BANK ROBBER SUSPECTS ARE CHARGED; 23 BILLS FOUND BY GRAND JURY

Following two weeks of more or less interrupted District court session, the grand jury again reconvened last Saturday...

Two charges alleging forgery were returned against G. L. Lytle and there was a charge of burglary returned against Ralph Hazelwood, A. L. Shoemaker and Western Campbell, Jess Osborn being the principal plaintiff named in the accusation...

These three men are said to have been arrested at Meridian about two weeks ago and brought here by Sheriff Jim Cook and his deputies on circumstantial evidence supposed to have connected them with the bank robbery here.

The rain here was accompanied by two or three spasms of hailing, a few of them quite large, but the hail lasting only a minute or so each spurt and damage of no kind has been reported.

Irrigationists May Get Loans On Pump-Plants

That Federal Land Banks may now make loans to farmers for putting down irrigation wells, installing pumping plants, etc., is now a fact, according to a recent act of Congress...

The good business value of growing crops by the "controlled rainfall system" of irrigation pump, has long ago been proven in numerous sections of the United States...

Under the proper development the Blackwater has irrigation possibilities exceeded perhaps by no other section of the United States...

Generally speaking, the large irrigated farms organized by irrigation possibilities of the every farmer owning land having an irrigation well finding it both profitable and satisfactory...

Now that money may be secured so reasonable terms, it is said many more contemplative irrigators in this valley will be putting wells on their farms.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men.—Hosea 10:13.

If Jupiter hurled his thunderbolt as often as men sinners, he would soon be out of thunderbolts.—Ovid.

NEW TAX PLAN

Paying taxes is invariably a task difficult as well as disliked by many people, yet it is inevitable and should be done. Most taxes, in the final analysis are just and worthy because of the good causes they go to in defraying expenses.

However, we believe tax paying could be made a more painless past-time and that it should be.

Paying taxes in lump sums once or twice a year is often a difficult problem, just as it would be difficult if the average motorist had to pay his gasoline tax in a lump sum, but by paying our tax as it is consumed he does not even miss the amount and seldom, if ever, complains about it.

Recently the treasurer of Cook county, Illinois has put into effect as an emergency measure a thrifty tax payment plan on the line of a Christmas saving club which is meeting with big success beyond expectations. It is the substantial payments have been made on the 1931 taxes which were advanced and credited with interest to meet the needs of the employees and school teachers, while there is prospect that thousands of taxpayers will enroll within the coming few weeks, giving promise that the larger part of about $90,000,000 will be paid in.

This latest plan for the convenience of taxpayers makes the burden seem a little easier to bear, since the taxes can be paid in 12 installments. It will be a reminder to the taxing officials as well as the taxpayers that levies so made as to cause disputes only serve to discredit the community and make it still harder to collect these assessments equitably and honestly due.

It has long been our belief that if payment of all kinds of taxes in Texas were permitted to be made in monthly payments it would be much easier. There would not now be the huge delinquency and added hardship of interest and penalties now existing. The state, county, municipalities and school districts would all be in much better financial condition—so would the people who have to pay taxes—and practically everybody would feel better over the situation.

A FEW PREDICTIONS

Predictions are being made by some prominent men that this is going into history as "the last year of the depression." No need to add that everybody around Muleshoe hopes and trusts that prediction comes true. And just here are a few things to indicate that it will.

There are a lot of men so firm in their belief that this year will end the depression that they are betting their money on it. Not gambling on it, of course, but putting what money they have into real estate that can now be had at prices that are sure to start soaring the moment good times start in again. It's the safest investment in the world—real estate—and there will be plenty of evidence to prove it ere long. When those who are keeping their money safely away wake up to find some of their neighbors profiting by investments made when times were hard they will realize the truth of it.

Many are going to be made wealthier and many placed in the well-to-do class through buying property when it was at the bottom and holding it until the sun shines again and depression clouds are gone and forgotten. No matter what the average investment turns out to be there is one that is safe to the end of time. Money wisely and sensibly invested in real estate is always going to be both safe and profitable. That's why far more people than you know anything about are "gambling" on it by putting their savings into that kind of investment.

Why is it that whenever the average Muleshoe man makes a good guess he goes around bragging about his "good judgement"?

If the average Muleshoe woman doesn't worry about her husband it is apt to worry him because she doesn't.

How many Muleshoe old-timers ever thought they would live to see the day when the average man would rather talk about hard times than the weather?

We overheard a Muleshoe motorist confess the other day that he is so poor he can hardly keep body and chassis together.

For a long time many a man around Muleshoe thought he had been living in a speedy age and had grabbed Old Father Time by the forelock; but he has awakened to discover he had him by the shirt tail.

With a government tax on matches life is going to be harder than ever for the Muleshoe man who has a habit of letting his pipe go out.

Neil Rockey says he has a son that plays the piano like Paderewski. He uses both hands.

Wm. Wingfield, local jeweler, is well known for his inventive genius. Now he declares he is about to complete an invention that insures his fortune and will permit his stopping watch tinkering. He is inventing an alarm clock that emits the delicious odors of frying bacon and fragrant coffee when the alarm sounds.

"More power to President Roosevelt," exclaims Pat Boob. "Let him drain the ocean, reverse the law of gravitation and stop the stars in their courses. It will be alright with us folks in Muleshoe."

Rev. Raney says the man who will invent a chair that can be adjusted a thousand different ways has made his fortune. Every preacher would include in the purchase of several for the small boys to sit on when they come to church.

"Nature is a wonderful thing," says Doc Sparks. "A million years ago she didn't know we were going to need spectacles, yet look at the way she placed our ears."

Deputy "Shorty" Bartley declares he has rheumatism of the pocketbook. Here's hoping it doesn't attack his mustaches.

Philosopher Al... propounds an adage that savors of the wisdom of sages when he says: "Never walk on the leeward side of a man whose neck is stiffened with age. He may cover your new spring suit with amber."

It is reported Al narrowly escaped missed getting drowned last week thus Concrete evidence that business is improving and that the big business concerns are all optimistic over the change for the better is shown in the increased national advertising being published during the past few weeks. In keeping with the trend, numerous small town and city business concerns have again started advertising while many more have enlarged their spaces previously used.

The oft-repeated statement that "it always rains in the Plains country just before it is too late" came true again last week. For weeks past farmers have been yearning for rain. Saturday night it came "just in the nick of time," as one man expressed it. This week planters are going full force all over this section of Texas.

Several big tire companies have recently increased prices. We have observed that an automobile tire is especially designed for inflation, but the Muleshoe motorist perspiring with a worn out pump over a casing that has gone flat falls to work up much enthusiasm over that kind of inflation.

Perhaps among the best evidence that some Muleshoe citizens are off the gold standard is the fact that it used to be wine, women and song, while now it is home brew, ma and the radio.

A Muleshoe man remarked the other day that the best way to lose a friend was to loan him money. Since then we've been wondering just how anxious the banks are to retain friendships.

Congress is passing so many relief measures that the average Muleshoe citizen has already begun to worry about just which one is going to save us.

To the Muleshoe citizen who has already experienced a blow-out, the subject of government inflation is not causing much worry.

If all men were temperate who advocate temperance, this would be a wonderful world indeed.

Jaunty Journalettes

There are at least two kinds of folks in Muleshoe. Those who do things with out making a fuss and those who make a fuss without doing things.

We happen to know at least one woman in Muleshoe who complains that she has nothing to wear, and then takes an hour and a half to put it on.

Why is it that whenever the average Muleshoe man makes a good guess he goes around bragging about his "good judgement"?

3 RULES
big help to BOWELS
What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:
1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.
Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

A HOG'S TIME!
Whether you fatten a hog on corn or alfalfa makes no difference with the hog. Alfalfa feeding is, of course, much slower; but what is time to a hog?
However, with human beings time is an important element—and like saving money, we try to save as much of it as possible. In this bustling, busy age there are so many demands upon our time that we must conserve it as much as possible.

MORE WONDERFUL THAN THE DREAMS OF OLD
The faith and belief of the ancients that the baser metals could be profitably turned into gold was responsible for the wasting of a great expenditure of time and effort.
The discovery and utilization of Electricity was more wonderful than these ancient dreams and a lot more practical and useful to humanity, than the making of gold.
That lights will glow and motors turn and furnish power for industry—hundreds of miles from the source of the current, just by the turn of a switch would have been thought miraculous only three generations ago.
The convenience and dependability of Electricity and its adaptability to the needs of man, are its greatest recommendations. It will turn the wheels of the factory, light the building, lighten the burdens of the housewife, as well as bring in communications from a distance. It is the world's most versatile force.

MOTHER, AMERICAN HOME QUEEN

By Hon. Mead Griffith, District Attorney

The following address was delivered Sunday afternoon, May 19, at West Camp by Mr. Griffith:

I first want to thank you for extending to me this invitation to address you on this Mothers' Day; and as I esteem it a great honor, and a privilege to appear on your program. It would be presumptuous on my part to assume that I could in any measure do justice to the subject of Motherhood, or that by my efforts anything could be contributed to the great mass of respect, love, and devotion, that on this day is being poured out throughout the whole of our country to the mothers.

Mother's Day has become a great annual festival in the homes of America, and a hallowed solemnity in the life of the various communities. The second Sunday in May is forever consecrated to the queen of the home; and the very approach of that date in the calendar of faith and love calls to mind a thousand filial memories in every loyal heart of the home-circle. "They say that man is mighty. He governs land and sea. He fields a mighty sceptor, O'er lesser powers that be; But a mightier power and stronger Man from his throne has hurled, For the hand that rocks the cradle Is the hand that rules the world." From the baby's impulsive cry to the heroic dreams of the bravest soldier on the field of battle, at moments and all occasions leap forward from the ranks of life and lay claim to the mother's helping and loving sympathy. Mother's Day? The mother has three hundred and sixty-five days every year! Yes, and if sickness casts its shadow over the home, then she has both day and night; from noon to midnight, and from midnight to noon; when she tolls of her sorrows, and through the heavy hours, bearing the torch of hope in the face of every fear, always smiling when her darling's eyes are upon her, and hiding her tears in the bosom of her saviour, at whose feet she repeats the prayer of his own Gethsemane: "If possible, let this cup pass from me!" By and by, if she drinks deep at the fountain of grace, she may also add the prayer of self-surrender, which brings the ministering angels; "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt!"

It is good indeed, however, that the world has recognized in a tangible way the importance of the mother in the realm of home, and has set apart one special day to do her honor. And always in history is the ideal mother of every generation present when her child is in need of that mother-love which no other passion can replace. In all the Christian hemispheres of America, whatever the variations of the score of life, the central figure of every dominating scene in the dominion of memory is that of the mother, the queen of the home. And though you may trace all the pathways of your childhood life by the torch of memory today, how innumerable the scenes which testify to the fidelity of your mother's constant love and care. How vividly her remembered goodness and love help to your heart each passing event. How gratefully you say to yourself, after seeing and dismissing all other characters of the scene "that mother was there!"

How all compassing is a mother's love. It matters not to what depths the wayward child may sink, there is always one friend who will stand by him, hope for him, pray for him, and finally in the efforts of her exhaustless love reach down to the very bottom of the pit in which he is sunk and by a great and tremendous power of love and forgiveness bring out into God's sunlight the fallen one, and carefully binding his wounds, remove from him all traces of his sin, and start him off along life's highway; a rejuvenated and a re-born creature. And, in the event the child has fallen so far that he is past redemption by this great, all inclusive love, the mother still follows after him, struggling with him and hoping that some day, he will again return to the ways of his childhood.

How patient is the love of a mother: never losing faith in the ultimate success of her own child; never too busy to turn to the little one to kiss his bruised thumb, or to soothe his wounded feelings. All through the life of the child, it is to the mother still the same helpless and clinging being that it was as a child. She still protects her children from all possible harm, even though they may be far away from her home. Her heart still throbs with joy at their successes, and aches with pain at their sorrows which a cruel and heartless life may bring to them. She is long-suffering, ever ready to stand for herself the cares and woes of this world, provided it will only protect her child. She is ready to forgive, and ready to forget any past differences, and to have again for her own the love of the child, her greatest joy is to be able to give to the child her own love and care.

As a result of that love and sympathy which she has, she wields a great influence on the life of the home, over which, as a queen, she presides. One of the earliest forms of government of the world is known as the matriarchal, and in which the eldest and wisest of the mothers presided, and determined the policies and destinies of those tribes over which they reigned. And in these times what a large number of the so-called, "cold blooded and hard hearted" men of affairs turn to their mother, when some problem involving the living and vital issues of life is demanding their time and attention.

How many successful men of affairs acknowledge gratefully the influence of their mother's counsel and advice on their attainments. We have only to recall the words of Lincoln in praise of his mother, and of her influences over him, to know that had it not been for the love and care of the mothers of our country, we would have been deprived of many of the greatest men of all times.

On this Mother's day, may all of us whose mother's are still living, send to her some message showing our love and appreciation of her. May those whose mothers have gone on to join that innumerable caravan of the departed in the other life give reverence and homage to the life and influence of the departed one. May all of us re-consecrate our lives, and resolve the more closely to live, and to adhere to the teachings of our mothers.

There could be no more infinitesimal part of the good and noble creature which his mother's ambitions have laid out for him he would be able to put down in this old world of ours, than the mother's love and suffering which we find all about us, as the result of our own short comings. How much better this world could be as a place in which to live and honor the mother, if we only had the pleasant place it would be, and there would be no question as to the brethren dwelling together in unity; and peace and harmony would prevail over all the world.

The mothers of yesterday, and of today, are entitled to our greatest praise, and to our greatest homage. They are the queens of every home in the land, however pretentious, or however humble. In their hands they hold the future destinies of our nation, and it is on them that the ideas and ideals of the coming generation are dependent; and on them is the task to mould the characters of those now entrusted to their care. May we give them the homage and respect to which they are justly due, and may we adorn them with those undying followers of love, reverence and heartfelt devotion.

"If I could walk through the floral gardens of the world and pluck the flowers of red beauty and sweetest perfume, and then select from the crowns of kings and queens the rarest jewels that glisten there, I would fashion them into a more beautiful crown, and with the hand of love I would place that crown upon the brow of the mother—America's Unrecognized Queen."

INEXPENSIVE FLY SPRAY

Take one pound of pyrethrum powder, also called Dalmatian insect powder, and add to one gallon of kerosene. Leave it there for a day or so, stirring occasionally. The Kerosene will dissolve out from the pyrethrum a poison that is fatal to flies and all other insects and to all cold blooded animals. Fortunately this poison is harmless to men and to all warm blooded animals.

The cost of a gallon of this spray is less than a dollar, for the pyrethrum should not cost you more than 75 cents a pound.

Remember that kerosene is inflammable. Do not use the spray near to an open fire. It is like any other insect spray in this respect. It also can be used in any ordinary spray gun.

You can use it to kill any kind of insect. Mosquitoes will drop dead in their tracks. Bed bugs and beetles will die more slowly but no less surely. Above all use it to kill the common fly, the deadliest enemy your baby has to face.

Make your prayer and then go out and help answer it yourself.

LANDS, HOMES
STOCKS, BONDS

Stocks, Bonds, Corporation Shares, all kinds of mining and oil stocks are questionably fluctuating. At best their profit lasts only a few years.
Money invested in Lands, Homes, Business Houses is, has been and always will be permanent.
West Texas land values remain stable, even in times of depression they hold their own and many advance. They guarantee safety and permanency to the investor.
Let us tell you of good investments to be made in Bailey County lands.

Spray Grapes Now
Is Advice Of S. P. Evans, Agent

Grapes have for a period of several years past proven a very profitable crop for growing in the Blackwater valley around Muleshoe, this year several additional acres being planted by various farmers.
Every grape grower desires to produce as fine quality as possible, but this cannot be done without spraying. It is now time for the first spraying, according to Sterling P. Evans, district farm agent, and the following formula is recommended by him: 1 lb. bluestone, 1 lb. hydrated lime and 12 gallons water.
"Dissolve the bluestone in a gallon of water, and in a separate container dissolve the hydrated lime in a gallon of water. Pour these two solutions together and mix thoroughly, adding enough water to make a total of 12 gallons of the spray material. This spray should be used immediately after mixing. The second spraying should be given in June and another in July, Evans said.

This spraying kills all black rot, of which there is some in nearly every vineyard, and makes possible the finest of wine of other grape products without having a few dozen decayed berries in them.

VIOLENT DEATH PAINLESS

The strange experience of the survivor of a coal mine explosion proves again that nature has its own anesthetic and that violent death is seldom extremely painful.

John Sharp, had finished placing a blast at the Cardoan mine, near Glasgow, Scotland. He retired to a safe distance while an expert fired the shots. Evidently the mine was filled with inflammable gas, for immediately after the blasts Sharp heard a dull bang and immediately noticed that his mouth was filled with coal dust.
Rescue crews entered the mine at once and found 11 dead, with Sharp seriously burned. Sharp did not realize he was burned until in the hospital some time later, the experience of his mouth being inexplicably filled with coal being the only thing he remembered. Evidently the mental shock was so great that he was rendered temporarily immune to pain.

Hunters and animal trainers who have been mauled by wild beasts have reported a complete absence of pain or terror at the time of the experience. Survivors of other serious accidents have also claimed there was neither mental or physical agony during the ordeal. Parachute jumpers have had their chutes fail to open the first time they pulled the ripcord, and have experienced interest rather than mental anguish while giving a second or even a third try. Natural the subsequent efforts were successful or they couldn't have told us about them. Thousands of wounded soldiers will tell you they felt no immediate pain.

These experiences have caused scientists to believe that there is nothing inherently cruel in nature's seeming ruthlessness, and that when an animal kills another for food the victim feels neither mental or physical pain. Not dying, but the thinking about it, is what is hard.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE COMES ABOUT IN JUST FIFTY YEARS

1883—Fifty years ago women wore hoopskirts, bustles, petticoats, corsets, cotton stockings, high buttoned shoes, ruffled cotton drawers, flannel night gowns, puffs in their hair and did their own cooking, baking, cleaning, washing, ironing—raised big families, went to church Sunday—were too busy to be sick.
Men wore whiskers, square hats, ascot ties, red flannel underwear, big watches and chains—chopped wood for the stoves—bathed once a week—drank 10-cent whiskey and 5-cent beer—rode bicycles, buggies or sleighs—went in for politics—worked 12 hours a day—and lived to a ripe old age.
Stores burned coal oil lamps—carried everything from a needle to a plow—trusted everybody—never took an inventory—placed orders for goods a year in advance—always made money.
1932—Today women wear silk hose, short skirts, low shoes, no corsets, an ounce of underwear—have bobbed hair, smoke, paint and powder, drink cocktails, play bridge, drive cars, have pet dogs, go in for politics, and are always sick.
Men have high blood pressure, wear no hats, and some no hair, shave their whiskers, shoot golf, bathe twice a day, drink poison, play the stock market, ride in airplanes, go to bed the same day they get up, are misunderstood at home, work five hours a day, play golf—have forgotten politics and their government, and die young.
Stores have electric lights, cash registers, elevators, never have what the customer wants—trust nobody—take inventory daily—never buy in advance—have overhead, mark-up, mark-down—quota budget—advertising stock control—annual and semi-annual, end of the month, dollar day, founder's day, rummage, economy day sale—and never make a cent.
If there is a joy greater possession of liberty, it is the satisfaction that you your best fight in the 0's.

Girl Scout News

The Girl Scouts met at the Legion hall Tuesday and the following girls went with Commissioner Weaver to the City park to plant their plot of ground to flowers: Naomi Harper, Mildred Burkhead, Wanda Parrell, Lucille Bartley, Ethel Claire Raney, Holly Ann Bury, Billy Joan Damron, Vetta Riddle, Lovelle Ginn, June and Virginia McCoy.

Alex Paul gave us a nice quantity of Camma bulbs and Messrs. Moeller, Gupton, Gilbreath and Hennington gave flower seeds for which we are very thankful. We hope our plot of flowers will be an added attraction to the City park's appearance.

We are glad the Methodist Missionary society decided to plant flowers and hope some of the other organizations will also decide to take a plot of ground to care for.
The North Star patrol met in the home of Lovelle Ginn Monday night with Wanda Parrell as leader. After singing a number of lively songs, we took up the business. Old business was finished and new business discussed. It was decided to postpone our meetings during the time of the revival at the Methodist church.

Irma Willis and Naomi Harper gave some interesting facts about use of the flag. Lovelle Ginn, assisted by her mother, served delicious refreshments of sandwiches, small cakes and lemonade to the following:
Irma Willis, Ethel Claire Raney, Geraldine Skeeters, Hattie Ray Griffiths, Wanda Parrell, Naomi Harper, Bettie Ruth Moeller, Faynell Ginn, and Mrs. J. C. Weaver.—Reporter.

Says Her Husband Lost 16 Pounds In 4 Weeks

"I have never found a medicine that 'peps' you up like Kruschen salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband took it, and he lost 16 pounds in 4 weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington, D. C. (December 1932).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.
Jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after first jar.—Advertisement.

Sunday but the visiting preacher will not be here until Monday night. There will be those days and services of customary preparation needed in these meetings during the next week. The church will be the factory for the work and we are looking for these days to be those of labor and self denial.
The women meet Monday afternoon and then all the services of the week will blend into the meeting.

The pastor and wife had a long youth drive to Goodland last Sunday night for the closing of the school there. We had a good audience and good attention. The youth of the rural communities of today have much better advantages than in the days of 25 and 30 year ago. Thanks to the modern, expensive educational advantages of today. But it is money going into future men and women.
—E. C. RANEY, Pastor.

A GOOD AX TO GRIND

Do sharpen the ax. That's good in tax. And cut the government's cost; Then bend your back To a strong attack. Before the cause is lost.

Most folks agree With you and me, That the burden's most too great; So it's time to harken To the job and chop. For it soon may be too late.

Refuse to moan, With the old grindstone Is ready to sharpen the ax. For it's time to use, Though not abuse. The ax that's found in tax. —Harry Brockaw, East Liverpool, Ohio.

GULF COMPANY PUTS OUT A NEW TYPE LUBRICATING OIL

Three years ago the Gulf Refining Company engineers made a discovery of revolutionary importance to the oil industry. A discovery so advanced, so significant, that it made possible a finer, longer-lived motor oil than the industry has ever seen. The oil made by it is called Gulpride.
Gulpride has now proved itself beyond question the finest motor oil in the world. This oil is manufactured in the Gulf Refinery in Port Arthur, Texas. It has established seventeen world's records. It has surpassed every set of specifications ever issued for a motor oil, including U. S. Army, U. S. Navy and British Government, according to a statement made by the company.
The current extensive advertising campaign of the Gulf Refining Company now appearing in Texas newspapers is stressing this oil.

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.
Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.
But I know the difference.
I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—the he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.
But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.
A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items would do not skip are cost and conscience. A great many things could "got by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.
The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.
I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.
