STRONG COMPETITION IN ATHLETIC EVENTS BALANCE LAXITY OF PRIZE FIGHT CHAMPS IN SUMMER PEGLER SAYS

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—When Earl McNeely, of California, slipped a bounder over Freddie Lindstrom's top in the last moment of the world series, he also slipped the summer sport program of 1924 into the past tense, for the series was the last outstanding business of a crowded athletic docket. As this was an Olympic summer, there was more international competition than usual and the wrenching and straining of the amateur athletes quite made up for the softening of the prize fight champions, who refused to accept a half a year's rest from the customers and correspondents who would not let the United States, the most efficiently trained and organized nation in the world of athletics, again must pay dead storage on the majority of the gray coats, medals, sashes and other silver trappings which are awarded for the championships in the various sports of action and winning has become such a monotonous habit that the few defeats of the summer will be regarded with more interest than the numerous conquests.

For terms of the prize fight tournament competition so that he may devote himself to letters was accepted with a feeling very much like eagerness or relief. Tilden's broadest under the guise of a fight broadened under the guise of a six-circled war with the lawn tennis association became a sustained after a couple of months and, any way, competition is stopped at second place in the American ranking so long as he remains in the game and when the strife was warm enough between the other players, but there was no answer to Tilden's racket. He defended the national singles title without snapping any tendons and the Australians were easily pushed back when they went charging through the qualifying rounds and up to the net to meet the American defenders of the Davis cup. There was a large foreign legion in the national singles, but few of them lasted very long; Vincent Richards was dressed off in the men's singles at Wimbledon which confers so very smart title but he won the championship in the Olympics, which was more important. Helen Wills, defeated in the Wimbledon women's singles, also came through in the Olympics.

America's principal losses were the Wightman cup, the Anglo-American open golf championship. The British also won some sort of yachting cup on Long Island Sound, but yacht races are becoming so complicated, that with their handicaps for sail, speed, draught and thickness of paint, that professors are the only ones who can enjoy them.

Walker New Resident of U. S.
Evelyn Walker, the skinny little Englishman who took the open championship from Bobby Jones at Detroit, is now and has been for some years a resident of the United States, but the title belongs to England for the year. The Olympic rule in such matters has it that an athlete competes for the land of his nativity and it should apply everywhere. America did not claim the British open title when Jack Hutchinson a born Scot, won it.

The British sent a strong team of amateurs to harrow the Long Island Meadows in the Walker golf tournament, but they were easily turned back and when the national amateur began at Philadelphia, Cyril Tolley, England's best amateur, failed to qualify. The strangers had no chance to speak above a whisper when the match began. Perhaps it has been mentioned before that Bobby Jones won the title.

Walter Hines's second anticipation of the British open championship contested for what Walker did at Detroit. In fact, it was a little braver feat than Walker's for the professional field in the American open was largely of born Scots or Englishmen, who came to America as club professionals, whereas there were few Americans in the British open.

Polo Squabbles Unsettled.
The British polo players not only took a beating which was no disgrace, in the polo matches on Long Island, but their social and financial managers got into an unseemly tiff which was devilish embarrassing, understand, especially in the presence of the Prince of Wales.

The only other international horse business of the season was the program of Epinard, France's three year old champion of 1923, who ran three special races in this country and lost them with unanimity. There were all but no first wily finishes, but Epinard's backers ran out of excuses when he lost the distance.

WALTER POSEY NAMED HEAD LUBBOCK COUNTRY CLUB AT ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS HERE LAST NIGHT

At the regular annual stockholders' meeting of the Lubbock Country Club held last night at the clubhouse on the golf course north of the city, officers for the ensuing year were elected.

These were: Walter S. Posey, President; B. C. Dickinson, Vice-President; Lee M. Duggan, Secretary; and F. R. Friend, Treasurer.

Organized here only about two years ago, the Lubbock Country Club is now recognized as one of the social and recreational centers of all community activity, and although it is necessarily more or less exclusive in its benefits, it offers recreational facilities, and social past time to more than 100 families of the city.

During the past few months, the organization has erected one of the most modern and thoroughly equipped club houses to be found in the western part of the state, and hardly a day passes now but that some form of social activity is carried on.

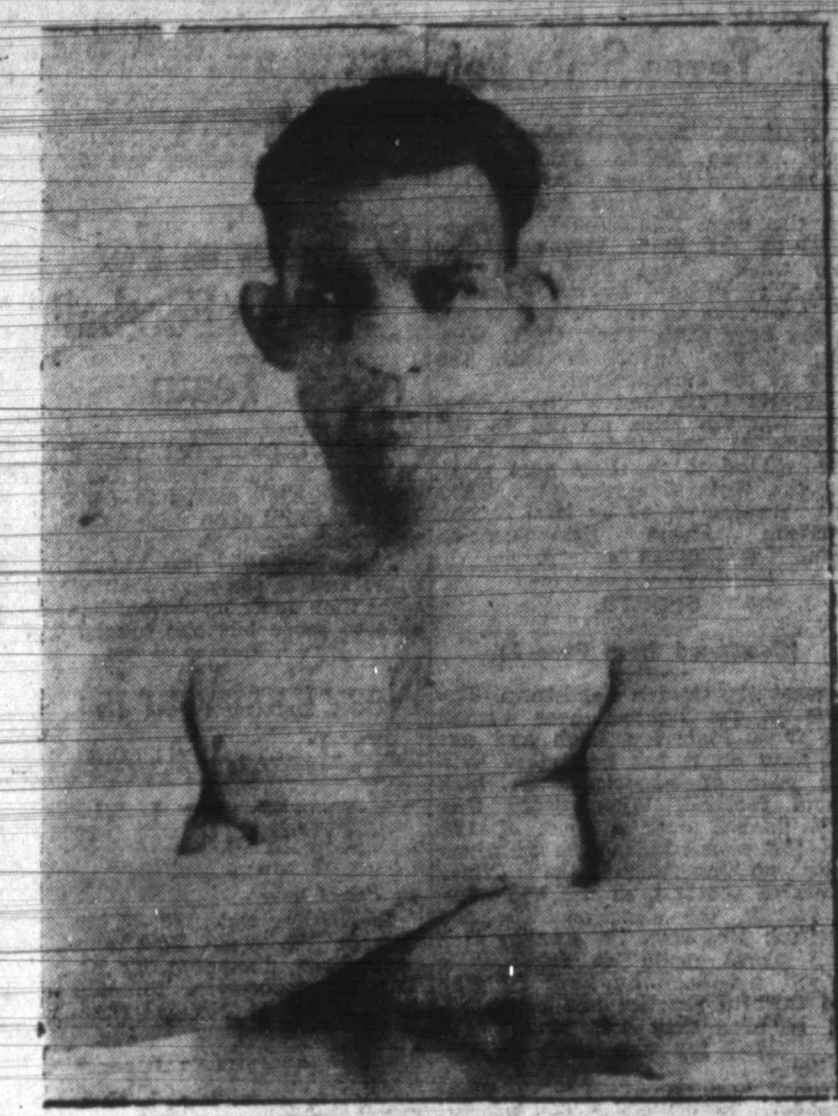

The membership roster is full at the present time, as it has been since organization, according to officials, with several on the waiting list, clamoring for entrance to the benefits of the association which can be offered only on retirement of some member.

the Hillsboro athlete returned Monday, Oct. 6, to the university. For the season of 1924 Jackson representing Texas University for the first time, was easily the most versatile track and field athlete in the South. Jackson showed to great advantage in the broad jump, breaking the Southwestern Conference record for this event. He was a star, too, in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and in the 220-yard hurdles. Besides breaking the conference record in the broad jump Jackson last spring won the conference championship in the low hurdles.

He is only one of the more than fifty athletes who are taking light exercises this fall and keeping in shape for the opening of strenuous training in the spring. A large number of men who will be out for track are now on the varsity football squad while others are members of Coach Roy McLean's cross-country squad.

The return of Jackson insures Coach Littlefield nine letter men who will be available for service this spring. They are: Captain Jim Reese, miler and half-miler; R. L. Harris, quarter-miler; G. H. Harris, weight man; Cowles, high jumper; K. L. Berry, weight heavier; Mortimer Sprague, weight man; Aubrey Jackson, jumps, hurdles and dashes; Alvin Coale, two-miler, and S. Shearer, javelin hurler.

OFFERS TO MEET ALL COMERS

R. R. (Stecher) Routt, of Louisville, Kentucky, has announced that he is now located in Lubbock, and is ready to meet all aspirants to a wrestling career. He operates on a policy of "none barred," and guarantees to give anybody a race for their money, regardless of weight. Routt weighs in now at about 164 pounds, and carries clippings from along his trail which give him the best of recommendations, both for clean sport and a scientific ring game. His manager is Fred Wittman, with the local branch of the Lydick Roofing Co., who also is an old hand at the game. Wittman is not active at the present, however.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 13.—Return to school of Aubrey Jackson of Hillsboro, high point man in track and field athletics in 1924, is considered to have materially enhanced the chances of Texas University to win its third consecutive Southwestern Conference championship in track and field by winning the 1925 title. to meet the Golden Sandstorm. The team is the lightest ever turned out from Plainview High and not one man on it has had more than one year of experience. Coach Guy Allen looked over a flock of 120 and 130 pound kids, most of whom knew nothing about the finer points of football, at the beginning of season. The situation seemed hopeless. However, the smaller men have about made up for their limited poundage by hard fighting and faithful practice and coach Allen believes they will make the new mark for any team in this section.

Speed is outstanding in the light Plainview team. While the heavier forwards of opposing teams are getting started, the light Plainview backs often have skirted an end and are making hard work for the secondary defense. Allen has also drilled his squad well in the art of forward passing and some good gains have been made in this way.

Near East War is Believed Averted By Turkish Treaty

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Threats of war in the Near East apparently have been dispelled by a Anglo-Turkish agreement to submit to the League of Nations the dispute regarding violations of the frontier between Turkish territory and the English mandate area of Mosul.

England complained that the Turkish troops in full uniform had crossed the border line into Mosul and the Turks countered with a charge that English airmen had operated above Turkish territory. Friction between the Turkish and English forces maintained a smoldering distrust that threatened to flame at any moment.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish republic called an urgent meeting of the assembly at Ankara to consider the situation and in Constantinople Turkish newspapers openly stated their fear that war between England and Turkey might be the outcome of the trouble.

Under the agreement just reached, the violations of territorial as a part of the anti-Mosul question, would be considered in a tribunal which already has been referred to the league.

Other delegations are said to be holding off for a strong offensive in the later period of the "war."

Delegates have been registering since early Tuesday and the local committee said the largest attendance records will be surpassed before the convention closes Thursday night.

Among those being pushed for the office of district governor are: John Landis, St. Joseph, Mo., attorney; and John Hill, St. Louis, Mo., contractor. A monster parade in which ten bands took part was the feature of the first night's activity.

Division of Spoils May Cause Another War on Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14.—Menacing confusion has gripped the native district of Shanghai as the victorious leaders who captured Shanghai squabbled over division of the spoils. Another war seems imminent.

General Hsiao, Anfu leader, reorganized some of Gen. Lu Yung Hsiang's beaten troops and uniting with Fukien generals who had assisted in the attack on the city, marched against the Kiangsi troops, former Fukien allies.

Fighting was resumed at Nansiang Tuesday afternoon but a truce was arranged within a few hours while a military conference discussed the division of the spoils of Shanghai.

Bands of free lance soldiers surrounded the foreign settlement and the chaos in the native district is aggravated by the uncertain position of officers and soldiers who do not know whether or not a war is under way outside the city.

Fighting is resumed. SHANGHAI, Oct. 14.—Fighting has been resumed at Nansiang, eight miles from Shanghai. The battle is to determine the portion of the spoils of war.

General Hsiao Yuan leader of the Kiangsi forces who captured Shanghai with the aid of the Fukien army is said to have suspected his allies of treachery. He kept his troops ready to participate in any battle that might start.

The foreign settlement in Shanghai is quiet and closely guarded, but the situation is uncertain.

Lincoln Declared Sufficiently Sane For Murder Trial

GENEVA, Ill., Oct. 14.—Warren J. Lincoln, the lawyer-florist of Aurora, Illinois, who confessed more than a year ago to slaying his wife and his brother-in-law has been declared sane enough mentally to stand trial for murder.

After deliberating less than two hours, a jury late Tuesday returned a verdict pronouncing Lincoln sane. He will be brought to trial for his life January 16.

Every effort has been made by Lincoln's attorneys to prove him mentally irresponsible. Aliens were employed to study their client. One of those included Dr. H. S. Hulbert, who gave testimony for the defense in the trial of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold.

Hulbert's testimony was that Lincoln suffered delusion, and that he was "certainly insane." The state endeavored to prove that Lincoln was an astounding liar, and something of an actor, and had "fooled the doctors."

3 ARMY OFFICERS CONDEMNED FOR CRUELTY IN WAR

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Seven German war time officers, including a division commander and a brigade commander have been condemned to death by a French war council sitting at Nancy for atrocities against natives during the world war.

The accused include General Clausz, commander of an infantry brigade; General Von Herzer, division commander; Captain Gueldard; Col. Huicke, Captain Fritz, Lt. Schrader, and Sergeant Major Senen.

They were charged with killing civilians in the Lorraine village of Gerbeville. None were present at their trial which ended in the death sentences after the counsel had deliberated for three hours.

The council also sentenced General Dammer to twenty years imprisonment, Colonel Kreyenberg to five years; and Major Krim to five. Another major by the name of Leekemann was exonerated. This was hardly equaled.

The investigations into the charges against the Germans has been in progress for more than a year. A hundred witnesses, many of them ex-soldiers, under the accused officers, were heard by the council.

The alleged offenses were committed in August, 1914, in the first of the series of outrages against civilians with which the Germans were charged by the French.

The testimony against the accused officers included stories of the shooting of old men, women and children in the streets and burning of buildings without giving their occupants a chance to escape.

The German offenses it was testified reached their height at Gerbeville. At least a hundred of the towns citizens disappeared, it was charged, and as many more were injured.

CHEMISTRY HEAD CANYON TO GET CAUSE TOOTH BROWN STAIN

CANYON, Texas, Oct. 15.—Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the department of chemistry at the West Texas State Teachers College, has been commissioned by the West Texas Dental Association and the National Dental Association to work on the problem for a remedy for "brown-stain", a formation of the teeth prevalent in this region of Texas.

Before a remedy can be developed, the cause of the formation must be discovered. At present Dr. Pierle is experimenting with guinea pigs and white mice to develop the stain artificially. Various compounds will be introduced into the animals' diet in order to test the formulas obtained by examination of the water supply in the communities which are showing much tooth discoloration.

Last year Dr. Pierle took a survey of the student in the Teachers' College in an attempt to gather statistics relative to the occurrences of the stain and will probably make a survey of the present student body some time during the year.

The cause of the brown stain is one of the most elusive known to dentists. Much experimenting in all parts of the country is being done in an effort to solve the problem.

SUPREME COURT TO SETTLE CALIFORNIA KLAN DISPUTE

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 15.—The state supreme court may be called upon to settle "who's who" in the California Klan unless rival factions get things straightened out among themselves it has been intimated.

The disagreement over which of two rival factions of klanism is the "true and only" came to light when a faction headed by James F. DeFord, Chas. H. Hays and James Westervelt, all of Los Angeles, applied articles of incorporation to secretary of state Frank C. Jordan.

Then Jordan received a telegram from C. W. Price of Los Angeles, "imperial representative of the Klan" in this state, which protested the issuance of the articles. Price labeled the rival faction as "outlaws," saying they were all members who had been suspended.

Jordan refused to issue the articles of incorporation until he could determine which of the two factions was the "true" Klan, and the disgruntled klanismers announced they would fight it out in the supreme court.

In answer to the charges contained in Price's telegram to Jordan, the board told Jordan Tuesday that members of the Klan in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento and other sections of the state were in revolt against Price. "Price is attempting to use the Klan for personal gain," his opponents declared.

BURNING CORN FOR FUEL

In 1921, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace issued a statement to the newspaper press of the country in which he said: "It will pay both farmers and people in the country to use corn instead of coal. The farmers should buy no coal and the town people ought to buy no coal." He also elaborated the idea, giving the fuel value of corn. At this very time millions of people in Europe were at starvation point. But the Republican administration kept our surplus food at home. It avoided any entangling dealing with Europe.

The Republican party now, in its platform and candidates, offers no better solution of our agricultural conditions. The best they offer is a "commission to inquire" into conditions.

The Democrats offer a definite program—to reestablish the American farmers' export market in Europe; to give tariff relief, to reduce taxation, to readjust rail and water rates, to encourage production of cheaper fertilizers, to stimulate co-operative marketing and credit for export marketing commission and to Beauty Shop. Call for appointments. Phone 732. 301-4.

Against burning corn as a relief to the farmers, the Democrats offer constructive legislative and administrative relief.

MARKETS

STOCKS SHOW SLIGHT RECOVERY FROM TUESDAY BREAK

By EDWARD J. CONLON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—The action of the stock market on Wednesday implied that the break on Tuesday was largely engineered by professionalists, in that the technical position of the market was corrected to a certain degree. The mid-week session saw moderate recoveries in both railroad and industrial stocks with a turnover close to a million shares.

Continued strength in the German bonds and the news that the British section of the international loan had been sold within three hours, lent firmness to the bond market and to the security markets in general.

Another factor was the relaxation of the call money rates to two and one half per cent again, following the temporary firming up late in the previous session.

Professional bears are making very cautious efforts to inject pessimism into the market. That is, there are underground rumors which stated that many of the contemplated mergers in various industries would not be consummated if the election went contrary to the wishes of certain forces in Wall Street. Still, financial experts have been employed when a drive against prices appeared to hold any promise of success.

The oil stocks in view of steady decline in production to a point where the output is the lowest in months, attracted a large following and in due course buyers rallied to the assistance of other groups and prices once more started upward. A few weeks ago nobody had a good word for the oil industry, now some houses have reversed their opinions and are pointing out speculative possibilities in the oil.

A little strength was imparted to the market by the tenor of the weekly reviews of the steel reviews of the steel trade. The Iron Age in commenting on the present scale of operations, states that the September rate is being maintained though some products, such as sheets, are coming in for an increasingly strong demand. Heavy buying by the railroads, seems a considerable part of the current bookings.

An easing in foreign rates was obviously due to profit taking after the forward march of the past few days. Starting closed about a dollar lower, with all of the other European rates easier in sympathy. Gains averaging more than four cents a bushel were scored in wheat, a strong demand for export. Reports of bookings running up into the millions of bushels have added zest to the market and offerings at times have been very limited. Corn, oats, and rye—all closed higher. Cotton closed a shade lower due in part to the favorable weekly weather report. Coffee reached new high levels.

GLORIA SWANSON BIG HIT AT LINDSEY THEATRE

If there are any doubting Thomases, who are still of the opinion that Gloria Swanson is purely a fashion plate, we bid them rush right over to the Lindsey Theatre where the latest Paramount picture, "Man-handled" began a 2 day's run yesterday. We absolutely guarantee that all doubts as to her "historic" ability will vanish when they see Gloria combining whimsy, broad comedy, tears and pathos in one of the best character delineations she has yet brought to the screen.

"Man-handled," which was adopted by Frank Tuttle from the story by Arthur Stringer, gives Miss Swanson a wide range of possibilities, and to her credit it must be said she makes the most of them. In this simple, human story, she plays a "historic" girl who starts life in New York apartment stores, money beautiful clothing, good times, have the same appeal to her as they have to the average girl, who has never had them. She has youth and beauty, a clear, honest love, who are willing enough to help her lead the kind of life she thinks she wants. She is caught up in a whirl of gaiety—at a breakfast pursuit of pleasure in the "must-be" town set in the metropolis, she realizes in the end that her free and easy contact with so many men has depreciated her value in the eyes of the man who really loves her. How she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory forges a mighty climax that is both spectacular and profound.

The picture was directed by Allan Dwan, who has surrounded Miss Swanson with an excellent cast, headed by Tom Moore, who gives one of the greatest performances of his career as the hard-working mechanic, whose honest love wins Gloria in the end.

All in all, "Man-handled" is one of the most sensational pictures that we have seen in many a day.

The number of juvenile delinquency cases in New York in 1919 was 8,851. In 1923, after three years of prohibition, it was 4,421.

There is always lots of unemployment and most of it is on somebody's payroll.

Opening Great Cross Continent Road Is To Be Celebrated

CHICAGO, Oct. 15—The official opening of the Dixie Highway Route "A" from Chicago to Florida through Asheville, North Carolina, or Chattanooga, Tennessee, will be the occasion of a celebration to be held at Lexington, Kentucky, under the auspices of a number of Kiwanis clubs of Kentucky and Tennessee, on November 15, 1924, according to Mr. Charles O'Connor of Asheville, engineer in charge of the construction.

The construction of the important connecting stretches of road through hitherto impassable mountain regions of the south is said to be the most extensive piece of co-operative highway construction and financing in the history of American roads.

The funds for construction in these counties which could not finance the road were raised by Kiwanis clubs in Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina, by a gasoline "tax" agreed to by the owners of motor cars, and by contributions from various civic and motor associations, and individuals in those states, and the cities of Chicago, Detroit and Dayton.

By having members of these organizations contribute their own labor and securing other labor at half the usual wage rate, the cost per mile for construction of this mountainous country was almost half of the regular cost of the same kind of construction to the states.

This highway cuts through the Mason-Dixon line, and enables motorists to save almost 1,000 miles of travel from Chicago to Florida. It takes travelers through a picturesque and historic part of the United States, little known to the masses of motorists. They will become familiar with the famous blue grass stock farms of Kentucky, places made famous in the Revolutionary and Civil wars, the famous Grove Park Inn and Vanderbilt estates at Asheville, where the handicrafts in wood work, and textiles has attracted interest all over the world, Kenia College and other features in the Cumberland and Blue Ridge Mountain Country.

Indications are that thousands of motorists will travel this route in November and December.

"Radio is without question the most valuable item of equipment ever taken into the north by an Arctic explorer. It has enabled us to correct our chronometers daily within one-tenth of a second. Without correct time new lands cannot be placed accurately upon the map."—Captain Donald B. MacMillan.

ENGLAND EMBARKS ON CAMPAIGN FOR LEADER

By CHARLES McCANN.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—After a week of nervous preparation, England has embarked on the shortest and what promises to be the most bitter campaign cruise since the war.

From a dozen platforms throughout British labor, conservative and liberal leaders have opened the campaign of electioneering that will end on Oct. 29, when the country will go to the polls to determine whether Ramsay MacDonald and his government shall remain in office or make way either for a conservative leader or David Lloyd George, or Herbert Asquith, of the liberal party.

As the campaign begins, the chances of a liberal succession to power are remote.

Premier MacDonald, began in Glasgow the speaking tour during which he hopes to convince his fellow countrymen that he should be retained at the head of their government.

The Premier scoffed at his opponent.

They are entering the fight under the white feather emblem, he told a "welcoming crowd" at Denny.

At another village MacDonald warned the crowd against Bolshevism and said that the labor party alone understands the bolshevistic phenomena and therefore is the only party able to fight it intelligently.

While MacDonald was campaigning in Scotland, Lloyd George, Asquith, and Sir John Simon, the three most influential liberals assailed the government in London.

Attacking first the Anglo-Soviet treaty entered into by labor and the governments domestic failures, Asquith declared that MacDonald never again could have his support.

"Since the labor government took office unemployment has increased, the cost of living has increased, the number of houses built has decreased, the cost of building has increased and Britain's foreign trade has declined," Lloyd George declared after Asquith had stepped down.

"If that is what MacDonald meant when he talked of 'labor success,' then Heaven save the country from any more socialist triumphs.

"Why," the former premier shouted, "the labor government has not any more originality than a Chinese tailor."

Elsewhere in England Winston Churchill, and Lord Birkenhead, were carrying the conservative campaign to the electoral. Everywhere the two older parties directed their attacks against labor, in contrast to their tactics a year ago when labor came into office after liberals and conservatives had almost ignored it to fight each other.

ILLINOIS WILL ELECT FIRST WOMAN TO THE SENATE

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 15.—With the nomination practically equivalent to election, Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, Republican candidate for state senator from the 26th district will be the first woman to enter the upper house of the Illinois Legislature.

She will succeed Senator Frank Hanson, who was a candidate for re-election but who was defeated by her in the primaries.

Mrs. Bohrer steps into the political arena naturally. She campaigned for her father, Joseph W. Fifer, when he was a candidate for governor and although a young girl at the time, she worked faithfully to place him in the gubernatorial office.

Governor Fifer has long since retired from public life and is now the oldest ex-governor of Illinois, reaching the age of 82 on October 28, but is still active. When his daughter became a candidate for senator, ex-governor Fifer campaigned in her behalf, paying the debt he incurred when he aspired to the governorship.

Mrs. Bohrer is an effective public speaker, has been prominent in the woman's club and various welfare organizations and is a leader in society and civic affairs of all kinds.

Her husband Jacob Bohrer, was formerly postmaster and is prominent as a lawyer. The couple have two children in college.

Mrs. Bohrer owes her selection to the unanimity with which the women voters rallied to her support and her candidacy brought out a very large vote among that sex. It is expected that Mrs. Bohrer will be the champion of legislation favored by the women's organizations of Illinols and, it is predicted she will exert a powerful influence in procuring the adoption of the measures she advocates.

MRS. BUTTE MAKES CAMPAIGN FOR HER HUSBAND

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—Like battle scared politicians who have struggled through a life-time of campaigns Dr. George C. Butte, republican nominee for governor is not slow in recognizing the power behind the woman vote and the appeal that Mrs. Miriam Ferguson directs to this power.

And realizing this, Mrs. Butte was called upon by the republican nominee to fair her views. "In her first public appearance, the wife of the former dean of the Texas University law school said: 'A lot of us inherit the democrat label and don't know why?' Anyway I voted the Democratic ticket, casting my ballot for one of the losing candidates.

"When it came to pledges, I left the 'I am a democrat' she explained further, but instead of leaving the words about pledging to support the candidates I wrote in 'but I am not a puppet.' And that was before I ever dreamed my husband was going to be a candidate."

As for the women of Texas and their attitude toward the race, Mrs. Butte declared unhesitatingly that thinking women won't vote for Mrs. Ferguson because she is a woman.

"Of course," she added "women are new in politics and many women are emotional. But, of course any thinking person, man or woman, will not vote for the other candidate simply because she is a woman."

"To elect Mrs. Ferguson is not a victory for woman suffrage. It is not to elect her because she is a woman or because she is particularly fit for the office. It is to elect her husband. Of course, he is the candidate and he will be the governor if Mrs. Ferguson is the nominal candidate."

From the woman suffrage angle, Mrs. Ferguson had not even been a voter, and says that she has never scratched a ticket before. Mrs. Butte said:

Mrs. Butte herself, is a typical "housebody" with five children under her wing and is taking her husband's task seriously. She announced that she will continue to accompany him wherever possible and appear on the speaking platform herself. She is a splendid orator and apparently "up on her politics."

Asks England Be Held Responsible For Mosu Trouble

GENEVA, Oct. 15.—Following the hasty summoning of the Turkish assembly to meet in Angora to consider the situation created by constant friction between British troops occupying the rich oil land of Mosul and the Turkish forces on the Mosul border, Ismet Pasha, Turkish foreign minister, has wired the League of Nations demanding that responsibility for any further trouble be placed on England.

Ismet urged the League council to take further action in the dispute between England and Turkey relative to the Mosul area, and declares that if England fails to respect the League's decision relative to Mosul and commits acts of aggression England must bear the entire responsibility for the consequences.

The Anglo-Turkish dispute concerns the village of Mosul and the question of whether an alteration in the existing borders of the English mandate area in the Near East shall allot Mosul and its oil to Turkey or leave it under English control.

WOMAN IS TO FORCE HER HUSBAND TO PAY $150 MONTHLY ALIMONY

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 15.—A fight to set aside the order forcing her to pay her husband $150 a month alimony, has been started by Mrs. Amy Chamberlain, wealthy local woman, in the district court here.

Several weeks ago when Mark E. Chamberlain, filed suit for divorce in the district court here, he asked $150 alimony charging his wife a worth $100,000. Mrs. Chamberlain filed an answer asserting the amount should be $65,000. Chamberlain bases his claim for alimony on the allegation that Mrs. Chamberlain made her fortune by speculating with $12,000 he gave her, and that his wife gave him $500 several weeks ago and told him to leave.

JURIST TO IDENTIFY WHETHER HE IS KU KLUX OR NOT

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 15.—Attorneys have the right to ask jurists if they belong to the Ku Klux Klan or any other fraternal or social organization, the supreme court ruled.

Guy Moore, convicted in Jefferson county of possession of liquor for sale, won a reversal when his attorneys informed the higher court that the trial judge refused to allow defense counsel to question the jury on their fraternal affiliations.

State Teachers of Kansas Hold Three Days' Conference

TOPEKA, Kans., Oct. 15.—Kansas school "kiddies" will have a three day holiday starting tomorrow by reason of the annual conventions of the Kansas State Teachers' association here in Hays, Hutchinson and Parsons, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Prominent national educators and the three candidates for governor, William Allen White, independent, Ben S. Paulen, Republican, and Gov. Jonathan Davis are on the programs.

OKLAHOMA HIGHWAY COM. MEETS AT MUSKOGEE DISCUSS ROADS

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 15.—More and better roads for Oklahoma will be the principal subjects discussed here Friday, at the meeting of the state highway commission and the district state highway association.

WEEK-END GRID SCHEDULE PROMISES HARD BATTLES

NOTRE DAME AND ARMY EXHIBITION ONE OF STRONGEST; BIG TEN AND MISSOURI CONFERENCE ALSO ARE EVENLY MATCHED

BY ROBERT D. LUSK
 NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Preliminary football for the principal purpose of teaching the young coaches dear old alma mater's yells and giving the freshmen, male and female, a chance to display sorority pledge pins and ribbons, is now safely passed, and the 1924 season begins football for football's sake alone.

The preliminary games although even more noticeable than usual matches between heavyweights and lightweights, have been of good enough quality to permit some predictions based on past performances.

Saturday's schedule in the east is unusually strong. Of particular sectional interest is the game between the Army and Notre Dame at New York. For the fans, the show will have all frills of the Army-Navy contest in miniature. The Army goat will be dragged about the field along with the cadet corps from West Point.

The teams are well matched. Notre Dame perhaps has an advantage in the air and the Army in rush attacks. The Army mentors are said to be considerably abandoning the line-plunge methods for the forward pass. This will be dangerous as so far this season they have failed to complete a single pass out of eleven trials. The south team has completed four out of six for a total of 89 yards.

Dartmouth is going to New Haven confident of beating the Elis. She has a scoring machine, as has been demonstrated in her three preliminary games. The Yale team is not so good this year and even the New Haven crowd may be able to see the face of 5 to 4, 10 to 7 and even 2 to 1 odds that are being offered.

The Navy's ignominious defeat last week by Marquette has been scribed as due to careful nursing in preparation for the Army encounter. The Princeton game Saturday will be a big drawing card. It is almost certain, however, that the Navy will be unable to depend upon rushing attacks. To make up for a rather weak backfield, it will have to resort to aerial plays, a rather loose game may be expected.

In the big ten, there are two games of importance. Michigan will go to Illinois and Minnesota will play Wisconsin at Madison. In both these games it is likely that the home crowds will be able to see their teams victorious. Aside from the Notre-Dame game there will be another inter-sectional contest Saturday of lesser importance, when the Colgate eleven meet Nebraska at Lincoln. The Corn Huskers have been up to mark this fall and it is quite likely they will fall to hold the invaders.

The contests of interest in the Missouri Valley conference are the games between the Kansas Aggies and Iowa State.

The Kansas Aggies should win.

WAYLAND TO MEET N. M. I. TODAY AT PLAINVIEW

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 16.—Coaches Caudell and Jack Woodward of Wayland College are working overtime to get the Jackrabbits in condition for the game Friday with Wayland's old rival, New Mexico Military Institute. The game will be at Lamar Park beginning at three o'clock.

N. M. I. has a strong team. They defeated Montezuma College 64 to 9 early in the season, and only recently won from Clarendon College by a score of 14 to 3.

Wayland has played two games this season defeating Battery A, 131st F. A., composed of former college and high school players, by a score of 21 to 6. She lost to the Denver Ironmen, a team from the Denver Show, 6 to 6.

Wayland's eleven will probably

Record Cash Price Paid By Athletics For "Lefty" Groves

By United News.
 BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 16.—The Philadelphia American League club has purchased Robert ("Lefty") Groves, star pitcher of the Baltimore International League club for $100,000 a price which in cash, is said to set a new high record for cash paid for a baseball player.

Babe Ruth was obtained by the New York Yankees from the Boston Red Sox for $125,000 in 1920, but it is said, only $100,000 of the deal was represented by cash at the time.

"Lefty" Groves, who came from Maryland, is six feet two inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and is 25 years old. He has spent five of his six years in professional baseball with the Baltimore Orioles. During the last five years, he has struck out 1,107 batters, won 1088 games, and lost 36.

Gov't Founded On Religion, Coolidge Tells Audience

By United News.
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—President Coolidge regards religion as the real foundation of government and ascribes the progress of the United States to spiritual groundwork laid here by religious teachers and preachers before the revolution and carried on to the present time. He outlined his views in an address here Wednesday at the unveiling of a monument to Francis Asbury, a pioneer bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church in this country.

"Our government rests upon religion," the president said.

"It is from that source that we derive our reverence for truth and justice for equality and liberty and for the rights of mankind. Unless the people believe in these principles they cannot believe in our government."

"The government of a country," he declared, "never gets ahead of the religion of a country. There is no way by which we can substitute the authority of law for the virtue of man. Of course, we can help to restrain the vicious and furnish a fair degree of security, and protection by legislation, and police control, but the real reforms which society in these days is seeking will come as a result of our religious convictions, or they will not come at all."

"Peace, justice, humanity, charity—these cannot be legislated into being. They are the result of a divine grace. I have never seen the necessity for reliance upon religion rather than upon law better expressed than in a great truth uttered by Mr. Tiffany Blake, of Chicago, when he said: 'Christ spent no time in the ante-chamber of Caesar, an act of congress may indicate that a reform is being, has been accomplished, but it does not of itself bring about a reform.'"

"The president said that the blessing and prosperity which have come to the United States as a result of being built on a religious foundation would not continue if the people neglect religion. We cannot depend on the government to do the work of religion, he declared. We

WOMAN ATTACKS M'DONALD WITH MUCH FEROCITY

By United News.
 WOLVERHAMPTON, England, Oct. 16.—Shouting "This is our flag, never mind Russia," a woman leaped aboard Premier MacDonald's automobile here Thursday and beat him over the head with a British union jack until police dragged her away.

MacDonald was on his way to a labor rally where he was to speak when the incident occurred. Twenty thousand persons greeted him, but when he began to speak there was considerable heckling, a campaign practice almost dignified as an art in England.

Two more weeks of touring with numerous speeches each day will remain on MacDonald's campaign, but he may cut his tour short. After the Wolverhampton speech he was unable to deliver other scheduled talks. His throat was strained and although he tried to speak his words were inaudible.

NOTED RACER KILLED IN TEST RUN AT CHARLOTTE

CHARLOTTE, S. C., Oct. 16.—Ernie Ansterberg, famous automobile race driver of Los Angeles was instantly killed on the Charlotte speedway at 5:30 Thursday afternoon when the drag link on his "Duesenberg" racer broke and caused him to lose control of the machine.

Ansterberg's car which was traveling at the rate of 107 miles per hour turned over several times and crashed into a fence. He sustained a fractured skull, broken neck and other injuries.

Ansterberg arrived here Wednesday for the initial race on the Charlotte speedway Saturday Oct. 25, and this afternoon was making his initial debut on the track testing out his machine.

He was in the straight-away in front of the main grandstand when the accident occurred. He is survived by a widow in Los Angeles. Ansterberg was widely known figure in the racing world. He had driven in races at Indianapolis, Altoona, Fresno, Los Angeles, and other points.

Had Promising Future.
 LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Ernie Ansterberg, killed in a racing accident at Charlotte, N. C., was one of the tracks most prominent and promising youths. Ansterberg drove his first active competition at the old Beverly Hills speedway, later racing in several coast events. At one time he was a mechanic for Roscoe Series, who died on the track in 1922, and later rode with Joe Boyer who was killed at Altoona this year.

CHASE ADMITS ERROR IN FIRPO AFFIDAVIT

By United News.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Was it all mistake? Well, perhaps not entirely, but Canon William Sheafe Chase, the veteran Brooklyn reformer, admitted to U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock at Ellis Island Thursday that there was an important error in the affidavit he swore out for the arrest of Luis Angel Firpo.

Chase had sworn on "information and belief" that Firpo called from this country in 1923 with Senorita Blanca Lourdes Picart as his wife. He told Hitchcock Thursday that he had since learned this to be untrue.

Nevertheless, the federal prosecutor announced, the case will be presented to the grand jury.

DAVIS AGAIN RAPS WHEELER CHARGE AS INJUSTICE

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 15.—J. W. Davis has submitted what he contends is proof of his charge that the activities of the republican national committee in connection with the indictment of Senator Byron K. Wheeler, was "one of the most dastardly efforts ever known to utilize the machinery of the department of justice for purely political purposes."

The democratic nominee cited his evidence Wednesday when interviewed concerning a religious foundation during the day from George B. Lockwood, former secretary of the republican national committee in which Lockwood complained against the charge.

"I do not intend to answer the telegram," Davis said. "Even so, Mr. Lockwood was a person of sufficient consequence to deserve a reply to the tone he has chosen to adopt would render it unnecessary to notice anything he might say."

Lockwood's telegram, made public for purposes of being heard, he said, must have the purpose however, of focusing public attention again on one of the most dastardly efforts ever known to utilize the machinery of the department of justice for purely political purposes.

In his proof, Davis cited as Wheeler the testimony of Wm. J. Burns and Blair Coan before the senate committee which investigated the Wheeler indictment. Burns, according to Davis, swore that he "knew Lockwood and had consulted with him frequently concerning Senator Wheeler's case before any indictment was found."

Coan, according to Davis, testified that he was "sent by the republican national committee out to Montana to investigate some of these stories by Wheeler, because Senator Wheeler had been attacking the administration and everybody in public life in Washington and nobody seemed to get up and answer him."

In conclusion, Davis said: "This is the proof, and surely it is proof enough, that the department of justice and this republican national committee were both out to get Wheeler, and the official organization of the republican party shared the view of the attorney general as to using legal process for partisan purposes."

"It is but another evidence of the low standard of official morals that has prevailed in Washington since March 4, 1921, under republican rule."

Davis planned to leave here Wednesday night for Chicago to confer with his Illinois leaders.

BOY SCOUT WORK IMPORTANT FEATURE OF DEVELOPMENT WORK LOCAL YOUTHS; LAWS HAVE WHOLESOME INFLUENCE

Such interest has been shown in Boy Scouts work in Lubbock, that a program to have everyone interested in any degree in the work which is so important to the development of the boys of this community become thoroughly conversant with Scout laws and principles.

In this connection the Avalanche is pleased to give space to the following laws which relate to the Boy Scouts of America and which are the latest and most up-to-date issued. These laws a boy promises to obey when he takes his scout oath:

1. A scout is trustworthy. A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating or by not doing exactly a given task, when entrusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his scout badge.
2. A scout is loyal. He is loyal to all whom loyalty is due; his scout leader, his home, and parents and country.
3. A scout is helpful. He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must be ready to lend a good turn to somebody every day.
4. A scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.
5. A scout is courteous. He is polite to all, especially women, children, old people, all the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.
6. A scout is kind. He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.
7. A scout is cheerful. He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardships.
8. A scout is thrifty. He does not wastefully destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not accept tips for courtesies or good turns.
9. A scout is brave. He has courage to face danger in spite of fear, and to stand up for the right against coaxings of friends, or the jeers or threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.
10. A scout is clean. He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.
11. A scout is reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of faith and religion.

The Three Classes of Scouts

There are three classes of scouts among the Boy Scouts of America. The tenderfoot, second class scout, and first class scout. Before a boy can be recognized as a tenderfoot he must pass the prescribed test. A tenderfoot on meeting certain requirements may become a second class scout, and a second class scout upon meeting another set of requirements may become a first class scout. The first class scout may then qualify for the various merit badges which are referred to in the scout handbook and will be printed in a future issue of this paper.

The requirements of the tenderfoot, second class and first class scouts will be dealt with in the following article to appear in this paper.

The Avalanche is co-operating with the heads of the local scout organization in conducting the educational program now being advanced and the columns of this paper will contain such information as is contained in the above paragraphs from the scout handbook from time to time.

WRONG USE OF CURFEW CAUSES DISCONTINUANCE

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 16.—Because the city's gay younger set used the curfew as a reminder that they were due at dinner dances or "smoking parties" and not as a police warning that they should be at home and under the sheets, blowing of the whistle has been discontinued here.

And city officials are concerned to such an extent that they announced Wednesday that the matter would be taken up before Mayor Gordon at an early date in an effort to convince head of the Armour Packing Company, that its curfew is an important part in the city's routine.

"The curfew is obsolete now, we believe," said J. A. McLean, superintendent of the plant. "The city has grown so large that the whistle is barely heard by more than those for whom it was intended," he added, meaningly.

Professor Reed studied musical composition and conducting under the instruction of M. Andre Bloch. The Conservatoire of Fontainebleau is a unique institution, being maintained during the summer solely for American artists, teachers, and advanced musical students. It is under the protection of the French government, and is supported by the ministry of fine arts and the municipality of Fontainebleau. The faculty are all from the Paris Conservatoire, and are among the most distinguished musicians in France. Mrs. Reed was a piano pupil of Professor Isidore Philipp, director of the piano department at the National Conservatory at Paris. She will resume her piano teaching in the Institute of Applied Music, which is affiliated with the University, and provides instruction in piano, voice, violin and organ.

Hughes Denounces La Follette As A 'Dangerous Enemy'

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Denouncing the party of Senator La Follette as a "dangerous enemy" Secretary of State Hughes continued his attacks on the independent candidacy in a speech at Carnegie Hall Wednesday night.

Answering recent statements by John W. Davis, Hughes also defended the republican administration declaring it had brought prosperity to America and in the foreign field had a record of "achievements without entanglements; co-operation with out injurious commitments."

The secretary opened his address with praise for Theodore Roosevelt and appealed for his election as governor of New York.

"We have a dangerous enemy in the third party," Hughes said, "dangerous not simply in this campaign, but in a deliberate attempt to organize the forces of unrest to destroy your form of government."

DICK CURWOOD KILLED IN FALL FROM AIRPLANE

Curwood had gone up in a machine with Frank Tomick as pilot. The actor lowered himself to a rope ladder which dangled under the plane.

In some manner Curwood's hold on the swinging ladder was loosened and he dropped to earth. He was killed instantly.

KIWANIS LUNCHEON PROGRAM THURSDAY OF EXTEMPORANEOUS NATURE AND MANY VISITORS WERE HEARD; BREWER SPOKE

With a large number of the members present, the regular weekly luncheon of the Lubbock Kiwanis Club was held at the Armory building Thursday with the ladies of the First Methodist Church in charge of the menu.

President S. C. Wilson Was Master of Ceremonies

W. C. Rylander, of Group No. 9, and well known orator of the club, made apologies for the group upon failure of the members to prepare a program for the luncheon and assured the Indians that if they would spare the scalps of the seven members who with "intentionally and with malice aforethought" neglected their duties and thereby removed their names from the list of good Indians of the tribe, that they would prepare and execute one of the most entertaining programs ever attempted by a Kiwanis group. After considerable consideration had been given to the speaker, the club membership through their president expressed willingness to withhold any irrational disposition of the group members until following the next luncheon when they may avail themselves of the opportunity to offer self vindication.

The president, upon suggestion from Mr. Rylander that the meeting be given over to hearing from visitors present, called upon Dr. R. J. Hall to make the principal address. Disappointment to all members of the club was incurred when this invitation to speak was declined by Dr. Hall who has been a resident of Lubbock for a number of years.

A. E. Lock, business man of Austin, was then called upon and made brief remarks, expressing a most favorable impression of the high plan upon which business is done in Lubbock, and commending the work of the builders which is causing such rapid development of Lubbock. That the Kiwanians are having no little part in this program was the expressed opinion of the speaker.

Dr. Stanley was called upon but followed the example of Dr. Hall.

W. E. Deedy, of the Ramey Brothers Construction Company, builders of the City Hall and who had charge of remodeling the Lubbock State Bank, spoke a few words in which he expressed appreciation of the good fellowship and hospitality exhibited by the club members.

The restrained musical talent of group 3 broke out toward the close of the program, and with Secretary George Brewer as the victim, gave a few tribal expressions intended to be musical, but which proved entirely void of melodic harmony. The secretary, who recently issued his own marriage license from the clerk's office, was threatened with mob violence unless a speech was offered in response. "It appears to me that all you married men would know I've been rendered speechless," he declared as defense, which proved sufficient.

There is no more popular member of the club than the secretary, who is one of the leading young business men of the city and has rendered appreciated and faithful service to the Kiwanis Club since becoming a member more than a year ago.

County Attorney Owen McWhorter, Spencer Wells and Ray C. Mowery were commended to admit that the secretary had beaten them in every distance along the path of "eternal struggle" and in words that bespoke their disappointment and which indeed reflected intense agony from the failure of the club to commend his good fortune and expressed desires for similar success.

Discussion pro and con as to what part the club should take in the Tech College corner-stone celebration November 11th, and it was finally agreed upon that with L. D. Simmons as chairman, a committee of three will work out the club's part in the mammoth parade that will be a main feature of the day's program.

It developed at this meeting that ninety per cent of the Kiwanians are members of the Masonic Lodge, and that the lodge would take active interest in the program and would perhaps demand the attention of a majority of the Kiwanians for the day. This, however, did not seem to be a sufficient reason for dormancy on the part of the club for the day and it was agreed that the club assist as an integral part of Lubbock in helping to entertain the visitors with a well arranged part in the day's program.

PERIL THREATENED ZR-3 BUT ONCE DURING FLIGHT

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 16.—Peril threatened the ZR-3 but once during her unparalleled flight to the United States. The threat of possible disaster developed when a rip was discovered in one of the great dirigible's gas cells.

The rip which was two feet long, was patched up immediately but it had not been discovered through the watchfulness of the ZR-3's men, enough air might have entered the cell to diminish the lifting power of the craft and to form a dangerous mixture with the hydrogen gas inside, already known to be unsafe.

The only actual "calamity" however, befell the crew when the water supply ran short and those on board were forced to go unshaven and unwashed.

These incidents are revealed in the log of Captain G. W. Steele, the ranking naval officer during the flight from Friedrichshafen. The log presents a detailed and graphic account of the experiences and impressions of the record-breaking trip.

"Cape Cod was passed abeam at 3:15 a. m. and soon afterward the ship was sailing over Boston," Steele wrote in describing the arrival of the ZR-3 over American soil. "It was a sight to swell the bosom of a returning American, and one never to be forgotten. Millions of lights. If one looked closely downwards one could see the buildings, but looking slantwise, nothing but lights."

Many dirigible experts believe that Steele's sensations will be duplicated by those of score of Americans who may be making trans-Atlantic trips by air within a few years.

Other excerpts from Captain Steele's log follow: "The twelfth of October came in a foggy day. When the hangar doors were opened about 6 o'clock, there was a blue fog outside; but things were better. The ship had been carefully trimmed and the temperature was better; that is—colder. At 6:25 the ground crew started to take the ship out, and at 6:35 the engines were started and we were off.

"There is a queer thing about a fog. When you are on the ground you are in the fog, when you arise above it you are above the clouds, a fact in fact is a cloud on the ground. So the ship rose through the fog and came out above the clouds. The crests of the higher hills projected above the clouds, like islands in the sea, and when these were recognized, the pilot would check his course.

"While over the land, flying low, an airship is subject to some extent to the motions of the various air currents through which she passes. The reflection of the hot sun light from a light colored surface like a plowed field, will set up a rising current of air, and on the other hand, downward currents are found over woods, lakes and streams.

"At 4 o'clock when the watch was relieved, the men stretched out comfortably and began to back up sleep against their night watches. Some of the more energetic ones played a tune on the phonograph, but this met with disapproval. Evening fell over a calm sea, with a clear sky with just enough red in the west to heat a sailor's delight.

"During the night the course and speed were checked occasionally by sighting torch bombs dropped from the ship.

"When the end of our watch periods came we found the berth very comfortable, and enjoyed undisturbed sleep.

"Today something happened which must be carefully watched during all such up and down maneuvers. Upon returning to flying height which was at this time about 1,000 feet, a rip about two feet long was discovered in the lower part of one of the gas cells. This was immediately repaired and the result was nothing worse than a small amount of air finding its way into the cell to mix with the hydrogen and reduce its purity.

"If however, the hole had been larger or had not been so soon discovered enough air might have found its way into the cell to form a dangerous mixture of gas, and also to reduce the lifting power of the cell. It is therefore standard practice to have men carefully inspect the bottoms of the gas cells—the only part

"I heard of Cardui, and decided to use it. Cardui built me up. I grew well—like another woman—hence the praise I give it. Cardui is the best medicine I ever saw in my life."

One thing to the credit of the "job" is that it has elevated the tone of barber shop conversation.
