GREER CLEARED IN SHOOTING OF DINES

As seen by those who have followed the trial closely, the decision of the jury was based upon their interpretation of the shooting as a righteous act. Dines, who had been pictured as a "drunken gladiator," deserved a deadly assault, of assault with intent to murder, or he was not guilty of any of those charges.

CONTESTANTS IN LUBBOCK DAILY NEWS SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN TO COMPLETE WORK IN 2 MORE DAYS

"Sure they like the Lubbock Daily News down in Terry county, or at least the way they subscribed for it gives me that impression," declared one of the contestants in the big Daily News subscription campaign after returning to Lubbock from that section late Thursday after two days hard work.

The contestants are finding their work a great deal more encouraging since they can exhibit a full grown seven column newspaper to possible subscribers, and according to one of them the appearance of the paper is "the best selling point at all."

The contestants are devoting all their time to the contest, and with only today and tomorrow to go in they will be found working overtime much to the satisfaction of the News management.

The prizes that are offered the contestants are of such character and so valuable as to give them an incentive to work, and with the awarding of the prizes only two days off interest in so intense that once the contestants get the attention of a prospect, the circulation manager is most sure to enjoy the opportunity to hang another name on the list of Daily News subscribers.

The contestants have worked hard and their efforts have met with a great deal of success. They have found the people of the Lubbock trade territory thoroughly interested in the publications of the Avalanche Publishing Company, and their call for subscribers has been answered from every community center in the entire trade territory.

The big automobile that is now on display in the West Texas Gray showroom, is a prize that any contestant might be proud to receive as are the other prizes that are offered, and the enthusiasm and pep that is being shown by the contestants is created naturally by their desire to claim it as their own.

The big duplex press which has just been installed in the printing office of the Avalanche Publishing Company, together with the other substantial improvements that have been made in the shop, is accepted by south plains people as tangible proof that the company means business in launching out on such progressive program as has been evidenced by the increase in not only the number of publications but in the size of those that have been long established.

Not only are the readers of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche and the Lubbock Daily News given better service and larger papers as a result of the new press being installed, but the same is true of the readers of the Lubbock Weekly Avalanche. This publication is given the same attention by all the members of the Avalanche family that was accorded it prior to the establishment of the other papers.

and it is retaining its place and gaining more prestige as the great agricultural publication of this section. The possibilities of this publication are enjoyed as much by the publishers as those of any other publications issued by them and to place a copy of the paper in every home in Lubbock trade territory once each week is the ambition of the management that is being gratified.

workings of that committee and what it proposed to do for the membership of the association. His talk was confined almost wholly to technical features of the work, of which were readily understood by the merchants who appreciated the instructions given them. Mr. Wells declared that the committee referred to would in time eliminate fake advertising scheme sellers from Lubbock, and pointed out the disadvantage of these schemes being worked here.

Raymond Barrier, head of Barrier Bros. Department store, which is one of the outstanding department stores on the plains, spoke of the Value of the Retail Credit Bureau. Mr. Barrier pointed out that the many ways in which the credit bureau could assist the members, and also stressed the necessity of their cooperating with the bureau heads in making it one hundred per cent efficient. The value of knowing to whom to extend credit was emphasized just as readily by the speaker as was the value of knowing to whom credit should not be extended.

County Attorney Owen McWhorter was called upon to talk to the merchants on "Handling the Cold Check."

In order to get his bearings and know the attitude of his hearers toward the cold check artist, he asked all who were present who did not have any cold checks which had been given them, to raise their hands. Only one hand was raised in answer to his request, and the merchant explained that he had not been in business very long here. This created no little laughter.

Attorney McWhorter declared that since he had been in the county attorney's office he had more cold checks to deal with than any other one form of law violation and he gave the merchants a few pointers on how to aid in eliminating this undesirable condition. In pointing out some of the things that can be done to prevent cold checking, the attorney said that the records of his office show that thirty seven convictions have been secured through his office during the past year, and that the sentences ranged from the imposition of $25 fines to sentences of ninety days in the county jail. Manager A. E. Davis of the Association pointed out some of the ways in which the association can be operated successfully and immediately after his talk Chairman Martin called for a round table discussion of whether or not the merchants should hold regular monthly meetings. A motion was made by Spencer Wells that the association meet at 6:45 to 7:45 o'clock on the second Tuesday in each month, but before this motion was adopted an amendment was made changing the meeting date to the 2nd Tuesday in each month.

The spirit of goodfellowship that was prevalent at this meeting will perhaps have a part in securing large attendances at all future meetings.

FARMER - LABOR THIRD PARTY ANNOUNCED

By United News. CONVENTION HALL, ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Communists launched a farmer-labor "third party" here Thursday night.

The convention which was called to weld the discontented workers and farmers fell under open control of the communists in its final session and about 29 farmer delegates quietly left the hall.

There was no open bolt but W. J. Taylor, of Nebraska said in the last speech for the farmers that inasmuch as the "communist steam roller is working he and his friends would quit the place." When the communists succeeded in ditching Senator Robert M. LaFollette as prospective presidential candidate, he and his comrades got up and walked out without a word of protest. The entire communist plan of domination of the convention was carried through. A program of selecting independent delegates was prepared for adoption. There was hardly a struggle against the communist machine. Only Taylor, a tall gray haired farmer with suspenders bared and without a collar as he took the rostrum against the majority. He defended LaFollette and told the convention that the farmers of the nation would not follow if the convention slaps LaFollette in the face.

He walked up and down the platform snapping his suspenders and decrying the "communist steam roller." "When you attack Bob LaFollette, you attack yourselves," he told them.

The farmers of this nation have more confidence in LaFollette than they have in communism. Stick by LaFollette." But the convention blazed him and voted to adopt the majority report of the nominations committee which permitted the communists through the third party to put into the field an independent set of presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

The farmers' representatives had wanted to endorse LaFollette if he decided to run. The communists were resentful against LaFollette for his recent denunciation of them and their convention. They openly denounced him from the stage.

The fireworks started in the morning when Delegate Mill of California hinted at a revolt against the communist rule. The convention was immediately adjourned without a vote by Chairman Taylor of Montana, to enable the fighting forces to get together. But developments in the afternoon split the forces again and resulted in the final break.

The convention took up a collection of $702.89 to pay rent of the hall and expenses of launching the new party.

Had Dieted 16 Years

"What the newspapers have said about Karak is not half good enough. The medicine has freed me of sixteen years suffering and I would not be without it if it cost twenty-five dollars a bottle."

This is the emphatic way in which Mr. George Magnus, 205 1/2 North First St., San Antonio, expresses his opinion of the sensational new medicine which is causing such widespread comment throughout the country.

"When I began taking Karak," continued Mr. Magnus, "I had been on a diet for sixteen years, so you can realize what the medicine has done for me when I say that I now eat as I please, never have a particle of trouble afterward, and have gained eleven pounds in weight."

"I suppose I had as had a case of chronic trouble and all run-down condition as any man in Texas. I could not eat even the lightest kind of food without suffering for hours with gas, biliousness and indigestion. I finally fell off to only 150 pounds and got so weak I would actually stagger when I walked. I hardly knew what a good night's sleep was and would get up every morning with pain and nervousness all through my body and my back so stiff I could hardly straighten up. That it's a different story with Karak, I had those heavy ropes feel fine and strong in every way. If anybody wants to know about Karak, send them to me. It is as different from other medicines as night is from day.

COTTON CLASSING SCHOOL

Always keeping fully abreast of the times, the Bowie Commercial College, has arranged with one of the best recognized Cotton Classers in Texas to conduct its cotton classing school, beginning Tuesday, July 1, and lasting four to six weeks.

Every farmer who raises cotton; every gin man; and every person who handles cotton in any way should know how to class it correctly. If all the cotton raised in Texas in one year were made into one huge mattress, every person in the world could take a nap on it at the same time, still how few people know how to class cotton. The demand for expert cotton men and women is growing greater all the time and doubtless at this time while the cotton mills of the New England states are moving to Texas.

The student will not only be taught classing, but will be thoroughly instructed in listing, invoice-

Arkansas Lady Says Mother Gave Her Cardui and She Had No More Trouble of This Kind.

Lamar, Ark.—Mrs. Edith Seeman, here, recently made the following statement describing her experience in the use of Cardui:

"I had pain in my back and sides; had sick headaches and my nose would bleed. I couldn't sit up at all.

"My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle and at this . . . I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking two bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, my skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a week, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

POSTAL WORKERS WALK OUT IN CANADA

OTTAWA, June 19.—Two hours after the walkout became effective the strike of Canadian postal employees showed signs of weakening though half the strikers still are out and the situation remains serious.

From Montreal, it is reported that many of the strikers have returned to work while places of those who refused to resume have been filled with new workers. In Toronto, the strikers have endorsed the proposal of their leaders that the strike executives and the government get together in an effort to effect an immediate end to the strike which will be disastrous to the dominion if it continues. Business already is demoralized and the alarming proportions of the situation are becoming apparent throughout the country.

In several larger cities, more than half the strikers are reported to be back at their desks. A protest against the use of war veterans as strike breakers has been lodged with the government.

Immediate reports received from cities of Ontario, Quebec, and other provinces, said business was already dislocated and the government is faced with a serious situation.

Minister of Labor Murdock announced that he would not deal with the leaders "who have taken the law into their own hands." The strike leaders reply that they put the issue up to the government and that the latter failed to act, bringing the strike on their own shoulders.

As a result of the strike of the postal workers, telegraph companies are swamped with messages. The strike is affecting all mail clerks, carriers and other mail workers.

The honorable James Murdock minister of labor, replied to the government with a bitter statement in which he declared that the men might wait "until hell freezes over before their demands would be met."

Mail is accumulating throughout the dominion and officials are attempting to stem the avalanche of posted matter by warning the public that facilities to handle it are crippled and by requesting that as few attempts as possible be made to utilize the mails.

Postmasters have been circled with messages from Ottawa urging them to exert themselves and such of their staffs as may remain to effect the delivery of first class mail.

The Canadian postoffice system had already been hamstrung by a preliminary strike of postal workers in the dominion's three largest cities which began Wednesday. With these distributing points idle, disorganization was almost complete and Thursday's general defection is expected to lay out the entire service. Mail from the United States practically had ceased to be delivered before the general strike order became operative. Canada does more business with the United States than with any other country and the demoralizing effect would be vast and the cost tremendous.

M'ADOO STUMPS TAMMANY HALL WEDNESDAY

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (UN Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 18.—Declaring that the democratic party must be progressive, W. G. McAdoo entered the hall of Tammany Wednesday to direct his fight for the nomination in person.

Greeted at the station by a huge throng which packed the great waiting room, McAdoo climbed up on a small wooden box and made a short stump speech. He insisted that there was no room for two reactionary parties and that the only chance of democratic success is in championing progressive principles. As the leaders of the party gathered here, it becomes increasingly apparent that the chief objective of the Tammany-Taggart-Brennan combination is to kill off McAdoo with Al Smith. Once McAdoo is stopped the combination will open consideration whether it is possible to put Smith over and if not who should be the favored dark horse.

McAdoo strategists are canvassing the convention delegates preparatory to a test fight against the two-thirds rule. If McAdoo can throw it overboard, his chances of winning the nomination would be good. He insisted he can win with two-thirds, but there is considerable skepticism as to this claim.

George Brennan, the Illinois boss arrived Wednesday, a few hours ahead of McAdoo. He will join the Smith forces. Together they will concentrate for the present on preventing McAdoo from getting control of the rules committee which will be the first battle ground of the two-thirds rule war.

Talk of the plan, the wet and dry issue, and even that of candidacies was subordinated Wednesday to discussion of whether the convention will upset its traditional two-thirds requirement. There was a Rooseveltian tang about McAdoo's spectacular arrival. New York is regarded as a hostile territory, but McAdoo's friends packed the big railroad station and sent roars of cheers through the waiting room as the candidate plowed his way through the dense throng with the aid of a cordon of strapping policemen. He arrived at 3:30 p. m. and was met by his manager, David Ladd Rockwell, and a group of McAdoo lieutenants all wearing hat bands inscribed "McAdoo."

McAdoo came out of his ear leading his little daughter, Mary Faith, by the hand. Mrs. McAdoo wearing mourning for her late father, Woodrow Wilson, followed leading Ellen, the other small daughter. The crowd pressed so close that McAdoo lifted Mary Faith and the child wearing a perky little blue bonnet, looked out calmly over the throng as the roar along on the shoulders of her daddy.

Ellen and her mother were nearly trampled in the jam. Only rough work by the police held the crowd back. As McAdoo reached the center of the waiting room, the crowd began to call for a speech. A porter brought a small box which resembled a soap box, and McAdoo climbed on this—first sending the two children outside to escape the crowd.

"I want to thank you for this wonderful welcome to our old home," McAdoo said. "We live in California now but we will never lose our love for our former home. I take this demonstration not so much as personal to me as evidence of your interest in patriotic citizens in the issues of this momentous campaign. This campaign must not be fought out on personalities but must be wholly confined to general principles.

"We have got to equal opportunity for all again and special privilege no more to anyone. Never has this issue been so vital and the people so determined that those guilty of betrayal of the public trust be driven out of office."

Here a group of photographers broke through the police cordon and asked McAdoo to hold still for a moment.

"This is a two-ring circus—posing for pictures and making a speech at the same time," he said with a laugh.

Resuming his speech McAdoo said: "If the democratic party is true to its principles there inevitably will be a great victory in 1924. If it fails to seize this great opportunity it deserves defeat and it will get it. There isn't room in this country for two reactionary parties. We have one—a fine reactionary boss-controlled party—the republican party. We must oppose it with progressive, organized democracy."

Hundreds broke through the police ring to shake hands with McAdoo and only heroic efforts by the police, assisted by several of the McAdoo staff, saved the candidate and Mrs. McAdoo from badly squeezed.

Both smiled helplessly as the police fought back the crowd and jammed a path through to the station entrance where a waiting band of 15 automobiles were waiting. Falling in behind an escort of mounted and motorcycle police the McAdoo procession decorated with banners, moved cross-town through well lined streets to the Vanderbilt Hotel where campaign headquarters have been established. Here another great crowd was waiting to give a demonstration.

Sharply in contrast to this spectacular entry, George E. Brennan, Illinois leader and keystone of the anti-McAdoo, slipped silently into town. Only a couple of political lieutenants met him and he hurriedly retreated into his room locking himself in for the long grind of conferences.

As usual he refused to talk.

MUSIC TRAINING OFFERED AT CANYON

CANYON, Texas, June 19.—The Department of Music of the West Texas State Teachers' College has been designated by the State board of regents for training in music. This means that this college will give the most comprehensive courses in music that are offered in the state. It comes as recognition of the leadership in music which this school has held among the Teachers' Colleges for the past five years.

Wallace R. Clark, head of the department states that this recognition coming from the board of regents will mean that the music department of the Canyon College will be much more adequately supported than ever before.

The department has had no opportunity to grow during the past three years, because of lack of room and equipment; this condition will now be remedied, and the music faculty which now numbers five men and women, will be increased to meet the needs.

The training of teachers for public school music is an important task at the present time, as all teachers of music in the public schools of Texas must be certified after 1925. Heretofore many teachers with poor general education and scant knowledge of the teaching of music, have taught in the public schools. The new law seeks to put the teaching of music on as firm a foundation as the teaching of reading or writing or history.

The West Texas State Teachers' College will try to have the greatest possible number of really trained teachers ready to take their places when the new law goes into effect in 1925.

W. C. Henleys and family, of Greenville, are here visiting his sister, Mrs. Bennett Slagle of the Avalanche. They are accompanied by C. F. Litton and family, and will spend some time on the Plains. Mr. Henleys expressed himself as being highly pleased with Lubbock and especially is he pleased with the ideal climate of this section. "It is true that it is hot enough here in the day time, but these cool nights are great," Mr. Henleys said.

OFFERED DOPE TO THE WRONG MAN NOW IN JAIL

DALLAS, Texas, June 19.—Giving their names as Mrs. L. C. Mills and Clara Green, two women broke into jail here after offering "dope" to jail officials. They first offered the "dope" to Hillard Brito, who refused and referred them to Hal Hood, deputy sheriff.

"Sure," said Hood. "Where is it?" One of the women produced a box containing six grains of morphine, and the other brought forth a needle, melting spoon and the rest of the paraphernalia.

When the women found out Hood was a deputy sheriff, they walked back to jail—as if they had that habit too.

They are being held for federal authorities.

WILD PLUMS CAUSE DEATH OF 16 MONTHS OLD CHILD

GAPELAND, Texas, June 19.—Wild plums are believed to have caused the death of 16-months old Prudie Verne, here, who died from a severe attack of stomach disorders. Two children in the Verne family who partook of the plums have been near death for several days but have a fighting chance for recovery although death from such a source is often lingering, physicians explained.

HORSES ARE USED BY POLICEMEN OF HOUSTON

By United Press HOUSTON, June 19.—Perhaps you've wondered why some policemen are mounted on horses instead of motorcycles in this mechanical age. "How are they going to rope a heifer from a motorcycle," asks Chief of Police Goodson if you voice your query to him. Officers mounted on horses here handle all stock calls. They "arrest" strayed cattle. But their jurisdiction extends to human beings just the same. Only they don't have to rope them—that is, most of the time they don't.
