McADOO SLUMPS BELOW VETO POWER

Calvin Coolidge Jr., Died At 10:30 Monday Night

BLOOD POISON FROM INFECTED FOOT IS CAUSE

LOST CONSCIOUSNESS AT 6 O'CLOCK MONDAY AND DID NOT RALLY

By United News. WASHINGTON, July 7.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., youngest son of the president, died Monday night at Walter Reed hospital from septic poisoning after an illness of five days.

Aided by every artifice of medical science, and after a remarkable battle to fight off the deadly poison that spread through his entire system from an infected blister, worn on his right foot while playing tennis last Monday, Calvin died at 10:30 p. m.

Announcement of Calvin's death was made to newspaper men at the hospital by Clark. Clark merely said the boy had passed away at 10:30.

The president, Mrs. Coolidge, and Edward T. Clark, the president's personal secretary were at the bedside when the news came.

Calvin suffered a severe sinking spell about six o'clock Monday evening and physicians were unable to check it. Doctors Coughal, Boone, Kaler and Kolmer worked on the lad during the sinking period, but their efforts were in vain. He soon became unconscious.

Calvin's life appeared to be slowly ebbing Sunday night, and doctors made a blood transfusion after which the lad made an astonishing rally. His condition remained unchanged Monday until late in the afternoon when his vitality became too low to combat the increasing flow of poison in his system and he began sinking.

SMITH LEADING CONVENTION BY GOOD MAJORITY

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (UN Staff Correspondent) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—Once more the deadlock at the democratic national convention has defied all attempts to break it.

McADOO WAS HAMMERED DOWN TO HIS LOWEST POINT, 333 1-2, WHICH IS 25 VOTES BELOW AL SMITH'S POSITION ON THE 87TH BALLOT, BUT IN SPITE OF THIS, THE CONVENTION STILL APPEARS TO BE A LONG WAY FROM A NOMINATION.

CONVENTION YET APPEARS LONG WAY FROM BREAK OF DEADLOCK

McAdoo was hammered down to his lowest point, 333 1-2, which is 25 votes below Al Smith's position on the 87th ballot, but in spite of this, the convention still appears to be a long way from a nomination. On each successive ballot Monday night McAdoo reeled back under the pounding which the opposition coalition gave him after they succeeded at the afternoon session in pushing through a resolution releasing all delegates from the pledges and instructions. The first task after this resolution went over was to pull McAdoo down below one-third so that he would lose his veto power.

CONFERENCE ON RUHR IN TANGLE

That was done on the four ballots taken Monday night. Then when the Smith forces proposed an adjournment, McAdoo was glad to accept, hoping that overnight he may recover his losses. There was a frantic conference of McAdoo leaders in the room of their chief across the street from the garden when the 84th ballot showed him under the 400 mark. But all the frantic efforts made on the floor failed to stop the desertions. Even Liwa, which had never before left him, finally deserted him. Smith forces held their ground without serious losses although they did drop back six and one-half votes during the night. The Ralston drive just made a start. Whereas Ralston received but 24 votes on the last afternoon ballot, he finished the night with 93, but his managers claim he has almost three times this number in his total strength.

There was considerable disappointment that the trench fighting was not abandoned when the instructions were rescinded by the convention, but until McAdoo and Smith break completely a number of large delegations are sticking tight, not caring to jump until they know the winner.

So the convention winds up the end of its second week, just about where it began except that in the meantime it has given the democratic party some highly beneficial political lessons. Just before the adjournment Senator Jones, of New Mexico, made a plea that the convention authorize the organization of a conference committee to consist of no delegate from each state to have the pro-rata strength of his full delegation. This conference, Jones explained, would sit in closed session as a miniature convention and try to reach a decision as to a ticket which would be recommended to the convention. The resolution embodying this proposal was allowed to lie over and will be taken up Tuesday morning.

The convention adjourned just before midnight out of sympathy to the bereaved parents in the white house, word of Calvin's death having been received toward the end of the last ballot.

There was a gasp of dismay.

pointment from the crowd in the convention hall when Chairman Walsh announced the had had died. Even during the bickering of the convention deadlock, the delegates had followed with admiration the game fight which the had made, and one of the first acts of business was the adoption of resolutions of sympathy which were sent to President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Overnight further efforts will be made by the coalition forces to agree in view of the past performance but in view of the past performances at this convention no one is very optimistic.

The convention has been engaged in seven days and six nights of fruitless balloting.

At the end of the afternoon balloting Monday, McAdoo had 418 votes and Smith 368. When the convention resumed McAdoo's drop was spectacular. The release of delegates and the bidding attack by promoters of the Ralston boom soon had their effect.

On the 84th ballot, the first of the night session the Californian crashed to 358 1-2, his first descent below the four hundred mark. He lost eight votes more on the succeeding ballot and on the 86th fell to 353 1-2, bringing him below the veto power for the first time. Smith received 360 votes and thus signaled his superiority over McAdoo's strength. Another decline leaving him with his lowest mark, brought McAdoo to 333 1-2 on the final ballot of the evening, the 87th, Smith finishing at 361 1-2.

Meanwhile the boom of Senator Ralston rose to 94 but did not reach expectations, which were based on an earlier break in the McAdoo and Smith lines. After representatives of 11 or 12 states had conferred with Tom Taggart and promised to get behind Ralston, it was thought the latter might receive 200 votes before the end of the night session. Some leaders were so optimistic as to predict Ralston might be nominated before adjournment was taken.

But many of the McAdoo and the Smith delegates are still holding fast and with numerous favorite sons unwilling to withdraw the hour for the Indiana senator has not yet arrived.

KLANS REPUDIATE ALLEGED REPORT STARTED BY ANTI-KLANS

Brownfield, Texas, July 2, 1924.

Lubbock Klan No. 326, Realm of Texas, Esteemed Klansmen:

This is to repudiate the alleged report started by Mr. A. V. Datsyple in his Anti-Klan talk to the effect that I had denounced the Klan and told them to take their things out of the Klan hall erected by me for them. This statement is untrue and misleading and does not state the facts.

The facts are in his Anti-Klan talk here in Brownfield, he (Datsyple) stated that if he had to associate with Klansmen he would want a robe and mask.

After he had finished his bitter talk I went and shook hands with him and told him I was a Klansman and if he would go home with me I would let him wear my robe and mask while he was with me. I then introduced my wife and called his attention to the Pierz Cross she was wearing and also stated she was with me.

M. V. BROWNFIELD.

This is to certify that Mr. M. V. Brownfield is at present a member in good standing of the Brownfield Klan No. 321, Realm of Texas, and that there is no dissection whatever among the members of said Klan, but all is peace and harmony within.

Yours in Klan,

KIWANIANS WILL DISCUSS BAND THURSDAY

Homer L. Pharr, chairman of the committee appointed to arrange a program for the Kiwanis Club this week, stated Monday that the program would be given over to a discussion of the ways and means of maintaining the Lubbock Band which has been organized under the management of R. Borden.

The members of the Kiwanis Club will have an opportunity to know something of the quality of music this band can produce, as Borden and several members of his gang will be on the job and will appear on the program.

The band has been organized on short notice by Mr. Borden but is made up of more than twenty experienced musicians, all of whom know how to take their parts in any band program, and they are prepared to enter into a series of concerts that will be played at regular intervals at the courthouse square, and it is important that the business men know something of what it takes to keep a band going.

A large attendance at Thursday's luncheon is asked. The members will not be asked to contribute anything to the band at the luncheon as the rule prohibiting taking contributions at one of the luncheon meetings will be invoked.

S. L. AND S. F. RAILROAD WILL ERECT A 100 BED HOSPITAL

PARSONS, Kas., July 7.—The St. Louis and San Francisco railroad will erect a 100 bed hospital at Springfield, Mo., for the employees of the company, according to word received here. The new hospital to be erected on the site of the present structure, will be built this summer. It is estimated the new building will cost approximately $400,000.

DEATH TOLL OF STEAMER IS TEN TODAY

BALTIMORE, Md., July 7.—The death toll on the bay steamer Three Rivers that burned to the water's edge Saturday, is today brought to ten, with the finding of five newspaper boys and one negro in the blackened hull. The boys were members of the Baltimore Sun band on the excursion.

MARKETS

CONVENTION FAILS IN EFFECT ON MARKET

By EDWARD J. CONDLON (United News Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—Judging from the smaller turnover on the stock exchange during the opening session of the week, a number of traders must have elected to stretch the holiday until Tuesday. This, however, did not prevent the prices from moving upward, with a fair quota of new highs appearing in both the rail and industrial groups.

Scant attention was paid to developments at Madison Square Garden. In some quarters it is pointed out that past experience has taught that whenever political situations become clouded, trading slumps, though prices might not necessarily decline. Even the third party movement does not appear to have disturbed the equilibrium of the security market.

Perhaps the news most calculated to adversely affect the market on Monday was the announcement of further cut in Pennsylvania crude prices 50 cents a barrel, with a reduction of 10 cents a barrel on central western grades.

But the oils as a group failed to weaken on the flurry of selling which greeted this announcement and the market for this section of the list was generally higher at the close.

The fact that the consumption of gasoline is proceeding at a record rate, as evidenced by the figures of the western petroleum refiners association for the week ended June 28, indicating a drop of 6,290,378 gallons in gasoline stocks, is influencing sentiment in the oil securities market for more than the cuts in crude prices which are regarded more or less in the light of temporary affairs and caused in some instances by the embarrassment of concerns with large stocks.

The weekly bank clearings in the United States for the week ending July 3 are placed by Bradstreet at $9,466,499,000 against $7,737,214,000 the previous week. This increase was due primarily to the statements due at the start of the fiscal year July 1. This represents a gain of 22.2 per cent and an increase of 16.9 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

ANNUAL EXAMINATIONS.

If every well person would have a periodical medical examination, he would stand a much better chance of avoiding the diseases that sap human strength and energy. And, likewise, if every person, who knows his health is impaired from any cause, would have his condition checked up regularly, he would greatly postpone the serious consequences of the disease and prolong his days of enjoyment and activity.

Dr. Louis J. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, recently declared in an address before the Section on Preventive Medicine and Public Health of the American Medical Association at Chicago: "The nationwide acceptance of periodical medical examination offers an excellent opportunity for diminishing the mortality of middle life."

The physician's problem in prolonging the life of persons afflicted with diseases of the heart, blood vessels, and kidneys," said Dr. Dublin, "is to get the case early, to inculcate habits of work, exercise, and diet, which will prevent embarrassment of the circulatory and renal apparatus. Numerous instances are on record where persons, who sought advice for the management of incipient disorders of this type decades ago, are still at work, leading useful lives, bearing responsibilities and taking an active part in community life. The hope of periodical health examination is to extend a benefit of this kind to the hundreds of thousands of persons, who suffer from minor impairments and do not appreciate the value of personal hygiene as a life-prolonging agency."

Periodical medical examination seeks also to remedy such conditions as focal infection, overweight, overfeeding, reckless expenditure of energy and disregard for the simple rules of living, which may lead to impairment of the circulatory and renal tissues.

Dr. Dublin cited some results of periodical health examinations. Among 17,000 adult white males recently examined, about 13 per cent registered at least one-fifth overweight. Heavy dentistry, with suspected focal infection, was found in nearly half the cases, and enlarged, septic, or buried tonsils in more than one-fourth. Seven per cent showed high blood pressure. Most of these 17,000 men thought they were in perfect health until informed of these defects. Notified in time, they could do much to conquer them; ignorant of them, they no doubt would be greatly impaired and perhaps defeated by these germs of disease.

"That periodical health examination should begin in early adult life is shown by the rapid increase of the percentage of impairment with advancing age," he stated. "Young persons, advised in hygiene, have a good opportunity of eradicating an adverse finding and by doing so add not only to their efficiency but to their longevity prospect."

Overweight was observed in only 5 per cent of the persons examined less than 25 years of age, but for those more than 55 years of age, this handicap was evident in 20 per cent. High blood pressure, also an affliction that creeps on insidiously with years, was found in less than 5 per cent of persons under 35, but for the decade between 45 and 54 years, it affected 10 per cent of all those examined. After the age of 55 years, it increased to 20 per cent.

TEAPOTDOME INDICTMENTS.

A Federal grand jury in Washington has returned four criminal indictments against Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior; Harry F. Sinclair, E. L. Doheny, Sr., and E. L. Doheny, Jr., charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with leasing the California and Tea Pot Dome Oil reserves. The third indictment specifically charges Mr. Fall with accepting a bribe of $100,000 for using his official influence in obtaining the California leases. Civil suits already have begun by Allee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special counsel appointed to conduct the prosecutions and it is asserted that these cases will be promptly and vigorously prosecuted by the Department of Justice.

"Wall Street betting odds on Coolidge is 8 to 5." Wall Street usually bets the way it wants the election to go and can afford it in any event.

AMERICAN PEOPLE HAVE FAITH IN THEMSELVES.

Justice John Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court once took occasion to rebuke his fellow Americans who see nothing but evil days ahead for the United States, who deplore the inadequacy of our system of government and fear the inability of our people to safeguard their interests. Justice Harlan insisted that there is no occasion for alarm. He declared with unreserved emphasis his assurance that the American people have sufficient patriotism and loyalty to take care of themselves and to see that no harm come to the government either by insidious attack upon our institutions or usurpation of power. To sum up, the distinguished justice evidently considered it expedient to protest against the too prevalent idea that there is a conflict impending between the States and Washington and the mischievously agitated theory that the Federal administration is bent upon invading the domain and powers reserved to the States. The advice and opinions of mature men of high position and long experience act as the balance wheel between established customs of a bygone century and the resistent demands of a time, a people, a condition never dreamed of and poorly provided for. It is true that the public speaker who gets down to old fashioned, homely and unpartisan discussion of public questions is not appreciated as he should be, and generally because he advances no new thought. He is in the position of the school director who declares that what was good enough for his grandfather ought to be good enough for the students of to-day—but it isn't so. America cannot be roped, thrown and hog-tied—at least not for long. Even in the school-boys is an inherent sense of justice that demands a hearing and a square deal, and until that is obtained no class-made rule or law will settle any question. A hundred years hence the laws and customs and systems of our descendants will not even compare favorably with the laws and customs and systems that we of today look back upon with a shudder. As a nation we are making rapid progress toward a new era—and no man can prevent it.

JUSTICE MAY BE BLIND, BUT—

Justice is blind, too often too blind. This is particularly true in relation to the thousands of fake stock swindlers who beat the law and "get away" with the money. A few, very few, are punished, but fewer still are compelled to disgorge or restore the money stolen from widows and weak-minded individuals with the assistance of lurid literature distributed through the U. S. mails.

An isolated case that ought to be an example for the others is that of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., whose treasurer admitted in open court that he had amassed a fortune of more than $2,000,000 since 1920. It is admitted that he has some $300,000 hidden away, and the receiver demands that it be produced. Judge Morton has sent him to jail in "close confinement" until he obeys the court order to turn over these assets.

Throughout the United States there are millions of men and women who have contributed funds—perhaps the savings of years—to profits similar piled up by promoters of fraudulent enterprises. The history of the bankruptcy courts, if it could be written in all its hideousness, would reveal a disgraceful chapter of perjury and misapplication of assets rightfully the property of creditors. In uncounted instances their money has never been invested at all, but has been used in promoting other fraudulent enterprises or simply appropriated. The difficulty with enacting a remedy seems to lie in the fact that most astute attorneys are unable to draw a distinctive line between the open-shop "bucket shop" and the more or less haloed stock juggling and gambling concerns who pose as exponents of purity and protection and belong to the union.

PARTY PLATFORM.

With the exception of the tariff as a protective issue, and the plan levying income taxes, there is but little difference between the platforms of the two major political parties. There are disappointments in both camps, but while platforms excite conventions they seldom stir the people. That is held to be particularly the case this year, now that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats have found it expedient to hoist paramount issues to the mainmast. Had the Democrats gone to the country either on the League of Nations or on the straight-out issue of Anti-Klanism, they would have had a battle cry with an emotional appeal. While the Republican party is threatened with more or less dissatisfaction led by LaFollette, it will take more than a week-end to blot out the memories of the Klan controversy and the League conflict in the Democratic camp. Meanwhile the platforms, good, bad or indifferent, stand as the basic principles, or reason for existence of the parties, around which the rank and file are supposed to rally and fight to the bitter end.

Either the orchestra leader at the Democratic convention does not know much about politics or he is a humorist who likes to be ironical in his musical selections. For example, when Cox was put in nomination by ex-Secretary Baker, the orchestra played "He rambled till the butcher cut him down," and when Nebraska cheered the proposal to send Governor Charles Bryan to the White House the tune selected to fit the demonstration was "There's a long, long trail."

After several years of delay involving many hearings, appeals on technical law points, and contradictory court rulings the Big Five packing companies have been ordered, by a Federal Court Judge, to submit their books to the Department of Agriculture. The case will now be appealed to the Supreme Court, and it may not be heard for another two or three years. Meanwhile the packers have given but little attention to the order to dissolve their combinations and get out of the grocery and other business.

President Coolidge has endorsed the plan to observe Sunday, December 7, as an international Golden Rule Sunday, at which time contributions to the Near East Relief Association will be made.

MANY HEAR SEN. SHEPPARD HERE

Several hundred Lubbock and plains people crowded into the District Court room Monday afternoon at three o'clock to hear United States Senator Morris Sheppard, candidate for re-election to that office speak.

W. C. Rylander introduced Attorney John L. Ratliff, lifetime friend of the senator who in fitting manner introduced him and commended his good work as representative of the people of Texas.

Senator Sheppard opened his address with a few friendly remarks concerning his boyhood associations with Attorney Ratliff, and related some of the interesting incidents of their early life.

Twenty years ago when Senator Sheppard made his first political address, which was made in interest of his candidacy for representative to succeed his father—he was introduced by Attorney Ratliff.

Many prominent plains men were here to hear the senator, among them being Hon. R. A. Underwood, of Plainview, R. J. Murray, county democratic chairman, of Slaton, and others.

Senator Sheppard gave an account of the work he has done since being elected to the senate, and told how he believed a candidate for reelection to any office should depend upon his record to secure the support of the voters.

He pointed out some of the bills that he caused to be passed, including the 18th amendment to the constitution, the Sheppard-Towner bill, and others. He said he had worked in the interest of woman suffrage, and at this point directed a tribute to the womanhood of the country.

Many prominent clubwomen of Lubbock, including Mesdames W. H. Bledsoe, C. M. Ballenger and others attended the meeting and gave approval of many things spoken by the senator, more especially to his references to the League of Nations, a court of international justice, etc.

A tumultuous cheer greeted the speaker upon his reference to some of the principles of the wartime president.

Great applause was also given when the speaker expressed himself in favor of including the members of the Japanese exclusion bill, declaring that his attitude toward this matter was not from religious or racial prejudice, but for a desire to make the maintenance of the American standard of living possible.

The deplorable condition of the American farmer was pointed to, and the speaker pledged himself to support such legislation as will offer them relief.

The senator left immediately after the speaking for Crosbyton, in company with Senator W. H. Bledsoe, A. B. Davis and others. They attended a meeting of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce last night.

R. B. Huynes, who is taking care of the business of the Semboles Sanitarium during the time the editor of the paper is in the Sanitarium here recovering from an operation, was here visiting his family Sunday.

M. M. Gore, superintendent of schools in this city is looking after business in Austin this week.

PUBLIC OPINION

A Duty We Owe Each Other. We have long since determined to "eschew" politics but sometimes there are questions that come up that seem to require any citizen to speak out for the benefit of others. Many a time we are left in doubt as to which candidate to vote for, not knowing any or all of the ones whose names appear on the ticket. There are two men now before the people of Texas for the high office of U. S. senator. Mr. Sheppard who has held that office for several terms and Mr. Fred W. Davis who was three terms commissioner of Agriculture of this state.

Now we want to say for Mr. Davis we worked for him in that department and found him to be a young man of ability and high moral character and one who has worked himself up in the world and was raised on a farm helped a widowed mother to raise some younger children and also worked to secure an education. He taught school up until elected to the office of Commissioner of Agriculture. Mr. Davis is in full sympathy with the farmer and his problems and feel sure no one will go far wrong who votes for Fred Davis for the high office of Senator.

We have always fully endorsed the principal announced by that great and wise man the late Governor Hogg who said that honesty in office was best secured by rotation of office.

WELTON WINN

AT THE CHURCHES

Church of the Nazarene. Sunday was a good day of spiritual blessing. There was a slight decrease in attendance at Sunday school because of so many being gone on vacations.

The message of the morning on the text "If the son therefore, shall make you free, you shall be free indeed," was timely and inspirational. The words struggle for freedom along political, industrial, educational, social and religious lines was briefly portrayed. There is freedom in Jesus from the bondage of sin, condemnation of the broken law, from all conscious guilt and evil habits. Daniel was free in the lions' den while the king in his palace walked the floor a slave to a guilty conscience.

Bertran had such freedom behind prison walls, his mind soared to such heavenly heights he wrote one of the greatest books in literature. This freedom is not affected by circumstances.

Simon O'Neal of Lamesa, was here Monday. He has recently purchased the bankrupt stock of mechanicals, formerly known as the Russell store at Southland, and will put on a bankrupt sale. He placed an order for a large number of sales bills with the Avalanche job department.

SMOTHERING SPELLS

Lady Says She Suffered from a Burning Sensation, Headache, Dizziness, Until She Took Black-Draught.

Signal, Miss.—"For a year or longer I had indigestion, and had it bad," says Mrs. E. S. Holman, of this place. "Everything I ate hurt me. I would have burning in my stomach and smothering spells, and after meals feel right dizzy. My head would begin to ache, and I would want to lie down, but felt I couldn't for I would smother."

"Unless one has had such trouble, they don't know what it is. I was talking to a neighbor one day and told her how I had been affected. She told me it was indigestion and to try Black-Draught, which I did. I took a few large doses and then a pint after meals, and for fully four months now I haven't had indigestion. I eat whatever I please and when I please, but keep up the Black-Draught—just an occasional dose."

When you have a feeling of discomfort after meals, try the suggestion above. Thousands of people have found that Black-Draught promotes relief in indigestion by stimulating the liver and stomach to perform their normal functions.

CONSCIENCE

"What is the law?" said I, and he looked rather solemnly at me. Puffed on his corn-cob pipe and blew a smoky cloud and a ring or two. "The law?" said he "Well-I don't know."

By what's in books I never go; When I'm in doubt I always do. Just what My conscience tells me to.

"I've never had to run and look into some dry and dusty book. To find some way to get along. The law may legalize a wrong, But if my conscience argues no I do what's right—and let it go. A wider line, I'd rather draw Than that demanded by the law."

"Contracts and printed forms I dread My conscience knows just what I said And just what promises I made. And when the bills I owe are paid, My conscience never looks about For petty ways of slipping out; It sometimes says: "This seems unfair. But just remember, you keep square."

"When there's a doubt I always find My conscience quickly speaks its mind. It has no 'ifs' or 'buts' or 'ands', On what is fair it squarely stands. To do just what I know is right. If to its guidance I pay heed I think that's all the law I need."

IN MEMORIAM

Since God in His infinite wisdom has called from his labors on earth to that land beyond the skies our brother and friend, E. Studeman, who was president of the oldest financial institution of our city, exhibited business ability of an ordinary quality; and who as member of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock, Texas, showed his loyalty by liberally supporting its institutions and faithfully attending upon its ordinances; who, as husband and father, maintained that exalted position required of all who undertake that responsible duty; who as a citizen occupied the forefront in all undertakings for the uplift of his community.

Now, therefore, he it resolved, that the material growth of our community has lost a valiant soldier, our church a most helpful and faithful servant; his family a loving, faithful helper and provider; the country a citizen whose self-interest was but his earnestness for the continual growth and spiritual uplift of our Plains country; and with sympathetic fervor let us say, "Thy will be done."

Resolved further, that the papers be given a copy of these resolutions for publications and that a copy be mailed to the family of our deceased brother.

UNITED STATES LEADING IN EIGHTH OLYMPIC CONTEST AT END SECOND DAY WITH FINLAND RUNNING CLOSE SECOND

By TOM F. KEANE

(Track Coach of Syracuse University and Coach of the American Olympic Distance Runners.)

COLUMBES STADIUM, PARIS, July 7.—The end of the second day of the 1924 Olympic track and field games found the United States in first place, Finland, which swept everything on the opening day, was second eight points behind the Americans.

There were disappointments, however, which cast a certain amount of gloom on the American encampment as the full strength of the Stalwart Pins disclosed their performances.

The outstanding feats of Monday included the broad jumping of Bob Legendre, formerly of Georgetown university now a member of the N. Y. A. C. in the national, the sprinting of the Englishman, H.N. Abrahams who beat our best in the hundred metres, the record breaking running of Lowe, the Briton, in one of the heats of the 800 and Leroy Brown's jumping despite his bad leg.

Although Legendre disappointed us by failing to win the pentathlon, he broke the world's record for the broad jump, clearing a span of 25 feet six inches.

The feature event of the day was the hundred metre dash which we had hoped Jackson V. Scholz of the New York A. C. would win. Four Americans Scholz, Charlie Paddock, Loren Murchinson and Chet Brown were in the final with Abrahams and Perrit of New Zealand.

Abrahams, who loomed up tall and boy beside the blocky Americans all of who are built low to the track appeared confident as the men went to their marks. The Englishman was obviously at the top of his form. A dramatic silence fell over the great stadium, and spectators spoke only in whispers until the tension was snapped at the crack of the starters gun. New Zealand interest centered on the dash; Abrahams was first off the mark and the Yankees simply could not catch him. He was a yard ahead of Scholz and being away at the tape. By a mere whisker, Abrahams victory was the showing of Perrit, who took third place, with Chet Bowman fourth, Paddock fifth and Murchinson sixth.

The Englishman, who is particularly popular, was given a tremendous ovation. Old timers described it as the greatest sprint ever seen. The loss of the 100 meters was a serious setback for us. Abrahams' great form now puts first place in the 200 meter in danger.

Harold Eborn, our decathlon champion, did some remarkable jumping in winning the high jump and scoring ten points for the United States. He did not divulge the bar once until it was placed at a world record height after he had won the event. A piece of bad luck for the Americans was the disqualification of Charlie Brookings in the four hundred meter hurdles which was won by G. C. Taylor in time only one fifth of a second behind his own world's record. The judges ruled Brookings out, saying that on the turn he had dragged his foot over the hurdle in the next lane. This Brookings emphatically denied.

It looks as if Willie Ritola, the annoying little Finn, who walked off with a victory in the 10,000 meters run Sunday, would certainly take first in the 300 meters steeplechase. We have those lucky Irish Americans, Mike Devanny and Marvin Rick among the nine qualifiers for the final but they were hard pressed to place in their heats. All our men in the 800 meters qualified for the final, but we are beginning to figure that the Englishmen, Lowe and Stallard are perhaps the best on the field. Knock of the Pean State looks about the best of the Americans but may go no better than third. So far our team is not doing as well as it did at Antwerp four years ago. We failed to get fifth place in the jump second in the 100 meter hurdles, and first in the 100 meters, which we had counted on. On Monday I saw the best high jumper I have ever seen. Had Eborn been pressed I think he would easily have broken the world record and cleared six feet eight inches. Leroy Brown has suffered from a bad leg since we left New York and no one ever expected to see him on so gamely and take second place.

We certainly made a mistake when we didn't enter Legendre in the broad jump. We figured he would win the pentathlon but never thought him capable of a world record in the other. Of course it is too late now to enter him.

Lehmann, of Finland popped up to win the pentathlon and take away ten points on which we had counted. What is worse, the Finns are our most dangerous rivals. A former enemy nation won second place in the pentathlon when it was discovered that Sunday, of Hungary had scored 18 points in this event, two more than Lehmann.

CARPENTER IS KNOCKED OUT BY BERLENBACK

By United News.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Paul Berlenback, middleweight, knocked out Frank Carpenter in the seventh round of a ten round match at the Queensboro A. C. Long Island City, Monday evening.

Berlenback beat down his opponent with his usual barrage of heavy body blows.

RESTRICTIONS LIFTED FROM ALL DELEGATES

railroad tables and began a plan on a got away.

The last ballot showed no great change beyond the gradual slipping of McAdoo down to 418 which is 13 below what he started with, and the recovery of Smith to his high point of 368. Ralston, who withdrew his name last week, showed with 24. Glass worked up to 76 from a start of 21 Monday. The other candidates remained stationary. The vitality of the Ralston movement is one of the significant things of this convention.

The under-current of strength which was felt here in spite of the fact that he made no campaign continued even after he withdrew his name last week. Again Monday Ralston issued a statement saying he was not a candidate. But at the very moment this was being said in Indianapolis Tom Taggart was working like a beaver on the floor of the Madison Square Garden and Harrison was passing around the ward that Ralston had eight states ready to jump to him whenever he wanted them.

At last, after two weeks of undignified wrangling, such as has not characterized a national convention in years, the democratic delegates are coming to their sense. One reason that they are hearing from home Democrats listening at the other end of the radio sets, according to reports coming back here, are generally disgusted with the performance that has been going on in Madison Square Garden.

Typical of the changing attitude of many delegates is the remark of Mrs. Frank B. Lucas, of Ponca City, Oklahoma, a delegate at large.

"If they would turn this convention over to the federation of women's clubs we would make a nomination and go home tonight," she said.

Or, as Will Rogers told the McAdoo delegates at a pep meeting: "We invited you to New York as our guests and we are glad to have you but we didn't expect you to make your permanent home with us."

McAdoo Loses Steadily.

Convinced that the hour for breaking the long deadlock had come, the coalition of anti-klan leaders came back into the night session of the democratic convention prepared to give Uncle Sam Ralston of Indiana a chance to show what he could do.

Arrangements for this move were made at a conference in Tom Taggart's room at the Waldorf Hotel during the dinner hour recess. Twenty-one state delegations were represented and Taggart insists that he can throw between 250 and 300 votes on to the scales whenever he wants to.

McAdoo was pulled down under the 400 line when the convention resumed balloting. He produced only 388 1-2 on the 84th ballot, a drop of 100 votes from the 488 he had on the 83rd.

While this conference was taking place, quiet overtures were being made to the Smith group by the time had abandoned hope of the nomination, these overtures concerned an arrangement by which Smith would be the vice-presidential nominee on a ticket with Ralston.

Then over in the Vanderbilt, on the eighteenth floor, were the McAdoo secret-hunters arranged to stir and struggling to hold their warring lines intact under the terrific onslaught which was scheduled to break loose a little later.

"We cannot compromise," David

L. Rockwell, McAdoo's manager said. "The deadlock looks as tight as ever."

The convention swung a heavy blow on McAdoo's chin when it voted to release all delegates from their pledges. The Californian was hit hardest as he well knew he would be when he fought these suggestions Sunday night when they were proposed by the Candidates peace conference.

Confidence in the nomination of Ralston was expressed by Taggart for the hotel conference.

"We met in the interest of no candidate" he said, "but the convention census was that Samuel Ralston was the most available man to break this deadlock."

Asked whether Ralston would accept a nomination in view of his withdrawal last week, and his statement Monday, Taggart said: "A nomination is an honor too big for any one to refuse" he added with a knowing wink. He had been in long distance conversation with Ralston during the evening. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi will be one of the active Ralston floor leaders at the night session. The convention resumed at 8:43 eastern daylight saving time. The galleries which have been hitherto somewhat deserted were jammed full again.

Just before the night session began, Geo. Brennan went into conference with Senator Underwood and James M. Cox. This led the report that when the Smith break comes, part of the New Yorkers following at least will be shunted to the Alabama senator, in a troyout to see whether he can pick up strength.

The ceiling of the roof on the 84th ballot then began.

Michigan and Mississippi each swung in with 20 votes for Ralston but Missouri put her 36 on Glass.

Nevada jumped her six votes from McAdoo to Smith, setting off a wild demonstration, the first of the day. Massachusetts started a dash of standards toward the New York section. Others clustered around. Several other states pulled up their standards and a parade began with Massachusetts leading and the following states in line:

New Hampshire, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Nebraska, Alabama, Nevada and North Dakota. Nebraska carried a placard saying 'Al Smith's contingent'.

After one circuit of the garden, the demonstration ended.

McAdoo's downward course was accelerated on the 84th ballot, when Iowa, which has been for him on every ballot, broke away and gave her 26 votes to E. L. Meredith former secretary of agriculture and her favorite son.

The Wilson sisters were on hand again during the drive against McAdoo. Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo sat in a box keeping her own tally sheet and her sister Miss Margaret mingled on the floor with the delegates. She announced the vote of the Tennessee delegation on the 86th ballot and was applauded as she climbed down from her chair. Mrs. McAdoo was dressed in black while her sisters wore white.

DINNER GIVEN IN HONOR OF BRIDE AND GROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Price entertained with a six o'clock dinner Sunday evening at their home, 1219 Eighteenth street, given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bradley, late bride and groom. Those present including the honor guests were: Mrs. H. B. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Page and daughter, Mavourne, of Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradley and little son, Billy, Jr., of Dallas, Mrs. Nell Maxey and daughters Misses Maxine and Maurine, of Waco and C. C. Riddle of Hamlin.

LUBBOCK DEFEATS TAHOKA THERE SUNDAY 8-3

TAHOKA, July 7.—Lubbock drove into the local lads here Sunday afternoon for an 8 to 3 victory, giving them two wins out of the three games played this season and adding to their record a clean sweep of their first experience in this line this year, he hit relentlessly from the beginning to end.

Jackson, first man up, lead off the session with a flinging three-base hit, and later in the game drove one for the circuit. Karr also, was on a hitting spree, and in addition featured with a long running catch in outfield robbing a local man of what could easily have been a hit.

Terry, still feeling the effects of his hard fought game with Lamesa against Peacock on Friday, retired from the mound after the fourth inning, and was replaced by Jackson, who handled his few innings well.

Several Lubbock fans accompanying the club, and were very much in evidence in the stand.

CITY OF LUBBOCK

SHERROD BROTHERS IS ONE OF THE PROGRESSIVE FIRMS OF LUBBOCK; SPLENDID SALES RECORDS MADE

Sherrod Brothers Hardware has enjoyed such business since its establishment in Lubbock, that while it is a new firm the volume of business is so great that they are now receiving electrical appliances and other lines of goods in car-load lots.

They have sold 125 electric stoves in Lubbock since January 1st, and in that time have sold 75 electric washing machines.

Sherrod Brothers are the originators of the easy payment plan on electrical appliances, which enables the working man to enjoy the convenience of an electric stove and an electric washer, whereas without this plan they could not buy them in many instances.

Sherrod Brothers feature Western Electric stoves and Thor washing machines, which they have pushed to the very utmost and the above report on the number of sales that have been made gives some idea of what success they have enjoyed in this connection.

Sherrod Brothers, B. and P. L., are assisted in handling the business by five efficient employees, and a visit to the store will convince one that they all succeed in staying busy and the class of service offered the patron is far above par.

Sherrod Brothers Hardware Store is by no means a small institution as is shown by the large volume of business they do in the distribution of J. I. Case implements and tractors, together with other nationally advertised lines of goods.

They are now leading the city on the number of sales of New Perfection oil stoves, according to a report made at the store Monday morning, and it was also shown by their records that they have sold more New Perfection oil stoves already this year than were sold throughout last year by the leading dealer of the city.

Sherrod Brothers have not only shown themselves able workers in handling the affairs of their business, but have worked in the interest of Lubbock wherever possible and have proven valuable citizens. B. Sherrod is one of the leading members of the Kiwanis Club where he has been active in committee work and has shown a willingness to carry on whatever work there has been to do.

Such firms as Sherrod Brothers Hardware Store are responsible for Lubbock's widely known reputation for progressiveness.

British Fleet in 'Frisco
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 7. The British round-the-world fleet steamed into San Francisco, the steamer's only stop in American waters at 4:15 p. m. Monday.

was seriously infected. The infection of the bone was termed by physicians as "osteomyelitis."

Mrs. Coolidge bore heavily on the president's arm as they walked down the steps of the hospital and entered their car. They were driven to the white house followed by three official white house automobiles.

Frank W. Stearns, close personal friend of the president, occupied one, Secretary Slomp rode in another and Clark in the third. As they entered the white house Mrs. Coolidge with her head bowed leaned on the president's arm and was assisted by Chief Usher Hoover of the white house. The entire staff of white house servants, clad in official uniforms, was assembled just inside the door as the grief-stricken executive and his wife came in.

Calvin's body probably will be brought to the white house Tuesday morning.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge were at the youngster's bedside at the hospital virtually the whole time he was there. It was not Mrs. Coolidge's first visit to the institution as she went there on innumerable occasions to take the scarred and wounded veterans of the World War gifts and offer them touching sympathy.

Calvin was 16 years old, having reached the age of 16 on the 13th of April this year. He was born at Northampton, Mass., and attended the public schools there. He entered Mercersburg Academy in the fall of 1921 and would have graduated in 1925.

He stood among the highest and was particularly interested in debating. He always manifested great interest in athletics.

During the summer he spent most of his time on the farm of his grandfather, the president's father in Vermont. While at the White House Calvin and his brother, John, were on the White House tennis courts virtually every day.

They usually played singles but occasionally Major Coupal and Dr. Boone would "stand" to the president's two sons in a doubles match. Calvin had never before been assigned to Mrs. Coolidge as a bodyguard frequently played with the boys and the youngsters became very much attached to him.

Calvin was seen at a public affair when the Washington baseball team returned home from the road about two weeks ago, holding the pinnacle position in the American league race. At a "home coming" celebration, President Coolidge agreed to toss out a ball starting the second game of a doubleheader but Mrs. Coolidge and the two boys went out to the ball grounds in time to see the first game.

UNDERWOOD AGENCY IS INSTALLED BY GEORGE BREWER

George W. Brewer, secretary of the local Kiwanis Club and who has been connected with the business life of Lubbock for the past several years, has taken over the Lubbock territory for the Underwood typewriter people and will maintain an office in the Citizens National Bank from where the typewriters will be distributed throughout the territory.

H. C. Glaze, of Idalou, but who contemplates making his home in Lubbock, is salesman and will make regular trips through the territory.

B. C. DICKINSON IS ENTERTAINED BY NOTED ACTOR

News has just been received in Lubbock that Byron C. Dickinson, Jr., prominent local business man and a member of the local Elks lodge, who is representing the local lodge at the convention at Boston, drew highest honors of all the Texas delegation in New York when he was entertained by Will Rogers, nationally known cowboy actor for the screen.

Dickinson is one of the outstanding young business men of West Texas, is a leading member of the Elks lodge and has served as an officer in the organization as well as an several important committees with the local lodge.

MEADOW C. OF C. MEETING TO BE HELD 14TH

A. C. White, editor of the Meadow Messenger and secretary treasurer of the Meadow Chamber of Commerce, was here Monday on business.

Mr. White announced a meeting of the Meadow Chamber of Commerce that is to be held at the high school auditorium there Monday evening, July 14th at 8:30 o'clock.

This will be an important meeting of that organization and business concerning the future development of that section of the Plains will be discussed.

Mr. White extended an invitation to Secretary Davis of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the newspapers of Lubbock to attend the meeting. Luther Harrington is president of the Meadow Chamber of Commerce. While that organization is only one and a half months old at this time, it is a live wire and is doing much for the material development of Meadow and that section.

CHILD IS BORN WITH TWO BODIES BUT ONLY ONE HEAD

International News Service. ARMA, Kas., July 7.—A female baby with two bodies but only one head, was born to a family near here, according to county coroner E. C. Lightfoot. The infant lived but 40 minutes after birth.

The baby, according to Coroner Lightfoot, was joined together in much the same way as the famous "Siamese twins." It appeared normal in every way. The four arms, and four legs were fully formed, as were the double body and double neck.

Besides the regular ears, two others were formed on the back of the neck. The infant weighed about six pounds and was 14 inches long and six inches high.

The parents have another child, about three years old, normal in every way.

R. Quinn and family and W. J. Duncan and family are at home from a camping trip in the mountains of New Mexico. They report having enjoyed the trip and saw many wonders of that state. They were gone nine days.

Cantaloupes are fine if you can find a good one.

OPEN HOUSE WILL BE OBSERVED AT ELK CLUB

A dance will be given this evening at the Elk Hall by the Elk Club. Dick Gaines, eight piece orchestra of Fort Worth will furnish the music. The proceeds will go to the charity fund and everyone is invited. This orchestra is remembered by Radio users as having performed regularly on Wednesday evening programs for W. B. A. P., Fort Worth Texas.

Slave of Desire

Adapted from the immortal story "The Magic Skin" by BALZAC with GEORGE WALSH, BESSIE LOUB, CARMEL MYERS, JUNE MATHIS. Editorial Director Directed by George D. Baker

THE NIGHT LIFE OF PARIS

With its shadows and highlights, its gay thoroughfares its drawing room intrigues, its fare-free youth, its scheming women. And these things Balzac knew for when he wrote he dipped his pen into the hearts of men and women. Its a picture made from an immortal story.
