Attempt Made To Annihilate Family

PARENTS AND 2 CHILDREN BADLY HURT IN ATTACK

MILFORD MAN SAYS TWO NEGROES STORMED HIS HOME SAT.

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., May 24.—Unable to find any tangible clues leading to the identity of two negroes, said by Roy Murray to have attacked him, Mrs. Murray and their two children near Milford early today. Hill county authorities marked time tonight until the wounded man is able to tell a more coherent story.

Neighbors found the parents and the two children badly wounded and unconscious in their home near Milford this morning. In one room lay Murray and his wife on a bed. Murray's throat had been slashed from ear to ear. On the floor beside the bed was a razor.

Mrs. Murray's skull had been battered with an axe. The walls and floor were spattered with blood and the overturned furniture and disarranged bed-clothing indicated a desperate struggle.

In another room the two children, aged 2 and 4, were found lying in bed with their heads gashed and bruised. A bloody axe lay on the floor.

The four were rushed to a sanitarium here. With the exception of Gertrude, 2, they are expected to recover, hospital attendants said.

Murray, on regaining consciousness this afternoon gasped an incoherent story of the attack as he lay in the hospital with his windpipe partially severed.

He said two negroes came to his home about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, roused him from bed and told him, when he opened the door to have his wife cook breakfast for them. He said he told the negroes to leave and was starting to close the door when they attacked him. One of them drew a razor and slashed his throat and he lost consciousness, according to Murray's story.

Attending physicians refused to permit any further questioning of the wounded man because of his critical condition.

Questioning the neighbors by authorities was said to have revealed that Murray had been worrying over his financial affairs and was dependent because of illness in his family.

Examination of footprints leading to the house and from a nearby woodpile revealed that they were made by bare feet, according to Sheriff E. H. Wilson.

ONE ARRESTED IN PARKER SHOOTING

NEDERLAND, Tex., May 24.—W. N. Parker, real estate dealer and contractor of Nederland was arrested and placed under bond of $500 in connection with the shooting and serious wounding of G. C. York, 28, following an argument over the erection of a house.

The bullet passed through York's hand into his breast and through the apex of his right lung. He was taken to a hospital at Beaumont.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN DALLAS SAT. NIGHT

DALLAS, Texas, May 24.—Fire broke out in the downtown business section shortly after midnight. Originating in the Old Mill drug store it spread to one of the Liggett drug stores directly behind. All of the downtown fire apparatus was called out and the flames are expected to be under control shortly.

Woolworth's five and ten cent store next to the drug concerns will probably experience damage from smoke and water. Damage as yet is unestimated.

At 1 o'clock smoke was pouring from all three buildings. Firemen were smothering the flames with five streams of water.

JAP MINISTER THREATENS TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Masanos Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States will resign his post if President Coolidge signs the immigration bill providing for Japanese exclusion, it was authoritatively learned here today.

Hanihara feels it was learned that there would be no use for him to remain in Washington should the exclusion bill become a law.

If, however, Mr. Coolidge vetoes the bill, even though the veto was overridden, Hanihara would desire to remain here as he would feel himself in accord with the administration. Whether he would be permitted to do so would rest with the Japanese government.

The immigration bill was returned to the white house today by the state department where a report on it prepared at the president's request. Action is now up to Mr. Coolidge and it is not thought he will delay though he has until midnight, May 29 to sign or veto.

WILLIAMSON CO. RIOTS BREAK OUT ANEW

HERRIN, Ill., May 24.—Hostilities between the Ku Klux Klan members and their enemies in "Bloody Williamson County" broke out anew today.

Precautions were being taken tonight to prevent a continuation of the bloody war that has shaken the coal mining district here since the historic "Herrin Massacre" of June 1922.

One man, James Sketcher, active anti-klanman is dead. He was shot down on the road between here and Marion.

Glenn Young, famous leader of Klan liquor raids who dominated the anti-boose activities which flared out in warfare last February, lies in a hospital at Belleville.

He is crippled probably for life by a bullet through his leg. In an adjoining room lies Young's wife blinded in one eye.

The latest outbreak in "Egypt" as Southern Illinois is known, started Friday when the Youngs' returning to East St. Louis where he is klan kiegale from Duquoin were attacked by four gunmen in a coupe. The big Sedan presented to Young by Williamson county businessmen was riddled with shotgun and revolver bullets as the couple dropped to the floor of the car.

Members of the constabulary organized by Young during his anti-boose activities here last fall stationed themselves on all roads leading into Marion today in the hope of catching Young's assailants.

All cars were stopped and required to give an accounting. One car did not stop but instead fired upon the volunteer patrolmen. The driver crashed into a parked car and the occupants got out and fled, firing on the constabulary as they ran. Sketcher was shot down and killed. Brown, his companion was shot in the foot and captured.

BEULAH ANNON ACQUITTED OF KALSTEDT MURDER

CHICAGO, Ill., May 24.—Mrs. Beulah Annon "Chicago's prettiest killer," was acquitted by a jury in criminal court here tonight of the charge of having murdered Harry Kalstedt.

Mrs. Annon pleaded self-defense. Kalstedt was shot in the Annon home following a drinking bout, it was alleged.

Vancel Files Appeal. AUSTIN, Texas, May 4.—Appeal was filed today in the court of criminal appeals in the case of R. G. Vancel from Tarrant county, convicted of murder in connection with the death of Ralph Vancel, Jr., eight day old infant, Nov. 11, 1923, and sentenced to forty years.

MOVE TO BOLSTER U. S. NAVY IS OPENED

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Big navy men in congress tonight began a drive to place the United States navy on a undisputed 5-5-3 ratio with Great Britain and Japan.

Led by Representative Britten, Illinois, ranking republican on the House naval committee the big navy group started to jam thru the $150,000,000 naval construction program which will be laid before the house on Wednesday before adjournment.

Basing his argument on Secretary Wilbur's report on the condition of the navy Britten told the house today that the United States was actually weaker than Great Britain, or Japan, in naval craft. He gave the ratio strength as:

Great Britain five; Japan 3; and the United States 2.

Britten served notice that he would offer an amendment to the construction program which includes the elevation of big guns on thirteen first line ships, he said are out-ranged by British and Japanese ships.

FOUR INJURED IN OKLAHOMA TORNADO

WARNER, Okla., May 24.—Four persons were injured one seriously by a tornado that swept over this vicinity early today. Three farm homes were destroyed.

Mrs. J. W. Sardin suffered serious internal injuries when her home collapsed and three other inmates of the home sustained slight injuries. An eleven year old girl from another wrecked home was carried through the air a hundred yards and dropped uninjured. Damage to farm property and growing crops by hail which accompanied the gale was heavy.

Many Hurt in Missouri

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., May 24.—Casualties of the cyclone that swept Southern Missouri last midnight numbered three critically injured and a half dozen hurt, according to all authentic reports here late today.

Three members of a farmer's family at Gray Mound, about 30 miles south were badly hurt when their home was blown away.

A telephone company report of five dead near Essex was denied by authorities of that town. No word could be obtained from Caruthersville where seven were reported injured.

ETTER PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER

INDEPENDENCE, Kans., May 24.—Harley J. Etter young farmer pleaded guilty today to murdering and cremating his wife and baby and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The confession was obtained at Columbus, Kans., where Etter was held incommunicado.

He exonerated his brother Ted, who was arrested today and jointly charged with the crime.

Mrs. Etter's body and that of her baby was taken from a burning barn on the Etter farm last Monday. Her husband subsequently was arrested.

Etter was on his way to the penitentiary tonight.

Brother Arrested. INDEPENDENCE, Kans., May 24.—Ted Etter, 18 was arrested here today charged jointly with his brother, Harley J. Etter with murder and cremation in connection with the death of the latter's wife and baby.

Ted's arrest followed a coroner's jury verdict which accused Harley of the murder. He was held in default of $50,000 bond.

Mrs. Etter's body with that of her baby was taken from a burning barn on the Etter farm last Monday. She had been shot through the back. The baby's skull was crushed.

SENATE VOTES NEW TAX BILL

MEASURE GOES TO HOUSE WHERE SIMILAR ACTION EXPECTED MONDAY

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Displaying an overwhelming sentiment for the next tax bill the senate today adopted the compromise measure by a vote of 60 to 6.

Both republicans and democrats rallied to the compromise, despite strong objections made to it by the secretary of the treasury, Mellon. Their action was taken as emphatic warning to President Coolidge that the bill be passed over his veto.

The measure with the democratic rates and a flat 25 percent retroactive reduction on taxes paid last March and during this year now goes to the House where similar action is expected Monday. The bill then will be ready for the president.

Such Mellon supporters as Reed of Pennsylvania voted in favor of the bill. Four hours preceded the vote, featured by the attack of progressives against the conferees for dropping the full publicity provision and changing the corporations tax.

Senator Norris, Nebraska, a progressive leader accused the democrats of deserting their coalition with progressives which put over the tax bill. He said the present modified publicity is a discrimination against honest tax payers and a refuge for dishonest tax payers who he said could cheat the government out of hundreds of millions of dollars yearly. Chairman smoot, of the finance committee indicated that they might create a surplus in the treasury department instead of the $100,000 deficit he previously foresaw. Without considering the cost of the bonus plan, a surplus of $138,000,000 would be created next year. Collection of a portion of $200,000,000 in back taxes due is expected to add to this amount.

Senator Jones, New Mexico, democrat said the old bill had been changed expressly to permit the president to sign it. He believed the president would sign it despite the objections put forward by Mellon.

Retroactive Feature Described.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Here is how the 25 percent retroactive tax reduction feature will apply on payments made last March and due during the remainder of the year: The tax payer who has already paid his full tax will receive automatically a refund of 25 percent of the tax paid. The treasury department will make the refund without application by the taxpayer.

In case only the first installment of the tax has been paid, the tax payer will be permitted a 50 percent reduction of the installment due in June 1 and 25 percent reductions upon each of the installments due in September and December.

For instance, if the tax is due $400 and the first installment of $100 was paid in March $50 will be due in June and $75 in September and December.

17 MAGISTRATES EXECUTED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, May 24.—A soviet tribunal in Leningrad ordered wholesale executions today in a drastic effort to suppress corruption in the judiciary.

Seventeen magistrates were sentenced to death after a stormy trial which brought to light widespread corruption in city courts.

A verdict of guilty and imposition of the death sentence came after an impassioned speech by the public prosecutor, who declared nothing but the fear of death would ensure honesty among the judges.

"We chop our way to the truth and over living heads and bring down our axes mercilessly," the prosecutor shouted, voicing government determination to stamp out corruption throughout the nation.

CONVENTION OF STATE PARTY TO OPEN TUESDAY

MANY ADVANCE AGENTS AND NOTED FIGURES TO REPORT SUN.

WACO, Texas, May 24.—Although none of the recognized leaders in the democratic party had arrived tonight for the state democratic convention which opens Tuesday, a number of delegates from scattered portions of the state were registered at the hotels.

Registrations show that many of the leaders will arrive during Sunday, among them being Thomas B. Love and Cato Sells, leaders of the McAdoo forces in Texas, also Z. E. Marvin, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan; Felix D. Robertson, candidate for governor; Lynch Davidson, of Houston, also a candidate for governor.

Early Monday Thomas H. Ball, Sam Sparks, F. W. Wozencraft and Cone Johnson and wife will arrive.

Governor Neff has made hotel reservations, which has started considerable talk as to what part the governor will play in the convention proceedings. He leads the delegation from Travis county and is also a member of the McLennan county delegation. It is generally conceded that he will not be chosen as a delegate to the National convention, and some of those close to the governor say that he does not desire this honor, since it is a foregone conclusion that the convention will instruct for McAdoo. It is pointed out that the governor could not in good grace go as a delegate, in view of the war he made on McAdoo in his campaign of the state before the precinct conventions were held. There are others who say that the governor will have something to say at the opportune time while the convention is in session.

Tom Love and Cato Sells are generally conceded to hold the whip hand in the convention and it is certain that since they had a hard fight to win the state for their chief they plan to put none but McAdoo men on guard, and of course this would eliminate the governor. From an authoritative source it is learned that the state democratic executive committee will hold a conference Monday evening, at which time it is expected they will consider convention plans and probably decide on recommendations for temporary officers. If these officers are McAdoo men, all will be well, but if they are not, it is expected that Love and Sells will show fight and put up opposition candidates before the convention, whose loyalty to McAdoo is unquestioned.

Whit Davidson, candidate for governor has announced a statewide conference of his friends here for Monday, on the eve of the convention, and at night he will speak in the city auditorium. This afternoon the town was placarded and advertisements placed in the local newspapers announcing that Lynch Davidson, also a candidate for governor would speak here Tuesday night.

Rev. J. W. Kerns, pastor of the Central Christian church of Waco, will deliver the invocation at the opening of the convention, and Jno. Maxwell, former assistant attorney general will deliver the address of welcome.

H. C. COOPER KILLED AT ROCKDALE BY TRAIN

Bystanders said he was standing too close to the train as it drew into the station. He is survived by a wife and one child. His body will be sent to Palestine, Texas, for burial.

TO THE BABY.

I wouldn't let a grown up smear my coat with sticky jam; In the company of adults it's particular I am.

I wouldn't let my neighbor run my private pockets through And scatter all my papers, but it's different with you.

You may smear my linen collar, you may rumple up my hair, And because you're just a baby all my papers you may tear.

It's a queer old world, I tell you with its rules of right and wrong, And the weak by laws protected from oppression by the strong But you'll never find a statute, the world-over you should seek, Which protects the strong and saves him from the innocent and weak.

Here I sit and let you maul me, though it's true as true can be, I could have a man arrested for the things you do to me.

I've a sacred sort of person, Not a grown up man would dare To snatch my watch and pencils or my choicest books to tear, And I'm sure there'd be a battle if some humor-seeking chap Should raise his bowl of porridge and just spill it in my lap.

Yet I laugh to see you do it, and I kiss your sticky face, And I glory in the ruin that you scatter round the place.

You may take my watch and fling it just as far as you can throw, You may leave your sticky thumb prints on my collar white as snow, You may snatch the paper from me when you think it's time to play, You may even break my derby, and I've not a word to say— Why, you little tyrant baby, with those laughing eyes of blue, Your fond and foolish daddy laughs at anything you do!

Not only have the contestants in the Lubbock Daily News big one thousand dollar Automobile subscription contest evidenced a great deal of interest to the work for the prize, but their friends are beginning to join sides and all indications are that the contest will be one of the liveliest ones ever conducted in Lubbock.

The contestants have worked hard and have been faithful to the paper in lauding its merits to their acquaintances, and the management is very glad that the contest has been so arranged that each and every one of them will receive compensation for their efforts. Of course the one who comes out ahead will get the big prize, yet the others will be so well paid for their time and efforts that this will be one contest in which disappointment will have very little or no part.

Such keen interest has been shown in the contest that the number of new readers being added to the mailing list of the Lubbock Daily News each day is giving the paper wider popularity at the time. The Lubbock Daily News is a growing institution. One that will carry with it prestige for itself and for the entire community and its everyday wire service gives it a place among the big newspapers of the state in carrying into the homes of its readers the very latest and most important news topics.

The New York, New Orleans and Liverpool cotton markets are published each afternoon in the Lubbock Daily News. This feature was started this week, and will be continued indefinitely, or at least as long as the Lubbock Cotton Exchange wire service is continued as it is. Due to the fact that the exchange has received all markets of the day as early as one o'clock in the afternoon, these reports are copied from the boards of the exchange, and published in the Lubbock Daily News the same day they are received at the exchange. This feature to the business man is appealing, as well as to the many farmers who appreciate getting the latest news on price quotations.

The Lubbock Daily News subscription campaign contestants are finding the work most pleasant and are made to realize that the paper is appreciated by Lubbock people.

RADIO TO HELP U. S. AIR-MAIL FLYERS LOST IN THE FOG

OMAHA, Neb., May 24.—When the U. S. mail planes again resume trans-continental mail service, operating day and night, nearly all will be equipped with one-man radio sets, air officials believe.

The plane is to place the sets on each plane to allow weather conditions to be sent to flyers en route, give bearings during dense fogs and any orders or instructions the flyers should have while in the air. Pilot Jack Knight, whose route takes him from Omaha to North Platte, Neb., was the pioneer in proving the need of radio aboard the airmail planes. Last winter Knight made a series of tests in which he established a world's record of talking from plane to ground when he conversed with the Omaha ground station for a distance of nearly 300 miles.

The radio installation is expected to prove a great aid in the night flights. Although piloted along the route by automatic acetylene lamps every few miles, the flyers often become confused and lose their bearings in foggy weather, officials said.

In practice, night flights made by Knight, the radio was beneficial in directing him on his course.

CONFERENCE ON OUTDOOR LIFE IS CALLED

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Coolidge will open the National Conference on Outdoor Recreation here tomorrow. The meeting will last through Friday and Saturday.

The conference, called by the president himself, reports something new in the annals of national government recognition of the part that clean sport plays in promoting patriotism.

More than 125 national organizations have been invited to conference, which hold sessions in the splendid new National Museum. They will be asked to establish an official American policy of outdoor recreation, a definite program which will guide both congress and the president in future legislation.

Properly enough, the chairman of the conference is the son of America's most prominent exponent of the "strenuous life," Theodore Roosevelt. Col. Roosevelt, who as assistant secretary of the navy developed the details of the meeting, has provided an inspiring list of speakers. The other members of the president's committee are Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Labor Davis.

The work of the conference will be done by eighteen committees, their members appointed from the ranks of the best known authorities on wild life, forestry, public parks, playgrounds, public health and other forms of outdoor recreation.

They will endeavor to coordinate all activities and work to the ultimate object, as expressed by President Coolidge, of endeavoring: "To make available to the average American outdoor recreation, with all that it implies, and to preserve our facilities for outdoor recreation for our children's children."

In carrying out that purpose the conference will consider formulation of an educational program, promotion of game preservation, correlation of private and federal agencies, and formation of advisory councils.

HOT WATER GEYSERS STRUCK BY DRILLERS

KLAMATH FALLS, May 24.—The fact that oil operators frequently get into hot water can be substantiated by a number of prominent witnesses.

For workers innocently engaged in enlarging an ordinary well of plain water to bring in a 90-foot creyzer of water heated to 218 degrees, however, is something new to the drilling fraternity.

This happened recently near the town of Lakeview, Ore., northeast of here, where the Favell-Utley Realty Co. had a crew of men seeking to increase the flow of hot springs at a new sanitarium site.

The widening operations at the springs progressed satisfactorily until the drillers had reached a considerable depth, when an ominous rumbling underground caused a hasty abandonment of tools and equipment. A high-pressure stream of hot water shot into the air for 90 feet, and has been flowing continuously since.

An attempt to widen another well on the same 30-acre tract produced even more remarkable results. The operation created "Young Faithful," and orthodox geysers that performs on exact schedule, shooting a 65-foot stream every six minutes.

The hand-made geysers of Lakeview are attracting many tourists with the opening of the vacation season, as they are on a main north-and-south highway.

The realty company in charge of the property is now planning to utilize the tremendous pressure as a source of cheap power.

TRACTOR SCHOOL IS HELD AT CANYON

CANYON, May 24.—The Agricultural Department of the West Texas State Teachers College, co-operating with the representatives of the tractor companies in this part of the state, has been holding a series of tractor schools each Wednesday afternoon on the college farm. These demonstrations are not only attended by the seventy-odd agricultural students of the college, but by other boys in the institution who are interested in the most improved methods of Plains farming. The plan of the school has been for a different company to be represented each Wednesday afternoon. The representative from the company, in co-operation with the agricultural teachers goes over the ignition, oiling, cooling, and other phases of the tractor mechanism before groups of from ten to fifteen students, after which the tractor is taken to a field and each student is permitted to run it a sufficient amount of time to become familiar with the gear shift. Concerning the results of the school, Prof. Phillips had the following to say: "The tractor school here has proved very popular because, as most of us know, the boy on the farm determines the kind of tractor the father is going to buy. The boys in our department have an opportunity every spring to try out from five to ten different makes of machines. They not only get the viewpoint as presented by the salesman, but they get on the machine and drive it with a sufficient number of plows attached to enable them to determine for themselves whether or not the tractor comes up to their ideal of what a farm tractor should be."

"The tractor people, on the other hand, have been pleased with this type of school because it gives each company an opportunity to present its machine without having a dozen other tractors on the ground distracting attention from their particular machine. Our old type of tractor school was to invite as many companies as cared to do so to participate in a demonstration. The old type often caused criticism between the various demonstrators and proved very unsatisfactory."

IMMIGRATION OFFICIAL FILES DIVORCE SUIT

By United News.
EL PASO, Texas, May 23.—"For fear that harm might be done by his wife" L. H. Nicholson, United States Immigration officer has filed suit for divorce, claiming that when he reached home each night he was forced to unload his pistol. His wife the petitioner in the sixty third district court declared he "acquired the habit of nagging, scolding and quarreling with him after his laborious duties in connection with the immigration service of the United States" and because of this he was required to "conceal his gun for fear of harm being done by his wife."

JUDGE J. L. RATLIFF DELIVERED ADDRESS AT FOUR LEAGUE

Judge J. L. Ratliff delivered the commencement address at the Four League school Friday evening. Seven graduates received diplomas and a still larger class is in line for graduation at the conclusion of the next term. Four League is one of the fast growing schools of the county and patrons, teachers and students have exerted every effort to give it a leading place among the rural schools of the Plains.

FORGET THE YESTERDAYS—SMILE ON.

The acme of all philosophy is confidence in today—that it is the best day—and tomorrow will be better if God is good. It is this thought which makes the bird sing and the sun to shine, which enables labor and defies duty, which cures disappointment and heart-hurt, banishes sorrow and fashions fate. Discontent and self-pity breeds pettiness, paresis and paralysis. How much better to smile. Don't face the wrong way—let yesterday alone. If you have made a mistake forget it—nothing worth while was ever built upon useless regret. To err is human, and with every error safely under yesterday's sod, the wise man and woman wipe away the tear bravely and face front. It is only the mentally deficient who eats his heart out for what cannot now be undone.

Forget it—what a saving sanctuary is expressed in this floatsam of the street. Through forgetfulness hearts are healed, horrors are softened, crimes absolved. Sorrow comes into every life with hurrying years—none can hope to escape its bereavements and its blights—but forget it.

Meanwhile do not fail to learn to forgive. What does all this fighting and hating one another amount to anyway? Don't be an Indian, whose gross instincts and cold-blooded brutality are characteristics of his class—they never forget because they will not forgive. Let go of the depressing and weakening grievance—wipe the slate clean each day—see to it that no hatred poison the mind or clouds the mirror of memory. Forgive, forget—smile on!—and let the yesterdays alone!

CRIME WITHIN THE LAW.

Mr. J. H. Banton, district attorney of New York, recently addressed the New York Society of Certified Public Accountants, during which he declared that the people of this nation have lost more than three millions of dollars through the sale of worthless securities. He characterized as a "joke" the present law which provides that the Attorney General may enjoin a promoter or broker in fake securities.

Just why our legislators, state and national, are apparently controlled by stock and speculators is more or less a mystery. There is no reason why the stock brokerage business should not be as safe and sound as any other business, but it seems to be worse than horse racing or the cheapest lottery.

It is difficult to understand why the standard of honor of the investment banker or broker should be so much lower than that of the grocer or dry goods merchant. If one were to purchase a rug and found it defective, the merchant would provide another and apologize for the discomfort. If a grocer sells a dozen eggs and some of them are unfit, he will replace them. But buy fresh eggs from a stock broker and he will laugh at your complaint over rottenness. Its within the law. Bucketeers and crooked brokers should be put out of business, and "rigging the market" should be made a prison offense. Crime is crime—stealing is stealing, whether it be done with a black-jack or an attractive booklet and the whole business should be outlawed.

Just why people will do things and justify themselves in doing it, simply because they are within the law, whether right or wrong, is more than we have ever been able to figure out, and we just simply believe that the penitentiaries should be packed to the limit with people who are offering to sell stocks and stuff to people when they know or at least have a reasonable doubt whether the purchaser will ever get a cent of their investment, and would not invest a cent of money in the proposition themselves.

Millions of dollars have been lost to the people of Texas during the past few years, especially during the oil boom, by smooth salesmen passing through the country peddling oil stock, and leases. Under the excitement and intoxication of the minds of the people over the reported big winning of a certain people who bought, and the larger per cent of the investments proved mercurial sands for the funds invested, and the investor received not a penny for what they were supposed to have bought, yet these people were supposed to have been operating within the law.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING IN POLITICS.

Charges that the women have only a negligible influence in American politics are refuted in the New Republic, which asserts that the National League of Women Voters "is infinitely better in purposes, activities and results than any masculine organization of similar character. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, retiring president, pointed out in her annual report at the recent convention that of the thirteen planks in the league program in 1920, two-thirds have already been enacted into federal statutes. In the individual states the league has secured the passage of 420 bills and has defeated sixty-four. It is organized in 346 of 433 congressional districts; twenty-three of its state-wide and fifteen of its city-wide organizations maintain regular headquarters. Thirty-two publications appear under the league imprint, practically all of which make a feature of carrying authoritative matter on all sides of every important question.

Politicians are waking up to the fact that such women's organizations as this represent a considerable power in public affairs.

The women are having a good deal more influence in politics than the majority of the men are willing to admit. They are making some of the old crooks that have been warping the platform planks of the various parties to suit their own conveniences, kinder straighten things up, and we have noticed that they have been forced to some brand new planks in the old platform floor in order to half way get along with the ladies.

The ladies will play a more important part in the development of local improvements, and they are usually in favor of progress and for that reason, the sooner the ladies get to voting more liberally and showing a deeper interest in local developments the sooner the man will have to wake up to a sense of duty, if they do not let the women take control of the affairs of local government from the highest office to the lowest, and we some times think it would not be a bad idea for them to try their hand at it, and give the men a chance to straighten up, and time to think.

BOOSTER EDITION OF THE BIG SPRING HERALD.

We received this week, a copy of the Booster edition of the Big Spring Herald, and it is one of the most creditable editions that has ever come to our exchange table. It contains a wonderful lot of valuable information regarding Big Spring and West Texas, together with a large number of fine illustrations and views in and around Big Spring.

This edition contained twenty pages, printed on high class book paper, which brought out the half-tones in fine shape.

Among other interesting photographs found in this edition, was a scene showing a street in Big Spring twenty years ago, and today, which reveals the wonderful progress that has been made in that city. A row of fine bricks taking the place of shacks of twenty years ago.

The management, Messrs Jordan and Hayden, certainly deserve much credit for this splendid accomplishment, and Big Spring will be greatly benefitted by the publication of the wonderful storehouse of information.

In addition to the Booster sections of the paper they sent out their regular news edition of twelve pages, making in all, a thirty-two page number.

THE MEADOW MESSENGER.

The initial issue of the Meadow Messenger was received by the Avalanche this week. It was published Wednesday, and is a most creditable newspaper. Meadow is one of the fast growing towns on the Santa Fe railroad, between Ropesville and Brownfield. It is located in the heart of one of the richest agricultural communities to be found anywhere, and the Messenger will be of great benefit in helping to build Meadow, and develop that section of the Great South Plains.

A. C. White is the editor, and is a newspaper man of considerable experience, as is attested by the splendid amount of local news and other news of interest in the columns of the first issue. The advertising columns reflect success to the new enterprise, and the Avalanche wishes for the new publication all the success possible, and we welcome it to our exchange table.

THE SLATON SLATONITE IMPROVED.

The Slaton Slatonite comes to our exchange table this week enlarged from a five column paper to a six column, which gives it a greatly improved appearance in every way. The Slatonite is one of the good papers of the South Plains. It is fair and impartial in its news service, and it is doing all in its power to work in cooperation with all the South Plains towns, and is working faithfully for the development of the South Plains.

The Avalanche rejoices in the prosperity of the Slatonite, and hopes that it will continue to grow, and be able to serve its field for many years to come.

ABERNATHY SCHOOL CLOSING MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

The Avalanche is in receipt of a most cordial invitation from the principal of the Abernathy schools, Prof. J. P. Nystel, to be present at the Commencement Programs to be rendered by the Grammar and High School of that place next Monday and Tuesday. We regret very much that we will not be able to attend, but the very best wishes of the Avalanche publications go out to the student faculty, and patrons of that good school.

Senator Odie, of Nevada, and Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, are urging a clean sweep of the United States Veterans Bureau. Director General Hines, admitting the woeful inefficiency, says a clean sweep would result in greater efficiency. But Senator Odie, a veteran of many hard-fought political campaigns, makes no secret of the fact, disclosed in a personal interview with President Coolidge, that the unkind but truthful things being said about the administration of the Veterans Bureau are bound to have their effect in the campaign of the President for election to succeed himself. He does not feel it prudent, at this juncture, to quibble over means or methods. If the bureau is in need of purging and cleansing, the place to begin is at the bottom, working up from that point as far as necessary to accomplish the desired result.

NEITHER PARTY WANTS KLAN AS ISSUE

NEW YORK, May 24.—The democrats don't want the Ku Klux Klan as an issue any more than the republicans, so neither national party will embody strong language on this subject as a platform plank.

Senator Underwood desires to put an anti-klan stripe into the campaign battle flag but there is little doubt that those in control of the convention will squelch this ambition. In the first place Senator Walsh, of Montana, will probably head the platform committee and Walsh is for McAdoo. McAdoo has no desire to appear as sponsor to any klan fight and neither has Governor Smith who now shares first position with McAdoo in the pre-convention standing.

The democrats feel that they have two good issues on which to attack the republicans without going out of their way to drag in as contentious an "outside issue" as the klan. Walsh may be expected to concentrate considerable attention on a plank favoring elimination from government of such practices as the different investigating committees—those on the "department of Justice, the Fall administration of the interior department and the Forbes administration of the overseas veterans bureau never revealed.

He also may be expected to point with pride to the tax bill if it is made a law—as a democratic rather than a republican achievement.

These two issues coupled with the inevitable farmers relief promises may constitute the foundation of the democratic platform. Democratic leaders believe they can win on them alone.

Of course, there will be others—but among the others will be no anti-klan plank. All candidates are now making final plans for their respective fight before the convention. McAdoo, with headquarters established here will be present in person to conduct his forces and Governor Smith with an almost entire floor engaged in one of the buildings here for his headquarters also will be his own generalissimo in the front line trenches.

James M. Cox, who has pocketed the Ohio delegation for his private disposition will entrust Newton D. Baker with the task of nominating him and thereafter to get enough more delegates to land the nomination for Ohio. All this time Baker himself will be a possibility.

The advance guard of Senator Underwood, has arrived in New York to look over the field preliminary to establishing headquarters. A boom has started for Governor Ritchie of Maryland—in the Maryland delegation; former Governor Gardner of Missouri will be one of McAdoo's floor leaders, a willing compromise candidate himself

OFFICIAL "PETTER" IN LONDON HOTEL FOR AMERICANS

LONDON, (By Mail to United Press).—This old town is certainly springing no pains to prepare for the army of American visitors who are expected here this summer.

For instance, an official "custodian of pets" has been appointed at the Savoy Hotel, for the special benefit of visitors from the United States.

Nay! Go slow! This has nothing whatever to do with the justly celebrated American institution of petting parties. The pet custodian is an accommodating person, and so is the Savoy, but that isn't the big idea at all.

"You'd be surprised," said Nicholas J. Mockett—the official petter—to know how many Americans carry pets with them when they travel. They carry more pets than any other people on earth, Americans travel with canaries and parrots and baby bears, and I would not be surprised at any moment of one should come in and check an ostrich or an alligator, and leave instructions for the kind of food to give it.

"Nothing in the way of pets could startle or stop me—nothing except snakes. I have never fed snakes yet, and I have often wondered what I should do if a guest brought some to the hotel."

Nicholas J. Mockett it known to most Americans who visit London often. He is about the size of Jess Willard, his uniform is as gorgeous as the King of Siam's, and although his hair is gray with 25 years' service at this hotel, he retains as winning a smile as Jackie Coogan. Mockett has arranged a series of seven rooms in which to keep the pets of the Americans at his hotel this summer. Attendants will be constantly in charge, to feed, exercise and care for the pets, and Mockett is now working on a free insurance scheme.

SUICIDE LETTER CONFESSES CRIME

CHICAGO, Ill., May 24.—Receipt of a remorseful letter from a person purporting to be the slayer of Robert Franks, 13, was the latest development tonight in the mysterious murder and kidnapping of the millionaire's son. The writer said he would be dead, a suicide by the time the letter was received. Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins announced receipt of the letter addressed to him. It was mailed at 8:30 p. m., Friday. The letter follows: "Dear Chief: I am the murderer and the kidnapper of Robert Franks. When you get this letter I will be a dead man. I intend to commit suicide. I am sorry that I did that human piece of work. Signed: "A Sorry Man."

This letter climaxed a day by the receipt of a threat of death at the Franks home and the failure of the police to make tangible progress towards the solution of the tragedy. A letter was received earlier in the day by Jacob Franks the father of the victim threatening death or Josephine, his 17 year old daughter. The letter was abusive and termed Franks "a dirty skunk." Police are inclined to believe it was sent by a crank. The missive was coherent and illiterate.

Later a woman telephoned to the house stating she had been living with a confidence man who she suspected of having engineered the kidnapping. Samuel Ettleston, attorney for Franks, received the call. He said the woman gave her name and that of the confidence man. A cordon of police was established about the Franks home at the request of Ettleston. The keenest brains of the police and detective force are at work on the case under the direct supervision of Chief of Detectives Hughes and Chief of Police Collins. So far the hundreds of men detailed to the investigation have failed to find trace of the clothes stripped from the boy's body.

One of the boy's stockings was found on a pond floating near the open space where the nude body had been crammed into a railroad culvert. The find was made shortly after the body was discovered Thursday. Police are not certain whether ransom of perversion motivated the kidnapping. Franks received a letter demanding $10,000 the day after the boy disappeared. Whatever the motive police agree that Robert was killed because he resisted his abductors. Robert was asphyxiated either with a gag or hand, the coroner said. Hundreds of tips have been received by police but so far no tangible clue has been found officials said. It was intimated, however, that several suspects were under surveillance. Attention was centered on a pair of spectacles found near the body. Police believe they belonged to one of the persons involved in the affair.

OLSON WANTS TO HELP BUILD A LEGION HALL

(Continued from Page 5) Texas for that title. Kala Pasha and Olson met at the community auditorium here some time ago and the sportmanship and matability exhibited by them elevated the tussling sport in the mind of all who witnessed the match. Olson and Kala Pasha wrestled at 180 pounds and it is altogether probable that they will meet at that weight on the 4th of July match. This match will be wrestled in Lubbock if it is at all possible, Olson declared Saturday. "I will not meet any wrestler who is not first class and able to help put on a show that will be enjoyed by the fans," Mr. Olson declared emphasizing the fact that the sport can gain popularity here only by each match being conducted in a manner that will be a credit to the wrestlers and to the men sponsoring it.

COCHRAN TAKES TEXAS GOLF HONORS

DALLAS, Texas, May 24.—Tommy Cochran, Wichita Falls, tonight was the champion amateur golf player of Texas. In a thrilling battle that went 37 holes, Cochran and Al Badger of Dallas, provided the large gallery that followed them one of the greatest exhibitions of nery golf playing ever seen in a Texas amateur tournament. Cochran won out over Badger after the two were all square at the 18th and 27th holes. All through today's match, neither player was more than two up and the lead jumped from Cochran to Badger and back again several times. Cochran got the breaks but Badger, by his sheer nerve, pulled out of bad places and kept the champion from winning out sooner than he did. Long iron shots to the green won the match for Cochran. Time after time, Cochran smashed a long one within striking distance of the pin while Badger lay short of the green or in a trap. The Dallas man had the edge on putting although neither player showed to their best advantage on the greens. Cochran's approach shots were deadly and largely thru these, and the breaks of the game he was able to emerge as victor 1 up over his opponent. Results of the other final matches follow: First flight consolation: Charlie Dexter, Brook Hollow defeated Cam Buxton, Brook Hollow 1 up 37 holes. Second flight: A. A. MURPHY PAROLE IS DENIED BY BOARD

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., May 24.—Appeals of "Big Tim" Murphy Chicago labor leader and Vincenzo Cosmano, both convicted of conspiracy to rob the mails for a parole were denied by the parole board at the federal prison here. Murphy and Cosmano, found guilty of conspiracy in the Dearborn Station mail robbery were eligible for parole as they have served one-third of their sentence. The parole board considered 605 cases and clemency was granted to 111. Twenty-five of those paroled were former soldiers. Among them were participants in the Houston race riots. They were originally sentenced to death. Seven associates of Dr. Frederick Cook in the alleged Texas oil frauds were recommended for parole. Federal Judge Killite trial jurist and the federal prosecutor recommended that the men be freed as soon as possible. They received sentences of a year and a day. The communications were made on recommendation of a military clemency board appointed by the war department to investigate war time convictions. Names of the Houston rioters were withheld by prison officials. There were eleven of them. The clemency board has been holding inquiries at Leavenworth for several weeks. It was constituted following a drive to obtain freedom for America's "lost legion"—soldiers sentenced for petty offenses during the war while spies, draft evaders and conscious objectors were allowed freedom. The board made its recommendations two weeks ago. They were not acted upon until today. All of the rioters were serving life sentences. Previously they were condemned to hang. The late President Wilson commuted the senten-

TWO EXPLOSIONS ROCK HAWAII VOLCANO

HILO, May 24.—Pele, goddess of fire credited by native Hawaiian legend with living within the cauldron of the volcano Kilauea, awakened from her troubled sleep today. Her mood was ugly if the days events were to be interpreted in the light of the old legends. For Kilauea indulged in two mighty explosions, hurled boulders hundreds of feet into the air; shook the earth for miles around; belched ashes over the mountain side and shot a plume of smoke and gas a mile high. The landing field for seven army airplanes engaged in photographing the eruption from the air was cluttered with boulders until it was rendered useless and a new, temporary field was sought for the planes. Visitors scores of whom had flocked to the volcano when the outbreak of earlier in the week subsided, fled in terror to Hilo. Observations by the government scientists showed that the gas pressure within the mountain is still at a high point, presaging another probably more violent explosion to come. The eruption has now widened the "pit"—which is the actual cauldron filled with vivid red molten lava—to practically twice the size of a month ago. It now measures a mile across.

CONVENTION CITY FOR EDITORS UNDECIDED

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 24.—The site of the 40th annual convention of the National Editorial Association was undecided tonight as the party headed southward on their tour that will take them to Mexico City. Selection of the meeting place was placed in the hands of the association's executive committee and may not be announced for several weeks, it was stated as the party left for El Reno for a visit with Edgar Bronson, president elect of the association. The election of Bronson, veteran Oklahoma newspaper man and editor of the El Reno gave the closing session of the convention a "tinge of pathos."

Slowly recovering from a near-fatal attack of heart trouble, Bronson was unable to attend the convention. When the convention moved to elect a president, George Marble Fort Scott, Kansas, editor and vice president of the association who was slated to head the organization by right of succession, proposed the name of Bronson and the selection was made unanimous. Marble was returned to the vice presidency and will direct the organization until Bronson is able to assume control.

TURNING WASTE INTO WEALTH

By PHEBE K. WARNER

There is a lot being said these days about conserving our natural resources. And we often wonder just what that means. What are our natural resources? The air is one I guess, and the rain is another and the soil and the trees and the gas and oil and everything that God gives us without working for it. But none of the things reach their highest state of efficiency without the touch of the human hand to bring them together in the form of food and clothing and shelter.

But there is still another natural resource in our State and nation that to us seems worth more than all the rest. And without this last resource there would be little need for any of the others in just a few years. And we are wondering how much time and how much thought the country at large is giving to the conservation of our BOYS. Just our BOYS. When we are counting up our profits and loss to the nation in the matter of conserving our natural resources how often do we place the right value on a boy's life?

When we are building our schools and colleges how often do we study the real needs of the boys in the community and then build schools to fit the boys of today and their needs of tomorrow. And how often do we study just our tax records and our pocketbooks to consult our financial feeling rather than the needs of the 20th century boys and then build our schools to fit our out-of-date ideas of boys instead of giving every boy in this land a chance to be all that is in him?

It is almost summer time again. School is coming to a close for the year in almost every district in the State. But even before one year of school is past the next year must be planned. Our schools are county problems. You do not have to wait on the State or the federal Government to do things to make our schools what they ought to be. The schools in every county are going to be just what the people in each county want them to be had enough to make them come up to their ideals. A few years ago the boys in our State were given so little thought that a great majority of them dropped out of school. Whole graduating classes came and went without a boy in them. And seldom ever did the boys equal in number to the girls. What was the matter? Was the trouble with the boys or the school?

We leave that for you to answer for yourself. The source of trouble must have been in the home because the school belongs to the people and the people OUGHT to say what they want in a school and then put it there. But the boys could earn more money in their youth than girls. Therefore they were allowed to go to work earlier. If there was a vacancy in the earning power of the family the boy was supposed to fill it. Anyway, what could girls do without a high school education to help support the family? Boys have been imposed on financially by their own folks.

Another reason and a good reason why more girls stayed in school than boys was because more things were provided in the school course that fit girls than boys. Nearly every high school has music for its girls. What does it have in the place of it for the boys? And many schools have had art for the girls. And of more recent years domestic science has been provided in our schools for girls. But just what does the average high school have even to this day of special interest to boys and their work and their life? Answer—

ATHLETICS!
Athletics is holding more boys in school today than any other one study in the whole course. And we are glad because by staying in school for the joy of athletics a lot of boys are subconsciously passing through their years of greatest temptation and gaining valuable knowledge that they can and will use when there is no chance for them to play foot ball. But boys deserve more than athletics in their school courses. Besides athletics does not reach all the boys. Athletics as a rule soon eliminates all but a few stars and the great group of boys get little athletics. But they love to be in the school where other boys are doing things if they do nothing but boost and "holer" for their school mates.

But there is a work offered by our State and nation to every high school and every rural school that will help pay for it that ought to be installed in every school wherever there is a class of boys. It is the Smith-Hughes work. Agriculture, poultry, seed testing, farm shop work, manual training, dairying and every thing that leads a boy out to do his own thinking. Turn a boy loose with some tools and watch his mind grow. Watch his constructive nature expand. Who knows how many great inventors have gone through your school for a few years and dropped out never to be discovered because there is nothing in your school to bring out or electify the genius hidden in your boys? A few weeks ago we saw an exhibit of tools made from the old iron of a Ford car. Thirty-five useful tools made from waste material. And a group of the happiest and proudest boys standing around to tell you how it was done. The boys were the farm shop class of the West Texas State Teachers College of Canyon Texas. The tools were the products of their heads and hands. Think of the money and time such knowledge will save those boys in the years to come. And that was just one lesson in turning waste into profit. If they can pick up an old piece of iron and turn it into a useful tool they will be looking for something useful in everything they see. They will be able to take an old, worn-out farm some day and turn it into a good one. Another boy picked up an old cedar post and he saw in it a cedar chest and proceeded to saw it out and put it together. And in a few hours he had transformed a piece of wood that most of us would have burned into a beautiful and useful piece of furniture. Is such education worth giving to the boys? Are the boys worth it? Our BOYS are our greatest natural resource. But there are more boys' brains and talents and genius and power to do good going to waste than anything else. And the most of us, even their own fathers and mothers sit quietly by and let our boys go to waste.

BILL PASSES TO DEVELOP POTASH INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The senate yesterday passed the Sheppard bill appropriating $2,750,000 to develop the American potash industry. The money is to be spent almost entirely in West Texas, the only section of the country where potash in its native state exists. This bill after passing the senate was message to the house, where Representative Hudspeth has a similar bill pending. Backed by most of the prominent chemists and chemical associations in the country and by farm interests chance of passage of the bill through the house is bright. Senator Sheppard declared the carrying out the plan of the bill would mean that American farmers would be dependent upon Texas for their potash instead of upon Germany. The senate also passed the Sheppard bill granting honorable discharges to youths who in their enthusiasm to enter the army during the world war misrepresented their ages.

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

Many changes have occurred in the past few years. I recall on Sunday, July 17, 1898, that myself and Miss Ada Shackelford, who is now my wife, Warren A. Bacon and Miss Myrtle Hunt, who is now his wife, and Horace V. Edsall and Miss Ida Shackelford, drove in buggies from Lubbock to Estacado, a distance of approximately thirty miles and attended devotional exercises at 11:00 o'clock at the "Quaker" Church, and I remember that we ate the noon meal at the Holmes Hotel, which was owned by Chas. Holmes, one of the pioneer settlers of the "Quaker" colony, established in 1882. It is said that the lumber to build the first house in this colony was freighted from Dallas.

This colony remained intact for about twelve years, and was the center of culture, education and religion in a territory embracing about one-fifth of Texas. We are confident the high standard of moral and religious inclination of the Plains society of today is largely due to the sacrifices of such pioneers as Paris Cox and Dr. William Hunt, who came with family, consisting of his wife and three children. One of them, J. Winford Hunt now president of the McMurry College of Abilene, Texas. J. Winford was about five years of age at that time.

Paris Cox, a buffalo hunter, came on the Plains in 1878, and in 1881 he brought his family from Indiana and builded a house, which was a dugout, the only residence in a radius of 200 miles of him was Hank Smith's ranch house on Blanco Canyon, some twenty miles east of Cox's place. Cox began writing his friends in various parts of the United States. Among the first was Dr. William Hunt, heretofore mentioned, who was a government physician, then stationed in the Indian Territory. Others who began to invade the colony with their families was Gideon Cox, with his wife, two sons and a daughter, coming overland in a wagon from North Carolina. Then came Geo. M. Hunt and family from Kansas, and some four of his children reside in Lubbock at this time. Name-ly: Mrs. Sylvia Wheelock, Mrs. Myrtle Bacon, Allie and Clifford Hunt. The family of Geo. M. Hunt also drove through the country in a wagon, and the many hardships endured on that trip are recounted in the book which was published after his death.

Other among the early settlers were: A. W. Lewis, Mat Hadley and family, Isaac Cox, Geo. W. Singer the first merchant, Harvey Underhill the first hotel proprietor, and Gabriel Conroe the first blacksmith. It has been said that from 1882 to 1893 that all roads led to the Quaker village in the northwestern portion of Crosby county.

Within a period of a few years, the village of Estacado had a hundred residences or more. The lumber for the first church house was hauled from Colorado City, which was a village of tents, located in Mitchell county on the Texas and Pacific Railroad, which had extended west from Fort Worth. Anson Cox was the first preacher in this colony. Miss Emma Hunt was the first school teacher.

The school grew with the colony, and in keeping with their views of society and morality, they put forth their best efforts to get education and religion firmly established. Miss Elva Lewis, a graduate of Penn College, Iowa, was secured by the citizenship to take charge of the school.

The Quakers carried their efforts to considerable extent by erecting a building for higher learning and a junior college, known as the Central Plains Academy and elected as its president Rev. J. H. Moore, a graduate of Hartford College of Philadelphia, and his success was beyond the most sanguine expectations, as the enrollment was more than one hundred young men and women in its third year. It can perhaps be truthfully said, that the educational spirit instilled and firmly imbedded by those pious, early pioneers may have brought fruit in the establishment of the Technological College at Lubbock.

The nearest college at that time was Baylor, at Waco, Texas.

Paris Cox, the founder of the colony, believed and often stated that he believed the all-wise Creator provided all things in His wisdom, and since he noticed that springs of pure water was flowing into the Yellow House and Blanco Canyons, that abundance of water could be obtained by digging a well to about the level of the channel of the canyons. His agitation finally bore fruit, and, he, with the assistance of others, dug by hand, a well in the town of Estacado and an inexhaustible supply of water was obtained at a depth of eighty-two feet. This was the first well on the Plains comprising a territory three-hundred miles north and south by one hundred and fifty miles east and west. This discovery well made it possible to develop this vast fertile land, both from agriculture and stockraising standpoints. In fact, it placed the vast Plains from economic nothingness into the beginning of its present intensive development.

It would be fitting for a public-spirited, patriotic and grateful people to erect a fitting monument at the grave of Paris Cox, who made the discovery well at Estacado, where many wayfarers, who drew reins of their exhausted steeds to quench their thirst at the town pump. This well was in first class condition on the occasion mentioned in July, 1898. Paris Cox died and was buried at Estacado.

The population of Estacado increased rapidly after the discovery of a water well (not oil well) until the population reached seven hundred and fifty or perhaps eight hundred. Many other people settled in Estacado of various religious beliefs, other merchants and quite a few farmers, also politicians, all were warmly welcomed.

Crosby county was organized in 1886 and Estacado was designated as the county site. Sid B. Swink was its first county judge and Paris Cox was the first county and district clerk. The writer acquired from Jim Berlin, at that time a resident of Crosby county, the large, oak, folding-top desk used by Paris Cox at the time he was county clerk of Crosby County, which was later transferred to Jas. L. Dow, the present owner of the Avalanche and was burned when the Avalanche plant was destroyed by fire a few years ago.

Within a few years, it developed that by a new survey, that the town of Estacado was partly in two counties, and in the re-survey it left many of the settlers without homes. Then came the severe drouth of 1887 and 1888 and many were forced to go away for a time, and then the agitation of moving the court house to the center of the county was fostered by R. L. Stringfellow and H. E. Hume, large hardware merchants and they secured a tract of land upon which old Emma was later built. The election was held and Emma was selected, thus the court house was moved from Estacado to Emma, where it remained until 1909, when it was again moved to Crosbyton, and has remained since. The once proud village of Estacado has been reduced to a school building, one store, two church houses, blacksmith shop, a garage and a few scattered houses and the discovery well, where the horses once drank; now the tourist stops to fill his car with gasoline and water and speeds away.

It is sad to think of the many happy homes, established by the hardy pioneers, who were thoroughly saturated with the whole thought of religion and education to be practically destroyed by the advance of settlement and development in a country they had endured many hardships to create and in its development, destroyed their sincere and earnest efforts. Finally the yearning of the young people to go out into the world where the development and opportunities and contact of mind with mind more compatible from which springs the broader education, which was not then to be had in this isolated country.

Estacado in its early days was a spirited basis in a desert and it is said out of a class of eighteen graduates from the Plains Central College, five are now ministers, two are foreign missionaries and four leaders of the Quaker faith.

We believe that from hardship often comes the best from human, so we think that fate must have decreed that some of the world's best education and advocates of true religion, who the reared close to nature are not contaminated with modernism and fundamentalisms of the present day.

TEXAS "TECH"

By Horace Grady Moore
Floydada, Texas

Emerging from the mists, O School of Dreams,
At last we see you come with stately stride,
And in our hearts, emotion charges moods

As yearning yields its place to joyous pride.
O School of Dreams, you are the crying need,
For multitudes await your learned cares,
And hosts extend their plastic lives to fashion out of destinies, success.

Potential artists, writers, engineers,
With eagerness shall court your sweet embrace,
And after brief communion, too, shall feel
The pignancy of parting from your face.

But going forth, they bear within their breasts
A love for you that ever shall seem sweet;
And fame and laurels wrested from the world,
In homage shall be laid down at your feet.

March on then, School of Dreams,
March ever on
To fling the rays of learning far and wide;
And soon these rays, entitles in themselves,
Shall each reflect your honor and you pride.

Politics is not a question of race, creed, or class."

WASHINGTON.—Major Frederick Martin will not rejoin the army world flyers but will be retained by the air service to serve in an advisory capacity in directing the last few laps of the world journey. It had been originally planned to have Martin resume command of the fight at some point in Europe or Asia Minor.

WOMAN TO FILL GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

By International News Service
EL PASO, Texas, May 24.—Over in New Mexico where men remained men and a six-gun has yet been known to reverse an opinion a woman in the state Capital at Santa Fe who on June 10 will occupy the governor's official suite and proceed to dispense the customary gubernatorial tasks.

She is Mrs. Edward Chacon, Secretary of State of New Mexico who will enjoy the distinction of being the first woman in America to direct the destinies of a state from the executive capacity as governor.

Through the recent death of Jose A. Baca, Lieutenant Governor of New Mexico, Mrs. Chacon, automatically falls in line to accept the duties of the office of lieutenant governor—and on June 10 Governor Hinkle contemplates attending the national democratic convention in New York.

In fulfilling the duties as lieutenant governor, Mrs. Chacon will necessarily become governor in the absence of the executive from the state. Her age? Mrs. Chacon when pressed modestly admit having pleased quite a gap between herself and the flapper age. She is regarded as one of the most talented women in the southwest.

CRIMSON CROSSINGS

(By a Railway Engineer)

Daily we read of frightful tragedies at some grade crossing and quite frequently see some article relative to the elimination of grade crossings. While the elimination of some grade crossings is advisable, it will be an utter impossibility to do away with all and this includes the great majority. I have read numerous articles, regarding safety and prevention of these sad occurrences, I might say accidents, but I feel that very few of them are really accidents, and I have seldom, if ever, seen one that conveyed the viewpoint of the railroad engineer. It has occurred to me that possibly it would be a means of helping to avoid these horrors if the public were better advised in regard to our position.

In the first place trains are confined to operation on steel rails, and are not able to turn out, either one way or the other, but of necessity must follow the rails, so we can do but one thing, which is to try to avoid a collision as the one who gets hit tries to cross close ahead of the approaching train, that we are absolutely powerless to stop in time.

The average passenger train weighs from 20 to 1200 tons and when moving from 40 to 60 miles per hour it requires nearly one-half mile to come to a stop. Freight trains, with their longer, heavier make-up, require about the same distance, owing to their slower speed. If you will please carefully consider this immense amount of weight when moving at such terrific speed, you will appreciate the tremendous momentum that must be overcome to bring these trains to a standstill. If it were even possible for us to stop these trains suddenly, it would result in the killing or injuring of all of the people on board the train, as well as livestock, and the demolishing of other freight and the train itself, if the train should happen to be freight.

The new four-wheel brake on automobiles has nothing on the trains, as we are equipped with a brake on every wheel and the brake equipment is the highest possible standard obtainable.

Our schedules are fast and we have many people on board who are depending on arriving at their destination on time, we have United States mail, express, livestock, merchandise, and all other commodities that the entire population is depending upon being moved with promptness and dispatch. It is not merely the railroad's business, but the whole country's business.

The engineer sitting on the right hand side of the cab can see ahead clearly with the exception of the left hand side of the track within about 100 feet; this we cannot see on account of the boiler of the engine extending so far out ahead of where we sit. The fireman watches his side of the road, when not busy with his main duty, of firing. Crossing whistling boards are maintained 80 rods from grade crossings and crossing whistles are sounded clear and distinct. I have seen opinions of different authorities as to the best method of sounding whistles, but it has been my observation that the shorter, sharper blast of the whistle attracts the attention of the drivers much better than any other, and results are what we want.

The modern locomotive is rather a left-handed machine, as the engineer sits on the right side of the cab; his right hand is on the window arm rest; our view is out of right cab door and right side window—the throttle, brake-valve, and air-bell valve are all operated with our left hand. In emergencies we are given no time to deliberate, but must act instantly and be right in our judgment.

All grade crossings are plainly and distinctly marked by automotive trail signs, railroad crossing signs, wigwags, etc., and the line of telegraph poles designates the location of railroad track. I cannot conceive of any reasonable excuse for anyone not being aware of the location of a railroad grade crossing. In crossing the track there is only about 10 feet of actual danger.

Some time ago, I drove something over 600 miles in an automobile, and being interested in the safety movement, took particular pains to note if there was any reasonable excuse for anyone being hit at railroad grade crossings, and I am still of the opinion that there is almost invariably no excuse whatever.

Should anyone stall on a crossing and give us reasonable notice, we will gladly stop and help them get into the clear. It is not necessary to have a red flag or a lantern for cases of this kind; but a hat, a coat or the violent waving of arms, will get the train to stop but—we must have a reasonable distance in which to do so.

Sometimes I hear the remark that Engineer So-and-So killed someone at such and such a crossing; we deplore such statements, as we cannot personally accept the responsibility for the carelessness and recklessness of others.

Recently I heard of action taken by the engineers on a certain railroad and they, on their own automobiles, carry a metal sign which reads: "This car stops for all railroad crossings; do you?" and if it is possible to bring this move about on by own line, we will do likewise. If the engineers are afraid to drive across railroad tracks when in an automobile, does it not look reasonable that others should be? In the absence of a "Stop, Look and Listen" law for all grade crossings, this move should, I believe, have a good impression on others. It is not my intention to give the impression that we believe all drivers are reckless and indifferent, but we know that quite a per cent are.

One advantage the automobile driver has over us, is that he knows where to expect a train that is on the track, while we see automobiles coming and going from all directions and being operated under all possible conditions.

There are quite a few kinds of reckless drivers; the worst, it seems to me, is the joy rider, out for thrills, driving at a reckless speed, nowhere in particular, to go, and all day to get there. This class of driver does not seem to give a thought to their responsibility for the others that are in the car with them. Another kind is the person who is driving automatically, allowing their mind to become concentrated on something other than the driving of the car. We have often heard that: "Self preservation is the first law of nature." However, from the performance of some drivers, we begin to think this law has been repealed. When we know that no sane person would deliberately drive a car over a board with nails sticking up that would surely puncture a tire, why will these same drivers take a desperate chance of losing their lives by crossing the track just ahead of an approaching train?

Our section men, using hand cars and gasoline motor cars, that are a means of travel only on the track, and must be lifted off when a train approaches, very rarely get a car hit, and it might be a wise thing to sentence the reckless grade crossing driver to serve six months on the section.

I note a move to do away with sign boards along the road and this certainly meets with our approval. At some of our worst crossings we have numerous sign boards. Some of them automobile profiles, which mislead and obstruct our view as well as that of the automobile driver. Other signs, red in color, which should only be used for danger, read: "Stop at the So-and-So Hotel or Cafe." These should be barred, as they have a tendency to create disregard for useful sign board. The ordinances limiting the speed of train through various towns are about 95 per cent detriment to safety rather than an aid in this direction; about 5 per cent are reasonable and the balance, from our point of view, only have a tendency to educate the people that the trains can and will look out for them and they, therefore, take more chances. It is our opinion that if the people were educated, that in crossing a track, it was at their own peril, and they must expect trains from either direction, there would be far less killed.

It is very gratifying to us to note that the number of automobile drivers that try to race with trains are diminishing. I hope that the defining of our position as railway engineers may assist in some measure to prevent so many unaccounted-for deaths at grade crossings. We do not want to see anyone killed or hurt, and to the joy riders looking for thrills, if he had as many as we get, he would not be looking for any more.

I believe if you will give this article reasonable consideration you will see some merit in it.

Harry Vernon, author of "The Bing Boys," started the suggestion. "While the hard-working husbands are busy in their office, the lounge lizards flourish," said Vernon. "They go around the dance clubs, hotels and other dancing resorts, getting free food and refreshment and taxi-fares and so on from married women who are mad about dancing but whose husbands haven't much time for it."

But inquiry revealed that the proposed campaign is going to operate under at least one severe handicap—specific material to campaign against. For not a single one of these sleek young men will admit that he is a lounge lizard.

But, at any event, the hard-working husbands hail the idea as a glorious reform.

Bing Boys," started the suggestion.

While the hard-working husbands are busy in their office, the lounge lizards flourish," said Vernon. "They go around the dance clubs, hotels and other dancing resorts, getting free food and refreshment and taxi-fares and so on from married women who are mad about dancing but whose husbands haven't much time for it."

But inquiry revealed that the proposed campaign is going to operate under at least one severe handicap—specific material to campaign against. For not a single one of these sleek young men will admit that he is a lounge lizard.

But, at any event, the hard-working husbands hail the idea as a glorious reform.

PLANS TO ENTERTAIN ONE THOUSAND DELEGATES AT EP WORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION BE MADE AT MEETING

A splendid program has been made for today's meeting of the Epworth League at the League Rooms in the First Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock.

The general topic for discussion will be the convention of the Northwest Texas League Conference to be held here June 9th to 13th, inclusive, and all members will be made to realize that entertaining the convention will be not little job and that it will require the efforts and co-operation of every member of the First Methodist Church as well as all other churches of the city.

The rooms committee that has been at work for the past week has not met with the success that will be necessary to prepare living quarters for the more than one thousand delegates who will be here for the convention, and an appeal will be made to all members to aid in this campaign.

Practically every unoccupied room in every home in the city will be needed by the leaguers, and an effort to secure them will be made to the very beginning of the convention.

Attend Epworth League services this evening and help make plans for the greatest convention that has been in the hands of the members of this important auxiliary to the Methodist Church in Lubbock.

FISHERMEN RISE EARLY AND FOOL PELICANS

NEW BERN, N. C., (United Press)—Fishermen along the coast

east of here are winning a war on wits.

Pelicans have settled in the marshy lands along the shore in large numbers. Although well-known to inhabitants of the Florida coast, it is only in recent months that they have come here.

The long beak birds have been robbing the fishermen's nets. Having an enormous appetite and an extra pouch for carrying surplus food, the birds have been stripping the nets in short order.

But the net owners have finally solved the problem and are winning the fight. They strip the nets before daylight.

When the pelicans find the nets empty they feed on fish they locate in the shoal waters, but that's a lot harder work than merely riffling nets.

NOTICE

We are putting forth our best endeavor to see that each subscriber to the Morning Avalanche and the Daily News get their papers regularly, but it is surprising, as well as expensive to send out carrier boys over different routes, the second time in reply to a complaint, "failed to get my paper," and then upon investigation we find that son or daughter, (or the dog) got the paper and that "mamma" honestly thought the carrier passed her up—and proceeds to call us up and complain, (which is right), about failing to receive her paper.

We are glad to know that the boys and girls (as well as the canines) want to read the morning and evening paper—but after doing so please tell "mamma" where you place it. This is not written in the light of a complaint, because you notify us for not getting the paper—far from it. We are here to serve you, and any time you actually fail to receive any of your papers we will appreciate being apprized of such failure, and will see that you receive your paper at once.

In conclusion—if you change your street address, please be just as prompt in phoning in your (old) and new address as you would be in notifying us of failure to receive the paper.

Sometimes upon investigation of complaints we find that parties had changed their street address and failed to notify us of same. Please do not wait one or two days and then notify us that you are not getting your paper. We want to know the very first time you fail to receive either the morning or evening or weekly paper. It will be a pleasure to us to see that you get the paper—if you actually fail to get it.

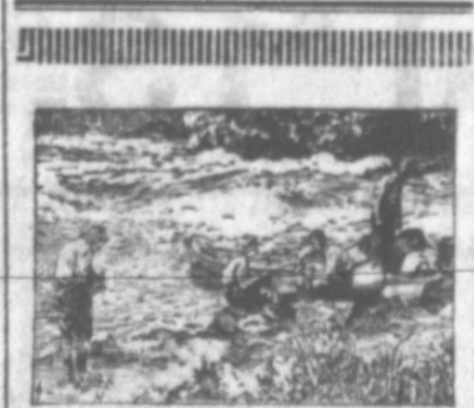

Shoot the dog and tell son or daughter to notify you where they put the paper.

Soliciting your co-operation in the circulation department, we are yours to serve,

MANY GATHER TO SEE CALIF. GHOST

By United News.

WHITTIER, Cal., May 24.—Whittier's ghost of Eucalyptus hollow still hold forth as the best drawing card in the little town's list of attractions and the mid-night Friday night promised to see hundreds of shivering and whispering lining the lonely La Mardino road waiting the appearance of the wraith.

Most of the midnight watchers decided "there ain't no such thing" when the bashful spook refused to come from his haunts in the deserted shack of Frenchy the sheep-herder, and perform for nearly a thousand spectators Thursday night.

But as in the case the previous nights, those who waited until the "darkest hour just before dawn" were rewarded with a glimpse of the mysterious figure. It was about 2 o'clock the late watchers declare, that under the wan light, fleeting clouds, the ghost stalked forth from his haunt. The phantom figure announced its coming with a shriek that glued the watchers to the spot. A few seconds passed and with a second agonizing groan the willowy, white figure drifted through a window of the shack.

Jim Anderson, a Whittier college sophomore for whom the ghost made its appearance several nights ago, awoke from his coma and startled the awed spectators into hurrying stones at the figure. But it floated down into the hollow and vanished.

FAT MAN WINS GREAT VICTORY IN HEAT HANDICAP

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 24.—If you are fat you don't get hot in the summer, for it is only the lean ones who suffer from the rays of old Sol.

This was discovered by the United States Bureau of Mines workers here in tests and thus another accepted myth crumbled.

Fat men do get warm in the sun.

Fat and thin men were taken into the hot room and when they came out of the modern inferno they were not so nearly exhausted as the thin men.

The stout men, however, lost more weight than the thin ones.

MULESHOE

By The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce

Muleshoe, the county seat of Bailey County Texas, has a population of about 250, is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railroad about 25 miles from the New Mexico line and was laid out about the time of the outbreak of the European war and while it has made a steady growth, its development has doubtless been retarded by the fact that the country has either been in war or passing through an enormous depression during practically the entire time of the town's existence. Muleshoe is a new town but owing to the excellent farming and ranch country in which it is situated, it bids fair to become a large one as well. It has at this time one elevator, a cotton gin, a first class lumber yard, and supply house, two garages, several mercantile concerns, a bank with resources aggregating $175,000.00 a practically new high school building and two churches.

The country tributary to Muleshoe borders on Mexico and is just south of the Panhandle proper.

Candidate for Moderator of Presbyterian Church.

DR. JOSEPH A. VANCE
Dr. Joseph A. Vance, of Detroit, Mich., will be a commissioner to the Presbyterian General Assembly at Grand Rapids, Mich., on May 25-28, and a candidate for Moderator. He has long been a leader in the church, and is president of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions.

about 200 miles west of the southern line of Oklahoma, fifty miles west of Plainview, Texas, about 90 miles southwest of Amarillo, and about 35 miles east of Clovis. Owing to the fact that Bailey County in which Muleshoe is situated, joins New Mexico where land could be homesteaded until recently and did not have a railroad until about nine years ago and the further fact that the country was unorganized until about five years ago, the beautiful and fertile country has been overlooked and has never been advertised or boomed. The Muleshoe country now has shipping facilities, schools, churches, roads, gardens and groves. As for shipping facilities as above mentioned, it is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, being the main line of the Santa Fe between Los Angeles, California and Galveston Texas.

As for schools, Muleshoe has a beautiful high school building, modern in every respect, just completed. There are numerous grade schools in this territory, one of which cost ten thousand dollars.

Muleshoe is also the terminal for three of the most important highways in the Southwest, being the Robt. E. Lee, F. F. F. and Roger Q. Mills highways.

The country has an average rainfall of about 24 inches which falls mostly during the growing season. It is the best watered country anywhere, barring none; it being underlaid with pure sheet water or strata of water bearing sand, which is known to be approximately 300 feet thick and which lies only from ten to eighty feet below the surface of the land. A great portion of the Muleshoe territory is underlaid by an enormous strata of water only from twenty to thirty feet beneath the surface. This body of land is being rapidly developed into fine irrigated farms, by pumping with crude oil engines and centrifugal pumps. Many of the pumps draw the water but 35 feet and have a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute, with no apparent effect on the supply and a plant this size is operated with only a 25-horsepower engine burning the cheapest of fuel oil, will irrigate successfully about a quarter section of land and will insure a bumper crop of anything grown in a temperate climate, and at a very low cost.

Owing to the fine, uniform soil throughout the Muleshoe territory, which soil varies from a clay loam to a silty or sandy loam, from two to six feet deep and the shallow water for irrigation, almost any crop can be grown. Crops grown most successfully in this territory consist of kafirs and sorghums, alfalfa, sudan, millet, beans, cantaloupes and all kinds of vegetables. Fruits of all kinds that flourish in a temperate climate can be raised in abundance and some fine orchards are just coming into their prime bearing age through the territory. Beautiful shade trees of all kinds, such as grace the streets of the residential section of Clovis and Amarillo, make a rapid growth in this territory owing to the abundance of water.

The Muleshoe territory has an altitude of 3,800 feet above sea level which gives it a most delightful climate and considering its excellent location and many advantages its development into a beautiful, thriving and prosperous valley, populated with happy and contented people of the nation's best stock, is assured.

FARM BILL LAID ASIDE AFTER SATURDAY

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 24.—The McNary-Haugen agricultural bill blocked by other legislation will be laid aside after Saturday for several days with the likelihood of the heated fight coming to a crisis in the last week before adjournment.

Republican leaders at a conference Friday decided to lay aside the measure until the last of next week after the conclusion of debate and consideration of as many amendments as are offered Saturday. This was because of other immediate business.

SHEEP IN ARGENTINE SHOW STEADY DECLINE

By United Press.
BUENOS AIRES, May 24.—Given the exceedingly high prices now prevailing for mutton and wool, stock-raisers remark that it is lamentable that Argentine flocks have diminished so steadily during the past three decades. This decrease amounts to about 50 per cent since 1895.

This gradual decrease in Argentine flocks has borne a very definite ratio to the steady increase in the price of beef cattle, since, as cattle became more profitable, sheep raisers preferred to run beef animals on their ranges.

At present, when cattle owners are still going through very trying times owing to low prices for choice beef animals, sheep raisers are enjoying a period of prosperity, with the result that flocks are being again built up.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

Most of the failures in life are due to absence of fixed purpose or lack of systematic method in the accomplishment of that purpose. It is surprising how few people have a well defined idea of what they expect to do with their lives, or even with a year, a month or a week of their time. Most persons of small means, if asked to state their definite aims, would answer that they wish to make a living, to care for themselves and those dependent on them and to accumulate something for old age. That is commendable, but it does not go far enough. There is no special credit in continuing to live, even to live comfortably. The Creator must have brought us into life for something more than that, and it is for each of us to try to find for himself what we can best do with the life with which we have been endowed.

If we can't be of some special service while we live, life must be a very empty thing; if we can't reach out and help in some way those less fortunate in endowments—can't do something constructive in character—what excuse have we for cumbering the earth? What is success, any way? Certainly, in its broad sense, it is not the accumulation of wealth, for many wealthy people know that they are most miserable failures. It is not in the acquirement of honors, for honors are empty baubles that soon vanish. It is in doing well the thing that we are most anxious to do and doing it in a way that life may be a blessing to as many as possible.

If circumstances are such that we can't plan far ahead the things we want to do, we should at least adopt some measure of system in our work, even though it be but for a day or a week or a month, that will enable us to put our best efforts into our undertakings. Haphazard effort seldom accomplishes anything really worth while. The good housewife knows that she must have her day's work well planned and well timed, or her housekeeping will be a failure. The men seem not to have learned that lesson as well as the women, and many of them fail utterly for just that reason.

Much community effort is almost entirely lost for the same reason that individual efforts fail. Chambers of Commerce, in small towns, especially, drift into a state of general don'tingness, when the members begin to get careless about attending meetings. Clubs, like the Rotary, the Kiwanis and the Lions, find that they cannot do anything worth while unless they meet regularly, and so they meet at lunch or dinner, and fine their members or drop them for nonattendance. They strive about as hard to maintain a high attendance record as for anything else, for they know that poor attendance means poor interest. They keep their members constantly on the job or put them out of the organizations. Town building and community development can not be done by "fits and jerks."

Like individual effort, community effort is often largely wasted because there is no definite plan of work. Every organization working for city or community good should outline the work for some definite period ahead and then stick to that outline as closely as possible. If this is not done there is sure to be much going off after inconsequential things that results in wasted effort. The places that put things over that are worth while are those that know what they want to do and then stay right on the job until it is done. That is about the only secret there is as to why some places do things worth while and others flutter around and accomplish little or nothing.

It is a bit surprising to know the large number of Texas men and women that go North or East and do really big things in their new homes. It is a pity that we can't keep the best talent in the State, but it can't always be done. New York is always drawing on us for bankers, for business men, for lawyers, for doctors, for journalists, for writers, for actors and all classes of workers, and when they succeed there they seem to feel that it is a bigger success than if the same things were done in Texas. Texas, with its vast area and its resources, will in time become the magnet for the really great and they will be drawn here as they are now being attracted to the East. In the mean time, encourage Texas people to stay here and help build up Texas.

HORSE ACTIVE AT 47, IS WILKES-BARRE'S CLAIM

By United Press
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 24.—A successor to the famous "Clover," who recently died at Catawissa, Pa., at the age of 52, as the "oldest horse in the world," is believed to have been found here in the person of "Fred," a big, black stallion, said to be in his 47th year. Charles Plannery and Fred Lewis, owners of the horse, claim to have papers showing that the horse was born May 10, 1878, and have invited veterinarians to examine the animal at any time. Fred celebrated his birthday recently by pulling a buggy more than 20 miles over mountain roads. Lewis uses the horse every day.

MOTOR CAR ESSENTIAL IN MODERN CITY FIRE FIGHTING

Despite Building Improvements in New York and Razing of Wooden Structures, Fire Losses Continue to Grow—Traffic Congestion a Problem.

IN SPITE of the constant razing of wooden homes, stores and stables in Greater New York and the substitution of great steel and concrete structures without wood in them, fire losses in Greater New York continue to increase. In 1923 in New York there were 18,787 fires which caused a property loss of $22,743,195, while during the same year in London there were but 4,820 fires resulting in $1,540,000 damage. This amazing difference is due to the fact that London is so much older and has such a comparatively small number of wooden structures.

New York's real estate is worth billions of dollars and it is the task of 6,000 firemen together with 12,000 policemen to protect the great city against destruction by fire. Each year their task becomes increasingly troublesome because of traffic congestion and the difficulty encountered in reach the scene of the fire. In 1921 there were 16,850 alarms, in 1922, 22,548, and in 1923, 24,676 alarms.

The history of New York's fire department is a story of romance and color. It is the story of that most beloved of all animals, the fire horse. Today there is but a single horse used by the city's fire department. No greater contribution has the automotive industry made to modern civilization than it has to the fire fighting equipment of the city of today. Imagine what would happen in New York if a horse-drawn fire engine should attempt to dash down Broadway.

Whenever there is a fire in New York not only must the fire department go but also must a battalion chief. And frequently the battalion chief is the first on the job. He has the use of a fast, light auto-cars for 25 of its battalion chiefs. The city requires that all cars considered be subjected to a test run of 100 miles from New York to Poughkeepsie and return. Maxwell cars subjected to this test, made a speed in excess of 30 miles an hour, gave no evidence of overheating, were under perfect control and upon rigid inspection after the return showed no mechanical defects. The test was so conclusive that Maxwell cars were selected for the chiefs.

To make doubly sure that the cars could stand the severe strain to which they are subjected daily, four heavy men were loaded into each car and no shifting of gears was permitted on any of the grades or hills between New York and Poughkeepsie. No shifting was found necessary. In addition the New York Fire Department's own gasoline was used and slightly better than an average of 20 miles to the

FARM BUREAU HEAD HERE TUESDAY AND ADDRESSED LARGE NUMBER ON COOPERATIVE MARKETING

The following address was delivered by J. T. Orr, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association before a number of Lubbock county farmers Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the community auditorium in Lubbock.

The speaker is one of the big men of Texas. He has done a great deal toward improving rural conditions in the state and his speech was enjoyed and appreciated by all who heard him.

As can be learned by reading this speech, President Orr has not confined his definition of the advantages of co-operative marketing to the homes of the producers, but declares that through a systematic, efficient method of getting the full benefits from the crops produced in Texas, every individual within the confines of the state will be permitted to enjoy a real degree of peace and prosperity.

President Orr's speech is as follows:

I am glad to have the opportunity of again visiting West Texas. It is a section made up of progressive, intelligent, liberal-minded people. You have left your sections of earlier residence and have turned away from your moorings in order to improve your conditions and grow up with the country. You think in terms of development, construction, building. You have shown by your moving from the older sections of the country that you are not satisfied with the existing conditions. You are willing to do your part in working out your own future prosperity. These are some of the reasons why you have banded yourselves together, along with farmers in other sections of the state and of the country, on making one great, determined effort to eradicate yourselves from a system of marketing which has not given us the value of our products.

The cotton growers of Texas and of the South are making great progress in this movement which has already become, in the short space of three years' time, one of the largest business enterprises of this country. You have elected me three times as President of your organization and leader of this movement, and all the states combined in the American Cotton Growers' Exchange have also honored me with their confidence and goodwill by making me the Vice-President of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange. I am glad to give you an account of the stewardship with which you have entrusted me and to bring to your attention the accomplishments that have been made possible through your loyalty and determination.

The members who are familiar with the accomplishments and progress of your organization—such as officers and Directors—are proud of the success with which we have met so far. I want briefly to review a little history in order to refresh your minds, and then to relate the things upon which we are working and the results which we have attained up to this time. It is the aim of your management to have a well informed membership, and not only to tell you the good things that are being done but also the trials and difficulties and obstacles which we are meeting. It is no easy task to keep as large a membership as ours, which now numbers approximately 40,000, well informed of the condition of their business and the security of their interests. Likewise, it is a hard matter, however efficient or however successful such a movement as this may be, to keep so large a membership, including as it does so many different kinds of people, satisfied and contented. Some requests and a few complaints come into our office which are very unreasonable, and they are sometimes discouraging. Nevertheless, every letter received by our office is accorded the most courteous and careful consideration, regardless of whether or not we know the writer.

We recognize in the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n., that membership is the sovereign body, that this is their organization and their business, that the cotton which we handle belongs to them, and that all the employees are the servants of our members. This is the spirit and the attitude of our organization and it is taught every clerk and every employee, from the highest to the lowest, that they are working for this great body of earnest men, who themselves are working in an organized and intelligent way for economic justice.

We think of co-operative marketing as the office in terms of the interests of our members and view all our operations in the light of the practical conditions affecting the lives and welfare of the growers who constitute this membership.

We are trying to do two things. One is to carry the cotton of our members directly from their wagons as close as possible to the point of consumption, thereby getting for the cotton the highest possible prices on the day it is sold, and the other is to perform this service at the least possible cost and with the least possible waste, making no profit for the organization itself but returning to the growers the whole selling price less the actual cost of economical operation.

Now, there are three operations necessary in this business. The first is that of getting the cotton, which involves the relationship between the organization and the members and their bankers. The second is accounting for the cotton in the office, the keeping of records, making distribution and final settlements, and so forth. Thirdly, there are the operations included in the subject of selling which comprise classing, warehousing, and insurance, etc. You are interested in all three of these matters, because the manner in which they are conducted and the efficiency of their performance determines the success of your operation.

Of the three operations referred to, that of dealing with delivery is the most complicated and the most troublesome to the Ass'n., because it deals with factors that are others—namely the human elements. If an office employee or salesman does not do his work satisfactorily, we can discharge him; but if a member does not do his part in co-operative marketing properly, we take it that he, or whoever is responsible for the non-delivery of his cotton, does not understand co-operative marketing. Therefore, upon the association devolves the responsibility of constantly keeping the members and their creditors informed as to the principles of co-operative marketing and the conditions of the business.

Cotton Co-operative marketing in Texas is now in its third year of operation. You are all familiar with the conditions that prevailed in the year 1920 and the financial conditions in which the cotton growers and bankers all over the South this kind have been repeated many found themselves at the end of times since the Civil War and the speculative system of marketing has proven entirely inadequate to handle conditions that are anywise disturbed or to operate when business has grown out of balance. This happened in every agricultural industry in the U. S. except those that were organized co-operatively, and while these organized agricultural industries suffered some reaction, there was no comparison between their price declines and those of the unorganized agricultural industries. This was noticeable not only to the farmers but also to the business interests of the country, that the idea of applying the principles of co-operative marketing to cotton met with a favorable response everywhere. The movement was launched in Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona and Mississippi in the spring of 1921, and the first crop sold co-operatively was the crop of that year. The movement has advanced with great strides and has gained in momentum and in support among all classes of our people until now it is recognized as the principal economic movement that has taken place in the lives of the cotton farmers of this country since the time of the Civil War. More than a quarter of a million cotton farmers are now members of cotton co-operatives, and from the beginning represented by the four states which were organized in 1921, there are now twelve states working together in the numerous activities necessary to the success of this great enterprise. I will discuss later many other things in which they find it possible to work together for the benefit of all. You are specially interested in the Texas organization, however, which in 1921 handled 98,892 bales the value of which was approximately $9,000,000. In 1922 the value in dollars amounted to $11,320,842.91, while the number of bales received was 77,705. In 1923 the success of the organization was more generally appreciated and we received 182,332 bales and while the season has not been closed it now looks as if we shall do a business of more than $25,000,000.00.

It has been a lifelong ambition of every intelligent farmer to see the day when the farmers themselves will have something to do in determining the price of the things they produce and can establish for themselves a business of selling cotton that can meet on an equal basis the buyers of cotton and the other businesses of the country with which the farmers have to deal. I am glad to say to you that in this short space of three years we have not only increased the volume of our business and the number of our members, but we have made wonderful progress in our relationships with other business. It is recognized among the most conservative business men, financiers and other thinkers that the co-operative marketing movement is right in principle, safe financially and sound economically. We have the confidence of the mills and of the financiers, both small and large. Hundreds of Texas banks are now co-operating with us, and the larger banks in the principal cities of Texas and of the United States are not only willing to loan us unlimited quantities of money on the basis of the best rates and terms, but are sending their representatives to us, soliciting our business. You have reason to be proud that you are the owners and beneficiaries of a business that in this short space of time has so completely established itself in the life of the business of this country, and that you can deal with the banks, railroads, insurance companies, warehouse, ocean transportation companies, exporters, importers, mills and all the other concerns with which we have to deal, on a basis that commands their respect and their confidence and on a basis of equality in every way.

It is not only in finance that we have made wonderful progress, even though we borrowed the bulk of our money this year at 5 per cent interest. In the matter of internal operating efficiency the improvement has been almost unbelievable. We use the latest and most improved labor-saving devices in our office operations, and during this year we have handled 182,000 bales with one-half the office help that was required to handle 91,000 bales the first year. This means that every employee was four times as efficient in attending to your business as he or she was the first year. In the matter of insurance and warehousing we saved $690,000.00 as compared with what these costs would have amounted to had we stored cotton in expensive local warehouses and compresses over the state, as was done the first year. During our first year of operation we could not make satisfactory contracts for warehousing and insuring our cotton at the port. The warehouse in those sections looked on us as if we were a joke and we were not even treated courteously in some places. But now the story is changed. We now have Houston, Galveston, Port Arthur and Texas City bidding among themselves for the warehousing business of your association and the result is the saving which I referred to above.

In the selling of cotton we have made no less progress than we have in other departments referred

FATE BLOWS HORN, DIPLOMAT SAVED

PARIS (By Mail to UP).—The cry of an inanimate klaxon, untouched by human hands, saved the life of M. Paul Dutasta, former French ambassador to Switzerland, and in 1919 secretary general to the Peace Conference, and his chauffeur, who were pinned under their automobile in an accident near Tours.

A jolt caused the car's wheels to skid and it fell into a ditch, upside down. The chauffeur was pinned beneath it with water up to his chest. M. Dutasta's head and shoulders were outside, but he was pinned down and helpless.

The two men saw that the car was sinking lower and lower into the mud. They shouted, but the road was deserted, and they had but a few minutes.

Then suddenly, to their joy and bewilderment the loud electric klaxon horn began to sound. It attracted the attention of men working in a neighboring field, and M. Dutasta and his chauffeur were rescued just in time.

An investigation proved that as the car sank lower into the mud the electric push which operates the horn had come into contact with a stone, and the pressure kept the horn going.

RUMOR MELLON RESIGNATION REFUTED

By United News.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Inferences that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon intends to resign because his tax plan was thrown overboard by congress was unwarranted it was stated on behalf of President Coolidge at the white house Friday. Suggestions that Secretary of State Hughes will resign because congress overrode his opposition to Japanese exclusion legislation also were dismissed without foundation.

The white house spokesman added factitiously that it also can be denied that President Coolidge has any intention of resigning because congress don't give him what he wants.

President Coolidge will refer the tax bill to Secretary Mellon as soon as congress finally adopts it, but there was no intimation as to whether the president would accept Mellon's recommendation.

Two questions will be considered by the president in considering the tax bill:

- 1.—Does it provide sufficient revenue to meet prescribed expenditures.
- 2.—Is it a better bill on the whole than the present tax law?

President Coolidge has long since given up the prospect of obtaining the Mellon plan. His desire now is to obtain the best possible compromise.

measure. His own personal inclination probably is to veto the pending measure. But against this desire he must consider the demand of the country for some form of tax relief which the compromise bill does not give.

He also must consider the position of the republican senators and congressmen who face re-election. They are bringing strong pressure to bear on the president, insisting that they cannot go before their constituents with a tax bill veto on their party's record. Smoot of Utah accepts the income tax as the best that can be obtained. The disposition of republicans in congress is to attempt to pass the tax bill over the president's head should he veto it.

Congress desires to place the bill in the hands of the president as quickly as possible so that should it be vetoed there will be an opportunity to consider it again before adjournment June 7.

DID JUDGES ERR IN KENTUCKY DERBY.

BIG ARTILLERY BOMBARDMENT PLANNED

By United Press. FORT SILL, Okla., May 23.—The greatest peace bombardment ever "touched off" in America will thunder forth a welcome to the National Editorial Association here Monday. Three hundred pieces of artillery, large and small, are to be brought into play. A half million dollars worth of ammunition about to be relegated to the scrap heap will be belched upon a thousand foot mountain while hundreds of "shock troops" scale it behind a barrage of war time realism. The usual preparations that precede a great battle have been made by artillerymen. Distances have been carefully checked, men have been assigned to their tasks and await only the final instructions before the zero hour. "The purpose of the bombardment," army officials said Friday night, "is to demonstrate a bomb invented since the war which would lift the smoke screen thrown before attacking troops without destroying the blanket attack. The maneuvers are to be held at Fort Sill as it is the only military reservation in the country where the mountain facility is accessible. High military officials of the United States and representatives of foreign countries are scheduled to watch the battle from the side lines. "The attack will open on the mountain with a concentrated barrage by the artillery, and air planes hailing bombs upon the "enemy" location. As the big guns slacken fire to enable the shock troops to advance, a smoke screen will be laid down to impede their progress. At this stage of the battle the new bomb is to be tested. Airplanes will circle overhead, dropping the bombs which are to lift the screen and permit the "shock troops" to continue their advance. Under cover of the planes, the troops will go forward in regulation shore rushes zig-zagging to the top of the mountain where they will stage a fierce hand to hand scrap with the technical enemy. Field kitchens have been moved up near the field of battle and the editors, army officials, soldiers and officers will luncheon regular army chow, which function is to end the maneuvers of the day. The editors will leave late Monday afternoon for San Antonio, Texas, enroute Southward to Mexico City.

HERE IS A GOLF CHAMP WITHOUT QUESTION

By United Press. VICTORIA, Texas, May 24.—O. P. Fowler local golf celebrity, claims to have made the longest drive on record. Fowler modestly claims he drove a golf ball 30 miles. A golf ball with Fowlers' name on it was found on a raft in the Guadalupe river 30 miles from the links where it had probably floated after a "sliced" shot. "Maybe I didn't drive it the entire 30 miles," Fowler said, "but I did drive it out of sight."

Chairman Of Steel Corporation Lauds Coolidge

NEW YORK, May 24.—Praise of President Coolidge was coupled with expressions of confidence in future industrial prosperity in a speech delivered by E. H. Gary chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corporation, before the annual meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute of America here Friday. "We should hold up the hands of President Coolidge not because he is a republican but because he stands for the moral principles which make this country strong and vigorous and worth," Gary declared. His assertions were heartily cheered by the 800 executives of the steel industry who were gathered at the meeting.

Gary said that President Coolidge had about him "men of the highest order" but declared that "it would be untrue to say that conditions are satisfactory in Washington."

"More than once I have hinted at these conditions and deplored them," Gary said.

"I have nothing against any individual but I believe the acts of some are not motivated by the best interest of the people."

The steel man admitted that production in the industry was only three-fifths of what it had been at the peak of prosperity, but was optimistic in regard to the future of business conditions.

FRENCH REIGN OF STEEL TRUST IS ENDED

J. W. T. MASON
(Written for United Press)
NEW YORK, May 24.—The French industrial millionaires, whose commercial imperialism has held European peace in check, have reached the end of their reign. They will have to pay the bill for the Ruhr fiasco when the new French bourgeois bloc comes into power next month. The French Steel Trust no longer will dictate France's destinies. M. Poincare, repudiated at the polls, will be able to resume his former position as legal adviser to the Steel Trust; but he will be unable to control the Chamber of Deputies as well.

The so-called Radical Socialists, who will hold the real power in the new Chamber which convenes on June second, are neither Radicals nor Socialists in the American meaning of the words. They accept some socialist and some radical doctrines but they are white collars class—the class that has been hit most by the aftermath of the war in all countries of the world.

To Help Middle Class
They favor extricating the middle class from being ground between the exorbitant demands both of labor and capital. They will try to run the French government for the purpose of restoring an even distribution of prosperity among all classes; and not confining it to those classes that have organized to squeeze the unorganized. In domestic relations, the Radical Socialists favor a capitalization tax. They wish especially to levy taxation on the property of the wealthy who have grown enormously wealthier since the war, because of the industrial imperialism of the French government.

When Poincare's policies became a losing gamble for France, the ministry slapped a general increase of twenty per cent on all taxes. By this means, everybody had to pay the bill for the advantages the French Steel Trust alone was securing by the Ruhr adventure. The Radical Socialists will bring an end to this way of running the government.

Financiers and industrial magnates in France alike are greatly alarmed at the threat that they will have to pay out some of the gains they have made during the peace muddle. The capitalistic class intends to do everything possible to discredit the Radical Socialists and to bring about a legislative deadlock.

Drive Money Abroad
Fall of the franc is inevitable under these circumstances, for a time. The threat of a capital levy, even though the Radical Socialists aver an intention to postpone its enforcement, is certain to cause many Frenchmen to try to hide their wealth abroad, where it cannot be taxed. Government regulation to prevent the flight of the franc can accomplish much; but international finance is a highly skilled and secretive art, and is impossible for any government to seal all possible exits.

The international affairs, the Radical Socialists will refuse to use the French army as the peons of the industrialists. The effort to win the Ruhr in order to make French financiers multimillionaires will be stopped.

In what manner France will withdraw from the Ruhr is a matter of detail. It is always necessary to have some show of consistency in foreign policies, even though governments change. But, there will be no difficulty in finding adequate reasons for ending in proper form the exploitation of the Ruhr. When that is done, France and Germany can then begin to discuss a permanent settlement of reparations on a common sense basis to benefit others beside French trust magnates.

Evidence Tightens Around Hoffman In Murder Case

By United News.
NEW YORK, May 24.—The net of circumstantial evidence around Harry L. Hoffman who is being tried for murder of Mrs. Maude Bauer in Staten Island on March 25, was drawn tighter when Patrolman Matthew McCormick, of St. George, identified Hoffman as the man he saw driving a Ford sedan hastily away from where Mrs. Bauer's body was discovered shortly after the crime.

It was the second time Hoffman had been identified by an important state witness. Thursday, Barbara Fahs 13 year old school girl dramatically pointed him out as the man who had taken Mrs. Bauer in his car a few minutes before she was attacked and fiendishly murdered.

McCormick testified that on the afternoon of March 25, he was relieved from duty at the Carteret Ferry and was given a ride on a motor truck to Richmond avenue and Richmond turnpike, Bells Head, S. I. "I was standing in the roadway waiting for another lift when along came a Ford sedan going rapidly. The driver was very pale and was looking straight ahead.

"Did you recognize that man?" asked the district attorney.

"Yes," replied McCormick.

"Is he in the court room?"

"Yes that's him" said the patrolman, pointing his finger at Hoffman.

It was a day of dramatic situations in the crowded Richmond county court room. Brother was arrayed against brother when Albert Hoffman, brother of the accused man took the stand for the prosecution. Albert testified that four days after Mrs. Bauer's murder, he received a telephone call from his brother who asked him how long he was going to be in his office, as he wanted to send him a package.

Upon Albert's reply that he was leaving soon, Hoffman said that he would mail the package. It arrived March 31, and Albert declared upon opening the package he discovered a .25 calibre automatic pistol of the type that killed Mrs. Bauer.

Albert testified that his brother feared that, since he tallied with the description of the murderer given in the papers, he might be framed on circumstantial evidence if the police discovered he had a .25 calibre pistol.

Many Grasshoppers Threatening Crops In Taylor

ABILENE, Texas, May 24.—With Commissioners Meyer and Frazier and County Judge Carlos D. Speck voting in favor of the proposal of the county commissioners' court went on record here Friday morning as favoring the purchase by the county of one-half car of arsenic to be sold to the farmers of the county at cost in aiding them in their fight against the grasshoppers that are beginning to infest the crops in this country. No opposing vote was taken on the matter Judge Speck casting his vote in favor of the measure when only two commissioners signified they favored the measure. Commissioners O'Bar and Waldrop did not vote. According to the decision reached Friday this county will join with Callahan county in the purchase of a car of arsenic. Taylor county receiving 15,000 pounds. A condition that the arsenic must be received by June 1 or the county will not be liable for its purchase was attached to the resolution Friday. The meeting of the county commissioners' court Friday morning was called by Judge Speck Wednesday following a mass meeting of farmers and business men in the county courtroom. The meeting went on record as favoring the purchase of the arsenic by the commissioners' court.

To Be Sold at Cost
Under the plans that have been made the arsenic will be sold to the farmers at cost, which will be approximately 13 cents per pound. Pledges for the purchase 113 of the 112-pound cases were procured at the meeting Wednesday, this including 25 cases reserved by Judge Speck for Abilene. George L. Paxton, president of the Citizens National Bank, and Henry James, president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, of this city, attended Friday's meeting, along with other business men of the county. They stated that it was their belief that the arsenic could be disposed of and that even if a few cases were left on hand it could probably be sold to the druggists of the county at only a slight loss. The two banks were each pledged by their officials to guarantee the purchase of ten cases of the poison.

To Announce Plans
Definite plans have not been worked out as to the distribution of the arsenic but these will be announced as soon as possible. It is possible that the shipment might be sold only in the 112-pound cases, farmers joining on the purchase of a case and distributing it among themselves. Several druggists of the county have agreed to take the arsenic and sell it in small quantities, adding only a slight charge of the expense of handling the poison in this way. One of these two plans will probably be adopted.

No definite information is at hand as to when the car of arsenic which has been shipped from New York to Baird, will be received. It is expected daily, however, and farmers will be notified upon its receipt.

Grasshoppers have not made extensive depredations on the crops so far, farmers stated here Friday. The number of hoppers is much greater than last year, it was said, and they are expected to begin damaging the crops at almost any time.

Another Two-Story Brick Building For Lamesa

J. G. Hoch, of Dublin, Texas, recently bought the Caldwell lot north of the Davis Cafe, and later traded lots with Mr. Davis. Mr. Hoch will immediately begin work on a two-story brick building with basement. The basement, we understand will be occupied by Mr. Davis, the ground floor will be available for business purposes, while the upper story will be cut up into twenty rooms.

W. J. Bryan Is Named Vice Moderator Of Cumberlandds

GRAND RAPIDS, May 24.—The lean years have come for the modernists in the Presbyterian church, commissioners to the 136th general assembly here believe.

Victorious over the faction among the commissioners which sought to prevent the election of a fundamentalist moderator, William Jennings Bryan, and his cohorts are preparing to curb prominent clergymen who do not believe in a literal adherence to the creed of the church, or a literal acceptance of scriptural teachings.

The Rev. Charles E. MacCartney, new moderator, named Bryan as vice moderator at Friday's session and from men high in church councils, it was learned that this was preliminary to the ushering in of a determined move to have the assembly define for its clergymen and members what they must believe.

Besides the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, whose case will come up for a report and decision next week, five eminent clergymen are due to feel the displeasure of the fundamentalists, Bryan and his aides make no effort to conceal Bryan is prepared to make an appeal to the assembly to forbid Dr. Fosdick to preach in any Presbyterian pulpit and through the same successful strategy which he used to elect Dr. MacCartney to the highest office in the church, he hopes to induce the general assembly to place a restraining hand on the more prominent of the modernistic clergy.

The fundamentalists are seriously considering making a concerted attack on Dr. Fagan, of New York.

Dr. Fagan recently aroused the ire of the fundamentalists with assertions that Jesus Christ neither was God nor the first Christian.

Dr. Henry Vadyke former minister to Holland and once moderator himself, also has incurred the displeasure of the Bryanites. The others against whom an attack will be directed are the Rev. Wm. P. Merrill and the Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin of New York and the Rev. Mason L. Clarke, of Brooklyn.

The general assembly will declare a recess Saturday until Monday morning.
