GIRL TRAMPLED TO DEATH WHEN CROWD RIOTS

OTHERS EXPECTED TO DIE AS RESULT INJURIES RECEIVED

By United News. NEW CASTLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—Ten year old Emma Massie was trampled to death and 38 other persons were injured some of them so seriously that they will die, when a moving picture exploded in a theatre here Monday night causing four hundred panic-stricken spectators to make a wild dash at exits.

The fire started in the rear of the little building when a strip of inflammable film blazed from the window of the operator's room. The fire attracted the attention of a woman in the audience who screamed and rushed for the doorway. The entire theater was immediately thrown into an uproar.

Most of the members of the audience were women. They fought each other in efforts to reach outside and safety and scores of persons were knocked down and trampled. The body of the little girl was found in the aisle, her face crushed beyond recognition. Others lay prostrate about the theater, on seats, under seats and in the aisle. They were given emergency treatment in nearby drug stores and doctors' offices. Five persons have fractured skulls and are not expected to live.

CO-OPERATION MORE HELP FOR HERE IS URGED P. O. HERE ASKED

TECH COMMITTEE URGES LOCAL CITIZENS TO GET INTO ACTION

The general committee in charge of arrangements for Lubbock's second big Tech party is making every effort to impress on our own citizens the bigness of the coming celebration and the necessity for every man, woman and child in Lubbock, to do his part or her part to make the party a success.

On November 11th, when we will celebrate both the corner stone laying and Armistice Day, there will be thousands upon thousands of out of town visitors in our midst and it is up to every soul in Lubbock to make every visitor feel a cordial welcome. Lubbock has a wonderful reputation for cordiality and hospitality and upon this occasion it will be up to our people to maintain this reputation.

Members of the general committee point out that many times towns are hurt instead of helped by big gatherings because of the indifference and apathy of the local citizens, and while this can never be said of Lubbock folks, the committee is just stressing the necessity of every one doing a little more than their usual part to make the visitors glad they came.

Our homes must be thrown open. Our cars must be used for the convenience of our visitors. Our purse must be opened in advance that all expenses be cared for. We all must do our part in every way. Mr. R. W. Blair, chairman of the finance committee, points out that Lubbock has made a great investment in the Tech and that now is dividend paying time. In other words, our citizens now have an opportunity to further invest in the upbuilding of this community, section and the school by helping to make this party bigger and better than the first one.

TWO ARE KILLED IN PLUNGE FROM 13-STORY HOUSE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 20.—Frank A. Thompson, 25, was instantly killed and Lawrence Strick 33, sustained Monday when they plunged to the ground from the thirteenth floor of the new board of trade building. Thompson and Strick were engaged in cleaning the walls of the building from a scaffold which gave way and both crashed to death.

APPLICATION FILED WITH DEPARTMENT FOR TWO ADDITIONAL MEN

Postmaster John L. Vaughan has stated that if the postal business of Lubbock is conducted on a scale that will meet the local requirements, at least two additional employees will have to be provided by postal authorities.

Application for these additional employees has been forwarded to Washington, and the postmaster is hopeful that within a few days there will be some relief offered to the present annoying situation.

Postmaster Vaughan also stated that the office can better meet the requirements here, when it has been moved into the new home which is being erected near the Rodgers Brothers General Mercantile store on Avenue G on the east side of the square. The building will be equipped with modern postoffice fixtures, and postmaster hopes to entirely eliminate the long waiting line that can be seen at the front of the general delivery window at most any time at this season.

Saturday and Monday the demand for service at the general delivery window was so great as to cause the postmaster to take one of the employees from the package distributing department of the office to have charge of a second general delivery window. This relieved the situation greatly and was appreciated by those waiting their mail but resulted in slight congestion in the package department which will be overcome today when the one in charge of this department is put back to his regular work.

Postmaster Vaughan stated Monday that he is pleased that no changes have been made in the personnel of the office force, except in changing the employees about within the office in a manner that was mutually agreeable to all and resulted in speeding up service a bit generally.

DIVORCE COURT SHOWS NATION WIDE INCREASE

PERCENTAGE OF DIVORCE MUCH GREATER THAN THAT OF MARRIAGE

By THOMAS L. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Divorce is on a rapid increase in the United States. The percentage of increase of cases going to the courts is much greater than that of those going to the preacher. This is the story told by records of the census bureau here, now gathering facts from every state, preliminary reports from 26 states and the District of Columbia disclose the surprising situation.

Divorce increased in 31 of the states in 1923 over 1922, as high as 61 per cent in one—increased in only two and the District of Columbia while no divorces are granted in South Carolina.

In only eight states was the percentage of increase of marriage greater than that of divorce, comprising 1923 with 1922. It was identical in one state, Wisconsin. Strangely, the decrease in divorce occurred in a little strip along the eastern coast, a section where the bonds of matrimony are not regarded usually as holding as tightly as in some other sections of the country—in the states of New Jersey, and Delaware, and in the District of Columbia. This may be due to more stringent laws in those states and in the District of Columbia and other sections may register divorces from them.

The eight states where the percentage of increase in marriages was greater than that of divorces are: Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Dakota, and New Jersey, where there was a decrease in divorce in 1923 compared with 1922. With the exception of California, and New Jersey, these are states with small population.

California showed the greatest difference in these percentages, with marriages increasing 16.2 per cent and divorces only 3.7 per cent while in Arizona, the figures were 20.8 and 12.8 per cent respectively, and in New Mexico, 8.8 and 8.5 per cent respectively. The identical figure in Wisconsin, the home of Senator LaFollette, was 2.0 per cent.

The state of Washington showed the greatest increase in divorce.

CANCELLATION SUIT ELK HILLS LEASE IS DELAYED

By United News. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Calling of a law and motion calendar Monday caused a 24 hour delay in the government suits to cancel leases held by the Pan-American petroleum and transport company witnesses and federal attorneys engaged in a series of conferences preparatory to the trials opening. While Denby kept himself away from interviews, Daniels gave out a statement in which he declared that the E. L. Doherty leases were infeasible and illegal.

"There is no doubt in my mind but what the leases will be revoked," Daniels said. The Pan-American Petroleum and transport company, and its subsidiary, the Pan-American Oil company, secured the oil leases in 1921. A congressional investigation followed and the government instituted suit to cancel the Elk Hills leases as well as those held by Harry F. Sinclair in Wyoming alleging fraud, conspiracy and corruption in the deals.

Strikers Entitled To Trial by Jury Is Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Labor has won another victory in the supreme court, in a decision declaring constitutional that section of the Clayton anti-trust law which prescribes trial by a jury for strikers charged with contempt of court, and applied specifically by the court to the shoemen's strike of 1922.

Those shoemen who joined the strike in 1922 were entitled to a trial by a jury on the charges of contempt, the court held in a decision today. The case of the striking shoemen was brought by Sam-Michaelson, Dan Cullen and eight other striking employees of the Chicago, St. Paul, and Omaha railway company. They were convicted of contempt of court in the federal district court, for violating Wisconsin law in 1922 and denied trial by a jury. The lower court held that the provision of the Clayton Act which prescribed trial by jury for strikers, who violated the terms of an injunction restraining them, was unconstitutional.

CHILD PLAYING WITH MATCH IS SERIOUSLY BURNED

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 20.—"Do not play with matches" is the old slogan that parents tell their children but Mary Tripp, a year old daughter of John Tripp, did not heed the warning. She was playing with matches when fire ignited her scanty dress. She died about a day after the affair happened.

18 OTHERS WOUNDED AS BLAST ROCKS U. S. S. TRENTON WHILE AT PRACTICE OFF CAPE HENRY

NORFOLK, Oct. 20.—The navy scout cruiser Trenton brought her cargo of four dead and 18 wounded to this city Monday night from off Cape Henry, where she had been rocked by an explosion.

She was met as she steamed into the harbor by two speed boats from the naval hospital which took the dead and wounded men to shore. The bodies of the four sailors who were killed were taken to the morgue, and the injured were transported to the naval hospital by the ambulances which had been awaiting her arrival.

Doctors, nurses and attendants who were at the landing immediately took charge of the injured men, some of whom groaned at the pain of their burns.

It is feared that at least one more death will result. The Trenton, laying in the harbor Monday night, will undergo repairs for the damage caused by the explosion of her forward gun.

A naval board of inquiry will investigate the disaster.

Reports here from Norfolk place the number of dead at four. The victims are: ENSIGN HENRY CLAY DOEHLER, Third class, Seaman ROBERT P. HANSON, and Wm. WALKER, and Second class Seaman, BERNARD B. BRYAN.

Those critically burned, according to word from Norfolk were: Bennett Williams, seaman second class; George Robert Cholister, boatswainmate third class; Franklin J. Hery, seaman, third class; Marvin Franklin, seaman, second class. These men are described as being "burned, condition not serious."

Geo. Dewitt Luker, seaman, first class; Joseph Corban, seaman, first class; Geo. Joseph Gaffney, seaman second class; Arthur James McCormick, seaman, first class; Richard Ellsworth Denker, seaman second class.

The following were described as being "burned, moderately": John Uccolino, seaman, second class; Thomas Howard Bailey, seaman, second class; Talmon Colby, seaman second class; Joseph Leo White, turret captain; Wm. Douglas Sterling, seaman second class; Lt. John Arthur Sedgwick, junior grade.

An earlier report to the navy department said: "Powder fire in forward twin mount and three dead."

All medical facilities aboard the Trenton were being utilized as the cruiser, the latest of the new type of battle craft to be placed in commission, speeded toward Norfolk.

There were about 400 men aboard, according to word received here. The Trenton is in command of Captain E. C. Kalbfus.

The Trenton has a displacement of 3,500 tons. She carries ten six inch guns as well as anti-aircraft and torpedo equipment. The boat had gone to the southern drill grounds off Cape Henry, from the navy yard here, after returning from Persia with the body of Major Robert Imbrie, who was killed at Teheran by a fanatical religious mob.

Naval officials here anxiously awaited details of the disaster, but information was slow in arriving.

The Trenton was the ship which recently brought home the body of Major Robert Imbrie, American vice consul at Teheran, Persia, who was killed by a fanatical religious mob in the streets of the Persian capital. She was on her maiden cruise in European waters at this time.

The Trenton carries a crew of approximately 350 men, it was said at the navy department. She is commanded by Captain E. C. Kalbfus. The Trenton is the newest type of vessel in the navy, one of the ten scout cruisers recently constructed. These ten constitute the only vessels of this type owned by the navy and they are the pride of the fleet. An explosion on one of these vessels comes as a particularly hard blow.

The last congress authorized an appropriation for the construction of eight additional scout cruisers to make this arm of the fleet more adequate. Statistics show that the world's consumption of timber is doubling every fifty years. Even in countries where wood is scarce it is increasing because the people are learning new uses for wood and becoming acquainted with those known in other countries.

GOOD LESSON FOR SPEED "MANIACS"

By OTIS PEABODY SWIFT. CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Three hundred more speeders have been arrested in Chicago for reckless driving. And seven of them, mostly youths in their early twenties who stepped on the gas where the boulevard glided smoothly have seen a sight that they will never forget. The seven men, appearing in Judge Philip Finnegan's court Monday, with the expectation of the routine fine, were bundled into a patrol wagon, taken to the Chicago Home for Destitute Crippled Children and led through ward after ward in which white faced youngsters crushed and mutilated, looked up from their beds with friendly smiles at the unexpected visitors.

Seven young men, 20 year old, Herbert Dora, who had let out his brand new motorcycle to 38 miles an hour on a glassy boulevard, Wilbert Brassens, who had done 40 miles, and five others who had made about 30 walked slowly through the wards. Traffic officers plodded beside them. The matron of the home told them about the various cases. They stopped for a moment by the wheel chair of 12 year old Anna Fryczka, and little Anna tried to make the guests quite welcome.

Seven very sober men climbed into the patrol wagon and joggled back to the court to be sentenced to usual fines.

"Mr. Speeders, there are in this state 30,000 crippled children," Judge Finnegan had told them before sending the party on the excursion. "A large percentage of these would be running about, playing ball, skipping rope, and doing all the things that are the inherent right of every child if the men and men of your kind underwent a change of heart. Speed! Speed! Always speed!"

"If widmen and midwomans are to be allowed to drive motor cars and trucks in our streets with no fear of the law, Chicago will soon be killing more than 1,000 men, women, and children annually in this manner," continued the judge.

He told the prisoners that he was about to try something different just to see how it worked. The men looked at each other uneasily.

"I want all of you men to go to the home for destitute crippled children with my balliff," he said. "I want you to walk through, and notice the rows and rows of suffering patient shut-ins, many of them who owe their condition to men who were in too much of a hurry to care just a little for the other fellow's baby. You will see these little tots paying patiently for the sins of speeding motorists. Sentence will therefore be suspended until you return."

Seven men who stopped on the gas where the boulevard glided smoothly, followed the balliff and saw. The crippled had a most exciting afternoon. Seven men have much to think about.

NAZARENE PASTOR IS COMPLETING WORK IN LOCAL CHURCH

Mrs. Lillian Wilson is closing her years work as Pastor of the church of the Nazarens and will be transferred to other fields of labor soon.

The church has enjoyed a prosperous year increasing in membership from thirty five to sixty four. Almost one hundred have been converted. The attendance has much more than doubled the membership and an increasing interest along all lines has been enjoyed throughout the year. Several hundred dollars worth of improvements have been made on the parsonage. The church has gone over the top on all budgets both local and general raising more than two thousand dollars which averages more than $57 per capita.

The church and friends are well pleased with the progress made and regret very much to lose Mrs. Wilson.

Her successor has been named as Rev. S. L. Wood of Plainview, Texas. He comes well recommended and will no doubt be able to carry out the plans of the church for a new building.

MUSICIANS ARE ABLE TO PAY WAY THRU UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 20.—Playing musical instruments in student orchestras is a popular means of earning expenses while attending the University of Texas. Musically talented students have an advantage in this respect, for there is a great demand for orchestra music at dances and other entertainments, and usually at a time when there is no conflict with class work.

Howell's Moonshiners is the name of one student orchestra at the University this year, all the members of which are earning their way through school. Each member of the orchestra is taking a full course in the University. The boys are all native Texas. Leo Howell, of Cameron, leader, plays the trombone; his brother, Tom A. Howell, plays the trumpet; George Ewing of Gonzales, plays the piano; Jack Archer, of Austin, the saxophone; Jeff Williams the saxophone; Henry Marshall of Houston, banjo, and B. F. Fischer, of Austin, the drums.

Grand Ointment Makes Pimples and Blisters Go

Ever since the introduction in this country of the wonderful Black and White Ointment and Soap, skin specialists say that such troubles as pimples, blotches, bumps, rash, eczema, "breaking out" etc., are becoming fewer every year.

Wide distribution of Black and White Ointment and Soap has made it possible for millions of people to get the benefit of this wonderful, quick effect in clearing disfigured skin and making it smooth and good to look at. Dealers everywhere say they are selling faster than anything of a similar nature they have ever handled, and they attribute this popularity to the low prices at which they are sold, as well as their dependability. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.

DAVIS IS MET WITH WILD CHEERING AT NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—In a picturesque southern setting with hands playing "Dixie" and historic democrats madly cheering, John W. Davis, Monday delivered his political message to the solid south.

The democratic presidential nominee presented his thousands of hearers in this vast stadium an administration of truth and honest and equal justice founded upon the administration of Andrew Jackson who has barred near here.

"I cannot but feel that the spirit of a great and honest Jackson lived again in the person of Woodrow Wilson," he said.

"It was Jackson who first ruled that greater laboring and producing class who form the base and sinews of our confederacy. He realized that the democratic party realized today, that the virtue of this country may find its fount and origin in the plain people of the United States.

Davis vigorously denounced what he calls "the unprecedented corruption" of the republican administration and contrasted its record with the records of Jackson and Wilson.

"I cannot but feel that retributive justice will overtake those who are responsible for this deplorable situation," he said.

Davis quoted from the scriptures a passage to the effect that "those who travel in crooked ways will come upon iniquitous ends."

Davis for the first time denounced the method in which our flexible provisions of the Fordney-McCumber tariff law was being enforced, especially as regards the sugar schedule. After pointing to the failure of President Coolidge to acquire sufficient facts to lower the sugar schedule before election, Davis said:

"There is something about a presidential election which adds a peculiarly above effect to governmental process."

The democratic nominee also answered Sunday's speech of President Coolidge's recent accomplishment conference after seeing a newspaper dispatch quoted President Coolidge as saying that the conference had given the United States a navy equal to any other nation and stopped competitive armament, Davis declared:

"In the words of Ethan Allen, in the name of the great Jehovah, and the continental congress, since when did we need an agreement to maintain a navy equal to anybody?"

"I am sure that the president did not understand the import of his language, and I only hope that in these campaign days of partisan exaggeration the American people will not be led to an unwarranted feeling of security."

Missouri's woman sheriff is not afraid of any man living, and can handle a gun like a world war veteran.

Mrs. Melissa Akers became sheriff of Shannon county last February when her sheriff husband died and Gov. Hyde named his widow to fill the vacancy. Since that time Mrs. Akers has taken five convicted criminals to the state penitentiary in Jefferson City in her automobile with only a male chauffeur as protection, accompanied sixteen patients to the state insane hospital, and made the usual routine arrests of a small town sheriff.

Missouri sheriffs have to be good auctioneers and this is one of her duties which especially appeals to Mrs. Akers. Since taking office she has "cried" over one hundred public sales, including one big timber tract which netted her $3,500 in commissions.

Serving papers is another duty which Mrs. Akers likes, although the average male sheriff finds it the least of his existence. In one week recently she drove over 800 miles while serving subpoenas, summonses and other legal papers.

Mrs. Akers recently captured single handed a desperado who had escaped from jail in a neighboring county.

"I just told him to come along and he did," she explained. "After he was asked up, he told me he didn't realize I was an officer of the law until I had him behind the bars."

Paper requirements have nearly quadrupled since 1889.

BOY SCOUTS URGED TO HELP FARMERS ON SATURDAYS TO GATHER THE BIG COTTON CROP; ORGANIZATION MEETING FRI. NIGHT

L. S. Harkley, local scout master, has made the following announcements concerning the scout work, and urges that all members give close attention and get ready.

Scout work here is in very good condition with much interest being shown by the boys and with able leaders supervising the work.

The announcements follow:

Notice to Boy Scouts.

Knowing that a boy likes to go to a circus, and knowing, too, that all loyal scouts will sacrifice going to a circus if there be a scout meeting to attend, it has been decided best to postpone the meetings of all three troops to Saturday night.

I very strongly urge that all scouts make their arrangements to pick cotton all day Saturday. This will assist the farmers in getting their cotton picked and will give all scouts an excellent opportunity to make enough money to purchase their uniforms, scout badges and other supplies. It is indeed an opportunity meeting will not start until 7:30 Saturday night. This will give all a chance to report on time.

Be governed accordingly and let us all do the necessary.

I am much pleased to announce that Oscar F. Sams, an experienced, efficient and successful scout official, has consented to take charge of Troop No. 3, which will be organized at the armory Saturday night at 7:30.

All scouts who are not members of Troop No. 1 or No. 2 may be enrolled at this meeting. You are fortunate in having a good place in which to meet and to have Mr. Sams as a scout master.

L. S. Harkley, Scout Master.

Evan Harries Play To Be Given Last Days This Month

Much interest is being shown in the forthcoming programs to be rendered at the Lubbock High School Auditorium when "The Old Bachelor," will be presented by the Senior Class of the school under the direction of Evan Harries, of New York city.

Mr. Harries has spent twenty five years in stage work, and "The Old Bachelor," is indeed an opportunity for his ability as a director and trainer of players to be given full sway, and all indications are that the second presentation of the play will draw even larger attendance than the first evening due to the hearty applause it is sure to gain.

This play was recently presented in Slaton and all indications are that many Slaton people will be here to witness its presentation in Lubbock.

FINE SERVICES AT THE DISTRICT COURT CONVENED MONDAY AT LAMESA

It was a good day at the Methodist church. All of the services were well attended, and there seemed to be renewed interest and enthusiasm in the services than usual. Almost seven hundred attended Sunday school, and it was a very fine service. A number of the usual faithful ones were missed from the congregation and the changes on account of sickness, which was much regretted, but even with those faithful ones out, the attendance was considerably increased. More than the ordinary number of additions were made to the Sunday School rolls, and some special work that is being done on the attendance in the way of looking after the absentees, is showing good results.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 20.—The Dawson County District Court convened here Monday morning for the regular October term to continue through a period of three weeks.

District Judge Clark M. Mulhean, accompanied by Court Reporter F. D. Brown arrived here late Sunday afternoon and Judge Mulhean will occupy the bench during the term.

Mr. Brown will report all cases disposed of.

The court officials found the docket in good condition and will likely dispose of all cases during this term.

PRISONER IN LOCAL JAIL BURNS ALL HIS PAPERS SUNDAY

Frank C. Reed, who on Friday last was arrested at Idolou at two o'clock in the morning while attempting to burglarize the Russell Dry Goods store of that place, and who was assisted in the attempt by another man, who was named and business men who endeavor to arrest them, may have a history of crime to link with his activities in Lubbock county but as yet nothing from him and he has destroyed all personal letters, etc., that might be used by officers in making a thorough investigation of his case.

When members of the sheriff's force went to the jail Sunday to see about the prisoners, they found that Reed had burned papers believed to be personal letters, and other articles including a bit of unburned material showing to be a small pasteboard box. These articles were burned in an artificial limb which he had removed, and which he evidently wished to destroy entirely. It is believed that he carried a stock of dope in the hollow of this artificial limb and that the papers included among the burned articles bore records of past criminality that would have been valuable to the officers in prosecuting the case.

That the man is a hardened criminal, versed in eluding conviction through many experiences similar to the one that led up to his arrest is the opinion of those familiar with the incidents observed concerning the burglary of the Idolou store.

DUPRE HOME FROM MEETING AT DALLAS

M. M. Dupre, superintendent of the Lubbock City Schools returned to his home here Monday morning after having visited the state fair at Dallas.

He went to Dallas to attend a meeting of the finance committee of the State Teachers Association, of which he is a member.

Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, of Texas University, was chairman of the meeting. Together with Mr. Dupre and the chairman the meeting was attended by J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State College at Canyon; L. D. Burden, chief supervisor of rural schools in the state department of education; and R. T. Ellis, secretary of the Association and whose home is at Fort Worth.

Mr. Dupre stated that the meeting was an important one and that plans for an active year were made. Already Mr. Dupre is busy executing plans made at the meeting, as among the several duties recognized by him as a member of the committee is the task of securing data of the average cost per pupil of the high schools in the various states of the union.

This information is being gathered with a view of ascertaining Texas' standing among the schools of this country with regard to comparison in scholarship, standard of teachers employed, buildings, equipment and other important factors going to the making of our school system. This information will be used in future activities of the association in their work of raising the standards of all Texas schools.

The people of Lubbock and all Texas were fortunate to be represented at this important meeting by Prof. Dupre who has spent many years in school work, dealing with the numerous problems confronting the school in which he was directly interested with a view of summarizing these problems and offering their solution to the school system of the entire state.

While in Dallas Saturday afternoon Mr. Dupre took advantage of the opportunity to witness the football game between State University and S. M. U. teams. Due to the fact

GETTING OUT THE VOTES

Possibly in no general election in the history of the United States has there been greater effort made and a keener interest felt in the bringing of people out to the polls. With the election not more than fifteen days off the pleas for a full vote grows stronger.

Writing in the October Review of Reviews on "Getting Out the Vote," George Wheeler Hinman, Jr., reveals the startling fact, that, according to the best calculation, practically one-half of the people of the United States qualified to vote, actually do not vote.

Upon these 26,000,000 stay-at-homes Hinman lays the blame for the shortcomings of the Government; to those who vote belong the credit for whatever of merit there is in the Government.

There are slackers in every state. Some states do better than others. But this may generally be traced to local conditions rather than to any special sense of duty on the part of the qualified voters.

In the "solid south," the contest is for the Democratic nomination. The election goes by default to the candidate who wins in the Democratic primaries.

Realizing that for four years from March 4 next we shall be as well governed as we deserve to be in view of the intelligent interest which we show in the election—intelligent interest including the casting of a ballot—civic organizations, both local and national, are, by special drives, backing the efforts of party workers to bring out the vote.

RALLS BANNER MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

The Ralls Banner this week came out in a new dress, the occasion being the installation of a new linotype machine which is one of the latest models put out by the Mergenthaler Linotype Company.

IN THE AIR

Such a change and in such a remarkably short time. It has not been long since if a person thought out loud that people would be able to sail through the air even for a short distance they would have been hooted out of the country, and if persistent in this belief would have been tried for insanity.

The recent trip across the ocean from Germany to the United States by the German built dirigible is an achievement that has gone far beyond anything that man has accomplished, and has created a great deal of interest in Europe and America.

The big machine plowed through the air for eighty hours and forty-five minutes without a stop, and during that time registered five thousand and six miles. This great machine was the property of Germany at the time, and was brought over to America in fulfillment of the payment of the reparations debt to this country by that nation, as a result of the recent world war.

The people of that country were proud of this great flying machine and it was with much regret that the people of that country saw that great ship rise and take flight for the new country, to pay this nation in a partial manner for the expense we had been too in beating them off of the helpless nations in their awful attack upon some of the smaller nations of the world.

The United States when she comes into possession of this huge ship will have the largest and most powerful of all the land and we will probably be as proud of it as the German people. It will be United States property as soon as some tests have been made to carry out the requirements and terms of the contract.

Indeed the achievements of men in manipulating the air are wonderful. They have accomplished the things that were not many years ago considered possible.

YELLOW FEVER IN HOUSTON

Houston was saved from a yellow fever epidemic because of the fact that modern sanitary science has shown the way to prevent such epidemics, according to Dr. Malone Duggan, state health officer.

"Yellow fever is transmitted only through the bite of the yellow fever mosquito," stated Dr. Duggan, "and the fact that it was confined to the one man who brought it to Houston, was due not only to the fast and thorough work done since its discovery, but also to the work done by the city in the past year in exterminating mosquitoes.

As long as yellow fever is epidemic in Mexico, there is a potential danger of it getting a foothold in this country. For this reason, it will be necessary for the people of this section of the country to insist upon mosquito eradication and give more consideration to sanitary health regulations.

Dr. Duggan further calls attention to the fact that this is the day of insurance as people take out insurance on everything from their lives to their automobiles, and stresses the fact that public health insurance on everything from their lives to their insurance, as it protects not only one person, but large districts.

DAVIS AND WALL STREET

It is claimed that Davis was nominated by Wall Street influence. This is most emphatically incorrect. It is true that Wall Street used all of its power to knock McAdoo out of the nomination and they used Smith and McAdoo to kill off each other.

A SIGNIFICANT FACT

However, even this straw vote, which is a farce, shows one very significant thing for the Democrats, and that is that LaFollette is drawing two votes from the Republicans to every one he draws from the Democrats. The ratio will elect John W. Davis president, overwhelmingly.

DISPOSITION HAS BEEN MADE OF EIGHT OF THE FORTY CASES SET DOWN FOR TRIAL IN DISTRICT COURT DURING SPECIAL SESSION

Jurors in the 72nd Judicial District Court who were summoned to appear in court Monday morning were excused until Wednesday morning when they will be used in the case of Harvey vs. Harrison, et al, suit for commission on real estate deal.

On Thursday the case of The Temple Trust Company vs. W. E. Smith, et al, will go on trial. These cases were not set down for trial in the special eight weeks term being presided over by Parke E. Dalton, district attorney elect, but due to the fact that all other cases set for the week were disposed of, the court took advantage of the opportunity to clear these cases from the docket.

During the eight days the special term has been in session eight of the forty civil cases set down for trial have been disposed of, and court attaches stated Monday that all indications are that together with many other minor proceedings all the cases set for the special term will be disposed of.

The civil docket has been crowded for some time for immediate hearings to be made on many cases and the special term is keeping a busy schedule in preparing the docket for normal trial of all cases in the future.

Court was not held the first two days of this week because of the fact that the cases of W. D. MacMillan vs. J. A. McClatchey, et al, set for Monday and the case of W. D. MacMillan vs. R. R. Oates, et al, set for Tuesday, were settled by compromise and dismissed.

TUMULTY RAPS STATEMENT OF GEORGIA GOV.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Challenging Governor Walker of Georgia to prove that the administration of Woodrow Wilson showed partiality to the Roman Catholic church during the war, Joseph P. Tumulty, Wilson's former secretary has replied heatedly to what he declares was a scurrilous attempt by Walker to "despoil the memory" of his late chief.

"Beyond that effort," says Tumulty, "I maintained a policy of secret neutrality." Tumulty points out that if Methodist Baptists or Presbyterians were discriminated against, some of them ought to be able to get about as much as they get.

Further, says Tumulty, "I wish to say to Governor Walker that I am willing to meet him face to face in any part of Georgia and say to him in the presence of his own people that the church, the Catholic church in the slightest degree to any way during my time in the white house aught to influence my conduct in this or any other matter is deliberately untrue."

PREVENT ACCIDENT BY PAUSE OF 24 SECONDS

The automobile driver, usually in a hurry, but a pause for only 24 seconds at a railroad crossing may mean the difference between accident and safety. This was emphasized today by R. J. Chaney, assistant to general manager of the Southern Pacific Company.

Mr. Chaney pointed out that the engineer of a train does all within his power to warn drivers at crossings, but added that a train of some 900 tons traveling at 20 miles an hour cannot be stopped in less than about 1,900 feet.

Chaney said that a quarter of a mile away will be at the crossing in eighteen seconds and in six seconds more will have cleared the crossing. In twenty-four seconds he devoted to better advantage than to stop add wait for a train to pass.

to the apprehension of the Dawes program as "the enslavement of Germany." Whether the nationalist leaders will attempt to force this issue before the electorate as the major question remains to be seen. It would not effect the status of the Dawes plan because it already is in operation by sanction of the Reichstag.

Chaney said that a quarter of a mile away will be at the crossing in eighteen seconds and in six seconds more will have cleared the crossing. In twenty-four seconds he devoted to better advantage than to stop add wait for a train to pass.

GERMAN REICHSTAG IS DISSOLVED FOR ELECTION

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Chancellor Marx's efforts to obtain outside support for his coalition government, have failed and reichstag has been dissolved in preparation for a general election. The polling is being forecast for November 30.

In a joint statement following the dissolution order, Marx and President Ebert said that the present composition of the reichstag prevented the formation of a stable, effective cabinet, and that in order to carry out the endorsed policies of the government, including the Dawes plan, an appeal to the people for the election of an adequate majority was essential.

President Ebert consented to the dissolution when the cabinet formally advised him of the state of affairs. The dissolution is the climax of a parliamentary situation wherein the tri-party coalition headed by Marx found itself unable to function without the support of other party blocs.

DOLAN PLANS TO ENTER SLANDER SUIT ON BASEBALL CZAR

ASKS SHARE IN WORLD SERIES RECEIPTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—All the fakery and bribery of organized baseball since the house-cleaning of 1920 in which the White Sox were barred from the game may be brought to light soon in a New York court. Cozy Dolan, outlawed coach of the New York Giants, has retained William J. Fallon, the famous Broadway lawyer to bring suit against Judge K. M. Landis for slander and for a share of the world series money.

Dolan and Jimmie O'Connell, of the Giants, were barred together by Landis, who held O'Connell guilty of proposing a bribe to Heinie Sand of the Phillies and Dolan guilty of acting in concert.

If Fallon forces Landis into court it may be necessary to go into all the other suspicious occurrences in baseball since 1920.

Fallon, himself recently acquitted in federal court after a sensational trial on a charge of fixing, Fallon is a friend of "Harley A. Stoshham, owner of the Giants, who is now under indictment in connection with the financing of prior investors by bucket shop operators.

Discussing the case, Fallon said Monday that Dolan had been out-layed by Landis because he said "I don't remember" in reply to some of the questions concerning the attempt to bribe Sand. Fallon insists that this is a peculiar little habit of Dolan's—"I don't remember" when he means I don't know.

Royal House Will Attend White Sox-Giant Charity Game

LONDON, Oct. 20.—King George and Queen Mary will go to the ball game at Wembley stadium when the White Sox and the White Sox play the first London exhibition game, scheduled for "October 21" will be a charity contest, for the benefit of the London hospitals.

Reverend the family party in the royal box there will be the Prince of Wales, making his first public appearance at home following his hectic tour of the United States and Canada; his brother the Duke of York; the Duchess of York and Prince Henry.

London is at least partially, if not all, agog over the question of what John McGraw shall wear. John McGraw in civilian get-up at ball games and in order to be considered quite proper he will have to wear a gray plaid hat, fawn anklets, lemon colored gloves, a tail coat, and a walking stick. There is strong local sentiment against the proposal to place such dangerous weapons as a walking stick in the hands of any gentleman by the name of McGraw.

ZEV COMES BACK AS EPINARD IS SENT HOME INJURED

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—They come and they go and some times they come back again.

Zev was the three year old champion of the American turf in 1923, and Epinard was the finest and gamest horse-rider of corresponding years on the crissay run-arounds of continental Europe.

As a four year old Zev began badly, and became worse. Epinard lost a couple of match races and a heavy handicap to start his fourth season in France, and has been beaten four times in four starts during his visit to the United States.

And now Epinard will soon be shipped back home in disreputable and disreputable with a cracked hoof to run again.

Zev's trainer, Sam Hildreth, wouldn't believe that the great colt of 1923 could have lost his speed and talent in a year and therefore kept Zev at work. Now as Epinard prepares to depart, dragging his tail, Zev seems to be coming back with a rush. Zev has won his last four races. The day that Epinard was whipped in 1/2 mile and a quarter race, at Le Tomia, Zev broke the track record for a mile on the same course, winning the fourth race. His time 1:56 2-5; was just one second slower than the world record. Hildreth next Zev into cheap races with the idea of "running the legs back under him," through practice zev will be under saddle at Epsom City, just outside New York City in a few days.

Epinard's ecologies outnumber those that China has made. He was "short" of competition in his first American race, a six furlong sprint in which he finished second to Wise Counsellor at Belmont Park. Any way, he was not a sprinter. When he lost the next race, a mile to Ladies at the Aqueduct, he was then victim of a "bad ride." It was the same when he finished a length back of Sarazen in the mile and a quarter at Latonia. And any way he was "one horse against the field."

Pierre Wertheimer, the French sportsman who owns Epinard is reported to have rejected an offer of more than $250,000 for his horse. Back home, Epinard will be relegated to the farm for breeding purposes.

PIGSKIN GOES 221 YARDS IN ONE PLAY IN CALIF.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 17.—Imagine a single gridiron play in which the football traveled 221 yards.

That was the record for a freak play hung up in the University of Southern California-Caltech game here, in which the Trojans piled up 78 points.

Here's how it happened: Caltech kicked off and the ball rolled fifty yards behind the goal line. Ed Green, the U. S. C. safety man, pulled the trick and fooled everybody in the Coliseum, including his own teammates, with the execution of the referee. He kicked up the ball and walked nonchalantly out past the goal line as if to put the ball in play on the twenty-yard line. Just as Green got opposite the rest of the players, who were waiting for him to give the ball to the U. S. C. center, he broke into a spring and dashed for the Caltech goal. He reached the Engineers' two-yard line before he was tackled from behind by two of the fastest Engineers, who gave chase when they realized what had happened. As Green was tackled, the ball was joggled free into arms and one of the Caltech tacklers kicked it up and carried it back to his forty-five yard line before he was downed.

Figuring that the ball went six to five yards on the kickoff, was carried 113 yards by Green and forty-three yards by the Caltech men, addition will show that the ball covered 221 yards before it was declared dead by the referee.

LAMESA DEFEATS ROTAN BY SCORE OF 26 TO 19

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 20.—The Lamesa High School Football team won from Rotan on October 17, by a score of 26 to 19. Lamesa has played four games this season and has won all of them. They have been scored on only one time. Coach McCullum of the local school is well pleased with the showing that his players have made so far. The Lamesa team will be a strong contender for honors in the class B schools of the state this year.

SCANDAL DUE TO COMMERCIALIZED BASEBALL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—During the scandal that broke out just before the recent world's series which resulted in the expulsion from organized baseball of Cozy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell, the opinion was expressed that the world's series should be abolished.

Ban Johnson president of the American League, raved that Commissioner Landis should have declared the New York Giants ineligible and substituted the Brooklyn Robins as the opponents of Washington, or that he should have called off the series.

Johnson's views should not be given too much emphasis, however, as these is too much vindictive malice in him and he was talking more as a radical enemy of Landis than as a guardian of baseball. Johnson was not such a purist in 1919 and 1920 when one of the teams in his league was involved in a mess and he should not be any more willing to wield the club when a team in another league is involved.

It is an admitted fact that the temptation is becoming great for players of slow mentality and those of loose morals. Temptations are being offered because the game has been so highly commercialized. The club owners are responsible for that.

Instead of charging the highest price for tickets that the public would stand for and instead of grabbing every cent they can get from the players, they ought to give the players reason to believe that there is something in the business except the lough.

The money-grabbing tactics of the club owners was shown this year when they refused to pay the players for the games played in the world's series. You might argue that it is foolish to suggest that the players should get a regular salary for working for the rich world's series prize; but perhaps the players feel differently about it. Whether the magnates are just or unjust in saving that little extra salary money they are, nevertheless, giving evidence of their professional to be caught at it. It was interesting to hear the various official comments that were made about the acts of Dolan and O'Connell in trying to bribe Heinie Sand, the Philadelphia shortstop.

"The appalling stupidity of it" was the reply of Commissioner Landis when he was asked what his reaction was.

"Just a couple of fools," Manager McGraw said.

Everyone agreed that it was a foolish piece of work. The idea was not sound and the execution was crude.

But why talk only about the foolishness of any such attempts? Why not call it by its right name? It is impossible to believe that Jimmy O'Connell originated the idea. It is impossible to believe that he didn't have good reasons to feel that Dolan was not the only other one in the deal. It is impossible to believe that Dolan was putting out $500 of his own money, and it is hard to believe that Dolan was acting on his own.

If those in charge of professional baseball do not become a little more liberal in giving all the details of their investigations and do not make public more of the testimony there is bound to be a lot of talk this winter when baseball news is hard to get.

Commissioner Landis refused to make public the testimony in Washington and in New York. Dolan refused to talk and, if it had not been for the statement of O'Connell, no one would have known that the names of three other Giant Players had been mentioned.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, did as much as he could to furnish all the details. He told how the case was brought to his attention and how he proceeded. He could do nothing more. Commissioner Landis knew much more—but he refused to give any of the details.

He upbraided the writer when he asked him in Washington for the details on the grounds that the public and the newspapers were entitled to them. He tried to establish his position by a series of personal attacks on the writer and some threats that he would be kicked out if he appeared in his room again "in the same condition."

Landis was right in saying that the World Series should not have been called off. If there were any reasons why the world's series cannot be straight, the major leagues should be abolished.

If there is such a menace of big money in the game, the club owners can reduce the temptation by reducing the price of admission to the games and by giving the players and the public some reason to believe that there is something in baseball beside the gate receipts.

RALLS JACKRABBITS WIN FROM SPUR SCORE 33-12

RALLS, Texas, Oct. 20.—Ralls Jackrabbits defeated Spur High Football squad today 33 to 12 on the Ralls field. First quarter was played in Spur's territory with one touchdown for Ralls by Gee, and Keib made an extra point through the line. Another touchdown was made in the second quarter by Porter for Ralls with no extra point.

Spur came back with a touchdown made by Ralls fumbling pass with no extra point in the third quarter. Martin made the third touchdown for Ralls and failed to kick. Ralls kicked to Spur's left half and Ballock blocked the ball behind the line for a touchdown. Gee ran sixty yards for a touchdown in the last quarter and another was made for Ralls in the last four minutes.

N. Y. FANS ADOPT NOTRE DAME FOR DEFEAT OF ARMY

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Always loyal to a winner, New York will follow the Notre Dame football team into action against the Princeton crew at Princeton next Saturday with little attention to spare for Yale, Harvard or other famous eastern teams.

New York adopted Notre Dame

last Saturday when the cyclonic youths from South Bend, Ind., swirled around the bewildered army team and beat the West Point cadets again 13 to 7. The spectacular success of Notre Dame's back field, made up of Crowley, Layden, Miller, and Stuhldreher, has made the mid-western team a great drawing card and the game at Princeton might set a new record for football attendance if there were seating facilities in Palmer Stadium. All this notwithstanding the fact that Princeton is more than an hour's ride by fast express train from New York.

BOBBY JONES GOING AFTER BRITISH GOLF TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—To a father discomfite and discouraged public in England the news that Bobby Jones, the young American amateur golf champion, is going after the British title next year may be received like a smack on the chin.

The dear old sporting public in England looks upon the British amateur golf with all the fondness a miser would have for his buck. It's all England has left and the last symbol of a former world domination of sport.

The British open cup is here in the trophy room of Walter Hagen. The International polo cup is at the Meadowbrook club. America's Cup is in the exclusive New York Yacht Club. The British boxers are all on the floor. The Davis Cup, once a prized possession of Britain and her colonies, is under a long-time lease with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Under the circumstances the gloomy prospects of losing the British amateur cup may be tempered only by the satisfaction of English golf fans may get out of seeing the American star play, even if he dies with.

London became very fond of Jack Dempsey when he made his first visit there. The British wanted to see Dempsey fight, not because they felt that they had anyone who could give him a contest, but they wanted to see the best fighter in the world even if they couldn't hold more than a god-father claim on him.

The London tennis fans were just as keen about Miss Helen Wills who went to England with every prospect of beating Miss Katherine McKane, the only hope of Britain on the courts. When Miss Wills failed to do the expected there was an unusual gloating in England. Quite to the contrary, the good English sports apologized for the California girl and they were grateful enough to admit that Miss Wills wasn't playing her real game.

The personal triumph that the young American tennis champion scored in England probably will be repeated by Bobby Jones. They are both the same type—young, attractive, modest and extremely capable in their lines. Bobby Jones will not boast. British interviewers will find it just as difficult to get him to talk as they did in trying to get Helen Wills to admit she was a good tennis player.

The visit of Bobby Jones can accomplish much good in the way of missionary work, as Walter Hagen is anything but popular in England. He made some very inconspicuous remarks about English sportsmanship, two years ago, and although he later denied the interview, the denial wasn't as generally circulated in London as was his alleged criticism.

Bobby Jones and Helen Wills represent the new type of American athletic stars. The American Olympic team in Paris and numerous young stars of the same disposition, and the team as a whole conducted a long-time lease with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

London was amazed when Jack Dempsey visited the city and acted shy when ring subjects were brought up. Foreigners had the opinion that America had a race of braggers, loud-mouthed—boasters and inveterate personal magnifiers. Dempsey, Miss Wills, the American Olympic athletes did much to Overcome that feeling, and Bobby Jones will continue the good work. Now that Jones has put himself over in match competition, he ought to be a much better match player. Critics have regarded him for years as the finest medal player.

EDWARDS HEIRS ARE STILL IN LINE FOR CLEARING UP TITLE TO FIVE AND ONE-HALF BILLION DOLLAR ESTATE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20.—With a paid capital of $20,000, heirs of Thomas Edwards, claimants to a large block of New York City real estate, Tuesday made application through the office of the Jefferson County Probate Judge for a charter to push their claim through the court legal proceedings, to begin before the end of October.

P. M. Carlisle of Birmingham, is chairman of the board of directors of the Edwards Estate Corporation, the official title of the corporation, and W. T. Coker, president with Joel F. Webb as legal advisor. Other officials named in the articles of incorporation are vice-president, J. E. Lacey, treasurer, T. C. McCain; secretary, R. P. Carlisle.

The entire amount of the $20,000 capital stock has been sold. Mr. Webb states, and no more will be issued. Only a small part of the heirs of Thomas Edwards, the original white owner of the land involved, are stockholders in the new corporation, but many others who may be represented may have the services of the company on a pay basis. Mr. Webb stated that the company merely charging for services rendered in the attempt to recover the property, or its value in money.

The land involved in the claim of the Edwards heirs embraces all of that section of downtown New York City lying between Broadway and the Hudson River and Canal Street and the Battery. Some of the largest buildings in the world, it is pointed out, stand on this property, including the Woolworth building, Trinity church, and to be the wealthiest church corporation in the United States, occupies a site almost opposite City Hall Park, and in the heart of New York's financial district.

The stockholders in the Edwards Estate Corporation will hold a meeting in Birmingham at an early date to receive reports of the officers and legal advisers and to take such steps as may be necessary to further the interests of the corporation.

Counsel has been engaged in New York and Washington to look after the interests of the corporation at that end and to institute court proceedings. Mr. Webb states, and all other preliminaries essential to actual court action have been attended to.

"The object of this corporation is to reclaim or recover the property that originally belonged to Thomas Edwards and his family," Mr. Webb states. "This is the only corporation now in existence that is prepared to function in behalf of the heirs. There are numerous heirs, and several local organizations and associations, and it is our purpose to bring up these together and make a united effort to recover title to the property, or its value in money."

"The stock in the corporation has been sold and we have subscribers in nearly every section of the South including prominent business men,

DEMOCRATS TO APPEAR TODAY

TO GIVE ACCOUNT THEIR CAMPAIGN EXPENSES TO BORAH BOARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Democrats will be called to give an accounting of their campaign expenditures here Tuesday when the Borah committee resumes at the capitol, the investigation began at Chicago.

Both Clem Shaver, chairman and James W. Girard, treasurer, of the democratic national committee are scheduled to appear on the first day of the investigation. No other witnesses are scheduled to testify Tuesday.

Shaver and Girard will be asked for a detailed report of all campaign expenditures.

On Wednesday the committee will turn to further inquiry into the "slush fund" charge against the republicans by Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, which was begun at Chicago. Several witnesses from Pennsylvania have been summoned to appear, including Joseph R. Grundy, Edward T. Stotey, Samuel Vauclair, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Nathan T. Folwell, treasurer of the Manufacturers Club, W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railway, Chester W. Hill and John T. King, all of Philadelphia.

Several Washington witnesses are also to appear, including W. T. Gallher, chairman of the district of Columbia, republican ways and means committee, T. V. O'Connor a member of the United States shipping board and Carl W. Riddick, national organizer of the national republican league.

O'Connor will be quizzed concerning the charge that the republican organization paid the expenses of the laboring men who attended President Coolidge's reception at the white house on Inauguration day. The appearance of Samuel Gompers, president and Frank W. Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor to testify regarding labor's contributions to the LaFollette-Whelan campaign fund, will be delayed until after the witnesses agreed in connection with the slush fund charges have been heard, Senator Borah stated Monday.

Borah was at his office at the capitol Monday for resumption of the investigation. He said no additional witnesses had been summoned during the day but expected others to be called later.

The investigation will last until after the election, in his opinion. Senator Borah said he would not resign his office, but would resign for acts regarding a charge made by Chairman Butler, of the republican national committee that the LaFollette forces were attempting to raise a campaign chest of $200,000 in Wisconsin.

CONSPIRACY EXISTS AGAINST C.O.P., IS BUTLER CHARGE

BY UNITED NEWS

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Wm. M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, renewed his charges that there exists a conspiracy in some sections of the country to throw the election into congress in a statement issued Monday.

"The effort is still being made to throw the election into congress by leaders of the democratic and third parties," Butler said.

"Indications point to the election of Calvin Coolidge as president two weeks hence. But I believe that the voters have a right to know of the palpable efforts being made to make impossible a choice by the people themselves.

"Everyone now knows that only confusion can follow if Coolidge is not named on November 4.

"The democratic presidential nominee at Nashville, made the bold claim that the third party candidate will carry six or eight states. He does not name them.

"Take Minnesota for example. There John Lind for many years the leader of the democratic party in the Northwest, elected as congressman and then governor on the democratic ticket and later named as a special envoy to Mexico under a democratic administration, has come out for the third party nominee.

"In the same state two democratic nominees for congress, one in the third and the other in the sixth district, have withdrawn entirely from the congressional race. In that state it is apparent that many democratic leaders seek to concentrate against the republicans by obliterating their own party.

"As far west as Idaho there has been an unholy alliance in one of the two congressional districts. In the fourth Colorado districts, in six districts in Kansas, four in Nebraska and in more than half a dozen districts of Ohio such combinations have been formed, and this is true to an even greater extent in Indiana.

"From all parts of the country come reports of similar combinations. They are declared to make together the socialist third party and the democrats. The aim of both parties is to force the election into congress.

"It is now apparent to every one that last minute efforts are being made to deprive people of their right to choose the president themselves."

Several Washington witnesses are also to appear, including W. T. Gallher, chairman of the district of Columbia, republican ways and means committee, T. V. O'Connor a member of the United States shipping board and Carl W. Riddick, national organizer of the national republican league.

O'Connor will be quizzed concerning the charge that the republican organization paid the expenses of the laboring men who attended President Coolidge's reception at the white house on Inauguration day. WIFE OF BERT LYTELL IS GRANTED DIVORCE

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 20.

Mrs. Bert Lytell, wife of the motion picture star, was granted a divorce here Monday, a few moments after the petition had been filed.

Declining to name a co-respondent, Mrs. Lytell, charged her actor mate with indignities extending over a period of more than three years that last minute efforts are being made to deprive people of their right to choose the president themselves.

She said in the petition that Lytell had told her he no longer loved her and had no desire to live with her.

Several Washington witnesses are also to appear, including W. T. Gallher, chairman of the district of Columbia, republican ways and means committee, T. V. O'Connor a member of the United States shipping board and Carl W. Riddick, national organizer of the national republican league.

NELSON DENIES $500,000 RAISED IN WISCONSIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.

The charges made by the chairman of the republican national committee that more than $500,000 was to be raised in Wisconsin for the LaFollette presidential campaign has been denied by John M. Nelson, LaFollette's campaign manager who says Wisconsin has raised only $35,000.

"Butler's charge was made to divert attention from the millions being collected from eastern financial interests to promote the candidacy of Coolidge," Nelson said Monday.

Several Washington witnesses are also to appear, including W. T. Gallher, chairman of the district of Columbia, republican ways and means committee, T. V. O'Connor a member of the United States shipping board and Carl W. Riddick, national organizer of the national republican league.

LA FOLLETTE SHIFTS ATTACK FROM PACIFIC COAST TO EAST IN EFFORT TO PULL VOTES AWAY FROM DEMOCRATS

By Raymond Clapper

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 20.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, turns back to canvass the heavily populated industrial states, entering upon a new political phase as well as a new graphical phase of his campaign. There has been a sudden and significant change of strategy by La Follette in the last few days. His original plan was to go to the Pacific coast in the expectation of clinching enough of the western states to throw the election into congress. Now he has decided instead to enter the big eastern states where the chief effort will be to claw away thousands of more voters from John W. Davis and add to his own popular vote.

This writer, after visiting a number of important states does not believe there is any prospect whatever of La Follette being elected outright. He has had a good chance of throwing the election into congress. I believe this would have happened inevitably if he had gone to the Pacific coast.

But La Follette ceases to hold this as his purpose in the campaign if he ever did.

He is looking far beyond this election. He has a vision of a new progressive party and everything he does is designed to bring that vision nearer reality. His most practical course lies in making up the democratic party, making it third in the popular vote, and gradually absorbing its progressive sections, permitting the conservative elements to drift into the republican party. If the election should go into congress Davis would, in all probability be chosen president, and the democratic organization instantly would take on new life. In four years of power it would rebuild its creaking machine. But if Davis can be forced to run third, there would be four years more of Coolidge conservatism, which would give the progressives more ammunition and a breathing spell in which to organize their offensive for 1928.

In his message to the progressive convention La Follette uttered these significant words:

"Permanent political parties have been born in this country after, and not before political campaigns. It is the hour is at hand for a new political party, the American people next November will register their will and united purpose by a vote of such magnitude that a new political party will be inevitable."

With this philosophy guiding him, a few electoral votes more or less, is a matter of indifference compared with the polling of a tremendous popular vote.

In Illinois, where La Follette speaks Tuesday and Wednesday, the farmer-labor presidential candidate four years ago, Parley P. Christensen, received twice as many votes as were cast for all three presidential candidates in Nevada. So, if La Follette wants a large number of popular votes he has a better chance of getting them in the east than of bothering about the sparsely populated western states.

Also La Follette wants his party to be national in scope, and he wants to get a good proportionate vote, not only in these western states like Minnesota and the Dakotas, but in the big eastern states like New York and Michigan. He realizes that to build a party upon agrarian discontent is to build it upon a foundation of sand which could be washed away in one good crop year. He is equally opposed to building his movement around labor exclusively. He seeks to broaden his appeal to include all the small merchants, bankers and business men.

There is nothing particularly menacing to the republican party in this situation. It is the democrats who are faced with trouble. In the last two weeks I have visited New York, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska. No where, except in Indiana and Missouri, was there an enthusiastic Davis fight on. Bryan is the hope in Nebraska. If the democrats permit La Follette to pass Davis in the popular vote, they will be in danger of being swallowed up in the undertow of the progressive movement.

er and one of the best stylists in the game. His advance in line with his natural ability was hindered by a hot temper and a disposition to "blow up" when his game started to go wrong. The same critics held that he never would get the real golf out of his game until he matured to the point where he could control himself. He apparently has reached that stage and he is a young and so experienced with it that he may be just starting at real golf.

Jones the thirteenth to win the national amateur title, is now 22 years old, and has been in the limelight of golf since 1916. When a boy of 14 and wearing knickerbockers he set the pace for a star field in the first half of the qualifying round of championship. Jones lost to Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, Ill., 5 to 3.

Three years later Bobby appeared at the Oklahoma and defeated Jimmy Marion Gardner, Ruby Knepper and W. C. Fowner, a former champion, in successive matches, entered the final round against S. Davidson-Herron of the home club. He lost to Herron by 5 and 4.

The following year Jones appeared at the championship held at the Engineers Club, Roslyn, L. I., and won the qualifying medal. He there defeated him in a sensational round, 6 and 5. At Saint Louis in 1921 Bobby defeated Clarence Wolff, one of the Mount City stars, and Dr. O. P. Willing of Portland, but in the third round found himself pitted against Willie Hunter, the British amateur champion, and was beaten by 2 and 1 after a tennish match.

At Brooklyn in 1922 Jones was one of the unfortunates who attempted to stem the Sweetser tide and he received his worst defeat, in any championship event, Sweetser winning by 3 and 1. Last year at Rossmore he was beaten by Morston in the second round.

His first appearance in the national open was at Inverness in 1920, when his four rounds were 78, 77, 70 and 77 for a total of 299, which gave him eighth place, four shots behind Ted Ray, the Englishman, who was the winner. At Columbia the following year the Georgian was 303, fourteen shots behind the winner, Jim Barnes, of Pelham.

In 1922 at Skokie, Jones was second to Gene Sarazen, whose winning total was 288, against a total of 289 which was jointly made by Jones and John Black. The next year Bobby had a total of 296 at Inwood, tying him with Bobby Cruickshank of the open championship. After a play-off Jones won by virtue of a marvelous second shot to the home green, a long iron over a water hazard, for an easy par 4. Cruickshank taking a 6. This year he was in the thick of the fight, right up to the last at Oakland Hills, but had to content himself with second place to Cyril Walker of Englewood.

out in the dark, got into an automobile in the back seat and went to sleep. When church was out a few minutes later, Mr. and Mrs. Cundiff reached their car and Ernestine was not there. They instituted a search but the child could be found nowhere. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Joplin were at church, got in their car and went home, about seven miles from town, put the car in the garage and went to bed. It was recalled by someone that the Joplins had been in church, so a searching party finally went to their house, awakened the Joplins and went to their garage and there the child was, sound asleep in the car. The parents were of course delighted to have the child returned safe and sound.

THOMPSON ACCEPTS INVITATION TO SPEAK HERE

H. T. Kimbro, chairman of the general arrangements committee for the Tech celebration which will be held in Lubbock November 11, stated yesterday that Col. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo had accepted an invitation extended him by the board of regents of the Tech college to speak at the corner stone laying Armistice Day. Definite information has been received that Governor Pat Neff will also be present and will deliver an address on this occasion. Acceptance of other invitations extended to many others has not been received to date, but it is very probable that Lubbock will be filled with many out-of-town guests on Armistice Day to add to the importance of the event.

Col. Thompson has been requested to appear as a representative of the ex-service men of the state and many vivid memories of the St. Mihiel sector, Chateau Thierry, Meuse-Argonne, and other notable offensive movements in which the American soldiers and sailors were engaged will be brought back. Col. Thompson is recognized over the states as a speaker of great force and the board of regents as well as the local committee are indeed grateful to get his acceptance.

HIGHWAY TO LITTLEFIELD IS IN BAD CONDITION DUE TO HEAVY TRAFFIC

The condition of Highway No. 7 between Lubbock and Round-Up, alongside the Santa Fe tracks west from the city, is showing the result of the heavy cotton wagons used in hauling the crop to gins at Shallowater and Lubbock, and is hardly probable that this stretch of road can be put in very good condition until after the crop has been moved.

Automobile tourists find the road in much worse condition than the Lamb and Hockley counties where a strict maintenance program has been carried out for the past several months.

The Highway Department will in all probability take some action to better the condition of this important highway since the department is now supplied with a great deal of roadworking equipment, but even with their skill and the heavy machinery at their disposal, the department will doubtless find it difficult to improve this road, until a complete new grade has been made and proper drainage provided.

LITTLEFIELD GIRL BELIEVED KIDNAPED, FOUND IN CAR

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, Oct. 20.—Last night at church, Ernestine, the four year old daughter of Tax Collector E. C. Cundiff, asked her mother to let her go out and get in the car and go to sleep. This having been the habit, permission was granted and Ernestine, very sleepy, went

INITIAL NUMBER OF SHENANDOAH DUE TO REACH SAN DIEGO EARLY TODAY

By United News

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 20.—The initial number of a series of programs to be presented here by the White & Brown entertainers was witnessed at the High School auditorium.

Many local people witnessed the program, especially were those directly interested in the senior class numerous among those present in that the course is offered under the auspices of the Senior Class.

The Wateau Girls, two of the cleverest entertainers to appear together before a local audience, carried out the program to the satisfaction and complete entertainment of all.

The Wateau Girls are Fuma Hatrell, soprano, accompanist, guitarist, and child impersonator, and Mary Terry, reader, mezzo soprano and ballet.

The program was so well rendered and pleased all those present so well that the remaining numbers of the program will doubtless be given large audiences as the reputation of the White & Brown company was strengthened here by the appearance of these able entertainers.

Slowly Passes Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Oct. 20.—The Shenandoah passed here at 4 p. m. travelling very slowly and heading into a fog which was coming up from the southwest.

Santa Cruz is about seventy-five miles south of San Francisco, which would give the Shenandoah a speed of approximately 20 miles an hour.

After flying over the presidio, the Shenandoah turned directly west and flew out to sea to return south. The big ship was apparently making little progress against the strong winds which have marred her return flight. Observers on the ground estimated her speed at about 20 miles an hour. Indications were as the Shenandoah passed out of sight from here she would follow the coast line, despite the heavy winds and rough weather.

TEXAS WOLF AND FOX HUNTERS TO MEET IN JASPER OCTOBER 28TH

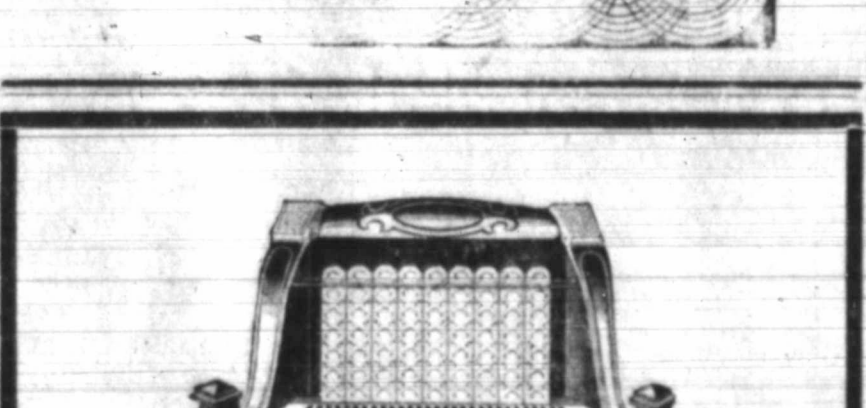

MARSHALL, Texas, Oct. 20.—A meeting of the Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters' Association will not be held at Jasper, Texas, Tuesday, October 28, because of the foot and mouth disease, according to W. C. Shonits, president and E. B. Crim, secretary.

This step was necessary but is very disappointing to the lovers of the sport who had anticipated a great meeting this year. A later date may be arranged.
