

BOY SCOUTS CHOPPED EN ACRES OF COTTON FOR LUBBOCK COUNTY FARMER WHO WAS UNABLE TO WORK

"A good deed every day." This scout motto has prompted the youths of Lubbock to do some splendid work throughout the past several years, and much credit is due their scout leaders for the good training they have had which enables them to apply the motto successfully.

The Junior and Senior troops of boy scouts reported at seven o'clock Friday morning at the home of a Lubbock county farmer who is sick and unable to work, and being well armed with hoes, they invaded his cotton field and hoed some ten acres of the crop.

Not being satisfied with this good work they went into the garden which had been neglected on account of the illness of its keeper. They chopped out all weeds, cut the ground and tended the growing plants as well as the corn, and after all this work had been completed they gave the place a thorough cleaning, and made some necessary repairs about the yards.

Rev. W. A. Bowen and O. Senabatt, scout masters, and assistant scoutmaster Ray Sams, were in the goodly group. Leaf Creamer, president of the club, is sending a party of scouts to the driver's home to return to town in five days after getting the creaming done away with it.

Lubbock's boy scouts are fine fellows, and are doing a noble work.

Clarendon College Quartette Will Be Here Monday Night

The Clarendon College Quartette, composed of the finest talent from that school, is to appear here Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

The entertainment, sponsored by the Epworth League, and already more than 500 tickets have been sold, is a more thorough canvass of the town will be made Monday.

The Clarendon College aggregation has established a reputation for entertaining and is not equaled by any other quartette on the road at this time. As the present evening from the time to the ridiculous their music will be enjoyed by the old and young alike.

Your support will be heartily appreciated by the Epworth League members and all deserve the entertainment.

RED CROSS PHARMACY

Keep the right—go slow around corners—two fools may meet—keep to the right and horn your horn for notice. Do not stop your car in center of street but if you have to stop go to the right to curb so as not to obstruct the right of way. Watch out for pedestrians—especially little children—and old people.

Miles.—You have now past the undertaker and the skull crossbones are riding the radiator sooner or later a hurry call doctor or undertaker with his glance and most likely a job for sexton and we trust only the driver is under the wreck.

Are you going for the ace or fleeing from constable count of the illness of your grip? Is the world a-crank and you are turning away by the light or are you loose in your head and going to get it tightened? Do not unload your passengers and in a wreck and the death angel will crack "never more" for the speed fiend has gone to the junk pile, leaving the dead, dying, cripples in his wake and safety has appeared on the streets and highway, once more.

85 miles or more—A lunatic at the wheel all in his wake prepare to meet his God—all passengers highly insured and their dead bodies more valuable than if living, the roads covered with dead pedestrians composed of little children and old people and if the driver escapes the death angel—a life time regret for his mangled rush to save time.

DRIVING AN AUTO IN TOWN.

Not over 8 miles—better too slow than too fast—go slow around corners—slow down at intersection of all streets for two fools may meet—keep to the right and horn your horn for notice. Do not stop your car in center of street but if you have to stop go to the right to curb so as not to obstruct the right of way. Watch out for pedestrians—especially little children—and old people.

Man will cause you regret to the end of time and pedestrians—keep your eye skinned and save your hides.

10 miles—dangerous and sooner or later the undertaker and sexton will be called or a hurry call for a doctor and a life time regret for the driver.

20 miles—going to a fire Mr. or is there a screw loose in your head? This driver needs a guardian or an examination for lunacy.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE FAVORABLE HERE

SLATON, Texas, June 30th, 1923. Crop conditions were never more favorable in this section of the South Plains. Cotton has improved very much with the favorable weather of the past three weeks. Corn and maize are siking and heading and a rain of any magnitude in the next two weeks will insure a bumper crop of these grains. The acreage of food stuff is twenty-five per cent in excess of 1922 as is also cotton. Farmers and business men are optimistic and much activity is being shown in all lines.

Lamesa Chamber Of Commerce Hold Annual Open Air Feed

LAMESA, June 29.—The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce held its annual open air banquet at the City Park on the night of Thursday 28th. There were about Three Hundred home people in attendance with several out of town visitors.

Some of the out of town speakers were George W. Briggs of Lubbock and H. B. Hatchett of Tahoka. An old fashioned basket supper was spread and Lamesa's Ten Thousand Dollar Band furnished music for the occasion. A nominating committee had been previously appointed and on this occasion submitted the names of thirty citizens from which fifteen were elected as directors for the new year. The following men were elected: E. E. Mathews, C. T. Watson, J. R. Williams, Jess Paulk, J. E. Garland, J. R. Lowrie, Elmer Barron, H. E. Williams, R. C. Harris, O. E. Oneal, W. O. Cape, R. R. on Monday will have an opportunity to witness some of the most unique stunts that have ever been flashed on the screen.

One of the most interesting and entertaining incidents is a log rolling or "log-birrelling" contest which is staged between two expert lumberjacks. As a test of skill in balance and surefootedness, slack-wire walking has nothing on this. Two men stand upright on a large slippery log in the centre of the stream. Each one of them proceeds to manipulate the log with his feet by leaning similar to a man trying to walk on a barrel or revolving globe. The log proceeds to spin faster and faster. The ease and dexterity with which these lumberjacks display in maintaining their footing on the rapidly revolving log is remarkable and is one of the entertaining incidents in the picture.

In one scene wherein a "log roller" strives to show his supremacy over another, rivalry and zeal overmaster wisdom. The log spinning became a real contest and one spinner was hurled from his revolving perch in to the chilly and turbulent river.

Of course, this was going beyond what the director had suggested, but it was the real thing as the camera caught it, and the scene will bring a grin to the face of every old timberjack who sees it flashed on the screen, and a sign of approval too, for it's genuine stuff, as is also the laughter and waving of pike poles of the other raftsmen as they watched the vanquished roller fight his way to shore.

STUDEBAKER

The Studebaker Light-Six

was designed by Studebaker engineers and is manufactured complete in the NEW STUDEBAKER PLANTS AT SOUTH BEND, IND., which are notable in design, size and equipment for efficient and economical manufacture.

The South Bend Plants contain 2,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000.

The South Bend Forge Plant cost $4,000,000, which alone is more than the total cost of many automobile companies.

And then there are:

- The machine plant which cost $7,000,000.
- The stamping plant which cost $4,000,000.
- The new foundries which will cost over $2,000,000.
- The power plants which cost $2,500,000.
- The assembly and stock plants which cost $5,000,000, as well as closed and open body plants, spring shops, etc.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants.

Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.

These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than a thousand dollars.

In actual car value per dollar of price, the Light-Six is in a class by itself. No prospective buyer of an automobile should ever see anything until he has seen and driven this car. It is backed by a corporation with $25,000,000 of actual net assets and a 24 year reputation for honest product and fair dealing.

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $25,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other makers have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

IN DEEP SYMPATHY.

The Press of the Panhandle, and in fact the entire state of Texas, hasten to express sympathy to editor Johnson, of the Hall County Herald, in his recent double bereavement. Only a few weeks past death claimed his father, W. A. Johnson, and only a few days ago, J. E. Johnson, who bravely stepped in and took up the work of his father as editor of the paper, suffered an even greater loss and one that sends grief deep into his bosom, when the death angel called again and summoned to her eternal home, his wife. The entire newspaper fraternity bows in sympathy with editor Johnson. In his last issue he penned the following paragraph, which indicates the very deep sorrow and grief that he is now living under, yet displaying a braveness that portrays that christian spirit that characterizes the bereaved husband. He says: "For the second time in eight weeks death has come into the Herald family, and sorrow gathers deep about our hearts. Following so shortly after the death of our father, we this week laid to her eternal rest our dear wife and helpmate who for fourteen years had stood by our side in trials and tribulations, happiness and joy. For fourteen years she had been our inspiration and our guide in times of trouble, our counselor when things looked dark and dreary, our co-rejoicer when things were bright and happy. Such a union is blessed of God, and is the greatest thing that can fall to the lot of any man or woman. But now she is gone. Our hearts are overflowing with sorrow and our bosoms are full to bursting with grief. Yet God in his wisdom has said that there will be a day of reuniting, in that world where no sorrow nor partings can ever come, and secure in his promises we look forward with longing eyes to that happy day, when we can again grasp to our breasts our loved ones who have gone before, there to be with them for eternity, in a land where all is bright and joyous, where care and sorrow are unknown, where hearts are happy and never know the pain of parting. God hasten that day, if it be his will. It was hard to part from this loving wife and mother, but God's ways are not our ways, and his edicts we cannot always understand, but He knows best, and our hearts are comforted by the knowledge that she is secure in his arms, waiting to welcome us to that happy land when our short span on earth is finished and our race is won. Our cross is indeed heavy and our burden almost more than we can bear, but with God's help we trust that we may live such a life in this world that when we meet our Maker face to face, we can do so with the consciousness of a life well lived, and again meet and greet our loved ones on that farther shore.

G. O. P. CHIEFS FORECAST DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN NEW ENGLAND

Republican fears of a wholesale Democratic victory in Massachusetts and other States of New England are due in part to the people's resentment against the profiteering in coal last winter and the prospect that they will again suffer another short- and another orgy of extortion. This state- ment is made by the correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, a Republican newspaper.

That dissatisfaction is rife in the ranks of the Republican party in New England is frankly admitted with practical unanimity by the G. O. P. chief who, however, hold widely varying theories as to the reasons therefor," says this correspondent.

Some content that the coal famine of last winter was the trouble. It is asserted that New England was unable to obtain an adequate supply of coal during the stringency, and suffering was widespread. The people, justly or unjustly, blamed Washington for their plight and resented President Harding's comment that the distress in New England was largely psychological.

President Harding's Federal Fuel Distributor, F. R. Wadleigh, offers no hope of an improvement in conditions next winter. He has already issued a warning to consumers urging them to buy their coal now if they can get it because the price won't go down and the scarcity will continue.

Anthracite is being shipped abroad at a price of less than $11 a ton, but people in New York and New Jersey, Maryland and Ohio—a little distance from the mines—will have to pay a good deal more than that, and last winter were forced to give $26 a ton in some cases, and in others to substitute wood and slate.

HOME OWNERSHIP VS. RACE SUICIDE.

Periodically we read something about race suicide in this or other countries.

The latest statement is in our own United States that apartment house life will be the cause of decrease in our own population. There is no question about that, for the average apartment allows only dogs, not children.

The remedy is to urge our people to move out of the congested districts and build themselves little homes on the abundance of cheap residential property that surrounds all of our great cities.

This would accomplish two results; first, a home owner makes a better citizen because he has an interest in our government and becomes financially more independent than the rent payer; second, it would help to hold down and maybe reduce the inflated values for a large portion of apartment house property and rents. The average apartment house rent of from $75 to $150 a month would soon pay for a fine home for any family.

An honest architect and contractor can put up a home cheaper today, in proportion to your income, than would have been possible in 1913. Don't let the high rent artists scare you about building. They build and are making money off you. You can build and pay that omey back to yourself and at the end of ten years have a valuable asset instead of some worthless rent receipts.—Manufacturers Bureau.

POLITICS PLAY WITH THE FLEET.

Politics reduces some branches of the public service to an absurd proposition. It is well known that almost without exception men have been ap- cans and Democrats, who knew absolutely nothing pointed to places on the shipping board. Republic- ation was their familiarity with political steering gear. Talk about building up a merchant marine by political methods, and competing for shipping with highly trained maritime men of other nations, who have grown up on board of ships, so to speak, and who do not have to play politics, should give the people some comprehension of the fallacy of governmental operation of transportation organiza- tions on land or sea. American built ships are still rotting in squads and flocks in our great harbors, like abandoned decoy ducks in a hunting preserve. The palsied hand of politics tries to manipulate these fleets, valued originally at some three bil- lions, which the taxpayers are gradually being called upon to liquidate. Coleridge in the Ancient Mariner, fitly described this kind of a mer- chant marine as "painted ships on a painted ocean." Manufacturing News Bureau.

RED RUSSIA'S AIR FLEET

The Bolsheviks not only exported grain to obtain money for their world propaganda while the American Relief was feeding a large part of Rus- sia's starving millions but maintained a standing army of 600,000 and spent vast sums in the building of a great air fleet. Beaten in the recent dip- lomatic duel with Great Britain, the Red oligarchy spiced its expressions of rage with threatening mention of its air fleet as well as of its great standing. "The iron in our will must be transfer- red to the iron wings of our airplanes," cried Trozky in a speech of defiance and threats. This has brought out facts connected with the Russian air force, built and building, that will surprise those in the habit of regarding Bolshevik Russia as a vicious despotism at home but as powerless outside harm.

THE NEED OF MEN.

If there has ever been a time when men were called to a battle royal, that time is surely now. Tests of courage, the risks involved, the rich pay- offered make the battle manifold more interesting, although lacking in the glamour that means much "when knighthood was in flower." The- ror of the knights of old, he wit stirs our blood. read the records! But the battle men wage today is a fight against evil, a fight to overcome sin, to establish righteousness in their own hearts and lives, and in the hearts and lives of others. It calls for all that is best in a man, and the reward is nothing less than the approval of Almighty God: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."—Christian Advocate.

The Use Of Medicated Salties

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is receiving inquiries from ranchmen who desire information as to the value of the various medicated salt licks being offered on market. They want to know if these preparations will cure disease of their animals, or if they will prevent disease. They also want to know if such preparations contain food value, or properties which might increase the effectiveness of the food the animals eat.

Dr. D. H. Bennett, veterinarian for the Station at Substation No. 14, near Sonora, in reply to these inquiries has advised that it is not the policy of the Station to make tests of proprietary articles for the purpose, neither the recommending the use of or advising against the use of such products. He observes that the proprietary medicated salt licks, which have come under his observation, when effective, are at least more expensive than the pre- parations found by the Station to give good results; that none of them can take the place of food; that salt required by all animals in vary- ing amounts, according to feed and weather conditions and other un- determined factors, can best be supplied in the form of pure, fine, granulated, unadulterated supplies when the range conditions are dis- enough that losses will not be too great from melting; that lump and brick salt all contain more or less of other substances than salt and requires much of the animal's time to get the required amount by lick- ing.

Doctor Bennett also advises against the use of medicine among healthy animals, saying: "Animals, like man, should only receive medicine treatment when some condi- tion disturbs the digestive, respira- tory, circulatory, or uro-genital systems, and such treatment can, at most, only assist nature to re- cover a balance of the body. Re- sults of such treatments are always more or less uncertain. Mineral deficiencies, indicated by pale mu- cous membranes due to lack of iron; by enlarged joints and other bone disturbances, usually due to mal-assimilation of lime salts, or by other less common symptoms, can be made up by supplying the needed element to the animal. Excess of minerals, however, will cause dis- turbance of digestion and elimina- tion."

Medicinal treatment can be ad- ministered to animals in some cases and ranchmen should prepare to prevent losses from stomach worms among their lambs and younger sheep. About weaning time the en- tire flock should be treated with the copper sulphate or blue stone treat- ment. One pound dissolved in two quarts of hot water, and after- wards diluted to make nine gallons of solution, is some effective. Of this so- lution, lambs should receive two ounces and all sheep over one year old should receive four ounces. It is most effective given by a two- ounce metal syringe, after twenty four hours starvation from food and water, followed by a four or five hours fast after treatment. Too large numbers of animals should not be treated at one time. Three men can treat three hundred head each day, in such a manner that these animals can have water before dark. In this way the work need not be rushed at any time and both men and animals profit.

"In those flocks where severe in- fection is present two pounds of copper sulphate or blue stone, and one and one-half pounds of iron sulphate or copercas may be mixed with one hundred pounds of salt and fed to an advantage for a period not longer than necessary for the animals to regain condition. Three or four months should be ample. This will assist nature to replenish what has been lost by parasitic invasion, only when ample feed is provided."

of beautiful ecru lace or of silk of a brilliant color, such as red, lavender green or yellow. Gloves thru-out the audience are mostly white glazed kid.

Little Fur Seen
One is surprised to see such a small representation of the short jaquette of summer fur. With the exception of silver fox neckpieces and sable scarfs, there is very little fur seen. There is also a noticeable absence of bright color—no Egyptian prints, no colored shoes except light tans and grays and these are mostly of suede rather than of glazed kid and are worn with the idea of matching the costume rather than of giving a contrast.

Tailored frocks in tans and greys are quite noticeable and usually the hat worn with them matches in coloring the frock. There are several types of silk gowns, trimmed in pleated frills of georgette. Sometimes the three-tiered skirt effect is seen with accordion pleated tiers which start at the hip line and extend to the hem. With the silk frock one notices a great deal of costume jewelry in sets, which include earrings, chains and bracelets.

Summer Dress Novelty

NEW YORK, June 2. (United Press)—The white cotton blouse is again coming into its own despite the popularity of the highly colored costume blouse. The white blouse of this season is invariably pleated, the pleats often forming the entire blouse.

Voile is one of the most effective materials for the pleated blouse and is often combined with Irish crocheted lace. (For instance, a pleated voile blouse will have its rousing neckline and very short sleeves finished with bands of Irish lace.) Where the lace is such that it will not form the rousing neckline, the high, square neckline is used.

Organdy Over Silvercloth
Among the loveliest of the summer evening gowns are those of organdy made over silver cloth. There is a pretty model that is extremely unusual with the white organdy back, shall describe.

The frock is of lavender organdy made over a slender slip of silver cloth. The bodice of this frock is close fitting with rousing neck and semi-circular outlines in narrow silver ribbon. The skirt is bouffant and is trimmed here and there with small, colored flowers of silk satin, which glisten through the organdy for the dance frock.

The Tut Hair-bob
The Parisians are introducing the Egyptian hair-bob to correspond with er types of silk gowns, trimmed in pleated frills of georgette. Sometimes the three-tiered skirt effect is seen with accordion pleated tiers which start at the hip line and extend to the hem. With the silk frock one notices a great deal of costume jewelry in sets, which include earrings, chains and bracelets.

While the top coat which is carried over the arm, is generally of a soft wool shade, its lining is of colorful batik with reds and greens predominating. Few parasols are seen, although now and then are seen a red and green cane with a leather strap handle.

Hats are of the mushroom variety and are trimmed in ribbon (cordons or accordion pleated wings).

Girls Of Limited Income May Be Neatly & Cleanly

NEW YORK, June 1. (United Press)—The girls of limited income may be neat and clean in the Egyptian frock. The hair is parted in the center and brushed close to the head and back of the ears permitting the ears to show. The bob is then curled upwards in a bushy effect around the sides and back of the head.

Sleeveless Sweaters Popular
Sleeveless sweaters are more popular this season than the slippers. One can see them on the golf links worn over blouses with the front and back of the sweater often of contrasting design or material. Sometimes brush wool is used for the front with plain wool of the same shade forming the back. Again the front may be embroidered in contrasting colors or stitched in all-over design which gives a padded effect.

Slippers are usually low and V-shaped. They show the full of the foot, and they may show Norfolk effects. They are very trim when made in sleek, semi-circular outlines in narrow silver ribbon. The skirt is bouffant and is trimmed here and there with small, colored flowers of silk satin, which glisten through the organdy for the dance frock.

Can Offlagging the Bathing Suit
One of the bathing suits are canvas made of durable material, draped so that the beach can imagine one is clad "within the law" when one comes a little rubber shawl and canvas romps into the water in a snug-fitting one-piece suit.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 21 (United Press). Do you remember when you were a little girl living in "make-believe" with grown ladies with servants galore and huge estates and when we grew up with out the servants and estates, perhaps we had the business of "make-believe" THRUST upon us. We had to MAKE over our old clothes and season's hats. Their brims are somewhat awry and their crowns are bent beyond recognition. Try wetting the crowns and shaping them over an inverted bowl of the required headsize. When dry, paint with a hat dye in any darker shade over the brim and bind with bands of velvet or ribbon.

of pleated georgette or chiffon will be equally as smart. The sleeve which accompanies the flounce frock is light to the elbow and then flares out in a pleated flounce like the one used on the bottom of the skirt.

Fashion Notes
French gowns are long for evening wear, but short for daytime and street wear. No exaggerated lengths are noticed, however, in Paris. One seldom sees gowns as short as those worn in America, just year or as long as those affected in the fair part of the winter.

Velvet coats and sleeveless jacquettes are worn by many of the smartly gowned women about the city resorts. White gray and lacette colors used with pleated shades of crepe de chene of matching shade. Many jacquettes use a ribbon binding as a finish.

Round garters made of bronze silver or gold patent ribbon are among the summer novelties. They are practical for swimming as well as for general wear as they shed water and look as pretty after wear as they do before. They are often set on straight armholes of a skirt or with a slight ruffle in the back.

At Long Beach
Last week at Long Beach, where were more flounce skirts than any other variety except perhaps the pleated skirt which is worn both water and land. Usually the flounces were a foot to eighteen inches in length and are set on straight armholes of a skirt or with a slight ruffle in the back.

Two Out of Every Five Homes In the United States Are Owned By Occupants According to Census

By the United Press.

MADISON, Wis., June 30. Two out of every five homes in the United States are owned by the people living therein.

Federal census figures compiled by the national institute for research in land economics and public utilities, of which Dr. Richard I. Ely, University of Wisconsin land economist, is director, show that home ownership increased from 38.1 per cent in 1910 to 40.9 per cent in 1920. The 1890 figure was 36.7 per cent.

Practically 3 out of every 5 owned homes are free from debt or mortgage. The figures show that of the 40.9 per cent, 24.7 are free from debt, and 16.2 are encumbered.

Between 1890 and 1920 the average value of each of the 16.2 per cent of the owned mortgage homes increased from $3,250 to $4,938. The size of the mortgage increased from $1,297 to $2,102.

In the above table, the mortgage on owned homes are not taken into consideration. From 1910 to 1920, 33.3 per cent of the 100 homes, 65 per cent and one half will be rented, and the remaining 34 and one half per cent will be occupied by the owners. Of the 34 and one-half, 19.7 will be mortgaged, and the remaining 14.3 will be owned free from debt.

Mortgaged for Autos

The purchase of automobiles is said to be made in many cases out of funds raised by borrowing on security of the home. The institute comments in a bulletin, "Certainly, many home mortgages remain unpaid because the supplies funds have gone into the purchase of automobiles."

New York City has the largest percentage of rented houses, only 12.7 per cent owning their homes. Of this 12.7 per cent, 10 per cent were in debt and only 2.7 free from debt.

Figures from other cities of more than 300,000 population were:

Chicago—73 per cent rented, 27 per cent owned (17.2 per cent are mortgaged).

Philadelphia—60.5 per cent rented, 39.5 per cent owned (27.7 per cent are mortgaged).

Detroit—61.7 per cent rented, 38.3 per cent owned (23.4 per cent are mortgaged).

Cleveland—64.9 per cent rented, 35.1 per cent owned (20.7 per cent mortgaged).

St. Louis—76.2 per cent rented, 23.8 per cent owned (10.7 per cent mortgaged).

Boston—81.5 per cent rented, 18.5 per cent owned (12.3 per cent are mortgaged).

Baltimore—63.7 per cent rented, 36.3 per cent owned (21.4 per cent are mortgaged).

Los Angeles—65.3 per cent rented, 34.7 per cent owned (16.4 per cent are mortgaged).

Pittsburgh—71.7 per cent rented, 28.3 per cent owned (13.1 per cent are mortgaged).

San Francisco—72.6 per cent rented, 27.4 per cent owned (11.1 per cent are mortgaged).

Overstreet at Home From Dallas Where He Attended Directors Meeting; the Farm Bureau Membership Campaign in Progress

R. E. Overstreet, newly elected Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association Director, for the 18th District, attended a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Association at Dallas, at which time all business for the fiscal year just closed was disposed of, all members having received final settlement prior to the meeting the books of the secretary were looked into, and so on.

Mr. Overstreet declares that the Farm Bureau members of Texas will double their cotton shipments this fall, and that the new membership will increase the shipments by one-third of the total shipments for last year, which will give the Association control of a little more than one-half million of bales of cotton. These figures are encouraging to Mr. Overstreet, who has been in the bureau since it was first organized, and whose understanding of the principles upon which it operates is not questioned.

Lubbock county farmers are being approached this week by Farm Bureau field men who are endeavoring to enlarge the membership throughout the county, and many of them, according to Mr. Overstreet, have already looked into the Bureau with such interest that they are ready to place their names on the dotted line at the very first opportunity.

The Farm Bureau sponsors what is believed to be the most effective cooperative marketing plan in existence, the contract into which the member and Association enter being similar to that of some of the oldest cooperative marketing associations in the states, and are designed to make membership in the organization worth while.

Mr. Overstreet is working under advantages here not known in the usual community, as he has a host of friends who have known him for some time who are willing and even eager to lay down their business affairs to enter into the campaign and support it with their every ounce of strength and energy.

The civic organizations of Lubbock have looked into the cooperative marketing feature of the Bureau Cotton Association and approve it heartily. Lubbock business men realize that their best interest depend upon the general prosperity of Lubbock county farmers, and are willing to aid them in every way possible.

In an address before the Kiwanis Club of Lubbock some time ago, Walter S. Posey, vice-president of the Lubbock State Bank, made some stirring assertions, and he is considered one of the best business men in the city and his statements were received with due consideration by the membership, this influence in making for a bigger bureau cotton association in Lubbock county cannot be doubted.

Other Lubbock business men realize that farming must be put on a business basis to lend substantially to the general prosperity of all of the people who are energetic in working in its behalf.

Mr. Overstreet and the field men who are here to assist him in the Farm Bureau membership campaign in Lubbock county may be expected to accomplish much, but it is well to remember that all have a part to play in making the campaign a success, and can do our bit without necessarily interfering with any other arrangements.

If a farmer asks you about the Farm Bureau Cotton Association take time to tell him what you know about it. He will appreciate it and just a little encouragement might cause his membership in the organization.

of Philip Baldwin, comes to the R. R. Lindsey Theatre, beginning Monday. This is the story which is enjoying uninterrupted vogue by its realistic treatment of marriage and divorce.

The picture is said to retain the vividness characteristic of the novel. The setting of the story is in sunny California, first in a prosperous rural community, then shifting to bustling San Francisco, where most of the action passes.

The queer domestic life of the young married Baldwins is the theme around which the story is spun. Philip is so busy storming the gates of fortune during the day that he longs for the home of evenings, while his wife, Marjorie, a piquant slip of a girl, doesn't see why having a baby should keep her away from cabarets, gay boon companions and a generally good time.

They get divorced; each goes separate ways, falling in love but in the end feeling the gap in their lives. The end is developed in a whirlwind climax.

"Brass" is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen, directed by Sidney Franklin. Monte Blue's supporting cast consists of Marie Prevost, Harry Myer, Vera Lewis, Irene Rich, Frank Keenan, Miss Dupont, Margaret Seddon, Helen Ferguson, Edward Johnson, Harvey Clark, Cyril Chadwick, Pat O'Malley, Gertrude Bennett and Ethel Grey Terry.

June Was a Month in Which the Hupmobile Found Increased South Plains Favor

There were more Hupmobiles sold on the South Plains in June than any one month in the past.

The almost unbelievable mileage the sturdy Hupmobile delivers in care-free transportation on such a small upkeep cost is, literally, "eating" its way into the favor of motorists.

But it wasn't the present Hupmobile that alone made such remarkable inroads into public esteem—it is the same Hupmobile that has delivered that same consistency of service over hundreds of thousands of miles thru the past.

Low upkeep and ability to comfortably meet schedules is making the Hupmobile a favorite among those who travel everywhere.

NOTICE

At a regular meeting of the City Commission convened in the City Hall June 29, with the following present: Mayor Percy Spencer, Commissioners H. G. Love, Gen. C. W. Waffarth and W. S. Poyser.

Resolution

In consideration of the fact that the rate of taxation as provided in Article 7, Section 1 of the Charter of this City is inadequate to properly care for the purposes of the street improvement, including paving and drainage, as well as other City purposes, it is the sense of the City Commission of the City of Lubbock that the preliminary steps toward submitting to the voters of this city an amendment to the charter providing that the limit shall be raised so that in one year the City Commission shall be permitted to levy, not to exceed 2 1/2 per cent on the taxable value of all property subject to taxation.

It is therefore ordered that the Mayor and City Secretary give the twenty-day notice provided by law of the submission to the City Commission of an ordinance submitting the amendment for the increased limit to the voters of this city and which ordinance will be considered by the City Commission on the 26th day of July, 1923, and a copy of this resolution, under the hand and seal of the Mayor and Secretary shall be sufficient notice of the date of consideration and the contents of the ordinance.

Passed and approved this 28th day of June, 1923.

(Seal) PERCY SPENCER, Mayor

Preacher Would Go Into Boxing Ring to Raise the Milk Fund

EL PASO, Texas, June 30.-Should a minister of the gospel temporarily lay aside the cloth for a pair of boxing trunks and gloves and forsake the pulpit for the roped arena to help out a worthy cause? That question has caused no little comment among the preachers of this city.

to help raise proceeds for the Milk Fund. Reverend W. H. Joyner of Immanuel Baptist church didn't take much to his fellow pastor's intentions.

for notoriety and I never entertained any such idea when I promised to fight for a good cause. At any rate there's no hard feeling between the two ministers.

FLORENCE Oil Stoves & Ranges

A flame you can regulate means better cooking. When something begins to boil over, all you have to do-if using a Florence Oil Cook Stove-is to lower the flame.
