FRANCE TO SIGN NAVAL PACT TREATY

PASSES CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES BY LARGE MAJORITY NOW GOES TO SENATE

By the United Press.
PARIS, July 7.—France tonight gave her formal approval to the Five-Power naval pact which was drawn up twenty months ago. The Chamber of Deputies, after a debate that at times reached fever heat voted by four hundred and sixty-five to one hundred and six to ratify the treaties of the Arms Limitation Conference.
By this action France aligns herself with the others who have signed the pact, which are, the United States, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, all of whom have placed their official approval on the naval pact. However, the formal ratification of the treaty by the French Government will not be completed until the Senate has also voted on the question, and it is thought in official circles here that no difficulty will be experienced in the passage of the bill in the body.

The men were arrested under the recent ruling of Police Judge Golden C. The Klansmen were thrown in jail as they were returning from the funeral of a fellow member, and hundreds of people on the streets cheered the prisoners as they marched away to jail.
Seventy-two of the Klansmen pled not guilty to the charges made against them when they were arraigned in Police Court. The hearing has been set for July 26th.

Foster, the "Liberals" supported by the "Communist" workers party, "raided" the coalition conference, and organized a "Federated Farmers Labor Party."

Although it is expected that severe penalties will follow the refusal of the German Government to accept this responsibility, Belgium has sought to make this a cause for a break in the diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The issues will be four fold in scope and are: the deplorable conditions of the American farmers; a tribunal to settle the disputes between Capital and labor; the Federal Land Bank, which has been captured by Wall Street; and the profiteers who are the chief obstacle to property and to the prosperity of the country.

NAVAL AVIATORS THOUGHT TO BE DROWNED

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Lieutenants L. J. Roth and T. H. Null, United States Navy balloonists, are believed to have drowned in Lake Erie about 8 o'clock Saturday morning, when the balloon in which they had entered the Indianapolis air race, collapsed twenty-five miles south of Fort Stanley, Ontario.
Hopes which had been held that the balloonists might still be alive were abandoned when the huge bag and which still contained enough gas to float it on the surface of the lake, was pulled aboard late today by the fishing tug, Frank H. Stanley. The basket of the balloon, which it is believed the airmen cut loose from the bag as they fell, has not yet been found.

Only ten of the ones indicted yesterday were publicly announced, and they were arrested and made bonds ranging from $5,000 to $10,000. The identity of the others will be kept secret until the arrests are made, it is said.

JURY RENDERS VERDICT AFTER 21 HOURS DELIBERATION AND FINDS HIM GUILTY OF MURDER

Defendant Receives Verdict With A Smile, Which Indicated That It Was No Worse Than Expected

The Jury in the Milt Good case, knocked on the door at 6:25 Saturday evening, and announced to the sheriff, that they were ready to give their verdict in the case, and court was at once convened for the purpose of hearing what the jury had decided as the fate of Milt Good who was charged with the murder of W. D. Allison, in the Gaines Hotel in Seminole on the night of April 1, 1923.
Within ten minutes of the time the announcement was made that the the jury was ready to report the defendant entered the room and took the same seat that he had occupied during the long trial that the decision of the jury finished when they rendered their verdict yesterday evening at 6:35.

District Judge Mullican asked the foreman, T. J. Richardson if the jury had arrived at a verdict in the case, and he answered that they had, and returned to the judge the charge he had given them, and the other documents that had been their guide in the decision they had reached and the verdict that they had arrived at.
The judge carefully read the verdict, and handed it to the district clerk, Louis F. Moore, and instructed him to read the verdict which was as follows:

We the jury find the defendant guilty of murder as charged in the indictment, and assess his punishment at imprisonment in the state penitentiary for 26 years. Signed, T. J. RICHARDSON, Foreman.
The verdict was evidently very satisfactory to the defendant as he immediately relaxed from the strain that he was apparently in before the verdict was read, and a broad smile came over his face, which lasted throughout the remainder of the time he was in the room. He was brought from the jail to the court room under heavy guard, and joined in the court room by members of the counsel that defended him and Senator Bledsoe was seated on one side and Percy Spencer on the other, and each seemed well pleased with the verdict, and while they will not be satisfied with this verdict as final action, they no doubt feel that under the circumstances they have paved the way for an even more favorable outcome of the case. They will likely file a motion for a new hearing within the time set by law for such proceedings. Mrs. Good nor any of the family were present when the verdict was rendered, and but few people knew that the jury was ready to report, hence but few were present in the court room, besides the attorneys in the case, several newspaper reporters, and the officers.
This case together with the companion case of Tom Ross, who received a sentence at the hands of another jury last Thursday afternoon of thirty-five years, has attracted wider attention than possibly any other case in the State of Texas, of its kind.
In the case against Mr. Good, it required almost two hundred men from which to select a jury, and it required three full days to secure the jury, and this was only possible after the sheriff and his deputies put in a full day summoning a special venire of one hundred men, with special care to go into the most remote portions of the county to secure them.
It required the testimony of more than a hundred witnesses, and many more were here, that were not used, and it required eight hours argument on the part of the counsel and the prosecution to argue the case, and required twenty-one hours for the jury to return their verdict in the Good case and twenty-seven hours in the Ross case.
While it is one of the longest and most prominent cases in the state it has likewise been one of the best conducted trials that we have ever known of. Judge Mullican had the best control of the court that any one could have, the attendance most all through the hearing was large, yet the behavior was splendid, and there was no disturbance worth mentioning, and the Judge is to be complimented for this condition.
It has not been definitely decided, or at least has not been made known the route that will be taken in the other case against Ross and Good, there still being a case against each of them. There is some probability of these cases being transferred out of this county, and in all probability will go to some point beyond the bounds of this judicial district.
As a light summer pastime we suggest lying on the floor and counting the holes in the lace curtains.

Harding Is a Good Press Agent; Gets Results For Alaska

By the United Press. WASHINGTON, July 7.—Alaska's new press agent—President Harding—has been getting results.

Guided by his newspaper instinct, Mr. Harding started out to "put Alaska on the map," and Government officials said today that he had already done much to accomplish his purpose.

His purpose was to show the country:

1. That Alaska is not a long of perpetual ice and snow where Eskimos fish and frolic and polar bears chase reindeer across the glaciers in the glare of the Northern Lights.
2. Nor is Alaska a modern El Dorado, peopled only by a few hardy bearded adventurers, who come in from the creeks with a poke of gold and shoot out the lights in the Malamoot Saloon.

3. But Alaska is a vast treasure trove, peopled by a few up-to-date citizens, with a climate as sublimous as the Northwest for many months each year, ready to pour billions on billions of wealth into the lap of the world from her soil, her miles and forests, and her streams.

The World Interested. Stimulated by the tales of Alaska's wondrous commercial possibilities, inspired by the President's visit, government officials and congressmen are already beginning to receive queries from all parts of the country regarding opportunities in the great northern territory.

Officials believe that the interest shown in Alaska before the President has scarcely touched her shores bids fair to a transmute into reality.

Mr. Harding's dream of Alaska developed into a modern empire, revealing in the plenty of the land.

President Harding had watched with dismay Alaska slipping backward, despite the unlimited possibilities of a land, purchased for $7,200,000, which, up to 1922, had yielded products valued at $1,100,000,000. He observed her population ebb until it reached 80,000, half white and the rest Eskimos and Indians. Knowing that the days when gold could be plucked like pebbles from Alaskan streams had passed and only the discovery of oil—the modern builder of mushroom empires—could again send Americans rushing northward, the President decided to leave why Alaska was shunned.

The President expects to bring back word that Alaska is fit for a more stable civilization than fly-by-night mining camps and trappers' shacks.

After a study of its governmental organization, he proposes to consolidate and concentrate its functions into an administration worthy of the great commonwealth. With that as a beginning, the government can more rapidly extend the transportation system to reach the treasures still heretically sealed in its natural recesses awaiting development.

Mrs. F. R. Pickens and children are at Brownfield visiting her parents. From Brownfield Mrs. Pickens will go to Sweetwater and vicinity where she will visit relatives and friends until the latter part of September, after which time she will return to her home here.

Mrs. Pickens has just recovered from a spell of serious illness which lasted for more than three weeks, and has not gained expected strength yet. Her many friends are in hopes that the vacation will prove helpful to her.

First Christian Church will be completed soon. Lubbock is building in a way that reflects well upon the entire citizenship, for not only are there a host of beautiful homes being built throughout the residential section, and not only are there some brick business houses now nearing completion and others just being started, but the churches are taking on growth as the result of the building programs.

Rev. C. D. Boston, pastor of the First Christian Church, is heading his congregation in building that church, which is taking on such growth as to make it one of the truly substantial structures of the city.

The contractor is exerting much care in the building, and when completed it will enable greater expansion of the many departments of the church and the congregation will be increased very materially at the conclusion of a campaign for new members which will begin shortly after the church is completed.

Richest Indian Fled From Lawyers To Gain Peace

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 7—Jackson Barnett, America's richest Indian, has fled the land of his fathers.

The little farm cottage near Muskogee that was the home of the wealthy Creek and his white wife, has been closed indefinitely.

There is no response to the knock of the inquisitive at the door. Jackson Barnett has turned his face toward California.

"Too much publicity," say lawyers, grown gray in what is known in Oklahoma as "Indian litigation."

"Too much litigation," say others equally as wise.

Before countless oil derricks "mushroomed" into existence over the lands of Barnett, he lived alone in his shanty near Henryetta. He farmed when he felt like it.

When he didn't he made bows and arrows, or pipes from sasaparilla roots or played with his dogs.

Then wealth came with its discomforts. The new home here was an improvement over the tiny shanty at Henryetta, but lawyers began to invade his home.

Wills to be made, papers to be signed, questions to answer for Jackson was getting bald. Birth records are almost unknown among the Creeks, but Jackson is drawing near the allotted three score and ten.

Litigation over his enormous wealth palled upon the aged Creek. California was looked upon as a haven and there the wealthy exile veteran fled with his wife to spend his declining days in quiet and sunshine.

But they say Jackson Barnett is happiest when, in the evenings, he can divest himself of coat and shoes and sit dreaming before an open fire, as his ancestors have dreamed through the centuries of American civilization.

Greece Sets Pace With First Peace Levy On Nation's Capital; Runs From 2 To 20 Percent And Expected To Raise 25 Million

By the United Press.
NEW YORK, July 7.—The first capital levy in a European capitalistic since the war is being made by Greece. It forms the same kind of direct tax on capital which the British Labor Party intends to put into effect if a Labor government gets control of the House of Commons, except that the Greek tax starts at a lower figure.

Everybody in Greece having property of any kind exceeding $600 in value has to pay a part of the property to the state. The tax rises from 2 per cent on the second $600 to 20 per cent on all exceeding $300,000. The new law taxes not only all property in Greece, but all property held by Greek subjects abroad, if acquired before August 1, 1914.

The widest interpretation is being given to the meaning of the word "property." From the stock in a grocery shop to a stamp collector's album, everything is regarded as taxable under the new law. Bank accounts, houses, land, stocks and bonds, jewels, books, clothing, a wine cellar are some kinds of property subject to the tax.

Hopes to Get $25,000,000.
 The Greek government optimistically hopes to get $25,000,000 as the result of the levy, which, of course, is to be assessed only once, and is not an annual tax. But there are so many ways of evading the tax that Greek financiers are saying that it is improbable the national treasury will secure more than $10,000,000. This is the sum which the government owes that National Bank of Greece for advances already made and for the most part spent. So the property tax will net the government scarcely anything, except the saving in interest being paid on the money borrowed from the National Bank.

Everybody having property is compelled to make a return to the government, and district serutinizers have been appointed to check up the statements. But it is impossible for these officials to uncover more than a small part of the property that is in such form as to be readily concealed.

All owners of land, buildings, mines, factories and such like property that cannot be hid, will have to pay, though there are ways of partial escape thru undervaluation. Business firms keeping books will be the most complete victims of the tax because the government is empowered to examine their accounts and it will be impossible to hide the capital value.

Capital is Leaving.
 Already considerable capital is leaving Greece to escape the tax. But the major part of Greece's wealth cannot be converted into currency and shipped abroad. Bank deposits are being transferred to foreign countries and Greece will cease to be an international center while the tax is enforced.

There is little opposition to the tax among the Greeks. This is due partly to the known fact that much of the tax will be evaded. But the cry of socialism and radical confiscation is seldom heard to embarrass the government.

The Greeks realize that they must find a way out of their financial difficulties by themselves alone, and as most of the population is poor, the capital levy will affect only a small proportion of the people. Capitalists themselves are making wry faces, but the argument has been used effectively with them that they might better part with a small percentage of their property and save Greece financially than lose it all by drifting into Bolshevism.

W. O. W. Officers Re-Elected At Convention In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, July 6.—Sovereign Commander W. A. Frazier and all officers of the Sovereign Camp of the Woodmen of the World were elected here Thursday at the first executive session of the special national convention now in progress. The election of national officials came as a surprise to the thousands of Woodmen from all parts of the country here to attend the convention and the dedication of the Woodmen Memorial hospital. It was the general opinion that an election of officers would not be held until the next regular national convention.

It had been previously announced, when the injunction issued by Judge Ben M. Terrell of Fort Worth was dissolved, that the meeting of the national body would be held according to schedule, but that there was nothing of importance to come up. The executive session was called Thursday morning behind closed doors, only the regular delegates and a limited number of the visitors being admitted. Shortly after the meeting was called to order Commander Frazier and all national officers handed in their resignations. They were accepted and then it was moved by Sovereign Grant Mathews that they be re-elected. The motion was carried unanimously and Sovereign Gray was instructed to cast the unanimous ballot.

Commander Frazier installed all of the officers but himself. Judge E. D. Henry of San Antonio was chosen to perform this office. Following are the officers re-elected:

W. A. Frazier, sovereign commander; B. W. Jewell, sovereign advisor; Senator Morris Sheppard, sovereign banker; J. T. Yates, sovereign clerk; S. J. Caine, sovereign secretary; S. J. Caine, sovereign sentinel; W. P. Varner, sovereign chairman; J. E. Fitzgerald, chairman of board of auditors, and E. B. Lewis, T. E. Patterson, E. D. Campbell, William Reuss, Rainey P. Wells, and Rev. W. M. Crawford, sovereign auditors.

Following the installation, veteran jewels were given to about 50 members of the order who have been in 25 years or more. Members of the "insurgent" party, though not in evidence at the meeting Thursday, are still active according to word being issued from their headquarters at the Robert E. Lee Hotel. This continued activity may result in their being expelled from the order, and fraternal benefits of the order, it was learned Wednesday evening when failing in their efforts to seat their delegate in the convention they organized, and raised money with which to continue their fight against the Frazier administration.

Although the writ of injunction issued by Judge Terrell restraining Commander Frazier from calling the meeting without seating their delegates was dissolved after being moved to the Federal Court in Dallas, in a signed statement leaders of the party said they were not whipped and would continue the fight.

It is also planned, they announced, to publish a paper to combat nationally the "Sovereign Visitor" the official organ of the order.

Leaders of the "insurgents" themselves recognize the possibility of their being dismissed. Commander Frazier when asked of this possibility, stated that a national committee exists with the authority to dismiss members whom it considers have forfeited the fraternal rights of the organization. Whether such action would be taken against "insurgent" leaders he said he did not know.

LUBBOCK IN GREAT NEED OF CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

What are you doing toward making Lubbock a more beautiful town in which to live, and one which will appeal to the locating committee of the Texas Tech?

It is evident that some of our citizens are willing to let "someone else" exert the necessary energy in cleaning the town, while other have not only worked mighty hard in that connection but have spent considerable money improving their premises.

Just an instance of this can be witnessed on 11th street where Neil Wright, J. O. Jones, Dr. C. G. Casleberry and other have had curbs placed along the front of their property, and have kept a man at work along that street keeping the lawns in shape and in every way possible adding to the appearance of that portion of Lubbock.

These gentlemen are interested in Lubbock and are marked with a certain civic and home pride. They know that their homes are a part of Lubbock, and such are surveyed by visitors whose opinion of the city is formed by their likes or dislikes of the appearance of these homes.

The clean-up campaign proposition needs more attention of everybody at this time, for without the combined efforts of all of the people of Lubbock such work as above mentioned does not show up nearly so well as it would if all the rest of the city were to be made equally clean and neat.

Definite action that is to be taken toward cleaning Lubbock by the civic organizations of the city has not yet been announced, and it looks at this time as though it is a proposition that is strictly up to the individual citizens, giving each and every one of us an opportunity to prove whether or not we are for Lubbock.

Say it with a few hours spent each day about your "home." Rake, clean and scrape the whole place, keep the lawn trimmed, the weeds cut and the rubbish removed.

WIFE OF WEST TEXAS EVANGELIST WHO HAS BEEN IN AFRICA FOUR YRS. WILL RETURN TO LUBBOCK—IS ILL

Rev. C. E. Lynn, local Methodist preacher, has just received word from his brother, Rev. Lynn, who is a missionary from the Northwest Texas Conference to Africa, and who is at this time stationed at Kinshia, that his wife's health had failed, and she had been advised by physicians to leave at once for America.

She will return home via Brussels, Belgium, and if by the time she arrives there her husband can be released from missionary service, he will return home with her.

Rev. and Mrs. Lynn will have been in Africa four years in September and had planned to return home at that time, however, the illness of Mrs. Lynn interfered with their plans.

Mrs. Lynn was to have left Kinshia on the 1st of July, and no word has been received from them since that time. She will arrive in Lubbock sometime in September.

Rev. and Mrs. Lynn are well known throughout the Northwest Texas Conference, and their many friends regret very much to learn of the illness of Mrs. Lynn.

Since going to Africa, Rev. Lynn has had charge of practically every post in the missionary field, having had charge of a school for natives from which he graduated one hundred young preachers, his success in this school having been given recognition throughout Methodism.

The people of Lubbock regret very much the news upon which Mrs. Lynn returns to her people here, however they will be delighted to have her visit in Lubbock, and are hoping that she will be accompanied by her husband.

JONES COUNTY HELD UP BY TWO FEMALE BANDITS

ABILENE, July 7.—Equality for women, which several years ago perturbed the sleep of more than one anxious suffragette, has reached the limit of endurance when it came to the point that they can take upon themselves the privilege of "pulling" a hold-up. That is what residents of Jones county say about it.

A Jones county motorist was riding alone between Anson and Stamford at an early hour of the night when he was peremptorily halted by two women, who performed the feat with the ease of expert highwaymen. He was robbed of his valuables with the heartlessness usually exhibited by the robber species.

The matter was reported to Jones county officers and an investigation made immediately. According to reports, the valuables were traced to the alleged highway-women and their arrests followed. The women were gypsies it is said.

GULBRANSEN

The Player-Piano

Better Music, Quickly Mastered, on the Gulbransen

Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen by anyone who understands the correct interpretation of the music being played. Compare it with the hand-playing that you ordinarily hear.

It is no exaggeration to say that Gulbransen playing is infinitely superior, more expressive, more artistic.

Compare the best Gulbransen playing with the best hand-playing. They are indistinguishable.

These are broad statements, but facts.

They are important because they point the way for you to play good music, with your own individuality and expression, but without long study and tedious finger-work.

Remember these points: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing, you are in as close contact with the music being produced as is the musician who plays any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with Instruction Rolls.

THE WAR IS ON!

At a council called of the War Chiefs at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon at one by representatives of the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce the articles of war were drawn up, officers commissioned to organize the campaign and starting Monday morning the various camps will be open for enlistment of fighters to wage the most prolonged and vigorous siege upon the dirt, trash, weeds, tin cans and other unsightly waste in this city that has ever been waged against any foe.

"Lubbock Must Be Cleaned"

That was the battle cry voiced by Prof. Dupre and picked up by Jed Rix, Rodger Pierce, Louis Moore, Tom Duggan, George Briggs and a dozen more representatives from the three above named organizations who were assembled in the office to discuss the situation. It is admitted that the recent clean up campaign moved a lot of trash. More than 600 loads of cans and a shed and other refuse were hauled out of the city and that part of the work was pretty well done. But there are a lot of vacant lots that are growing up in weeds, a lot of back alleys that need attention, a lot of front yards that need trimming and walks that need hoeing and now is the time it must be done.

Of first importance is the Locating Committee that is due here the last day in this month, said Prof. Dupre. It will make no difference how much they like this section in point of soil, climate conditions, locating or anything else if the city is not clean and well kept—showing enough pride to entitle them to aspire to be the college town of the plains. The other towns making application for this college are leaving no stone unturned that might have any bearing upon the location of this college and Lubbock must get busy and that right now if she wants to be in this race. Cleaning up your own property and the adjoining vacant lot is a mighty small thing to say any citizen to do that has the welfare of the city at heart and I believe that if the folks of Lubbock can be made to realize the importance of the matter that they will clean the city up cleaner than it ever was cleaned before.

Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce To Compete.

Much argument was indulged in as to the best way to get IMMEDIATE action on the matter. It was finally decided that the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce divide the town up into three sections, just as nearly equal in the number of vacant lots and work needed to be done as possible and to allot by drawing one of these sections to each of the three clubs mentioned above. These clubs then would be held responsible for that part of the city and it is up to them to get the work done anyway they can and want to—raising whatever money needed to care for the nonresident folks who won't clean up their lots, and completing the work ready for inspection.

The organization winning first place—on the cleanest section will be awarded—each member who has been active in the work—a blue ribbon. The club or organization that falls into the last place or third will be awarded a YALLAR RIBBON, and if they are good sports they will wear them for one day—BUT IF ALL THREE ORGANIZATIONS WIN FIRST PLACE LUBBOCK WILL WEAR THE BLUE RIBBON.

The assignments will be made Monday to the chairmen of the three organizations. They in turn will make detailed arrangements for their part of the city, appoint supervisors and get to work. Announcements will be made in the mail and at the various luncheon meetings of the assignments and every man will be expected to do more than his part.

Next Friday is the Clean-Up Holiday. The mayor has issued a proclamation calling upon the citizenship of Lubbock to make Friday the 13th an unlucky day for the weeds and trash in this city, and asking all places of business to close from three until eight and the individual citizens of the city to clean up their own premises during those hours. In five hours the residence lots of Lubbock can be made spotlessly clean. Then after this is done the vacant lots and properties can be brought into the proper condition.

What has to be done in Lubbock is done! That is one thing that everybody admits—not only in Lubbock but all over Texas. Now Lubbock must be cleaned up—and with the proper spirit of pride and co-operation on the part of the citizenship of the city—she will be cleaned up and nobody will be hurt in the process.

All together—let's go!

Charles D. Hilles, former national Republican chairman and now national Republican committee man from New York, says that Henry Ford's Presidential candidacy is a national menace and "must be taken seriously." The Philadelphia Public Ledger deprecates such an announcement from so high an official source as tending to give "a great impetus to the Ford boom." If there is really anything in the Ford boom it will get on without such notice and it will take a good deal more than the lack of such notice to kill it.

FIGURES AND DATES

Commenting on President Harding's statement at Salt Lake City that "we have reduced the national debt to $22,400,000 from its peak of $26,596,000,000 on August 31, 1919," which "modestly assumes entire credit for his administration," Chairman Hull of the National Democratic Committee says: "In the first place the Democratic administration paid off $2,500,000,000 of the national debt during the eighteen months prior to March 4, 1921, or at the rate of $1,650,000,000 a year. The Harding administration then assumed control, and during the last twenty-eight months has only paid off $1,600,000,000 of the national debt or at the rate of $685,000,000 a year. These payments it proposes hereafter to reduce to $300,000,000 a year." Chairman Hull objects also that the reduction of taxes claimed "since 1920" was not effected by statute but by the industrial panic of 1921 and 1922, "during which incomes were wiped out and taxes correspondingly wiped out."

It should be easy to ascertain from the records whether chairman Hull's figures are altogether correct, if any one is in doubt. Meanwhile President Harding's showing tends to convey the impression that the activities of his administration reach farther back than was possible. Obviously what was done after August, 1919, and until the end of two months following the close of 1920 was done by the Wilson administration. Though he was elected in 1920, Mr. Harding's administration actually dated from March 4, 1921.

THE BOY WHO GOT THE APPLE.

It is hard to make a pacifist, of either the personal or the political type, out of the average normal boy. In a Philadelphia public school recently a high official of the local board of education recalled how in his youth a boy whom he had in some way offended threatened to give him a licking after school, and how he dissipated the enemy's anger and turned hostility into friendship by giving him a nice, large, red apple. The speaker seemed to think that this policy of the olive branch (or of the nice red apple) was the proper thing to inculcate in schools, both as a means of forestalling rough fights on the play ground and of preventing future wars. But the applause he received was but slight and rather chilling.

Then another educational dignitary, a very old man, got up and spoke a few words. He admitted that the plan of trusting to kindness rather than to fists for safety was a pleasing one in the abstract, but yet he thought it worth while for the school to take notice that it was the boy able and willing to fight who got the nice, large, red apple. And the story goes that when the old man sat down at the end of his very brief effort the school room shook with applause suggesting an earthquake.

Judge Mullican at Lubbock has set a new pace of district judges. The defense filed motions for continuance of trial and offered as evidence that the request should be granted, a list of absent witnesses. The Judge placed a fine of $500 for each absent witness and gave them forty-eight hours to appear in court. The witnesses were produced and the trial begun. The defense in the Ross case at Lubbock undertook to get by on this continuance stuff, but Judge Mullican showed them a better way. Judge Mullican must be Irish from his name. This was Irish justice administered to West Texas.—Childress Index.

An accuser of Governor Pinchot asserts and the Governor denies that he promised a certain political appointment in payment for support during his election campaign. The Philadelphia Record suggests that the question of veracity might be promptly settled if accuser and accused could be induced to take a dose of "truth extracting" scopolamin.

The explanation of the Ford boom is to be found in the popular dissatisfaction with the politicians of the day and the hope of getting a President who will look after the interests of the ordinary citizen as carefully as Mr. Ford looks after the interests of his employees. The vanity of the hope does not lessen the significance of the impulse.

A writer in the London Evening News judges from the American films he sees that the United States is "a large country entirely surrounded by sin and sentiment." Undoubtedly American films depend largely on sin and sentiment, but it may be taken for granted that this is also true of the English make.

Borah met the President in Idaho with open arms. In explanation he said that Mr. Harding's "amsterly retreat" in his St. Louis speech removed the main difference between them. And yet parts of that speech seemed to show that the President would stand for the International Court through thick and thin.

The Ku Klux Klan is not mentioned in connection with the "whipping parties" so popular in Oklahoma. According to report, lawless outbreaks of this kind in that State have occurred 2500 times in a year, or at the record-breaking rate of about seven a day.

Atlanta Prepares To Entertain the B.P.O.E. Delegates

By the United Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., June 7.—From fifty to seventy-five thousand of "The Best People on Earth" are expected to be in Atlanta when the Fifty-Ninth Grand Lodge and the Union of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks convene here July 9. The reunion will continue thru July 14. From every state in the Union and even the island possessions of the United States, representatives of brother Elks will gather to attend what is planned to be one of the greatest reunions of the fraternal ever held.

Overshadowing all other business of the convention will be the election of new officers. A new Grand Exalted Ruler to succeed J. Edgar Masters, and other officers will be chosen.

Scores of questions of interest to Elks which have come up during the past year will be threshed out on the floor of the convention or settled in the committee meetings.

Past Exalter Ruler John S. McClelland, of Atlanta, will preside over the opening meeting on the evening of July 9. Governor Clifford Walker of Georgia and Mayor W. A. Sims of Atlanta, both members of the local lodge, will address the meeting. Exalted Ruler J. Edgar Masters will make the response.

Caring for Guests.
Atlanta known through the country as the "Convention City of America" is preparing to outdo all previous efforts to entertain the horde of Elks. Members of the local lodge have been busy arranging accommodations for the visitors. A house-to-house canvass for rooms in private homes is being made. Every available hotel room, even the smallest of hostilities, has long since been reserved.

For those unable to secure other accommodations, a huge tent is being constructed in a park in a residential section of the city. Hundreds of cots, running water, and other accommodations will be provided for those desiring to "camp out."

A fleet of Pullman cars will be switched on tracks located as near as possible to the downtown section. The railroad yards are but a few blocks out from the heart of town. Miles of purple and white bunting—official Elks' colors—will be draped on more than seventy-five blocks in the business district. The National and Elks emblems will hang from practically every building. Homes in the residence sections will be decorated.

Have Big Parade.
Through these multi-colored streets a mammoth pageant arranged for the entertainment of the delegates will move. Including delegations from every chapter in the country, the parade will be over a mile long. A reviewing stand, held from which Exalted Ruler Masters, Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor W. A. Sims, of Atlanta, and other dignitaries will review the parade. An immense tropical southern barbecue, three grand banquets and a medal play golf tournament and other diversions will entertain the delegates. The Atlanta Woman's Club has prepared a round of social functions for women visitors.

The initial event of the big convention will be an impressive patriotic ceremony to be given in Piedmont Park on Sunday, June 8, on the eve of the opening of the national meet. The annual competitive drill in which catk teams from the different chapters will compete for prizes will be one of the most colorful affairs of the week.

SPENCER TRAFFIC MANAGER FOR WEST TEXAS C. OF C.

CROSBYTON, July 7.—A. B. Spencer, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was recently selected to become traffic manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in addition to his regular presidential duties. Mr. Spencer got on the job June 1.

Mr. Spencer's early life was spent in the service of large railroads. He started in as telegraph operator. He was rapidly promoted and when the C. B. Livestock Association built the Crosbyton-South Plains railroad from Lubbock to Crosbyton, now Santa Fe property, Mr. Spencer was made general manager. In these various positions Spencer informed himself on all phases of railroad activities and qualified as an expert in rate and other traffic matters. His appointment as traffic manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters on the Plains, is regarded as one of the best strokes of policy ever determined by the executive body. The affairs of West Texas insofar as traffic is concerned are in good hands now, according to leading wholesalers and jobbers throughout the West.

WISCONSIN ABOLISHES THE STATE EDUCATIONAL BOARD

By the United Press.
MADISON, Wis., July 7.—Wisconsin, which has established two or three state departments at every session of the legislature until there are now more than 100, has abolished the state board of education.

This board was created six years ago, passed upon the budgets of all state educational institutions and made recommendations. The legislature administered the soldiers' educational bonus, and distributed state aid for teachers.

The legislature passed a bill abolishing it, on the recommendation of Governor John J. Blaine, who gave "economy" as his reason.

CHILDRESS LOOKING TO KATY FOR AN EXTENSION

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 7.—Information has been received here that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad company is planning several extensions of lines in the Southwest. One of the extensions is the projection of the Wellington branch into the Panhandle probably with Amarillo as the objective point. Such a line would encroach on Santa Fe territory and divert much of the Panhandle wheat over the Katy lines, which now do not move that route because of the lack of elevator facilities. The Katy is preparing to erect a number of these, the informant advised.

DENVER MAY EXTEND ROAD TO SPUR SOON

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 7.—Interest is at high pitch over projects of the Denver railroad extending the spur branch of the Wichita Valley from Spic to Estelline using Childress as terminals. It is understood that high officials of the Denver recently made an inspection of the country and state and that there is a likelihood of grading starting in the near future. Inquiries have already been received by Secretary Debenport of the local chamber of commerce from large wholesale houses in various parts of the state indicating that in case the Spur road was extended they would desire to build warehouses and branch houses in Childress.

SWEETWATER SOON TO HAVE $1,000,000 GYPSUM PLANT

SWEETWATER, July 7.—Construction work will start in the next days on the United States Gypsum plant here to cost upwards of $1,000,000, according to a statement made here today by G. W. Rathjens, an official of the company. The first step will be the building of a couple of side tracks to the site, the installation of a two-kettle plant for plaster making, and then will follow the wall board plant. Between 400 and 800 men will be employed in the plant. Insofar as possible only local labor will be employed. A bus line connecting the plant with the business section has been proposed by Mr. Rathjens.

IRRIGATION PROJECT IS ATTRACTING CHILDRESS FOLKS

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 7.—Irrigation in the neighborhood of Childress is being given an impetus following the return here of J. M. Crowe, a member from St. Louis. It is proposed to dam Red River, Mountain and Baylor creeks, providing sufficient water to irrigate 50,000 acres. Since only one application of water yearly would be required it is figured that five cuttings of alfalfa would be produced and a bale of cotton picked from every acre planted to the staple. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is being interested in the proposed project.

ERROR GIVES ROSWELL ONE RUN IN ELEVENTH INNING FOR WIN OF OPENING GAME OF SERIES 1 TO 0

In one of the prettiest pitchers wild pitch, Hunter 1; time of game battles of the season yesterday afternoon; Hunter emerged the victor of an eleven inning affair over Swenson by a 1 to 0 count, giving the Giants the first game of the four-game series.

The second inning looked as though the Giants were in for a ball game when Bedford and Fruth singled in succession with nobody down, and Edwards was walked, filling the bases, but Swenson tightened and the visitors were unable to score. With the bases loaded, West hit a grounder to Shepard who threw Bedford out at the plate. Then on Lagunas' grounder which rolled to the mound, Fruth was forced at the plate, and Lagunas was trown out at first, Allen to O'Neil.

In the eighth the Hubbers lost a chance to "salt" the affair when Shepard drove one to the right field fence for three sacks, with one man down, but the stick artists of the locals could not chase him on around.

Swenson's wide throw to second in the eleventh on an attempted force allowed two of the Giants on the track, and although on the next play a man was cut off at third on a force play McBride's ringing single to left center scored Hunter from second base. In the Hubbers' half of the eleventh Brown doubled to the right field wall, but died on third when Dean and Battle went out in order.

The second game of the series will be called at the Merrill Park this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

GASSERS ANNEX TEN INNING AFFAIR FROM CUBS

AMARILLO, July 7.—It took the Gassers 10 innings to take a game from the Cubs today and even the league standing. Morgan and Ratliffe battled with honors about even on the mound. The locals brought in a score in the tenth on a single, a double and a sacrifice fly and stopped the argument.

SPORT IS BIGGEST BUSINESS IN AMERICA ACCORDING TO AUTHORITIES. By the United Press. NEW YORK July 7.—An analysis of the gate receipts of football, baseball, boxing, tennis, racing and minor sport events show that they are outdaring the United States Steel Corporation or the Standard Oil.

Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, went into horse racing for sport. But he has made more money out of it than he will get out of Teapot Dome—more money than any one else during the season.

A tabulated result recently showed earnings of $194,000 for the Rancocas stable of which he is owner. The amount is being swelled by new winnings every day.

Zev, the king of the 3-year-olds, contributed the largest amount, 33 35 485 winning five first places up to the time of this abatement for a total of $144,966. Grey Lag won four first places and one second for $26,960. Mad Hatter contributed $28,200, Little Chief $7,790 and Lester, Flying Chief, Outline, Kisel, Whirlwind, Knicker, Aladdin, Bud Lermer and Sheridan turned in purses from $5,000 down to $1,500. Total $194,000.

Add to this the winnings of the other stable owners, the gate receipts at the various parks, the amount taken in at the hundreds of professional baseball games every afternoon of the season, the paid admissions at the Yale, Harvard, Princeton and other football games, the big fight crowds and the amount paid to witness other athletic events and you have a figure that reaches hundreds of millions for the year.

The prestige of American women in international tennis competition is rapidly being swamped. Molla Mallory, the American champion, has bowed to the superiority of Mile. Suzanne Lenglen.

work and could no longer plow or draw hay wagons, they were sold to cab drivers in the cities, which is a sad way for a farm horse to end his life.

But there was a farmer who loved one of his old horses so much that he wouldn't sell him when he grew too old for the hardest work. "Instead of doing that," he said, "I shall give good old Toby to Lucy for a pet." Then he laughed, because Lucy, his little girl, was only four years old. She was fond of pets and had a great number of them, but Toby was the biggest pet she had.

He always loved the little girl, for she went to the pasture fence and called, "Come, Toby, Toby" and when he came galloping across the field, he was almost sure to find a lump of sugar in her hand. Then he would stand perfectly still while she climbed to the top of the fence and from there to his back.

After that when Lucy said, "Get up Toby, get up!" Toby would give his head a toss and go stepping along, stepping along, slowly and carefully so that the little girl shouldn't fall off, and she hung tight to Toby's rough mane, rode on, smiling and happy. Toby also liked to have Lucy walk up to him and say, "Good old Toby, good old Toby." Then he would put his head down low so that she could pat his long nose and brush the flies away.

But one day Toby and the little girl had a sad accident. Lucy was taking her usual ride, and Toby was stepping along, stepping along, slowly and carefully, when something unusual happened.

It was a warm day, and Toby was mad up his mind he wanted a drink of water; so he walked splash, splash, splash into the creek and stood there for a minute in the cool water and looked up and down the creek. Lucy began to brush back her curls, which the wind had blown into her face.

Then Toby bent his head to drink, and in doing it it made his neck into a steep hill, and he did it so suddenly that little Lucy, at the top of the steep, high hill, went slipping, sliding, slipping down the hill so fast that the next thing Toby knew his little friend had gone splash! into the deep water. It was a loud splash, too, enough to scare any horse.

The creek was deep, and Lucy could not swim and would have drowned had not Toby been a wise horse. Before she could sink even once he bent his head and stretched out his long neck and picked the little girl up by fastening his teeth in her gingham dress. Then he walked fast, splash, splash, splash, straight across the creek and up the bank on the other side, and there he dropped Lucy, soaked and scared, on the soft green grass.

The hired man saw what had happened, for he was away up on a high platform, oiling the windmill. Down the ladder he slid as fast as he could slide, and when he reached the ground, he ran over the little bridge across the creek as fast as he could run. Then he snatched up little Lucy and ran with her to her mother. By that time, although she was still dripping wet, she wasn't frightened but was laughing.

Toby came home at last over the bridge, stepping along, stepping along rather slowly as he expected to be scolded perhaps, and maybe wishing that he could say to the family, "Accidents will happen." But when he reached home, he was astonished. The family came to meet him. They petted him and fed him sugar and patted his long nose and called him "Good old horse, good old Toby" just as if he were the most wonderful horse in the world. Lucy's mother put her arms around his neck and kissed him, the big brothers brushed his coat until it was as smooth as satin and combed his mane until it was soft and silky, and over afterwards as long as he lived nothing was too good for him.—Exchange.

set to work with no word of encouragement and nothing to reduce the drudgery of his home tasks.

Even filling the wood box, the boy's daily job, could be made less irksome. A boy often says, "I'm forever filling that box," but a mother could change his point of view and make it a pleasant job if she made the boy realize that she needed the wood to cook good things for him.

"I do not believe in paying a child for every bit of work he does, because he must bear his share in the household; but I believe the kind word of appreciation should be given more often than it is. A word is not much. We do not have to open our purses to give it. Why then are mothers so chary of it? The little word of praise when it brings such good results?

THE ORIGIN OF FLAPPERS

Sometimes a buying habit breaks out almost overnight, and the demand for outstrips the supply. This is the instance of the lowly and much-cartooned galosh, for example.

Almost simultaneously retailers in all parts of the country received unprecedented calls for these, and manufacturers were instantly swamped with orders. Here is how it happened.

In a certain college for young women most of the girls wore galoshes simply because conditions forced them to—not because they really liked them—not a first. Class-rooms were located in various buildings, and in winter it was necessary to wear a warm, dry foot covering in crossing the campus to the various classes.

Often only a very short time intervened between classes, and no time could be spent in buckling galoshes, and as a result of this, the girls hurried along with unbuttoned galoshes flapping about their ankles.

Other girls in the college town saw this and imitated the custom. And the craze developed into a nation-wide buying habit which women and girls adopted at once.

Also, a larger demand became apparent for men's galoshes. From the standpoint of health this buying habit is a very sane one in spite of the flapping galosh. This flap is now definitely eliminated, thanks to the longer skirts of the present season.

RED CROSS HOME SERVICE REPORT IS MADE BY SECRETARY; MUCH GOOD ACCOMPLISHED DURING QUARTER

A total of 79 ex-service men received material assistance on account of the local chapter of the American Red Cross during the past quarter and the total value, in dollars and cents, of this assistance would total more than ten times the total cost of the maintenance of the entire work of the local organization during the year.

Of these 79 men assisted by the Red Cross six were placed in a government hospital—a saving of more than $100 per month to them and without the assistance of the Red Cross, the recognized channel for the adjustment of all claims against the government on the part of ex-service men, it possibly would have taken these men six months to a year to have gotten this service.

Four have been granted regular monthly compensation on account of wounds received in the service totaling more than $250 per month. Three have been sent to vocational schools for additional training to fit them for new occupations since wounds or injuries received in the service incapacitated them for the resumption of their pre-war occupations.

The men received a discharge from the army as a result of application made by the Red Cross for their parents. One man was granted additional travel pay for travel made while in the service for which he received no compensation and two received back allotments on their disability account.

Seventy-seven Families Receive Help

A personal investigation was made of 273 families and out of this number 77 families received material assistance of different kinds. A total of 136 were placed in various

Dressing For Mid-Winter

NEW YORK, July 7.—Mid-Summer dresses are divided into two groups—the sheer, sleeveless chiffons and georgettes and the more formal cantons, satin-backed crepes and crepe de chine.

Though the warm days have brought out numbers of chiffons and georgettes in both plain and printed effects, one sees an equal quantity of long-sleeved silk gowns in navy and black. Lace trims the plain chiffon frock, forming panels and finish for the neck and short-cuffed sleeves.

The printed chiffon or georgette frock often has the design outlined in beads, though not in all-over effect, as the sheer materials can not stand too much additional weight. Often only the waist portion of the frock is outlined in beads. Sleeves are either very short in this type of frock or entirely missing.

The slender silhouette is shown in most all gowns, although it is varied now and again by the detachable taffetas and moire silks are made with the detachable bustle-bow of feet and the bow can be removed if one wishes. Moire, by the way is very popular at present. As the season advances it is predicted that shiny surfaced materials will replace dull surfaced materials.

Yellow Is Popular.

Summery frocks of the garden variety are favoring yellow, dotted swiss and French-crepe. Pippings of contrasting materials are a popular trimming. Yellow is a leading color with orchid and Nile green following. One sees little all white, but white gowns combined with vivid colors are many. White lace-trimmed net is used over black taffeta frocks in apron effect on many dinner gowns. Black and white effects are popular in dressy gowns, as well as in sport frocks. One sees many black crepe de chine jaquettes embroidered or printed in white.

Beaded gowns are still popular and the self-colored beads are more popular than beads of contrasting shades. Little all-over bead work is to be found, but bead effect and panel beading is popular.

Evelet embroidery is again in fashion's favor and one sees it on many of the high priced frocks worn over-slip of contrasting color. Organzias and voiles are especially pretty worked in eyelets. It is even predicted that velvet gowns next winter will be worked in eyelets and worn over colored slips.

Two side panels are losing favor and the side drape, the one-side panel and the front panel or front drapery are shown on most of the newer dresses.

Evening gowns are heavily beaded and the beaded robe which may be purchased in semi-made condition in the shops can be made into a lovely gown of the formal type, since many of the new gowns are opened at the sides with pleated side panels or ruffles filling in the gap between the front and back of the skirt. One can usually match the color of the beaded robe in net or chiffon, either of which are suitable for making ruffles or side panels.

The fall tendency leans toward straight lined gowns without a suggestion of waist-line of belt.

UNDIES FOR SUMMER

HOME EDUCATION A WORD OF PRAISE By Mrs. Nestor Noel

"How badly you mothered the garden!" remarked a mother to her young boy, one hot day.

The boy, John, looked ashamed, as if he had just entered the garden. "I've done all that lot," he said, pointing to a well weeded bed. "I can't do it all in one day." He threw down his hoe and went sulking into the house.

"It's always like that," remarked his mother to me. "He can't finish what he begins."

"Perhaps you give him too much to do at a time," I ventured. "He seems to have done that bed of pansies beautifully, and it is very hot today."

"So it is," said the mother. "Come on to the porch and we'll have some lead lemonade. See how lazy Rollo is. He doesn't even get up to welcome you."

The dog wagged his tail lazily, but did not move.

Yes! It was not a day on which a dog could be expected to exert itself; yet this woman had expected a boy to do a man's job. When Fourth vesperslated with her mildly, she marked: "A boy must do some thing or he will only get into mischief."

I have often seen women of this type and pitied their sons. This woman was cross with her boy for what he had not done, yet never gave him one word of praise for the beautiful bed of pansies which he left as perfect as an experienced gardener might have done.

I have had a great deal to do with children and I have found invariably that a word of praise will bring out the best that is in them and induce them to greater efforts. Why not let them have this little word. It costs us nothing.

In looking over a child's work, why not notice the good qualities about it, as well as the bad? For instance, that mother might have said: "How well you have done the pansy bed. It's hot now, suppose you rest, and finish the other part later on." The boy would have welcomed the word of praise, especially in front of a stranger and he would have worked twice as hard in the cool of the evening, until the rest of the garden was as good as the first part.

In his own home, a boy is often

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 7.—Gypsy bathing caps are the latest thing at the beaches. They are rubberized squares of silk in brilliantly printed designs which wrap about the head and tie in Gypsy ends at the side. They are worn over the waterproof bathing cap.

Two-faced frocks are the latest word from Paris. Their fronts are entirely different from their backs. For instance, the front may be made in straight-lined effect, while the back has a skirt with three tiers of ruffles. Again the back may be tacked from head to foot, while the front is entirely plain.

Earrings are worn in increasing numbers as the season advances. Women do not seem to wear them on the street as generally as they did at the beginning of the season, but they are extremely popular for evening wear. The pendant type is the preferred type used for dressy occasions and tassels of seed pearls are particularly popular.

Bright colored shawls of crepe de chene with fringe borders of the same shade as the shawl are popular for summer evening wear. One can purchase a large white fringe and have a shawl suitable for many evening occasions. If one wishes a certain color, it is best to make the shawl in white, and have it dyed; as it is often difficult to find colored fringe of a desired shade.

PARAMOUNT TO RE-ISSUE TWENTY-FIVE COMEDIES

Old favorites among the Mack Sennett comedies are to be seen again as a result of the decision of Paramount officials to re-issue twenty-five of them beginning Aug. 5, and running thru the season of 1923-24.

"In re-issuing these comedies," S. R. Kent, general manager, stated, "we believe we are rendering a service to exhibitors, and the public. According to reports, there is a shortage of short subjects. Many of the comedians who formerly appeared in one and two-reel pictures are now making them four, five, and even six reels. And some of the companies which used to handle comedies and short subjects have cut them out entirely."

Production Work Begun on "Ruggles of Red Gap"

Work was started last week at the Lasky Studio on James Cruze's Paramount production of "Ruggles of Red Gap." Included among the featured players will be Edward Horton, in the title role; Ernest Torrence, who will have the important role of Cousin Egbert; and Lois Wilson, who will take the part of Klondike Kate. Other featured players are Fritzi Ridgeway, Charles Ogle and Louise Dresser. Included in the cast are William Austin, Anna Lehr, Frank Elliott, Thomas Holding, Kalla Pasha, Sidney Bracy, Milt Brown and Majorie Bauer.

In choosing Howard Horton for the role of Ruggles, Jesse L. Lasky says he believes he has found the ideal actor to handle the delicately shaded humor of the part. It will be Horton's first work for Paramount although he is an experienced screen actor, having attracted considerable attention in his recent roles for Vitaphone, notably "A Front Page Story."

Gloria Swanson Remains in Tears for Five Hours

While the thermometer in New York was breaking heat records of thirty years, standing, Gloria Swanson set a record for sustained emotionalism in the scene for "Zaza," which Allan Dwan is now producing at the Paramount Long Island Studio. Miss Swanson remained in tears constantly during five hours of one of the most dramatic scenes of the picture. So far as is known she has established a record for work of this kind that has never been reached by any screen star.

Many Screen Celebrities Aided by William DeMille

Seldom given but greatly deserved, are credits to William de Mille for the stars and leading players of the screen today who owe much of their success to him. When big producers and directors are being praised for having aided many a struggling artist to higher things, de Mille's name is seldom mentioned. However, it is because he is entirely too quiet and unobtrusive to seek spotlight.

But a search into the back records shows that more than one prominent film player must thank de Mille. Lois Wilson, for example, was a little heard of until she attracted wide and favorable comment in "The Lost Romance," "Miss Lulu Brett" and "Midsummer Madness," all William de Mille's Paramount productions. Thomas Meighan added immeasurably to his fame under de Mille's direction in "The Prince Chap" and "Conrad in Quest of his Youth." In "Midsummer Madness" and the "Lost Romance" Jack Holt won laurels which elevated him to the point of stardom.

Today William de Mille is still the same quiet, unobtrusive director—always making good pictures, always bringing to light good actors and actresses. In his current Paramount production, "Spring Magic," adapted by Clara Beranger from Edward Knoblock's play "The Faun," his cast features Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt, supported by Charles de Roche, Robert Agnew and Mary Astor.

Paintings Furnish Only Clue to Ancient Costumes

Queen Isabella of Spain was one of the most painted of Spanish medieval history—meaning, not that she wore the most make-up, or anything like that, but that her portrait was painted nearly 100 times by Velasquez.

Possibly Velasquez didn't realize he was doing it, but he made the only record of the women's clothes of the period. And now, as a result, photographic copies of all of the paintings are lined up at the Paramount West Coast Studio in the costume designing department.

There's a reason, as the breakfast food advertisements say.

This reason dates back to the time not long ago when Paramount decided to film the famous story "Don Caesar de Bazan" with Pola Negri in the stellar role. It is to be called "The Spanish Dancer."

In order to design dresses for the women it has been necessary to use considerable imagination since none but royal gowns are shown in the paintings of Velasquez. There are no brocades now such as were worn then. In securing the effect of the sixteenth century brocades, designs were carefully copied on silk by skilled painters. When these made to order brocades are photographed, they show in the films with all the rich effect of genuine brocades.

The period in which "The Spanish Dancer" is placed was an age of grotesquerie. The king of Spain delighted in dwarfs and misshapen human figures. This spirit is reflected in the clothing of the period and will be reproduced in "The Spanish Dancer."

It was the one period in history when Spain was essentially Spanish. Most other periods Spanish showed the influence of France, Italy or Austria, or of the Moors. In the reign of Philip IV Spain was more nearly original in all things than at any other time. This is what makes the reproduction of the clothing and costumes unusually difficult. Although Philip IV was contemporary with Louis XIV of France, the costumes and general dress of the two courts were entirely different.

INSIDE THE SHAVING MUG

One afternoon, a few years ago, the proprietor of a barber shop in Akron, Ohio, started into a shaving mug and saw a great light.

The shop where he operated was in the heart of the old business section of the town. He worked men who occupied offices or worked in stores thereabouts.

One day it dawned on him that Akron was undergoing a transformation and that the older men among his customers greatly outnumbered the young ones.

"They get their hair cut once a month, and shave themselves, and that about lets them out," reflected the barber. "They don't care if they never have an expensive shampoo or facial massage or toilet water. It isn't that they haven't the money, but they are settled down and don't care so much about how they look. Now if I just had more fellows who are going with the girls, and

Thinking along that line, he jumped, mentally, out to East Akron, where dwelt thousands of young men employed in the tire factories—making big money and spending it, interested in "snappy" clothes and modish haircuts.

This barber shifted his base of operations and opened a little tire studio near one of the tire factories. His weekly profit promptly increased from forty on one hundred dollars, Fred Kelly in The Nation's Business.

Wife Of Late Mayor Of Dallas Is Elected Dean Of Women

DALLAS, Texas, July 7.—Mrs. S. J. Hay, wife of the late former mayor of Dallas, who has been selected by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of Southern Methodist University to succeed Miss Emily Reid as dean of women, left July 3 on a two months tour of the Northwest and Alaska. She will return in the early part of September to take up her new duties at the beginning of the fall term.

For the last five years Mrs. Hay has been a solicitor for the Southwestern Life Insurance Co. of Dallas. The mother of five children, Mrs. Hay has demonstrated that rearing a family need not incapacitate a woman for success in the business world. Last year she wrote more than $250,000 of insurance for her company.

"I am leaving the insurance business for my new position," she explained, "with the same purpose I had in view when I left the Dallas Trust and Savings Bank five years ago, namely to acquire a broader opportunity for public service, even though the change will involve a loss financially."

Previous to her connection with the Southwestern Insurance Co.,

Mrs. Hay had been employed by the Dallas Trust and Savings Bank as manager of the safety deposit vaults. She worked there for two years immediately after her husband's death in 1916.

"I have never been engaged in any work similar to that of dean of women in the University," admitted Mrs. Hay, "but I am confident that I will succeed. I think the fundamental step in controlling the modern college girl is to gain her confidence and affection. Everything else will then be easy. Rules and regulations are necessary, to some extent, but they should not be iron clad laws."

Mrs. Hay's husband served as mayor of Dallas two terms. He was elected first in 1909, the first mayor to serve under the commission form of government, and was re-elected in 1911 without any opposition.

The new dean of women though without formal experience in her new position, has four reasons for believing that she knows something about girls. Her four daughters are Mrs. Roscoe Golden, a member of the music faculty at S. M. U.; Mrs. R. O. Carter; Mrs. L. M. Jordan, and Mrs. I. G. Semeniouk. Her son is S. J. Hay, Jr.

LARGER STAFF OF ARMY OFFICERS TO BE AT A. & M. COLLEGE

By the United Press.
COLLEGE STATION, July 7.—Change in the military instructional staff of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, together with unofficial information received here, indicates that a larger staff of regular army officers will be on duty at the college next year.

Five transfers from the staff have been ordered and four new assignments have been made to fill the vacancies. One other assignment is certain to be made and six are expected.

New assignments here are: Lieut. Col. F. T. Turner, Captain J. T. Besse, Captain Ralph Ware and Captain M. M. Montgomery. The officers will report for duty in September.

The officers transferred from the college are: Major W. H. H. Morris, Jr., infantry, to Columbus Barracks, Ohio; Capt. L. A. Kurtz, field artillery, to Fort Sill School of Fire; Captains J. O. Tarbox and F. J. de Rohan to Hawaii.

$25,000 FIRE AT RANGER LEFT NO SIGN OF FLAMES

By the United Press.
RANGER, July 7.—Despite the fact that there was a $25,000 fire at the city hall here, the building don't show the least sign of the flames' ravages.

No insurance was carried and the fire department wasn't even called. The costly fire was the burning of a $25,000 warrant issue which had already been voted down by the city council. The warrants, however, had already been printed and signed.

The council then passed a resolution authorizing the cremation of the paper which was done in the presence of several city officials.

Dempsey and Gibbons together couldn't beat the tax collector.

Who owns the Santa Fe?

Not a few persons, but many thousands, are stockholders in this great railway. All have a voice in its management. The number of stockholders living in states traversed by the Santa Fe is steadily increasing.

Every railroad has two classes of people interested in its financial structure—viz, the stockholders and the bondholders. In the minds of many, both classes are considered as owners. As a matter of fact, only the holders of the stock are owners. The bondholders are loaners of money, the bonds representing a mortgage on the property to insure payment of money loaned.

The Stockholders of the Santa Fe are, therefore, the owners of the road. Each share has an equal voice in all meetings of the Company. At the annual meeting vacancies in the Board of Directors are filled and such other business transacted as requires action by the stockholders.

Number of Stockholders—
There were on December 31st last 64,643 stockholders, of which 29,820 were men, 29,235 women, and the balance made up of firms, estates, and institutions, among the latter being—
122 insurance companies;
108 educational institutions;
93 religious organizations;
89 hospitals and charitable bodies.

Average Holding—
The average holding of stock was only 55.4 shares per name, but the holdings run from one share upwards—
14,583 held 5 shares or less;
26,335 held from 6 to 20 shares;
12,938 held from 21 to 50 shares;
6,378 held from 51 to 100 shares;
Only 4,409 held over 100 shares.

Two Classes of Stock—
There are two classes of stock, viz, Preferred and Common, there being outstanding on December 31st last—
1,241,737 shares of Preferred Stock;
2,270,525 shares of Common Stock;
Total—3,512,262 shares of both.

Dividend Payments—
The Preferred Stock is limited to 5% dividends. The balance of the earnings of the Company is available for Common Stock dividends. Dividends on the Preferred Stock have been paid for 25 years and for 23 years these have not been below 5%. Dividends on the Common began in 1904 and have not been below 6% since 1909. Something has been added to surplus each year since the reorganization of the company January 1, 1896.

Local Stockholders—
The number of stockholders in the states traversed by the Santa Fe is steadily increasing. In 1910 there were 1792 in those states, while in 1922 the number had grown to 7831.

The Bondholders—
While our bondholders have no share in the ownership or management of the property their importance is fully recognized. The Santa Fe had outstanding December 31, 1922, in round figures $287,000,000 of bonds. These are owned:
Insurance Companies $ 78,042,000
Savings Banks 18,707,000
Charitable Institutions 9,781,000
Corporations 51,339,000
Individuals 129,196,000
The total number of bondholders is about 32,000.

"THAT MAN MAYFIELD HIMSELF" IN CHARGE.

Lorenzo Is One Of The Thriving Towns Of The South Plains And Is A Fine Trading Point

LORENZO, July 7.—When the Lorenzo Chamber of Commerce Band won third place at the San-Angelo Convention in May a lot of folks asked "Where is that town Lorenzo that has all of this band?" If their maps were more than three years old they would have had a hard time finding its location but if they should happen to visit the Plains they would soon enough learn that Lorenzo is the biggest little town on the Santa Fe—that it is located half way between Lubbock and Crosbyton and that a good band is not the only good thing the town has by a long sight.

A store, a blacksmith shop, a few struggling residences, a railroad station and a school house of three or four years ago it is fairly bristling out now with activity, new buildings, bigger business and community pride. Pride in their winning band. Pride in their school, their growth, their surrounding agricultural country, pride in their crops, and pride in just living in Lorenzo.

Band Serves As All South Plains Band

Whenever music is needed anywhere in the South Plains the Lorenzo band is right there tuning up the old bass drum ready to go. Recently when Lubbock opened their new baseball park, without argument the Lorenzo Band showed up ready to lead the procession. When the American Legion planned a Memorial Service, with the local battery of the National Guard and other features—the Lorenzo Band took their place just as confidently and as naturally as if they had lived in the "The Hub City" all of their lives.

When Floydada planned a trade excursion all over the South Plains—advertising their big 4th of July Celebration and Barbecue the Lorenzo Band joined them at the first stop and furnished music for the rest of the two days. When the big celebration and barbecue opened—the same band lead the opening parade.

When Crosby county started to Angelo with a 10 car train—the Lorenzo Band occupied the first ten cars. Regardless of what is on or where it is the Lorenzo Band backed up by a good delegation of Lorenzo's boosters are on hand delivering the goods.

Much Building Under Way
The spring building programme includes not only three or four brick retail stores, but a drive-in filling station, a new gin, a round dozen modern residences, and a whole neighborhood full of new farm houses. More than a hundred new farms have been opened up right around Lorenzo. One land owner has added five new rent farms to his already growing plantation of a dozen rent farms.

"Why sell a farm in this country?" he said. "When each year your 160-acre farm, when rented to a good, conscientious renter, will pay you more actual money than the interest and principle payment would be if you sold the land—and at the end of the fifteen year period it has doubled in value at least two times." And he has figures to prove his statement. Of course, his good renters soon buy farms of their own—but there are other good renters to be had year after year.

New Land and Increased Cotton Acreage

There is much new land being put into cultivation this year and most of it is going into cotton. In addition to this new acreage a large part of the acreage heretofore planted to wheat is being planted to cotton and feed this year. The wheat acreage that was not promising thirty days ago has been harvested now and the yield has been uniformly good—between fifteen and twenty bushels—but much of the wheat that was below normal thirty days ago was plowed up and cotton planted in its place.

The poultry, cream and hog business through this section of the South Plains is growing in volume, importance and interest. Every train thru Lorenzo carried out from a dozen to twenty-five cans of cream, a few coops of poultry and several cases of eggs. Car-loads of poultry are beginning to be shipped from this point and hogs assure a year around money crop for the wise farmer. There is a growing acreage of cotton due to the increasing population of the farming section of the country but there is a growing interest in the diversified farming idea for there is a definite year around profit in the method.

Bidding for Tourist Travel

All roads leading into and out of Lorenzo are in good condition, plainly marked and well taken care of. The town is seeking more tourist travel over the highways that pass thru its limits. "We know that we are not as well known as Dallas or Fort Worth," said the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. "But we do know that if we can get folks to drive thru this town just one time, see what we are growing, what we are building, and what we have to offer in an agricultural, home building way, that some of them are going to stop here and live here, and that is what we want—more folks—more farm folks with honest to goodness hearts and a spirit of co-operation. And he added, "we would like for them to play in the band."

RECORD CROWD ATTENDED PICNIC AT BROWNFIELD

BROWNFIELD, July 7.—Probably the largest crowd ever assembled in Terry county, attended the big Fourth of July barbecue at Brownfield. The attendance was estimated at from 5,000 to 7,000 people. Hundreds of citizens of all nearby counties were here and a large number from Easter New Mexico were in attendance. Free entertainment in the way of rodeos and ball games were staged and all were enjoyed by the large crowd. In the wild cow milking contest it is thought that a new state record was established by Sam Fyeatt and Leo Walter. The stunt being completed in twenty-five seconds after the animal was loosed from the pens. The day was an ideal one and much favorable comment was voiced at the manner in which the celebration was carried on. TRACTOR USED TO PUT PEP INTO BALKY MULE

DALLAS, July 7.—As a self-starter for a balky mule, modern science has gone old Dave Harum one better. Recently on a construction job in the city one of the mules balked. His lack of progress held up the teams behind him. After the driver of the team had exhausted his supply of explosives to no avail, a tractor was called into use and attached a rope from the tractor to the tongue of the wagon, the forty horsepower was thrown into high gear. The mule braced himself and slid but finally unable to resist this mechanical mule, finally gave in and trotted meekly along.

These gentlemen are taking advantage of an opportunity to learn more of Lubbock County and the Great South Plains and we are pleased to have them here. Douglas Pounds is recognized as one of the most enthusiastic boosters of the South Plains and Lubbock county to be found anywhere and should he induce the visitors to make investments here we will not be at all surprised.

FORTY STATES ACCEPT MATERNITY PROTECTION DURING ONE YEAR

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Thousands of lives of mothers and their babies have been saved during the period of approximately one year that the Shepard-Towner maternity act has been in active operation according to officials of the children's bureau of the Department of Labor here, which has charge of the administration of the act.

In this first year of the life of the act much has occurred to encourage the women of the country who supported and finally won the proposal that the federal government get behind better education of mothers, both before and after birth.

"We have found the women in all parts of the country pathetically eager for the instruction offered under the maternity act," officials of the children's bureau of the Department of Labor said.

These officials admit that there have been scoffers at the act and also active antagonists against it on the ground that the federal government is becoming too paternalistic. But for the most part the opposition to the maternity act is said to be dwindling fast.

The Women Walked Out.
As an example of the antagonism to the maternity act, a report received here states that at a meeting for the instruction of mothers in a rural district of the south, half a dozen women stalked out of the room when the instructor began speaking, with the parting statement: "The Lord gives and the Lord takes away, and it's not for us to thwart Him."

However the southern states are in the vanguard of progress under the maternity act. All the southern states except Louisiana have accepted the funds of the federal government under the act and have actively engaged in the work. This contrasts with New England, where so far only New Hampshire has accepted the maternity act.

Of the only country, forty states have now accepted the terms of the act. The night that have not accepted are Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Beaten in Supreme Court.
Massachusetts brought a suit contending the maternity act was unconstitutional, and a woman of Boston entered suit as a taxpayer attacking the act. But the Supreme Court recently handed down a decision dismissing both of these cases for want of jurisdiction.

Friends of the maternity act say that one great argument for the law is the fact that the latest available figures for maternity mortality in the United States and foreign countries show that the United States is far ahead of almost all of these countries in the number of deaths of mothers at child birth, showing the need of some measure such as this act.

ed an American, because her residence is established in London even though she came originally from California.

The experts who are getting quite worried over the failure of American women to measure up to the international tennis standard, believe too few women are playing in this country today. In England, almost every woman, rich and poor, plays the game. More tournaments are held in England and on the continent, arousing greater interest.

Then, during the winter months, the best players find ideal indoor courts in London, something of which the United States cannot brag.

Because of all the rumpus over intentional bases on balls being issued avery afternoon in both major leagues, the experts are seeking new remedies.

A suggestion has been made seriously by a competent American League pitcher that a rule be established whereby a penalty be enforced if a batsman is walked more than once in the same game. This pitcher says candidly there is no reason in the world why a batter should be walked more than once, unless the pitcher is attempting to pass him wilfully.

Wonder how many home runs Babe Ruth would make if that rule went into effect.

A new municipal course has been opened up in Richmond Park, London, and the golfers there hailed it with delight.
The Prince of Wales himself opened the course by slicing the first ball from the tee into the crowd of four thousand persons watching him nervously.

The prince in his inaugural address said there would be many more courses opened soon.

There are lots of "great open spaces in towns all over the United States which could easily be re-organized and opened to public play for beneficial exercise and the development of the game.

MAYOR OF RICHEST CITY COLLECTS NO PAST PAY
By the Latest Press
FORT WORT, July 7.—Mayor W. S. Galloway of Niles City, "the Richest Town in the World," admits the mayoralty job isn't the best in the land. Galloway is back at his old trade—druggist.

"You see, I'm still mayor of Niles City but the city is so poor because of the annexation fight that we can't even burn the street lights. I haven't received my salary since the first of the year and I have to do something to get by," remarked Galloway, as he bottled pills and served ice cream cones in his store.

The mayor formerly owned a drug store in Niles City.

He also expressed considerable relief at being out of politics for the present at least.

"Politics, you know, gets terrible some times," he confided.

THREE NEW GINS NOW BUILDING IN MITCHELL
COLORADO, Tex., July 7.—Three new gins under construction in Mitchell county, near Comstock. One of these is at Colorado, another at Buford and still another at Westbrook. The new gin here gives Colorado six of these plants. Cotton acreage in the county has been increased 25 per cent over that of last year, according to conservative estimates.

Mitchell county expects to produce not less than 25,000 bales of cotton this season. Crops are reported as growing rapidly without any material deterioration from ravages of grasshoppers or dry weather.

WHAT YOU CAN SEE TODAY

"MASTERS OF MEN"

"Masters of Men," by Margon Robertson, the world's most noted writer of sea stories, is to be shown at the R. & R. Lindsey Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Critics have unanimously acclaimed this picture as the greatest sea story ever screened. The picturization by C. Graham Baker has retained loyally the atmosphere of the novel by America's master teller of sea stories and Vitagraph, who offers it, has provided a lavish production with an all-star cast.

"Masters of Men" tells the story of an American boy who accepted the name of another's name that he might protect the girl he loved from humiliation. Branded in his home town as a thief the lad runs away and joins the United States Navy. While on leave he is shanghaied and suffers the brutality accorded to men before the mast on board a four master sailing the Spanish Main. How he effects his escape and aids in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago provides a thrilling drama which holds interest throughout every foot of the screening.
