K. Carter Parent Teachers Club Met Last Thursday

The K. Carter Parent Teachers Club started the year off with enthusiasm at their first meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Lyle was in charge of the program which was most pleasing. A paper was read by Mrs. O. E. Sears, "Reasons for Parent Teachers Associations."

Miss Beulah Dixon, rendered a very clever reading, "Is This Woman You?"

Mrs. Wagner read a specially prepared paper, "Parent Teachers Associations Work and Talked on Child Hygiene." Mrs. Wagner recommended purchasing scales for the school so that every month each child might be weighed and in that way a health record could be kept.

There were sixty-five mothers and teachers present an unusual number for the first meeting in the year. Nineteen new members were enrolled.

The attendance prize for the most mothers present, went to Miss Richmond's pupils in the primary department and since there was a tie in the Intermediate department between Miss Street and Miss Gooch the club decided to buy a pot plant for each room.

The Primary department asked for and received thirty dollars with which to buy materials for construction work.

Mr. Dupre spoke to the club, expressing his appreciation of their co-operation and stressing the subject of health which will be the principle work promoted by the club this year. Mrs. Wolffarth, the president of the Parent-Teachers' organization delivered a very forceful and impressive message outlining her aims and ambitions for the coming year, discussing many plans for the benefit of the pupils.

Miss Clara Price, head of the Domestic Science department of the Lubbock High School, reported that three times the number of girls wanted to take the course than can be accommodated. Another teacher may have to be employed to take care of the work.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE M. E. CHURCH

The Mission Study class of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon and spent a very profitable study hour under the direction of Mrs. W. O. Stevens. The new book, "The Debt Eternal" was started and it was believed will prove an inspiration to those who study it. All the ladies of the church are cordially invited to join the class.

WAXAHACHIE WOMAN DIRECTS WEST TEXAS PAGEANT

Mrs. W. G. Lomax, prominent club, civic and church worker in Waxahachie, has gone to Lubbock, where she will direct the Cotton Pageant to be staged there by the Farm Bureau. Mrs. Lomax writes to her home folks that Mrs. J. Howard Goodman, well known dramatic teacher, who formerly lived in Waxahachie, is assisting in the pageant. Mrs. Lomax has also met Charley Pierce, a former Waxahachian, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pierce, Miss Elma Pierce, who is now a student in Trinity university, and lives with her grandparents in this city, is visiting her father in Lubbock this summer.

Mrs. Lomax writes that she finds the west Texas people co-operative and delightful to work with, and that the pageant promises to be a great civic triumph for Lubbock.

The pageant "King Cotton" was written especially for the Texas Farm Bureau, and Waxahachie was the first town to present the pageant. The local pageant was such a success that it won for Mrs. Lomax as director, a wide reputation.

HIGH FACULTY GET-TO-GETHER

A very pleasant get-acquainted meeting was held by the High School Faculty Thursday Night, at the Country Club House. All of the teachers met at the High School at 7:30, except a few that the rain scared away.

There being 18 new teachers in the H. S. it was felt by all that it would do them good to become better acquainted with each other, and it was decided that a water-melon party would be the best way to do that.

After arriving at the Club House ten ice cold melons were brought out, and properly taken care of by all present. Certainly some of those teachers have not found a boarding place yet, the way they ate melons. Faces were washed in Melon Juice, after which a few snappy games were played, and teachers departed wet with rain and melon juice, but happy.

The following teachers were present: Mesdames E. W. Matthews, Harry Hunter, J. W. Reid, and M. E. Witt. Misses Cornelia McAfee, Lavonia Baker, Clara Price, Wilma Morton, Stella Warren, Charles Aldridge, Bertha Eubanks, Ester Cooper, Louise Pyle, Ethel Castles, and Alice Bledsoe. Messrs R. W. Matthews, J. W. Crowley, J. H. Niles, J. Davis, M. E. Witt, J. W. Reid, E. J. Lowery, and R. C. Mowery.

Messrs. Davis, Lowery and Mowery furnished the melons, but they refused to discuss them other than that they were there ready to eat.

POST PEOPLE WED THURSDAY EVENING.

Robinson-Davidson & Mrs. Evelyn Davidson, were married at the home of Mr. Robinson on last Thursday evening, Rev. Kunze officiating. Mrs. Davidson whose home is in Des Moines, Iowa, has been here several weeks, and has won her way in to the hearts of those who know her. Mr. Robinson has lived in Post since the beginning of the town, is connected with the Double U Company and has many friends who join the Post in wishing them well.

One wonders if Americans of the next generation will continue to decide the league issue every four years.

BROWNFIELD ASS'N BAPTISTS MET AT CENTER

SLATON, Sept. 12.—On Sept. 9th and 10th, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the Brownfield Baptist Association convened in regular annual session with the Central Baptist Church, located about 20 miles south of Slaton.

The purpose of such a meeting at this time is to receive reports of the work done during the past year by each church in the Association, lay out plans for the work of the new year, and transact all business coming under the jurisdiction of this association.

There were about thirty churches represented this year in the meeting held at Central. The reports on the whole were very encouraging, and showed that much progress had been made during the past twelve months.

Rev. Jno. P. Hardesty, of Slaton, acted as Moderator of the Association meeting, and Rev. C. E. Ball, pastor at Brownfield, acted as clerk. The proceedings of the two days included an inspiring program by the organized Women's Auxiliary, and a fine service on Wednesday night conducted by the young people in the interest of the B. Y. P. U. A. B. Y. E. U. Assembly was organized for this association, in which all Brownfield Association B. Y. P. U. A. B. Y. E. U. will have a part, meeting once each year to discuss the work and furnish aids to better success of the young people's work in all our churches.

Those attending the association from Slaton were: Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Foster, W. R. Graves, J. C. Stewart, J. W. Buchanan, Rev. and Mrs. Jno. P. Hardesty and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wilson.

The association convenes next year with the New Home Church.

SAFE BLOWER SWOONS BEFORE THE BLAST

HOUSTON, Sept. 11.—Because he swooned just before his partners blasted the vault, probably saved William Cox a long prison term here. Cox with two companions had entered the Citizens State Bank but he fell unconscious just as the work on the safe started, his companions fleeing. Cox was found on the bank floor next morning. At his trial he was given a suspended sentence for illustrating the robbery.

MONTGOMERY BUILDING TRACKAGE TO PROPERTY ON F AND MAIN AND WILL BUILD BIG WAREHOUSE ON F AND 9TH

L. C. Montgomery, owner of the Montgomery transfer company, started dirtwork Thursday for the construction of a switch from the Santa Fe tracks, just northwest of the freight depot, east along Avenue F to the alley between 9th and Main which will run to the side of his present warehouse.

W. J. Dowell, Santa Fe Section foreman, started preliminary work for laying the track late Friday afternoon, and will finish the track next week, which when completed, will be 579 feet long.

Mr. Montgomery is having plans made by Peters & Havens, local architects, for a two-story warehouse to be erected on his lots at the corner of Avenue F and Main street. The exact size of this building has not yet been determined due to the fact that the trackage will run across the east front of the lots and ample space for it will have to be given.

Just as soon as the track has been completed, the plans will be furnished and a contract will be let for the erection of the warehouse.

Mr. Montgomery has been in the transfer business here several years and has among his patrons the biggest firms of Lubbock. He has been progressive in the development of his business and has done much to Lubbock.

Vacant lots on Avenue F between Montgomery's property facing Main street and the lots where his new warehouse will be erected, will doubtless be improved after the completion of this trackage, and Mr. Montgomery is perhaps paving the way for very noticeable improvements in that portion of Lubbock's wholesale district.

HOUSTON, Sept. 11.—Because he swooned just before his partners blasted the vault, probably saved William Cox a long prison term here. Cox with two companions had entered the Citizens State Bank but he fell unconscious just as the work on the safe started, his companions fleeing. Cox was found on the bank floor next morning. At his trial he was given a suspended sentence for illustrating the robbery.

COTTON IS COMING INTO MERKEL AT GOOD RATE

MERKEL, Tex., Sept. 12.—Wednesday the gins were crowded with customers bringing in wagon loads after wagon loads of cotton. This is the first day that the gins have been real busy. Up to noon Wednesday 450 bales had been weighed at the local cotton yard. This is much less than at this time last year.

The young men who have dared and completed the undertaking have made a place in history that will rank second to none since the discovery of the American continent.

If there were a pair of lame ducks on Noah's ark doubtless they managed to connect with easy jobs; such as tearing the leaves off the calendar.

WILL LABOR LOSE THE DIVISION POINT OF HIGHWAYS?

In all probability we will. The proposition is at least in a very critical condition just at this time. The Highway Department must have a place to put their machinery, and their work shops, and there is no money appropriated for the purpose of erecting buildings by the department, and it is simply up to the towns where they locate these divisions and headquarters to supply the buildings. Lubbock was chosen as the headquarters for twenty-four counties, and they have been working along with just a small amount of machinery and equipment, and have not been employing many men, but the State has recently purchased a half million dollars worth of equipment, and the Lubbock Division will receive about one-eighth of the total amount, and much of it has already been shipped, but if we do not show enough pep or interest enough to furnish a place for them, especially when they have stated that the building that they could use until the state can make appropriations for a permanent building, could be erected for less than three thousand dollars, they will have to go elsewhere. It is poor business judgment on the part of the people of Lubbock to let this matter go by, and we do not believe that they will, but it seems to be the consensus of opinion that it is the county's business to put this building up, as it is for the benefit of the county roads, and all of the people of the county will get the benefit of it as well as Lubbock, and hence there hangs the delay. The County Commissioners have not agreed that it is the duty of the county, and have failed so far as we have been able to learn to place an order for the building. If they do not, then it is up to the business men, where most of the burden of development always falls, to put up the money for the construction of the building. If this is the last chance, then we say let's get busy and get the money and put the building up, and we will not lose anything by so doing.

The department will bring quite a number of men here, and the payroll will amount to several thousand dollars every month, and it will be well worth the money invested as it cannot be counted other than an investment.

Immediate action is necessary, however, and no delay should be countenanced. Let's supply the highway department with the building. Turn the highway department over to us, and we will have better roads, and we will get the benefit of the auto tax and the gasoline tax that we send to Austin in place of contributing the money to east Texas roads, or some other county, for if the highway department does not get co-operation of the county in the work, they do not work in that county, but we have to pay the money just the same.

OUR SCHOOLS

That parade yesterday engaged in by the school children of Lubbock was one of the biggest things that has been pulled off in Lubbock. That was a huge bunch of young life, and it was a sure indication that Lubbock has the best schools and the biggest schools that can be found in the west. We have walked rapidly away from all of them in point of enrollment and we are sure that in point of efficiency we are not lacking. This year the schools are crowded again. New buildings have been erected and every facility has been increased each year, but we do not keep up with the needs of the schools.

Lubbock is known as the educational center of the Southwest, and this to a great extent accounts for the wonderful progress that we have made.

Lubbock is known far and wide for her co-operative work and that is one reason that we have the Technological College today. The committee took into consideration what we were doing, and how we had accomplished things in the past, and they were confident with the spirit in the breasts of the people that there could be no mistake in placing an institution like this in the hands of the people of the type that built Lubbock.

IT WAS A GOOD TRIP

We heard one of the fellows who went on the Trade Trip say it was the best trip that he had ever been in and he has been in nearly every one that has been made by Lubbock business men. He said it was good because there was a good crowd, and that there were no accidents, and everything ran smoothly. It was good because the people in the towns saw the earnestness of the trippers, and received them gladly, and assured them that they would respond to the invitation and that they would be at the fair in larger numbers this year than ever before.

That is the spirit, and as there are two more trips to be made, keep it in mind and make arrangements to go on them, and carry the message of Lubbock with you, they, the people, may know from the very spirit in which you go that you are wanting them to feel that it is their fair as well as ours and that we are just furnishing a place to have it.

The South Plains Fair has been built unselfishly on the part of the people of Lubbock, and while Lubbock has been to a great expense in building it, we are glad to have it here, and to have the people come long and participate in it.

WILL LABOR GO SOLIDLY FOR LA FOLLETTE?

One of the first questions which must be answered before predictions as to the coming election are worth anything is this: Will labor go solidly to La Follette?

The Davis candidacy is vitally affected by the labor vote—far more so than that of Coolidge. Organized labor and a large section of unorganized labor as well has been traditionally democratic. It is the nest-egg of the democratic strength in the northern industrial states where the business and professional classes are predominantly republican. If Davis should lose the labor vote, he would have serious difficulty in states like New York, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana where he will need everything in sight to win. If he must split his main source of strength with La Follette, Coolidge will be able to step in between and walk off with the electoral votes in the states named.

Republicans are making some show of cultivating the labor vote, notably in Coolidge's labor day speech at the White House to a selected group of labor representatives. But the record of Charles C. Dawes and his open shop activities will prove a serious handicap in this work. Dawes has great points of appeal, but they are to other groups than labor.

The question is whether the organized labor leaders can deliver their followers to La Follette. Almost without exception, the leaders are for La Follette. They are using the powerful machinery of the American Federation of Labor, the garment trades and the railroad have to canvass for the independent ticket. Democrats have placed their labor campaign in the hands of Wm. B. Wilson, secretary of labor under Wilson, a former member of congress and an old associate of Samuel Gompers. Wilson has a gilt edged labor record and has always been on the inside with organized labor. But he failed to block the endorsement of La Follette by the labor leaders and having lost that fight, he now has uphill work. Organized labor's strength is variously estimated, but it probably numbers about 5,000,000, one-half of which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the other half divided between the railroad brotherhoods and the garment workers. The garment trades, being the more radical of the three groups, will be almost solidly for La Follette. The loyal Gompers faction in the American Federation will likewise line up with the independent ticket. Most of the railroad brotherhoods will do likewise.

FARM LOSSES AND BANKRUPTCIES LARGE IN 1923.

Official reports issued by the Department of Agriculture continue to tell stories of losses, bankruptcy, and distress among the farmers of the United States, particularly in the Northwest. Changes in the condition of agricultural producers in the country at large are due to readjustments rather than fundamental improvements.

The latest year book of the Department of Agriculture, dealing with the agricultural situation in 1923, reiterates the tale of insolvency and bankruptcy. There is practically the same account as for 1922 in respect to the drift of population from the farms to the cities; a similar chronicle of hardship for those who remained on the land; and an even more dismal report of increase in bankruptcies and foreclosures.

The Department conducted a survey to ascertain the number of owners and tenants of farms who lost their land and property through foreclosure or voluntary relinquishment.

It was found, says the latest year book, that of the owner farmers in fifteen corn and wheat producing states on an average almost 4 per cent had lost their farms through foreclosure or bankruptcy, while nearly 4.5 per cent had turned over their farms to creditors without legal process, making a total of about 8.5 per cent who had lost their farms with or without legal proceedings. In addition, about 14.5 per cent were in fact bankrupt, but were holding on through leniency of their creditors.

A chart in the year book shows that while bankruptcies among farmers in the country as a whole were about 6.5 per cent of the whole number reported in 1920, they were about 17 per cent of the total in 1923. The number of bankruptcies among farmers in the Northwest rose from 18 per cent in 1920, the last year of the second Wilson administration, to 54 per cent in the third year of the Harding-Coolidge administration.

The insolvency among farmers was not due to inefficiency on their part, says Secretary Wallace. Their troubles were caused, he says, chiefly by the deflation in prices of farm products and the increased cost of production and of necessities farmers must buy. While the deflation in prices of agricultural products was in progress the Republican Administration enacted the Fordney-McCumber protection tariff, which is responsible for much of the increase in the cost of the necessities farmers must buy.

As integral parts of the human family we cannot ignore the existence of others. We are too closely united for that, and too, as human beings, we are in some respects much like sheep. We follow leaders—good leaders or bad—whichever one first offers to blaze the trail.

Sunday School Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 14

Jesus Driven From Nazareth

Lesson Text—Luke 4:18-30

Golden Text—"He hath anointed me to preach the gospel,"—Luke 4:18.

Primary Topic—Jesus Visits His Home Town.

Junior Topics—Jesus Faces a Mob. Jesus Explains His Message.

Young People and Adult Topic—The Mission of Christianity.

1. Jesus in the Synagogue (v. 16)

On the Sabbath day He went into the synagogue according to His custom. He no doubt went that day with a new and definite purpose, but it is refreshing to know that it was according to His habit.

Jesus Reading the Scriptures (vv. 17-19)

1. The Book Handed to Him (v. 17). It was not only His custom to take a part in the worship but to take a part in it. This privilege was not confined to the rabbis (Acts 13:15).

2. The Passage Read (Isaiah 61:1-2). Most likely this passage was chosen by Him with a specific purpose.

3. The Content of the Passage (v. 18-19).

(a) To preach the gospel to the poor. The good tidings which Jesus proclaimed are peculiarly welcome to the "meek and lowly-minded."

(b) To heal the broken-hearted. The gospel of Christ regularly meets the needs of those whose hearts are crushed by the weight of their own sins or by the burden of sorrow and disappointment.

(c) To preach deliverance to the captives. The gospel of Christ does actually set man free from the slavery of sin (John 8:36).

(d) Recovering of sight to the blind. Christ did actually make those who were physically blind to see (John 9:6-7) and also opened the eyes of those who were spiritually blind (1 John 5:20).

(e) To set at liberty them that are bruised. The power of Christ can free the most utterly hopeless ones.

(f) To preach the acceptable year of the Lord. The primary allusion is the year of Jubilee (Lev. 25:10) in which all those in bondage were released.

(g) The special endorsement of the Messiah (v. 19). The reason why the Spirit was upon Him was that He might fulfill specifically His Messianic work. It was not for the display of power. The endowment of the Holy Spirit is not for mere power's sake.

III. Jesus Exposing the Scriptures (vv. 20-21)

1. He Closed the Book and Set it Down. It seems to have been the custom of the Jewish teachers to sit while teaching.

2. "This Day Is This Scripture Fulfilled." This statement is no doubt a point of emphasis. He said, "I have just finished the Scriptures."

Their reception was characterized by—

1. Ignorant Prejudice (v. 22). "Is not this Joseph's son?" As if to say, "This is our fellow townsman with whom we have been acquainted for years. Surely, therefore, He cannot be the Messiah."

2. Unbelief as to His Supernatural Character (v. 23). They challenged Him to exhibit examples of divine power as He had done in other places.

3. Personal Jealousy (v. 24). Jealousy prevents us from seeing the essential worth of the men in our midst. Foreigners are more appreciative. A prophet is not accepted at home, primarily because he is a prophet. Phobets were sent in times of moral and spiritual declination and their messages were stern rebukes of sin. He adduces two outstanding examples of the willingness of foreigners to believe God.

(1) Elijah was sent to a widow at Sarepta (v. 25-26). Many widows of Israel were passed by due, doubtless, to the fact that they would not have received the prophet.

(2) Naaman, the foreigner, of many lepers was the only one cleansed.

4. Violent Hatred (v. 28-30). This comparison of the Jews to foreigners so stung their pride that they madly drove Him out of their city, even tried to kill Him. He showed them that just as Elijah had brought blessing to one who lived in Sidon and Elisha to one in Syria, while the people of Israel went on suffering, even so the Gentiles would receive the blessing of His saving power while they, the chosen nation, would suffer in unbelief.

RAIN DID NOT RETARD WORK IN REVIVAL

Despite the rain and threatening weather Thursday evening, the revival meeting of the Broadway Church of Christ which is being held at the City Auditorium was fairly well attended, and an enjoyable service was conducted.

The speaker was alert and active in his presentation of the lesson, stressing the fact that in Christ we are saved and that without Him we are lost.

The revival will be conducted over Sunday night, a large attendance being anticipated due to the interest that has been shown in the presentation of the revival.

Evangelist Dunn is a great speaker, a forceful preacher and a student of great knowledge of the Bible and that subjects, he selects to give to his hearers.

The people of Lubbock are especially the members of the congregation of that church and the pastor are to be congratulated upon securing such talent for this revival effort, and that it will have to do with carrying the church forward and giving new inspiration and a new conception of service to those who attend is not doubted. The services will be enjoyed and appreciated by you whether or not you are a member of this congregation, and a hearty welcome awaits you.

CASS COUNTY MAN ENTERS PIERCE LAW OFFICE

Hill Stewart, prominent attorney of Atlanta, Cass county, Texas, has established his home in Lubbock and is now law partner of Fred C. Pierce, well known local attorney.

The law firm of Pierce, Kemp & Stewart will probably be organized within a short time, and will handle cases in all courts.

Attorney Stewart was county attorney of Cass county two consecutive terms, and has figured in some of the big law suits of the state and Mr. Pierce stated that he was fortunate to have him locate in Lubbock and become identified with that firm.

His home is in Dallas and this is his first visit to the south plains.

Dr. Dieck is making this visit in order that he might gain first hand information in regard to the rapid developments in this section, and is delighted with this country and feels that a fine opportunity is offered to the Christian forces in and around Lubbock.

TO OUR GUEST

Since we have had you for a guest
You cannot go away
Within this room which offered rest
Forever you shall stay.
And though you pack your leather case
And tuck your things inside,
Always the smile upon your face
Shall here with us abide.
Henceforth whenever we shall chat
Our talk this way shall run:
Here is the chair where once you sat
When one glad day was done.

PAPERLESS EDITOR HERE FRIDAY FROM HIS TAHOKA HOME

Editor Bob Haynes, newspaperless at this time but nevertheless carrying all the ear marks of an editor, was here Friday looking after business and visiting his mother, Mrs. E. R. Haynes who accompanied him to his home at Tahoka the shop Friday afternoon.

Editor Bob says the ten pound boy arrived at his home on the 8th of this month is making rapid growth and will ere long be big enough to count in with the rest of the Tahoka boosters. Bob had been negligent in visiting his friends at the Avalanche office and he was heartily welcomed at the shop Friday afternoon.

POLITICAL SLIME

The State of Texas has descended just about as low in her political methods as civilization can reach and no go under. There are certain politicians located in various parts of Texas who, in their conduct, in order to defeat the candidates they do not like, or to elect the ones they do want, will not stop at sinking to the lowest depth of infamy. We have seen things that justify us in believing that if Jesus Christ should be in Texas during a political campaign and express himself upon the issues, there are politicians who would not hesitate to bribe a woman of the streets to make an affidavit derogatory to his moral character, if only they could hope to pull it without the recoil of public opinion upon them.

The net result of such methods of politics has been to produce a general campaign of mud slinging that has disgraced the public and dishonored our state. But worse still, it has produced a state of affairs where a good man will refuse to run for office. A good man does not want his good name besmirched before his neighbors. He does not want to go down in history with reports concerning his character such as politicians deal out to the public. He does not want his wife and children humiliated by such slime, for however blameless, some of that slime will stick to him.

A little man will pay the price to get an office. Hence, we have arrived at an era when peewee offer for office. Let it be understood that our statement is not universally true. We are only stating the general tendency of the day and this tendency will increase till the high-minded citizenry forever snow under such candidates so deep with an avalanche of votes that their voices will never again be heard to the debauchery of society. The correction of this evil lies with the voters. Can we depend upon them?—Home and State.

SPORT NEWS

WILLS HOOTS WILD STORIES TOLD OF FIRPO FIGHT

By United News.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—At a backyard fight club in Brooklyn one night, a preliminary boy who had shed enough gore to paint a string of box cars, suddenly projected his chin, incurred a glancing swipe and went off the spring board to a soft spot on the rug.

"Get up, you tank!" yelled the promoter of the bouts, who had promised horizontal fighter $5, win or lose. "Get out of that vat and fight!"

The kid rolled over and glared at the promoter through the slit of one swollen eye.

"Hey!" he exclaimed. "What do you guys want for $5, a civil war?"

Harry Wills advanced the same idea Friday when he had read all the reproachful accounts of the fight with Luis Angel Firpo in the Ricketts man-trap structure that sprawls over the late Mr. Boyer's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

Wills stepped into the ring against a demon, a fury, a wild bull of terrifying reputation—a freak fighter, who had knocked the great Jack Dempsey out of the ring. And he made $4,000 people-fee, sheepskin for allowing themselves to get excited over such a clumsy, preposterous pugilistic bout as Luis Angel Firpo of the Argentine.

Harry Wills had been hanging around all the time that Luis Angel was swelling his fortune and his hat-band by knocking over such men as Large Bill Brennan, young Jack McAuliffe, Joe McCann, Sailor Maxted and Jim Tracey, the human strag from Australia. The very first time Wills ever saw Firpo cloves, he turned to his stolid little lamp of a manager, Paddy Mullins, and said there were two things he craved.

"Give me a little change for supper?" Wills requested of Mullins, "and also gimme that guy."

The meacholy black man just nickled along, taking an occasional fight with some obscure field hand whenever the landlord became particularly insistent, and his melancholy deepened as he heard of Firpo's receiving $75,000 here, $50,000 there and casual royalties of $10,000 or $15,000 at a jump from certain movie rights. The day that Firpo pitched his right fist at poor, terrified Jack McAuliffe up at the Yankee stadium, Wills, shabby and unshaven, hooted himself out of a distant bleacher seat, the best he could afford, and went crashing past the ushers down to take fire for once.

Jack McAuliffe was fighting on the same program. At the ringside the policeman yanked him back by the collar so he tried to climb thru the ropes and take a smack at Firpo without even knowing who the demagogue was.

"White man," said Harry to the cop, "I want in there a minute. They're looking for some one to whip this flippo, ain't they? Ah'll lick him 'Ah'll lick Mistah Willard and if they can even knock Mah hat off in 15 rounds, Ah'll say they win."

Harry was nudged back to the bleachers by the hickory foot warmers of the ringside patrolmen and he remembered in distant obscurity that Firpo and his clumsy right hand were promoter to greater wealth than any other scrapper except Dempsey ever received.

Jack Dempsey knocked Firpo flopping all over the canvas at the polo grounds and stopped him in less than two rounds. But Dempsey didn't show him up. If he had done so, there would have been no customers for the Firpo Wills fight and no fight. But Dempsey merely ennobled the reputation of Firpo in brighter colors, for he, the great and only man killer, had let the clumsy Argentine slam him through the ropes.

Then Wills got into the ring with Firpo, and made him look ridiculous, took his right hand on the chin and laughed it off; beat him on his flat flabby flank until Firpo squealed with pain, exploded the great reputation and canceled Luis Angel Firpo forever. Harry thought he had done right well, considering the number of gent who had tried to whip Luis Angel. And then he began to hear Friday that he was a terrible piece of work and that Jack Dempsey, the one who was knocked out of the ring by Firpo, had left the fight in artistic disgust.

"What did they want from me any way?" Wills asked sadly, "another of them torso murders?"

The deals will involve approximately $500,000. The cattle are now being pastured on the Milliron range in Cottle, Motley, and Hall counties.

This is by far the largest livestock deal that has been made in the Panhandle in several years. The cattle involved are of the famous OX brand. Local cattlemen state that in acquiring the Milliron ranch and the other ranches, Mr. O'Brien has secured one of the finest ranches in the United States.

AMERICANS ARE HEAVY COFFEE DRINKERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Americans drink forty per cent more coffee than it did twelve years ago, according to reliable figures just made public by the Foodstuffs Division of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Despite this amazing gain, however, the coffee drinking palm does not belong to this country. Four European countries exceed it in per capita consumption. Denmark leads with 15.7 pounds per person; Sweden is second with 15.4 pounds; Holland, third, with 14.7 pounds and Norway, fourth with 14.3 pounds. These come the United States with an official government consumption of 12.47 pounds per capita.

Nor is an increase of forty per cent in coffee consumption giving America a record for the world to shoot at. Italy and France have eclipsed the feat of this country during the past twelve years by fifty six per cent and fifty-two per cent, respectively.

In the 1913 crop year there was retained for consumption in the United States 658,919,058 pounds, valued at $118,509,911. In 1924 (the crop year which ran from July 1, 1923 to June 30, 1924) there was retained for consumption here 1,398,342,211 pounds, valued at $291,689,142.

CAN'T NOMINATE SUCCESSOR TO JUDGE WILLIAM BOYCE

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 12.—Because of the inadequacy of the election law it is impossible for any party nominations to be made for Associate Justice of the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals in place of Judge William Boyce, resigned, effective Oct. 1. This was the opinion of the Attorney General, thru his assistant, L. C. Sutton.

As a result the Secretary of State will certify that the vacancy is to be filled and that the official ballot must contain space for writing in names those to be voted for.

Mr. Sutton, the election law expert, said the law provides that the executive committee shall make nominations where a nominee declines to run, but that in this instance the nominee is not refusing to run. It is the resignation of a member of the court whose term had not expired.

"The King Can Do No Wrong"

It doesn't make much difference what a king wears. His subjects instinctively approve of his choice whether it be broadcloth or burlap. In new clothes or old, in style or out, he's still the king. And the king can do no wrong.

But it's different with the average American—vastly different. Only a very few are famous enough to disregard fashion. When they do, they're thought of as merely eccentric. The rest of us cannot afford to disregard public approval.

We've got to look likewhat we wish to be taken for.

DAVIS BITTERLY ASSAILS KLAN

HURLS BROADSIDE ATTACK DESPITE ADVICE OF HIS FRIENDS

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 12.—Disregarding the advice of his board of strategy to avoid the Klan issue, J. W. Davis, democratic standard-bearer, came today to Denver where the order proved its dominion of the republican party in Tuesday's primaries and immediately took an indirect slap at the Klan. The defiance of the democratic candidate was hurled in a speech before the associated civic clubs of the city, where all stripes of political belief was represented.

Davis's advisers who sat about him were taken aback at the bold manner in which the democratic standard-bearer struck out at the Klan and flayed it with biting sarcasm. "We hear much in this country of Americans," said Davis, "and we hear no little of 100 per cent Americans—whatever that may mean—and I wonder some times whether we really take to heart that term and undertake to define it for ourselves."

Fully 7,000 people crowded in the auditorium where Davis outlined his views of the problems that face the people of the west. For the first time in the campaign, he referred to Fall and Doherty, Doherty and Sinclair by name in reviewing the events that led up to the "secret bargaining" of Teapot Dome and the California Naval Oil Reserves to the oil men.

Referring to conservation plank in the republican platform which states that the policy was originally by Roosevelt and that the republican party holds it a privilege to build as a memorial to him, the American foundation that he laid, Davis said: "Shades of the mighty dead! It will be a sorry memorial if it is adorned, when erected, with a statuette of Albert B. Fall."

Davis warned the farmers of the west who are dependent for the most part on irrigation, that the whole reclamation experiment may become discredited unless the governments adopt a more liberal policy toward the settlers.

Throughout his speech, Davis assailed the republican administration and policies and dealt on his "conclusion honesty" in government issue and asked the voters to hold the republican party as a political organization to strict accountability "of which is its due."

Col. George Harvey, the erstwhile political sage, now editor of the North American Review, asserts that neither Davis nor LaFollette can win a majority of the electoral vote and it is doubtful if Coolidge can do so. He says the paramount issue is "Coolidge or Chaos." It is a good political slogan, and no doubt will be used for that purpose, much as "Back to Normalcy" was used during the Harding campaign through the results have been repudiated by all parties. While Mr. Coolidge is held in high esteem in conservative political circles it must be admitted that Mr. Davis's speech was a stunner and that Mr. LaFollette's 36 years' record as a statesman has no equal for good work accomplished in legislation. To say that a failure to elect any of these men or any other American Citizen for that matter means "chaos" is a reflection on our whole governmental system and is not good politics. It has the flavor of what is commonly termed demagoguery. This government is a very stable institution and will continue to function in good order and with a reasonable amount of prosperity regardless of what individual occupies the White House. So long as the House of Congress functions, the people will have a voice, and the record shows that may be trusted to get what they want when they want it.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRUCKLOAD OF 16 OVERTURNS

SHERIFFS ASK RETURN OF NOOZE AS PUNISHMENT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 12.—Six girls were thrown from a skidding truck which was carrying 16 students of an Indian reservation to the scene of Defense Day exercises Friday. Velma Peai, a 12-year old Hopi, and Anna Belle Crane, 14, a Navajo girl, died from their injuries. Alice Flores is not expected to live and the other three have serious injuries. The accident occurred when the truck swerved around a corner. Police say it was overcrowded, which caused the fatalities.

THOUSANDS TAKE PART IN DEFENSE TESTS HERE

(Continued from page 1) The country were staged for the formation of a potent citizen army ready for the call—for most of those who marched were in citizens clothes or wore outfits which had been dragged from the moths in the back dusty closets for the occasion.

General Pershing, in an open air address, following the review which was heard by thousands gathered on the grassy ellipse back of the white house, urged that the defense test be an annual event, declaring that "only by such practice and such exercise can either the personnel of the regular service of the citizens committee be kept abreast of the progress to be expected from further experience and further discussion."

"The citizen army of the United States is more efficient today than it was yesterday and our peace is just that much more secure," secretary of War Weeks declared in an address preceding that of Pershing.

Weeks explained that the law of expansion called for by the national defense act provides for the regular army being a skeleton for the civilian army, and that in this emergency force thus formed there are three civilians to every soldier.

We hope as a result of today's experience to add a home training plan to our decentralized organization and expansion plans," he said. "In the event of another emergency our young men would then receive as much training as possible, in their own cities instead of being rushed away to large concentration camps."

Both Weeks and Pershing expressed themselves as satisfied with the defense test here and it was said at the white house that the president considered it a very fine demonstration and in a way a compliment to General Pershing. Thousands lined Pennsylvania avenue to watch the parade, which led from the capitol around the beautiful drive back of the white house where the review stand was located, across the drive, on the edge of the ellipse.

LOCAL DIVISION OF HIGHWAY DEPT. MAY RECEIVE SHIPMENT OF EQUIPMENT SOON THAT THEY NEED AT THIS TIME

The purchase of the half million dollars worth of road building and maintenance machinery made by the State Highway Department announced in the newspaper with Austin date line of September 10 is of much interest to local people interested in the work of Division Engineer Baker of the 5th Division of the State Highway Department with headquarters in Lubbock. Approximately six or eight ten ton Holt tractors with complete grading outfits, comprising the "floating gang" outfits which will be equipped with a twelve foot grades and finisher, three backhoes, three wheel loaders, three dump trucks, a cook house, all of which will be on trucks, and two or three two-ton trucks will be received here within a short time, according to Engineer Baker will be in demand immediately upon arrival.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee which was appointed to securing a shop and storage building for this equipment, will have to do their work in little time if they are to accommodate the highway department in this connection.

County Judge P. F. Brown told an Avalancher representative Thursday that the members of the commissioners court are looking a bit more favorable upon the highway department, and personally he is very anxious to have the court cooperate with the department in every way possible. A meeting of the court with representatives from Lubbock, Slaton, Idalson and Shallowater has been suggested by Commissioner Wheeler of Idalson, at which time they hope to have Engineer Baker confer with them concerning future plans in this county. Judge Brown is hopeful that this meeting will result in a better understanding between the commissioners and the highway engineer. "This court and the department engineers do not know one another and therefore do not understand one another well enough for a spirit of cooperation to exist and I sincerely hope that this meeting will tend to bring them closer together," Judge Brown stated.

He declared that the department had shown a fine spirit of cooperation, and that every bit of road machinery they had used was given back to the county even in better condition than when taken over by them, and that a fair rental had been paid during every day the department used any of the county's machinery. He further stated that the men employed by the commissioners to run the machinery were retained in every instance by the highway engineers, who merely instructed them as to what kind of work they were to do. This fact alone has made cooperation with them an easy and pleasant thing but we must do more to aid them in their work," Judge Brown said.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee looking to the erection of a building to store the department's equipment and where a shop may be established are looking to the commissioners court for help in this matter, and they are anxious concerning the outcome of the meeting that will be held with the commissioners the representatives of the four towns mentioned above and the highway engineer.

The arrival of the roadbuilding machinery which has been bought for this division will mean the beginning of much better highways through this section. The department has done much for the improvement of our highways, but have been handicapped because they have had no automotive equipment of their own and have been limited in the use of the county's tractors.

MORE THAN 1,000 ENROLLED IN THE SLATON SCHOOL

SLATON, Sept. 12 — Monday morning the largest number of pupils in the history of the Slaton schools enrolled for work. The exact number has not been reported but something over a thousand at least have reported for classification. At nine o'clock the grade children and their teachers and principal met at their respective wards and were enrolled. The East ward not having an auditorium did not get to have assembly but entered immediately into the work of enrolling and issuing books. The West ward children met in the auditorium at nine o'clock and had a short chapel service. Each of the teachers made a short talk and expressed his or her pleasure at being in the Slaton school. Some gave a brief outline of the work they hoped to do this year. Each one was welcomed with a hearty cheer from the pupils.

MARKETS

EASING MOVEMENT FELT AS TRADE DIMINISHES

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Trading was greatly diminished on the stock exchange on Friday with the total sales less than 600,000 shares. Traders however, sense an easing of the tension that has prevailed all week. Shorts did not appear too sure of their ground and hesitated to pursue the decline in oils very far although the reductions in gasoline prices to the extent of two to three cents a gallon in eleven states in the middle west formed an excellent basis upon which to start another bear drive. Indeed, pressure from all sources seemed to relax when it became evident that the money market was not tightening.

The two per cent call money rate which will rule until the opening of business on Monday was undoubtedly responsible for much of the late buying which came into the market on Friday. In connection with the September 15 turnover in government funds, the treasury will withdraw $9,482,150 from deposits with member banks in this district on Monday. This marks the first withdrawal by government from its New York balances in a considerable period.

The weekly summaries of business while admitting certain irregularities in trade points out that the movement is toward expansion. The heaviest carding of the year, the surprising gain in the unfilled steel tonnage and the greater distribution of merchandise as evidenced by the bank clearings, are set forth as indicative of the present trend of affairs. In fact, the cooler weather is calculated to stimulate retail buying so that September may show a substantial gain in the comparison of trade figures with those of a year ago.

Dun's review records the week's failures as 319 against 236 a year ago. Of this week's failures, 153 had liabilities of $5,000 or more in each instance, which is equivalent to 49.8 per cent of the aggregate number against 49.7 for the corresponding week last year when such failures totalled 147.

Chicago's general clearing bank clearings for the United States for the week at $7,805,156,000 against $8,965,213,000 last week and $6,713,624,000 during the corresponding week last year. Canadian clearings aggregated $251,550,000 compared with $228,108,000 a year ago.

Sentiment was better in commodity markets. Cotton broke to the lowest levels in more than a year. Traders scanned the weather map closely, and when heavy rains were reported in Texas, many took the view that this moisture is beneficial to the market broke under the pressure of the Southern hedge selling, with nothing but scattered buying to sustain it.

Kansas City Livestock. KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12.—The cattle market was from 15 to 25c lower Friday with receipts liberal, and a fair amount of fat steers in the market.

Hogs receipts were light and the market steady. The market: Cattle receipts 2,000; calves 300; most grain fed steers dull with Thursday's late arrivals; practical top hand weights 10 to 25c decline; little done on heavy shot and hedge selling and prices generally steady; stockers and feeders moderately active; steady.

COTTON AND GRAIN. Furnished by Fenner & Beane. Grain. CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(Via Private Wire). WHEAT: Consistent buying by houses with seaboard and foreign connections while selling largely limited to profit taking on upturns, hedging pressure was lighter than for some time. Weather conditions unsettled and interfering with harvesting. CORN: Early liquidation met with broad commission house buying and the market worked higher. Bulge brought out profit taking. Weather forecast fair and cooler. Interest in the trade much broader. A local expert down in Illinois wired today it would take fully four weeks to mature fifty per cent of the corn and that the other fifty per cent was in the blister stage and looked hopeless.

OATS: Hedging pressure was much lighter, while there was buying by commission houses that indicated a broader outside interest in the market. Prices averaged higher. Weather unsettled and country offerings to arrive light. Excellent class of buying in oats. The trade light.

Cotton. NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(Via Private Wire)—The market opened higher on strength in Liverpool sold off on increased hedging selling and general selling for Wall Street account. Rather heavy rains were reported in northern Texas that being construed as detrimental to open cotton but beneficial for continued growth of plant.

Street business still quiet. Spot news mixed with some claims of a steadier basis. There seems to be no faith in the permanency of any upturns in cotton.

COTTON NEW ORLEANS. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—(Via Private Wire) After an early bulge the cotton market met with heavy short and hedge selling and dropped 90 points within an hour. There were occasional rallies after that from shorts taking profit but these met with free offerings and did not hold long and closing sales were 48 net lower. The early advance was due to good cables and belief that general rains reported over Texas and Oklahoma were detrimental. Much of the buying was from short covering. The buying let up as soon as the Governments pars for the next report was received and the market was soon called upon to absorb a flood of fresh selling and hedging.

These sales add nearly 14 pounds to the Government's idea of a one hundred percent which if now figures as this the bureau would have to show more than the ten year loss to indicate a smaller crop than the 12,787,000 credited on Sept. 10. The average loss for the half month is three points. Consequently it would take under 50 which would be over the average loss to show any reduction. Claims from spot houses and others that the Texas rains while damaging the grade will add materially to the crop with a late frost proved a disturbing influence.

Sentiment leans to the selling side and this coupled with a possibility of another estimate from the Government in ten days is likely to stimulate bearish operations and keep values on the down-grade for a time.

SLAYERS OF ROBERT FRANKS ALMOST BREAK INTO HYSTERIA AS NUMBERED MATES SING OF SEEING HOME FOLKS

By HAROLD ANDREWS.

STATE PENITENTIARY JOLIET

Ills., Sept. 12.—Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb, the brilliant "intellectual smart alecks, the disciples of a philosophy that admits of no sentiment who beat on the life of a 14 year old boy without a qualm of emotion were unable to snicker at a commonplace, mawkish little song behind the walls of the great prison.

In the bleak and barren assembly hall of this institution of silence, and suffering a thousand grey faced outcasts filed mechanically Friday to catch a glimpse of the society to which they no longer belonged by listening to a patriotic program.

A dull faced old man sitting beside the "super intellectuals" led the chorus in a high shrill voice: "So within the prison cell, "We are waiting for the day, "That shall come to open wide the iron door."

"And the hollow eye grows bright "And the poor heart almost gay, "As we think of seeing home and friends once more."

Some of the men—the numbers—stirred into life and a light flickered in their eyes. But no light kindled the countenances of Leopold and Loeb. The humble song went on and on almost monotonously.

Leopold bowed his head, the close cropped head that somehow was now reminiscent of the sleek one that appeared in Judge Caverly's court room, and wept silently for a few moments. Loeb's large brown eyes glistened with tears, but he grinned and twisted about on the rough pine bench, as though in pain.

What saved the youths from hysteria, were the vibrant strains of a brass band which suddenly broke out in a stirring patriotic air. Slowly Loeb's lips fixed into a smile. He sought the eyes of Leopold, who had recovered himself by applauding the song. As if mimicking his companion in crime, Loeb suddenly began to clap his hands.

When the exercises were over their nonchalance returned and as they filed out of the assembly room they whispered to each other, it is against the rules for prisoners to talk at all, but 'Babe' and 'Dickie' have not yet learned all the rules, so they were not yanked out of line by a guard. There is no conversation for men in prison. But those who are there very long talk in a secret language and soon Leopold, who can discourse in fifteen languages, will learn another.

Thus passed the first few hours of prison life for the slayers of Robert Franks. To every one concerned with the institution, the day was a holiday, given over to "defense day" celebrations. There was no work for any one and the multitude of prisoners obviously enjoyed the fact.

To "Dickie" Loeb, and Nathan Leopold, however, and to those who have followed them step by step since the spring of '23, they were brought to the office of the states attorney, it was a mock affair. There was a tremendous difference in the "super intellectuals," dressed as they were in their grey uniforms Friday from the smiling and flippant youths who had made epigrams about life in the office of the states attorney, a short time before.

The youths arose at 6 o'clock Friday morning, and ate a breakfast of beef stew, bread butter, coffee and syrup. After that they were led to the barber shop. Next they were taken to the prison store and fitted with new blue-grey suits cut on the exact pattern that all prisoners wear. When they filed into the assembly room one of the women reporters, seeing them in their new gear, and overcome began to weep in pity for their plight.

When the exercises were over, the boys were ushered in the "reception room" of the prison where, by special permission of the warden, they were to be interviewed by the reporters. Leopold appeared greatly depressed. He took a seat next to Loeb and after folding his arms said shortly: "Not a word."

"I'd be glad to talk," said Loeb, "But we are under orders."

"We can't talk," Leopold Jr., reiterated and both refused point blank to draw any comparison between the county jail and the state institution.

That was all. A moment later, the guards informed them that the five minutes were up, and the newest convicts went back into their obscurity. It was pointed out that if tips were made in conversation that would indicate that they were responsible for the murder of Freeman L. Tracy, merchant-engineer, it would be possible for the state to indict them again.

Examinations were given the youths during the afternoon and they were later returned to their cells which are dismal little affairs.

By straining their necks Loeb and Leopold who have lost freedom forever may catch a little glimpse of the sky above. Some times for a few moments a streak of sunlight will flood their tiny rooms. But for most of the time it will be twilight in their cells as it must be twilight in their hearts.

LUCKY DEFENSE TEST DEMONSTRATION

generations was declared by the speaker, to demand our proper observance of "Mobilization Day."

Judge Pharr told his hearers that this government is spending twenty thousand dollars annually right here in Lubbock for the maintenance of Battery C, and said it was doing much for the betterment of the young men of this city.

Rev. Jennings speaks. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's," was the quotation with which Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian Church, opened his address on the subject, "Religious Preparedness."

Mr. Jennings has become known here as one of the most practical orators of the community, and his hearers were entertained and impressed with the splendid manner in which he handled his subject.

Humanity has known three destructive elements to its national welfare and experience—famine, pestilence and war. Commerce, with its fastmoving trains and powerful seagoing vessels, distributing the foodstuffs of the world with clock-like accuracy and in short time all sections of the globe has killed famine. Science, with its constant watchfulness and battling with yellow fever, smallpox, etc., have left them strangled and bleeding at the side of the path along with humanity is moving ever upward and onward. "But Who Shall Kill War?" the minister asked, and in giving his answer declared "Religion alone can kill war."

"We as a Christian nation, we thirst for conquest, without lust for war, working harmoniously to the ends of peace, standing in our might for right, might achieve this," he declared, pointing out that while we as a nation participate in this national defense test, must remember that only a religious nation is authorized to go to war in defense of its homes, its country, and everything that make it the home of a Christian people.

"Just as long as men go to war for the wrong, just so long shall Christians have to go to war for the right," the minister said, and he declared "that if this nation is to have war thrust upon it again it must be prepared."

His remarks were closed with a touching tribute to the men who gave their lives upon the field of battle for the security of our homes and our nation's honor, reading in his eloquent manner "In Flanders Fields," the war poem that stirs the heart and conscience of its readers everywhere.

Mullican Upholds Test. Col. Clark M. Mullican, overseas veteran who has spent the greater part of a useful life in the military service of his country and who is now judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court, was introduced by the chairman and asked to explain to the less than two hundred people who occupied the auditorium the national defense act and defense day.

Judge Mullican opened his address by calling attention to the fact that on that day the American people were not only celebrating mobilization day but were also celebrating the 64th birthday of the nation's war hero, General John J. Pershing, who Saturday will retire from the army. Much applause greeted the speaker when he mentioned the name of the war general.

Mobilization day, the defense test and preparedness are not thoroughly understood by all our people. Preparedness is not in any means preparation for war, but preparation for peace," Judge Mullican declared.

At least this will be the case in the Pittsburgh regions, according to the list of "don'ts" for women laid down by Mrs. Wm. Wolff Smith of Washington who is in charge of the school where republican political workers are being trained in spell-binding.

Possibly with an eye toward the usual verdict brought in by a jury whose members have been subjected to an exposure of silken ankles and full-shapred calves, Mrs. Smith explained that she doesn't want this line of comment to follow the woman's address:

"Now Mrs. So and So's point on Teapot Dome was well discussed, was it not?"

"I don't know, dearie, I wasn't so much interested in that as I was her hat. Will that be the rage this fall do you think?"

So to forestall that she had listed this among the other don'ts: "Don't wear an extreme style or a hat that will cause women in the audience to be more interested in it than in what you are telling them."

Of course the pronoun has no place in the political address warns Mrs. Smith and dangling earrings and anything that bobs and tends to make the audience nervous must not be worn.

WOMEN CANDIDATES ASKED TO CHANGE THEIR TACTICS

By United News.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12.—

When Mrs. Politician bids her hard working and less interested hubby farewell to journey forth to tell the voters what's what, and why, she will be a rather dull number sartorially speaking.

At least this will be the case in the Pittsburgh regions, according to the list of "don'ts" for women laid down by Mrs. Wm. Wolff Smith of Washington who is in charge of the school where republican political workers are being trained in spell-binding.

ACTRESS' ATTORNEY DENIES CHARGE OF "NIGHT PARTY"

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Mabel Normand, who vaulted into film stardom from the comely ranks of Mac Sennett's Bathing Girls, played golf Friday and let her attorney do the talking.

C. O. Bacon complied pleasantly with an admission that the dark-eyed comedienne was the one meant when Mrs. Georgia Church, in an amended divorce complaint filed here accused her husband of being host to "night parties" in a local hospital.

But he followed that statement with a complete denial of Mrs. Church's charges.

"Miss Normand was at her home, suffering from an abscessed ear, at the time this complaint declares she was in the same hospital with Norman Church," Bacon said. "We will be able to prove that definitely when the time comes."

In the divorce action which Mrs. Church is bringing, she states that her husband taunted her with accounts of his intimacy with Miss Normand upon his recovery from an automobile accident which had caused his hospital confinement.

According to his story, Mrs. Church states, Miss Normand in a filmy, clinging nightgown, formed the habit of skipping into Church's hospital room, drinking whiskey, with him and climaxing the visits with a revue of the most risqué of naughty stories. Church even went so far as to bring home collection of faded flowers, his wife states, telling her that they had been Miss Normand's parting gift to him and that she bestowed them along with an endearing message.

Hollywood's Mabel, the gay and fun loving girl whose last New Years party at the apartment of Courtland S. Dimes was broken into by the sharp plug of bullets which plowed into her hosts body is successfully away from inquiring reporters and letting her attorney do the interviewing.

In the past inquisitive newspapermen have been blamed for sudden trans-Atlantic voyages and skips across the country, but now Miss Normand chooses to play golf.

DAVIS ELECTION IMPOSSIBLE GOP SPEAKER SAYS

By United News.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—

This is the real battle in the 1924 presidential campaign Montaville Flowers, of Pasadena, California, speaker for the republican national committee declared in an address before the School for Women Campaigners in the Alt Shook Unitarian church.

It is impossible for Mr. Davis to be elected," Flowers said. "The only danger of the situation is that the election may be thrown into the house of representatives."

At the time this complaint declares she was in the same hospital with Norman Church," Bacon said. "We will be able to prove that definitely when the time comes."
