EXCITES HIS HEARERS AND CONTINUES TO INJECT HATRED TO GERMANY

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—With the downfall of the Cuno Government and the publication of the correspondence between the allies and two inflammatory speeches by Premier Poincaré, the repatriation situation is decidedly more acute over the week-end than it has possibly been for many months. In anticipation of the break between England and France, the French franc fell to its lowest level in the history of the nation, 17.50 to the dollar was the price today. New and fatal rioting was reported from Hanover where twelve were killed and fifty were injured. The Socialists are to be responsible for the resignation of Cuno.

TECH CELEBRATION POSTPONED BY REQUEST OF TWO PROMINENT EDUCATORS TILL AUGUST THE 28TH

The Lubbock Celebration will be held some time soon, we are sure, and although there have been three or four dates set, and changed, still there is no need to become discouraged, and get it into your system that it is not going to be held for the boys on the committee are working and they are working hard and everything will be rounded up in good shape for the celebration soon. On account of the state officials having so many previous dates it is hard to catch them all at one time, and hence the necessity of holding the jubilee on some date on which they can be here and it is definitely settled now that the jubilee will be on the 28th. We know that it will be interesting for some folks to wait that long to come to see the "Hub of the Plains"—the place where the new Tech will be located, but it will pay you to wait, but be sure

Lubbock Scouts Home from Encampment On Palo Duro Canyon near Happy; Copas Bowen Was Given Charge of the Affair

Copas Bowen and the fifteen other scouts of the local organization returned to their homes here Saturday from near Happy, where they spent several days doing Scout work on the Palo Duro Canyon. Due to the fact that all of the other scout officials were too busy to make the trip, young Bowen was given charge of the boys, and from all reports was successful in giving them some very good scout instructions. Strict military discipline was practiced throughout the encampment, the boys being compelled to go to bed at regular hours, and were aroused in the morning by the bugler. Supplies were shipped from Lubbock daily and a negro cook was employed to do the kitchen duty in order that there would be no unnecessary waste of food. Special details were appointed for camp duty each day, and no fussing was experienced as each scout knew well that orders were to be followed. One little fellow learned something about scout law enforcement when he took a plunge in the swimming hole against the rules that were agreed upon, and as a result spent several hours doing camp duty. He took on his work in good spirits and showed more respect for the scout laws after the half day's camp work was completed. The boys were highly commended when the business men of Happy upon their good behavior. A penalty of a box-car.

First Yankee-Doodle President

President Calvin Coolidge

Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts is our first Yankee Doodle President, being born on the Fourth of July, fifty-one years ago, 1872, at Plymouth, Vt. He is the third vice-president from that State—and it is a coincidence that one of the other two, Chester A. Arthur, became president upon the assassination of James A. Garfield. The third was Levi P. Morton, vice-president to President Harrison.

Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, began life on his father's farm at Plymouth, Vermont, a tiny hamlet nestled in the heart of the Green Mountains. He was born on Independence Day in 1872. He did the hard work that every farmer boy knows, and to this day retains many of the quiet ways and much of the homely philosophy of the farm.

But farming was not to be young Coolidge's career, for early in his teens he began planning to "get to college." His father, John C. Coolidge, and the quiet mother, who before her marriage was Victoria Moor both came from a long line of Yankee farmers used to the toil of the soil, and they encouraged the ambition of their son for an education.

Then followed years of hard work, and finally in 1895 Coolidge was graduated from Amherst as an honor student. He at once began the study of law in the office of Hammond & Field in Northampton, Mass. In less than two years he was admitted to the bar, and began active practice in an office of his own.

It is a question whether Coolidge had ambitions in his youth for a political career. His first step toward the high position he holds today came when the county clerk died suddenly. The young lawyer was chosen to serve the unexpired term, but he refused to run for that office when Republican leaders of the town urged him to be their candidate.

The people of Northampton liked Coolidge, and in 1899 he was elected to the city council, although he did not seek the office. At the same time he was made city solicitor and gained much experience in law.

In 1905 Calvin Coolidge was quietly married to Grace Goodhue, of Burlington, Vermont. Mrs. Coolidge was then teaching school in Northampton, and so quiet was the young lawyer's courtship that few knew anything about it until the wedding was announced.

From the time Coolidge entered Northampton's city hall his political rise was steady. He was elected to various offices and eventually became mayor.

His entrance into State politics came in 1911 when he was elected to the Massachusetts State Senate. He was in the senate for four years, two of which he acted as president of that body.

Coolidge was elected lieutenant governor of Massachusetts in 1915 while Samuel McCalle was governor. In 1918 he was elected governor, and in 1919, was re-elected to that office.

While Coolidge was well known in his own state, it was not until the Boston police strike occurred, in 1919, that his fame became world-wide. His determined stand in the emergency and his staunch declaration for a policy of "law and order" whatever might come, put him in the national spotlight.

Coolidge was nominated for vice-president in the national convention in 1920, and on March 5, 1921, this quiet man, who says little but thinks much and acts with decision, became Vice-President of the United States.

Coolidge has the conservative character of the traditional Yankee. He never speaks without weighing his words long and carefully, and he says what he thinks in as few words as possible.

He abhors show and effection and lives a simple life. While in Northampton the Coolidges occupied half of a two family house, for which he paid the moderate sum of $82 a month.

The Coolidges have two sons, John and Calvin, Jr., who are still in their teens.

Mrs. Coolidge's interest has almost exclusively been in her home, her husband and her boys. She cares very little for society or club life, and outside her home her interests has been almost exclusively with the Red Cross.

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—A question in August?

Treasurer Terrell said that one-fourth of this tax would likely amount to about $250,000.

HOUSTON, Aug. 13.—Virgil E. Arnold, state representative from Houston, was set at liberty this afternoon under a $200 bond, following his conviction on misdemeanor charges of embezzlement by the county court Thursday. Arnold was sentenced to ten days in the county jail, but his attorneys immediately filed motion for a new trial and he was released under bond. The legislator was convicted on a charge of misdemeanor embezzlement of thirty two dollars from Dorothy Robbins, a negro client. Representative Arnold was recently indicted by the Harris county grand jury on sixteen counts in connection with embezzlement charges, and on one felony charge, in connection with compensation claims of a negro woman, whose husband was killed in an explosion in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The People Suffer.

But the result is developing into chaos, and the people themselves are the chief sufferers. The financiers of Germany are making the most gigantic gamble in modern history. If the flight of the mark should frighten France into surrendering the Ruhr, thru fear of Bolshevik revolution, or frighten England into forcing France to surrender thru fear of dismemberment of Germany, then the financiers in Berlin will have won. They will not have to find the money for an adequate indemnity. But if France holds fast and if Europe refuses to be bluffed by the German move, then Germany will not only have to pay the indemnity but also will have had no recompense for the enormous suffering being caused by the artificial depreciation of the mark.

Every fall of Germany's paper currency is supposed to be adequately met by an automatic raise in wages, based on a price index number of the average quotations for a large series of commodities. On the first of each month the government and private employers determine what the wages of employees shall be for that month by the price index system.

Wages Behind the Mark.

But this method is always a month behind the mark. What the mark is worth on the first of every month cannot determine its value during the remainder of the month. It may be worth only one-half as much on the fifteenth as on the first, and under present conditions, usually is. Yet the wage determined on the first holds likewise for the fifteenth and the thirty-first.

The wage earning class of Germany therefore is never able to catch up with the mark's real value. Prices of commodities change daily and sometimes hourly, while wages change monthly. The German financiers who have deliberately depressed the mark for political and monetary reasons of their own, have not taken into consideration the sufferings of the masses of the people. This is in full accord with the German militaristic methods which never regarded the common soldier as other than a machine.

Blind Obedience.

The German people have been accustomed for so many years to discipline that the financiers have been allowed to work their will without protest under the mistaken idea that Germany was being benefited.

Signs at last are appearing that the German masses are beginning to realize how they have been imposed upon. The stabilization of the mark may therefore be brought by Proletariat action, thru the realization that sound money is the workingman's best friend.

FOLKS APPRECIATE SERVICE

In some of the largest cities of America the man or the woman with a good check and no bank acquaintances can probably get that check cashed promptly with no more requirement than the giving of street address or telephone number. The oasis of service, nine times out of ten, will be a department store. In certain cities—namely Minneapolis, Detroit, Omaha—the practice among large department stores has been made an aggressive store policy that takes in the general public, customers and non-customers. Separate checking departments are maintained by some stores, partitioned-off enclosures with standard cashiers' windows, which often bear placards directing attention to the fact that checks will be cashed there.

Are they used? There are groups or lines in front of every window in nearly every hour of the day. Thousands of checks are cashed at these windows daily in each store.

Of the stores in Minneapolis operating check-cashing departments, several report each a total of checks cashed of from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year. Checks cashed range in size from fifty cents to amounts well into three figures, but the average probably not above $25.

Armstrong County Preparing for Big Fair in September

Special to the Avalanche. CLAUDE, Aug. 13.—The citizens of Armstrong county are preparing for the largest fair this county has ever known. The dates for this fair will be just prior to the Tri-State Fair to be staged at Amarillo on the 24th to 29th of Sept. Every community in this county will be thoroughly advertised in both the county and Tri-State Fair. "Every community is organized and is preparing for a thorough representation from this county. The educational and industrial features will mean much to the building up of our county. Very interesting and most beautiful exhibits are being prepared, and will be put on by the home demonstration clubs of the county, organized and conducted by Mrs. F. C. Vaden, home demonstrator for Armstrong county. This will be put on permanent exhibit at the county courthouse after the fair. The program has been mapped out and catalogues have been distributed. One of the most interesting features pertaining to the fair is the fact that the young boys and girls clubs of the county are taking a great interest in the exhibits, with their fancy packed fruits and vegetables, fine maize, kaffir, and cane sweets, and many other things of their own production.

Among the evils of returning from a vacation is finding you left something in the ice box.

Judge says a man can marry on $90 a month. We say he can if she doesn't know about it.

Young Men Today Are Worthless Says Lady of 103 Years

By the United Press. FORT WORTH, Aug. 13.—"If you're young and looking for a good husband, you're out of luck," is the none too cheery message of Mrs. Frank Stein, 103 years old who says she knows from experience Mrs. Stein, living with her fifth husband, says young men nowadays are worthless.

"If my husband dies before I do, I won't marry again. Men aren't what they used to be."

Mrs. Stein, who looks considerably younger, declares she can work harder now that she could when she was 16. She's done about everything in the way of labor that a man can, including digging wells, building a two-room house, driving spikes on a railroad, plowing, sawing wood and even acting as brakeman on a railroad during a strike.

She's had 91 years experience as a cook and wash woman and now she's hunting work either as a cook or laundress.

Mrs. Stein's "baby" is 62 years old and able to take care of himself.

The first four husbands were brothers, named Harrigan. The first one died at the wedding breakfast and No. 4 was crying in his cradle at the time.

Mrs. Stein was born in Dublin, Ireland. Her mother lived 20 to be 137 and her father 127, she says.

OLD SETTLERS PLAN FIDDLERS' CONTEST HERE

An old fiddlers contest will be a feature of the Panhandle Old Settlers' Association, which will meet in Amarillo Wednesday, September 26, in connection with the Amarillo Tri-State Exposition.

President George A. F. Parker of Howland, who was president of the association the last time it met in Amarillo in 1917 at the Old Panhandle State Fair, has called the meeting and he is hopeful that the old timers will come here by the hundreds. The old fiddlers' contest was held at the final fair in 1917 and proved an unusual success. Fiddlers from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas will be invited.

T. F. Turner of Amarillo, who is also president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, said that his organization probably would have a meeting during the fair. He has written letters to three former Panhandle men to come to the exposition.

Jim East, sheriff of Oldham county from 1882 to 1886 and now a resident of Douglas, Ariz., has been invited. He was a noted Panhandle peace officer and assisted in running down "Billy the Kid," a notorious bandit.

Dr. Henry F. Hoyt of Long Beach Calif., who came to the Panhandle in 1877, has received a letter from Judge Turner. He found that the Panhandle was so healthy that he became a cowboy on the LX ranch to make a living.

Charles A. Siringo, of Los Angeles, formerly of the LX ranch and now a famous writer, is being asked here for the Old Settlers' meeting. His writings of the west are held unusually accurate and interesting.

WHOLE FAMILY CHICAGO CHIEF ARE ACTIVE ON THE FORCE

By the United Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Morgan A. Collins is the wife of Chicago's chief of police and one of the best assistants on the force. And if you ask the chief, he will tell you confidentially that Charlotte and Morgan, Jr., come next.

Hundreds of telephone calls each week are answered by Mrs. Collins and the two children, and at dinner each night they report on the day's work.

"Belief that their complaints will receive more prompt attention if made personally to Mrs. Collins brings scores of telephone calls to us," Mrs. Collins said. "Of course, it would be impossible for him to personally attend to all of those, so the children and I act as shock absorbers.

"Violations of the prohibition laws top the list in number of complaints. Frequently the report deals with a neighborhood quarrel, and crime that strikes our hearts are often brought to us instead of being taken to the police headquarters. Really it keeps us busy helping out like this.

Crash of Mark Is Blamed by Mason On German Policy

By the United Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Germany's depreciation of the mark to more than a million to the dollar has been possible only by the governments deliberate avoidance of imposing adequate taxation on the German people. The Germans are paying scarcely more than one per cent of the government's expenses in taxation. The rest of the expenses are being met by the flood of paper money.

Cubs and Gassers Divide a Double Bill Sunday

CLOVIS, Aug. 13.—Clovis and Amarillo divided a double bill here Sunday afternoon, Amarillo winning the first game by a score of 4 to 1, and Clovis took the second 5 to 3. Both games were snappy exhibitions and a better brand of baseball than is usually seen in a class D field.

Cubs and Gassers Divide a Double Bill Sunday. Pitching honor was about even between Hill and Thomas, each team securing eight hits, but the Gassers were more timely and counted for more. Neither team scored for five innings, but in the sixth, Shaw, first batter up, parked the ball over the left field fence. In the seventh, Caffey singled and stole second. Lawrence stepped up with two Gassers away and parked the ball in the same place that Shaw put it over. In the eighth, Shaw walked. Thomas went to first on a choice and shaw was forced at second. Moore sacrificed Thomas to second and Whitehead scored him when he hit a double.

Clovis got one man across in the eighth when Tucker singled, Hill walked, and a single each by Clary and Mahin scored Tucker. File had the best of the second game, the Gassers securing only four singles and a three-baser by Province off his pitching while the Cubs hit Pinkin for seven singles and a two-bagger by Mahin who also hit five times out of his seven trips to the plate for the afternoon.

South Plains Teachers Institute Will Convene in Lubbock on September 3; Announcement Made by Supt. Haynes

The South Plains Teachers Institute, comprising the counties of Lubbock, Crosby, Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Terry, Yoakum, Hookley, Cochran and Lamb will convene at Lubbock on September 3.

The best of instruction has been secured and a large attendance is expected.

The program of the institute will appear in next week's issue of the Avalanche.—E. R. Haynes, Conductor.

The fact that the people of Lubbock are pleased with any opportunity to welcome the teachers of the South Plains to the city has been demonstrated upon the occasion of their past visits, and of course the same spirit of friendliness and good cheer will permeate the very atmosphere of our city as they assemble here again for their important work.

We cannot feel too grateful to the heads of our rural and urban schools thruout the South Plains for the splendid support they have given Lubbock in her efforts for bettering educational facilities of this territory and now that a great victory is ours in the winning of the official location of the Texas Technological college we have more in common with these teachers at this time than ever before.

It is well that we pause to consider the important station of the school man or woman. They have more to do with economic conditions of our country than we realize and their bearing upon the development of our educational institutions has greater weight than the average layman is willing to admit.

We are not alone in feeling that the location of the Texas Technological College at Lubbock is something of which to be proud, for the many teachers who will be in Lubbock for institute which convenes the third of next month have a vital interest involved in the future of that school, and they too, feel that Lubbock is more capable of sustaining it than any other town of West Texas.

In behalf of the people of Lubbock the Avalanche extends the welcome of the South Plains a hearty welcome to the city during institute week. That they will be greatly helped thru the instructions as planned by the program committee is our wish.

wagon that delivers the goods. "So long as the cycle is unbroken—goods for money and money for goods—the balance of trade, so far as this man is concerned, is concerned, is maintained. He has not only a place in which to buy, but also a place in which to sell, for the money is at hand to serve as the medium way.

"But suppose he buys a commodity and pays money therefor. And suppose a little later he has a commodity of his own to sell in order that he may have his money returned to him. And now suppose the money has disappeared. Then if the money has left the community, the community cannot buy his goods.

May Have Become Habit. "It may be the man himself is to blame. It may be that he has fallen into the habit of sending his money away to some distant community when he desired to buy commodities and has been unreasonable enough to expect it to be close at hand to serve as the medium of exchange when he desires to sell.

"Plainly speaking, he has furnished some other community with the medium of exchange instead of keeping the medium of exchange in his own community, where it will be available when he requires its services.

"That seems very foolish," said Lubbock "Bill" Dollar. "What makes the man do it? Maybe he thinks he can get goods for less money that way. But if his sending away the medium of exchange makes it scarce in the community and arrests the development of Lubbock, can't he see that, when he again wishes to exchange his goods for other people's money he will receive less money for his goods? That he may have to send the goods where he sent the money back again?"

Would Help Growth. "Lubbock money that is being used to buy goods out of town, if kept here and invested in the manufacturing plants we now have, need additional capital to expand, would assure us of a quick and healthy growth and it would not be necessary to seek capital in some other city.

"The citizens of Lubbock must join hands to get for our city, and for a future generation, the things that we need, and will still continue to need until we get them. The citizens must not become satisfied with things as they are, but must grow. The moral is in this little verse:

When you are green
You are growing
When you are ripe
You are rotten

"It merely teaches that cities like individuals, must make every effort to be on the alert to keep young and active, and grow. The minute Lubbock becomes satisfied with conditions and satisfied to let well enough alone, then they are ripe, or worse.

"Your money, if spent or invested in Lubbock will help Lubbock to grow."

AT THE CHURCHES

First Methodist
Sunday School was well attended, and a collection of eighty-five dollars was given for the support of the work. Much interest was shown in all departments, and a continuation of present interests will make a good showing for the summer months which are conceded to be the hardest times for the workers due to so many of the members being on vacations.

M. M. Dupre will have charge of the services next Sunday and earnestly solicits the assistance of all who will take a part in the work.

Rev. Chas. Ferguson preached at the morning and evening hours. His messages are received with much appreciation by the members of the congregation and his power as a preacher is readily recognized by all who hear him.

The Epworth League is gaining in attendance and interest and it is now better than it has been for some time.

The young people's forum in the afternoon was well attended and an enthusiastic discussion of the problems of the young life of Lubbock was participated in by practically all of those present.

Cumberland Presbyterian
Sunday School at 9:45, with good attendance and much interest shown by pupils and teachers. Morning text, "When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thy house, if any man fall from thence."—Deut. 22:8.

The text teaches one truth that but very few people believe and that is that God has something to do with heaven your home; how it is built, and upon what principles it is conducted. God's condemnation rests upon any person whose home is unchristian and unholy. Some will walk from such a home to death and to hell and their blood will be required at the hands of the owner of that home. The sovereign right of every state in the union is to protect human life.

The greatest question that confronts the mother and fatherhood of our land today is: How to protect the home, and make it a place of safety. The saving of our nation absolutely depends upon saving the homes of America.

The only safe home in America is that home builded from God's eternal building material and against which the very gates of hell nor the vile temptations of this age cannot prevail. Hedge or fence in your home with an unshakable faith in the whole Bible, a deep reverence if you please for the eternal word of God. On the right hand side add to this fence of protection a total observance for God's holy sabbath day, the American Sunday, and to this add the third fence line of the "Old fashion home altar" for the home is the greatest institution on earth, and no institution needs the prayers of God's people as does the home where children are being raised who will tomorrow become the citizens of our country, and the next day stand at the eternal Judgment of God to there render their accounts. Mr friend if you don't pray in your home God does not hear you when you say your little old Sunday prayers. Don't forget this.

I am told that if I understand all mysteries of God; if I have faith to remove mountains; give all I have to feed the poor, and give my body to be burned and have not love that I am nothing, and that it will profit me nothing. To finish the wall of protection about my home that neither men nor devils can break thru I must love God enough to "Feed the Lambs," love God enough to avoid the follies and vices of the wicked world about me. Yes, love my God enough to keep His commandments, for Christ said: "I ye love me keep my commandments" therefore love finishes the fence that cannot be broken and the home is safe and without this battlement no home is safe.

Services at the evening hour with a good attendance with an excellent text for the evening: "What Is Your Life?" Prayer meeting every Wednesday at 8:15.

Church of God.
A revival meeting in the Church of God is now in progress at the community building twelve miles south of Lubbock, and to H. N. Scoggins is expected to hold the services. Everybody is cordially invited.

OLD BILL DOLLAR MAKES MANY IDEALS

"Bill" Dollar spent a busy day on Saturday with the people who spent a busy day taking advantage of the special sales in all parts of Lubbock. In fact, he admits personally, that Saturday was almost as busy a day as any for Lubbock people could not resist the bargains advertised in the Avalanche.

Lubbock "Bill" Dollar, up to the present time, has passed through the hands of many merchants, and each one who received him in the course of business has made a profit from him.

"This condition can keep up until I pass through the hands of 100 merchants," said "Bill" and as long as I remain in Lubbock under the care of loyal citizens I will work for them and build anything they want me to, for my power for good is unlimited if I am used in Lubbock. The thousands of other "Bills" that are circulating in Lubbock will work in the same way if they are properly guided.

If the money spent on worthless stock and other wildcat schemes by Lubbock people in the last five years had been invested in manufacturing plants for this city many new places of business would be in evidence.

Sees Great Future for City.
"From all that I can hear," said "Bill," Lubbock is destined to become a great manufacturing city, because of its natural advantages, but the consummation of its hopes will be delayed if people persist in buying goods away from Lubbock if they can be obtained here.

"Money that is made in Lubbock by either employers or employees, and kept circulating in Lubbock will develop the necessary money to establish the big manufacturing plants that are so badly needed in the city now.

"The cycle of a home working dollar is not a small one if it is treated fairly. The employe gets it and spends it with the local merchant, who buys his goods from the many wholesale houses in this city, and they in turn pay it out in salaries. The employe banks part of it and the money is invested in substantial projects or a home, in turn giving employment to many other employes who come here to take a place in the new industries.

"On the other hand, the cycle of a disloyal dollar is short. The employe gets it and because he is always under the impression that things are cheaper somewhere else, sends it away to some other city and neither the local merchant, wholesaler or banker gets the good of it, and the other city gets "Bill" dollar and puts him to work in his own community.

Money a Medium.
"Or to put the matter in another way," continued "Bill," "do not think of money as a commodity, for it is only a medium for the exchange of commodities (either goods or labor). Under proper conditions, a man who pays out money does not part with anything; he merely gives up something that he has received for value in some other previous transaction, and receives value back again.

"In other words, all through this life, he gives up commodity for money in endless chain. The money itself is nothing more than the

MILLER NO. 1 SHOWS GOOD AT COLORADO

COLORADO, Aug. 13. — H. C. Miller, No. 1 of S. A. Cloan, in section 22, blk 28, drilled in Thursday night is creating much interest...

EVEN MILLER COULDN'T IMPROVE STEPHENS SHAFT

Coming as an echo of the Indianapolis Speedway race, where motors built by Harry Miller not only won the race, but also captured second, third and fifth places...

It seems the White Auto Company of Los Angeles, were preparing to enter a Stephens Six in the annual Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run...

None better than Harry Miller; so they took it. Everything in the way of measuring and balancing tests that could be devised, that crankshaft underwent. And when he got thru, he said: "Boys, I can't do this crankshaft any good. It is absolutely perfect—really, the only crankshaft I ever examined out of a stock car that I couldn't find anything wrong with. Take it back and use it. It's the best stock shaft I ever saw."

In relating the incident, Mr. Mullican explained the Stephens victories in its class three sweepstakes and five firsts in the Yosemite Economy Run as due, first and last to the everyday high quality of workmanship put into Stephens motor cars. "And when Miller says it, it's so," he added. "But if you don't believe him, the official Stephens record of 300 miles on 164.2 gallons of gas, or 21.81 miles per gallon, speaks for itself."

RAZIL CLAIMS CREDIT FOR THE NAVAL ORANGE

RIO DE JANEIRO. (By mail to United Press)—An article appearing in a recent number of a popular American magazine mentioned that the naval orange was the invention of some prudent bartender, who thought of the possibilities of a seedless orange in mixing drinks in which orange juice played an important role.

Investigations have been made here to determine the origin of the naval orange, but without avail. The first tree in California was planted by Mrs. Eliza Tibbets in Riverside in 1873. Mrs. Tibbets obtained her trees from the Department of Agriculture in Washington, which had received them from Bahia.

PRODUCE MARKET LETTER

Despite a good run of live poultry in New York this week, the market opened on a live foal from 22 to 25 cents, and it looks as though there will be fair clearance of this week's arrival.

Production of eggs is lighter in practically all territories. There is a fair demand for current use. On account of the hot weather throughout the producing territory, the quality is not up to usual standard for this time of year.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in its preliminary report on storage holdings, published August 6, shows the following holdings of butter and eggs in storage:

August 1, 1922, 10,161,000 cases of eggs; 103,151,000 pounds butter.

August 1, 1923, 10,390,000 cases of eggs; 100,068,000 pounds butter.

5 year average, 7,811,000 cases of eggs; 99,859,000 pounds butter.

The trade expected the shortage of butter to be much greater than disclosed by the above figures, and due to the fact that the holdings were so close to a year ago and above the 5-year average, a little weaker feeling developed on butter.

Since the last review was written on August 3, the market on 90 scored standards advanced to 42 cents but on Thursday, August 9, the market was quoted in Chicago at 41 1/2 cents with 89 score selling at 2 cents less, and 88 score at 3 1/2 cents less.

A generally higher average for butterfat would prevail if more of the cream received was of such general quality that it could be manufactured into butter that would score 90 on the Chicago market.

Producers have it in their power to increase their returns from dairying by improving the quality of cream delivered to station and creameries.—Produce Review, prepared by Swift & Company, U. S. Yards, Chicago, Ill.

which orange juice played an important role. The naval orange is a native of the State of Bahia, Brazil, and was being crowned there before California became one of the United States.

Even the oldest inhabitants of Bahia—some of whom stopped counting their years after the first hundred—adhere to the belief that the orange has thrived in their territory in abundance as long as they can remember.

Investigations have been made here to determine the origin of the naval orange, but without avail. The first tree in California was planted by Mrs. Eliza Tibbets in Riverside in 1873. Mrs. Tibbets obtained her trees from the Department of Agriculture in Washington, which had received them from Bahia.
