Mrs. Friend and Mrs. Weaver to Entertain 24-42 Club

Mrs. F. R. Friend and Mrs. A. V. Weaver will entertain the Twenty-four-42 club Saturday afternoon at two-thirty at Mrs. Friend's home on Broadway.

Twentieth Century Club Met Tuesday

The isolation of the United States has become only a tradition. Her relations with other nations, and particularly with those of the Pacific present real problems. In order to better understand these questions the Twentieth Century Club has chosen to undertake the study of the islands and continents of the Pacific, their geography, history and social and political problems.

Using as a text Sydney Greenbie's book, "The Pacific Triangle," the club began this study Tuesday afternoon. In order to serve as a background for this work, Mr. Duggan, leader for the afternoon, gave a short comprehensive survey of the islands of the Pacific, locating them on the map and explaining some of the theories with regard to the origin of the islands and their peoples.

The special work for the afternoon was the Hawaiian group. Mrs. Kimbro read an interesting and concise history of Hawaii. Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Krueger played the Hawaiian melody "Aloha Oe." Mrs. Hargis, who has visited the islands, gave some intimate little word pictures that somehow can't be conveyed by a book. Mrs. Johnson spoke briefly of the physical and mental characteristics of the natives. Mrs. Overton told of the leper island, Molokai, relating the beautiful and pathetic story of Father Damon, the priest who was the first missionary to the lepers and gave his life in their service. Mrs. Penny talked for a few minutes of the volcano, Kilauca. Everybody's pronunciation was subject to busy revision when Mrs. Overton read the names posted on the blackboard the phonetic spelling of the names heretofore familiar only on the printed page.

Mrs. Kimbro will represent the Twentieth Century Club at the federation meeting in Amarillo. Mrs. Summers was elected alternate.

Cartoons Used By Pastor to Carry His Audience Messages

WICHITA, Kans., Oct. 15.—The Rev. Dr. Edgar A. Lowther, pastor of the First Methodist church here doesn't depend entirely upon his salary to win results. As an aid to his sermons in helping the interest of his congregation, Dr. Lowther has enlisted the services of Charles A. Wells, Wichita cartoonist. Many of the sermon cartoons are drawn as Dr. Lowther preaches. At a recent service, Dr. Lowther and Wells used Masefield's poem "The Everlasting Mercy" as the theme for a sermon entitled "The Glory of the Lighted Soul."

The London writer who demands the abolition of the waistcoat because "it serves no practical purpose" probably keeps his fountain pen in his sock.

"BROKEN OUT" FACE HOLDS YOU BACK

Many men and women of middle age feel that they have never had a chance to make anything out of themselves. But the main reason for this is that they let such things as pimples, rash, "breaking out," eczema, tetter, etc., on their face, neck, hands, or arms, make them feel that they are not wanted around and they keep to themselves too much.

You can get just as much out of life as anyone. All you need is confidence in yourself, which you get naturally when you rid yourself of those skin troubles, if you just use Black and White Ointment and Soap. They are economically priced in generous packages and dealers have them both. The 5-cent size of the Ointment contains three times as much as the 25-cent size.

In 1922, when he was re-elected seems to have fully restored him to party grace.

Bryan Hints Democrats. One thing that hurts the democrats here as much as anything else is Chas. W. Bryan. It was his brother who prevented Champ Clark from being president when he broke from the instructions of his state and threw the Nebraska delegation to Wilson in 1912.

Following the death of Clark following in Missouri has never forgiven Bryan for that. There were echoes of that bitterness at Madison Square Garden. But aside from this, the democratic ticket is in good shape. Nelson democratic nominee for governor, is conducting an aggressive campaign. There are some defections here as in every state, for instance Sam Lazarus, a life long democrat of prominence in St. Louis has declared for Coolidge, giving as his reason that he feels a deadlock in congress not doing want to take a chance on Bryan being president. Most democrats, however, expect that a deadlock will mean the election of arus is somewhat unusual in this year and the reasoning of Lazarus.

JUG OF WHISKEY 25 YEARS OLD IS LOST

Twenty-five years old and still in the jug—that's the history of a gallon of pure honest-to-goodness whiskey that lies somewhere uncollected beneath fertile plains soil on the Sunshine Ranch six miles north of Lubbock, of which W. D. MacMillan, Chicago astrologer is owner.

Dr. MacMillan in speaking to the local Rotary Club Wednesday at noon told, tearfully, how that twenty-five years ago, when there were fewer people within the four borders of Lubbock county than were seated at the luncheon tables where the program was rendered Wednesday, a great roundup of cattle was held under the direction of a cowboy named Mitchell.

Not realizing what they were about, the cowboys drove a herd of cattle over the spot where the whiskey was buried and Foreman Mitchell was unable to find the spot. It has been ground into dust by the hoofs of the cattle, to locate the spot where the jug was concealed.

Bitter tears dropped from the cheeks of the said-business men as they listened, attentively, to the doctor's sad account of the indiscretion of loss, and after he had finished, exactly the entire membership of the club offered their services and suggested that a search that should not be checked until the jug has been located be instituted within a few days.

Hardware dealer's were at a preliminary conference to consider what such an enterprise would require for axes, rakes, pick axes and tools used in making excavations. It was expected that the next congress will pass one or the other of these measures.

ROUNDS OUT 20TH YEAR WITH BANK HERE

That hard work, good business judgment and stickability will win has been demonstrated by Walter S. Posey, active vice president of the Lubbock State Bank, who on October 4th, 1914, entered the banking business in Lubbock as an officer in the First National Bank, which was one of the first banking institutions to be established in this section of the plains. Mr. Posey is still active in the bank and has many of the patrons whom he dealt with twenty years ago, as faithful patrons of the institution of which he is a part.

the necessity of complete revision, stating that the act was not accomplishing its purpose.

Two bills and two measures were presented, one in the house by Representative Cable, of Ohio, and the other in the senate by Senator Borah. Both provided for drastic limitation of campaign funds and other regulations. The Cable bill, passed by the house, was adopted finally by the senate in place of the Borah bill, and was backed on to the postal railway measure bill as a rider. This bill was voted by Congress.

Supper and Quilt Auction to be Held Canyon Friday Night

The schoolhouse in the Canyon community will be the scene of much movement on Friday night of this week if plans of those in charge of the quilt auction and supper which is being arranged are carried out.

At the meeting the Lubbock Circuit quilt, which has been pieced and worked under the direction of Mrs. F. R. Plekens, of this city, will be sold to the highest bidder. The proceeds to go toward the erection of the parsonage.

In connection with the auction a supper is being arranged, for which a nominal charge will be made, proceeds from which will go to the superannuated endowment fund of the Methodist church.

A special program of music and readings is being prepared, including readings by Mrs. Wells, expression teacher in the Lubbock city schools, and G. K. Watkins, well known local reader and impersonator. Music will be furnished by Miss Hallie Wall and the Baptist quartet.

W. C. Rylander, of this city, will show his oratorical and sales ability in the auction of the quilt, which is considered a valuable piece of property in view of the fact that so much work has been put on it.

The public in general is invited to attend this meeting.

CRUDITY OF NUDITY BE THRESHED OUT IN COURT TRIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The crudity of nudity, if any, will be threshed out in a court room Thursday when Earl Carroll, a Broadway producer, goes on trial for displaying allegedly naughty pictures in front of one of his theaters.

This brings a crisis, a struggle of rights, an eristic and titanic go on Broadway. It may determine whether the stern but protecting arm of the law will be permitted to rush to the rescue with a shawl and save the dressing rooms above the Rialto from definitely becoming dressing rooms in name only.

The law has promised to take the shawl back stage if it wins the Carroll case. Meanwhile, the competition among producers is so strenuous that if the law loses, it may be a question of hours before the costume today is totally eliminated as one of the expenses of production.

"Artists and Models" a show which aroused all but the blind last year was to open Wednesday night, promising more and more drastic sensations. Ingleharts costumes continue to be used in other shows, but all too often they might as well be held out at arm's length.

The one of the last figures observed flapping it out of the public library Wednesday night was a tired, weary district attorney with a heavy sheet of notes. He had been preparing for the Carroll case by reading up on medieval artists who probably will be run in on the Carroll case. Howard Chandler Christy, and several other metropolitan artists will testify in behalf of Carroll, that the nude is neither rude, nor even that to the pure, all things are pure, and best suit our many eyes.

A special program of music and readings is being prepared, including readings by Mrs. Wells, expression teacher in the Lubbock city schools, and G. K. Watkins, well known local reader and impersonator. Music will be furnished by Miss Hallie Wall and the Baptist quartet.

W. C. Rylander, of this city, will show his oratorical and sales ability in the auction of the quilt, which is considered a valuable piece of property in view of the fact that so much work has been put on it.

The public in general is invited to attend this meeting.

SECOND STRING WESTERNERS TO MEET IDALOU AT FAIR PARK TODAY; FIRST STRING GO TO CLOVIS FRIDAY FOR GAME

The second string Westerners of the Lubbock High School will meet the Idaho riders on the Fair ground park this afternoon at 4:15. Ernest Lowery, coach of the young Westerners said last night.

To this date this season the younger set of the Lubbock high have played three games, and as yet are undefeated. In fact they have given their older "brothers" some mighty tussles in practice scrimmages. Coach Lowery is putting practically his full coaching time to these lads, the ones who will eventually carry the real brunt of the fray, and is making a very creditable showing in laying the groundwork for a football squad to carry the Western colors.

According to reports coach Jackson, of Idalou is bringing over a squad of husky lads who will out weigh the locals, but it is believed that the intensive training of the young Westerners, together with the fast gain for which some of them are noted, will just about balance with the extra weight of the visiting lads, promising an exhibition that will be well worth the nominal charge to be assessed at the gate.

RALLS SECOND TEAM TIES WITH LORENZO TEAM TUESDAY

RALLS, Oct. 15.—With both sides playing a ragged game, the second string men of the Ralls High football squad played Lorenzo High to a seven to seven tie at Lorenzo Tuesday. Lorenzo's touchdowns came in the first quarter after minutes of play, with straight line backing. During the second and third quarters neither side was able to gain, with the ball in the center of the field during most of these quarters. In the fourth quarter, with six minutes to play, Red Cannon, full back for the Ralls aggregation intercepted a Lorenzo pass and ran thirty yards for a touchdown. Both teams kicked goal after they had put it over.

Ralls Jackrabbits have the following Games Scheduled:
Spur at Ralls, Oct. 17.
Ralls at Post, Oct. 21.
Crosbyton at Ralls, Oct. 28.
Ralls at Floydada, Oct. 31.

COACH ORDERS RICE ATHLETES TO GO UNSHAVEN

HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—Bolshevik football, as a means of combating the "deadly female," has been ordered by coach John W. Heisman at Rice Institute here.

ragged coat of hair calculated to make them less attractive and to impress upon them the necessity of strict training. This is Heisman's solution of one of the big problems faced by football coaches in co-educational schools.

CLOVIS FOOTBALL TEAM IS IN FIGHT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

CLOVIS, Oct. 15.—With its goal line yet unbreached by an opponent, and piling up a total of 63 points against four formidable teams, the Clovis High School has emerged as the outstanding team of Eastern New Mexico and will be a strong contender for the high school interscholastic title.

Clovis has defeated Tucuman in two games, with scores of 12-0 and 7-0; Portales at 21-0 and last Friday saw the heavy Roswell high school team go down to defeat here by a score of 19-0.

These victories, fans say, place the Clovis team in line for games with teams of the central western part of the state for the interscholastic championship.

Coach Stauber, former Darcy College fullback and captain has built one of the fastest teams Clovis high school ever turned out and it is probable his team will invade the Texas Panhandle for games with some of the strongest teams in that district.

"Strangler" Lewis To Meet German Champ at Houston

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 15.—Carl Schumpp, German heavyweight champion of Europe, who meets Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world heavyweight champion, will meet here Friday in a title match which will begin today and will begin light workouts tomorrow to which the public has been invited to attend.

The match is expected to draw the largest crowd ever to witness a boxing bout here. Sale of tickets has already indicated that the fight will be a sell-out. The arena will be a badly crippled house and all of the men who have injuries of any kind will be held out of the fray to recuperate for the Cowboy game the following week-end.

There will probably be more second string men in the lineup than there will be regulars for coach Burton announced that he was going to sacrifice the Lobo game if necessary in order to get the Buffs in best of shape possible for the game with the Simmons Cowboys.

The crushing defeat handed the Normal University was a costly victory in some respects as it caused injuries to such an extent that several of the regulars will be out until the Simmons game. When it rains it pours though, as last Friday Morton Angel was declared ineligible for the rest of his scholastic season. He was Burton's best bet to fill the shoes of "Cowboy" Adams who received a very badly crushed foot last Sunday when a horse fell on him. Adams will likely be out the rest of the season. This is the most severe setback of the season to date, as Adams was the outstanding lineman of the Buffalo squad. Hancock will likely be drafted to fill Adams vacancy at tackle.

War Hatreds Are Forgotten During Olympic Contests

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The claim for Olympic Games, that international sport draws people together in a bond of sympathy and understanding seems to be backed up by the manner in which France and Germany are coming together on the field of play.

When plans for the English Olympics were made there was no thought of inviting Germany to participate. War hatreds were still in men's mind and until this summer athletes of the two countries had not competed against each other since 1914.

Commission Improves New York Boxing

By HENRY L. PARRELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Under the direction of a less impetuous, though less experienced chairman, the New York Boxing Commission has done a very good job of handling a very fractious sport during the past season. The commission may have made some mistakes, and it has been criticized in his opinion, but never questioned the sincerity of the veteran trainer and no one doubted his purpose, but there was general dissatisfaction over his methods.

When Governor Smith had the opportunity to recognize the commission he could have replaced Muldoon with an appointee of his own party, but he realized the value of Muldoon's experience and possibilities for using his judgment under restraint. He appointed George Brown, a prominent Brooklyn attorney to the vacant place, and reappointed Muldoon. Brown, then named as the chairman by the commission, and Muldoon threatened to resign, but he was persuaded to take the rebuff in the right spirit and accept some of the discipline that he had been generous in handing out to his subordinates.

To command respect from a class of constituents that is so hard to handle as any supervisory body could possibly find, the commission had to be drastic or its purpose would have failed. The commission has made efforts to be firm but also and it has succeeded in avoiding the rule that was hoped upon it under former administrations.

Of the many good rules that were put in effect by William Muldoon, the one against which most pressure was brought for modification was the one limiting a boxer under 21 years of age to six-round bouts.

Promoters and managers made desperate efforts to have the rule set aside because of the fact some of the best drawing cards in the business were under age, including Dave Shade, Billy Stribling, Jimmy Slattery, Eddie Brown, Sammy Mandell, Bud Taylor, and several other prominent fighters.

Against Muldoon's conviction that in years of experience as a trainer and a physical culture expert he had found that a boy hurt himself who did too much before he was matured, critics pointed out that practically everyone of the old champions and many of the newer ones, including Joe Lynch, Benny Leonard, Jack Britton, Johnny Dundee, Mickey Walker and Jack Dempsey, had done most of their important boxing when they were in their teens.

Muldoon replied that they would be kept better and lasted longer if they had not started so young and he stuck to his point.

In the case of Stribling, his theory was certainly vindicated. All thru the year, Stribling fought on an average of almost twice a week and no traveled over the country, he cause he could not go more than six rounds in New York. His faithful who acts as his manager, he knew he was handling the best and he went about it. In a year, Stribling only gained about six pounds, and he went so far off from that he was badly beaten by Al Stone and was outpointed by Vic McLaughlin.

One of the wisest things the commission did was to interfere with the Walker-Leonard welterweight championship fight that was to have been staged in Jersey City. The commission had no authority to forbid the contest in a no-decision territory, but it was so emphatic in saying this it didn't like the idea that the bout was transferred to New York.

To make the point as clear as possible, without direct accusation, it will be remembered that the fight never did come off, that there must have been some fine season for Benny Leonard to have picked away $100,000. The commission very apparently had an idea that the two boys might have had some good reason to fight first in no-decision territory and then inflict another meeting upon New York such as happened in the Leonard-Tender cases.

The commission is making headway in forcing champions to fight without doing the foolish thing of taking their titles away from them. The respect that the commission is commanding among the champions was shown when Johnny Dundee resigned as the featherweight champion to avoid friction with the commission.

Another laudable move was made when the commission ruled that boxers must stick to their own weight class. Under the provisions of the rule, bantamweight champions can't be fighting featherweights and avoiding contenders for their titles and so on.

In the case of Pancho Villa, the flyweight champion, the commission took a fine swing at one of the worst offenders among the champions. Villa ran out of a fight with Frankie Genaro on the pretext of a bad shoulder. "You wait until you see in condition to fight," the commission told him, "and then report back to us. But don't come back for eight months."

Another abuse of the game on which the commission has taken a heavy swing was the frequency with which boxers came in over weight and got away with it by losing a few hundred dollars' stake.

Jack Zivic, one of the leading contenders for the lightweight championship, went in the ring against Sid Terry almost nine pounds over

TEXAS DEMAND FOR CONNECTED HIGHWAYS IS GREAT

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 15.—The ever increasing demand for connected systems of permanent highways, according to W. A. Wheeler, secretary of the Texas Highway Association, is reflected in the fact that during the first six months of 1924, 16,662,077 automobiles were registered in the United States, which is an increase of 50 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago.

These figures, based on the semi-annual count just made by the United States Bureau of Roads, show that during the first half of this year there were registered 13,845,235 passenger cars, 1,831,208 trucks and 7,546 taxis, buses and cars for hire.

Registration passed the 1,000,000 mark in four states, New York, California, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. Total receipts from registration fees, licenses and permits amounted to $19,472,682 and from the gasoline tax in 36 states $23,430,410. These amounts do not include personal property taxes on automobiles, which are levied by 36 states.

LUBBOCK FIRM IN STALLS RADIO IN MANY TOWNS

Claud McDaniel of the Martin Radio company has just returned from Canyon where he installed a fine Radiola for C. M. Dowlin, prominent wheat rancher of that section.

Within the past few days this firm has placed sets at Seagraves, Crosbyton, Ropesville, Post and other points, as well as supplied a number of local purchasers.

The delivery of sets to Staron and Littlefield will be made as soon as the equipment is received.

The popularity of radio is expected to reach a point this year before attained. This fact will be due to the great developments made in this field this year both from the standpoint of the broadcasting stations more especially to the great improvements of the receiving sets.

Along with this great improvement mentioned there has come a reduction in price which affords the purchaser a much better set than was sold two years ago at considerably less than half the figure.

On account of the fact that none of the new Radiola sets depend on the troublesome and expensive storage batteries and demand for these sets on the farms is becoming very marked.

PLASTERER WON'T GIVE UP JOB TO BE A SINGER

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15.—Herman Dresch is known by the housewives of San Antonio as the "singing plasterer."

As he plies his trade he sings in a clear tenor voice. He is proud of his voice and would like to devote all his time toward training his voice as a professional singer. But he can't sacrifice a job paying $12 a day for an uncertain income on the stage.

Besides, Herman loves his plastering job and that's why he sings as he works his hawk and trowel. He says he has not lost a day's work in five years.

PARIS FASHIONS TABOO ON STREETS OF DALLAS

DALLAS, Oct. 11.—Dressed in all the splendor of Parisian fashion, latest dictates, she strolled down one of Dallas' main streets one morning recently.

The skirt was short or course—and likewise in accordance with gay Paris' design, was split and overlapped—but not enough, apparently, for as she walked the garment opened and displayed.

Anyway, the silk hose was rolled and there were the dainty feet of more intimate nature, all of which

DECISION STOPS BREACH SUITS BY FOLLIES DANCER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Evan Burrows Fontaine, Follies dancer, is restrained from filing further suits against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney whom she sued for breach of promise, by an injunction issued in federal district court here.

The injunction which is permanent and inclusive of all courts in the United States, was issued to Whitney attorneys Wednesday. A jury in federal court Tuesday found that Miss Fontaine's suit for $1,000,000 charging breach of promise was without foundation.

FORT WORTH MOTORMAN IS HELD UP FOR $25.00

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 15.—"This is my first job so be quick about it," and "I'm nervous," were the words a hold up man told W. J. McFarland, a street car operator. He relieved McFarland of $25, a hold watch, and sufficient street car tokens to permit him to ride for months or more.

McFarland told policemen that the man boarded his car near Arlington Heights. The man reached for what McFarland thought was his fare but instead a gun was stuck in the direction of his ribs.

OLIVE TREE HONORED IN BIBLE LANDS

Jerusalem, Oct. 15.—The olive tree is the symbol of the forsaken; it is the most generous of all trees," says an Arabic sign over the entrance of the "Olive Tree Orphanage" of the Near East Relief dedicated here this week with impressive ceremonies. The orphanage will be devoted to teaching carpentry and wood-working, and the Armenian students will manufacture collection plates and church furniture for sale in America and Europe.

"We shall use nothing but the finest olive wood in our work," declared the American director. "Among the specialized products will be Bible covers, communion cups, and crucifixes. They will be cut from the heart of olive trees which are 300 to 500 years old. The olive is regarded throughout the East as a sacred tree. In the products of these workshops the bay tree will be put to holy use."

W. C. Long, wanted in Oklahoma for disposing of mortgaged property was arrested here Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford. The details of the charges upon which the man was arrested have not been made public here.

ANTS ARE ATTACKING THE KANSAS HOMES FURIOUSLY

WICHITA, Kans., Oct. 15.—This homes are being eaten up by the ants and only a few building codes enforcing low foundations can prevent the spread of the white pests, according to R. Kimball, building inspector. Kimball is urging an immediate law requiring alone foundations on the use of creosoted wood where it comes in contact with the earth. The termites ants have been eating the stock exchange building and are eating the furniture, according to Kimball. It is almost impossible to eradicate them after they get started in a building, he says.

Rotary Luncheon Wednesday Was Well Attended

An interesting program was rendered at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the local Rotary club Wednesday at the Armory building with President Neil H. Wright in charge.

Due to the fact that Rotary International headquarters has outlined plans for educational programs for the members be rendered at each of the several hundred clubs throughout the United States and Canada, next week's program will be given over entirely to discussion of Rotary and Rotary principles.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College, and Harry Blocker will address the members along educational lines.

Chris Harwell, president of the South Plains Fair Association, made brief remarks concerning the recent fair, declaring that the association is on a sound basis financially, with all current expenses paid and all back indebtedness liquidated.

While a complete check-up of the association's finances has not been made, it is probable that one or two thousand dollars is now in the treasury.

Claud Harrison, Mayor of Canyon, was among the guests and when called upon to speak, told of the wonders of the plains, and pointed out that Canyon is among one of the distinguished cities of the plains in that it has more paved streets than any other town in West Texas figured proportionately upon the basis of population. That city has four miles of paving, and the tax on property has been kept to the minimum.

W. D. MacMillan, professor of Astronomy in the University of Chicago, was a guest of Walter Posey and spoke of his observations of the development of this section of the plains during the past twenty five years. He has been interested in ranch and farm lands here for a number of years and has aided materially in the developments here.

R. E. Karper, superintendent of the Agricultural Experiment Station, introduced Vice-Director Connor to homes are being eaten up by the ants and only a few building codes enforcing low foundations can prevent the spread of the white pests, according to R. Davis Ridicules Straw Polls For President's Race

By United News

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 15.—John W. Davis ridiculed straw polls taken over the nation to show the relative strength of the three presidential candidates in a speech delivered here Wednesday.

The democratic nominee pointed to results of the polls taken on the Mellon tax bill in proof of his contention that they were a ridiculous barometer of public opinion.

Those polls conducted by the same interests would have led you to believe that eight out of every nine persons were sitting up all night praying for the passage of the bill, Davis said.

"And yet, never has such a proposal met such repudiation," he continued. "So I believe, and hope it will be on election day."

WHEAT PROFITS DEPEND ON HIGH YIELDS

The average yield of wheat in the United States (14.12 bushels per acre) scarcely pays the cost of production," says H. M. Bower, director of the Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association. "This is especially true when labor, interest, depreciation and decreases in soil fertility are concerned. It may be interesting to know that this yield of 14.12 bushels is less than half that of oldest farming countries of Europe. Germany averages 28.8 bushels per acre, Sweden 28 bushels, Great Britain 32.2 bushels, and Denmark 44.7 bushels.
