Baseball Court War Looms as Result Recent Scandal

BAN JOHNSON TO CARRY CASE TO FEDERAL COURT

HIGHER-UPS INVOLVED IN ATTEMPTED BRIBERY IS JOHNSON'S CHARGE

A baseball war of great magnitude is believed to be developing as a result of the exposure of alleged crookedness in the ranks of the National League champion Giants for which two members of the Giants were thrown out of baseball Wednesday night.

Bringing to a head his long-standing bitterness against baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, President Ban Johnson has announced that he will force a federal court investigation of organized baseball which will purge it of "criminals" and which he believes will uncover an "astounding scandal."

As rumors persisted that other members of the Giants than Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan were involved in the attempt to bribe Home Run Baker, Landis declared that all others who had been mentioned, including three of the team's star players had been cleared.

Others to Back Johnson Johnson, who is understood to have carried his row with Landis into the meeting of big league managers at Chicago last winter, and was forced to back down, has verbal lashing from the "squirr," is believed certain to gain the support of other big league club owners.

Already he has the implied backing of President Hoover through the Pittsburgh National League club, who declared that the fall investigation must be made of the Giants' scandal and indicated that O'Connell and Dolan were only tools of "men higher up."

The good name of baseball should be protected, he said, "even if it means the closing of the world series between the Giants and the Senators."

He accused Manager McGraw of the Giants of a previous attempt to tamper with one of his players.

World Series he played. But President Johnson, director of the National League, made it plain in Washington at the fall of the world series would be played.

Meanwhile O'Connell is said to have gone to Washington to give further details to Landis and it is rumored here that he intends to "sell all." Both O'Connell and Dolan were described by Manager John McGraw Thursday as "dumb suckers."

O'Connell is quoted as declaring that the entire Giant team was involved.

Meanwhile, Landis declares that the whole scandal is "a closed incident."

Judge Landis said the world series would not be called off under any circumstances and made it very emphatic.

Landis was asked, in a conference with newspaper men Thursday night, to make public the testimony he took regarding the other Giant players who had been named by Jimmy O'Connell as being implicated in the attempted bribe of Home Run Baker.

Exhibits in Woman's Building Exact in Number-Beauty

That the exhibits in the Woman's building were greater in number and superior in quality to those on exhibition at the South Plains Fair last year is the general opinion of judges and visitors who have expressed themselves during Wednesday and Thursday.

The Women in Charge have exerted every effort and have so capably handled the department and so attractively arranged the displays that every article can be fully appreciated.

Miss Jennie Wilkins, Home demonstration agent from Spur and Miss Swift, who is District Home Demonstration Agent from College Station, were judges in the Culinary Department, which is under the supervision of Mrs. J. S. Johnson.

A full list of prize winners will be published in a later paper but will not be given now as all awards have not been made in every department.

The Textile department with Mrs. S. P. Robbins as director is always popular, many Lubbock women entering their work and giving the money received to their churches. One group of ladies each year enter flowers, jellies, canned goods and hand work and receive nice sums for their church auxiliaries. The judges in the Textile department found many excellent things and at times found it difficult to choose which piece should be given first or second place. The judges were Miss Birdie Lee Burkhalter of Lamar county and Miss Pearl Carlisle of Crosby county.

The flower booth was made much larger this year than last giving Mrs. Lou McQueen a chance to display each plant and basket of flowers to better advantage than in the crowded condition of 1923. The ferns and foliage plants are gorgeous and the very hot weather has written many of them. One mass of Dahlias, an entry from Hale and county is especially worthy of praise among the many exquisite bouquets entered. Mr. Dean of the Hale Center Floral company and Mr. Brown of the Glen Floral company, were the judges.

Mrs. Walter Myrick who has charge of the art department states that a more marked improvement has taken place this year than any year since the fair had its beginning and some really beautiful things are to be found in this department.

China painting, pictures in water colors and oils, copies from master pieces and landscapes from nature are found cleverly drawn and beautifully and delicately colored. The basket work too is well done and many pieces are exquisitely proportioned.

Miss Katherine Bailey, Miss Clara May and Mrs. E. L. Blundell, all of Stalon were the judges in this department.

The department of Relics and Curios fulfilled its promise of Tuesday and held the interest of many people throughout the two days of the fair. Mrs. James H. Goodman is sincerely interested in the work and has many old curios and valuable antiques of her own and can enter into her work with delight and understanding.

The Queen's Ball given at The Elks Club Wednesday evening

The Queen's ball, given at the Elks Club Wednesday evening in honor of Queen Prosperity, Miss Mabel Marsh and her Maids of Duchesses from many South Plains towns was considered a success from every view point by those in attendance.

Mrs. W. H. Meador, chairman of the general committee, secured the interest of Mr. Walter Myrick and Mr. W. B. Powell, who proved themselves in every way capable courtiers in arranging the Queen's ball.

The music was furnished by Pop Neal's band and the hall was beautifully decorated. Ribbons of Dahlias, an entry from Hale and county is especially worthy of as befits a bunch of young royalty when the queen honors them with a dance.

The South Plains Duchesses and their Maids of Honor in attendance at the ball were:

Mabel of the House of Marsh; Princess Prosperity, and Myrtle, of the House of Lammon.

SON OF BRITISH LEADER FOLLOW JOURNALISM

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Journalism may be a stepping stone to politics for Malcolm Macdonald, son of the British Prime Minister, Young Macdonald plans it that way.

The stocky youth on whose face blooms a silken little mustache, has declared he will follow journalism until the voters of Nottinghamshire send him to parliament.

He has lost one election there, but doesn't intend to give up. A socialist like his father, Macdonald would have preferred going to work in a mine or factory but this would have thrown some work out of a job and, as he explains it, would be "bad altruism and bad politics."

COOLIDGE PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—President Coolidge welcomed the victorious Washington baseball team back home in a speech sprinkling with a keen, dry wit, seldom manifested, in which he whimsically threatened a "vigorously disciplinary character" upon the "demoralized community" for losing all interest in anything but baseball.

The President read a telegram from Mr. Miller, republican, urging a special session of congress so that the legislators "may have an opportunity to sneak out and see Walter Johnson make baseball history" adding that "Mr. Miller has such judgement and sense of public psychology is so accurate that I do not need to say what party he represents."

Pays High Tribute.
The President paid tribute to the armored knights of the bat and ball, said the success of the Washington team was an inspiration for a like effort in every walk of life.

"As the head of an enterprise which transacts some business and maintains a considerable staff in this town, I have a double satisfaction in welcoming home the victorious Washington baseball team," Coolidge said.

"First you bring the laurels from one of the hardest fought contests in all the history of the national game. Second I feel proud that with this happy result now assured it will be possible for the people of Washington gradually resume interest in the ordinary concerns of life. So long as we could be satisfied with a prompt report of the score by innings, a reasonable attention to business was still possible, but when the entire population reached the point of requiring the game to be described play by play, I began to doubt whether the highest efficiency was being promoted. I contemplated action of a vigorous disciplinary character, but the outcome makes it impossible as a result we are somewhat demoralized community—but exceedingly happy over it."

Senators Wildly Popular.
It may be that at some time in the past a baseball pennant has gone to a widely popular team, but it was in some year when I was not watching the score board by innings. Tuesday morning when I had finished reading details of the decisive battle of Boston and turned to the affairs of government, I found on top of everything else on my desk a telegram which I shall be able to act on its address many will agree that it presents a correct, concise and statesmanlike program for dealing with the present emergency. I have received worse suggestions on more important affairs from a true and thoughtful friend of the people, John F. Miller, of Seattle. He writes:

"Respectfully suggest it is your patriotic duty to call special session of congress beginning Saturday, Oct. 4, so the members of congress may have an opportunity to sneak out and see Walter Johnson make baseball history. Cannot speak for New York delegation."

but hereby pledge all others to meet for Washington and serve without pay or traveling expenses.

"The Washington team won because it deserved to win. It had fought gamely year after year, for a place at the front, never discouraged, always sure that better things were ahead. Now it appears to have annexed the whole country with the enthusiastic approval of nearly all concerned. That is a real compliment to the fine spirit, the clean play, the good sportsmanship that brought your victory. These have always been characteristics of the work of the Washington team."

"You have come home to receive the plaudits of you city, and to prepare for the greater competition of the world series. We are agreed, at least in theory, to the sentiment 'may the best team win' but I want to add that your fellow townsmen of Washington do not need to be told which they regard as the best team. They hold their own opinions about it, and in that full confidence in which the President is privileged to speak when only the public is listening, I may say that I have my opinion about it. I hope the results of the world series will show we all are right."

"There is a place both present and future in America for true, clean sport. We do not rank it above business, the occupation of our lives and we do not look with approval upon those who, not being concerned in its performance, spend all their thought, energy, and time upon its observance. We recognize, however, that there is something more in life than the grinding routine of daily toil, that we can develop a better manhood and womanhood, a more attractive youth, and a wiser maturity of rounding out our existence with a wholesome interest in sport."

"Those who devote themselves to this enterprise in a professional way and by throwing their whole being into it, raise it to the level of an art, the country owes a debt of gratitude. They furnish us with amusement with an outside interest, often times in the open air, that quickens the step, refreshes the mind, rejuvenates and restores us."

Senatorial Pull No Good.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Senatorial pull isn't worth much around the world series, Senator Foss of Ohio, applied for six grandstand seats for constituents but was too late to get any. Senator Waller of Maryland, asked for 24 and got two.

O'CONNELL PICKED FROM SAND LOTS IN SACRAMENTO

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 2.—Jimmy O'Connell, New York outfielder, who yesterday was suspended by Judge Landis on a charge of attempted bribery, was picked up from the sand lots in Sacramento, Cal., by the San Francisco club in 1920, and in 1921 was sold to John McGraw, for $75,000.

McGraw left O'Connell with the Seals for the 1922 season before taking him into the big league club. O'Connell helped the Seals win their first pennant since 1917 when he played with them in the 1922 game. Charles Graham, vice president of the local club, when told of the dismissal of O'Connell, refused to place any credence in the bribery charges. "I'd swear by Jimmy. I don't believe he was mixed up in it at all,"

Graham, who was manager of the club at the time O'Connell was playing with San Francisco, said.

O'Connell was famed more for the fact that McGraw paid $75,000 for him than for his performances on the diamond. He was bought three years ago from the San Francisco club. McGraw often referred to him as a "nice young fellow" with "lots of promise" but he was a star who did not materialize sensationally.

Dolan is a red-necked, rough handed player of the old school. He began his professional career as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dolan was known officially as a coach, but elsewhere it was whispered that he was McGraw's spy among the players. His principal duty, it has been said, was to keep a sharp eye on the boys and not let anything get over that would cause trouble.

Cozey mixed with the players and attempted to give them the impression he was their friend. He was under orders to watch out for any attempted bribery among the team.

It was known as a rough actor, a quality which probably endeared him most to McGraw. On one occasion there was a row where a number of players were gathered and it was rumored that Cozey had thrown out a bootlegger who was selling forbidden liquors to the players.

Later the news got out that one of the Giants had given Cozey a good licking.

SENATORS TO FIGHT BEHIND JOHNSON RICE DECLARES

By SAMMY RICE, Star Outfielder of the Washington Senators.
(Copyright 1924, by United News), WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The zero hour approaches. The quicker the better for me. For this is Walter Johnson's act—the one he has spent a lifetime in baseball waiting for. Its here and a more deserving pitcher or baseball player never got the opportunity to strut his stuff in a world series than Walter.

Of course, its the opportunity for the Washington squad as a whole. For the rest of us its our eyes. But before Walter Johnson if he carries out his intentions to quit.

...why we're going to fight ... Saturday afternoon there isn't a man on the club, but who is to us last ounce of energy to put Walter over Saturday. We've done it all year—for Walter and manager Stanley Harris. And as a result the capital has won its first pennant. With us it is not a question of whose responsible for this and that. The team won. That's all we care to know.

We were fortunate to have manager like Harris. That man makes you want to fight behind him. And notice I said behind him, instead of for him. He does not ask us to do all the fighting, but lets the pace.

When John Paul Jones told that British captain "We've just begun to fight," he voiced the feeling of all the Washington players in regard to this world series. If the experts think we showed fight during the season, and they seem to express that opinion, they have something to look forward to in the series.

I'm not making any predictions outside of saying that we will be in there fighting every minute.

In fact the Washington club isn't thinking of the world's championship right now. We're not taking out that much time. But we are thinking of the opening game.

We are going to take every game separately and battle to the limit to win it. By doing this all season, we hopped out of the underdog pond to win the title. We might do the same thing in this

AUTHORITIES A S K FIRPO CHARGES BE DROPPED

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The immigration authorities at Ellis Island have recommended to the department of labor that deportation proceedings against Luis Angel Firpo Argentine boxer, be dropped.

Commissioner Curran, in announcing the recommendation, said it was his understanding that the recommendation disposes of all charges against Firpo and that the Argentine champion is free to remain in the United States unmolested.

The Washington authorities have already said they would proceed according to recommendations of the New York investigators.

Charges against Firpo were based on alleged false statements in connection with entry into the United States of Blanca Lourdes Picart, an Argentine woman and were brought by reformers headed by Canon Wm. Sheafe Chase, of Brooklyn.

Chase charged Firpo brought the woman into the United States for immoral purposes. The finding of the immigration authorities constitutes a complete exoneration for the wild bull.

In a statement announcing his recommendation, Commissioner Curran assailed the course of Canon Chase, declaring:

The proceeding itself was hampered throughout by the hip-hip-hurrah tactics of Chase, the complainant.

The result of the whole thing is that there is no case.

"Canon Chase admitted under oath that he had stated to prospective witnesses at Ellis Island that 'if Firpo had good friends, they would tell him to get out before it is too late, because there are five pieces staring him in the face.' If Firpo's friends had successfully followed the Canon's advice, the result would have been that Firpo would have jumped his bail."

The prison threat referred to perjury proceedings now in federal court. Chase testified he had begun the campaign against Firpo at the instigation of New York newspaper, Curran said, but that he received no money for doing so.

TOO MUCH EDUCATION

The statement made before the American League convention that "approximately one-third of the total voting strength in the United States is unable to read and write" is a subject that deserves something more than passing notice, especially in view of the fact that both the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor have agreed on the causes.

The ballot, in the hands of the ignorant voter is a weapon often used unwisely, if not selfishly. The Colonization in the larger cities and in manufacturing sections, of those who vote as directed by ward or district political bosses is subversive of democracy's ideals.

The American Legion which adheres to its declarations that it is both non-partisan and non-political, is in a position to do valuable service in arousing public sentiment in favor of legislative action by the states which will insure the ratification of the pending child labor amendment to the Federal constitution.

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS ON THIS JOB

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is probably one of the most active organizations in the state today. The very commendable thing about this organization is that they always get action on matters important to the welfare of the people and communities within their jurisdiction.

Upon complaint of innumerable farmers and business men in the Panhandle that wild geese and ducks were destroying the crops in that section and that something should be done to alleviate the situation, that organization presented the facts to Governor Neff, with the request that he in turn take the matter up with W. W. Boyd, game commissioner for Texas, and if possible relieve those counties most affected by the past from the operation of the game law.

Therefore, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is requesting those communities in the Panhandle most affected to take action as indicated.

This is only one of the many instances where the Chamber has come to the rescue of communities in their difficulties. Much real constructive work has been done by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and it is worth every dollar that the various West Texas towns contribute to its upkeep, and the only trouble with these contributions is that they come from so few people while all the community or the entire west is materially benefited by their work.

Time was when periodical wars, revolting as they may have been to human intelligence, still had only a passing hurtful influence upon the progress that man has so perfected the art of war that these conflicts have become in effect suicidal. Victor or vanquished, it matters not; both suffer, and the measure of their suffering is not ended for many decades after the conflict is ended.

Don't acquire the tombstone habit of never saying a good word about a fellow until he is down and out.

RAHI RAHI RAHI—AND WHY?

Reports from nearly all the leading universities colleges and state schools for the year just begun show an amazing increase in enrollment of students. Harvard reports 300 more than last year, Columbia has a total of 35,000; Yale has about 4,000; Ann Arbor about 13,000; and Wisconsin nearly 8,000.

This movement is not a response to some momentary impulse, nor to the willingness of prosperous parents to spend money on the aimless education of their children, for a very large per cent of these students are seeking to earn their way.

It is encouraging to believe that there is being convincingly manifested an increasing determination on the part of the youth of America to equip itself properly for the part it hopes to undertake in the constructive work of the world.

THE RABBIT AS A PEST

There is much complaint this year of the depredations of the rabbits to crops, orchards, etc., in many of the West Texas counties. This is rather unusual for the plains section, but there are millions of rabbits in this country this year, and they have played havoc in some places with the growing crops of grain, etc.

SHADE TREES

Now is a splendid time to inaugurate a "shade tree planting day." Every city that does not have sufficient shade trees (and the number is legion) should see to it that a start will be made this fall towards rescuing itself from the reputation of being a shadeless city.

It also is a good plan to set out shade trees on the principal roads leading out of the city. Also school grounds and parks call for special attention.

The plan can best be put over by setting aside a day and uniting to plant the city to shade. If this day were made an annual affair, those trees which failed to weather the transplanting could be replaced by diligent effort, in a few years any city could have trees in abundance.

And while such shade tree planting is going on, trees that are worthwhile are the only kinds that should be considered. The pecan, perhaps, is the best of all. The tree will grow in most any place in Texas, makes a beautiful shade, lives long, and has the added attraction of affording a delicacy to eat.

TO STAMP OUT ILLITERACY

The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion have united in the great legislative program which seeks to eliminate illiteracy from America. Approximately one-third of the total voting strength in presidential elections in America is unable to read and write and these two great organizations have elected to say what the causes are.

THE AIR MAIL SERVICE

The air mail service is rapidly growing in favor among business men. It saves the New York business man 8 hours in communicating with Cleveland, 10 hours and 40 minutes with Chicago, 19 hours and 19 minutes with Omaha, 28 hours with Cheyenne, 40 hours with Salt Lake City and 58 hours with San Francisco.

It is generally supposed that a large proportion of our foreign population is to be found in New York and other Eastern cities. Most people would probably place the center of this population not far west of the Atlantic Coast.

The best time to prepare for a rainy day is when your sun is shining.

STUDENTS OF C. I. A. WILL PUBLISH A DALLAS PAPER

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 2.—Students in journalism at the College of Industrial Arts will publish the Dallas Journal, Junior at the Texas State Fair in Dallas on Saturday, October 18. The paper will be issued under the auspices of The Dallas News and Dallas Journal, and is an annual undertaking.

October 18 has been designated "All-College Day," and one of the features of the occasion will be the football game between S. M. U. and the University of Texas. It is probable that part of the work of composition will be carried out by the C. I. A. students, as well. A department of linotype is maintained at the college.

FAMILY PICNICS In every family there are types. Each circle has its swells. Its gaily gaily member and its roustabout as well. And one is this and one is that, one sings and one recites, one travels, and one stays at home, one paints, another writes; But not one of these I choose to sing, the one who draws my rhyme, is that fond relative who plans the picnics every time.

In every family, I suppose, there is a picnic, She plans these little summer trips as often as she can. For us her service is performed, she thinks of everything, She even calls the others up and tells them what to bring; And I,—I,—I, in every group, there's also one like me, Who'd much prefer to stay at home and drink his cup of tea.

PANTHERS BEAT CHICKS 3 TO 2 FOR DIXIE CHAMPIONSHIP

SLATON BATTLES POST HIGH FOR 13-3 VICTORY HERE

PATE GETS BEST OF PITCHING BATTLE

Special to the Avalanche.
MEMPHIS, Oct. 2.—The Ft. Worth Panthers today annexed the Dixie championship crown for the fourth time. They beat out the Memphis Chickens, champions of the Southern Association in the eighth game of the "Little World Series" of the south 3 to 2 in one of the hardest battles witnessed during the eight-game series, giving them four out of the seven crucial games, the series opener having been a tie.

Wormouth, the hefty portlander, who this year was a big factor in the Chick "machines" which dealt the opposition in the Southern so much misery, was allotted duty on the mound, and held the Cats to six hits, but three errors by his teammates, coming as they did at a critical time, meant much toward the Cat victory. He was supported by Joe Pate, also of the worm-mouth delivery who gave up only five hits.

The lone error of the Chicks came in the second inning when a walk, a sacrifice, an error and a single, rung up two runs. The Cats scored in the first again in the sixth with one out, and in the eighth three singles in a row by Edington, Tavenner and Bischoff sent Edington across with what eventually was to be winning run.

Fort Worth: Calvo grounds out; Ovenson to Anderson; Phelan doubles to right center; Sears walks; Kraft grounds to Prothro, forcing Phelan to third; Palmer hits grounder to LaMotte, who fumbled, scoring Sears; Kraft going to third, Palmer held at first; Edington fouled out to Anderson. ### SQUADS EVENLY MATCHED IN EXHIBITION

In one of the hardest contested games that has ever been staged on the local gridiron Slaton Tigers were victorious over the Post High School with a score of 13 to 3. Both teams were well matched. During the entire game Slaton seemed to display the better club. However, the Post boys must be given the credit of having the hardy fighting club. Post outgrew the Tigers during the entire contest.

Most of the game was played in the center of the field. Post threatened several times to score but were unsuccessful. Slaton lost many yards on fumbles. Several times the fumbles seemed to break for the Post hopes but with good fighting the Slaton boys easily withstood the breaks.

Stone and Kendrick's of the Slaton Tigers were the outstanding players. Altman and Woolver did mighty good work in the back field also. Self and Carley of the Post aggregation were the outstanding players of Post club. Self was the best line gainer for the Post club.

BAN JOHNSON TO ASK GOVERNMENT TO PROBE GIANT-PHILLIE SCANDAL URGING WORLD SERIES BE CALLED OFF ENTIRELY

By H. H. ROBERTSON.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—President Ban B. Johnson, of the American League will ask the U. S. Government to investigate the scandal which has developed in the ranks of the New York Giants baseball club.
President Johnson said Thursday night that he had already retained counsel to help him in his efforts to have the government investigate the scandal. He will confer with them in Washington D. C. Sunday. They are B. S. Miller of Washington and H. J. Killien of Milwaukee.
The American League President stressed with emphasis that he would not consult with Commissioner Landis concerning his determination to clean up baseball.
"I believe that this investigation should be made through the federal courts," he declared. "I believe that such an investigation will uncover an astonishing scandal in the ranks of baseball."
"I am going after the criminals and I intend to see that they are punished. I believe the world series should be called off. But if the series is not called off, I am going ahead any way and try to clean up baseball one and for all."
Johnson said he would not ask any American or National League officials to call off the series.
"I cannot understand why I was not officially notified of this disgraceful affair," Johnson said. "Commissioner Landis must have known of this before he left for the east and I do not understand why he did not send me word."
"Here is this National League team which apparently has been corrupted—at least some of its players have been approached—coming to play one of our tenants. It is time somebody took vigorous action and I am going through with it."
"On what ground will you ask the federal government to intervene?"
"Baseball is a national pastime. It is a sport played by the nation's youth. The game must be kept clean. The time has come when the federal government has got to step in and eliminate rotten influences working seeking to corrupt baseball and the players."
Carefully weighing his words, President Johnson explained that he believed an authoritative body of men, entirely outside of the game, should investigate the latest scandal and should help prosecute those responsible for it, and added that when the investigation was finished some persons now in baseball would be out of it.
Johnson will leave Chicago Saturday. He will confer with Minor and Killien in Washington Sunday noon. On Monday he expects to commence his investigation and at the same time he had invited to assist him in his effort with other officials, Killien's chief counsel of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. Minor formerly was president of the Washington baseball club.

Johnson's opinion found equally small favor with John A. Lavelle, president of the National League. "The world series will be played," said Heydler, and refused to make any other statement.

"I recognize that it is the privilege of our voter to support any one they wish at the polls and feel that the laws should not be drawn for the purpose of preventing such action," he said. "I would apply this rule not only to Louisiana but to all other states of the Union."

A. M. JONES IS FIRST MAN TO PAY A POLL TAX

A. M. Jones, of Jones Brothers Store, has stacked up a record for promptness in paying city, county and poll taxes that the officials in charge of these tax collectors are in hopes will be an example for others.

Mr. Jones was the first citizen of the county to pay his 1924 county, state and poll taxes in the office of County Tax Collector J. F. Holland, then lost no time in reaching the city offices where he was first to pay the 1924 city tax.

"It's better early than late, and there's no getting around the fact that the boys who collect taxes will get you sometime," Jones said.

Several times each of the army "buddies" made sure their testimony was "giving impressions," not "recollections."

GREAT ARMISTIC DAY CELEBRATION PLANNED HERE

the college on November 11th Armistic day.

Plans for the celebration have not been changed at a great deal from the status of several weeks ago, only the uncertainty as to whether or not the celebration would be held on November 11th was removed when this date was unanimously agreed upon by those attending the meeting.

Governor Pat Neff, who promised Dr. Horn he would attend the celebration if it was held on November 11th when the college president was in Austin several weeks ago to attend the meeting of the state board of control has not made any change of the announcement that was made that he would appear on the program, and it is the opinion of Dr. Horn that the governor has made necessary arrangements to be away from his office long enough to attend the important celebration.

People from all parts of the state and adjoining states will be invited to attend the celebration, and a program that will be enjoyed by all will be worked out by the local committee co-operating with the college regents.

A meeting of the college building committee composed of Mr. Underwood, Clifford B. Jones and Mrs. F. N. Drane, of Goricanna, was held in the afternoon Thursday with J. L. Hedrick, architect. Problems confronting the college managers with reference to the present building program were discussed.

BRYAN PLANNING TOUR INTO FOUR WESTERN STATES

By United News.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—Governor Charles W. Bryan, democratic vice presidential candidate will invade the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado, within the next two weeks, according to an announcement made here Thursday.

Bryan will open his mid-western trip in Oberlin Saturday and is scheduled to speak in Newton and Hutchinson.

On October 8 and 9, he will go into Oklahoma, speaking dates to be announced later. On October 10, he will appear in Clovis, Vaughtan, Belton and Albuquerque, N. M., after which he plans to swing into Colorado.

G. O. P. HEAD CLAIMS HE HAS EVIDENCE

have an election. The logical outcome of such a situation would be to throw the election into the senate but I don't think the combination will be successful.

"I have heard it suggested that republicans would be willing to join the democrats in electing Davis if the contest goes to the house. But I believe we will have a decision by the election of Coolidge at the polls."

Butler said he had not received the original of the letter from Senator Brookhart demanding that Chas. W. Bryan resign from the ticket. Meanwhile he declines to discuss the case, believing the matter is one for action by Iowa republicans. Butler said that, contrary to current reports his information is that Brookhart does not intend to declare for La Follette.

Butler believes there has been a recession of the LaFollette movement in various republican states which were uncertain ten days ago but he still regards him as more formidable than Davis. Butler also advanced the assertion that in reality Chas. W. Bryan is a candidate for the presidency hoping to profit by a congressional deadlock.

"I would bet the opposing presidential candidates in this order," he said.

"Bryan, LaFollette, and Davis. The home of the LaFollette party and of the democrats is to prevent an election."

The paramount issue, he added, "is the election of Coolidge."

The president, Butler said, will not make any speeches outside of Washington and has no strictly political addresses scheduled. He may make several radio talks before election.

RED CROSS FIRST AID AND LADIES REST ROOM POPULAR

Five first-aid cases were attended by nurses in charge of the Red Cross rest room and emergency ward at the South Plains Fair grounds Thursday, while numbers of ladies took advantage of the opportunity to rest afforded by the rest room.

The number of mothers with small babies using the rest room maintained by the Red Cross have taxed the full capacity of the building throughout the afternoons of the two days of the fair.

Miss Mae Murfee, secretary of the Red Cross in Lubbock county, is pleased that the rest room is enjoyed by so many of the fair visitors.

The socialists maintain that this method of paying reparations will never do.

Tariffs and hours—these two things furnish the groundwork for a pretty row, the outcome of which is thoroughly in doubt.

It is, however, possible that new elections will be the outgrowth of this internal strife. In this case, it is more than likely that the extreme right and left wings will suffer sharp losses.

As Whole Satisfied

The nation as a whole is satisfied with the way the negotiations are offered by the Dawes report, and this means inroads in the extremists ranks.

The "Putzsch" spirit has disappeared and it is safe to predict that Germany, barring quite unforeseen circumstances, will now settle down to the ordered routine which marked its course before the war. It will still have many internal political bickering, but the danger of civil war and bloodshed have gone with the acceptance of the Dawes scheme.

Business is looking up. The first week after signature of the Dawes measures saw a sharp drop in unemployment in the Ruhr and elsewhere, and a general toning up of business.

This was due to the substitution of certainty for uncertainty—and was born of the conviction that Germany has now a chance to win out on obligations and again get on her feet.

GERMANY ON WAY TO RECOVERY AFTER POLITICAL STORM

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—New and foreign political battling, is destined for Germany in the next few days as an aftermath of the Dawes struggle.

The Reichstag, scheduled to reconvene October 15 but perhaps summoned earlier by the government will witness a rattling skirmish over protective agrarian tariffs, with nationalists and junkers on one side, and socialists and communists on the other.

Demand Dissolution

The socialists are demanding dissolution of the Reichstag.

Their proclamations declare that that body is no longer representative of the nation. They insist that the populace shall be asked directly if it wants a government coalition including the nationalists, and whether it wants broadsides increased in price through tariffs similar to those prevailing in Germany before the war.

On the other hand, the nationalists are clamoring for their "pound of flesh"—payment for rounding up sufficient voters to pass the Dawes bills.

In the first place, they want products protected. If this is done, it automatically means that the nationalists must come into the coalition, since the tariffs are based on the Marx-Stresemann minority regime cannot count further on benevolent neutrality from the socialists. That means that they must strengthen their structure by building rightward.

The Eight-Hour Day

At the same time, the battle will bring up in all probability, the great question of the eight-hour day in Germany. The socialists point out that the Dawes report expressly states that Germany's labor should not be put on a standard of life lower than that of other nations.

But the big industrialists have long since scrapped in practice, the eight-hour day, and according to the socialists are preparing to pay reparations chiefly from the sweat of the laborer's brow.

NIGHT -- STUNT -- FLYING!!

WITH GORGEOUS FIRE WORKS AND AERIAL BOMBS

few people realize the skill and daring necessary to an exhibition of this kind. It is necessary for the pilot to take off from a dark field, being unable to see objects on the ground or tell his flying speed, or to see any objects that get in his way until he gets to a safe altitude.

Before starting the exhibition the aviator must get to a minimum altitude of five thousand feet. Upon getting into the air the pilot must depend almost entirely on his "sense of feel" in order to keep his ship balanced as he is unable to see his wing tips or other extremes of the plane. The reason for getting so high in the air before starting his exhibition is he must know that he has sufficient altitude to complete his program of stunts to avoid crashing into the ground while the blinding flares are burning.

When the proper altitude is reached the pilot heralds the exhibition by dropping a series of ear-splitting aerial flash bombs which go off in mid-air with a big flash and loud report. These start with red and change to yellow and to green. These are known as magnesium flares, and are of ten thousand candle power, and burn about five minutes while the airplane cavitorts in the air. After a period of fifteen seconds of darkness, which is arranged by a time fuse, the silver trails ignite. These trails which are of 25,000 candle power, are arranged the entire length of the airplane and leave a trail of silver fire in the path of the airplane for two hundred yards. This is where the pilot gets in his fine work. While these trails are burning he puts his ship through a series of loops, spins, spirals, barrel rolls and other fancy stunts, looping and diving back and forth through the path of blazing rockets, leaving scrolls of living fire written in the black sky.

The fireworks are completed when the monster actinic flares of 30,000 candle power are set off. These light up the country for miles around and a person can read a newspaper on the ground ten miles away. So brilliant are these giant actinic flares that they have been seen as far as 110 miles from the scene of the exhibition. During the burning of the actinic flares, volumes of white smoke emit from the burning candles and the pilot continues acrobatic maneuvers and describes pretty figures in the heavens.

NEFF URGES ALL TEXANS OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 3.—A proclamation calling on all citizens of Texas to observe Fire Prevention Week, October 5 to 11, was issued by Governor Pat M. Neff, calling attention to the tremendous loss caused by fire every year in the United States and urging the formation of a fire prevention committee in every community. The proclamation said:

"During 1923 the United States recorded the greatest fire waste in her history. On an average of 40 persons were killed and $1,500,000 worth of property values were destroyed by fire, each day in the year. In Texas, however, during the same year, I am glad to report that by hard work and constant attention we have made wonderful improvements on fire wars and also the losses of life as well. During 1922, 234 persons lost their lives $15,000,000 worth of property was consumed by fire, while in 1923 162 persons lost their lives and $12,000,000 for loss was the sum total.

It would appear that we have been making some headway since fire prevention lines, and let us hope that the good work of conservation may continue.

Statistics conclusively prove that carelessness and ignorance go hand in hand as the principal cause of our great national disaster. Hence every effort must be employed to cause the people to realize the needlessness of this waste, and to impress the importance of minimizing the losses.

Burden on Public

"The burden of all the fires that occur falls upon the public. Fire insurance concerns only reimburse the individual for property destroyed by fire—they do not restore the values thus wiped out; they are merely the collectors and distributors of the fire tax. A percentage to cover the necessary expenses is always added to the cost of everything that we buy, and so in final analysis the people pay the fire waste bills.

"Fires can be prevented and Fire Prevention Week is intended to drive that fact home to the public at large.

"Therefore I, Pat M. Neff, governor of the State of Texas, in cooperation with the general assembly adopted for a countrywide observance of the occasion this year, do hereby designate the period of October 5 to 11 as Fire Prevention Week throughout the State of Texas, and do hereby call upon all of our citizens to actively engage in the task of clearing the state of fire hazards.

"It is important that a fire prevention committee be formed in each community to direct the work.

"The configuration danger of every city, town and village should be surveyed and measures adopted to reduce it.

"Ample water supply and means of utilizing it for fire purposes is vitally important. That feature should be given careful study and attention.

"An inspection service under the management of the chief of the fire department and the city fire marshal for thorough inspection of the mercantile and manufacturing districts ought to be inaugurated and vigorously supported, and arrangements should be made

STATE FAIR TO OPEN SATURDAY, OCT. 11TH

DALLAS, Oct. 3.—Saturday, Oct. 11 will be opening day of the thirty-eighth annual state fair of Texas at Dallas, and the declaration is made that there will be more new features and that visitors will see more scenic and spectacular amusements than any previous exposition.

"There will be thirteen days of racing horse races, with four stake events.

"The former coliseum directly at the entrance of the grounds, has been made into a magnificent agriculture building, in which the farm products of more than forty Texas counties will be displayed to maximum advantage.

"In the main exhibit building, an entirely new and most artistic effect has been secured by rendering the whole interior into the replica of a Spanish village, even to the chimneys which ring out hourly from the belfry in the village church.

"Texas manufacturers will have numerous 'action exhibits' in the manufacturers' section of the big automobile and manufacturers' building and the south's greatest automobile show will be given in the automobile section.

"Demonstrations of agricultural implements, farm power machinery and kindred lines, will be found in great variety all over the grounds, and thousands of head of fine stock will be shown in the live stock department. A ten-day poultry show and the annual show of the Texas Kennel Club featuring particularly fine hunting

SPEED RECORD MAY BE MADE BY AIRMAN

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 3.—Each year since 1920, some American pilot has been able to fly his airplane in the neighborhood of 95 miles an hour faster than any aviator ever flew before.

Tomorrow afternoon, Oct. 4, an attempt will be made to break the newest record, when a dozen planes take off in the annual Pulitzer Prize race in the closing contest of the International Air Races here.

In 1920 Lieut. C. C. Stoney at Mitchell Field, N. Y., attained a speed of 156 miles an hour and the world thought the record would stand for many years.

The next November, Bert Acosta at Omaha, set a new mark of 179 miles an hour and had the distinction of going through space faster than anyone had ever gone before.

But in October, 1922, at Selfridge Field, near Detroit, Lieut. R. L. Mergler won the Pulitzer prize with a speed of 205.8 miles an hour.

Last year the trophy went to Lieut. A. J. Williams at St. Louis when he piloted his speed plane at the rate of 243.67 miles an hour.

Since then very few, if any important improvements, have been made in the science of fast flying, but entrants in Saturday's race predict nevertheless that another new record will be made.

These were given the Society by Felix Phillips, a student of the West Texas State Teachers College. Everett Dixon, of Happy, Texas, added to the collection a cap and belt pistol, and a razor, the latter over 100 years old. Miss Laura V. Hammer, county superintendent of Potter County, Texas, sent the museum a copy of the Session's Ordinance of Alabama. ### DAVIS PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT TO AL SMITH

By RALPH H. TURNER
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Oct. 3.—Opening their joint offensive to capture New York state for the democrats, John W. Davis, and Governor Al Smith provided Madison Square Garden with a rousing political rally Thursday night that set in motion the democratic battle to vanquish the republicans in both the presidential and gubernatorial columns.

An administration that began with promises and has ended in alibis, that was Davis' description of the republicans. The packed garden echoed its approval. Davis promised to exert every human effort to aid Smith in his race against Roosevelt. Smith, pledged his whole hearted assistance in carrying the state for Davis. It was the first formal evidence of the democrats new attack on the republican forces of the state.

It was a Smith crowd that filled the garden to the ceiling and the appearance of the governor brought forth cheers that echoed to the rafters. Smith reserved his answer to Roosevelt's speech for a later occasion; he devoted his address chiefly to a plea that everyone go to the polls.

Condemning the power of privilege and the corruption which he said tainted the republicans, Davis recalled the promises which he charged they had broken.

"There is one industry, however, he declared, "that has profited greatly in the last three years. Whatever may have happened to any other industry in this country, however, much the farmers in the broad west, in the grain growing states and in the foreign markets, however, much the honest citizen may have blushed with shame to see his government held to humiliation both at home and abroad, one industry has flourished. That industry has been the alibi manufacturing company. Did you ever think what the output has been?"

"Secretary Fall started with a grand alibi he had $100,000 lent him by a friend, and when the friend was finally named and came forward and said there was nothing in it, the secretary was reduced to his last line of defense to decline, to answer for fear he might incriminate himself.

"And now I see in the public press that not only Delaney's estimate and Sinclair's $25,000 bonds found their way into his coffers, but there is $50,000 hidden away up here in Canada, coming from the same fruitful source.

"Secretary Denby had his alibi. He was nothing but a rubber stamp and had nothing to do with the transfer of the naval oil reserves, but to put his name to a paper that he knew nothing about."

For the first time in his campaign speeches, Davis declared that if elected president, he would lead the United States disincantment conference which the League of Nations proposes to call in June, 1925. "I would love to see a world wide conference on disarmament," he said, "but a world wide conference is not a conference between a selected group of nations, born out of jealousy; not a conference dealing with the particular engine of war, but a conference dealing with all, and if I am elected president of the United States and a general disarmament conference meets in June, 1925, the United States will be there."

Davis charged the administration had grossly exaggerated the efficiency of the Washington conference.

"We did nothing with the submarines," he asserted. "We did nothing with the cruisers. We did nothing with naval auxiliaries or air. But we destroyed the battleships we had built and were building, and most of our conferees tore up only their preliminary blue prints."

"It is well enough for the maker of the taxpayers to stop the expenditure of money on those particular engines of war. But as a preventative of war is merely a first step and no more."

"Secretary Wilbur told the American people that the administration in Washington had permitted our ratio to sink not only below the British but almost to the level of the Japanese."

And there was another one. An assistant secretary of the navy and his alibi was that he was nothing but a young boy. But there has not been devised yet, my friends an alibi for the policy sanctioned by the man who was then president of the United States declaring his approval of what had been done and accepting as the policy of his administration and his party the deliberate delivery of the title to the lands of these reserves, which three presidents in turn had struggled to preserve for the American people.

"There is not much of an alibi about the sorry story of the veterans bureau," Davis resumed. "Nobody raises his voice to palliate or excuse the grossest betrayal in my judgment of all, that which took the bounty of the nation giving to those who had suffered and bled in the nation's cause and turned the appropriations congress had made into a source of personal profit and party graft. In all this infamous list one name stands out, it seems to me with peculiar brilliance—the name of Ches. R. Forbes."

The democratic presidential nominee denounced the republican tariff as the most exorbitant, oppressive tariff law that ever disgraced the American statute books and condemned the provision which permitted the president to raise or lower the rates. Governor Smith was widely acclaimed by the post-graduate adherents who had not heard him since the close of the democratic convention. As he stepped to the speakers stand the hall struck up "Eastside Westside" and it seemed like a five minute slice of the "timorous convention days so ludicrous was the ovation.

Adhering largely to the issues of the presidential campaign he barely mentioned his opponent in the gubernatorial race and then only by implication.

He pledged his unqualified support to the democratic nominee for president and appealed to the voters to register early and turn out in full force to vote. Assailing the so-called virtue of "silence as exhibited by the president, he drew loud laughter from his audience by saying that it was nowhere recorded that Washington, Cleveland, Lincoln or Roosevelt were known as silent men.

"What is the great virtue in silence?" Smith asked.

Referring to alleged weakness of President Coolidge in the face of scandal and charging the president with inability to lead his party, the governor said:

"If the president had stood up and made an honest-to-god battle I would feel like saying little about him, but he didn't do it."

OPERATION ON JAILED MAN IS SOUGHT BY WIFE

By United News

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 3.—Armed with the nucleus of one year of hard work, Mrs. Roy Gardner is in Washington, D. C. seeking permission of Federal authorities for an operation on her husband who is confined in the federal prison here which she believes will make him safe for society.

Roy Gardner, one of the country's most famous train robbers, passed his cell day after day waiting word from his wife. The bandit contends that a bone pressing on his brain which was caused by an accident when he was a child, is the cause of his desire to rob.

"I know the pressure makes me rob," he said. "If it could be removed I am certain that I never would want to commit another crime."

This is the second attempt made to secure permission of government authorities for the operation. The first came just after Gardner was placed in confinement. At that time his wife pleaded with Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty who ordered an examination and then refused her request. Since that time Mrs. Gardner returned to her home in California, and worked saving enough for another trip to Washington and the cost of the operation.

One pleasant thing about listening to the radio that is does not require a new kind of glasses from the oculist.
