ZONE PRESCRIBED WHICH WARRING TROOPS MUST NOT ENCRACH UPON

By United News. LONDON, Sept. 5.—The great powers have warned the warring Tschuns who are settling their arguments within sound of Shanghai to keep their war away from that city.

A sharp note sent to both sides has notified the Chinese generals that the powers will not permit the war to encroach upon Shanghai, according to a dispatch received here by the Times.

The generals have been ordered to keep their armies outside a prescribed zone stretching from the Woo Sung forts below Shanghai to the Kiang Nan arsenal above the city.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—Fighting ceased along the entire front outside Shanghai shortly before midnight Friday after the attacking troops had failed to break the line of the city's defenders.

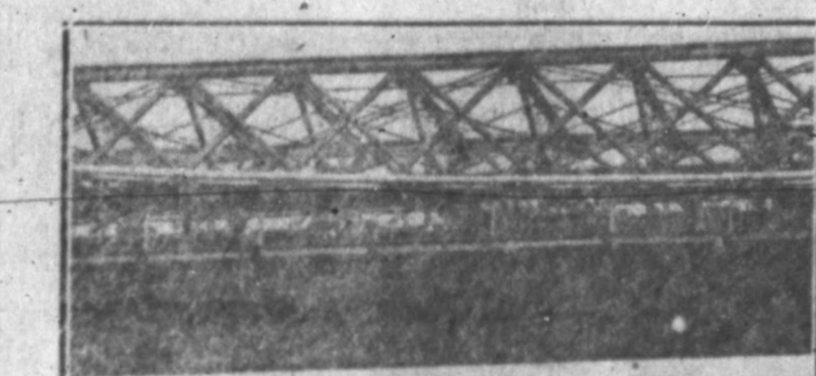

Reports from the lines indicate that if the attackers are unsuccessful in their assault Saturday, the main battle may develop in the Tai Hu Lake district or even farther inland.

EUROPE MUST HANDLE ITS OWN AFFAIRS, CLAIM

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS ADVANCED AS PROPER START ON WORK

By United News. GENEVA, Sept. 5.—Premier Herriot, of France has unequivocally endorsed the opinion of Premier Macdonald that future disarmament conferences must be held in Europe, and in a speech before the fifth assembly of the league of nations here, he made it impossible for either a republican or democratic administration in the United States to call such a conference to meet in Washington.

On some details of aims and procedure relative to disarmament, the French and English stands differ, but both agree that the place for the conference is Europe and that the best machinery for its operation already exists in the league of nations.

"The league alone is equipped properly to carry out a disarmament conference," Herriot said.

"Even if such a conference succeeded under other than league auspices, it would create two peace bodies working in opposition to each other."

Like Macdonald, Herriot emphasized the need for American participation in the conference although not as a host.

"It is necessary for all countries to participate in the conference," he said.

FAITHFUL SERVANT OF AVALANCHE IS BEING MOVED

After seven years of almost constant service rendered in the Avalanche building, the six column quarto Babeek Standard Press is being removed this week to Quannah where it will be used in the publication of the Quannah Times.

The old press has its history as have all parts of the machinery that have been used in the Avalanche building. It was bought for use in printing the Lubbock Weekly Avalanche, which job it held satisfactorily until several weeks ago, when it was displaced by an eight page Duplex Webb Press that attains a much higher speed and is more efficient in operation.

The Babeek Standard served in its place with all the faithfulness known to its kind. The work it had to do when first put into operation was gradually increased, and finally the paper was printed semi-weekly, doubling the work to be done on the press. It was amply efficient for this work, however and few times have the readers of the paper failed to get good service because of inactivity on its part. The semi-weekly had not been in existence long before a demand was tell here for a daily newspaper, and the old press figured in the publication of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, which job taxed its capacities and finally when the Lubbock Daily News was created, and the fast growing circulation of all Avalanche publications, including the Weekly Avalanche which with the Hockley and Cochran County News and the Abornatky Review has been issued from this office every Friday, demanded more work it was found that a larger press was needed and the Babeek Standard was displaced by the fast Duplex Webb press that is now in use in the shop.

W. C. Edwards, foreman of the mechanical department of the Avalanche whose services with the paper dates back nearly ten years, has entirely abandoned the Babeek press and was even hurrying up the moving job in order that the space it has occupied might be given over to other uses, and declares that its removal is only one feature of the process of casting away the machinery that once was adequate to meet the demands of the work here to give room to machinery that is modeled to meet present day requirements.

You would think the two Chicago murderers were running for office the way their past has been dug up.

hills with woodlands of birch and ragged and outstretches ragged stretches of pasture. The first haven the flyers found in the United States affords a typical New England landscape.

After carefully mooring their planes the flyers remained aboard while they overhauled the engines thoroughly and prepared them for the next hop to Boston. They received a tumultuous ovation when they were brought ashore and cooks at the cottages were hurried out to obtain the choicest of New England delicacies for the distinguished and unexpected guests.

Summer residents and natives of the coast below Brunswick have been on lookout all day for the flyers, and many yachting parties stood out to watch the airmen pass. Once the flyers had descended, however, word of their coming to coast spread slowly and it was not until after the dinner that crowds began to collect at Mere Point. By 8 p. m. however, several hundred people had visited the bay to look over the planes.

By this time fog was clearing and the three seaplanes were fully visible from the shore. Later in the evening the entire bay was clear of mist, although a heavy fog bank still hung threateningly off shore.

Hop for Boston Saturday BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The round-the-world flyers are expected to hop off from Mere Point, Me., for Boston at 2 a. m. Saturday, weather permitting.

This announcement was made here by Major General Masan A. Patrick, chief of the army air service, following a telephone talk with Lt. Lowell Smith, commander of the world flight.

Shore wireless stations along the coast and naval guard ships at sea were making hourly weather reports Friday evening, and officers kept all night watches to chart movements of the fog bank which had forced the aviators to descend when almost at the goal of the Pictou-Boston leg of the world flight.

Major General Patrick in an interview with the United Press, emphasized that Lt. Smith had conscientiously carried out his order when he descended at Mere Point rather than risk disaster by continuing on through the fog.

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 5.—The flight of the American round-the-world flyers terminated for the day, short of the scheduled run to Boston, when the planes were brought to rest late Friday afternoon at Mere Point, just out of Portland.

"We are all sound and well, and the planes are all in good shape," Lt. Smith told the United Press. "It was just a case of too much fog. It was foggy all the way down from Pictou," Smith went on. "We groped our way along during the early part of the trip without great difficulty but getting down on the Maine coast it began to thicken up worse than ever.

"We decided then that the wisest thing to do was to land. We will remain here over night. We hope to get off again tomorrow morning, but, of course that all depends on the weather. We could not do it with a fog such as prevails now."

TEACHERS INSTITUTE CLOSED FRIDAY GREAT SPEAKERS HEARD THROUGHOUT THE WEEK'S MANY VARIED PROGRAMS

The final general session of the South Plains Teachers Institute which has been in session here since Monday morning was conducted at the auditorium at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The devotional service was conducted by T. M. Carvey, pastor of the Church of Christ, who also made a few remarks concerning the work of the teachers as viewed by a minister.

Mrs. Roy W. Prentice, of Slaton, rendered an appreciated vocal number and discussed Glee Club and Choral Club Work, relating some of her experiences in this feature of school life. Her talk was enjoyed and appreciated by all, and the information given her hearers will be found of valuable practical use in the future.

"The Teacher as an Awakener," was the subject of a lecture delivered by Dr. Eby, of Texas University. The lecturer is of the foremost educators of the state, and handled this important subject well, pointing out the value of a good teacher to the community.

This closed the general session program and the remainder of their morning session was spent in class or division work, with most of the teachers completing their work for the week.

In the afternoon a meeting of all the teachers of each of the seven counties represented in seven groups for the discussion of the problems of their respective schools. This work completed the institute, and as early as three o'clock many teachers were leaving the high school to go to their schools where the fall terms will begin Monday.

The institute has been described here, from a standpoint of attendance, class of entertainment and instructions offered, etc.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted just before the final session of the institute was adjourned at three o'clock Friday afternoon:

1. BE IT RESOLVED that the institute take this method of expressing its deepest regret and sorrow at the passing of our former conductor, friend and educator, Judge E. R. Haynes, of Lubbock.

Texas. While his form is no longer in our midst, his cheerful counsel and helpful example remains to aid and inspire.

2. Be it resolved that the state has suffered few such losses of its human resources as it did in the passing of Dr. F. M. Bralley, who has served Texas with distinction in many educational capacities. Thousands of young women, students, Alumni and ex-students of the great institution into which he built his life will feel his going as a deep personal loss. But in their lives is F. M. Bralley's greatest monument, his supreme contribution to the state he loved and served.

3. Be it resolved that this institute now accept Dr. Horn's invitation to hold the next meeting, Sept. 1925, at the Texas Technological College. Further that Dr. Horn be urged to become director of said institute.

4. Since a closer relationship would be most helpful, we recommend that patrons and trustees be urged to attend this institute whenever possible for them to do so.

5. Resolve that this institute go on record as favoring the efforts of our State Supt. E. M. N. Marr's to secure an appropriation of $500,000 to pay the tuition of children of rural schools in high schools.

6. That a resolution of thanks be extended to Supt. C. L. Stone for his untiring efforts and able management as conductor of this institute.

7. That we heartily appreciate the able, instructive and inspiring lectures that have been received from Dr. Eby, Dr. Cade and Mrs. Horne.

8. That we extend a vote of thanks to the ministers of the various churches of Slaton and Lubbock for conducting our devotional exercises and their words of sympathy, advice and encouragement, to Miss Dunn for her efforts in securing the many musical numbers and entertainers for our opening exercises. To each and every one who has in any way contributed to our program and the success of the institute.

9. Resolve that we extend an invitation to Hale and other counties of the South Plains to join us in our future institutes that this may become the greatest educational center of West Texas.

10. That we recommend to the finance committee, that for defraying the expenses of this institute, that an assessment made against the yearly salary of each teacher would be more fair and equitable than the present assessment plan.

11. Learning that there is a surplus of some $396 remaining after defraying the expenses of the institute, resolve that this amount be prorated to the several county Superintendents to be used as teachers of the several counties may designate.

12. That a copy of these resolutions be given to the press of the several counties represented.

TEXAS HIGHWAY MEETING IN HOUSTON

WACO, Sept. 5.—The third annual convention of the Texas Highway Association will be held in Houston Monday, September 22, at the Rice Hotel, it was announced here Saturday by W. V. Crawford, president.

Notice of the meeting is being sent to the 6,000 members which represent 317 affiliated cities and towns. Due to the importance of the matters to come before the convention, Crawford anticipates the largest attendance in the history of the association.

Chief among the matters scheduled for consideration at the convention, according to president Crawford, in the adoption of a highway program to be recommended to the Thirty-ninth Legislature which convene in Austin next January.

Measures are to be submitted which will fill the State's legislative needs, so far as highways are concerned, for some years to come.

Adoption of these measures will be sought by the association through the passage of bills and Highway Amendments to the Constitution, Crawford announced.

Also stated that it is the purpose of the association to complete its "platform of purposes" within a year. When this is done, he declared, Texas will have one of the best state highway laws of any state in the Union.

In speaking of the association legislative program Crawford called attention to the fact that the last session of the Legislature passed more highway measures than probably all prior thirty-seven sessions of that body.

Some of the most important laws passed by the Thirty-eighth Legislature have been contested in the courts, notably the State-Wide Maintenance law. It was on account of this pending litigation that the date of the annual convention has been delayed from April, the usual meeting time, until September.

Crawford said the association is now in a position to adopt and press forward the remainder of its program.

Such a campaign should bring a blush of shame to the cheeks of every self-respecting Texan...

Indeed, it is the shame of the nation that the political situation has dropped so low, but it is the condition that we are confronted with today...

POLITICS CENTER IN WASHINGTON

Politics, usually everywhere and nowhere, this year have definitely a beginning and end in the national capital.

For the first time in many years, all three contending parties will have their central headquarters in Washington, and from here the entire campaign will be directed.

Regional offices, manned by lieutenants of the campaign committee, will execute orders issued by grand headquarters and in general conduct the battles waged by candidates for lesser offices.

President Coolidge, standard bearer of the Republicans, will spend the summer in Washington, except for a brief vacation that has no relation to politics.

Senator La Follette, the independent candidate, will wage open warfare from Maine to California, with his activities concentrated principally in the middle west.

John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, probably will wage the most vigorous campaign of all, now he is under way.

This involves personal appearance before audiences, something the radio does not quite take the place of.

No matter where the candidate may be speaking, the political committees here find it an advantage to give out printed copies of his speech...

For color and "spot" happenings, the papers may depend upon the wire news services.

Automobile mashers will be prosecuted. A dispatch out of Dallas states that the Woman's Texas Chamber of Commerce through Mrs. Nellie Metcalf...

More walks needed. Even if we have a big building program on miles of paving contracted and blocks of new sidewalks in front of some of the fine homes of the city...

What we need is an auto that will stop and count ten before it tries to pass another on a narrow road.

SHIPSTEAD ACCUSES TWO MAJOR PARTIES OF "ROBBING" FARMER OF HIS PROFITS IN PLEA FOR INDEPENDENT SUPPORT

GALESBURG, Ill., Sept. 5.—Charging that both the republican and democratic parties have been using the farmer to promote their own political ambitions...

"We agree that the issue is the preservation of the fundamentals of the American system of government, but we charge that General Dawes and his men of his kind are the very greatest enemies of those same fundamentals which he so virtuously claims to defend."

By the fundamentals, Shipstead said he assumed Dawes referred to the acts of the last republican administration. He then cited alleged frauds and "the transfer of the naval fields to a large contributor to the republican campaign funds in 1920."

"We do not consider that these things are necessary to be preserved as the fundamentals of our government; we consider them to be destructive of those very fundamentals," Shipstead declared.

Referring to the slogan of "common honesty" announced by John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, Shipstead said: "Davis says the big issue is honesty against corruption."

"I believe he has stated that the democratic party and that the republican party is corrupt. I am skeptical in this claim that the democrats are stitless and above reproach in view of the revelations of the airplane frauds, the army cantonment frauds, the army board frauds, the alien prop army frauds, and all the long list of disgusting thievery in high places perpetrated during the last democratic administration."

"After stating that he considered that the principles upon which the American system of government is founded, Senator Shipstead closed his address by saying: "We who cannot support the candidates for president and vice president nominated by the republican and democratic parties in this campaign believe that the government has not been used for the purpose intended that it be used for. We believe that instead of being used to establish justice, to promote the general welfare and to secure the blessings of liberty to us and our children, it has been used to promote the power of special privileges; it has been used by those interested with its control to deprive the farmer and laborer of a large share of the products of their toil."

Houston Mayor Asks Re-Election. HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 5.—Mayor Oscar Holcomb announced for re-election here today. Holcomb said there had been so many new projects to destroy that system," Shipstead said.

"We do not consider that these things are necessary to be preserved as the fundamentals of our government; we consider them to be destructive of those very fundamentals," Shipstead declared.

MANY THRILLS GREET ELK RODEO SPECTATORS HERE

BUCKING BRONCHOS, COWS AND BUFFALO UNCONQUERED BY SOUTH PLAINS RIDERS; TRICK AND FANCY RIDING IS FEATURE

The opening performance of the Rodeo and Wild West Celebration, under the management of "Hackberry Slim" Johnson and his talented artists opened yesterday afternoon, as scheduled. An exhibition of real skill was exhibited by all who took part in the program.

Pete Royal, that funny cow boy clown, made a serious attempt to stay with "Fire Bug" one of the tricky outlaw bucking horses, but was unsuccessful. "Big Boy" of Brownfield made a worthy, but fruitless effort to stay aboard "Rambler," the famous bucking steer from Old Mexico.

The most pleasing number of the evening was the "Faded-away-Dunn" who absolutely forbids being conquered. Possibly the most exciting time of the evening was the riding act, in which a cowboy rode a bucking horse, a cowboy rode a bucking cow, and a cowboy rode a bucking bull.

Another Dance Tonight. Immediately following the regular Rodeo program, a second cow boys dance will be staged. As is sometimes the case, yesterday being the "starting-off," a little loss of time was experienced, and the program was sometimes draggy.

As announced at the previous performance, Curtis A. Keen and Neil H. Wright have promised faithfully to drive the bucking steer to the cart at the afternoon show. Many are wondering what the result will be.

The management was unable to secure a large automobile for the high jumping act performed by "Trigger," but assurance was made this would be done at this afternoon performance.

Many changes will be made in the program of today's list of features different to those of yesterday. Three new riders arrived last night, and a half dozen horses of the "Bucking" type were also received, too late for the afternoon or evening show, and will participate in today's list of thrills.

Two of the buffalo cows were rested yesterday, so that they might demonstrate for the benefit of the audience, possibly to raise more than those who took part in yesterday's offering.

A repetition of yesterday's parade will be given at 3:30, and with the additional cow boys and horses.

STRENGTH ADDED TO LOCALS FOR GAME WITH LAMESA

Triping jubilantly into this sanctum last night wearing a grin the full width of his countenance, skipper Sled, of the local amateurs, which we must apparently by custom call the Hubbers, made known that he is expecting the best exhibition of amateur ball in his "young" career when his nine meets Lamesa Sunday on the lot of the southern city.

For in this bunch are included "Ikey" Sanders, "Red" Gaither, Vernon Brown, and Duke Basinger. All of whom with the exception of Gaither have arrived home and have signified their intention of helping the skipper wallop this southern rival.

The line-up, which will appear Sunday follows: Jackson, r; Wells, ss; Gaither, 3br Brown, cf; DeLong, rf; Blackman, 3b; Ikey Sanders, lb; Allen, c; with Basinger, Terry, and "Woman" Sanders in the mound position, and Karp as utility.

"Ikey" Sanders arrived here Friday from Enid, Okla., where he has been setting a hard pace in the Southwestern. Duke Basinger also arrived at his home at Slaton Friday.

The skipper urges that if local fans want to see a real exhibition, they make the trip with the club Sunday, and already several have signified their intention of doing so.

FORMER NATIONAL NET CHAMP BEATS MISS COLLETT IN SEMI-FINAL GOLF ROUND; WILL MEET MISS HURD FINALS

NAYATT, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Mary K. Browne, the Californian, who held the national tennis championship a decade ago, will go out over the knolls and hollows of the Nayatt course Saturday afternoon to play for the championship in quite another branch of highly competitive sport.

Miss Browne, who took to golf as a relief from exhausting pace of her favorite sport, tennis, will meet Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia in the final match of the women's national golf championship. If she wins she will be the first athlete, woman or man, to rise to the top of these two vastly different games.

Miss Browne, no longer the young girl that she was when she first introduced herself to fame as a tennis star, had to beat a young champion to survive Friday's match in the golf tournament for the draw had played against Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, who held the title in 1922. Miss Collett carried her to 19 holes before being eliminated, one up.

In fact, Miss Browne was the only player in the semi-finals round who had never held the championship, for Mrs. Hurd and her opponent Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, both, have been at the top.

Mrs. Hurd eliminated Mrs. Vanderbeck 2 up and one. Miss Browne who went in for golf as an after thought only for pleasure and mild exercise, will tackle another experienced player, Miss Glenna Collett, in a held outsiders challenge for the first honors.

When Miss Browne beat Miss Rene Wall in their match Thursday the spectators, familiar with the national players decided that she had done very well for a comparative stranger, but that she would have to be content with that showing Miss Collett, it was expected would surely defeat her, notwithstanding the tremendous strength and talent of Miss Collett, which gave Miss Browne such long and accurate shots on the golf links.

Miss Collett, however, was only one up at the turn and was pressed to keep this advantage as they came to the 18th. There, Miss Browne made a great spoon shot over a clump of forest and succeeded in evening matters on the home hole.

So they went out for an extra hole and Mary appeared to put herself out of the tournament by being her drive wide to the right whereas Miss Collett got a straight one slant down through the aisles. Miss Browne then drove a bunker by lifting her ball into a bunker but she was saved when Miss Collett slightly topped her ball and also bunkered.

Miss Browne's nibble now nudged the ball out of trouble and dropped it seven feet from the hole. Miss Collett was at least twice as far away on her third shot. Glenna laid her approach putt dead and Miss Browne's ball struck Miss Collett's caromed off, wobbled and into the cup, winning the hole and the match on the play off.

States district court caught Canon Chase unprepared to proceed with the hearing, and obtained a continuance until after the date set for the fight.

MELHORN ROMPS OFF WITH EASY GOLF VICTORY. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—"Wild Bill" Melhorn, of St. Louis, romped off with all the honors in the second days play of the golf tournament turning in a card of 70 Friday for a total of 146. His days' mark was the best so far in the tournament.

Charles "Chick" Evans, only amateur ever to win the western open, staged a great rally, coming in with 72 for a total of 147. High winds which bothered Chick on the home stretch were all that kept him from a tie for the leadership.

Eddie Held, the youthful St. Louis amateur, notched 76 Friday, placing him in third place with 148. Held was one of the first to finish, and for several hours it looked probable that his mark would not be surpassed.

Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Abe Espinoza, of California, tied for fourth place with 149. Leo Diegel, of Washington D. C., and Jack Burke, of St. Paul, and Al (Sports continued on page 8.)

WARRANT FOR FIRPO ARREST ORDERED BY OFFICIAL. NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Convinced that Luis Angel Firpo told an official fib when he swore that he and Bianca Lourdes Picart, a young South American woman, were only shipboard acquaintances, Henry Curran, commissioner of immigration in command at Ellis Island, Friday afternoon asked the department of Labor in Washington to authorize a warrant for Firpo's arrest. No criminal proceedings appear to be contemplated by the commissioner, but he will probably order an immediate hearing of the evidence adduced by Canon Wm. S. Chase, New York reformer and foe of prize fighting, with the intention of sending Firpo back to Buenos Aires if the charge is proved. Curran completed his investigation Friday night and sent a formal report to the department of labor which has general charge of immigration matters. Subsequently he spoke with officials of the department of labor by long distance telephone.

Supported by all the influence of Tex Rickard, the man who brought the democratic national convention to New York Firpo through his attorneys undoubtedly will do all he can to delay the enforcement of any deportation order until after Sept. 11, which is the date of the Firpo-Wills fight in Jersey City.

The Argentine was arrested some time ago on a warrant in the same case but a being arraigned before a commissioner of the United States district court caught Canon Chase unprepared to proceed with the hearing, and obtained a continuance until after the date set for the fight.
