks to allay their fears. "Come near to me I pray you." These who by their wicked works were rightfully alienated from him are invited to draw nigh, Col. 1:21 and Matt. 11:28.

Joseph's Grace.
Joseph was as one who was dead and out of that came life for those of his own family as well as those outside. Even so God has brought life to many out of the death of Jesus. Working satisfaction for all out of the most colossal and infamous crime ever perpetrated—the crucifixion. Joseph was "sent" (v. 7), to save those very ones (John 1:11). It was a "great deliverance," see Heb. 2:3. Here, again, we see Joseph's intimate relations with God. "It was not you that sent me hither, but God." That is the right way to look at life, Rom. 8:28.

III. Proclamation, vv. 16-15.—The news of this meeting came to Pharaoh, vv. 16, with the result that he commanded Jacob, and all of his household to be brought into Egypt, having received good things themselves, they are commanded to go with haste, and tell others, Matt. 28:7. The first call is always "come" (v. 4), and that is always followed by the command of "go" (v. 9). Joseph was not ashamed of his old father and his brothers in the days of his pro-phety, and added that when they should dwell in Egypt they were to be "near unto me," see Phil. 1:23, John 14:3. When the brothers reached Jacob and told him that Joseph was alive and exalted in Egypt he could not believe them, and his heart fainted. Can we be surprised? Yet conviction was at hand in the shape of the wagons laden with the rich spoil of Egypt, vv. 21, 27, 28. Again God appears to Jacob, 46:2, 3, and adds the assurance of his own word.

Lessons of the Lesson.—The greatness of Joseph's character is revealed in the hour of the fulfillment of his dreams—tears, not vindictiveness, manifest the condition of his heart. Jacob recognizes God's great plan, and that its outcome is an evident blessing for others as well as for himself. There is no evidence of pride as Joseph interprets God's dealings. God has made abundant provision for us in Christ. This lesson is the reverse of the usual order in that the lesson illustrates the golden text rather than the text illuminating the lesson.

More About the Amendment

In making up his mind as to how he will vote on the amendment to sections 49 and 52 of Article 3 of the Constitution, the voter must consider the following questions:

1. Is he willing to authorize the state officials to create debts against the state to the amount of a half million dollars, which may be repeated as often as the debt is paid, and which the taxpayer must pay?

2. Does he favor the issuing of bonds to build another Agricultural and Mechanical College at Austin in connection with the University?

3. Does he favor giving the Legislature unlimited power to issue any amount of bonds, it may see fit for buildings for the "other institutions?"

4. Does he believe it good public policy to issue three million dollars worth of bonds for the penitentiary system which in two years has lost two million dollars?

5. Is he willing, as a taxpayer, to pay his share of the seven million dollars worth of bonds which will be immediately demanded of the Legislature should this amendment be adopted?

6. Does he believe it good public policy for the voter to be forced to vote for seven different propositions, or against all of them, or not vote at all?

A. M. KENNEDY.

After July first C. O. D. packages will be transmissible by parcel post. This will be a great convenience to the business community but what is more needed is some arrangement whereby we can all get things on credit.

WELL A MILE DEEP

Spur Has A Well 4,489 Feet Deep—Still Drilling Want Artesian Water.

Wednesday of this week driller Minnihan of the Spur deep well informed the Texas Spur that he had reached a depth of 4,489 feet, and that the drilling with small exception continued in the hard flint rock encountered several months ago. Recently a thin strata of shale and dirt was passed through but the hard rock was again struck the first of the week and the drilling is now being done in the granite-like formation.

The well is now near unto one mile in depth and considerably the deepest well in the state, and in all probability the deepest in the United States. The drilling will continue indefinitely unless a flow of artesian water, oil or gas is encountered.

The project is being financed by S. M. Swenson & Sons, of Wall Street, New York, and their success in the undertaking to secure a flow of artesian water for Spur will be of inestimable value to both the town and county.—The Texas Spur.

The bill provides for the holding of court at Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo and Pecos.

In addition the bill would transfer Waco from the Western to the Northern district and would create a new division in the Northern district with court at Wichita Falls.

Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, June 2, 1913.—Monday gluts at Chicago have come to be the rule in the cattle trade, and the rule was working today. The supply here was moderate at 8,000 head and prices here are steady in spite of a decline at the Lake market. Recent events show Chicago to be the beefy market, local supplies running rather light, even when some stock cattle enroute to the Northwest are included here. Prices made small gains last week, except on heavy fed steers, which are no better than a week ago. Some big Nebraska steers brought $8.15 and $8.25 today, and light mixed yearlings went up to $8.40. Pulpers brought $7.80 to $8.05 today, about like a week ago, and caked Texas steers sold at $6.75 to $7.65 today, a shade better than last week, and considered strong today. Grass steers from South Texas brought $5.50 to $6.70 today. Country purchases are up to the limit of the supply, good pastures and hopeful crop prospects stimulating the trade even though stock cattle prices are higher than a year ago, and fat cattle prices lower. Bulk of thin cattle sell at $7.00 to $7.85. Call for feeders is not urgent, country taste running largely to stock grades, with "come on" ability. A condition that will add strength to cattle prices this summer and some time ahead is extreme cattle scarcity on the Pacific Coast. Buyers from that section are making purchases within a radius of a 1000 miles at this time, and some fresh beef is being sent from Eastern Packing centers to the hotel trade on the Pacific coast.

Hogs are selling well, though meeting a few reverses. Eastern killers are taking some hogs, and that is a strong feature. The stuff is cutting up at a profit here also, and growers are making money, an agreeable situation all around. Run today is 9,000 here prices off 5 cents, top $8.72 1-2, bulk $8.55 to $8.70. Average weight here last week 208 pounds.

Sheep and lambs are uneven, sheep holding up strong, lambs weakening. Run today 11,000, yearling lambs up to $8.05, springers worth up to $8.50, of the right kind, Texas muttons $5.00 to $5.65, clipped native muttons up to $5.75, a few goats available at $3.50 to $4.00.

Elderly Lady Passes Away.

Last Friday night at 11 o'clock Mrs. Elizabeth Kimmel, wife of J. S. Kimmel deceased, after a rather brief illness breathed her last. She was 84 years of age and resided on her farm just south of town, on which place she had lived continuously for 52 years. She was a member of the Baptist Church in Kentucky before coming to Texas but never united with any church here. The nearest relative to mourn her death is her step-son, Mr. Pen Kimmel, who resides at Old Town.—Mount Calm Banner.

There's a reason why the Eclipse Windmill is more generally used than any other, and not one reason only—but many.

In the first place, it is the best proportioned mill made. That is, the parts are all made strong enough to stand any strain to which they may be subjected.

Then the Eclipse governs itself with more ease in high winds. The weight arm being geared to the vane hinge makes a more positive governor than the kind that hang with a chain. The upper guide is of the strongest construction and has the longest bearings of any mill made. The wood parts are made of the best selected bass wood and are hand painted, not dipped in paint like many others. Hand painting causes the paint to penetrate the wood and lengthens the life of both the wood and paint.

Only the most skilled workmen are employed in building the Eclipse. For efficiency, durability and greatest power the Eclipse is a world beater.

We have the largest stock of Pipe, Cylinders, Sucker Rod and all Well Fittings carried on the South Plains.

THE FLY DECALOGUE

The health department of Ashville, N. C., has issued what it terms "The Good Citizen's Decalogue," dealing with the fly and sanitary problems, as follows:

1. Remember thy garbage can to keep it covered, less thy garbage become a stench in the nostrils of the people and breed flies.
2. Thou shalt cut the weeds in thy vacant lot, lest it become a hiding place for old tin cans, which catch water and breed mosquitoes; papers and divers sort of trash.
3. Thou shalt bear witness against thy neighbor's rubbish heap, likewise his dirty back yard.
4. Thou shalt clean out the habitation of thy horse and thy cow frequently, lest the table fly flourish and spread infantile paralysis, and the housefly breed by the thousands and millions and annoy thee and thy beast and produce much sickness in thy family.
5. Thou shalt prevent the breeding of the fly in the spring-time, that thy children unto the third and fourth generation need not swat him later.
6. Remember thy back yard and alley, to keep them clean. Six days shalt thou labor to keep thy premises clean, and if yet the task is not accomplished, thou couldst do worse than continue on the seventh.
7. Thou shalt covet all the air and sunshine thou canst obtain.
8. Look not upon the milk when it cometh from the unclean dairy; for the doctor will not hold the guiltless if thy infant sickeneth therefrom and die.
9. Remember thy cleaning-up day, and keep it wholly.
10. If thou dost harken unto these sayings, to do them, thou shalt live long in the land.

The statement "men that ruin themselves drinking, are worthless anyway, and would never amount to anything," is saloon talk, and basely false. Liquor killed S. S. Prentiss, the colossal orator, Marshall, the great lawyer. Many of the brightest minds of the Nation, have filled drunkard's graves, and others are going the same way. These and all other saloon victims will confront saloon voters and politicians in the day of final account. Liquor dollars and political honors will burn like firebrands then.

The man who has enemies amounts to something. He is a live man. He is a fighter. People don't kick a corpse. A live man can swim against the current; a corpse floats down without hindrance. God bless our enemies. We love them. They make life worth living.

We are now approaching the barefoot season when the small boy is unhappy if he is not allowed to blister his feet on the hot walks, cut them on sharp edged objects, run pieces of glass into them and knock off the nails from the big toes, such is life with the small boy.

The prosperity of a town depends chiefly upon the confidence the people have in it. No town can prosper whose citizens are untrue to it.

Good schools, good churches and good roads never fail to make a good town.

UNITED CHARITIES

Lubbock, as well as every other town of any size and importance should have United Charities. This is not only essential from the viewpoint of helping the needy, but for the purpose of protecting the people against undeserving men and women, who constantly bother the people of the town begging for money. There are often worthy cases, we doubt not, and there are also a great number of impostors. United Charities are conducted in such a manner that every case is given thorough investigation by a person, named for that position, and if worthy is given all the assistance necessary, while on the other hand if found to be unworthy they are shuffled out of town and the public is no longer bothered with them, and our money is not thrown away. Thousands of dollars are squandered by Lubbock people every year in this way, then why not protect ourselves in the manner suggested above, and those who are willing to give can pay into the charity fund and let it be distributed where it is rightfully needed.

Harral Webb Dead

Information reached this city a few days ago of the death of Harral Webb, which occurred in a Fort Worth Hospital. Harral was eighteen years of age and was a son of Mrs. Webb of Hale Center, who spent the past nine or ten months in Lubbock sending her children to the Lubbock High School. Deceased was a bright young fellow, having made splendid progress in his studies during the school term. He was taken ill the week before he left Lubbock, but rallied and went to his mother's home in Hale Center, she having moved back when school was out. His condition grew worse however and he was taken to Fort Worth for treatment. An operation was first performed for appendicitis, and then in a few days for a liver complaint, from which operation he did not recover. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community, and especially the many friends the family formed while here.

Ed Vaughn was here the latter part of the week and loaded his wagons with silo material with which to erect two large silos on the McMillan ranch. Mr. McMillan is irrigating quite a large acreage this year as well as dry-farming and will no doubt have an immense amount of feed stuff to take care of this fall.

H. B. Murray, of Post City was here Monday. He is working in the interest of the State Agricultural Department, and will return later in the week to see further after the needs of this locality, that his department can assist to rectify.

ENGINEERS TEST TRACK

Exhaustive Tests Upon Capacity of New Track on the Cut-Off Just Completed

Recently the Santa Fe engineering department has been conducting a series of exhaustive tests of the new track, especially that extending from Lubbock to Coleman, and commonly known as the Cut-off.

In making these tests a special car, known as the Dynamometer was used and the work was done under the supervision of Mr. W. C. Ledington of the engineering department. Carried and operated in this car are special instruments which register the load in tons, speed per hour or for any given time, draw bar pull, air pressure, wind gauge, resistance of curves, amount of coal used, amount of water used, and will also show grades of track and the bad spots. A number of trips were made over the line with loads varying from very heavy to very light and a complete record was kept, and the result was demonstrated that the track on the cut-off is equal to any in Texas, if not superior, and that it has few equals in the United States even.

Work on the grade between Lubbock and Texico has been completed and tracklaying is now being carried on rapidly, the new track is being leveled, ballasted and finished as it is being laid and will be of the same character as that already completed between Coleman and Lubbock. Ninety pound steel rails are used, heavy creosote treated cross ties and hard stone ballast. About thirty-five miles of track is now completed out of Lubbock.

As soon as the gap between Lubbock and Texico is closed improved passenger service will be put on, and three or more trains each way daily will be run between Galveston and Belen. The freight service will be improved and the big Mallet compound locomotives, among the largest in the world, will be put in service throughout the line. The Santa Fe company has recently bought seventy-seven new engines which are now being put into service.

F. V. Neal transacted business in Hale Center the latter part of last week.

TEXICO CUT-OFF

Clovis Journal Says This Stretch of Road Will Be Completed By October 1st.

From reports received by the Journal from the camps along the right of way of the new Gulf to Clovis line which is having its last link between Clovis and Lubbock, Texas, completed now, it will not be later than October the first when the first "chocchoo" train will drive into Clovis.

The head of the construction department tells us that they are laying the steel now at the rate of 3500 feet per day and there is yet only about 65 miles to complete, the camp being several miles this side of Lubbock early in the week. There is yet, counting side track, 110 miles of steel to put down.

A big celebration will be held at Clovis to commemorate the event. The Chamber of Commerce is working now upon a tentative program. — Clovis Journal.

Cowpeas

Texas Industrial Congress

COWPEAS—PLANTING AND CULTIVATION

Floating in the air over every acre of soil, there are over seventy million pounds of nitrogen; and yet nitrogen is the element of plant food in which soils are most often deficient and for which plants most often suffer. To buy nitrogen in the form of fertilizers costs twenty cents a pound, and the nitrogen bill makes up over one-half the total cost of all fertilizers ordinarily used. Yet nature has provided plants that if grown upon the ground and then turned under are able to reach up into this vast supply, and drag it down into the soil, and put it where plants can get it at a very small fraction of this cost. These are the legumes of which the ordinary cowpea is a very important member. To those who know the benefits to soil of a crop of peas it never ceases to be a wonder that they are not grown to a very much greater extent upon every farm in the South, and it is to teach their value that an acre has been included in the Model Farm Contest of The Texas Industrial Congress. It is astonishing, judging from the number of inquiries, the lack of knowledge of this plant among so many farmers, and this bulletin is written as a quick means of answering these inquiries.

What is known as the ordinary Southern cowpea is really a bean and there are many different species included under this one name. They differ all the way from their habits of fruiting, time of maturity, and from making scarcely any vine at all to very heavy vine producers. For pounds of nitrogen collected from the atmosphere these many varieties differ very little in proportion to the number of pounds of vegetable matter made. But that variety will be manifestly best for this purpose that makes the greatest growth under given conditions. Like all plants that are grown over a wide area, there are many varieties of peas, and the same variety often bear a widely different name. In selecting a variety then, to plant for soil renovation it is well to study closely its growing habits and plant that variety which experience or other information teaches will make the most vine. Peas are probably less affected by change of soil than any other plants, so it is not, as a rule, necessary to pay much attention to where the seeds were grown; although, all else being equal, it is advisable to take home-grown seed. Peas are subject to the disease known as root-rot, that is so common in cotton, and, for that reason, care should be exercised in planting them upon such land. There is one variety of peas, however, that will resist or is not subject to this disease, which is known as the Iron pea. Fortunately, it is one of the best vine producers known, so it should always be planted where land is affected with root-rot.

While peas have a wonderful knack of making a fairly good growth on even the poorest prepared land, they do much better when proper care is taken in this respect. Deep plowing always pays well with them, and the better condition the soil is in the more certain and remunerative will be the crop. The nitrogen gathering power of peas is due to the action of certain organisms that attach themselves to the roots of the plants. Sometimes these organisms do not exist in the soil, and, as a consequence, the peas will not do well. Many of the failures, especially in the dryer sections, can be traced directly to the absence of this germ. When absent, however, it can be supplied in a number of ways. The best, cheapest and surest way of doing this is by the addition of a few loads of stable manure. Scatter it broadcast and harrow it in some little time in advance of planting the peas, and there will generally be no trouble upon this score. One can also inoculate soils for peas by scattering a few hundred pounds of soil taken from a field that has already produced peas, or one can buy a material specially prepared for this purpose. Peas, of course do not require nitrogen in the fertilizers used upon them, but they are very heavy users of both phosphoric acid and of potash, and it is well to see that they are well supplied with these materials. On ordinary loam soils it generally pays well to apply three to four hundred pounds of acid phosphate for peas. On the more sandy soils equal parts by weight of acid and of kaintit would probably give better results. If the soil is very poor it sometimes pays to add also about a hundred and fifty pounds of cottonseed meal at the time of planting so as to enable the peas to grow off while waiting for the nitrogen germ to set in its work.

All fertilizer should be added about the time, or just before, planting. It can either be placed broadcast upon the land and harrowed in or it can be placed in the drill just ahead of the planting.

With favorable weather conditions peas will grow until frost, especially those that make most vine; so, while they can be planted almost any time after the weather gets warm, the sooner they are planted the more growth will they make and the greater will be the benefit from them. While using large quantities of moisture peas at the same time require well drained land, and are able to make good growth on dry soils because their long tap roots enable them to draw moisture from great depths. They can be sown broadcast, in which event they will not require any further working, or, better still, they can be sown in drills eighteen inches to two feet apart and given one or two workings. If the season is dry, or it is late in the season the land had best be broken flat, and the drilling done thereon. Early in the season or with poorly drained lands it is well to sow them upon a slight bed. When sown broadcast it is well to use from a bushel and a half to two bushels of seed to the acre, depending somewhat upon the size of the peas, as they differ very materially in this respect. In drilling them aim to place one pea plant every two inches in the drill. They will require no thinning. After-cultivation consists simply in keeping down weeds and grass, and keeping the soil loose. Ordinarily they will require not more than two cultivations as by that time the vines will cover the ground. Peas are sometimes planted in corn, and in the more humid sections this is always to be recommended. They may be planted in a drill upon each side of the row of corn, or may be sown broadcast between the rows just before the last working. By following this practice and then turning under everything after the corn has been gathered the land is very much improved for next year's crop, and at the same time the corn that is growing upon the land is helped. This practice is not so advisable, however, in the dryer sections as the peas are apt to rob the corn of needed moisture.

Immediately after wheat or oats are out cowpeas should be planted on the stubbleland. John K. Mann, of Louisville, Ky., was here this week looking after interests in this section of Texas.

ARTISTS FIND A NEW ROLE

They Will Help Dressmakers of Paris in Setting Fashions for Women's Dress.

For the first time probably in the history of art and fashion the dressmaker and painter are about to join hands with a view to promoting the creation of new forms or the adaptation of old ones in women's dress.

The idea originated with a great dressmaker confiding his project to M. de la Gondara, one of the foremost of French painters of women, and making him to take it up.

"I refused at first," said de la Gondara in an interview, "because the couturier regarded the painter as a possible creator of new fashions, whereas I have always considered that fashion is the natural reflection of a period. Thus the imperial regime imposed, quite naturally, the imperial custom of antique style—Greek or Roman."

M. de la Gondara's principle was admitted, however, and he accepted the leadership of the movement. The association will hold periodical exhibitions to which portrait painters and sculptors will contribute the product of their own conceptions and ideals. The vice-president of the new association is the well known artist, Willette.

PROVIDING FOR THE FUTURE

Philadelphia Hotel Proprietor Prepares for Time When Flying Machines Will Be Common.

You can fly directly to one of the most prominent Philadelphia hotels and land on the elegantly equipped aeroplane landing which is now in process of construction, and expected to be finished shortly. Though probably by the time you get your aeroplane such landings will be established all over the country. For if this one is a success the proprietor is going to erect a series of similar ones in different cities.

The landing of the platform is large and adequate, being about 100 feet long by 50 feet wide. And there are to be a series of buffers with sand bags attached to break the momentum of the machine. There will also be a trap to catch the aeroplanes and prevent them from falling off the roof.

So far, however, nothing has been said as to whether the price of the top floor rooms in the hotel will take a tumble owing to the quite natural disturbance which may result from the landing of the noisy machines directly over one's head.

PERILS OF THE BYSTANDER.

Novel legal decisions? Oh, yes, they're still being made—no end to 'em, in fact. Why, just the other day two women appeared before a Chicago judge laying claim to a bulldog. The judge was kind hearted. He didn't want to give each woman half of the dog, having some consideration, you see, for the feelings of the dog. So he gave the entire animal to a third woman, who was merely an innocent bystander. This instance serves to emphasize the extreme peril in which the innocent bystander always stands. Yet others will persist in playing the I. B. role.

NEW ENGLAND HUMOR.

A New England farmer had lost his cow; he enlisted the sympathy and co-operation of a brother farmer and together they set out to find her. A little way down the road they came to a sign, "Sixty Miles to Manchester." A mile or so farther on they were confronted by another guide post, "Ninety Miles to Winchester."

"Waal," said the owner of the cow, "if the man chased her sixty miles and the wind chased her ninety, whaar is she?"

Bocker—Yes; there isn't any fountain sword.—Judge.

GOT HER NUMBER.

"She's an odd woman."

"I hadn't noticed it. In what way?"

"She's his third wife."

Sweetwater, Texas.

Gentlemen:—

On the 29th day of April 1913, I entered your institution and began taking your treatment, and left the institution on the 9th day of May, 1913.

I had a very severe case of rheumatism for which I had been unable to get any relief whatever; and in addition to this, for fifteen years I had been unable to put my right hand to my head on account of a dislocation of the shoulder. After a ten days course of treatment I am entirely relieved, have good use of all my limbs and feel like a new man.

My general physical condition had also affected my eyes until I could hardly read, even with glasses, but now they are as good as ever, as remedying the other ailments of my body has removed all defects from them.

I heartily and conscientiously recommend the Grogan Wells and Boone Institute of Massage to all sufferers

Respectfully,

(Signed) M. L. BENNETT.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Riley and children came in Saturday from Lubbock where they had been visiting Luke's brother, George, for a few days. YOAKUM COUNTY

A telephone message was received here this morning from Brownfield stating that Frank Tiernan, son of Sheriff Geo. E. Tiernan, died last night from injuries received yesterday afternoon from falling off a chuck wagon, while on cow works. It seems that when the boy fell from the wagon one wheel passed over his head, breaking the skull and causing death in a few hours afterwards. Little Frank was about twelve years old and was an exceedingly bright youth. Every one in Brownfield was his friend, because he possessed all the qualities that makes a popular youth, and his death will be a source of much regret by all who knew him. He was the oldest of Mr. and Mrs. Tiernan's children and his loss will be a terrible blow to them. Under such circumstances consoling words are empty sounds and time alone can in the least lighten such a burden of grief.

Before the Commissioners' Court organized as a board of equalization Monday, it let the contract to work the Plains and Brownfield road, from Mr. Watkins' place to the county line. A. C. Copeland of Terry county was the successful bidder, who took the contract for $475. He was given 60 days in which to finish the work and will commence it in about ten days.

The Commissioners sat as a board of equalization Monday and Tuesday, and made some reductions in the assessment of livestock. They reduced the valuation of stock cattle from $15 dollars to $10; they put a valuation of $25 per head on two year old steers, and lowered the valuation on horses from $25 to $10.

CHECKS AND BANK ACCOUNTS

John McGee owed Warren Gordon five dollars for a couple of loads of cordwood. Gordon, having delivered the wood at McGee's residence, went to McGee's store to secure his money. McGee drew out his check book and signed a check in the usual form, instructing his bank to pay to Gordon the sum of five dollars. This was on Tuesday afternoon about two o'clock. The bank did not close until four, but Gordon, knowing that McGee was a responsible man of means and not needing the cash at that time, decided he wouldn't cash the check at once, but would keep it until he needed money at the end of the week. Wednesday passed with the bank open for business in the usual way, but again Gordon did not present the check for payment. On Thursday Gordon heard rumors that the bank was in difficulties and might fail, so he hastened to its doors only to find that he was too late and that they had already been closed. The failure proved complete.

Gordon went to McGee and asked that he be paid his five dollars, insisting that it was McGee's bank that had failed and that he had never received his pay for the wood delivered. McGee inquired into all the circumstances and pointed out that had Gordon presented the check for payment on either Tuesday afternoon or anytime Wednesday it would have been paid in full. McGee further stated that he had the money on deposit in the bank and it had been lost. Had Gordon presented the check within a reasonable time five dollars, at least, would have been saved, and there was no reason why McGee should lose the five dollars a second time. Before the law McGee's position was correct, he was not required to make good the check, Gordon having failed to present it for payment when he reasonably might have at a time when it would have been paid in full.

The payment of obligations by checks on bank accounts is a familiar business procedure in every community, and an examination of the legal relations of the banker, the depositor who signs the check and the person to whom he gives it, is of the greatest practical importance. Let us examine the legal significance of a check, the requirements of a good check and the obligations of the various parties to it.

The form of a bank check is familiar enough to all of us. It is usually prepared by filling in ink or pencil blank spaces in the printed form provided by the bank. But the entire check may be written, and checks have been prepared on many substances besides paper. Lumbermen have whittled out a smooth shingle and written their checks thereon. A young profligate in jail after a spree once tore off his cuff and wrote on it a check to obtain funds to secure his release. The requirement is that the check be in writing of some kind, which includes typewriting, etc. It is addressed to a stated bank, which is directed to "Pay to the order of John Jones" or "Pay to the order of Bearer," a certain sum of money. These words, "pay to the order of," are necessary to the negotiability of the check—that is necessary so that it may fulfill all the legal requirements and be capable of passing by indorsement, etc. A check may be drawn to "Bills Payable," or "Rent," or "Cash," and is then payable to bearer.

There is no legal requirement that a check be dated, but this is a wise and almost invariable custom. Any legal holder of a check may fill in the true date where it has been left blank. A check may be dated in the past, or in the future. If dated in the past it is payable at once, and if dated in the future it is payable on or after its date. While the words "on demand" are not used in a check, they are implied in law, the understanding being that the bank is instructed by its depositor to pay to the order of John Jones on demand.

A check must be signed by the depositor and usually in his own hand, though contract relations between bank and depositor may authorize the use of a rubber stamp, or some such device in place of a written signature.

In law the person who draws a check and gives it to another is understood to agree that he will stand back of the check and see to it that the person receiving it secures the money for which it calls, provided he handles it in a proper and reasonable manner. If the person receiving a check presents it to the bank within a reasonable time, and the bank dishonors the check, and he then gives notice of this to the person who drew it, that drawer is bound to pay to him the amount of the check. A check should be presented during business hours by a person entitled to receive money on it on the next business day after receipt, at the latest. As we noticed in the case of John McGee and Warren Gordon, if the check is not presented within this time, and the bank fails, the loss must fall upon the person who failed to present it. But if the depositor suffer no loss because of the delay in presenting the check he cannot escape liability if it is dishonored. Thus if Warren Gordon had carelessly kept McGee's check several days before presenting it for payment and in the meantime McGee had withdrawn his account from the bank, there being no failure, McGee would have been bound to see that Gordon received the amount of the check.

If a check is received drawn upon a bank in another city it cannot, of course be presented for payment on that or the next business day, so it is sufficient if the check is put in course of collection on the business day following its receipt. One should be as prompt in giving notice to the drawer of the refusal of the bank to pay a check as to put it in course of collection.

A check that is drawn payable to "Bearer" may be transferred simply by delivery; handing it from one to another. If the check is drawn payable to "John Jones," John Jones may transfer it by indorsement—that is, by writing his name on the back. If he indorses in blank he simply writes his name "John Jones" across the end of the blank of the check, when it is payable to anyone who may hold it. If John Jones should write, "Pay to the order of Sam Smith, John Jones," Sam Smith alone would then have the right to present it for payment or transfer it by further indorsement. The blank indorsement of the person presenting the check at the bank is of course, sufficient to transfer the legal rights in the check to the bank.

One who takes a check from another usually requires that he indorse it even though it be already indorsed in blank or payable to bearer. This is because the person who indorses a check to another is understood in law to make certain promises to the person to whom he indorses the check even though he does nothing further than write his name on the check. The indorser engages that when the check is properly presented at the bank it will be paid, and if it is not paid and notice is given to him he will pay the amount to the person to whom he transferred the check or any other who may subsequently receive it by proper indorsement. Thus when you indorse a check you make that promise to all future holders of the check. If you are compelled to make it good you may have recourse in turning against those who transferred the check to you and whose names appear on the back as endorsers, or on the face as signers.

While the bank owes a duty to depositor to pay his proper check drawn against an adequate deposit, the banker is not bound to pay any check, as against a holder of it. The rights of the holder are against the signer of the check, and those who transferred it to him. But if a bank certifies a check it becomes bound to pay it to a proper holder. Certification of a check is secured by presenting it to the cashier of the bank against which it is drawn. Upon determining that the signer has funds sufficient to cover the check on deposit, and seeing to it that they are set aside for that purpose, and the cashier marks "Certified" across the face of the check and adds his official signature. The funds to cover this check are then withdrawn from the control of the depositor who signed the check and he may not stop payment of it, or withdraw the funds to cover it. The bank becomes absolutely bound to pay it and the check is as good as the bank. Usually the person who signs a check has it certified in order that one to whom he would give it in payment of an obligation will be more ready to receive it. His liabilities on the check remain the same if he has it certified. But if one who holds the check, other than the person who drew it, has it certified, he then in effect says that he chooses to look to the bank for payment of the check, and the depositor who signed it and all who indorsed it before him are relieved from their liabilities, the bank alone becoming liable to the holder.

If an ordinary check comes to you the safe procedure is to either present it to the bank on which it is drawn and secure the cash, or to deposit it in your own bank for collection, and do this within twenty-four hours after it is received, or at least on the next business day. It may seem immediately convenient to turn another's check over to a third party, but if you do so recognize the risks involved. The safe procedure is to cash the check you have and pay the third party by your own personal check on your own account or with the cash received.

Because some fellow tells you the labor necessary to build a frame house is also correspondingly low compared with the labor required to build of some other materials. Because you know wood decays, don't discard it without comparing some of the old houses of different construction that have been standing for years here at home. Wood under right conditions will wear for generations. And then consider carefully the climatic changes to which your home will be subjected. Crosbyton's New Postmistress

The news has been received in Crosbyton that Mrs. Kate G. Burke has been appointed Postmistress in Crosbyton. She has not yet received her commission and it is not known how long it will be before it arrives or how long until she will take charge of the postoffice.

Mrs. Burke is well qualified for the position and will in our opinion make us a postmistress second to none. She is strictly business and will give the public every accommodation that can be expected. Her many friends are extending to her their hearty congratulation on her success. - Crosbyton Review.

LITTLEFIELD CELEBRATION

Preparations Being Made for a Big Blow-Out at the New Town to the Northwest of Us.

Littlefield, Lamb County, Tex., June 2nd.-Arrangements have just been made with the General Passenger Agent of the Santa Fe Ry. to run special excursions from all parts of the country, as the business demands, into Littlefield July 3rd and 4th, at which time the formal opening of the town and advent of the railroad into Littlefield will be celebrated. Local train service will be installed for the occasion between here and Lubbock and ample sleeping accommodations will be provided in tourist sleepers.

A unique program is being arranged for the occasion. Music by a West Texas Band and speaking by prominent men of the State will entertain the crowd on the night of the 3rd, while on the morning of the 4th one of the biggest round-ups ever attempted on the South Plains together with a realistic broncho busting exhibition will be "pulled off" by the cowboys of the Yellow House Ranch and adjoining ranches. Dinner will be served to the visitors from gridirons and ranch chuck wagons. Amusements of general interest will be provided for the afternoon program.

A cordial invitation is heartily extended to the people of the Panhandle to be present upon this auspicious occasion and to co-operate with the new town of Littlefield in entertaining the visitors from distant points, upholding the splendid reputation of whole-souled hospitality enjoyed by the Plains citizens.

TINIEST TEACHER ON RECORD

Librarian Learned Little Tot Was Giving Reading Lessons to Grown-up Italian Girl.

By standing very straight, he could just look across the top of the librarian's desk. His eyes met the librarian's squarely when she accused him of having kept "Fifty Famous Stories" out for three months. He explained that he had left it for a day at the end of each two weeks, and the librarian, accepting the explanation, considered the matter settled. Five minutes later, when she glanced up from her work, she found him still there.

"Little boy, what do you want?" she cried.

"Please, ma'am, that book."
 The librarian looked at him helplessly. "But you've had it three months already. Why don't you take some other?"

"Because that's the only one she likes. I've tried another, and she won't look at it."

"She?" the librarian repeated, inquiringly.

"Yes'm. The one I teach."

"You mean your teacher?" the librarian corrected him.

"No, ma'am, the girl I teach."

The librarian put down her pen, and gave her full attention to the matter.

"How old is she?" she asked.

The diminutive teacher eyed her critically. "Bout as big as you," he decided. "She's an Eytalian. Her father mends shoes in the basement at the corner of the avvio. He's mean to her; and she can't talk English, and she don't know anybody, and she cries lots. So I'm teaching her to read, 'evenings."

"Don't you get sleepy?" the librarian asked. There was no amusement in her voice now.

The boy nodded, half-ashamed. "Yes, ma'am, sometimes. But," he brightened up, "but she's 'learnin', and when she knows English she'll like this better than Italy, you see!"

A moment later the smallest teacher was hopping down the steps; he carried the "Fifty Famous Stories" under his arm. And back in the library the librarian was thinking many things! - Youth's Companion.

NOT LOADED.

Mrs. Wise-Will you come home straight from the club tonight?

Mr. Wise-You mean to come straight home.

Mrs. Wise-No, I mean to come home straight-no zigzag walking.

DECEPTIVE APPEARANCE.

An old family coach, with the driver on the box, was waiting at the railway station. Beside the carriage stood a gentleman who had come down to welcome his brother home.

The expected guest was a portly old Virginian who tipped the scales at 250 pounds.

When the old negro coachman espied the incoming train-rounding a curve, he exclaimed:

"I know Marse William's on dere, Marse Frank, 'cause see how dat kyar kreens!" - Youth's Companion.

GUARDING A TREASURE.

"We have a jewel of a cook!"

"That's fine!"

"Yes. Only we have to eat at a restaurant three times a week to keep her from complaining of overwork."

LOST HER VOICE.

"She's the most popular woman in her set."

"She used to be until she won three card prizes in a row."

WHICH IS WORSE?

"The doctors say that auto riding causes flat feet."

"Yes, and flat purses."

INDICATIONS OF IT.

"Aunt Prim says she likes chops."

"I don't wonder with that hatchet face."

The Detroit Vapor Stoves Just The Kind of Modern Stoves That Housewives Have Been Wanting For Years

In cities where there is a public gas plant, almost every modern dwelling has its gas stove. Housewives have become educated to the convenience, comfort and cleanliness of gas. And those who are situated in the suburbs, on a farm or at a summer place where they can't get gas, want gas stove convenience and comfort just the same.

The Detroit Vapor Oil and Gasoline Stoves, because of their many excellent features, are the only ones that completely meet this demand.

The Big Point of Difference Between Detroit Vapor Stoves and Others

Detroit Vapor Stoves have no wicks or perforated metal rings. The gasoline or oil flows directly to the burner through an iron pipe. There is no generator valve and this avoids the danger of leakage or trouble if the flow of fuel is momentarily stopped. The burners are a remarkable new type that light instantly and make the burning of oil or gasoline as safe and convenient as gas.

Points in Favor of the Detroit

- Burns oil or gasoline, still looks like a handsome gas stove.
- Burners need no generating-light instantly like gas. Flame can't blow out, causing inconvenience and danger.
- Children can't get themselves into trouble by tampering with valves. Detroit Vapor
- Stove valves are fitted with safety locks. The valves will not rust or leak. They are made of special brass and pure German silver.
- No worry, trouble or delay in lighting burners.
- Valves at the front same as on gas stoves. Flame is directly under cooking utensils.

WHY EVERY WOMAN WHO SEES IT WANTS ONE

No woman wants to stand over a hot coal or wood stove in the summer time and swelter while she cooks. The Detroit will give a hot steady flame only when needed for cooking-a hot oven and a cool kitchen at the same time.

For further particulars about these stoves, I suggest that you call at my store and we will be pleased to explain to you more fully the operations of the Detroit Vapor Stove.

WILL FORFEIT SCHOOL LAND

State "Relief Act" for Nonpayment of Interest Will Become Effective July 1st

Austin, Texas, May 26.—Land Commissioner Robison stated today that he would make forfeitures of school land for nonpayment of interest immediately after July 1, the date the "relief act" becomes effective. The interest was due Nov. 1, 1912. Under the relief act a board of appraisers is to be appointed by the Governor to value all forfeited lands where the former owner or purchaser desires to buy same. The original purchaser will have a preference right to buy the land at the price fixed by the appraisers. If he can not pay the price, then the land goes on the market subject to sale to the best bidder. The new law applies to all forfeited land which has not been resold. There are many forfeitures of former years. The act was based on the ground that in the mad land rush under the sealed bidding system the prices obligated were too high, and then drouths came in the West, making payments impossible.

It is up to the Governor to announce the names of the three appraisers who will value the lands when application is made to buy same. He will probably name them before July 1.

HEALTHY LIVER MAKES BEAUTY

Famous Actress Finds that a Healthy Liver is Necessary to Good Looks and Youthfulness

One of the best known women of the American stage is writing a series of articles on the preservation of beauty. She attaches great importance to keeping the liver active at all times, and she is right. Neither good looks nor happiness will stay long with any man or woman who lets the liver get lazy and sluggish.

It is not always safe to take calomel, the old liver remedy. Doctors agree that it is a very uncertain drug. But The Red Cross Drug and Jewelry Store has a remedy for sale that they guarantee to take the place of calomel absolutely, and still be harmless, causing no restriction of habit or diet. This remedy is Dodson's Liver Tone.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting vegetable liquid, but it starts the liver gently and surely and relieves constipation and biliousness so promptly that it has become a dependable remedy in thousands of homes in the United States. There are scores of families in this vicinity who will not be without it in the house and who would not think of starting on a trip without a bottle of it.

The Red Cross Drug and Jewelry Store has sold so much Dodson's Liver Tone that they are convinced of its merit and will give any person his 50 cents back, who buys a bottle and does not find that it takes the place of calomel to perfection.

Prof. J. K. Wester and family have gone to Canyon City and will be absent about two months. Some Figures on Cost of Irrigation

During a talk made by Mr.
Layne, a great many questions were asked with reference to amount of water required to put an inch of water over one acre of ground, the cost of pumping, etc.

I have taken the time to compile some figures that may prove interesting to those who are interested in putting in plants. I want to state that I have taken into consideration all the facts I could get together, and I believe that if you will file the figures away, and when you get your plant running, compare them and see if they do not tally.

These figures were not made to boost anybody's pump, or that of land values, but it will show that when a pump concern guarantees you a certain amount of water that you should make him come across with the goods, for every 100 gallons of water per minute means something like 25 cents per hour additional cost.

These figures are made on a basis of 6 irrigations for alfalfa, and 4 for corn, cotton, maize, kaffir, wheat and oats. Except for alfalfa, one irrigation is figured before planting and 3 during the crop season. Following is a table of estimate cost:

For a plant furnishing 500 gallons per minute, cost per inch,
$1.00.

For a plant furnishing 1000 gallons per minute, cost per inch 75
cents.

For a plant furnishing 1500
gallons per minute, cost per inch 55 cents.

For a plant furnishing 2000
gallons per minute, cost per inch 40 cents.

Cost per acre 500 gallon plant, alfalfa, $24.00; 1000 gallon plant,
$18.00; 1500 gallon plant, $13.20;
2000 gallon plant, $9.60.

Cost 500 gallon plant for corn, maize (row stuff), $12.00; 1000
gallon $9.00; 1500 gallons $6.60; 2000 gallon $4.80.

Cost 500 gallon plant per acre for wheat, oats (or flooding), $16.00; 1000 gallons $12.00; 1500 gallons $8.80; 2000 gallons $6.40.

Thus it will be seen that a plant furnishing less than 1000 gallons per minute would prove unprofitable for ordinary crops with ordinary yield and ordinary price for produce. These figures are made on a basis of pumping water 100 feet, and allows 24 inch irrigation for alfalfa, 16 inches for oats and wheat, 12 inches for corn, maize, kaffir and cotton. This estimate is made to cover all emergencies, and there will not likely be one season out of ten that so much irrigation will be required.

These figures are on a basis of all cost of fuel and labor while irrigating, and there are no allowances made for interest on investment and wear and tear of machinery.

With the large plant you can put this amount of water over 160 acres of land in two weeks, working ten hours per day, or in 5 or 6 days working night and day, whereas with a smaller plant can only go over 1-4 as much. It requires 30,000 gallons of water to put 1 inch over 1 acre.

NEW IDEAS IN ADVERTISING

Automobile Ragtime Band Wagon and Big Illuminated Balloon Used Recently in New York

The two newest ideas in outdoor advertising were noticed on Broadway recently, one during the day and the other at night.

The device during the day was popularizing a new creation in the ragtime line. It consisted of a large sightseeing automobile, draped with white cloth, on which was printed in black letters the title of the song. Seated on the auto, with just their heads and caps visible above the draperies, were the members of a brass band, who played ragtime airs with emphasis on the newest creation. While some persons stopped to look at the draped sightseer as it rolled along, almost everybody had his attention attracted by the music.

The advertisement, which is more effective at night, was a large balloon. The gas-bag was decorated with the name of a firm manufacturing chewing gum. By some scheme of illumination the name of the firm could easily be read from the sidewalk.

DOWRY OF MARGINAL SHILLINGS.

A friend of mine started the game of margins some years ago with the guineas. As an artist he was always paid with the guinea. To them was born a daughter, and it occurred to him to put aside the odd shillings to a savings bank account in the name of their daughter. The artist says that he never missed the marginal shillings; and the daughter, now twelve years old, has a pleasant little dowry accumulating against the time when she gains a husband or loses a father.—London Chronicle.

CANNIBAL'S DISH.

"My dear, listen to this, and tell me what you make of it," exclaimed the elderly English lady to her husband, on her first visit to the states.

She held the hotel menu almost at arm's length, and spoke in a tone of horror.

"Baked Indian pudding! Can it be possible in a civilized country?"

—Youth's Companion.

LOST ACCOMPLISHMENT.

"I presume you sometimes look back on your youth with a sigh of regret."

"Yes. It seems a long, long time since I could spell 'Popocatepetl.'"

FAILURE STILL.

"What's Bodkins doing now?"

"He's a demonstrator."

"What does he demonstrate?"

"His own unfitnes, chiefly."

HIS OBJECT.

"Why did you take rooms over that private detective agency?"

"Because I wanted to live above suspicion."

DESTINATION IN DOUBT.

"Poor old Bounders is dead. He was a real hot sport."

"Was or is?"

Protect Your Cattle and Poultry BY USING LEE'S

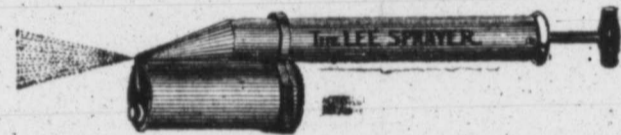

Flyo-Curo

Flyo-Curo is a liquid preparation for coating the surface of the hair of horses, cattle, and other domestic animals, to protect them from the bites of flies, biting, annoying, and insect pests that make life a burden to these animals during the summer and fall.

A cow will give double the quantity of milk; a horse will do more work and keep in better condition on less feed if protected from insects. It is money in your pocket—the feed saved will more than pay for the use of the remedy.

Price 35c, 60c and $1.00.
 Mfg. only by GEO. H. LEECO., Omaha, Neb.

This Remedy is applied nicely by means of the spray represented below which we have for sale

We handle this Dip in gallon cans and Barrels. And the Lice Killer in quart and half gallon cans.
