CITY WATER SUPPLY HERE BEING INCREASED

Lubbock's water supply is to be adequate for the most extraordinary demands when plans of the city have been completed, which call for the completion of at least two new wells, the construction of a huge elevated reservoir and two underground reservoirs where such supply of water will be stored as to meet any emergency. The above photograph shows the well that has just been completed in the northwest part of the city near the Tech site with the high pressure, modern pump in action, pulling from an inexhaustible supply twelve thousand gallons of pure water per minute. This water is being pumped into the water mains in the west part of the city.

300 TAKE TO ROUT AS TOWN CLEAN UP OPENS

By United News
THREE SANDS, Okla., Oct. 1.—Peace settled over this little town Wednesday night. Founded on oil, its righteous and hard working people the prey of underworld vultures who was following booms of one kind or another. These Sands has never been what one could call quiet and peaceful. Card sharks, hijackers, and treacherous bootleggers lived on the fringe of the tiny village, and came in town on pay day. Shooting and fighting followed. The climax came last week when J. J. Axtrem, an oil worker, was shot and killed. Citizens held mass meetings, and decided to appeal to Governor M. L. Trapp and U. S. Marshal Alva McDonald to hasten up enforcement of the law which they said was decidedly lax. McDonald came into town Wednesday and the clean up began. The moving orders passed up and down the line and undesirable citizens numbering around 300 did not hesitate to take side door pullman in their hurried exit. Eddie "Blackie" Owens, paroled convict, has been arrested in Ponca City, Okla., on a charge of killing Axtrem. Accompanied by Louis Blackwell who signed his parole bond the alleged slayer walked into police station there and surrendered, according to word received here. Meanwhile the folks here looked forward to a restful night's sleep.

CHAS. OLSON IN CITY WITH COTTON BELT SHOW

CHAS. Olson, well known here among sport fans for his several appearances during the summer season of this year, is in the city again, but this time with the Cotton Belt Show which is furnishing a good part of the amusement at the fair grounds during the four-day program.

Olson is of the middleweight class, and is being sided by "Roughhouse" Sweeney, also in this division. He says that the bars are down for those who wish a little amusement and warming up, with a good bounty to the man who successfully stays with either he or his companion for one minute or more.

which is now in press at the McMillan Publishing Company. The book tells of a century of education in Texas. It is so planned that it may be used as a text. The introduction was written by Dr. W. S. Sutton, former acting president of the University.

"The history of Texas education has a peculiar importance for the student of education," said Dr. Eby, "and even in a much larger way for

ANNUAL CONGRESS SAFETY COUNCIL NOW OPEN

By United Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 30.—A new method of dealing with the national accident problem was announced by the National Safety Council when it opened its 13th annual safety congress here today.

The council proposes to enlist the aid of all national associations whose interests in any way touch upon the street and highway problem.

C. B. Auel, vice-president of the council, explained how the new program would supplement the efforts of American cities, most of which have reduced public accident fatalities during the first six months of 1924 in comparison with the same period in 1923.

Harland artholomow, St. Louis, and Morris Knowles, Pittsburgh, two of the country's best-known city planning engineers, are to introduce bills on city planning and safety at the public safety session of the congress.

CLERKS ADJOURNED CONVENTION AT NOON TUESDAY. The second annual convention of West Texas County and District Clerks adjourned here Tuesday at midnight.

The convention was a most profitable one for all in attendance due to the fact that all problems concerning these "service" officers were discussed and settled.

JOHNSON, REFUTES CHARGE REGARDING LA FOLLETTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson broke his silence here Tuesday just long enough to deny having issued a "how about" clause.

The statement in question quoted the California senator who was a candidate for the republican nomination for the presidency as declaring that California "progressives can vote the socialist ticket" if they have to.

The implication was that the author of the statement favored progressive voters—and progressive voters in California is a term which Johnson often has applied to his large following—voting the socialist ticket or, in other words, for LaFollette.

Women Take Prominent Part in 1924 Campaign for the Presidency; Three Who Are Leaders in Republican Camp

MRS. GRACE S. BURLINGHAM, MRS. MIRIAM S. HOLLOWELL, MRS. E. C. GILTNER.

When the amendment to the Constitution regarding suffrage to women became effective, women have taken a very active part in national politics. This presidential year they are the fight tooth and nail on both sides—refuting the views of opponents of suffrage who predicted apathy on the part of women, even if they were granted the privilege of the vote.

Pictured above are three national committeewomen. Mrs. Grace S. Burlingham, at the left, is from Missouri, and is well known for her organization work in politics. She founded and actively built up the Republican Women's Club of St. Louis, and was its first president, holding that office for two years. She has been president of the 25th Ward Republican Organization since women entered politics. In addition to that, she is manager of the Women's Co-Operative Clubs of America for her state.

Thomas P. Hollowell is Warden of the state penitentiary at Fort Madison. During their early married life her husband was a poet, master, and ran a Republican newspaper, and it was through him that she became well grounded in state politics. When the war came, Mrs. Hollowell volunteered and paper during his absence. During the past winter she served as secretary chairman of the Campaign Committee. She is a member of the Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. E. C. Giltner, of Portland, Oregon, shown above at the right, not only is national campaign woman for her state, but has been associated with the Oregon State Committee for a number of years. During the World War she served overseas, her work in the British being noted as of exceptional value.

SENSATIONAL ARMY MURDER CASE GOES TO TRIAL

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 30.—The United States government today began prosecution against Roland Pothier, former Camp Lewis sergeant, accused of the alleged murder of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, Oct. 25, 1918.

The prosecution and defense began laying ground with care. The only juror to be challenged by the government was D. W. Nadeau Tacoma who was excused for cause because he declared himself opposed to capital punishment. The Cronkhite case was an unique mystery in army circles. It was during a practice march that Major Cronkhite, with Captain Robert Rosenbluth and Sergeant Pothier stalked off into the woods together. Several shots were fired. Captain Rosenbluth and Sergeant Pothier returned, saying the major had accidentally shot himself while practicing firing.

his sons death. It resulted in the arrest of Major Cronkhite's two companions. Subsequently Pothier signed a confession saying he was responsible for the death of Major Cronkhite. He said his pistol was accidentally discharged. Next he changed his story saying Captain Rosenbluth ordered him to shoot Cronkhite. He made several statements and finally repudiated them, claiming to have been induced to "confess" under duress by third degree methods. A grand jury later investigated and charged Pothier and Rosenbluth with murder. The latter will face trial Oct. 22.

KILLED MAN AND TAKES OWN LIFE BEFORE ARREST
VENTURA, Calif., Sept. 30.—While 500 men and boys, armed with revolvers, shotguns and pitch forks searched through the hills near here for Wm. Williams, wanted for the murder of Henry Blunt early Monday, Williams' lifeless body was found within a few yards of the scene of the first killing. Williams had taken his own life, officers said. His quarrel with Blunt had been over attentions which the latter had paid to Williams' daughter and the shooting followed several heated arguments between the two men. JAPS WIN ARGUMENT OF ARBITRATION PROPOSALS

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Japan has been victorious in her fight to make it possible for her to bring the migration question before the league of nations. After four days of critical negotiations in which Japan threatened to refuse to sign the league disarmament, arbitration, and security protocol unless amended to cover her migration difficulties, a compromise was reached Tuesday by which Japan won her point. In a league session which included representatives of fifty powers, the arbitration commission unanimously accepted the compromise solution which has been reached regarding Japan's amendments to the protocol. This solution provides: 1. That the fact that the Hague court has decided that a dispute involves a question of domestic jurisdiction will not prevent the league council or assembly from taking up the dispute under article eleven of the league covenant. This provided for in the first Japanese amendment. 2. That a state endeavoring to settle a dispute after the Hague court has reached a decision that the dispute is of a domestic character will not be presumed to be the aggressor if it fails previously to submit the case to the league of council, under article eleven of the covenant. This covers points raised by the second Japanese amendment. The solution has been approved by representatives of leading powers. Sir Cecil Hurst, of Britain, declares that he is convinced that the solution does not increase the powers of the league council and does not violate the sovereignty of its members.

JUDGE ONCE DROVE MISSOURI MULES, TOO

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—Arrested and charged with driving a team of mules carelessly, Burnett Burk, touched a sympathetic strain in Judge Ira S. Gardner's heart when he declared that a Missouri mule is the most contrary brute in the world and two mules are unmanageable when they make up their minds. "Only an act of God can stop a team of mules when they get started," Burk told Judge Gardner. "You're discharged," said the judge, recalling his experiences with Missouri mules. The mules had collided with three motor cars and kicked a fender from a fourth.

GIANTS ENTRAIN FOR CAPITOL THURSDAY

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—About three o'clock Thursday afternoon the New York Giants will excuse themselves from a town that rewards a champion ball club with silent cheers and take a train for Washington where the populace says it will limousines and loving cups, yells, yips and yellow backs.

The Giants will keep their ears caulked with cotton wads to keep out the deafening silence of the town whose name they wear across their shirt fronts until their train has shot through the tunnel beneath the Hudson river's goosy floor and reached the uproarious sale meadow wastes of Jersey.

The soundless stillness of those swamps will be a heartening tumult by comparison with the din of New York, whose millions of people have not yet piped a single cheer for the winners of the pennant in the National League.

The Giants do not expect to be snuffed to the bosom of Washington as the Senators were when they landed back there Wednesday afternoon. But they hope to be treated with hostile warmth as a dangerous enemy and not be ignored as they have been in Manhattan.

After all when a man is hated he is somebody.

The team went to Ossining Wednesday to play a benefit game with the variety of dear old Yodel-Yodel from whose class rooms so many generations distinguished assassins, burglars and followers of other gentle arts have been graduated in the hundred odd years since the founding. After being counted in through the warden's own entrance they were shown all the generous hospitality which makes Sing Sing the favorite prison of America, before being ushered to their cells to dress.

Hank Gowdy, who was shot at almost continuously for the better part of a year when he was guarding the colors of the Ohio infantry in France, chanced to remark that Sing Sing was not a tough spot at all compared to some spots which he had occupied on yonder side of the Atlantic. Whereupon Lewis E. Lawa, the warden, a most considerable host, conducted Henry Gowdy through a little green door and showed him a crude but sturdy article of furniture, to-wit, one chair. It was festooned with coils of wire and other apparatus which gave it a sinister appearance.

"Perhaps, Mr. Gowdy," the conducting keeper suggested, "perhaps you've been in some tougher spots than that one?"

"Speaking of ball games," said Mr. Gowdy, with gay irrelevancy, "what time do we play? Of course I should like to remain here, and admire your furniture, but after all, the crowd's waiting, and I don't suppose I ought to keep them in this the way out?"

The Giants, as they were called on the score board, a shifting miscellany of obscure recruits and exalted regulars, beat the Sing Sing team 11 to 4, as 1,200 visitors on an equal body of resident undergraduates jiggered and swung their arms to keep warm in the breeze of the river. Lines of restraint were very loosely held and the prisoners mingled freely with the guests, putting them at ease. In fact, one of the lads ran away out to centerfield to grab a handful of grass for Hughey Jennings to nibble when Hughey had plucked a few scattered spots from the barren zone of the third base coaching box. Arthur Nehf, the Giants left-handed pitcher, served a few innings in right field but caught the afternoon dog train and rode back over the dreary wastes to the populous regions of the infield and pitched the rest of the game.

Jennings recognized one of his old Detroit players on the Sing Sing bench and there was another former professional late of the International League playing first base for the home club. It is customary however, to refrain from stressing the identity of men recognized on visits to Sing Sing.

DELEGATIONS FROM FORMER WARRING NATIONS MEET

By United Press.
 PARIS, Oct. 1.—The cooling of the dove of peace was heard the length of the Quai du Orsay as the French and German delegations met here to negotiate for a new commercial treaty between the erstwhile warring nations. A few weeks ago Germany's representatives met with the French and other allies at London, on an equal footing for the first time since the war. Wednesday they met thus a second time in an atmosphere even more friendly and almost cordial.

"We are going to try to write a new chapter of peace," Premier Herriot declared in welcoming the German delegation which is headed by Herr Trendelenburg.

"A treaty of commerce, undertaken under present conditions is much more than a contract for our material interests. It is a work for rapprochement and civilization."

"Let me promise you that you will meet from the French the frankest sincerity and loyalty, without any ulterior motives, and the willingness to settle in the most liberal spirit any difficulty which may arise."

Leopold Von Roesch, German ambassador to France, replied to Herriot. His response was in the same vein.

He referred to the excellent situation created by the London protocol, and the circumstances of the present negotiations and declared that these conferences "constituted a new road which must conduct us to normal relations between our two countries."

"The London accord aimed to bring the reparations question from the political to the economical and financial sphere he said. These negotiations have precisely the same object. If we are successful, it will be an important step in the new and important progress toward the settlement of all relations between the two countries."

ELEPHANT GOES ON STAMPEDE; 2 ACTORS HURT

By United News.
 HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 1.—Terrorified by the realism of a studio storm, "Minnie" a huge elephant used in Universal film company productions, stampeded through a jungle scene set Tuesday, and severely injured two actors.

A circus picture was being filmed. The scenario called for a jungle storm and the wind and rain machines began their work in a way that caused the big jungle beast to break from its trainer and start on a lumbering cruise of destruction through the set. The elephant, after wrecking most of the property in its path, finally made its way unaided to the company stables.

INDIA THREATENS TO THROW OFF THE BRITISH YOKE

By CLIFFORD DAY.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Everything looks ripe for a spell of disorderly living in Bengal, and something along the lines of an old-fashioned Irish Easter.

Bengal has a worse record for assassination and bomb-throwing than any other province in India, and Bengal is in the van of the fire-eating element that is out for a United States of India.

Throughout the summer, the troublemakers have remained comparatively dormant. But three sets of foreign world-fliers having now finished putting the country back on the map, the home-rule advocates are again busy.

C. R. Das, India's DeValera, continues at the head of the independence-seeking Swarajists. He definitely took over the leadership from Gandhi, the champion of passive resistance, at the Ahmedabad conference some time ago.

A recent Calcutta demonstration was punctuated by fiery speeches of the old-time variety, the kind that were spell-binding in the pre-Gandhi days. Some of the haranguing was extremely inflammatory. A "Red Bengal" leaflet was distributed, demanding the shedding of "oceans of blood" by political assassination.

English observers see an ominous likeness between the present excitement and the furore aroused after the partition of Bengal. Now as in 1907, the goddess Kali, grim and persnickety of the destructive forces of tropical nature, is invoked as the patroness of political crime.

Lord Curzon, the last foreign minister before Ramsay MacDonald, has told the House of Lords he sees in Bengal a revival of the old revolutionary party. Their methods, he said, are assassination and terrorism, and they "are tearing at the foundations of our rule." Premier MacDonald let it be known shortly after coming into office that "no party in Great Britain would be cowed by threats of force or by a policy of bringing the government to a standstill."

The Swarajists believe in violence but admit that unless British acquiesces to his demands, violence is very likely throughout India. He wants a "United States of India as a fully fledged dominion within the British empire." Nothing more than the reformed constitution of the empire has given India, he swears he and his followers "will destroy this sham constitution in every province."

It looks like a fight to a finish between democracy and anarchy. Das wants a round-table conference with the London officials, to put India on the new United States status. And he adds unless something is done about it right away, India will be "drenched in blood" in anarchy.

Das says that there "undoubtedly" is an anarchist movement in Bengal, "and a much more serious anarchist movement than the authorities realize." It is growing increasingly difficult to suppress it. If the Swarajist movement fails, no repression can possibly cope with the anarchy which is sure to raise its head, and violence and disorder will reign supreme.

The statement is regarded with all the more significance in London because in swearing to expose "the sham of these so-called reforms," Das added that he would "consider no empire too mean to prove their meanness." Das objects not only to British participation in the direct government of India, but also to the communal system of representation under the reforms. Through this system, special constituencies have been created for communities which might be evoked and therefore remain on hand in constituencies based in territorial representation.

With anarchy forecast on one side and civil war threatened on the other, the empire authorities seem faced with the necessity of resorting to the mailed fist if both the "devil and the deep blue sea" are to be avoided.

PROMINENT TEXAS PHYSICIAN DIES AT FORNEY

Sensation of Many State Fair Brought To Lubbock Each Afternoon.

A Dallas state fair attraction and a feature of many state fairs all over the country is the death-defying leap of Brownie Davidson in an Overland car, being staged in front of the grandstand at the Fair handle South-Plains fair each afternoon after the races.

The 29-foot jump through space yesterday was easily the biggest thrill of the day at the fair, and Davidson's spectacular feat left the grandstand audience speechless for a moment. After it had gotten over the shock it broke into cheering.

Davidson drove an Overland four door car, selected at random from the stock of the Lub-Tex Motor Car company. The top and windshield were removed and the automobile was ready.

Strong wooden inclines were placed on the race track, 20 feet apart and pieces of steel were fastened at the bottom of the approach to make it easy and to put little springs into the send-off. Twenty feet away a similar wooden incline was placed for the car to land on at the angle it would describe after its hurdle through the air.

The new stock car was not run fast and had only barely gotten out of second gear when it hit the incline with a slam, shot through the air and over the second wooden incline 20 feet away. The driver had put a little too much power into the jump and he over-jumped his landing place about six inches or a foot but the machine came to the ground safely with a rebounding jolt. The crowd gasped but when the drive and car both were seen to be unharmed it broke into cheering.

This feat will be offered each afternoon of the race track.

Brownie Davidson was brought here by E. F. N. Payne, of the Lub-Tex Motor Car Company to help the fair and advertise the sturdy build of his car, the Overland.

TUCKERS' DEFY ALL CRITICS AND ARE HAPPY ON COAST

PASADENA, Oct. 2.—Nestled in a palatial home in the exclusive Plutridge district of Pasadena, December and May, with the former a 40-year old bride and the latter her 18-year old husband, are living happily, defying all predictions of their families and critics at large.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton S. Tucker, who fled from their New Jersey "home town" in the face of a storm of criticism and threats of disinheritance, see nothing but the future ahead, despite the difference in their ages. To them their home and their baby, Violet Tucker, assure happiness despite the maledictions their marriage aroused.

"We have a right to live our own lives, and we are happy in doing it," Mrs. Tucker, not concealing the fact that she is well past middle-age, declared. Her boy husband, perched on the arm of her chair, seconded her comment so fortunately.

"People are growing more away from the old time conventions and restrictions," Mrs. Tucker continued. "Our happiness is jagged up in a home life and love."

"We hesitated a long time before we took this step. We knew people would say that Burt married me for my money but with our own eyes we finally became convinced that there was real affection. These months since we were married have proved it to us."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tucker claim their love would have none the less had she been penniless. But they do not deny that it is her money that the youth has been set upon the real estate business with an independent income already coming in.

Overtures of reconciliation have been made to the Tucker family back in New Jersey, but so far they have been spurned. There will be no family gatherings in the Cambridge "love nest," at least not now.

But whether the families back will be any change in the love of east are won round or not, there

THOUSAND OF VETERANS AT THIS REUNION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Over 10,000 world war veterans are expected to attend the First Division Memorial Reunion here which opens tomorrow, at which President Coolidge will unveil the $145,000 monument to the memory of the Division's 5,585 men killed in the war.

Besides the President and Secretary of War Weeks, General Pershing and Major General John L. Hines, the new Chief of Staff, will welcome the veterans to Washington.

The war department has arranged for a composite pedestal of the 16th and 18th Infantry, the 8th Field Artillery, and the Regular Army troops of the District of Washington, to march in the veterans' parade.

The three-day program includes regimental reunions, visits to Mount Vernon and other historic places, a pilgrimage to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington, and dedication of the monument.

The monument, the first to be erected in world war division in the National Capital, is in the park between the State, War and Navy buildings and the Corcoran Art Gallery. It is a light colored granite column crowned by a bronze "Victory" modeled by the famous sculptor Daniel Chester French.

Inscriptions on the monument pedestal list the battles of the division in France, including Cambrai, Soissons-Aisne, Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, and quotes from a citation by the general army orders of 1918.

The Commander in Chief has noted in this division a special pride of service and a high state of morale which is broken by hardship and battle.

The First Division, A. E. F. was first American outfit to confront and attack the Germans and distinguished itself throughout the war.

Thought She Couldn't Live Six Months, But KARNAK

Made a Well Woman of San Antonio Resident When Everything Else Failed

After trying a number of other medicines and treatments in a vain effort to overcome her suffering Mrs. Nettie Haas, 216 Oberlander St., San Antonio, Texas states that when she got Karnak she could tell from her first few doses of this remarkable new medicine that she had at last found the right thing for her case.

"I suffered from such a severe case of stomach trouble the past two years that I was finally told I could not live six months," declares Mrs. Haas. "Everything I ate would sour on my stomach and cause me great pain and suffering from indigestion and terrible weak, dizzy spells. Like many women I suffered from terrible pains in both my sides and I was so nervous, weak and miserable that I was forced to see my housework go undone." In fact, I was too weak to sleep or even go out of doors.

"After wasting so much on other things I finally got Karnak and now I tell my neighbors and friends to make no mistake and get Karnak to start with. I eat with relish now, the pains, headaches and nervousness all are gone, and I sleep like a baby, this child every night. I just feel splendid in every way and feel so indebted to Karnak that I want to tell everyone about it. I will gladly verify my statement to anyone."

Karnak is sold in Lubbock at the City Drug Store.

What Do the Bankers Mean, "Eighteen Billion Dollars in the Savings Bank"?

By JOHN OAKWOOD

The bankers keep telling us that the savings accounts of the American people total eighteen billion dollars. I asked a dozen people what that meant to them. Most of them seemed to see visions of endless stacks of coins and bills of currency stowed away in the vaults of fine looking granite bank buildings.

Now, as a matter of fact, there is less than nine billion dollars worth of money in the country all told, including gold, silver, nickel and paper money of all kinds. That is less than half the eighteen billion. Therefore there must be something wrong with the vision of eighteen billion dollars in stacks and bills in the bank vaults. More than that, there probably is not more than one dollar for every twenty of that eighteen billion actually in the savings bank.

But the eighteen billion in savings bank is no myth just the same. Suppose all the savings depositors could demand all their money all at once, and that they insisted on immediate settlement one way or another when they found they could not get it all in cash. What would happen would be that they would come into possession chiefly of bonds—Government, state and municipal bonds and the best railroad, equipment, public utility and other corporation bonds. The savings depositors are really the owners of all this vast real wealth.

What the bankers really mean, therefore, is that the savings depositors, so far as money is concerned, have deposited eighteen billion dollars more than they have drawn out and therefore have credit for that much in their savings accounts. The dollars, themselves, that they handed to the banks, were not theirs, but they have been used in behalf of the depositors to buy the safest forms of investments. When a man buys a bond, he really roots his money down into it to work to earn him more money. The savings banks have done this for their depositors.

So the picture of idle piles of money is all wrong. Even a picture of piles of bonds is wrong. It is the bonds that represent the money. First, since they are readily negotiable for cash, they mean that any individual can get his savings out again in the form of money within a reasonable time. Secondly, and more important, behind these bonds loom up the railroads, factories, businesses and public works that the money invested in them set going for the benefit of everyone, including the depositors themselves. Saving, therefore, is not merely accumulating money—it is accumulating the means for the money flows on the water to turn other wheels—the real wealth and savings of the country are the accumulated factories and other enterprises evidenced by the bonds.

Therefore the true picture of what the bankers mean when they say the savings accounts of the American people total eighteen billion dollars, is not of piles of money, but of the real works in action.

Stimulating Club Work

The Arizona Bankers Association aided a stimulant to boys and girls club work when it voted to offer a scholarship of $150 for the year 1924-25 to the high school graduate having the best record. The association annually provides traveling expenses for the club champions to attend Farm and Home Week at the State College of Agriculture.

the first year, the Board shall determine the directors who shall retire, and their successors shall serve for three years. At the end of the second year, another one-third of the original directors shall retire, and their successors shall serve for three years, and at the end of the third year, the remaining one-third of the original directors, and their successors shall be elected. But any director may be re-elected to serve as a director. Also any director may be removed by a majority of the Board. But in case of removal of any director, forty per cent of the directors shall constitute a quorum to determine upon his removal from office, and reasons for his removal shall be preferred in writing, and shall be heard and determined by three-fourths vote of those present.

Article IV.

SECTION I: The West Texas Children's Orphan Home shall be maintained by public subscription and donations of funds or property, which property shall be under the management, control and operation of the Board of Directors. The Treasurer shall be the custodian of such funds, and he shall be required to execute a bond for the faithful performance of his duties as such, and the form and amount of such bond shall be determined by the Board of Directors.

SECTION II: All property of the home is declared to be that of the Orphan children of West Texas, shall be admitted in said home and the home shall be operated and maintained for said orphans and shall be non-sectarian.

SECTION III: All property shall be in the name of the Home Board of Directors, which it is deemed by the Board to be the best interest of the children to be separated. All adoptions shall be upon the approval of the President and attested by the Secretary, upon the order of the Board of Directors, which shall be entered in the Minutes of said Board, and this at a regular meeting. This proceeds, if any, derived from the sale of any property belonging to said Home shall be held in trust for the benefit of the Orphans children of West Texas.

Article V.

Admission of Children Into Home.

SECTION I: Only white children shall be admitted, and they only when one or both parents are dead, and have no source of income for their maintenance.

SECTION II: No diseased or afflicted children shall be admitted into the home except by a majority of the Board of Directors at a regular meeting voted to admit such children into the home. If the disease or affliction is such that it will impair the health or welfare of the children in said Home, they shall not be admitted.

SECTION III: Children who have a father or mother living shall be admitted when such parent agrees for its support, but if such parent is not financially able to pay for its support, as recommended by the investigating committee, then the Board may admit such child into said Home.

SECTION IV: The ages for entrance into the Home shall be for boys not over fourteen years of age, and for girls not over sixteen years of age. Exceptions to this rule may be made when in cases of disease or extremely small children, at the discretion of the Board.

SECTION V: Brothers or sisters shall not be adopted separately, nor otherwise separated, except by the Board of Directors, when it is deemed by the Board to be the best interest of the children to be separated. All adoptions shall be upon the approval of the Board for one year. The Board shall have the right and privilege of investigating a child's welfare and recovery, and may at any time during the first year rescind and retain the adoption at its discretion.

Article VI.

SECTION I: All matters of business pertaining to the management and operation of the Home, not otherwise specified shall be adopted from time to time as the Board of Directors may determine at a regular meeting.

The foregoing Constitution and By-Laws for the government and management of the West Texas Children's Orphan Home, and of the Board of Directors is adopted by said Board at a regular meeting thereof, with a majority of the Board being present, this the 1st day of Oct. A. D. 1924.

there has been an increase of 54 warships.

As a result of the Naval Treaty made at the Washington Conference, the number of battleships was cut from 12 to 6, battle cruisers from 7 to 4 and cruisers from 20 to 16. Torpedo boats, though, have been increased from 57 to 105 vessels and submarines from 10 to 26.

One hundred eighty-eight vessels including 65 from the combined squadron and the remaining ships attached to the Yokosuka, Kure and Sasebo naval stations and Make, Maizuru, Chinkai and Omimoto naval depots, will participate in the operations, which started today.

Owing to the increase in the number of auxiliary ships and the length of the maneuvers, the expense to the government will be five million. However, owing to depleted finances, the grand naval review which usually follows the maneuvers, will not be held this year.

CRONKHITE TRAGEDY SCENE INSPECTED BY JURORS

By United News.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 2.—Progress of the trial of Roland Pothier ex-sergeant charged with murdering Major Alexander Cronkhite, October 5, 1918, was delayed Wednesday while the jury inspected the scene of the tragedy.

After the opening statement of the prosecution, the court adjourned to the place near Camp Lewis where Major Cronkhite, Pothier and Capt. Robert Rosenbluth left the company of soldiers on a practice march on the fatal day, and wandered off into the woods. With the jury familiarized with the setting for story, the government Thursday will launch out into its case in an effort to prove that Pothier was responsible for the Major's death.

In his statement Wednesday, special prosecutor James H. Osborne told how the three army men disappeared from their cotons while shortly afterwards several shots were fired.

A minute later Rosenbluth appeared from the brush, according to Osborne, and called for a physician. "Major Cronkhite's heart has given out," he said, according to Osborne.

Osborne said it would have been utterly impossible for Major Cronkhite to have shot himself, as Pothier explained. Osborne told of several varying confessions Pothier made only to retract all of them on the ground they were made under duress.

Court was continued after five o'clock Tuesday afternoon so that the defense could cross examine the second witness on the stand, Sgt. George Root, Jr., of Seattle.

He testified as to the position of the body but at first would not remember whether there were empty shells in Cronkhite's gun. On cross examination he declared there were no empty shells in the weapon when the body was found.

shall also have power to appoint a superintendent of the home and such assistants as may be necessary and shall also have the power to appoint agents and representatives of the home to solicit subscriptions for the maintenance thereof; and shall further have the power to appoint the Treasurer, the Vice-President, and such other officers or agents as may be deemed necessary.

Article II.

SECTION I: The President of the Board of Directors shall preside at all regular meetings, and in his absence the vice-president to be elected shall preside. If neither are present, and a quorum is present for the transaction of business, the members present shall nominate and elect some of their members to preside at the meeting. The president or chairman of the meeting shall counter-sign all checks drawn on the Treasury.

SECTION II: The Superintendent of the home shall be appointed by the Board of Directors, and he shall be subject to the supervision of said Board. It shall be his duty to supervise the management of the home, and especially see that mental and spiritual education is provided, and he shall be accountable at all times to the Board for the operation thereof in a sanitary condition, and perform such other duties as the Board may require.

SECTION III: If other officers are appointed by the Board they should be under the direct control, subject to the action of the Board of directors, and shall obey and observe the duties imposed upon them by said Board.

Article III.

SECTION I: The term of officers of the Board of Directors shall be for one year, or part of a year, dating from January 1st, 1924. All directors shall serve three years, but at the end of each year, one-third of the directors shall vacate and others elected or appointed. At the end of the first year, the Board shall determine the directors who shall retire, and their successors shall serve for three years. At the end of the second year, another one-third of the original directors shall retire, and their successors shall serve for three years, and at the end of the third year, the remaining one-third of the original directors, and their successors shall be elected. But any director may be re-elected to serve as a director. Also any director may be removed by a majority of the Board. But in case of removal of any director, forty per cent of the directors shall constitute a quorum to determine upon his removal from office, and reasons for his removal shall be preferred in writing, and shall be heard and determined by three-fourths vote of those present.

Article IV.

SECTION I: The West Texas Children's Orphan Home shall be maintained by public subscription and donations of funds or property, which property shall be under the management, control and operation of the Board of Directors. The Treasurer shall be the custodian of such funds, and he shall be required to execute a bond for the faithful performance of his duties as such, and the form and amount of such bond shall be determined by the Board of Directors.

SECTION II: All property of the home is declared to be that of the Orphan children of West Texas, shall be admitted in said home and the home shall be operated and maintained for said orphans and shall be non-sectarian.

SECTION III: All property shall be in the name of the Home Board of Directors, which it is deemed by the Board to be the best interest of the children to be separated. All adoptions shall be upon the approval of the Board for one year. The Board shall have the right and privilege of investigating a child's welfare and recovery, and may at any time during the first year rescind and retain the adoption at its discretion.

Article VI.

SECTION I: All matters of business pertaining to the management and operation of the Home, not otherwise specified shall be adopted from time to time as the Board of Directors may determine at a regular meeting.

The foregoing Constitution and By-Laws for the government and management of the West Texas Children's Orphan Home, and of the Board of Directors is adopted by said Board at a regular meeting thereof, with a majority of the Board being present, this the 1st day of Oct. A. D. 1924.

there has been an increase of 54 warships.

As a result of the Naval Treaty made at the Washington Conference, the number of battleships was cut from 12 to 6, battle cruisers from 7 to 4 and cruisers from 20 to 16. Torpedo boats, though, have been increased from 57 to 105 vessels and submarines from 10 to 26.

One hundred eighty-eight vessels including 65 from the combined squadron and the remaining ships attached to the Yokosuka, Kure and Sasebo naval stations and Make, Maizuru, Chinkai and Omimoto naval depots, will participate in the operations, which started today.

Owing to the increase in the number of auxiliary ships and the length of the maneuvers, the expense to the government will be five million. However, owing to depleted finances, the grand naval review which usually follows the maneuvers, will not be held this year.

FOREIGN DEMAND FOR GRAIN SENDS RYE AND WHEAT UP

BY EDWARD J. CONLON
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The grain markets were of more interest than stocks on Thursday. A sharp increase in the foreign demand and the reported drought in Argentine caused an excited market in wheat. Continued brough European buyers into the market in numbers.

The jump in rye prices was even more astonishing than the advance in wheat. The gain in rye was more than 7 cents a bushel. Here again reports of adverse crop weather on the continent caused the price advance.

Speculators had the right of way in the stock market and most of the gains recorded were in stocks of this type. The standard issues among the industrials and rails appeared to go through a period of correction. The Louisiana State University 4 percent coupon exhibited exceptional strength following the declaration of a dividend on the stock, though the common shares did not appear to be much impressed by the rumor that the common is in line for about a $4 rate shortly after the turn of the year.

An interesting sidelight on business conditions is contained in the report of failures for the year just made by R. G. Dunn and Company, a new law level for this year in the number of commercial failures in the United States was reached during September.

The decrease from August was about 14 percent and a decline of 38 percent from the peak of the year which was in January.

The reduction from the August failure was the largest since 1917. For the third quarter of the year, failures numbering 3,441 disclosed a decrease of about 13-1/2 percent from the second quarter. Similar improvements were made in September in the liabilities connected with cereals. The aggregate for the month was $34,296,376, or about 38 percent below that of August.

NEW ORLEANS LA., Oct. 2.

Buyers of cotton had a good inning today and after an early dip ran prices up 104 points to a net gain of 96, the highest quotations were made in the late trading, and closing sales were 79 net higher.

Unfavorable reports from the eastern belt, prospects of rain in the west followed by another cold wave, rumors of a large short interest in October New York and of a bull pool in New York, were the uplifting influences. The spot basis was reported higher and there was also talk to the effect that prices on a large part of the recent heavy exports have yet to be fixed, indicating considerable buying of October is not far off.

The map points to unsettled weather in the northwest followed by lowering temperatures that may bring another frost scare before the bureau.

The market gives every sign of being a bull market and of working higher before bureau day.

Spot News
DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 2.—Basis irregular but generally unchanged. General bid basis is 100 off, offered at 75 off most sales at sellers prices. Little cotton being held by farmers. Exporters buying only sparingly. Eastern basis stronger on recent bad weather. Demand principally from shorts around 50 to 100 off. December, Mill buying very little.

SPOTS: New York 2650; Dallas 2490; Ft. Worth 2490; Galveston 2570; Memphis 2485; Little Rock 2525; Augusta 2555.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—(Via Private Wire)—Wheat—Led by Winnipeg prices have advanced new highs on the crop. There was a tremendous amount of realizing on the way but market absorbed the offerings and continued to advance. The market is a large bull affair. There were set backs and many in the trade are looking for a further advance.

CORN—There was a heavy selling of December at 112 and May at 114. This caused reactions but dips brought in new buying and the undertone of the market was strong. Volume of business was comparatively light and outside interests have apparently gone into

ARREST OF 'COUNT' CAUSED BY WOMAN HE ADMITS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—It was a woman who caused all the excitement that resulted from the arrest of 'Count Jacques Alexander Von Maurik de Beaufort' for appearing in public wearing the uniform of a United States army officer, the 'count' has admitted to department of justice agents.

The count, who bashfully admits that his real name is Ullrich Brock or something like that, and that he adopted the title of count for purely professional reasons, said he wore the uniform "to please a lady."

'De Beaufort' spent the night in the hoosegow, just like any other man when he failed to produce bond. He told his story to the government operatives and broke down and confessed to everything.

The decorations he wore on his beautiful military chest were pinned on "here and there" and he wore many that "didn't mean anything" just because "they were pretty."

Social matrons of the more elite sets Wednesday set about denying rumors that the count had been making court to their daughters. Almost over night the count has torn down from a social to a distinct inability to "blush."

He was later divorced from Ima Kigallien and after the war became addicted to writing books and newspaper articles on international affairs. But these methods of obtaining portions of the nations' wealth soon dwindled and he was forced to seek more remunerative vocations.

The high price of vanilla has brought much money to Tahiti, and Papeete has acquired its first traffic up. The number of motor cars has increased to such an extent that the wealth of the inhabitants that the highways of the town are congested.

Urges Women Not to Be Among Ballot "Slackers"

MRS. ALVIN T. HERT

Born on a southern Indiana farm, the teacher of a country school, the wife of a successful business man whose affairs she now manages, a farmer on her own Kentucky acres, an able business woman, but with all the charm and graciousness of a lady of the old school—such is Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Vice Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Mrs. Hert's headquarters are in Chicago, from which center she is broadcasting to American women first of all the message of their great responsibility. The women claimed that if given the vote they would make the United States a better place to live in. Mrs. Hert is urging all women not to be among the twenty-five million ballot slackers, but to go to the polls on Election Day and vote for what they believe to be the policies that will mean most in the lightening of human burdens, in the general welfare of all.

True, Mrs. Hert is a good Republican, but her message breathes first of all the soul of a humanitarian, coupled with the conviction that of all the agencies at hand the Republican party is the most effective one through which what women want—social progress, the greatest good of the greatest number—can be achieved.

Her political creed is summed up in the belief that the purpose of government is to "establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

It is hard to quarrel with such a creed unless one wants to find fault with the preamble of the Constitution of the United States!

PREVENTION DRUG IS FINE SCIENTIFIC ACHIEVEMENT

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 2.—"Preventive medicine is the highest expression of our scientific advancement," declared Dr. Malone Duggan, State Health Officer, in a recent address before a meeting of State Social Workers. Comparing the citizens of Texas to passengers on a ship of state with the Health Department as Captain, Dr. Duggan pointed out that beneath the apparently calm waters there may dwell in the reefs and shallows of infection and deterioration the deadly diseases through which only a wise and competent Captain can safely steer his ship.

Dr. Duggan urged that the social workers, as the source to which the people look for guidance in the framing of adequate legislation, carry back to their organizations the need for a Health Department that is not a clearing house for political debts and an asylum for innocent followers.

Reorganization and standardization of the Health Department, crystallization of public sentiment to force doctors to report births and deaths, and provision of adequate funds to carry on an efficiently administered Health Department, Dr. Duggan cited as the three most urgent issues to be carried back to the people. There is a cry of "wasting the people's money" but the only way to stop that is to place this department on a basis where a consecutive and efficient policy can be carried out.

Texas is one of the few states outside the registration area for births and deaths. Dr. Duggan reminded his hearers that this is a result of a lack of pressure on negligent doctors who fail to report births and deaths. The people of Texas register their stock but they allow their children to go through life with no record of their existence.

Texas ranks 37th in appropriations for health protection or one-third efficient. An expenditure of only 10 cents per capita Dr. Duggan estimated would lay the foundation for a healthy citizenship. "This is a less amount than appropriated to free the cattle of the State from ticks."

Preventive medicine is not an expense in the long run for if every day of illness in the State is multiplied by the thousands of cases of preventable disease, the appropriation for health work will sink into oblivion.

W. A. Maddox of Gainesville, has arrived in Lubbock to spend five or six weeks here during which time he will sell one hundred and sixteen acres of his land which is near the Bach site and known as the old Dr. Bates place on the market in town lots. The land is being subdivided and Mr. Maddox hopes to have everything ready for selling by the latter part of this month.

NORTHWEST TEXAS IS BEST FOR COTTON NOW

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—Better cotton in West and Northwest Texas than in other sections of the state is looked for, it has been announced by R. L. Robinson, dirt farmer and practical cotton grower, who has been investigating conditions in this section of the state as a representative of the state labor department. The yield will be above the average, Mr. Robinson's report states. Cotton pickers in this section of the state are receiving $1.50 per 100 pounds with accommodations furnished.

Mr. Robinson through conferences with county agents and officers of farm organizations, commercial clubs and through personal observation was enabled to make a definite estimate of the needs of each county visited and will make an effort to supply these needs through the labor department's free employment service, State Labor Commissioner Joseph S. Myers said.

Needs of some of the counties visited by Mr. Robinson in number of pickers and the distributing point in each county, the county seats, follow: Taylor county, 700 to 800; Abilene; Jones county, 1,000; Anson; Shackelford county, 1,000; Albany; Baylor county, 1,500; Seymour.

An average of more than half a bale to the acre will be made in Haskell and Knox counties in the opinion of Mr. Robinson. Some 1,500 pickers will be needed for this section to be distributed from the town of Haskell, he said.

The best cotton crop ever known in the section from Wichita Falls out through the Panhandle will be harvested this year, and picking will be well under way by October 10, according to the report of Mr. Robinson. The free employment office of the state labor department in Dallas is central headquarters for recruiting cotton pickers for West and Northwest Texas. The work of distribution of this office has been placed in the hands of Mr. Robinson.

POLICE SHOT HORSE AND "MURDER CALL" WAS REGISTERED

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2.—"Come quick, there's been murder—right out here in the street and a grove cop is here but ain't doing nothin' but just standin'!" an excited female voice screamed into the telephone at police headquarters here.

A record breaking dash to the address revealed Officer Frasier holding a smoking revolver and a dead horse at his feet. The animal had been condemned. The "murder" was based on the shots and spongy wall of the horse.

LITTLEFIELD MAN HAS FLOCK FINE BIRDS HERE

E. C. Cundiff, proprietor of the West Hill Poultry Farms, Littlefield, is exhibiting a larger number of fine birds in the poultry department of the South Plains Fair than any other exhibitor.

Mr. Cundiff is exhibiting twenty fine birds, representing a prize winning strain of large bone, heavy laying type of Rhode Island Reds. These birds have been shown at the fair here for two years, taking prizes each time.

The West Hill Poultry Farm is one of the most modernly equipped poultry farms to be found on the plains. Mr. Cundiff who is thoroughly experienced in the business has worked for several years to build up a fine strain of high class birds and has succeeded in building up not only a mighty fine flock, but the business feature of the farm is outstanding in that it pays good revenue from year to year.

Mr. Cundiff stated Thursday that the interest in the South Plains Fair has caused to be created in fine poultry in this vicinity has caused a noticeable demand for eggs and breeding pens from his flock, and he hopes to build up one of the biggest poultry growing businesses on the Plains.

LOCAL MUSICIAN IS A SUCCESSFUL INSTRUCTOR

R. E. Hamilton, 716 Avenue J, is enjoying success in developing one of the most efficient musical organizations in the city which furnishes music each Sunday for the First Methodist Sunday School.

Mr. Hamilton is a teacher and hopes to build up a large class, teaching all race and valve instruments.

His class has not yet begun making the growth that will be made when the Lubbock High School Junior Band has been organized as he is working in co-operation with Prof. Crowley of the High School and will teach quite a number of the boys and girls who will compose the band. There is probably not a better teacher of instrumental music to be found in this section than is Mr. Hamilton, who has had years of practical experience along with his training, and while his understanding of the subject is responsible in a large degree for the success he has enjoyed in his work, nothing has meant so much to his pupils as his understanding of them and the consequent patience with which he works.

Friends of Mr. Hamilton are expecting much of him and his students in developing one of the most efficient organizations in the city.

OFFICIALS OF SANTA FE ATTEND THE FAIR HERE

Supt. J. F. Anton, accompanied by Mr. Prentice, another Santa Fe official, was here Thursday and attended the South Plains Fair, which he declared impressed him as being far better than at any time during his past history, and that it compared favorably with other fairs being held over the state, several of which he has attended.

Supt. Anton is interested in Lubbock and is back of the fair or any other institution having to do with the encouragement of better farming and business methods in this section.
