NO END IN SIGHT

Then leaders began to see that until something was done, the convention might sit all summer and still fail to select a nominee.

RALSTON COMPROMISE PROBABLE

The general belief in the convention is that the most likely compromise is Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.

OHIO WAS READY TO THROW 48 VOTES TO HIM TODAY

Mississippi is ready to vote for Ralston as is Oklahoma and there are scattering ballots elsewhere for him.

UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WOLDORF ASTORIA HOTEL, NEW YORK, July 5.—After 77 futile ballots during which Wm. G. McAdoo, and Governor Al Smith remained in hopeless deadlock, the convention late today adopted a resolution looking toward the selection of a compromise nominee.

The vote of the three leading candidates on the 77th ballot was: McAdoo 513, Smith 367, Davis 76.5.

By FRAZER EDWARDS (UP Staff Correspondent) UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WOLDORF ASTORIA HOTEL, July 6.—The peace conference of two score of democratic leaders, seeking to break the deadlock between W. G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith, broke up early this morning after a hot session.

Most of the four hours of the session was consumed by speeches by W. J. Bryan, Geo. Brennan and Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, and the claims of Al Smith and McAdoo managers.

It was evident at the end of the conference that no compromise could be worked out with the Smith and McAdoo forces present and a meeting of the representatives of the other 14 candidates before the convention was called for 1 o'clock today.

At this meeting leaders hoped to find a way out of the impasse and to report back a recommendation to the full committee of representative meeting with Chairman Cordell Hull and Senator Walsh.

Judge Rockwell left the conference with the confident prediction that McAdoo would be nominated on Monday when the convention reconvenes.

There were fights and arguments on the floor between him and anti-Klan delegates. The clerk called the roll after roll, and there was no appreciable change in the vote.

Then leaders began to see that until something was done, the convention might sit all summer and still fail to select a nominee.

The election was in November, it was recalled, and a candidate is necessary before that time.

Tom Taggart of Indiana, leaped into the breach. He called Cordell Hull, chairman of the National committee from the platform.

Ralston compromise probable. The general belief in the convention is that the most likely compromise is Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.

An official statement will be issued later from the white house. President Coolidge went to the hospital tonight after dining at the white house for the expressed purpose of being at the bedside when his youngest child goes under the knife.

The operation may mean life or death for young Calvin as the extreme gravity of his condition is admitted. The mother will remain at the bedside of her son throughout the night.

The ban still is in force on official announcements and formal bulletins regarding young Calvin's condition, but tonight's operation is expected definitely to decide the question whether he will live or not.

On Calvin's own vitality and resistance to the poisons that are creeping into his blood streams, from the infected blister on his foot, the doctors are staking their main hopes.

WEATHER WEST TEXAS—Sunday and Monday pass cloudy, warmer in north portion.

ACTION OF IRATE SPORT WRITERS AT THE SUSPENSION OF BOB MUESEL AFTER RIOT UNFOUNDED, SAYS GETTY

By FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 5.—The New York sport writers have been shedding bitter tears because President Johnson of the American League plastered a $100 fine and 10 days' suspension on Outfielder Bob Muesel, while he gave Cole, the Detroit pitcher a small fine for pulling the Detroit riot.

They felt very deeply grieved that "Big Dan" hadn't suspended the entire Detroit team or expelled Detroit from the league. Their bitter laments, however, were over Johnson's failure to inflict some punishment on Ty Cobb, Tiger leader.

Their demands for Cobbs' punishment were based on the somewhat feeble claim that Cobb had given his pitchers orders to "dust off" opposing batters and that Cole hit

Muesel in an effort to drive him from the plate. The general attitude was that the Yanks are God's anointed and therefore are sacred. The charge against Cobb rests largely on the unsupported word of Ehmske, former Tiger pitcher now with Boston. And at that, Ehmske never allowed himself to be quoted to that effect but is has been generally circulated in American League circles that Ehmske "is said to have told the story of his new playmates."

But that is just how thin the charge against Cobb is. Cobb's admitted a hotheaded southerner, but no one who knows him well will believe for a minute that he would give orders that might result in the serious injury of a fellow ball player. That New York sport writers allow themselves to be influenced by such unproven reports is astonishing to fair-minded critics of the game.

Come to think of it, the only cases of serious injury to batsmen by thrown balls from the box in recent years in the majors have been where New York pitchers were doing the hurling. Carl Mays killed Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, on a New York diamond. Mays, now with the Cincinnati Reds, was then a Yank. In their wildest moments of anger, the Cleveland scribes never laid the blame on Miller Huggins, Pfeffer, then with Brooklyn, hit "Chick" Frewster with a thrown ball several years ago in a practice game and put Frewster out of the Yank lineup for a year and probably prevented him for all time becoming the star he should have been. Did anyone even make charges against Manager Robinson of Brooklyn? They did not.

General opinion in baseball circles, outside of the fanatical Yank fans and writers, is that Muesel didn't get half that was coming to him. He deliberately started the riot which he knew would result in his attack on Cole before a hostile Detroit crowd. He was supported by Ruth, who attempted to get into the fighting game, making it two to one against Cole, who, at fighting weight, would be easy meat for either Muesel or Ruth.

Muesel is a man of some intelligence, and if the riot day was one of his thinking days, he must have known that he was starting something he couldn't finish.

The game was forfeited to the Yanks because it would have been impossible to clear the Detroit grounds after Muesel's unwarranted attack with anything short of a riot gun battery. In this case the Yanks had a comfortable lead and the forfeited game did not affect the result, but it called attention to the weakness of the forfeited game rule. It is evidently possible for a pugacious ball player, with his team behind, on a foreign field, to start a riot as Muesel did at Detroit and have the game forfeited to the team that is losing. The rule should be amended, giving the umpires power in a case of a deliberately incited riot, to punish the team as well as individual offenders.

The Greater New York teams have been allowed to get away with a lot, because the money taken in the New York game keeps many a team offits uppers, but some limit should be set.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM FOR THE SEASON SHOWN AT SEMINOLE
SEMINOLE, Texas, July 5.—The first cotton bloom of the season was being exhibited on the street today by W. B. Austin. He stated that he had 50 acres just beginning to bloom, and that the recent good rains would insure him a crop of one-half bale to the acre. This is about as early as we have cotton blooms in Gaines county, and this county now has the prospect for the largest cotton crop in its history, despite the fact that much of the new land that was broken out late failed to come to a stand. The recent good rains over most of the county will insure a good feed crop.

Some write long letters home about the fun they are having, while those having the fun have no time to write.

COMPROMISE NOMINATION PROBABLE

fusal to withdraw. If a compromise is to be agreed upon there is no doubt but that Taggart holds the choice place.

Veto Power is Shown.
After the 77th ballot had been cast today both McAdoo and Smith had shown a veto power in the convention. On the final ballot today Smith polled 367 votes which is one-third of the total strength in the convention. And with this one-third Smith could block the nomination of any other candidate. With this situation confronting them, the conferees face a tremendous task in their sessions over the week end. There is little doubt in minds of neutral delegates that both McAdoo and Smith must be eliminated. As matters stand, however, neither is ready to step aside.

Governor Smith tonight emphatically denied that he had suggested he would withdraw if McAdoo would at the same time.

Judge Rockwell, McAdoo's manager, at the same time declared, it was ludicrous to suggest that the leading candidate retire.

The Smith forces are expected to make a bitter fight to break the unit rule holding many delegates. They declare there are at least 100 Smith votes if the convention that have not been cast for "A" because they are tied up in delegations bound by the unit rule.

Those who met this afternoon and decided upon the adjournment until Monday and on tonight's and Sunday's conference are: Tom Taggart, Senator Swanson, Senator Pat Harrison, Senator Caraway, Senator Bayard, of Delaware, Cordell Hull, Senator Tom Walsh, George Brennan, Bruce Kremer and Judge Rockwell. Rockwell and J. Bruce Kremer will be McAdoo's two representatives at tonight's conference. When Tom Taggart walked out on the speakers platform and presented his resolution late this afternoon the convention had taken 77 futile ballots, each showing only that neither candidate under existing conditions could command a two-thirds majority.

Various measures were tried to break the deadlock without result. Two resolutions were introduced to have the low man on each ballot automatically eliminated. These were voted down by a viva voce vote. Then A. H. Ferguson of Oklahoma, got in with a resolution to adjourn after which for a minute looked as if it might cause real trouble. He moved the convention adjourn to reassemble at Kansas City July 21.

After this horseplay was disposed of, there was one more attempt—a resolution by Congressman Thomas H. Ball of Texas—to suspend the rules and effect a nomination by first eliminating the lowest candidate after each ballot and then, if none received a two-thirds majority lift the unit rule and let a majority determine the nominee. This, however, also was drowned out.

Representatives for the candidates began to assemble at 8:30 o'clock.

Senator Walsh, Montana, permanent chairman of the meeting was late. He dashed in bundled up in an overcoat but still wearing his soiled white flannel trousers. The battle opened immediately. Several managers objected to the presence of more than one representative for each candidate. Before that wrangle could be brought to a close, some one injected the question of women representatives to pick the democratic nominee.

Tom Taggart sought to meet that issue. He stepped outside and told three score of waiting newspaper men that if no woman attended the conference, it was because no candidate had seen fit to select a woman to win over the warring managers to his side.

PRESIDENT OF A. & M. ASKS FOR AN APPROPRIATION

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., July 5.—The budget of appropriations requested by President W. B. Bizzell for the A. & M. College and its three branch institutions for the next biennium beginning September 1, 1925, has been submitted to the Board of Control.

"Needless to say, the estimates for the next two years are larger than those for the biennium that ends on August 3 of this year," President Bizzell said. "The senior institution and its junior branches have all shown an increased attendance the past year. The problem of maintaining high standards of instruction and providing adequate facilities on relatively decreased appropriations has presented a problem that the general public does not understand. It is inconceivable to me that this group of institutions can go through another two years without greatly increased facilities. It will be recalled that the state has not provided a building program for our educational institutions for four years. Our building program is practically the same as that which has been submitted to the Board of Control and to the Legislature for the last two bienniums, but the estimates for salaries and maintenance and support are necessarily larger than they have been before."

"That making of appropriations in lump sums for maintenance, salaries, permanent improvement and repairs enabled the institution to operate on an amount that would have been totally inadequate under the old plan of itemized budgets and to finance itself through the year without calling upon the governor for deficiencies, a practice that has been necessary in past years," President Bizzell said.

EIGHTH OLYMPIC CONTEST FORMALLY OPENED

COLORS OF 44 NATIONS DISPLAYED IN SALUTE PLEDGING CLEAN SPORT AND FAIR PLAY DURING CONTESTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(UP Staff Correspondent)
COLUMBUS STADIUM, PARIS, July 5. (UP)—Colors of 44 nations displayed in salute, pledged standard bearers to clean sport and fair play at the eighth Olympic games of modern times were officially opened today.

Thousands of pigeons, a symbol of the friendly competition that brings former enemy states together were released at 4 o'clock as president Doumergue of France concluded his address and declared the games open.

Fifteen thousand spectators were lost in the great sweep of the Columbus stadium built to accommodate 60,000. Those 15,000 taxed the strength of the ushers and gendarmes, however, the combination of unfamiliar stands and a score of equally unfamiliar languages making the task of sorting out spectators a difficult one.

Celebrities of all nations were scattered through the stadium. Storms of cheers greeted President Doumergue, who was accompanied by the British Princess Wales and Henry. Equally stormy cheers greeted Douglas Fairbank and Mary Pickford.

The parade of the nations started shortly after 3 o'clock. One after the other each of the 44 groups filed past the president's box, each contingent except Brazil dipping its colors as it passed. The Brazilians, in obedience to their constitution refused to dip their colors, but raised them higher as they passed the box in honor of the occasion.

America's group was the largest, its young men and women making up a veritable army. Even their Former United States Supreme Court Justice John H. Clarke, in a speech in New York, declared that unless some substitute was speedily found for the social order of the United States, its religion and its civilization would be destroyed.

Lubbock Morning Avalanche

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

One of the Abstractors of Lubbock, was extolling the beauties and opportunities of the south plains to a prospector a few days since in my presence, and he referred to a section of land located in the south west corner of Lubbock county which was purchased from the state of Texas by Jesse Dalton and later of boots, which transaction was consummated about twenty four years ago, and that the land had increased in value more than two dollars per acre each year as its value at this time was conservatively estimated at fifty dollars per acre.

In this connection I recalled an incident which happened on March 12, 1900. In the south-west part of the county among the settlers were a Rev. S. M. Lane, who had purchased six hundred and forty acres from the state at one dollar an acre, and made his application to purchase an additional section at the same price, but his application to purchase had been rejected for the reason that his application was for one dollar per acre and the state wanted one dollar and fifty cents per acre. Mr. Lane had been waiting for the commissioners court to meet in regular session at which time he expected to have the court recommend to the commissioner of the land office that it be sold at one dollar per acre.

However, while he was waiting, a man by the name of K. Green from Haskell county, visited some relatives in this community and learned that the tract of land was on the market at one dollar and fifty cents an acre. He at once decided to buy it. He drove his wagon which contained all of his household goods and his family on this land, about sunrise, Saturday morning, March 12, 1900, to establish his settlement and to publish to the world his intentions of making it his home as required by law.

This particular tract adjoined the one already purchased by Mr. Lane. When Lane arose on this frosty, crisp, chilly March morning, he observed a settler in the process of establishing his permanent residence on his additional section of land which he was holding by right of covery.

Immediately Mr. Lane saddled his swiftest horse and left in haste for Lubbock, passing near the two horse wagon owned and occupied by Mr. Green and his family. Green suspected his intentions and immediately unharnessed one of his horses which was hitched to the wagon, leaving the remaining one standing by the wagon tongue, with his traces hooked and the family in the wagon. He quickly saddled his horse and left at once for Lubbock at almost full speed.

Mr. Lane occasionally looked back and he noticed that his competitor and to be neighbor was pursuing him with all possible haste. The race continued, each rider getting all of the speed possible from his horse and to conserve his strength so that he would reach Lubbock safely. The race continued without incident until Lane reached the gate on what is now Avenue H, one half mile south of the court house, when Lane dismounted to open the gate, Green overtook him and they rode aside of each other to the court house, discussing each others rights in this section of land. Green wanted only three hundred and twenty acres while Lane wanted the entire six hundred and forty or none.

When they reached the court house Mr. Lane at once went to the County Clerks office and made his application to purchase the entire section at one dollar and fifty cents per acre. Green inquired for the writer and was informed that I had not come to my office, and after getting direction where I lived, he at once came to see me, and I recall that I had left my home and was on my way to my office, and had gone slightly off my accustomed road, and was talking to M. A. (Bud) Wood and others who were building a residence. He rode up and dismounted from his foaming, panting horse and inquired if J. J. Dillard was present and I replied in the affirmative, and he said: "I want to see you at your office," and I replied "I am at your service" and we proceeded to walk to my office. Shortly later we reached the office Lane came in and informed Green and myself that he had already made his application to buy this section. I recall that Green informed him he only wanted one half of this section. Lane persisted on buying all of it or none.

Lane offered to hire me to represent him in getting the land awarded by the commission of the Land office. I refused, saying that I had already agreed to secure the land if possible for Green. After they had quarreled for several minutes Lane left the office in a bad humor.

I at once prepared Green's application to purchase three hundred and twenty acres, being the west one half of section 36, block 20. I recall that Green only had about sufficient money to make his first payment which was one fortieth of four hundred and eighty dollars or the fabulous sum of twelve dollars. He asked me what I would charge him for my service and I informed him if the state sold him the land, that he would owe me ten dollars as I guaranteed to get the land for him or no pay. He offered me his watch as security and I refused. When we had prepared all the papers he went to the post office and secured a money order for twelve dollars payable to the State Treasurer. The first payment was sent by mail to the State Treasurer and the application to buy was mailed to the Land Commissioner. At that time we had a daily mail from Lubbock to Big Springs, except Sunday. Mr. Lane placed his application to purchase in the Lubbock post office on Saturday and on Monday morning it left by "mare back" for Austin, reaching Big Springs Tuesday evening arriving at Austin on Thursday following.

I suggested to Green that he would likely fail if we did not use some strategy and I suggested that he ride to plainview and mail his letters and gain one days time in reaching Austin, and to this he agreed.

I instructed him to get his horse which was hitched at the same rack as that of Lane's and to be sure to arrange for Lane to see him as he left, which he did, as Lane came out to where Green was and asked where he was going, and Green replied that he was going back to where he left his family and wagon. He left riding south to the gate one half mile south of the court house, and instead of continuing on south as stated to Lane he rode one half mile east to the southwest corner of the original town section, where there was another gate, which opened and rode north on the east side of the town section to the northeast corner, thence north toward Plainview. I had given him a letter addressed to Frank Bowles, who at that time lived just east of the present site of Monroe, instructed him to let Green have a fresh horse. The fresh horse was secured and Plainview fifty miles distant was reached in due time and his letter mailed. Sunday morning his letters left for Austin, leaving Amarillo the same day. Lane's letters left Lubbock. Green's application reached Austin and was filed one day earlier and the result was that Green secured the land.

Mr. Lane was much chagrined and threatened to "mop up" the earth with me, but later decided that I was a better man than he had at first thought and when he sold his land he paid me to go to his place as a Notary Public and prepare his deeds. Shortly Green sold and left also Lane.

FASHIONS CHANGE SWIFTLY

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of UP)
NEW YORK, N. Y., July 5, (UP)—Fashions, like gossip, travel fast. Daily newspapers are largely responsible for this, for today every city and most towns have their newspapers, fashion column, devoted to styles from Paris, Vienna, London, New York and all great fashion centers.
Styles change so quickly that it is only the woman who is a constant reader who manages to keep up with them. Time was when the woman living in the small town could be distinguished from her city sister but this isn't true today. Demand, budget supply and women readers of America demand their shopkeepers. One can find the same gowns in Gopher Prairie as one finds on Fifth Avenue, New York. It keeps the small town shopkeeper hopping to satisfy his trade.
American women are the best dressed women in the whole world and this is undisputed. While Paris is termed the fashion center of the world, one can travel one hour outside of Paris and find no resemblance of style. For this reason it is safe to state that America is the Fashion Center of the world. Ever little American village is a fashion center which duplicates the current styles of larger American cities. There are no poorly dressed communities in America due to intelligent women reading the daily newspapers.

Styles Changes
Sleeveless frocks which were worn for street wear last Summer will be replaced by frocks with the shoulder cap sleeve or the long sleeve. Women of refinement refuse to consider the sleeveless frock for other than evening wear. Even the little shoulder-cap sleeve, which, though comfortable, is slightly less vulgar for street wear than the sleeveless mode, is deemed in poor taste by better groomed women, except for country wear, sport wear, and afternoon wear under a short jacquette or capelet.
Very few women have lovely arms and the needless display of over-fleshy or over-slender arms last season has marked the doom of the sleeveless frock for street wear this year. Many of the most fashionable frocks both in silk and in cotton fabrics, feature the long-sleeve which reach to the wrist. Full pleated chiffon sleeves which terminate in a band at the wrist are cool and quite as effective as the sleeveless mode.
Three-quarter length sleeves are shown on many frocks, but these are best suited to the fleshy person. The woman who prefers the short sleeves for warm weather will choose the one which comes over the shoulder and for street wear she will have a soft scarf of matching material or of self-toned silk crepe or a small cape attachment which takes away the undesired appearance of the short-sleeved frock.

LOOKIN' PRETTY THESE SUMMER DAYS AND NIGHTS
By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the UP)
NEW YORK, N. Y., July 5.—Ostrich boss two yards and a half long are worn for evening occasions. These come in many colors and are particularly in pale pink, white, orchid, gray and peacock blue. They are worn with the evening wrap and for restaurant wear are worn about the shoulders after the wrap is removed.
Tulle scarfs of contrasting color from the dancing frock are popular for young girls. Pale colors are sponsored rather than vivid tones.
Marabou and ostrich feathers continue their popularity as Summer advances. Parasols are edged with willow plumes silk hand bags are trimmed in them, capes are collared and bordered with them.
Wide brim hats are returning to the ostrich trim for dressy occasions. Many of the recent weddings sponsor the bridesmaid hat of horse-hair braid, trimmed with a band of ostrich.
Nude hosiery has become popular in America and the better dressed women are wearing them only for evening occasions, preferring light gray, beige and gunmetal for street wear.
Necklaces of huge coral colored beads are worn for Summer with the lingerie frock. Crystals continue to be popular for evening wear.

occasional colored beads are popular as necklaces.
Cheap earrings are growing decidedly passé. Few earrings are being worn and there is a demand only for the better types which combine real stones with ornate settings of gold or platinum. Jade, crystal carnelian and lapis are worn for street wear while more costly gems are worn for formal occasions.
Shingled locks are not as popular in Paris as they have been. There are many women who are wearing ringlets instead of the straight boyish bob.
Short hair is still as popular as ever but curly locks are coming in again. The close-cropped back haircut is as popular as it ever was, but the ends of the hair are curled into ringlets.
Silk and felt hats are more popular than straws for sportswear. The typical sport dress is the straight-lined flannel one which is bound about the neck, armbands and border in white.
Plain pumps in patent leather, suede and satin are increasing in numbers daily. The more ornate models are being discarded in favor of the plainer shoe. Often there is a narrow binding of contrasting kid about the top of the pump and this is its sole trimming.
For dressy occasions, the ankle strap models are noticed occasionally.

Plans have been made for a number of Lubbock county voters to hear Senator Morris Sheppard speak here Monday afternoon in connection of his campaign for re-election. Senator Sheppard, who had been attending the democratic convention in New York, returned to Texas in time to open his campaign at Marlin on the 4th.
He will make a tour of the state, coming here from Plainview.
B. O. McWhorter, was among the local Elks to spend the 4th in Plainview. He reports having enjoyed the day and commended the fine spirit of hospitality that was exhibited by the citizenship of Plainview toward all local Elks who attended the Sports Day events.

Cheap earrings are growing decidedly passé. Few earrings are being worn and there is a demand only for the better types which combine real stones with ornate settings of gold or platinum. Jade, crystal carnelian and lapis are worn for street wear while more costly gems are worn for formal occasions.
Shingled locks are not as popular in Paris as they have been. There are many women who are wearing ringlets instead of the straight boyish bob.
Short hair is still as popular as ever but curly locks are coming in again. The close-cropped back haircut is as popular as it ever was, but the ends of the hair are curled into ringlets.
Silk and felt hats are more popular than straws for sportswear. The typical sport dress is the straight-lined flannel one which is bound about the neck, armbands and border in white.
Plain pumps in patent leather, suede and satin are increasing in numbers daily. The more ornate models are being discarded in favor of the plainer shoe. Often there is a narrow binding of contrasting kid about the top of the pump and this is its sole trimming.
For dressy occasions, the ankle strap models are noticed occasionally.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

By W. M. PEVEHOUSE

A plan is being initiated, whereby worthy boys and girls who are not financially able to attend Lubbock high school from the surrounding rural districts, to enable them to obtain work in or about the house of some family of the town, in exchange for board and lodging. In many cases, this will not only delight and favor the child, but someone needing excellent help about the chores of the place, may find same in this boy or girl. These boys and girls who so much desire to be able to attend the high school, but who for unavoidable reasons, will be denied the opportunity, are in most all cases, of the very best type of children, from many standpoints. First, they are educationally inclined and therefore, are the associations that the usual parent likes to have around the home. Second, they are industrious, or they would not be willing to work and sacrifice to be afforded this coveted opportunity, thus they set an example to all whom they meet, as being a pupil of ambition. Many times, some student like this, is a beckoning light to some other boy or girl, drawing on to higher planes of thought and living. We want no trash around in the way. Clean minded and moral spoken must be the motto. Third, these boys and girls come from the very best of the rural communities, and are therefore inductive to better relations existing between town and farm. Our future hope of civilization comes not only from the cities, but from the farms also. Shall a boy be denied the benefits of a high school education, just because his lot happens to be cast in a rural community where the high school facilities are not so easily to be had as in town? The answer should be no. The problem on hand, is, how best to extend aid to these ambitious girls and boys, that they may be able to attend school. I know of two girls who are the very picture of health. They are model pupils. Their character is above reproach. Conduct in and out of school is 100 per cent good. Scholarship is of the first class as far as the small school is concerned. Sisters, they are, and they would like so much to have a place to stay in some good home in Lubbock, where they may be permitted to help the lady with her work as they have always helped their own mother at home, and thereby be financially able to attend school. Worthy ambition. Who will answer the call?

The County Board of Education members have been discussing this and desire very much that Lubbock city people offer homes to these boys and girls wherever possible. The county superintendent is very glad to be able to be in good health and living under normal conditions, since the imaginary death and miraculous escape, rumored last Saturday. All of which is positive proof that people are prone to believe most anything that is sensational. An idle joke or pun can be spoken and a rumor is spread. I hope very much always to enjoy the fullness of life to such extent that I can say in the words of the great apostle, "I have fought the good fight; I have kept the faith; I have finished my course; henceforth is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." Teachers or pupils desiring to take examinations for certificates, will be allowed opportunity July 11 and 12.

Lindsey Theatre MONDAY-TUESDAY

The Golden Lure Of Strange Guests

—that's Paris! slaves of desire for love, for money, for title, for youth, for fame, for pleasure, for wine, for conquest. Balzac knew his Paris and penned this immortal story, which has been brought to the screen with a great cast, from the hearts of men and women.

CONSTRUCTION WORK TO BEGIN ON NEW LINDSEY

W. M. Rice, well known contractor and builder of the Citizens National Bank building of this city as well as some of the finest public buildings in the West, secured the contract for the construction of the new Lindsey Theatre building which will be erected just across the street from the present theatre of the same name.

This building, when completed, will be one of the most modern theatre buildings west of Fort Worth. The plans and specifications were drawn and made with a view of giving Lubbock the very finest from an architectural standpoint. Part of the building will be used for offices. Other plans, together with the architect's sketch will be published at an early date in this paper.

Work is already under way. The excavation for the basement has been completed and the foundation is now being laid.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Wagner, Miss Pearl Carlisle, of Crosbyton, Miss Mabel Marsh and Dr. Nunn, were guests at a chicken barbecue Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Shaw.

ACCIDENTS ARE FEWER AFTER SAFETY INSTRUCTION

That safety education actually reduces accidents is indicated by a recent statement of the National Safety Council, which gives figures for three large cities. Fatal accidents to Washington children were 30 fewer in 1923 than in 1922, a reduction of 47 per cent. Cleveland had 21 fewer such accidents in spite of an increase of 3 per cent in population and 21 per cent increase in the number of motor vehicles. Baltimore reports 12 for the first two months of 1924 as against 22 for the same period in 1923. Similar results have been obtained in other cities where safety instructions are given.

COLLEGE CAMPAIGN FOR INCREASING LEGUME YIELD

In an endeavor to boost the crop yield of legumes, the Kansas State Agricultural College will send out a motor caravan known as the "Legume and Prosperity Special," carrying exhibits and a corps of speakers. One-day outdoor meetings will be held in each county. Lectures by heads of departments will be given on correct rotations and soil improvement practices, utilization of legumes by dairy cattle, and the value of legumes in livestock feeding. An attendance of 1,000 farmers is expected in each county during the nine day tour, July 8 to 17.

BOTANY TAUGHT PRACTICALLY TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Classes in outdoor garden work at Brooklyn Botanic Garden are attended by boys and girls from all parts of the city. Lessons are given on the uses and on care of the different garden tools and on the correct methods of planting the seed. Instruction is also given in the characteristics of the different seeds and of the flowers or vegetables into which they grow. Children are taught how to raise tomatoes, celery, eggplant, and other vegetables which require transplanting. The plants are later set out in individual gardens. The classes are conducted in a greenhouse.

HOME EDUCATION

JOHNNY AND THE COMPANY Irene Avery Judson

Company was coming. The atmosphere of Johnny's home was tense; the very shininess of woodwork and furniture, the forbidding spick-spanness of every room, even to the nursery, caused the tired eyes of Johnny's mother to glow with satisfaction and the round orbs of Johnny to over-cloud with gloom. Two busy days of preparation had brought the heavy droop to the shoulders of the mother, who little realized how many irritable words had been thoughtlessly, impatiently directed to the defenseless laddie. And now when all was ready and the guests were due, the fresh, crisp lines that gave Johnny such a smartly starched appearance merely heightened the uneasiness that filled the boy's heart.

The company arrived and there was a flood of warm embraces; the strain, alas! was very hard on Johnny.

Then the long anticipated visiting began, and who could wonder that the general relaxation caused all the pent-up steam in Johnny to burst forth, most shockingly? The laddie's mother, near distraction, thought not of the reason for it, but remembered only how fatigued she was from much unnecessary work. Too weary to think calmly, she punished him—it little matters how—before the strange, onlooking crowd.

Terrible humiliation bore down upon Johnny, and caused the fair young head to droop with shame. The world was black indeed, filled with harsh indifference, and the cruel people in it smited behind their hands! O, if he had just been punished where they could not see—those eyes now so amused at his distress! Then he and his mother might have kept it all a secret. He need not have lost his boyish self-respect.

Yes, if she had but thought a moment, and given him a chance to quiet that excited little mind in the seclusion of his room, later to come forth from there rested, self-controlled, then he could have met their faces with a frank boyish purpose to disturb no longer. That would have spelled a victory for Johnny. But as it was, in silent mortification, he slunk away from everyone, and the memory of that day was never bright.

Bruise not the stem of the flower, O Mother! Let it lift its face less frankly to the light.

DODGE BROTHERS POLICY EFFECTS SUBSTANTIAL SAVINGS FOR USERS

It is quite evident from the comments of buyers, according to Walter Royalty, manager of the Royalty Motor Co., Dodge Brothers dealers, that the public appreciates the significance of Dodge Brothers policy of making constant improvements in their motor cars instead of changing models every year. Magazines, newspapers and bulletins boards everywhere are reminding the people this month that this policy continues to prevail and that they may buy Dodge Brothers cars without fear of seeing a new and entirely different model put on the market soon after they take possession of the present type car. "Coming just at this time," said Mr. Royalty, "when many manufacturers are preparing to issue new models, in keeping with their annual custom this advertisement is having a striking effect. It serves as a wholesome reassurance to prospective buyers. They dislike the idea of buying a car today and finding a month or so later that it is an obsolete model. And it is only natural that they should. The depreciation loss is out of proportion for a few months' use. Moreover, most people like to be up-to-date in their motor equipment and if they wish to follow their desire in this respect they must accept this sharp depreciation loss. "Dodge Brothers Motor Car owners who buy new cars every year—and there are many of them—have a big advantage here. A one-year-old Dodge Brothers car is modern in appearance and mechanical design. That fact is conceded by everyone. Equally important to its resale value, however, is the fact that it is substantially the same car that Dodge Brothers will manufacture a year later. In other words, there is no danger that this one-year-old car will suffer an undue depreciation loss simply because an entirely different model is about to make its appearance. We charge off only for the normal rate of depreciation for one year. And the used car buyer in turn appreciates the fact that the price represents full value and that he can buy the car with full assurance of many years of satisfactory service.

MOVE TO HALT LIQUOR FLOW OPENED

FORT WORTH, July 5.—According to the best information obtainable through the Star Telegram Federal prohibition agents in Texas Thursday moved to check the flow of whiskey through drug stores in eight cities of the state including Fort Worth.

Fifty drug stores in these cities have been notified to show cause why their whiskey allowance should not be reduced. The notices were sent from Austin Thursday by Federal Prohibition Director Frank Cole. Approved in Washington. The move which has the sanction of prohibition officials at Washington is the first of its kind so far made in the country, and according to Cole, it is to be made statewide in its scope. Dallas, Waco, Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Palestine and Waxahatchie are the other cities in which the first drive will be directed. To Judge James C. Wilson of the Federal District Court goes the credit for the institution of this movement. Prohibition officials several months ago reduced the whiskey allowance of a certain Fort Worth drug store, and the proprietor sought relief from the ruling in court. One of his principal arguments was that other stores in Fort Worth were permitted to sell larger amounts and that the curtailment of his allowance was driving business from his store. Thought Permits High. Judge Wilson in denying the relief asked, stated that he thought one drug store should be permitted to sell as much whiskey as another but stated that he would not grant the application because he felt that the permits of all stores in Fort Worth were too high. The suggestion also was made from the bench that prohibition officials take steps to equalize allowances as between drug stores

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE IN SOUTH CONTINUES WITH PROGRESS BEING REGISTERED ALONG ALL LINES

BALTIMORE, Md., July 4.—Continuance of business confidence was evident in the South last week, as indicated by construction and kindred announcements in the Manufacturers' Record. No spurt or "boom" was discerned in any line, but convincing progress on plans already laid and consideration of new projects of various kinds was manifest.

Of real significance is the wide movement for municipal, county or parish and state improvements, not only in good roads and bridges, but also in school houses and public buildings and other permanent features. Prosperity of the mass in the community unit, large or small, indicates prosperity of the individual components, and individual optimism is thus manifested in governmental projects. Real estate developments also point to good business in other lines, and give proof that the South is up-building in desirable population and in abodes for old residents and newcomers.

Plans for colonizing 3,600 acres of land in Arkansas have been undertaken by a company which will divide the area into 40-acre farms, to be improved with tenant houses and other necessary structures.

In Tampa, Fla., 100 acres are to be developed for residences within the city limits, and $125,000 will be spent for the construction of roads and streets and the introduction of gas, electricity, water and sewers.

On the banks of the Severn River, near Annapolis, Md., 60 bungalows and cottages have been ordered for erection and 140 others are contemplated. Stores and other conveniences also will be provided for residents of the new community.

Plans for the complete and modern equipment of a development on a large tract in South Richmond, Va., also are reported, and these few instances give some idea of the expansion under way in the South.

On business lines, a $20,000,000 enterprise has acquired links for a chain of bakeries in the South, the first investment in that section—running to $250,000 in North Carolina. Georgia and other states likewise are said to be allied for development by this concern.

Reports from Covington, Va., have it that a paper mill is to be established near that community and that 324 acres of land have been acquired for a plant which ultimately will represent an investment of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Another paper mill development is reported from Canton, N. C., where the Champion Fibre Co. will invest $70,000 in a finishing plant and machinery for a daily capacity of 100 tons of fine bond, book and other papers.

Delivery of presses and plow machines has enabled the Salem Flint Glass Co. to resume operations at its plant at Salem, W. Va., and the clay products plant at Owensboro, Ky., has finished construction of its new plant, which will increase its productiveness.

Among municipal enterprises reported is a new market for St. Louis to cost $1,200,000, and to include modern market equipment and a garage in the upper floors.

In the general progress of education, St. Joseph's Academy will erect a group of five buildings in St. Louis for Fontbonne College, and will expend $1,500,000 on this undertaking.

Steady and heavy development of power systems in the South is indicated in news from various sections, one of the announcements of the week being that the Columbus (Ga.) Electric & Power Co. has started work on a new $5,000,000 dam and plant at Bartlett's Ferry, on the Chattahoochee River.

The Virginian Power Company of Charleston, W. Va., proposes to construct a power line to cost $2,000,000 from Cabin Creek, W. Va., to Portsmouth, Ohio. This company also has invested about $3,500,000 more in purchase of the Portsmouth Service Co.

A company has been incorporated at San Antonio, Texas, for the purpose of acquiring a hydro-electric power site on the Guadalupe River near New Braunfels, while a combination hydro-electric and irrigation project is announced from Brownwood, Texas, for the construction of a $2,000,000 dam near that city.

Authority to issue $3,000,000 in bonds for the development of water power facilities in the vicinity of Tugaloo, Tallulah and Burton dams in Georgia has been sought of the Public Service Commission by the Georgia Railway & Power Co., as part of a plan for financing a development which is expected to run to $18,000,000 by the close of 1926.

Projects for good roads and bridges are reported from every corner of the South and the construction and maintenance of first-class highways is now generally regarded in this section in the nature of a profitable investment, rather than a mere expenditure without remuneration.

ANNUAL REPORT OF WORK OF THE BAPTIST LAYMEN

The following report has just been made to the church board by Mrs. T. J. Moore, secretary of the local Baptist Lay Society:

Number of services held, 48; gospel songs, 238; prayers offered, 117; contributions, 37; lives surrendered to missionary service, 3. We had no way of keeping a record on reclamations and rededications. Five services were held while the secretary was out of town and reports could not be secured. Withal the work has been very pleasant and the workers have been well awarded for their efforts.

TEXAS COTTON CONDITION IS FAVORABLE

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Crop and weather conditions in Southern States during the week ended yesterday were summarized today by the Department of Agriculture as follows:

The moderately warm weather with local showers favorably affected cotton in nearly all portions of the belt. While there was some interference with cultivation in hilly areas in the central and more eastern portions of the belt, conditions on the whole were favorable for field work and cultivation made good progress.

Cotton made very good growth in Texas and its general condition is fair, though insects are still active, but with small damage; first bale marketed at Houston on June 28. Progress and condition were very good in Oklahoma, the plants continued late, with some weevil reported in the southwest. Good to excellent advance where the insects are generally well controlled shows steady improvement. The dry, warm weather in Louisiana was helpful in combatting the weevil and those conditions also favored fair to very good growth.

Rice did well in Texas, but more rain is needed for this crop in Louisiana. Better weather prevailed for corn in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and generally in Atlantic Coast sections.

COMMUNITY SERVICE BY CLOTHING CLASSES

Children's garment making is taught in a very practical way at Hutchinson high school, Buffalo, N. Y. Clothing classes are sewing for charity organizations and children's homes. Materials are furnished by the institutions for which they work. In the second year remodeling is taught. Old garments are cleaned and ripped up, good parts are salvaged, a little skillful piecing or mending is done, combinations are made and a "new" garment evolves. Acquiring skill and learning methods valuable to themselves, pupils of this sewing class are also performing a valuable service for the community.

THIS LAWYER GOT HIS

A lawyer, noted for his success in cross-examination, found his match in a recent trial, when he asked a long-suffering witness how long he had worked at his business of tin-roofing. The answer was: "I have worked at it off and on for some time, but have worked at it steady for the past twelve years."

"How long off and on have you worked at it?"

"Sixty-five years."

"How old are you?"

"Sixty-five."

"Then you have been a tin-roofer from birth?"

"No sir; of course I haven't."

"Then why do you say you have worked at your trade 65 years?"

"Be cause you asked how long off and on I had worked at it. I have worked at the trade 65 years—20 years on and 45 off."

Here there was a roar in the courtroom, but not at the expense of the witness, and the lawyer hurriedly finished his examination in great confusion.

Dorothy Douglass of Fort Worth, Green Spellman of Forney, and Lora Hoffman of Pleasanton—three members of the class in the Texas State College for Women who are being taught color harmonies in men's clothes.

By ERIC G. SCHROEDER
DENTON, Texas, July 5.—"Watson, my wife! I'm off to buy a tie."

The process of selecting the favored bit of neckwear, heretofore considered entirely within the few sanctified activities left to mere man, promises to become a co-operative affair in the near future when present students at the Texas State College for Women here begin marrying and point out to their lords and masters the errors of their tastes. There will be fewer blood-red ties, checkered vests, and fewer brown derbies in the southwest, at least, when the future wives-to-be get under full steam, for they are being given instruction in their costume designing classes—not only how to fashion dainty step-ins and tasty afternoon frocks—but how to dress their future husbands. Horrors!

Colors reflect their opposites on the spectrum, is the somewhat technical information, unintelligible to the layman, given to the girls by their instructors. In other words, if hubby is anaemic and sallow complexioned, never, under any circumstances, permit him to invest in a bright red tie so dear to the heart of the average male householder. For red, reflecting its opposite, green will give him a sea-weed expression that isn't calculated to make the insurance solicitor particularly hopeful of having him pass a good physical examination.

"Work out harmonies in complexion," is the advice given to the future costume "selectors." In other words, colors in wearing apparel should be selected with an eye as to whether the purchaser is fair or dark of skin. Grays and blues, say the instructors, are especially suitable for blondes, while the brunettes should surfeit his tastes with varieties of brown.

If friend husband has dark hair he can be taken with the utmost abandon to formal affairs calling for the proper evening attire for back locks have a way of forming a peculiarly pleasing combination with the familiar "soup and fish." The blonde-haired lesser half, however, labors at a decided disadvantage at the formal ball for the ethics of the art profession decrees that he would form a more pleasing portion of the available scenery were he attired in sport clothes or business suit.

After all, in the moral drawn to the youthful devotees of Dame Fashion, the ultimate purpose of all dress is to call attention to the face. Perhaps the idea is not consistent with the impression gained from a swift survey of the physiognomy of friend husband, but after all, he's behind it and "the people in front get the jar." A light tan and a hat of darker shade will furnish a contrast that will focus the glances of pedestrians, automobilists and chorus girls upon the head or narrow expanse that goes by the name of "hubby's face."

Shirts, if they are to be the proper place of resistance, must not be darker than the suit with which they are worn. White, blue-gray and their variations can be worn acceptably with gray and blue suits, and husband is to be taught a never lesson if he designs to appear at the breakfast table wearing other than a white, cream or tan shirt with his brown "every day" suit.

If their future husbands follow the general architecture of ex-President Taft, the girls are told, never under any pretense, permit them to wear horizontal stripes or plaids. This is to prevent any future round-the-world aviators from mistaking the globe which they have set out to encircle. If hubby emulates Colonel Gulliver in attitude, cull from his wardrobe all evidence of vertical stripes. The tall husband, it would seem, would make a far better-looking convict than his less fortunate round friend.

The Texas college girls are busily designing a complete set of fashion plates for men. These are to be carefully filed in bureau drawers for future reference. Eligibles who visit their sweethearts on the campus have already begun to receive advance ultimatums with some apprehension. Man's final sanctuary, his traditional privilege, has been violated. The barriers are down; femininity, fashion plate in hand, stands triumphant!

Candidates Spoke At Southwest Ward School

The people of the Southwest Ward school community were hosts to the candidates of Lubbock county at a picnic supper given at the school Friday evening.

Each of the several candidates present, were given an opportunity to speak his claims to the voters in interest of election, and immediately following the feature of the program Justice of the Peace Johnson auctioned the boxes that had been prepared by the good ladies of that community.

The proceeds from the sale of the boxes was applied on the fund for purchasing equipment for the school.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and many who attended have expressed appreciation of the splendid manner in which they were entertained and especially do they commend the hospitality of the people of that community.

SELF-SUPPORTING STUDENTS ARE IN LARGE NUMBERS

About one-third of the men students of Illinois Wesleyan University are working their way through school, according to Prof. C. Edwin Van Sickle, who is in charge of the student employment bureau. Statistics gathered by Professor Van Sickle from 175 educational institutions indicating that students supporting themselves average 44 per cent of the student body. Tufts College stood highest with 85 per cent of the men working, the University of Washington was second with 69 per cent, and the University of Chicago third with 60 per cent.

SHORT SESSION OF CONGRESS TO BE BUSY

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 5.—There will be plenty for Congress to do in the short session starting in December.

So much was left undone when Congress quit on June 7 for the summer that a veritable stack of legislation, much of it of a controversial nature, will confront the legislators when they get back on the job.

The first important division of the new session will come on the Muscle Shoals question, agreement having been reached to vote on this on December 3. Two plans are pending, one by Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, for government operation of the great nitrate power project in Alabama, the other, backed by Southern Senators, to turn the whole works over to Henry Ford. As Norris head the Agricultural Committee of the Senate and as his proposal is the major report of the committee, the test will come on a vote to substitute the Ford bid, carried in a minority report. The Ford offer already has received the approval of the House, acting upon the suggestion of the House, and with the Senate reset the final decision.

Scores of other important measures will crowd to the front as soon as the session gets under way. Among these will be the Deficiency Appropriation bill, which failed of passage in the first session, leaving the executive branch of the government with no money to make initial payments on the soldiers' bonus, or to meet other pressing financial needs. The efforts of Western Senators to include a number of reclamation projects in this bill was the principal thing that caused its defeat before, but, with a whole session ahead, these reclamation projects will be taken care of separately and the bonus money granted.

The World Court problem was only nicked in the first session, and there will be a real fight over it this winter. Two plans are before the Senate—one by Senator Pepper, republican of Pennsylvania, which provides for American enfrance into a Permanent Court of International Justice divorced from the League of Nations, and the other by Senator Swanson, democrat, of Virginia, for American adherence to the League Court, with the Harding-Hughes reservations. It is the Swanson plan that has the approval of President Coolidge, and he will make a determined effort to get Congress to act upon it.

Among other international problems confronting the Senate is that involved in the ratification of the new commercial treaty between Germany and the United States. This treaty was negotiated by Secretary of State Hughes as a standard for other commercial treaties of a type competent to deal with the unusual trade conditions prevailing in the world since the war.

Farm relief legislation and abolition of the United States Railroad Labor Board will again be urged by the insurgent blocs in both the Senate and the House. The House appeared to be ready to pass the Howell-Barkley bill to end the Railroad Labor Board, but the jam in the closing hours led Representative Barkley, democrat, of Kentucky, the author, to withdraw it.

The Navy Department also will come forward with demands for the enactment of legislation to bring the American naval establishment up to the 5-5-3 ratio authorized by the Washington Armament Conference. A bill appropriating money to build new cruisers and other craft passed the House in the last session but didn't get thru the Senate.

Many of these problems, domestic and international, will be discussed by President Coolidge in a message to Congress shortly after the session opens.

At this early date it is impossible to forecast the contents of that message, because much depends upon whether or not the voters decide to permit Calvin Coolidge to remain in the White House after March 4 next.

But one thing is certain—the Presidential message will carry a strong and straightforward plea for economy in governmental expenditures, regardless of the outcome of the election.

ACCIDENTS ARE FEWER AFTER SAFETY INSTRUCTION

That safety education actually reduces accidents is indicated by a recent statement of the National Safety Council, which gives figures for three large cities. Fatal accidents to Washington children were 30 fewer in 1923 than in 1922, a reduction of 47 per cent. Cleveland had 21 fewer such accidents in spite of an increase of 3 per cent in population and 21 per cent increase in the number of motor vehicles. Baltimore reports 12 for the first two months of 1924 as against 22 for the same period in 1923. Similar results have been obtained in other cities where safety instructions is given.

Onions for First-aid Work

Although onions are despised by many, they are more useful for first aid work than any other vegetable. They are said to be germ preventive as well as nutritious and good for the blood. Boiled onions for supper are recommended for hoarseness or soreness of the chest. If stung in the mouth or throat by an insect, onion juice obtained by chewing a raw onion will soothe the pain until a doctor can be reached. In case of burns raw pounded onion applied to the affected part gives immediate relief. Boiled onions strained and mashed then laid between soft muslin and applied as a hot poultice relieves ulcerated throats, bronchitis and colds.

Harmful Effect of Flies

Flies are exceedingly dangerous to mankind. The several kinds that frequent the house are the common house fly, the stable fly, the cluster fly, the blow fly, the fruit fly and the lesser house fly. All flies breed in manure and rotten vegetable matter. They breed with amazing rapidity each female laying from 100 to 150 eggs at a time. The eggs hatch in from eight to 24 hours into small transparent maggots. Under favorable conditions the maggots mature in from four to six days. They remain in this stage (known as the pupal stage) from three days to several months depending on the temperature. In the summer months from three to four days is the usual period. Upon emerging from the pupae stage, flies quickly mate and the female deposits their eggs.

The bodies and legs of flies are covered with bristles which collect germs when they crawl over infected substances, such as human excrement from people suffering from intestinal diseases, typhoid fever, tuberculosis, etc. Later they crawl over our foods that are unprotected and transfer the germs to the foods. There is always danger of getting some disease germ by eating anything that flies have come in contact with. Bacteria live in the alimentary canals of flies and their excrement in the form of spots of matter is full of injurious bacteria. Where there are flies protective measures are essential. All houses should be properly screened, fly poison should be used in the rooms, all foods should be kept covered until eaten and all breeding places should be cleaned up. It is said to be dangerous to swat flies as crushing them spread the germs collected on their bodies.

Gradual Exposure Prevents Sunburn

Sunburn and tan are due to the action of the sun's rays on the skin. If you are light complexioned and suffer from the burning effects of the rays be careful about exposing your face and arms to the sunlight. Go at it by easy stages and your skin will adapt itself to the rays, says Dr. B. S. Copeland in his Health Book. Severe sunburn, he says, may even result in illness. Before going into strong sunlight dust the face and arms with a powder of talcum or apply a solution of one part of quinine in 20 parts of petroleum oil. Sometimes smearing the face and arms with cold cream is effective. If the skin has already been burned, cold cream is also good. After coming in from a drive or walk in the hot sun, do not apply water to the face, but clean the skin with cold cream and gently rub it off with a soft towel. Treat your skin carefully, says this authority, but harder yourself to sunlight by gradual exposure because you need its healthful effect. Sunlight kills germs, enriches the blood and makes one more fit for life.

COLLEGE CAMPAIGN FOR INCREASING LEGUME YIELD

In an endeavor to boost the crop yield of legumes, the Kansas State Agricultural College will send out a motor caravan known as the "Legume and Prosperity Special," carrying exhibits and a corps of speakers. One-day outdoor meetings will be held in each county. Lectures by heads of departments will be given on correct rotations and soil improvement practices, utilization of legumes by dairy cattle, and the value of legumes in livestock feeding. An attendance of 1,000 farmers is expected in each county during the nine day tour, July 8 to 17.

MULLICAN SPOKE AT POST CITY CELEBRATION

Col. Clark M. Mullican, Judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court, was the principal speaker at the 4th of July celebration at Post City Friday, giving his entire attention to the expression of patriotic ideals and emphasizing the significance of the day that was being celebrated throughout the whole country. Judge Mullican was heard by hundreds of people, who accorded him their whole interest throughout the address. Many Lubbock people attended the celebration and heard Judge Mullican speak.

ABOUT OUR HEALTH

Late Summer and Fall Hay Fever

During the late summer and early fall there occurs a type of hay fever that is worse than the early spring and summer types. The symptoms are more severe, the season is longer and there are more persons affected. The chief cause of this type of hay fever is the pollen of wind-pollinated plants, such as ragweed, sagebrush, etc. This season begins about the first of July in the extreme South and Southwest and about the middle of August farther north. It ends gradually with the going to seed of the flowers that cause the symptoms, or if there are severe early frosts it ends in a single night by freezing of the flowers.

An attack begins with a tickling in the nose, and is followed by violent sneezing and a watery discharge in a day or two. At the same time the eyes water, often itch and are sensitive to light. There is also itching in the roof of the mouth and at the sides of the throat. After the trouble has lasted for some time, a severe cough or asthma may follow.

The methods of treatment for this type are similar to those for the treatment of early summer hay fever. The skin test should determine which pollen or group of pollens affects the patient. This pollen in dilution should be used in the treatment. The pollen giving the strongest reaction in the greatest dilution is the best to use. As with the treatment of spring hay fever, the most satisfactory and successful is pre-seasonal and preventive treatment. It should begin about 15 weeks before the onset of the fever and end about one week before. By this method many patients are made entirely free from all symptoms.

The next most successful treatment begins some time before the onset of the symptoms and continues in gradually increasing amounts through the entire season. The amount of relief from hay fever usually depends on the amount of treatment given before the symp-

BOSTON PREPARES TO WELCOME 75,000 ELKS NEXT WEEK

CITY IS DAILY DECORATED AND ELABORATE PROGRAM WAITS FOR GUESTS

By United Press.

BOSTON, July 5.—Seventy-five thousand members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, their friends and families, it was estimated, were either here, or nearing this city today for the opening Monday, of the Elks' national convention.

The convention will continue thru until Saturday.

Every train entering the two railroad terminals carried hundreds of "Bills" their wives and children, while other hundreds entered this old city in motor cars, flying Elk pennants and guided over the roads by signs indicating the "Elks' Trail" to Boston.

It is expected that the convention will bring to this city nearly a quarter of a million people. Practically every hotel in and about the city has been taken over for the most part to house the visiting Elks, while there are countless others who will be entertained at the homes of members of the Boston lodge and lodges in nearby cities.

For the past few months, members of various committees have been working night and day to make certain that the 1124 Elks' gathering will not only be a success, but the best in the history of the order. Entertainments of all kinds will be provided, including sight-seeing trips to the many historic spots in and around Greater Boston, naval exhibitions in the harbor, dancing, boat trips to the many shore resorts, golf tournaments, yacht races, elaborate and spectacular fireworks and electrical display, and the famous Elks parade.

The Elks' Parade

One of the features, if not the main feature of the entire convention, will be the parade on Thursday afternoon. It is planned to make the parade the most picturesque ever held at a Grand Lodge convention. According to all indications there will be upwards of 20,000 marchers.

The parade will form in Boston's ultra-fashionable Back Bay, and will move down Commonwealth avenue, Arlington and Beacon streets to the State House, where Governor Channing H. Cox, a member of Boston Lodge No. 10, and other state officials, will review it. At a stand along Tremont street, not far from the State House, Mayor James M. Curley, also a member of the Boston lodge, city officials and others, will watch the marchers. The parade will then proceed along Tremont street to Boylston street, to Park Square and along Stuart street, where it will be reviewed by James G. MacFarland of Watertown, S. D., grand exalted ruler, and members of the Grand Lodge.

Elks and their friends throughout the country who are unable to attend the convention, but who are owners of radio sets, will be able to "listen in" to nearly all that will take place during the week. Station WNAC, Boston, will broadcast Elk news and events during the convention.

The opening services in Trinity Church tomorrow evening will be sent over the radio. The services will be conducted by Rev. John Dyer of Jamestown, N. Y., grand chaplain of the order. The opening exercises in Mechanics Building Monday evening will also be broadcast. At these exercises addresses will be delivered by United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, Governor Cox, Mayor Curley and others. Mayor Curley will give the 11 o'clock toast, "To Our Absent Brothers."

Radio at Parade

The radio will also be brought into use during the parade on Thursday, when a microphone will be installed at the reviewing stand, through which the "listener-in" throughout the country will be able to hear the bands as they approach and depart. As each delegation passes the stand the fact will be announced.

Boston presents a gala appearance in honor of the visiting Elks. Nearly all the buildings in the downtown sections are decorated.

While the decorative scheme will be carried out in detail on Boston Common, where many of the outdoor features will be presented, the illumination of the Common is expected will surpass anything ever before attempted in this city.

All the buildings occupied by the Boston Elks during the convention have been decorated inside and out, and these include the Elks Home on Somerset street; Tremont Temple, where the Grand Lodge sessions will be held, and others. Elaborate floral displays are to be seen in the Public Gardens and on the triangular grass plot in Copley Square, in front of the Copley Plaza Hotel, convention headquarters.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM FOR THE SEASON SHOWN AT SEMINOLE

SEMINOLE, Texas, July 5.—The first cotton bloom of the season was being exhibited on the street today by W. B. Austin. He stated that he had 50 acres just beginning to bloom, and that the recent good rains would insure him a crop of one-half bale to the acre. This is about as early as we have cotton blooms in Gaines county, and this county now has the prospect for the largest cotton crop in its history, despite the fact that much of the new land that was broken out late failed to come to a stand. The recent good rains over most of the county will insure a good feed crop.

EXCHANGE TO BE OPENED HERE JULY 10TH

The Plains Cotton and Grain Exchange, one of the new institutions for Lubbock, will open for business in the place formerly occupied by Jones Brothers in the Mitchell Hotel building on July 10th. All equipment has been installed and everything is kept in readiness for the opening of the business on that date.

The new exchange is owned by J. N. Wisner & Company, of New Orleans, one of the oldest companies in the New Orleans Cotton Future Brokers Association.

H. W. Inscore, pioneer cotton man, is here looking after the interests of the new company, but stated that they are unable yet to state who will have management of the exchange.

Mr. Inscore stated that the interests of the farmers, cotton growers, livestock growers and dealers, and in fact everyone interested in that business, will be looked after and that full service on all markets in which there is the east bit of interest shown in this territory will be given.

THE 1924 CAMPAIGN

By PHEBE K WARNER

So far the 1924 political campaign has set a new record in Texas. For clean, constructive politics have you ever seen its equal? Almost every candidate for the governor's office has visited our little city and strange as it may seem they have every one left a very pleasing memory behind them. In some respect the people are more at a loss to know for whom to vote than before they came and talked, because their coming and mixing with the people has wiped away a lot of imaginary prejudice and misunderstandings.

Every last one has had something worth while to say about Texas and her government and her policies and her institutions. And almost no time has been wasted running down the other fellow. They have talked about Texas and her interests as each one saw them. They have tried to tell the people what the thought was the matter of Texas and to cure her of her varied ills. They have spent little time talking either about themselves or their opponents. The political campaign in our town has been rather a series of interesting lectures and single handed debates on the issues of the day in Texas.

Certainly their ideas have clashed somewhat. No use of more than one running for office if everybody had the same opinions. That is what the people want. They want the different viewpoints of our leading politicians and business men on the business of the hour in Texas. They want to know where their taxes are going. They want to know how things are being done at Austin in the interests of their own part of the country. The people want to know the truth if it is possible to find it out. And it looks and sounds as though the candidates are telling the truth as they see it. And now it is up to the people to be their own judges in the final act, and VOTE for the man they think has the clearest vision of Texas and her needs and the back bone to put his program for the state over.

That is what the PEOPLE want. They don't care a cent which one he is or what his name is or where he lives if he is the right man for the JOB. And we believe in the people. Give them a fair chance to know the truth from every angle and then trust to the instinct and good common sense of the common people to elect the right man. When folks get in a muddle and don't know what to do is when every candidate who comes along puts in all his stims talking about his opponents and forgetting anything about Texas and her interests and her needs. The common people who after all elect the governor and every other state, district and county officer are too busy and too tired and too sleepy and too hot these nights to go very far and sit still and listen to some fellow blow his own horn and try to do the other fellow all the harm he can. Men have lost a mighty lot of votes by just that method in days gone by. Right here is one reason so few men go to the polls on election day and cast their vote. "Why, what's the use? They are all scoundrels according to one another's story. What's the difference which one is elected? I'll just stay at home and plow. I may do some good and no harm that way." And so about one-third of our voters stay at home and plow and the election is a mere incident.

But this year men and women, too, are going to the polls and vote. Because they are learning what the needs to be done in Texas through the meridian of the 1924 campaign. They have heard the good roads question discussed. They have heard the tax problems discussed. They have been told the condition of the public school system. They have heard all about the penitentiary and how it is managed. They have heard about the forests and the water ways and the reclamation of waste lands and waste water. They have had the good things and the bad things pointed out to them. They have heard the weak places and the strong places in our government explained. They have heard the freight rates, prohibition, equal rights, and State Rights all expounded to a finish. And now as they plow and work in the shops and in the harvest fields the men are talking state problems and state issues and trying to solve their own convictions on the various topics of the day rather than trying to decide which candidate was the biggest liar. Their minds have not been poisoned with prejudice against this man and that man because of the little personalities that might have been trumped up away back in history somewhere. And when election day comes the people will go to their voting place and cast their honest convictions where they are right or wrong into the ballot box and, for one, we are willing to accept the majority vote of an unprejudiced people.

And when the election is over everybody will go home and go to work again. There will be no call for a lot of fights and hard feelings and disappointment that will last for years in the hearts of the people. The defeated candidate will be disappointed the same as ever but their reputation will not be wrecked for every other form of service. And seeing the result another clean bunch of politicians or rather statesmen will not refuse to offer their services to their country two years from now. Politics had become such a trick and game and farce that busy men hated to fool with it. Big men did not want to subject themselves to all the petty prejudices that announcing for an office called forth. And a work while man did offer his life and business and reputation on the altar of his state he just got his head jerked off and that was about all the good he could do alone.

But the political campaign of 1924 is going to mark a new era in Texas politics, if nothing comes along to spoil it before the last of July. Without doubt it has been the most educational and constructive campaign in the history of the state.

PARKE N. DALTON ENDORSED BY OFFICIALS OF HOME COUNTY

To the Voters of the 72nd Judicial District: We, the undersigned, being all of the County officials of Crosby County, Texas, do hereby heartily endorse the candidacy of Parke N. Dalton, of Crosby County, for district attorney of this district. We are intimately acquainted with his record, both as a man and a lawyer. He is a clean, honorable, high-minded gentleman, and in every respect worthy of your trust and confidence. As a lawyer he is unusually capable and the equal of any in this district. He is young, active, energetic, alert, vigorous, and absolutely fearless in the performance of any duty. We commend him to the people of the district who believe in the majesty and enforcement of the law and as the type of man we need to fill this important office. Jake M. Mabe, County Judge and Superintendent. Green Harrison, County Attorney. Jno. D. McDermott, Sheriff and Tax Collector. Edgar Allen, County and District Clerk. R. E. Smith, Tax Assessor. Mrs. Zada Jones, County Treasurer. W. T. Dunn, County Surveyor. Attorney Homer L. Pharr, of the law firm of Bledsoe & Pharr, went to Floydada Friday to attend the American Legion celebration. Attorney Pharr is an active member in the local pots of the legion. Milwaukee Journal—We're really astonished to learn that only $17,000,000 is expended yearly for alimony. Lifelong scrutiny of the front page left the impression that it was 10 times that sum.

Chicago Will Be The Headquarters For La Follette

International News Service. CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 5.—The National Campaign headquarters of Senator LaFollette, candidate for President on the Independent ticket, will be opened in Chicago, Monday, under the management of John Nelson, of Wisconsin. Nelson is given the task of mapping out plans for the campaign in every state. He left this morning for Chicago, to begin work at the earliest possible time that his office can be arranged.

BOTANY TAUGHT PRACTICALLY TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Classes in outdoor garden work at Brooklyn Botanic Garden are attended by boys and girls from all parts of the city. Lessons are given on the uses and on care of the different garden tools and on the correct methods of planting the seed. Instruction is also given in the characteristics of the different seeds and of the flowers or vegetables into which they grow. Children are taught how to raise tomatoes, celery, eggplant, and other vegetables which require transplanting. The plants are later set out in individual gardens. The classes are conducted in a greenhouse.

Providence Bulletin—Toastmasters are making the complaint that the radio is ruining some of their best after-dinner jokes. Everybody has heard 'em. A few discouragements of this sort might be a good thing for some toastmasters, forcing them to learn some new ones.

Osborn Enterprise—It just looks like that when a man gets too worthless to even be a second rate lounge lizard he can take up a saxophone and live happily ever after.
